Our correspondent says further: "There was need of just such resolutions as were presented for acceptance." He don't explain why the necessity existed. Would they have given the Selectmen any more authority to preserve order than they had before? Does he mean to have us infer that the Selecmen, "by whose consent and advice the meeting was called," needed such resolutions to impel them to their duty?

We fail to see how we can state, any plainer or clearer than we did last week, that we are in favor of law and order; that a repetition of such proceedings as happened Saturday, Aug. 7th, must be prevented; that the Selectmen should be sustained and upheld by all good citizens in preserving order; and that the resolutions presented by Mr. Upton should not have been voted down. But because we believe that the Selectmen had all needed authority without the resolutions, because we believe a mass meeting, composed of all elements of the town, never did and never can adopt measures to quell a riot, for that reason we believe the meeting should not have been held.

We do not agree with our correspondent that "the result of the meeting Sunday awakened the Knights of Labor to a realization of the position they were taking." An offer of special police, to the Selectmen, by a prominent member of the Knights, was made Saturday afternoon, before the mass meeting—before the offer of leading citizens to which our correspondent refers. A committee from L. A. 2947 was appointed to draft resolutions in favor of law and order BEFORE the mass meeting was held.

It may surprise our correspondent, but we have heard nothing but commendation, and that too from law abiding citizens, some of them members of the Law and Order League, of our position in regard to the meeting Sunday. We had the pleasure of meeting Chief Wade, of the State force, in the room of the Board of Selectmen, almost the first hour of his arrival here. Something was said by one of the Board regarding the meeting of Sunday, when Chief Wade asked with considerable spirit: "Was not the calling of that meeting a mistake?" We said nothing, but considered our judgment in the matter confirmed by good authority.

In the troubles of the past week we have openly and fearlessly taken the stand which we believe to be for the best good of the town and the whole community. We have not believed that all the wrong was on one side, and all the right on the other. What we have considered to be the error of one side or the other we have pointed out without feeling, in a courteous manner, and with no personality. Both sides have rights which they cannot honorably surrender. Yet we believe that a settlement, honorable to both, equitable and just to the manufacturers and Knights, could be arranged in less than twenty-four hours, either by the submission of the matter to a Committee of Arbitration, or by a settlement with the men on the terms which were arranged between Newman Perkins and his men.

* * *

> The prompt and outspoken action of L. A. 2947 in favor of preserving law and order, and their offer of special police from among their number, have won for them the respect of all citizens.—Peabody Press.
>
> We shall take the liberty of doubting whether the action here referred to has won any such degree of respect as is here stated. It is certainly entitled to very little respect in view of what a great many of the same men did a few hours previously. What they did at the Sunday afternoon meeting revealed their true sympathies. What they did in the evening, in the light of all the known and acknowledged facts, amounted to nothing more than an expression of regret that they had made the mistake of so hastily revealing their true instincts a little while before. The sin which apparently troubled them the most on Sunday evening was that of being found out by their own action Sunday afternoon. The fact that certain Knights of Labor have volunteered to aid the authorities may speak well for those individuals; but it is still an open question what proportion of the Knights of Labor are in real and genuine sympathy with that line of effort. Our impression is that what the striking Knights did on Sunday evening was inspired a good deal more by a desire to save that order from falling into utter disrepute than by a desire to put down any object which that Peabody mob had in view.—Salem Gazette.

We quote the above simply to show how ready the Gazette is to condemn anything the Knights of Labor may do, and how easy it is for an editor to be so blinded by prejudice that the Knights can do nothing, even though it be right in itself, which would win respect in his eyes. When we say that L. A. 2947 appointed a committee to prepare resolutions in favor of law and order several hours before the mass meeting; when we say, farther, that every member of L. A. 2947 known to be at that meeting voted in favor of the resolutions, it will be seen that the remarks of the Gazette are not only uncalled for, but false in every particular. We are perfectly justified in repeating the remarks, quoted above, from our last issue, relating to L. A. 2947. That Assembly is not responsible for the acts of the excitable portion of the mob on the Saturday previous, nor for the voting on Sunday, any more than is the Law and Order League, or the editor of the Gazette. If that Assembly arrays itself openly on the side of law and order, before the mass meeting, at the meeting, and afterwards, we fail to see why its action is not entitled to the respect of our citizens, just as much as the action of the members of the Law and Order League, who did no more. But to the Gazette a Knight of Labor is the same always and everywhere—the embodiment of rowdyism and a representative of the worst element in society.

We condemn, as much as the Salem Gazette, the action of the mob of last Saturday week; we regret that the resolutions proposed by Mr. Upton were voted down on Sunday; we did not hesitate to state, last week, the attitude in which the Knights of Labor had placed themselves before the world. But the editor of the Gazette was at that meeting, and should have seen the feeling which was evidently manifest on both sides. The mass of the people of Peabody are not much different, after all, from those in other places, even in the staid old city to which the editor of the Gazette belongs. And it is not to be wondered at that, when the only speech made by one of their members was a condemnation of mobbism in one breath and of the resolutions in another, these men, who were excited and not under the control of the wisest leaders, made a mistake. They are not the only ones who have made mistakes. Neither was the Secretary of the meeting on Sunday the only man who lost his head. After the mob on Saturday noon, which was entirely controlled by Chief Peasley and officer Crowley, our officials must send for the Salem police, the Haverhill police, the Lynn police and we don't know how many more. A prominent member of L. A. 2947, in this town, a gentleman as respected as the editor of the Gazette, early Saturday afternoon volunteered to furnish from that Assembly a goodly number of men who would keep the peace and assist the regular officers in maintaining order. The offer was not accepted. Our Town Officials were so disturbed that it was thought at one time the entire military force of the State would be summoned here. While we say without hesitation that the Selectmen should be sustained in preserving order, yet it is evident that the secretary of that mass meeting was not the only one who lost his head. Mayor Raymond of Salem, with a disturbance much more difficult to contend with than what took place here, simply called in all the officers and appointed specials from his own city. It has proved sufficient. The same thing here, in our judgment, would have produced the same effect.

The fact that for nearly a week there have been no crowds on the street, that since Saturday, Aug. 7th, there has nothing happened in town which is not liable to occur in any town of this size with a number of men out of work and with the state of feeling which exists, shows that it is NOT "an open question what proportion of the Knights of Labor are in sympathy" with law and order. This body is not the only organization that has had to bear the odium of the lawless acts of some of its members. But can it not assure the public that with such acts it is not in sympathy? Can it not acknowledge an error, and correct a mistake? Evidently not, if we are to believe the words of the editor of the Salem Gazette.

* * *

We announced last week that Newman Perkins, one of the manufacturers of this town, had settled satisfactorily with his men and resumed business. Thursday, of the same week, it was learned that he had put back the circular and as a consequence his men could not work. Desiring to know the facts in the matter which had been variously represented, we visited Mr. Perkins in his pleasant cottage at the Willows. Mr. Perkins has been ill for a number of weeks and is still confined to his cottage at the Willows, but he was very willing to talk with us, giving a straightforward account of the opening and closing of his shop.

After the posting of the manufacturers' circular at the outset, Mr. Perkins, his son and one non-union man constituted his entire working force. He himself was shortly taken sick, and confined to his house, leaving only two to keep the stock along. Continuing in this way until Monday, the 9th inst., he decided to send for his men and make a settlement if possible. This he found could be readily effected. Each of the men agreed, personally, to participate in no strikes; to resume work on the old basis of prices; and to settle any differences that should in future arise in the following manner: In case of any disagreement, the men should select one of their number to represent them and talk the matter over with Mr. Perkins. Failing to agree, three persons were to be selected who should be satisfactory to both parties, and by them all differences were to be adjusted. Mr. Perkins conceded the 59 hours for a week's work, and the men conceded that no objection would be made to the employment of the non-union man who had been in the employ of Mr. Perkins.

This arrangement was perfectly satisfactory to both Mr. Perkins and the workmen. Mr. Perkins could not see why it was not a settlement within the meaning of the circular, and considered its usefulness gone. The circular was removed. The work went on. Thursday he put it back again. Being asked the reason for this step he said that the parties who were using his stock preferred that he should wait until a settlement was effected with all the manufacturers and the men. The shoe manufacturers who were cutting his stock thought it best under all the circumstances that he should not run at present. He did not think the manufacturers of Peabody had anything to do with the matter, and denied utterly the reports circulated that he could not purchase materials, or that any attempt was being made to injure his credit. He had material enough in his shop to last a long time, and he owned a goodly portion of his stock. The firms with whom he was dealing, and who thought it unwise for him to start up at present, were good customers—they had used and would undoubtedly use a large amount of his stock, and their trade and patronage was worth a great deal to him. They wanted the stock—could use it now; but did not want it under the present state of affairs.

Mr. Perkins therefore put back the circular, where it remains to-day. The running of his shop a few days with the entire force left the stock in condition to cause much loss to him. This the men saw; and seven of them volunteered to assist him until such time as he could stop without financial loss on account of injury to the stock. These seven men are working to-day—under no contract and without price for their labor. It is expected that he will finish the stock this week, when he will shut down and await the future.

Mr. Perkins distinctly stated that he would employ no non-union men from out of town. These men were possibly well enough in a tan yard, but not in a currying shop. They were not able to do the work of the men who had been years in his employ. These latter were the men he desired to employ; when he resumed business, if he ever did, he should employ them. They had been faithful to him and could do the work he required satisfactorily and well. He spoke in very complimentary terms of the manner in which he had been used by the men. He regretted very much the position in which he had been placed, and the publicity which had been given to the affair.

We have but one word to add to the statement above. It shows that the men are disposed to settle and ready to work under circumstances which do not compromise their manhood. We fail to see why such a settlement would not be honorable to all the manufacturers in town. We fail to see why such a settlement is so much at variance with the honor of the manufacturers as to require that Mr. Perkins should put back his circular and await the orders of the Executive Committee of the Association.

* * *

NOTES AND INCIDENTS.

The Woburn Journal says that a prominent manufacturer of this town would remove his business to that place if he could obtain a suitable factory. That he is sick of the labor troubles here and wanted to shake the dust of Peabody from his feet. That is all very well, but if the manufacturers of this town had the same spirit as those of Woburn, the difficulties would have been submitted to a Committee of Arbitration, and troubles here would have been ere this at an end. Generally speaking, there are not two towns in the state so similar in their business relations, and their population, as Peabody and Woburn.

It is frequently said by residents of this town, even, who ought to know better, that the men out of work in Peabody were ordered out by the organization of the Knights of Labor. It is not true. They were not ordered out. The men left work of their own accord, and in their individual capacity, because the conditions of the posted circular conflicted with their obligations to the organization to which they belonged. In many shops there was no dispute as to the hours of labor; there is none to-day. There was no dispute as to wages; there is none to-day. The men have no grievance. It is a question of fealty to their organization. They feel that the manufacturers have no right to compel them to work under the proscriptions of the circular.

It has been several times remarked that while the Selectmen have been in frequent consultation with the Manufacturers regarding the preservation of law and order, no attempt has been made to advise with, or listen to any suggestions from the conservative members of the Knights, who have put themselves equally on record as the upholders of peace and order. There are men belonging to the order in town, whose opinions are as worthy of consideration, who are held in as much respect by the community, as the leaders of the Manufacturer's Association.

Rev. Mr. Spaulding is doing the "resolution" business too much. The resolution offered by him to investigate the putting up of the manufacturer's circular by Newman Perkins, after it had been taken down, was entirely foreign the business of the Board and uncalled for. The Selectmen have no right to control Mr. Perkins's business; they cannot say when he shall close his shop, or open it. A resolution enquiring why the Knights of Labor in large numbers, are injuring the business of a brother knight, Mr. C. H. Hooper, on a report which has no foundation in truth, would be more worthy of the gentleman. But neither of them would be proper for the Selectmen to investigate.

Speaking of Mr. Hooper, however, it is really a matter for which the Knights ought to feel ashamed. For an entirely false representation, large numbers of his customers have deserted him, making a serious inroad into his business.

Mayor Raymond is entitled to much credit for closing the saloons of Salem during the past week. It is said that the travel from this town last Saturday night, to Salem, was unusually light. The people of our neighboring city, also, had a little taste of what a no-license city might be. Possibly they may like it so well that they will make Salem a no-license city next year.

A law should be put on the statute books giving the authority to the officials of towns or cities to close saloons in times of exigency, like those in this vicinity the past week, and in Cambridge during the trouble at the factory of John P. Squire. As we understand it, there is no such authority, and in Cambridge the right of officials to close the saloons after they have taken out and paid for a license. In Salem, we are told the Mayor simply made a request of the saloon-keepers, a request, however, which they did not deem it politic to disregard.

The extra police and meetings of the Selectmen have been piling up expenses and the tax payers will have to foot the bills.

The tanners of Mystic have by a resolution extended sympathy to their brothers of Salem and Peabody.

The Rev. Willard believes in stirring up the animals.

Even the boys manifest the belligerent spirit of their elders, and quarrel with the children of non-union men.

The Selectmen met Thursday evening to investigate charges against Oscar Fellows the boarding house keeper who had been made a special officer. Several witnesses testified on both sides but the Selectmen concluded to keep him.

One of the non-union men who had been employed by Osborne & Co., left work of his own accord last Thursday. He probably will never forget his experience here, wherever he goes.

Cornelius Bagley gave himself up to Special Officer Flynn last Thursday as one of those engaged in the assault on the man employed by John A. Lord at the freight yard. He was drunk at the time. He was put under $100 bonds for his appearance to-morrow morning.

Three more special officers were sworn in last Thursday as follows: Geo. W. Torr, William Brown and Fred Farrington.

Seven non-union men arrived in town Thursday afternoon from the Provinces. Three of them were induced to return home.

There was a right way to deal with the trouble, which was not exercised as it might have been. Peabody citizens should have first been sworn in as special officers, and then if they were unable to successfully cope with the disturbing element the proper thing for the town authorities to have done was to call on the governor for aid.—Lynn Bee.

The Lynn Transcript, after referring to the criticisms on Marshal Neal of that city for not sending a force of police to this town in response to a request from the officials here, says:

> Such a crisis as this, when the very life of our cherished institutions is assailed by reckless and murderous men, demands the cutting of all "red tape," and a prompt assumption of the full responsibility for early and vigorous action. The fact that the City Marshal of Lynn was unable to quickly see his plain duty in the premises and rise to the level of the emergency, is deplored by all clear-headed members of this community.

The statement has been made in several papers that Rev. Father Gray, of Salem, assured a manufacturer of that city if the circular of the manufacturer's was taken down, he would guarantee that the men would return to work and leave the organization of Knights of Labor. Father Gray, last Sabbath, denied that he made such a guarantee, stating that the interview between him and the manufacturers was confidential, and what he did say was not as reported in the press.

A conference between the Manufacturer's committee, the Mayor and Aldermen of Salem and the Selectmen of Peabody was held in Salem Friday night. It is said that Mr. Spaulding's remarks were so objectionable to the manufacturers that they refused to have any further conference with him. We can easily believe this. Mr. Spaulding is not the man to arrange any settlement, representing the Knights of Labor. On the same principle that he objected to Mr. Osborne as police officer, they have a right to object to him as a member of a conference.

Speaking of conferences, it is understood, or ought to be, that the Selectmen, as a body, or the city government of Salem, can exercise no authority over the manufacturers or the Knights, in regard to settlement, or a proposition for settlement. They can merely advise them. We had hoped the manufacturers would at least agree to meet a committee of the Knights, even if they would go no farther. If they would talk with the conservative men of that body—men who do not approve of the radical measures taken by the Executive Board of District 77, and who talk as we have heard them, we cannot see why a fair and honorable understanding would not be reached.

Why is it that the organs of the manufacturer's, the papers who believe everything that the Knights can do is wholly wrong, have so little to say regarding the settlement made by Newman Perkins and his men? Why did he stop and put up his circular again? Did he do it of his own free will? Assuredly not. The manufacturers claim that no laboring man should be told by another man for what price he should work, or when he shall work; yet Mr. Perkins is told that he cannot continue his business after he has made satisfactory terms directly with his men, not with the executive board. Meanwhile, Mr. Perkin's rent must be paid, for he does not, like the large manufacturers, own a shop.

We have looked in vain through the columns of that paper, (The Salem Gazette) for one word of commendation for the workmen or one word of condemnation for the acts of the manufacturers.—Lynn Bee.

The Knights of Labor has elected a new Executive Board for Disirict 77, only two of the old members being re-elected. It is said that the new Board is composed of the most conservative men in the order, the objectionable men, whose actions has been criticised by both sides, having retired.

It is now stated, we learn, that the Manufacturers do not want to settle with the men. This is much to be regretted.

At a meeting of the Selectmen last Saturday it was voted that it be the sense of this Board that Rev. Willard Spaulding was in contempt. This was called for by remarks made by Mr Spaulding that were entirely out of order.

Rev. Mr. Spauldig took legal counsel with Gen. B. F. Butler last Monday, and that gentleman expressed the opinion that in case the large number of men now idle should call for aid the town would be compelled to furnish it.

The settling of the labor trouble was too brainy a job for Mr. Spaulding. He went home sick on Saturday.

Mayor Raymond, of Salem, has been using his efforts to stop the importation of alien labor and to make some propositions looking to a settlement. After the Friday night conference which amounted to nothing, Mayor Raymond personally met some of the Committee from the Manufacturers and asked them why they could not honorably withdraw the circular. He had tried to keep the peace, and there had been restoration of peace and order in a measure, but he felt that it could not be fully assured to the community until the men were safely back in the shops to work. He submitted two propositions to the Executive Committee, to be carried before the Manufacturers' Association on Saturday. The first was to ascertain if they would not agree to stop the importation of alien labor, and the second whether they could not agree to withdraw the circular. If these propositions were favorably met the Mayor would like to meet them in conference on Saturday evening. He saw one of the Executive Committee on Saturday evening, and was told by him that the association had nothing to say and no answer to make on either proposition.

We are not the organ of the manufacturers. We are not the organ of the Knights of Labor. But we have the interests of this town at heart and we believe that the measures we advocate would settle the difficulty in twenty-four hours.

The effort of Mayor Raymond to effect a settlement is in every way praiseworthy, and we regret his efforts were unavailing.

> It is an unhappy condition of things when a lockout compels men to idleness and the giving up treasured interests in mortgaging their little homes for the means of obtaining support for their families. Such is said to be the result of the lockout in the tanneries and currying shops of Salem and Peabody. Let employers and employed consider well any action which shall alienate the feelings of men by such a surrender. Better that a few should suffer than the many be destroyed in manhood. When the path leading to reconciliation is trodden under foot it bodes no good to either labor or capital.—Amesbury News.

Another non-union man, employed by Harrington & Co., was stoned by a crowd of hoodlums on Boston street, Monday, and had his head cut open. The assailants fled toward Peabody. It is a shame that some of these fellows can't be caught and an example made of them.

Paine's Furniture Company, Boston, issue a nice illustrated catalogue of Invalid Wheel Chairs free to all who may apply.

IVERS & POND PIANOS.

For the best Pianos in Salem examine the Ivers & Pond if you want a good one. For sale only by W. J. Lefavour. 175 Essex St. Salem.

New Advertisements.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed, given by Edward W. Jacobs, of Peabody, in the County of Essex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts and Eliza W. Jacobs, his wife, in her own right, to James Marsh of Peabody, dated the twenty-eighth day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, and recorded with Essex Deeds, South District, Book 1017, Leaf 40; and for breach of condition of said mortgage will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described on THURSDAY, the twenty-sixth day of August, 1886, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, namely: A certain parcel of pasture and tillage land situated in said Peabody, bounded thus, viz: Easterly by land of Jonathan King and Eben King; Northerly by land of said Edward W. Jacobs and Westerly by land of said Edward W. Jacobs, and Southerly by Forest Street, containing twenty-four acres, be the same more or less, being marked and defined as the wall now stands, being the premises that said James Marsh conveyed to said Eliza W. Jacobs by his deed dated March 28th A. D. 1874.

JAMES MARSH, Mortgagee.

Peabody, August 11, 1886.

SUIT DEPARTMENT.

Ladies' Small Mantles.

The balance to be sold at 50 cts., 75 cts. and $1,

Children's Suits, Sizes 2 to 12 yrs,

Prices, 50 cts., 75 cts. and $1.00 up.

The balance of the Conrad Stock to be sold this week regardless of cost.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

KILN DRIED WHITE MEAL.—Received to-day from mill, another car of kiln dried white meal, which is giving great satisfaction to all who use it, bringing us renewed orders. We can make a low price for ton lots from car much lower than on yellow meal.

CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
aug 18 41 to 47 Central St.

OLD OATS.—We have a full assortment of all grades of last years' crop of Oats, which being thoroughly seasoned, are for safer feed for horses than the crop just harvested. We invite your examination and early orders.

CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
aug 17 41 to 47 Central St.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening Aug. 11, 1886,

PERSONAL.

Mr. George A. Lawrence is making quite a reputation as a marksman. He won the Van Dawson medal for the best marksmanship in the rifle match at the Cadet camp.

Frank E. Farnham' Esq. is taking a trip among New Hampshire mountains.

Mr. John F. Osborne & Son have gone to Chicago.

Mr. B. F. Woodbury and family are occupying their cottage at Asbury Grove.

Miss Alice J. Huntington, of Henniker, N. H. has been spending several months with Mrs. Joshua Buxton of this town. She will return this week.

Henry H. Buxton will leave for Henniker, N. H. this week for a short vacation.

Miss Carrie Finar of Merrimac is visiting her aunt in this town.

Miss Hattie Lunt,of Malden, formerly of Peabody; is occupying a cottage at Asbury Grove in company with friends.

Timothy McDonald, clerk at C. E. Teague's shoe store will pass his vacation in New York.

Mr. W. E. Munroe and family are at Beach Bluff.

Mrs. Everett M. Harriman of Prospect Ferry, Maine, isvisiting her parents in town.

Mr. Mark Manahan and wife, and Mr. Kirk Manahan, of Lowell, spent Sunday in town.

George M. Osborne spent Sunday in Fairhaven, Mass., where his family are spending the summer.

Mr. Albert Gardner and family are visiting his home at Nantucket.

Miss Addie Nevers is rusticating at Dover, N. H.

Miss Alice Cate is at Wolfboro, N. H.

Mr. E. A. Eaton of East Tilton, N. H., is visiting in town.

Miss Martha Spidell is at Keene, N. H.

Miss Agnes Chase is at East Boothbay Me.

Miss Louise Upton, the genial telephone operator, is taking her vacation and Miss Alice Moulton is taking her place.

Mr. Joseph Walton is visiting in Georgetown.

Hon. B. C. Perkins has been sojourning at Princeton, Mass.

We had a pleasant call from Mr. George Randall of Attleboro last Saturday. Geo. is prospering.

Mr. Edward Blaney and wife were enjoying life at the White Mountains.

Our former townsman, Mr. Frank G. Woodbury of Leominster, is visiting his parents on Lowell street.

Mr. John A. Enos the inventor is occupying his cottage at Asbury Grove.

A. K. McLennare of Middle River Cape Breton has been visiting in town.

Mr. B. F. Southwick is taking a vacation and enjoying it by frequent trips to summer resorts near here.

Mr. C. N. Shannahan is taking a vacation.

Mr. George Bodge of New York City is visiting relations in town.

Mr. E. G. Moreland of Chicago is visiting in town.

Mrs. Geo. W. Pepper will leave to-morrow on a Raymond excursion to the mountains.

Miss Clara P. Hildreth of Boston is the guest of Mr. J. B. Reith.

Mrs. A. D. Osgood is rusticating at Woodman, N. H.

Edward Kavanagh Jr., Mrs. Edward Kavanagh and F. D. Tarlton, our popular dry goods dealer, are in Bradford N. H.

Mrs. E. H. Shannon and Mrs. C. Kimball will spend the next two weeks at Auburn, Me.

Mrs. Geo. Rand will spend her vacation at Manchester, N. H., leaving town to-morrow.

* * *

The Peabody's Base Ball team was defeated 11 to 10 by the Danvers club last Saturday. Up to the eighth inning the score was 8 to 4 in favor of the Peabody's, but the thought that there was a prospect of winning a game was too much and they let Danvers make seven runs.

The Wakefield citizen, speaking of the recent ball game between the Peabody's and the Miller's of that town says:—The umpire did not seem to know the difference between a ball and a strike, and caused considerable merriment as well as chagrin by his queer decisions.

Mr. J. H. Hanson, the junior partner at the jewelry firm of G. A. Collins & Co., is assisting Mr. Collins in the Salem store this week. Two competent jewelers are constantly in the Peabody store and the Salem store is being enlarged.

The millionaire goes to a summer resort
To help patch up his health,
But the editor stays in his hot old den,
Because he's out of wealth.

Martin Shea employed at Treadwell's was seriously assaulted in a row last Saturday. He has since been confined to the house.

MUSICAL NOTES.

The Worcester Musical Festival, which is the leading event in the musical circles of Massachusetts, will hold its five days session, beginning Sept. 21, at the spacious Music Hall, in that city. The Clinton Courant has the following information regarding it: Prominent among the latest engagements of artists for the Worcester Musical is Prof. Baermann of Boston. Howard E· Parkhurst has written a romantic overture for orchestra, dedicated to the festival association, which will be heard in public for the first time at the festival, it being the opening number on the program for Thursday evening, "Artists' Night". Gounod's fantasie, for organ and orchestra, on the Russian national hymn, will form one of the concert selections for Thursday afternoon. Mr. Archer has composed a gavotte for organ and orchestra which will be performed for the first time Wednesday afternoon. Miss Elene B. Kehew a mezzos oprano will be heard on several occasions. Francis Fisher Powers a New York baritone has been secured. W. C. Baird a former festival favorite will again be heard. The opening concert for the festival will be given Sept. 21st.

Mr. Arthur Foote is to be the pianist at the fashionable charity concert, in Saratoga, the 24th of August.

The new organ of the Unitarian Church in this town has arrived and is being set up.

The engagement of Miss Louise N. Baldwin, late of the Philomela Quartette, to Leland T. Powers, the well known impersonator, is announced.

The Rivals Concert Co. has reorganized with Wulf Fries violoncellist, instead of Walter Emerson, cornetist.

The Salem Brass Band gave a concert at Danvers this evening.

The musical festival at the Point of Pines this week is attracting large numbers from all portions of the country within a radius of twenty miles. To-morrow is Novelty Day at which novelties never before presented anywhere will be given. Friday is Artists' or Soloists' day. Thirty-six celebrated soloists will perform. Saturday will be Opera day and the whole will close with a grand programme on Sunday, Aug. 22nd.

THE MUSICAL HERALD (Boston, $1 a year) for August, has a full supply of capital reading matter, and the following music: "Schubert's Senerade, arranged by J. P. Weston; "When the Breeze with a Sigh," by A. H. Palmer, and "Song without Words," by X. Scharwenka.

At the Musical festival at the Point of Pines Friday, solos will be given by Messrs. McQuinn and Elliott of the Salem Cadet Band.

The opening engagement of Bennett & Moulton's Opera Co. will be given next week in Salem under the management of Andrews, Moulton & Johnson. Last season the company did the same thing, giving the people of this vicinity an opportunity to see the company at the start, and before they have become wearied with their long season. The performances will be crowded of course. The sale of seats opens to-morrow, and a change of programme will be given nightly with two matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

* * *

Rev. R. W. Wallace of the Trumbull Ave. Church of Detroit, Mich., who has so acceptably preached for the South Congregational church the last two Sundays, is one of the successful pastors of that large and growing city. His church was formed five years ago out of a mission school, and now numbers about two hundred and is growing rapidly. The largest Sunday School of the city is connected with it, numbering over 400. The singing of the school and the church, which is congregational, is an inspiration to any one who has the pleasure of listening to it. Mr. Wallace preaches for the Dane street church, Beverly, Rev. Mr. Eddy, next Sunday, and for the Tabernacle church, Salem, Aug. 29. We wish him every success in his work and hope to hear him preach whenever he should come this way again. Rev. W. E. C. Wright formerly of Danvers, now president of Berea College, Kentucky, will preach for the church next Sunday, and give some account of his work among the people of the mountainous regions of that state and Tennessee. W. G. Sperry will preach the last Snnday in August.

Special officers Flynn and Reagan arrested John Conners, on Midway street, last evening, and while taking him to the station were set upon by a crowd of roughs, who succeeded in rescuing the prisoner. Special officer McElligott, who came up, received several blows in the face. No arrests were made.

The Young People's Temperance Union of Salem paid a fraternal visit to the Peabody Union, last Monday night.

W. C. Packard's Furniture & Carpet Company will have the largest and finest carpet rooms this side of Boston.

The State Police have gone home!

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

In the police court Friday John Carney, for assault on Patrick J. Hayes, was discharged by paying costs.

The police arrested Sabina Doulan, Friday morning, charged with the larceny of $35 from Chas. W. Davis on Lynnfield street. She was employed as a domestic. The case was not pushed.

A Salem officer killed a little dog belonging to Arthur D. Osgood, last Friday, at the request of the owner. The animal had become vicious.

The town clock refused to strike last Thursday, but there was no riot.

Notwithstanding the strike the book agent comes smiling from door to door. One of their number found some verdure. He had a "penchant" for ladies of wealth, and he convinced them they were lovers of art and sold them a work for six dollars each, that is retailed in the book stores for $3.50. The husbands of those ladies have given orders to let the bull dog loose as soon as a book agent turns the corner of the street.

The usually quiet neighborhood in the vicinity of Dalton's Court has had several brawls lately. Last Saturday two women had a scuffle and hair pulling, and all the residents turned out to witness it.

Mr. Chas. W. Childs, engineer at Brown & Stanley's, received several severe cuts on his hand last week by attempting to catch hold of a chain tackle at the elevator well, by which a carpenter employed below would have been struck.

Thomas Kenney, living on Holly street, and the wife of his bosom had a family row last Wednesday, and as a result he received a bad cut in the back of his neck from a pint smuggler. He was sent to the Salem hospital. He wanted the police to believe that he had been assaulted because he was a non-union man.

Dennis Gibbon, while opening a window at Perkins & Ryan's morocco factory, slipped and broke a light of glass and badly cut his hand. Dr. Shannahan dressed the wound.

One of the Naumkeag street railway horses fell in Pleasant street one day last week and broke his leg. Detailed to the Ames Rendering Works at Peabody.

* * *

SPARKS.

The special meeting of the Relief Association called for last Thursday evening was adjourned to Monday evening, Sept. 6th, at 8 o'clock, no quorum being present. The Directors' meeting was adjourned until the same evening.

A special meeting of the Directors was held Monday evening, to provide for watchers for the case of Capt. Geo. O. Pierce of Hose 2, who is very sick at his home on Park street.

Quite a delegation of Peabody firemen went to Beverly Friday afternoon to see the new hook and ladder truck, just built by Pollard & Parker of Woburn, for the Beverly department. A parade was made and a supper followed.

Chief Engineer Buxton has returned to his duties, his injured knee being much improved.

The old "Volunteer" hand engine, formerly of this town, but now in service in Derry, N. H., will take part in the muster at Gardiner, Me., Aug. 25th.

The members of Steamer 2, together with the Board of Engineers, honorary members and friends to the number of about thirty-five, are on their second annual excursion on the steamer Empire State to-day, on its trip to Provincetown.

z

* * *

The third Assistant Postmaster General has again issued orders to postmasters to cut the price and come to competition with local printers by furnishing stamped envelopes at reduced rates after October 1st. To more fully meet the demand new sizes and styles have been added to the list. Postmasters are urged to exhaust their present stock and as a special inducement to get rid of them postmasters are told there will be no abatement in price on stamped envelopes on hand Sept. 30 and the return to the department of such envelopes will not be permitted. Struggling printers will find Uncle Sam a healthy competitor.

Young America has found a use for cat-tails. For years esthetic women have raved over them as household ornaments and stood them up in parlor corners, sometimes to learn to their sorrow that nothing can impart a worse odor to a room when it is shut up for some hours. But the small boy knows a better way. He dips the cat-tail in kerosene oil, oft in the early part of the stilly night, and then ignites it, thereby securing a fine torch. Consequently he does not wait for political excitement for his torch-light procession, but simply for the cat-tail crop to ripen. An "off" year is just as good as an even one for him.

Barnum will pay $20,000 for the capture of a sea serpent. The Georgetown Advocate should make one more effort to capture the one in Georgetown Lake.

GENUINE BARGAINS.

TO CLEAN UP OUR STOCK.

We must have the room for fall goods. We never carry goods over to another season. Hence the low prices.

Cashmere Scarfs.

$1.50 ones now $1.00. $1.75 ones now $1.25.
$2.00 ones now $1.39. $2.25 ones now $1.63.
$2 50 ones now $1.88. $3.00 ones now $2.00.

These are the best goods in the best colors, plain and embroidered, perfect and fresh.

Lisle Thread Hosiery

Brilliant Lisle Thread Hose, all sizes and a nice line of colors for only 25 cts per pair. The best and most serviceable hose made. They are worth 50 cts. anywhere.

15 cent Hose.

Fine Hose, in all colors, and fancy stripes at 15 cents. per pair or two pairs for 25 cents. See them and you are sure to buy, 25 cent Hose.

Regular 38 cent Hose in stripes—cream and blacks—full finished and the best 38 cent goods in the market, are being closed at 25 cts. per pair. Our hosiery counter is the centre of attraction just now.

Down They GO.

DRESS LAWNS 3 cts,
BEST PRINT REMNANTS 4 cts.
REMNANTS YARD WIDE COTTONS 4 cts.
BEST DRESS CAMBRICS 6 cts.
COMET COTTONS, 36 inch, 5 1-2 cts.

MARKED DOWN.

Goods all over the store, that we have a surplus of, are marked at prices that will close them out at once. We have no old stock, no accumulations of old fogy dealers, but a clean fresh stock, kept so by our annual closing out sales. We are not undersold and no one has offered any decent goods as low as we have made.

John P. Peabody,
227 & 229 ESSEX STREET.

Now Is The Time

FOR GOOD BARGAINS IN OUR LINE OF HARDWARES.

READ OUR PRICES!

Good Hatchets only	25 cts.
Good Chopping Axe only	65 cts.
Good Saw Horse only	25 cts.
Good Shoe Brush only	25 cts.

Grand Display of Good Pocket Knives for 25 cts.

Great bargains can be had on our

5, 10 & 25 ct. Counters.

Closing out our stock of

ICE CREAM FREEZERS & SCREENS.

BUY THE BEST CLOTHES WRINGER FOR $2.50,

— AT —

S. TRASK & SON,
WALNUT ST.

STRAWBERRIES,

POT GROWN.

Plants of Leading Varieties.

By setting in AUGUST will secure fruit the following season.

PLANTS ready now. Send for Circular, or call on

E. & C. WOODMAN,

FLORIST AND GARDEN SUPPLIES,

DANVERS, MASS.

Greenhouses, Holten St., Tapleyville, on line of Horse R. R.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, ss. PROBATE COURT.

To the widow, Heirs-at-Law, Next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of GEORGE W. ELLIOT, late of Peabody, in said county, yeoman, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by George W. Elliot, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond, for the reasons alleged in said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of September next, at nine o'clock, before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same. And said George W. Elliot is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

aug 11—3t

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

OUR GREAT SALE

PROVES TO BE

A Triumphant Success!

Hundreds of customers at the counters before the usual morning displays had been arranged. Departments crowded all day and the store closed twenty minutes before the last customer went out!

A CARD.

The importance and magnitude of our great purchase and sale of a surplus wholesale stock in these times of depression in business must be so apparent to every one, that it is almost needless to call attention to it. It is impossible to convey in a few words any description of the stock, but it is undoubtedly the best value and in the best condition of any stock ever offered in this manner. The lots are large, very large, but experience has taught us that no matter how big the purchase, it can easily be sold, provided the goods are of the PRESENT SEASON'S MANUFACTURE AND IMPORTATION, AND THE PRICES ARE LOW ENOUGH. The work necessary to take our semi-annual inventory on Friday and then be ready for this sale on Monday was great, very great, but it was all accomplished in the most satisfactory manner. Our shelves and counters, were so full of goods as to be impossible to find room for all the goods at once, hence we could only open a part at a tfme. This lot sold, more will be added each day. The following among other comments will convey some idea of the sale to those who were not able to attend yesterday:

"I have seen many bargain sales, but this is the only REAL ONE I ever saw. It is all Bargains."

"A big crowd and a nice class of people!'

"People waiting to get at the counters!"

"Never saw such a big crowd!"

"Everybody pleased!"

"Prices are fearfully low!"

"The Bargains are even more than advertised!"

Only a week ago they asked me $3.48 for this wrap and I have just bought it for $1.98"; etc., etc., etc.

Everybody in Essex County knows that what any dealer dares to do, we'll do. Come and see how we do it.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

NEW STORES,

238 & 240 Essex Street,

94 & 96 Washington Street.

SALEM. MASS.

EXCURSION TICKETS

For the whole system of Railways in the

White and Green Mountains

— SOLD BY —

D. P. GROSVENOR,

35 Main Street.

Authorized Agent for Peabody, Mass.

july 28—5w

COMER'S
Commercial College,

BOSTON, MASS.

Best Equipped and Most Successful in America

Re-opens Sept. 1, 1886, for the 46th Year.

The course of study is elective and embraces the following subjects: Book-keeping; Penmanship; Commercial Arithmetic; Law and Correspondence; Short-Hand; Type-Writing; the English Branches. Students may begin at any time, receive INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION, and progress according to ability. Separate department for ladies.

Graduates Aided to Employment.

PUBLIC SCHOOL GRADUATES take our course as a finishing off for their other school work, before going into business.

Our Special Three Months' Course

is taken by persons whose time and means are limited.

THE COLLEGE BULLETIN, (Illustrated) gives full particulars and will be mailed free upon application. For further particulars address or call upon

C. E. COMER, 666 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

M. N. BLACK,

Saratoga Waves made to order, a specialty, also old pieces redressed to look as well as new.

80 MARKE ST,. LYN N.

je 30—3m

Boyden House,

128 1-2 & 132 UNION ST.

(NEAR CENTRAL STATION.)

H. FRENCH, - Prop.,

LYNN, MASS

je 9—1y

BEE-HIVE

BARGAINS!

100 pcs. HAMBURG EDGINGS, fine goods, for 10 cts. yd.; well worth 12 1-2 cts.

50 pcs. HAMBURG EDGINGS, fine and wide, for 12 1-2 cts.; would sell for 17 cts.

25 pcs. wide ORIENTAL LACES —cream and white—for 10 cts. yd.; never sold for less than 12 1-2 cts.

50 pcs. wide ORIENTAL LACES. Your choice for 12 1-2 cts.; regular 25 cent laces.

— AT —

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE.

SALEM.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts,

ESSEX SS.

To the Heirs-at-Law, and others interested in the estate of EDWARD SHERRY, late of Peabody, in said County, laborer, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, James Sherry, Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell the whole of the real estate therein described of said deceased, for the payment of debts and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Salem, in said County, on the first Monday of September next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same; And said Administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, three weeks successively, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this nineteenth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

aug 4—3t

A CARD

In the half sheet advertisement sent out by us through Essex County, we mention a lot of Dr. Warner's Flexible hip and Nursing Corsets, which the manufacturers have refused to let us sell at less than regular prices, and have taken the goods off our hands,

We publish this card to revoke that part of our advertisement, and assure the ladies that something equally as good will be put in their place.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

BANKRUPT SALE

Of and Imported stock of

Human Hair Goods

The chance that comes but once in a life time.

The extensive stock of Mr. Leonard, the great importer and dealer of fine hair goods, was sold at auction last week in Boston. We were large purchasers of the same at merely nominal prices, and we propose to give our customers the benefit of the same. We have elegant waves at less than one quarter the original price. Crimps for 10c, 25c, 37c up. Warranted water curl ones for 50 and 75 cts.

Hair Switches for 25c, 50c, up. Gray Switches, a full line, from $2 up.

Polished Hair Crimping Irons 25c. Regular price $1.

Fluffy Fedore Curlers 15c, regular price 30c Ornaments, Hair Pins, etc., etc.

COME & EXAMINE.

Mrs. J. H. Browne's
153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

Also Remember all our Trimmed Hats and Bonnets will be closed out at Bargain prices. We have the largest stock to select from in the city

BROWNES

Next door to the Museum.

CROQUET.
HAMMOCKS.
Ice Cream Freezers.

These goods we are offering for a very low figure; the lowest prices ever offered on croquet can be found on our stock of

CROQUET.

Try our Extension Window Screens, also our Screen Frames for 20 CENTS.

Buy the best all steel Scythes, warranted.

Low figures on Bats and Balls.

S. TRASK & SON,
WALNUT ST.

REMOVAL!

JAMES HOWLEY.

Merchant Tailor,

Being about to remove to larger and more convenient quarters in the Hotel Building, finds himself overstocked with desirable goods and in order to reduce the same, offers to close out the entire stock at cost between now and August 1

This stock consists of a fine line:

Summer Suitings,
Light Overcoatings,
Heavy Fall Goods,
and Heavy Woolens.

Particular attention is called to about 230 PATTERNS IN

FASHIONABLE PANTALOONS,

The price of which has been made so low that it will insure a large sale and the first comers will have the largest Stock to select from.

REMEMBER

all these GOODS MUST GO to make room for the large stock ordered for the new store.

☞ I employ none but first class journeymen Tailors and guarantee satisfaction.

AN INSPECTION INVITED.

James Howley,

Over Warren Trask's Store.

Coal Dealers.

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheackin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal. Cumberland Coal.

All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telphone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville. and will be promptly attended to.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

vr T. Batchelder. noyS Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

— AT —

PICKERINGS

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, Jr & CO.,

7 Peabody Street.

N. O. VERY,

(Successor to L. B. Hatch.)

DEALER IN

WOOD AND COAL,

Hard and Soft Wood Kindlings, Bark, Slabs, Hay, etc.

113 DERBY ST., SALEM.

AT THE HEAD OF DERBY WHARF.

P. O. Box 64. Telephone, 444.

---

15 CENTS FOR SAMPLE COPY of THIS BEAUTIFUL BOOK. It gives the LANGUAGE and Sentiment of Every Flower and Shrub, 3000 different kinds. Also all the Known Rules of Flirtation with Glove, Parasol, Handkerchief and Fan. It is the most complete work of the kind ever published. Send Fifteen Cents in stamps for a sample copy, also our price to agents. Agents wanted everywhere. Ad. AMERICAN PUB. CO., 17 North Tenth Street, Philad'a, Pa.

OUR SINGER THIS STYLE $17 15 DAYS' TRIAL, A Full Set of Attachments. WARRANTED 5 Years. Send for Circular. E. C. HOWE & CO., 132 N. 6th St., Phila., Pa.

mch 24

[illegible] & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any $10 cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground feb 11—3m

YOUR HAIR

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and faded; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age? Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 30 years, and, although I am upwards of 60, my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BE assured, that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely fallen out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. H. P. Williamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo. A. Dadman, Waterloo, Mo., had his hair restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures diseases of the scalp. F. H. Foster, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

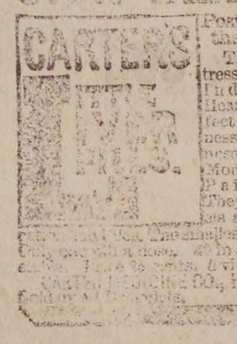
Ayer's Hair Vigor,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

For sale by all Druggists.

SICK HEADACHE



Positively Cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and easiest to take. [illegible] in a vial, Purely Vegetable [illegible] by mail for $1.00. [illegible] Prop'rs, New York.

CATARRH ELY'S

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CURES CATARRH
COLD IN HEAD
ROSE-COLD
HAY-FEVER
DEAFNESS
HEADACHE
PRICE 50 CENTS
ELY BROS. OWEGO, N.Y. U.S.A.
HAY-FEVER

Cream Balm

Gives Relief at once and Cures

COLD in HEAD

CARTARRH

HAY FEVER

Not a Liquid, Snuff or Powder. Free from injurious Drugs and Offensive odors.

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular, ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Owego, N. Y.

[illegible] CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS!

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS WILL Purify the Blood.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS BEGETS Sound, Refreshing Sleep.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS FOR That Tired, Weary Feeling.

Sick Headache.

GENTS:—I have been subject to Sick Headache for years, and have tried, in vain, many advertised remedies and several physicians, but all to no purpose. At last I tried your B. B. Bitters—without much faith, I admit—but to-day I can truly say, that after taking the third bottle, I have not suffered from it. I recommend it to all my friends; several have been cured by it. My little grandson was permanently cured of Biliousness and Sick Headache, which were so severe as to cause convulsions. They have all ceased since he commenced the use of B.B.B.

MRS. B. C. BODLE,
Orange, Luzerne County, Pa.

FRENCH'S HOTEL.

CITY HALL SQUARE. NEW YORK.

Opposite City Hall and the Post Office.

This Hotel is one of the most complete in its appointments and furniture of ANY HOUSE in New York City and is conducted on the

EUROPEAN PLAN.

Rooms only One Dollar per day. Half minute's walk from Brooklyn Bridge and Elevated R. R. All lines of cars pass the door. Most convenient Hotel in New York for Merchants to stop at. Dining Rooms, Cafes and Lunch Counter replete with all the luxuries at moderate prices.

HOME OF THE BANANA.

HOW THE POPULAR FRUIT IS SHIPPED AND TRANSPORTED.

Growth of the Banana Traffic—Risks of the Trade—Varieties of the Plantain. Value of an Acre of Bananas—The Crop—How to Cook Them.

A few weeks ago I stood under a bunch of ripe bananas hanging from a beam in a house in Catacamas, one of the most thrifty of Olancho pueblos. As a personal favor the Indian owner of the house suspended for a moment operations on the bedstead he was hewing out of solid mahogany, and sold the fruit to me for two reals. That was equal to twenty cents of American money. I can prove that the fruit was paid for, for a dozen witnesses saw the whole transaction, and laughed at my companion when he jauntily caught hold of one end of the bunch, and let go to get a better hold. He had not expected that the thing would weigh nearly or quite 100 pounds. The comandante, in whose house we lodged, assured us, when we had lugged the bunch to his dining room, that the cabinetmaker was a sharp rascal, in that he had charged us twice as much as would have been an ample price. "But," he reflected, philosophically, "you must pay for being Americanos and strangers." As it was too late we tried to not mourn too deeply the loss of our ten cents, and ate the fully ripe, mealy, sweet fruit. Many a time before and after that I bought bananas for two to four centavos a dozen.

Considerable quantities of fruit are brought from Nicaragua, but about the middle of May quarantine regulations forbade the entrance of vessels from ports on the east coast of that country without passing a very close examination and undergoing considerable delay at the quarantine stations. Any detention would be most injurious to a fruit so perishable as are bananas, plantains, mangoes and other tropical fruits. A few days in quarantine in hot weather would be as fatal to fruit in a vessel's hold as Yellow Jack would be to a patient on whom it had a hold; therefore craft trading to suspected regions refused to receive cargoes of fruit. They could not afford to risk losses. That kept out of the market a large quantity of fruit.

DOOM OF THE POOL.

For years two houses in New Orleans practically monopolized the fruit trade of the coast of Spanish Honduras, the islands thereabout, and of that little neck of Guatemala which separates Spanish from British Honduras. Competition between the two firms was raising prices, so they pooled their issues and divided the trade between them. That worked nicely, and prices were jammed down by the traders, because they "take all the chances, ye see," and leave the planter none. But one bright day an ugly black smoke away to the northward heralded the approach of the Maria P. and the doom of the pool. The steamer is owned by a firm of much enterprise and with money galore, so she harvested nearly all of the fruit then ready for shipment. Every bunch of bananas, every plantain, every cocoanut, every mango, and all the oranges, lemons and limes the officers of the Maria P. could buy were promptly secured, stowed away in her hold, and contracts made for ensuing trips. When the old line steamers arrived there was not half a load for them, so they were filled with profanity by their officers. The planters seemed to really enjoy the situation, which was unkind of them.

Of the musa or plantain there are a great number of sorts; some cultivators claim that they have eighty different kinds, but only two or three varieties are known in the markets of the United States. The variety popularly known in the West Indies and in the several Central American republics as platinos, or plantains, are seen in very few places in the United States outside of New Orleans. The sorts generally recognized in the states as bananas are either red or yellow, but the fruit is found in all shades produced by the mixture of the two colors named. By far the greater part of the bananas brought to this country are eaten raw, but they may be cooked in several ways. Fried in butter they are excellent food; baked in the skins they resemble delicious pears; boiled they are palatable; dried after fully ripening they form a sweet paste, and in every form they are very nutritious—far more so than bread. The tender young plants are boiled and eaten as asparagus is.

AN ACRE OF BANANAS.

Scientists declare that an acre of bananas produces vastly more nutritious food than an acre of wheat or of potatoes will. Cattle, horses, goats, pigs and poultry join man in his liking for this fruit, without which many a family would be on short commons much of the time. It is to dwellers in the tropics what the potato has become to the Irish. No wonder that belief was accorded to the story that the plantain was the forbidden fruit Eve invited Adam to share with her, and that it was the "grapes" that the spies brought away from the Promised Land. If plantains grew in Canaan the eagerness of the Israelites to gobble the whole country is satisfactorily accounted for.

The usefulness of the plant does not end with the feeding of man and beast. The leaves furnish an excellent thatch, and the stalks supply a large quantity of fiber of great strength and varying degrees of fineness. Some of this fiber is so exceedingly fine that an entire garment made of it may be hidden in the hand. But, notwithstanding the many uses to which the plantain may be put, and its almost incalculable value as food, not one person in ten thousand who would probably become regular consumers ever buys a banana or has ever seen a plantain. There is plenty of room for the expansion of the business of growing the fruit and some reason for thinking that it will increase, for the business is said to be fairly profitable now that refrigerator cars and cold storage on steamers have made it possible to carry the most perishable tropical productions to most remote parts of the United States and to Europe.

The cost of preparing a plantation of plantains or bananas is said to be about $15 per acre. Nine months after the shoots are stuck into the ground the first crop is ready for shipment, and from that time on bunches are continually maturing. New plants spring up to take the place of the old stalks, which die after producing a single bunch each of fruit. The bunches weigh from thirty to eighty pounds. Stems having less than six "hands" or half-circles of fruit are rejected by the buyers for market as being too small to be worth the thirty-five to fifty cents they pay on the coast. The vessels in the trade can carry from 20,000 to 40,000 bunches, and the bunches sell in New Orleans for about a dollar more than they cost on the coast. The plants are set about sixteen feet apart, and receive little or no care after the planting until the time comes to cut the larger bunches and to cut down all the young plants not wanted. The dead stalks, with all their valuable fiber, are left to rot on the ground.—"E. W. P.," in Chicago Times.

Singular Relic of the Flood.

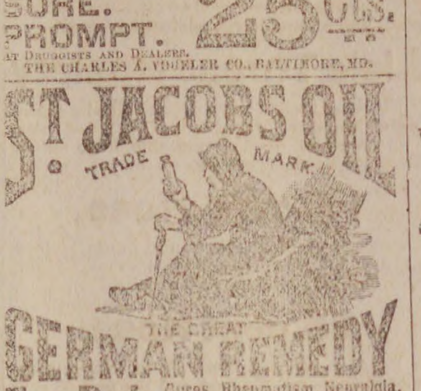
A singular and beautiful relic of the flood last summer is the crop of daisies that it sowed through the bottom lands of Kansas. Some sections are dotted thickly with these flowers, and as they were never known to grow before it seems certain that the seeds were brought down by the flood.—Chicago Herald.

RED STAR TRADE MARK. COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.



THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain

Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc. PRICE, FIFTY CENTS. AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Soaps, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

PATENTS.

—

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston,

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.
Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASGOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts,

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.

NATURE'S CURE FOR CONSTIPATION, A Reliable Remedy For Sick Stomach, Torpid Liver, Billious Headache, Costiveness, TARRANT'S EFFERVESCENT SELTZER APERIENT.

It is certain in its effects. It is gentler in its action. It can be relied upon to cure, and it cures by assisting, not by outraging, nature. Do not take violent purgatives yourselves or allow your children to take them; always use this elegant pharmaceutical preparation which has been for more than forty years a public favorite. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Sick-Headache, AND DYSPEPSIA.

STARCHINE Wonderful Reformation in Laundry Starch. Starching, Ironing and Polishing made easy.

Requires no cooking. Saves time, labor and money. Gives Troy laundry finish and gloss. Equal to over two pounds of ordinary starch. Ask your grocer for STARCHINE. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. SAMPLE FREE for letter stamp.

The Geo. Fox Starch Co. Cincinnati, O. Oldest Starch Factory in U. S. Established 1824.

WANTED.—I want you to do parlor work for me at your own home; plenty work; good pay; $1 per piece; all materials free. A. LOVE, Cleveland, Ohio.

BOOKS OF TRAVEL.

"SUMMER SAUNTERINGS BY THE B. & L.," 196 pages, and "WINNIPESAUKEE AND ABOUT THERE," 96 pages, both amply illustrated; descriptive of the White and Franconia Mountains, and the Hill and Lake Country of New Hampshire and Vermont; just issued by the Boston & Lowell R. R. for the season of 1886.

These books will be mailed free to any address on receipt of six cents for each book to prepay postage, on application to LUCIUS TUTTLE, Gen. Pass. Agt.

Boston, Mass.

Saving Institutions.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

WARREN

Five Cents Savings Bank

RUFUS H. BROWN, President.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treasurer.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Dividends are payable semi-annually, on the third Wednesday of May and November.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET

6 PEABODY SQUARE.

LOBSTERS.

LOBSTERS.

LOBSTERS

Boiled Fresh every day

A fine assortment of Ocean Lake and River Fresh Fish.

A full line of Salt, Smoked and Pickled Fish.

R. F. DODGE.

Arthur Elliott & Co.,

DEALERS IN

FRESH AND

SALT FISH.

Lobster and Fancy Fish in their seasons.

A share of public patronage solicited.

Caller Street,

PEABODY.

CROSS,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY

64 MARKET STREET, LYNN

Express.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at 9 47 A. M
Freight " at 5 00 P. M
Express " Boston at 3 30 P. M
Freight " " at 4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P.M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

Dr. F. G. Bates,

DENTIST,

218 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

OVER MERRILL & MACKINTIRE'S,

All Work Warranted.

mch 31—1y

$1

13 WEEKS.

The POLICE GAZETTE will be mailed, securely wrapped, to any address in the United States for 3 months on receipt of

ONE DOLLAR.

Liberal discount allowed to postmasters, agents and clubs. Sample copies mailed free. Address all orders to

RICHARD K. FOX,

FRANKLIN SQUARE, N. Y.

Bedding Plants

and Coleus.

Fine lot of Fushias and other Plants.

WARD'S GREENHOUSES.

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM
Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square.

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

PEABODY.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

EDWIN B. BALCOM,

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very best Tobacco in the market, we feel justified in saying he

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol Cuba brands

FOR A 5C SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO, 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

SHORTHAND Text-book and Instruction by mail to master it, given by the author of the system for $6. Most popular and easy method. Endorsed by 1000 graduates and professional stenographers. Book alone $1. D. L. Scott Browne, 23 Clinton Place, New York, N. Y.

GOOD SALARIES or Commission to Men and Women to act as local or traveling Agents. No experience needed. Steady work! JAMES E. WHITNEY, Nurseryman Rochester, N. Y. (Mention this paper.)

je 8—3m

THE BEST

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, 34 Arlington st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrofulous or consumptive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Laconia, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with Scrofulous complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best blood of the day." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken several bottles, am greatly benefited, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers." R. Harris, Creel City, Ramsey Co., Dakota, writes: "I have been an intense sufferer, with Dyspepsia, for the past three years. Six months ago I began to use

Blood

Purifier

AYER'S
Sarsaparilla

It has effected an entire cure, and I am now as well as ever."

Sold by all Druggists.
Price $1; Six bottles, $5.
Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,
ACCORDEONS
HARMONICAS,
And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

ONE THOUSAND!

Of the good people of Salem and vicinity moved by a sense of the great importance of the New Discovery to the whole human family have reported at our office that

BATTIS'
Modified Extract
— OF —
Denicotized Tobacco

Has cured and will cure the following diseases:

RHUEMATISM,	DIPTHERIA,
NEURALGIA,	PNEUMONIA.
HEADACHE,	COLIC and CRAMP,
DYSPEPSIA,	CHOLERA MORBUS,
ERYSIPELAS,	TOOTHACHE,
SPRAINS,	BRUISES,
ROSE CANCER,	SCARLET FEVER,
SORE EYES,	BRIGHT'S DISEASE,
KIDNEY COMPL'TS	SPINAL TROUBLE.

All of these it will cure and has cured, if human testimony is worth anything. Any information as to above will be cheerfully furnished.

J. H. BATTIS,
Sole Proprietor and Manufacturer,
28 & 30 Front St., Salem.

PRICE 75c. A BOTTLE.
apr 14—3m

HAY!
HAY!
HAY!

10 cars arrived to-day for sale cheap. Fancy White Middlings, Bran, Fine Feed, Oat Meal, Ground Oats, Cotton Seed Wheat, Screenings, Barley, Fancy le lip Barley, Oats, Mixed Oats, White Oats, Haxall and St. Louis Flour. Also other kind of feed for Horses and Cows in great variety. Please call and examine our stock and prices before buying elsewhere.

J. V. & J. HANSON
2 & 4 FRONT ST, SALEM,
ALSO AT
Peabody Square & Danvers Iron Works.

F. D. TARLTON,

DRY GOODS.

BARGAINS! BARGAINS!

25udozen Ladies' colored skirts at 25 cents, marked down from 50 to close.

20 dozen Ladies' Lisle Gloves 10 cents, worth 25.

Ladies' and Misses' Cotton Hosiery, 6 cents to 50 cents per pair.

Parasols and Jerseys in great variety.

F. D. TARLTON,
42 MAIN STREET, PEABODY.

Watch this column next week as Wellman Osborne, the Lynn shoe dealer, will offer bargains that will make you happy.

Missey

CRAYON ARTIST & PHOTOGRAPHER;
252 Essex Street, Salem.

Having refitted and refurnished our gallery with new Lenses, Cameras, Backgrounds, Accessories, etc., etc., and having one of the largest and finest operating rooms and skylights in the country, we now have facilities second to none for doing first class work in all branches of Photography.

We have just purchased the finest instruments obtainable for making pictures from 8x10 to 24x24 (full life size) direct from the sitter, and make them either bust, half or full length, or groups. To introduce them we shall make them very low for three months.

We have special facilities for copying old and faded Photographs, Daguerreotypes, Ambrotypes, Tintypes, etc. Before giving your pictures to agents, come to us, and see our samples and get our prices. You can save money and at the same time get better work and not risk the breaking or losing of your pictures in the mails.

We make a specialty of Life Size Free Hand Crayons, made from any kind of picture or from life. One of the advantages, not to speak of the superior artistic qualities, of free hand work over the mechanically finished solars, is that any changes from the original, no matter how great, can be easily made, whereas in the finished solar but very slight changes can be made. We can furnish duplictaes from any negative ever taken by N. C. Bosuley.

Call and see what we are doing, all will be; treated courtesy! whether anythiug is desired ornot.

ENDYMION.

How slowly falls yon sickle from on high
 Through evening's silent sky,
Flashing a splendor from its curved blade
 On the low-lying shade!

Now in and out the narrow cloud that bars
 Its pathway from the stars
It slips, and with a golden glory shines,
 Nearing the mountain lines.

Nay, 'tis no sickle which some unseen hand
 Lets fall upon the land;
It is the jewel of a lady's crown,
 As she steps lightly down.

Night after night, down the aerial stair
 She stealeth unaware;
Leaving the empire which she ruleth above,
 And all her state, for love.

Behold, her feet have touched the rocky steeps
 Where the young shepherd sleeps,
And larger burns her jewel as she moves
 In search of him she loves.

And now it fades, and glimmers, and is gone.
 Happy Endymion!
While here the world in sudden shadow lies,
 She bends above his eyes.

—Atlantic Monthly.

Care of a Tramp's Hands.

"One of the essential points of success in my profession," said a dilapidated old tramp who was talking to a reporter from behind the bars of one of the cells in the city jail this morning, "is to keep the hands in good order. You don't understand what I mean, eh? What I mean by keeping the hands in good order is this: Of course, in tramping from town to town, a man is liable to be arrested for vagrancy at any time. He must tell a story of how he has just been thrown out of work and is looking for employment, which, as yet, he has not been able to find. In nine cases out of ten the judge will ask him to show up his hands, and when he does produce them they must be horny and toilworn. Catch on, do you?

"So you see it is part of my business to keep my hands looking as though they belonged to a man who was accustomed to work 365 days in the year. For that purpose I carry with me this small piece of hickory wood, which is round and very smooth. About twice a day I take it between my palms and rub them so that the friction will make them hard and callous. In that way, you see, I produce the 'real result' with very little trouble and annoyance. There is a bottle of brown liquid which I use occasionally for staining the back part of my hands a beautiful sunbrown color, and there you are. When I show up my hands and tell the judge that I am a hard working man, thrown out of employment by the strikes, what can he do but believe me? The trick has saved me many a day in jail, and I flatter myself is a strictly original idea, though it is spreading rapidly. The profession, you see, is beginning to realize that it will never do to show up to a hard-hearted police judge a pair of tender, lily-white hands."—Ohama Bee.

In Favor of the Darwin Theory.

A Washington street orthopedic artist, speaking with me to-day about trusses and hernia, told me of a queer suggestion made to him a few days ago by a prominent Chicago Unitarian minister who called on him to see about a truss for another person. In the course of the conversation the fact had been commented upon that hernia was not, properly speaking, a rupture at all. Whenever there is a weakness in the muscles of the lower abdomen, and an interstice occurs, even three-quarters of an inch in diameter, the peritoneum, or sack which contains the intestines, forces its way through the orifice, and, little by little the intestines follow, making an outside bunch.

When this was explained to the divine, who was, of course, an ardent disciple of Darwin, his eyes became fixed on the floor for a few moments in deep thought, and then, his countenance lighting up with the joy of a new discovery, he said to the truss man: "By the way, has it never occurred to you that this weakness in the muscles of the abdomen, which exists in one out of every seven men that walk the earth, resulted from the human family straightening up and becoming bipeds instead of quadrupeds? It seems to me that we have a great argument here for the descent of man from the lower animals." The truss man says it may be so for all he knows. Horses, dogs, cats, and even canary birds are often ruptured, but in their case it can always be traced to accident and mechanical force, not to congenital weakness.—Chicago Journal.

Of Pill and Ointment Celebrity.

Whether the late Mr. Holloway, of pill and ointment celebrity, did good in his lifetime with his pills and ointment may be disputed by doctors and patients; but there can be no question about his doing good after his death. He left a handsome sum of money to found an asylum for better class lunatics, as you may know, and besides that, being much impressed with the necessity of a higher education for women, left $3,500,000 to build and endow a grand college for 450 girls of the upper middle class. The building is said to cover more ground than any college in the world. Every girl will have a bedroom and a study to her self. Lovely grounds, laid out in terraces and tennis lawns, surround the building, and many of the gentlemen who went down the other day to a private view of the place, previous to the opening of it by the queen, would not have objected to be turned into girl students just for a few years, and peacefully study and live in a place so well worth living in. Her majesty commanded that the epithet of "royal" should be applied to the college at once, instead of after the opening ceremony, as is usual. Seldom indeed did an establishment better deserve the title.—Max O'Rell's London Letter.

Sheep Washing Has Got to Go.

That picturesque rural rite, sheep washing, has got to go. Indeed it has gone, to a great extent, already. The Wool Journal says it does not know a single argument in its favor. The practice was inaugurated at an early day, and it is a relic of old times, when the wool shorn from the small flocks in the eastern states was largely used up at home. Then it was necessary to wash either before or after shearing, to prepare it for carding or spinning. Those days are past, and both the sheep and their owners ought to be glad of it.—Exchange.

The Ex-Khedive's Wicked old Mother.

The mother of ex-Khedive Ismail Pasha, who died a few days ago at Cairo, was one of the most wicked old women imaginable. She was noted for her depravity, and the men who once entered her palace at the Abbassieh, just outside of Cairo, never emerged therefrom again. On several occasions her carriage was pelted with stones and she herself mobbed by crowds of women, some of whom demanded their sons, others their husbands and brothers. Latterly she had become exceedingly devout.—Chicago Tribune.

The Poetry of Dr. O. W. Holmes.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes' verse is quite harmless and full of common sense and flippancy. They range from commemoration odes to valentines, and are excellent examples of what poetry ought to be.—Vanity Fair.

The average cost of a contested English election is $8,000.

SALEM SHOE STORE,
278 ESSEX STREET SALEM,

Invite their Peabody customers to inspect their elegant line of
CANVASS AND LAWN TENNIS GOODS
At Reasonable Prices. We are the Salem agents or the celebrated

W.L.DOUGLAS'
$3.00
SHOE
WARRANTED
SILK STITCHED
GLOVE KID
ELASTIC WARRANTED
GLOVE KID
BEST TANNERY CALF
BOTTOM SEWED

Button
La e &
Congress

HONEST GOODS at a small profit.

Our Men's and Children's Goods are made on the premises. Remember the number,

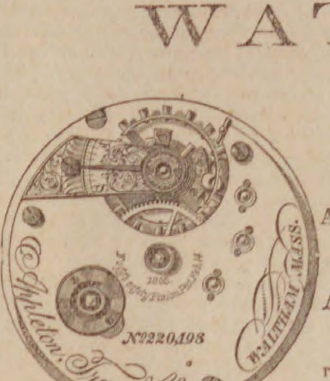
278 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Opposite Packard's Furniture Store. T. A. CORSON, Agent.
mch 13—1y

WATCHES!

BARGAINS

— IN —

American Watch Co., Waltham and Elgin Watches.



Appleton, Tracey & Co.
No 220,198
WALTHAM, MASS.

Appleton, Tracey & Co.,

Full Jeweled, adjusted, chronometer balance, patent regulator and breguet hair spring. A very fine time-keeper, at a great reduction from regular prices.

The reliable P. S. BARTLETT WATCH, in a 3-oz. coin silver Waltham case, $16; warranted perfect in every respect.

All grades of Watches at the lowest prices.

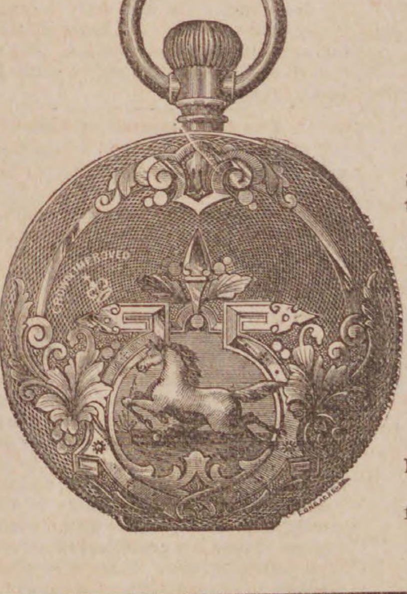
Watches, French Clocks, Jewelry, Eye Glasses, etc., repaired in prompt and superio manner. Especial attention given to cleaning and adjusting fine Watches.

Geo. A. Collins,

JEWELER,

26 MAIN STREET, PEABODY AND 198 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

AMERICAN WATCHES
AT THE —
LOWEST PRICES.
DANIEL LOW'S,
SALEM.



LADIES'
GOLD
WATCHES.

We can show a fine line of Gold and Silver watches and sell them much less than Boston prices.

Daniel Low,
SALEM.

Watches repaired and adjusted promptly and at reasonable prices.

Standard time by telegraph every day from Cambridge.

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL
— CREAM HOME MADE BREAD —

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich ride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamenta work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty

C. F. Hathawav,
50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

NOTICE OUR
REMOVAL.
P. Hartigan & Son,
HORSE SHOERS,

Have removed from the rear of Kinsman's Block to

184 BRIDGE ST.,

Nearly opp. St. Peter street, Salem.

OLD ESTABLISHED CONCERN,

P. Hartigan, Senior, has had 30 years' experience.

N. B. Personal attention given to Horses that interfere or over-reach.

☞ Treatment of CORNS and QUARTER CRACKS a specialty.
All our work is guaranteed,
19—3m

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD
On and after Monday, June 28. 1889 trains will run as follows,—

EASTERN DIVISION.

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, A. M , 1 55, 3 27, 5 08, 6 47 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 6 10, 8, 10 55 A. M., 12 M., 3, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M. Sunday, 9 27, A. M. Return 5 45 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6,30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48 7 51, 8 13, 8 34, does not stop at Lynn, 8 43, 8 58, 9 25, 9 55, 10.48 A M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 12, 3 35, 4 05. 4 21, 5 18, 5 43,6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 8 55, 9, 9 53 P.M. Sundays, 5.37 8 45, 9 35, 10 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3 ,5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48. 7 51, 8 43, 8 58, 10 48 A. M.. 12 M, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 35, 4 21, 5 18. 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 9, 9 53, P. M. Sundays, 8 45. 9 35, 11 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3, 5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Beverly, 6 53, 8 13, 8 45, 10 44, 11 20 A. M., 12 02, 1 05, 2 27, 2 47, 3 56, 4 05, 5 12, 5 35, 5 57, 6 36, 7 05, 7 15, 7 45, 10 10, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M. 2 10, 7 17, 8 07 P. M

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—6 53, 8 45,11 20 A. M., 2 47, 4 05, 5 35, 7 05, 7 45, 10 10 P. M Sunday, 7 17 P.M.

Essex, 8 13 A. M., 1 05, 3 56, 6 36 P. M.

Ipswich, 8 13, 9 35, 10 44 A, M., 1 05, 2 27, 3 57, 5 12 6 36. 7 15 P. M, Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30P. M.

Newburyport, 8 13, 9 35, 10 00, 10 44 A.M. 1 05, 2 02 2 27, 3 56, 5 12, 6 36, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

AndFOR SALEM—from

Newburyport—4 45. 6 30, 7, 8, 8 13, 9 07,11 40 A.M 2 35. 3 30, 3 35, 5 43, 7 20, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.

Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 15, 8 31, 9 25, A. M. 12 02 3 53, 6 06, 7 26, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A.M.. 5 06 P. M.

Essex—7, A. M., 12 05 5 40 P. M.

Rockport -6 05, 7 20, 8 35, 10 A. M., 1 15, 4 55, 6 40 9 P.M. Sundays—7 50, 9 55 A. M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 29, 8 44, 10 08 A M, 1 25, 5 03, 6 48, 9 09 P M. Sundays—8, 10 03A. M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 42, 8 56, 10 21 A. M., 1 39, 5 17, 7 01, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14, 10 16 A. M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 50, 9 16, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 21, 12 40, 1 58, 4 13, 5 35, 6 25, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 9 43 P. M. Sundays 8 35 10 35 A. M. 2 52, 5 30, 9 10 P. M.

Swampscott,—6 44, 8 50, 10 36, 11 26, 11 54 A. M., 12 36, 2 19, 3 28, 4 31, 6 20, 6 56, 8 32, 10. 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 12 A.M., 2 02, 5 52, 6 27, 7 09, 7 59 10 12 P. M.

Lynn—6 40. 8 02, 8 35, 8 46, 9 10, 9 25, 9 51, 10 32, 11 10, 11 23, 11 51, A. M.. 12 33, 12 55. 1 52, 2 15, 3 25, 3 45, 3 55,4 28, 5 03, 5 24, 5 45. 6 16, 6 25. 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 27, 9 57, 10 45, 11 45 P.M. Sundays 8 52, 11 07 A, M , 1 57, 5 48, 6 24, 7 05, 7 54 10 07, P. M.

Boston—6 10, 7 30, 8, 8 10, 8 45, 9, 9 30, 10. 10 45. 10 55. 11 .5. A. M. 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 40, 2 15, 3, 3 20, 3 30, 4 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40. 7 10, 7 50, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 30 A. M, 1 20, 5 10, 5 45, 6 25, 7, 7 15.9 30 P.M

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 7 55, 8 40, 9 30 10 50 A M 1 05, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 5 55, 7 20 10 on Saturdays P M. Sundays, 9 10, A. M. 2 15, 7 20, 9 15 P. M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15. 9 10, 10 15 A M, 12 45. 2 3 25, 4 55, 5 40, 6 20, 7 45 on Saturday, P M. Sundays, 8 30, A. M., 12 50, 5 25, 8 45 P. M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 35, 8 53, 10 15 A. M., 1 52, 4 48 P. M.

Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A M, 3 21, 4 15, 5 85 P. M

Wakefield for Salem—8 12 A M, 12 05, 3 55, 4 39, 6 09 P. M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 21 A M, 12 14, 4 05, 4 46, 6 18 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 28 A M, 12 22, 4 12, 4 53, 6 26 P. M,

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lowell—7 A. M., 4 43, 6 P.M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 AM, 4 43, 6 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A M, 3 37, 4 43,6 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 05, 11 35 A M 12 47, 3 37, 4 43, 5 20, 6, 6 42 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 35 A. M., 12 15, 5 10 P. M Sundays 8 A M

Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 10 12 A M, 1 02. 5 58 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M

Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10,10 45 A M, 1 30, 4 45, 6 22, P M. Sundays 9 02 A M

Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 8 2, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A.M. 1 46, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 38, P M. Sundays 9 18 A M

Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02. 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A M, 1 55, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 47 P M. Sundays 9 27 A M

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston Je. 28, 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty-miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8.30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9.00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3.30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS fo Hartford, New Haven. Jersey City, Trenton Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South. Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for Ne York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St. or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON
A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE,

June, 21, 1886.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.30, 3, 3.30, 4, (Express) 4.30, 5, (Express), 5.30, 6, (Express) §6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 9.50, 10.50, 11.15 P. M

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, (Express) 7.30 (Express), 8 (Express), 8.30 (Express), 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.30 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.30, 3, 3.30, 4, 4.30, 5, 5.30, 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8. 8.30, 9, 9.40, 10.15, P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A M.; 12 M.; 1. 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45. 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 9, 9.30 P. M.

§Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. C. A. HAMMOND up

THE WASHINGTON LUNCH ROOM,

Post Office Building,

SALEM.

Steaks and Chops served in first-class style.

Oysters and Salads a specialty.

ALDEN THOMAS, - Prop.
je 9—3m

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—May I be allowed through the PRESS to speak a a word in behalf of the Law and Order meeting of Sunday afternoon, Aug. 8th, which you are pleased to characterize as "unwise and a grevious error?" I had heard that statement, and, by the way, exactly in those words, made by two gentlemen, men who think highly of their own opinions, and men who, as the saying is, "go off at half cock," but when I came to read it in the PRESS I could not in my amazement help saying: "What is the matter with the dear old PRESS of late, for surely the PRESS is not the paper in which I should have looked for such sentiment." You ought to know all about that meeting, also the other one which was held in the evening, but as I see by your editorial that you do not, I will try and give you some light upon the subject.

That Sunday afternoon meeting was called by the Executive Committee of the Law and Order League BY THE CONSENT AND ADVICE OF THE SELECTMEN. It was thought expedient to bring out a sentiment of law and order. There was need of just such resolutions as were presented for acceptance. The shameful fact of their being rejected as well as the riotous procedure of the day before, amply demonstrates it. Now, under the circumstances, was it not better that the mob rule spirit should show its colors in that way than to have waited until the following day and taken us entirely unprepared? We all know that those non-union men had been shamefully treated the day before; we as well knew that they would be exposed to the same crowd, who, with intensified feelings, and emboldened by little opposition, would have been likely to have gone still further. The mob voice of that meeting opened the eyes of many a law abiding citizen with a snap. They saw what they had failed to realize before, that only prompt measures could prevent a veritable riot. The meeting was called in good faith. No one supposed that there would be such a riotous crowd there. No one believed that there were such a large number of Anarchists in our midst.

As you well know, the result of this meeting called together a body of law abiding citizens who were ready and freely offered their services to the town officials. Consequently, on Monday noon, Aug. 9th, when the wickedest crowd that ever disgraced our public square came there with avowed purpose of doing mischief, many of the worst, I am glad to say, not being citizens of Peabody, they did not dare to commence hostilities, fearing that they would get the worst of it.

There is but one general opinion, viz: That the result of the meeting awakened the better sense of the Knights of Labor to the realization of the position they were taking, thereby, in all probability, saving riot and bloodshed during the following week. One final word in regard to the Secretary of that meeting and I will close. Mr. McCarthy took a wrong position. Doubtless he is at present as well aware of that as any one need to be. What of it? It was a mistake, that was all. You and I make mistakes. It is human to err. I respect him more for his manly effort to correct it than I did before he committed the error.

"LAW AND ORDER."

MESSRS EDITORS:—As the Champion Harvest Machine is well known in this vicinity through the persistent efforts of its agent and the merits of the machine, the following account of their employes' proposed picnic may be of interest. It is taken from a paper published in the place.

Yesterday afternoon, the foreman of the East street Champion works held a meeting for the purpose of making arrangements for the annual picnic of the workingmen of this factory. It was intended to hold this next Saturday, at the Soldier's Home, at Dayton, but it was found utterly impossible for any railroad to gather together, on such short notice, a sufficient number of cars to carry the vast crowds that will attend. Moreover, when Dayton learned that over 3,000 people from the Champion City intended to swoop down upon her at once, it was seen at once that the Gem City would require at least a week and a half to recover from her bewilderment, and grasp the immensity of the blow-out. Therefore the picnic was postponed.

The meeting yesterday afternoon was organized by the election of J. L. Gilligan as chairman, and Will F. Karch, as secretary. A vote was taken on the time and place of holding the picnic, and it was unanimously decided that it should be at Dayton, on Saturday, August 14. It is proposed to make this just about the biggest thing in the way of a picnic that has ever been seen in this section of the country. Over 3,000 of the East street working men and their families will go down, and will require sixty passenger coaches and five engines to carry them. The three roads are bidding for the prize, and a very low rate will be procured, with ample accommodations for all. It is intended to decorate the cars very handsomely with flags and banners, and to take along every band in the town. Fine music, dancing, base ball, and all manner of outdoor sports will constitute the amusements of the day.

This is the firm (Whitely Tassler & Kelly) that discharged Mar. 2, 700 K. of L. from their Champion Harvester Machine Works, the largest institution of its kind on the Globe.

The reason for this procedure is tersely stated by Mr. Whitely.

"We were compelled to take this course in the cause of human liberty. So far as we have observed, the operation of this organization in other cities, has been one of terror, intimidation and violence, and it seems to be a question whether a factory shall have all or none of its employes members of an organization. We prefer to have all our men independent of all organizations, and believe such a course will be for the good of the community." This firm has employed none but free and independent workmen since that time.

READER.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—I agree with you when you say that this trouble between the men and ourselves should be immediately settled, but before I consent to arbitrate I want a few things settled that have occurred in my experience. First, I want the privilege of hiring whom I please, and the right to discharge a man for cause. Previous to this strike if I told a man to do anything that did not suit him, he would make an impudent reply and dare me to discharge him, threatening to close up my factory if I did. I also want a man to do a fair days' work for a fair days' pay. I have had men since they joined the Knights of Labor that made it a point to do as little work as possible, and at the same time insist on the highest price for their work. To illustrate this I will give you an instance: I wanted a certain line of work done, and told the man that in my opinion 175 hides a day was about the number that should be done. He refused to do them, claiming that he could not do so many a day. I did not wish to treat the man unfairly, so to satisfy myself I gave the work to another and told him I wanted him to do 175 hides, do them well and keep his time, that I might know how long it took. The result was that at the end of four hours they were all done. Now, if the work could be done by one man in four hours, was it a large day's work for ten hours? These are only a few of the many things we have had to contend with, and I want them settled before business is resumed. When the Knights of Labor simply insisted on a uniform price list for all doing certain kinds of work, no one found fault; but when they say that a man shall be discharged or we will boycott you, they are going too far. Let's settle these questions first and there will be no trouble.

A MANUFACTURER.

At the session of the Grand Lodge I. O. O. F., last Thursday, of Boston, William M. Hill of Salem was chosen Grand Master. This is the highest office in the gift of the order in the State of Massachusetts, and is specially worthy of note, on account of the coming meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge in September in Boston. Ex-Mayor Hill, being the head of the order in the State, will of course be called upon to do the honors, and that he will do them gracefully and well, no Odd Fellow in the State, particularly in Essex County, needs to be told. There has been but one other Grand Master from Essex County, Levi F. Warren of Essex Lodge, who held the position some twenty years ago. Salem is to be congratulated, and the Odd Fellows of Salem have already congratulated the Grand Master. In these congratulations Holten Lodge of this town, whose district deputy he was for so many years, heartily joins. He was the first district deputy on the re-organization of Holten Lodge; was one of the prominent advocates of the granting of the charter, and held the office of deputy here until his election to the office of Grand Warden two years ago.

A distinguished Philadelphia physician says that a great deal of what passes for heart disease is only mild dyspepsia, that nervousness is commonly bad temper, and that two-thirds of the so-called malaria is nothing but laziness. We admit the correctness of this statement as relates to dyspepsia and bad temper, but the doctor is wide of the truth when he treats of malaria. In this rushing age there are few lazy people, except confirmed tramps, and even malaria is willing to let them alone. Worriment and over-anxiety are our besetting sins. The most deliberate man in this town never had chills and fever, although he spent a season on the very breeding-ground of the disease, and he lays his happy exemption to the fact that he is too lazy to shake.—Milford Gazette.

A young son of James Carlin of Endicott street a deaf mute has been sent to Northampton for an education.

OLD CLOTHES TRADE

MEN OF FASHION WHO APPEAR IN BORROWED FINERY.

Secrets of the Business Disclosed—Common Clothes More Valuable Than Fine Fabrics—The "Change Act" and Its Economy.

A reporter desirous of obtaining some information in regard to the old clothes trade in Brooklyn called on a local dealer. The reporter's obliging informant was found surrounded by huge piles of clothing. He was intelligent and seemed to thoroughly understand his business. After making the reporter promise not to mention his name, he said:

"At certain seasons of the year the old clothes business is better than at others. More trade is done during April than in almost all the other months of the year put together. In April, gentlemen shed the clothes worn all winter and don spring attire. The clothing that has been worn in cold weather is, of course, unfit to wear during the heated term, and is usually pretty well used up. The prudent man, rather than put his winter clothes away, and in the fall take them out moth-eaten, sells them. I know men who can well afford a dozen suits, but who have none other but the one on their back. When they get a new one the old suit is sold or given away. It seems strange, but rough, common clothes are more valuable to dealers than fine fabrics. Fine broadcloth suits are not salable when they become a little worn. Much of our trade is done with poor people, who prefer rough to fine clothing."

"Are the clothes bought by Brooklyn dealers all salable here again?"

"Oh, no; a big trade is, of course, done with residents, but a larger part of the old clothes purchased are sent south or to Ireland. Since the war a large trade has been done with the colored people of that section. A colored man, I think, would prefer a second-hand suit of clothes to a new one. They also buy everything of a loud pattern obtainable. The trade with Ireland has of late years almost died out. In former years and during the famines, business with the Emerald Isle was brisk. Many strange and incredible scenes are often enacted in old clothes dealers' shops. There is one branch of the business which I don't think is done so much here as in New York. This is called the change act. Chatham street and the Bowery contain many dealers who make a specialty of the change trade.

THE "CHANGE ACT" EXPLAINED.

"The change act consists of changing a good suit of clothes for an inferior one, and in receiving a sum of money as an equivalent for the difference in value of the two suits. When a man is broke he will do anything to get money, and if he has a good suit and knows the ropes, he soon disposes of his own good clothes for some of inferior quality. For instance, if a man enters my place with a $40 suit of clothes on his back, and I trade him one worth $10, I can well afford to give him $5 or $8 cash to boot. Some fashionable gentlemen who are seen in a dozen different suits each month own but one.

"The manner in which they are enabled to cut a swell is as follows: Some old clothes dealers do a pawnbroking business in a mild way. If a man has a good suit he can, by paying a small sum, always exchange it for one of equal quality, and still not lose all ownership in his original suit. After he has worn the suit hired a few days he can, by paying a sum, wear still another suit. This arrangement can be continued indefinitely, and finally the lessee, if he desires, can have returned to him his original suit. I have one customer, an impecunious young man, who is well known in society. If he is going out in the evening and wishes to appear in full dress, he comes here, leaves the suit of clothes he has been wearing and dons one of my dress suits. In the early morning the young man again appears, takes off the dress suit and puts on his own clothes. For the accommodation I charge only a small fee."—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Consumption of Flour.

The consumption of flour would furnish a good study for some inquisitive body who has time and the inclination to go into it. Some people say it has decreased per capita, while others say it has increased. The latter base their opinion on the fact that in the northwest and west, where the people used to eat rye bread and oatmeal, and in the south, where corn meal was the material used for bread making, all classes now use flour made from wheat. There is no doubt but there is a great deal of truth in that. The other side is taken by people who say that in this and the eastern part of the country the middle and upper classes have very largely deserted the staff of life, and taken largely to potatoes and fruits in and out of season, and that the consumption of flour in pastry is not sufficiently increased to make up for loss in that respect. There is a great deal of soundness in that reasoning, also. I know a number of people who simply nibble at a piece of bread, and live on meats, potatoes, fruits, and vegetables. I, myself, do not eat two slices of bread a day, hardly, and do not touch pastry. This gives the case a rather mixed appearance. The mills have been running almost steadily, but even this is no criterion, as it is hard to say what they would have done if the country mills had not largely been shut down.—John Crangle in Globe-Democrat.

The Highest Observatory on Record.

The Tyrolese are going to do the highest observatory on record. The advantages of regular accounts of what goes on a few thousand feet above us have long been recognized by meteorologists. The difficulty is, how to get them; and the nature of the chief obstacle may be gathered from the description of the kind of quarters in process of construction for the new hermit of the Sonnblick. He has to dwell in a log house on ordinary days, as in a stone residence he would probably be frozen to death.

But although his wooden habitation is constructed as strongly and solidly as possible, and anchored to the rock by steel wire ropes, it is anticipated that of a stormy night the whole structure may slip its cable and cruise off bodily into the valley. In such emergencies the man of science in possession is recommended to retire to a massive stone tower of refuge, with walls of enormous thickness, which, it is thought, will resist the very worst the wind furies can do against it. Here, if he can keep himself warm, the solitary will be safe until there is a thunder storm. These, however, are usual in dirty weather on the Sonnblick, so three lightning rods and a special lightning proof fence have been added to the defenses of the observatory. The curious thing is, that an observer is already in training to take possession of this happy home.—St. James' Gazette.

A Curious Discussion Taking Place.

A curious discussion is now taking place at the London Astronomical society, where a Mr. Common maintains that the photographic camera sees more than the eye, and Mr. Raynard maintains the contrary. As photographic plates vary according to the make, and as the power of the human eye also varies in different individuals, it is probable that this discussion will continue for a considerable time.—Boston Budget.

LOOK OUT FOR

BARGAINS

— IN —

BOOTS AND SHOES.

306 pair of Women's French Goat Comfort Boots, the easiest Button Boot made, low broad heels, just the boot for sea shore and country wear, only $2.00 per pair, well worth $3.00.

300 pair A. F. Smith's Hand Sewed Goat Button, always sold for $4.00 per pair, now selling at $2.75. A great bargain.

Bargains in CANVAS BOOTS for Boy's and Men's Wear.

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

SALEM.

BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S CLOTHING!

— AT —

KENT & BOYNTON'S

— AT —

Greatly Reduced Prices.

It is not necessary for us to say that our Children's, as well as our Men's Clothing, is superior to any in Essex County.

READ OUR PRICES ON SUITS IN BROKEN LOTS.

Children's Short Pant Suits	$2.50;	formerly 4.00	Boys' Long Pant Suits	$5.00;	formerly 6.50.
" " " "	2.75;	" 4.00	" " " "	5.50;	" 7.00.
" " " "	3.00;	" 4.50	" " " "	6.00;	" 8.00.
" " " "	3.50;	" 5.00	" " " "	6.50;	" 8.50.
" " " "	4.00;	" 6.00	" " " "	7.00;	" 10.00.
" " " "	5.00;	" 6.75	" " " "	8.00;	" 12.00.

In our Gent's Clothing Department we are having a great Mark-Down and Clearance Sale. Money refunded on all garments returned within a reasonable time.

KENT & BOYNTON,

250 & 254 Essex St., Salem.

THE BOSTON Globe has come to the conclusion that precinct voting is a good thing for the democratic party, saying that it is the workingmen who who can least spare the time to go a long distance to the polls. It further advises "the town committees to take this matter up now, and lay their towns out in precincts, and thus put a voting place within easy reach of all their voters." The editor of the Globe would do well to read the law relative to precinct voting in towns before giving its readers much more advice, and if the town committees undertake to follow the above advice they will get badly left.

Last evening, while some young men in the Central street freight yard were throwing heavy iron shackles for amusement, one of them struck James Tracey a blow in the head, cutting a bad gash.

Secretary Bayard's estimate of his country; Not large enough to face Canada when in the right, but amply able to terroize Mexico, even when in the wrong.—Boston Advertiser.

The teamster of Charles Harrington & Co. was again assaulted last evening on Aborn street. A stone was thrown at him, but it did not injure him as the one did the day before.

H. N. McCully has met with another accident at his orange grove, in Florida. This time the fingers of his right hand were badly crushed.

Mr. W. H. Crowley is to shortly put in a new advertising desk in the post-office, made of polished cherry.

The concert of the Salem Brass Band Wednesday afternoon and evening, attracted large crowds.

No star is lost we once have seen,
We always may be what we might have been.

On this leaf in memory prest,
May my name forever rest

Desire not to live long—but well
How long we live, not years, but actions tell.

They always win the golden day
Who listen much and little say,

Marriages.

In Peabody, Aug. 5, by Rev. Mr. Masterson, Mr. Daniel Shannahan to Miss Mary A. Conroy, 11th, by Rev. George Walker, Frederick P. Osborne to Miss S. Emily Phillips.

In Salem, Aug. 9, by Rev. C A. Towne, Dr. A. R. Tenney to Mrs. Sarah E. Parkhurst, both of Salem.

Deaths.

In Peabody Aug. 9, Bridget Connelly, 33 yrs 3 mos.

11th, Mary Southwick, 81 yrs 3 mos.

12th, Thomas Derham, 35 yrs 11 mos.

16th, Richard F., son of Jeremiah W. and Mary E. Loftus, 4 mos 15 days.

In Danvers, Aug. 8, Mrs. Emily Walbridge, 65 yrs.

In Salem Aug. 12th, Mr. Patrick F. McManus. 23 yrs 20 mos.; Miss Seerino Charland, 22 yrs 2 mos.; 13th, Mr. Edward F. McHugh, 53 yrs 3 mos 21 days.

IF YOU WANT A

PIANO,

Buy a Chickering or Woodward & Brown, and I guarantee perfect satisfaction.

A large stock of all kinds of Instruments

— AT —

245 ESSEX STREET.

Banjos, Guitars, Violins, Harmonicas, Accordeons, Strings, etc.

Sheet Music and Books.

Pianos selected from any factory and price guaranteed less than Boston prices.

E. V. EMILIO,

245 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

EVERY YOUNG MAN

Should have such a knowledge of the requirements of business as may be obtained at the

BURDETT Business COLLEGE

Removed to

592 WASHINGTON STREET,

Cor. Hayward Place,

BOSTON.

Owing to the unprecedented increase of the College patronage, central, commodious, light and elegant apartments have been secured at FIVE NINE-TWO WASHINGTON ST., cor. Hayward Place, a few doors above R. H. White & Co.'s, on same side of street.

Students can commence on and after Monday, Sept. 6. Prospectus mailed free. Principals may be seen at the College daily, between 9 and 4. Unequalled facilities for procuring situations for Students.

C. A. & F. H. BURDETT, Principals.

aug 11—8t

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE

BROKER & APPRAISER.

SALEM,

Offers for Sale at reasonable

THE SAUNDERS' ESTATE

MAIN ST., PEABODY.

FOR SALE.

The Tanyard belonging to the Estate of Abel Story, situated at Essex Falls, near Railroad. Plenty of Water. A Rare chance.

Apply to B. F. RAYMOND,
ESSEX, MASS.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,

SALEM, MASS.

EXAMINATION of Candidates for admission on TUESDAY, September 7. Tuition and text books free. Pecuniary aid to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to

D. B. HAGAR, Principal.

jy 26—3w

CHAPTER 317, ACTS OF 1886.

An Act in Relation to the Inspection and Sale of Imitation Butter,

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:—

SECTION 1. Section seventeen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is hereby amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oil or grease not produced from milk or cream, shall have the words,—imitation butter,—or if such substitute is the compound known as—oleomargarine,—then the word—oleomargarine,—or if it is known as—butterine,—then the word—butterine,—stamped, labelled or marked in a straight line in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length, so that said words cannot be easily defaced, upon the top, side and bottom of every tub, firkin, box or package containing any of said article, substance or compound. The said stamp, label or mark shall contain no other words. And whoever, by himself or his agents, exposes or offers for sale any of the said article, substance or compound, not in the original package, shall attach to the said article, substance or compound, in a conspicuous place, a label bearing the words,—imitation butter—oleomargarine,—or—butterine, as the article may be, in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length. And in case of retail sales of any of said article, substance or compound not in the original packages, the seller shall, by himself or his agents, attach to each package so sold, and shall deliver therewith to the purchaser, a label or wrapper bearing in a conspicuous place upon the outside of the package the words,—imitation butter,—oleomargarine,—or butterine,—and no other words, in printed letters in a straight line of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length.

SECT. 2. Section nineteen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound made in imitation or semblance or butter or cheese, or a substitute for butter or cheese, except as provided in the two preceding sections, and whoever, with intent to deceive, defaces, or erases, cancels or removes any mark, stamp brand, label or wrapper provided for in said sections, or in any manner shall falsely label, stamp or mark any box, tub, article or package marked, stamped or labelled as aforesaid, shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 3. Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter, or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oils or grease not produced from milk or cream, contained in any box, tub, article or package, marked or labelled with the word—dairy,—or the word—creamery,—shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 4. Every person who conveys any imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine in carriages or otherwise, for the purpose of selling the same in any city or town, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, be licensed by the inspector or inspectors of milk of such city or town to sell the same within the limits thereof, and shall pay to such inspector or inspectors fifty cents to the use of the city or town. The inspector or inspectors shall pay over monthly to the treasurer of such city or town all sums collected by him or them. In towns in which there is no inspector of milk, licenses shall be issued by the town clerk. Licenses shall be issued only in the names of the owners of the carriages or other vehicles, and shall, for the purposes of this chapter, be conclusive evidence of ownership. No license shall be sold, assigned or transferred Each license shall record the name, residence, place of business, number of carriage or other vehicles used, the name and residence of every driver or other person engaged in carrying or selling imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine, and the number of the license. Each licensee shall, before engaging in the sale of any of the articles as aforesaid, cause his name, the number of his license and his place of business to be legibly placed on each outer side of all carriages or vehicles used by him in the conveyance of the articles aforesaid, in Gothic letters not less than one inch in length; and he shall report to the inspector or inspectors any change of driver or other person employed by him which may occur during the term of his license. Whoever, without being first licensed under the provisions of this section, sells any of the articles as aforesaid, or exposes or offers them for sale from carriages or other vehicles, or has them in his custody or possession with intent to sell, and whoever violates any of the provisions of this section shall, for a first offence, be punished by a fine of not less than thirty nor more than one hundred dollars; for a second offence, by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars.

SECT. 5. Every person before selling or offering for sale any of the said articles in a store, booth, stand or market-place in a city or in a town in which an inspector or inspectors of milk are appointed, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually, on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, register in the books of such inspector or inspectors, or, if there be no inspector, then in the books of the town clerk, and shall pay to him or them fifty cents to the use of such city or town; and whoever neglects to so register shall be so punished for each offence by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars.

SECT. 9. This act shall take effect upon its passage. [APPROVED JUNE 23, 1886.]

THOMAS W. PEASLEY,
Inspector of Milk.

Peabody, August 6, 1886.

COLLINS BROS.,

DEALERS IN

COAL, WOOD & BARK.

OFFICES:

248 Bridge Street,

— AND —

72 Noth Street.

SALEM.

Stove, Chestnut, Egg and Broken Coals at the Lowest Market Prices.

☞ All orders promptly attended to.

je 30—3m

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to St. Peter street, Salem

Business Chance!

DANE BROTHERS,

(Successors to J. H. Trofatter.)

Horse & Carriage Exchange

101 Boston St., Salem.

Large stock of new and second-hand carriages for sale or exchange. Also horses, for sale or exchange.

je 8—6m

EDWARD P. MOULTON,

PLUMBING,

Water & Gas Fitting

Of every description. Ventilation of Closets, and Drainage a specialty. All orders promptly attended to. First-class work and satisfaction guaranteed.

28 Norman Street,

SALEM.

je 8—4m

THE ESSEX

Circulating Library,

276 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM

OPEN SATURDAY, JUNE 12TH.

800 volumes popular authors, bound volumes Harpers, Scribner and Century. New books added as soon as out.

HOLLY TREE INN.

The Best Materials only are used in the preparation of

Appetising Food,

AT THE

POPULAR HOLLY TREE DINING ROOMS,

9 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.

may 19—4m

M. MORIARTY,

MANUFACTURER OF

Soda, Ginger Ale and Tonic Beers.

Bottler of Cider, Lager Beer, Philadelphia Stock Ale and Porter.

Corner Market Sq. and Front St.

SALEM, MASS.

HORSES!

Arrived Friday, April 30th.

42 HORSES! 42

TWO CAR LOADS OF

HORSES

Purchased by Mr. Abbott for our trade, NOW READY FOR SALE AT OUR

Sale Stable 52 Charter Street.

Abbott & Reynolds,

D. P. GROSVENOR,

PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST,

Compounder of

Physicians Prescriptions

and dealer in

RELIABLE DRUGS.

35 MAIN STREET

PEABODY, MASS.

Sagamore House,

133 UNION ST., LYNN.

(NEAR CENTRAL DEPOT.)

Special Rates to Commercial and Professional Travelers.

Renovated and Refurnished.

J. M. Batchelder & co., Props.

je 9—1y

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER

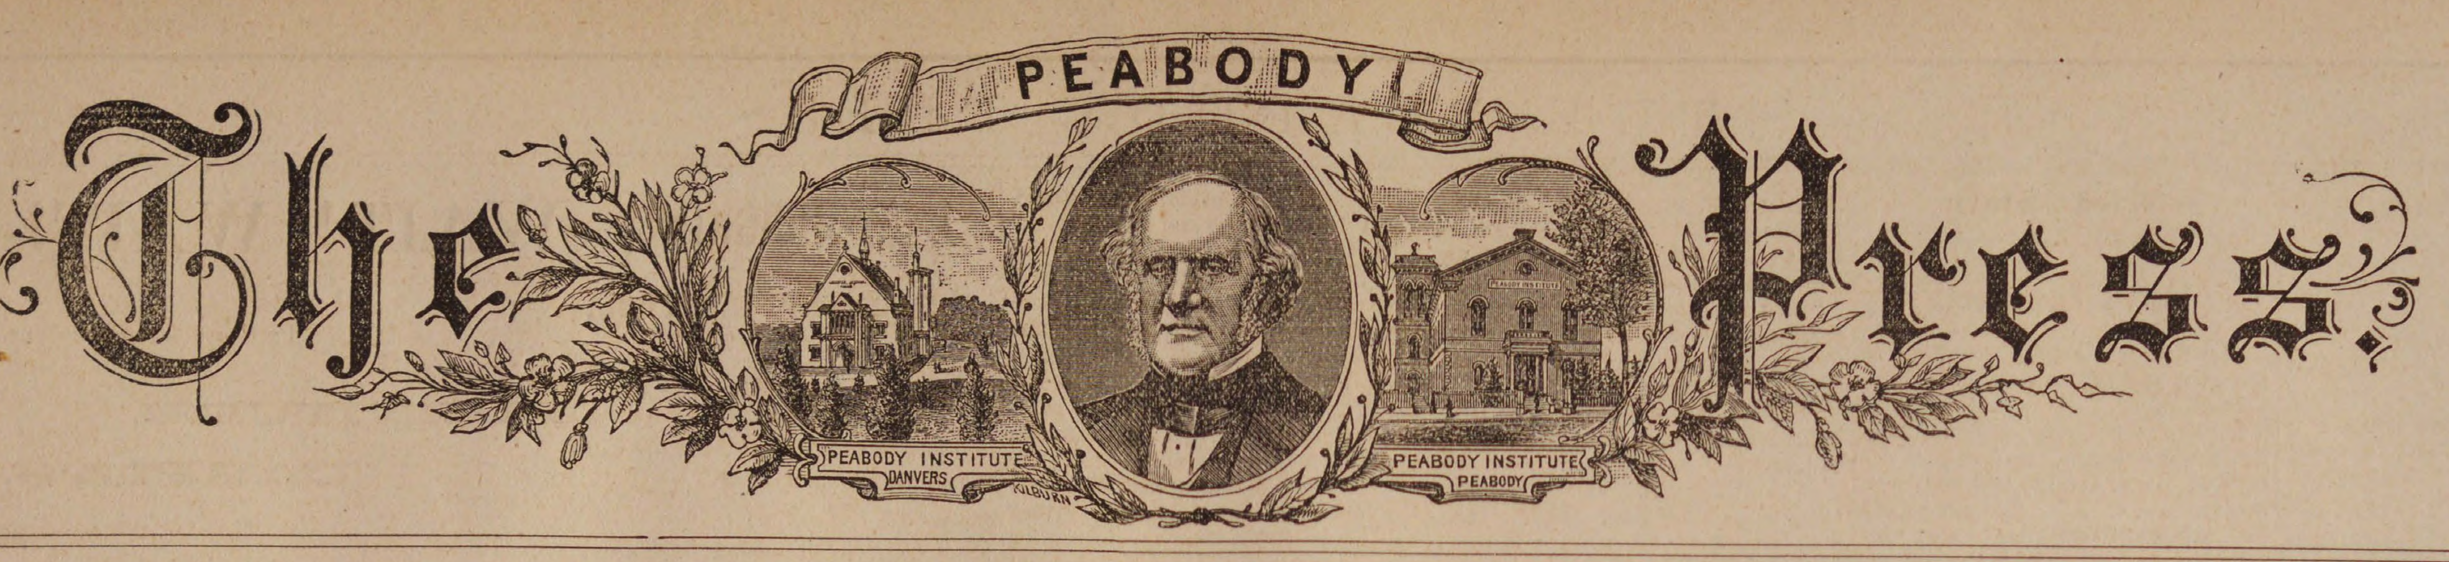
Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Offi
Second Door west of Hay Scales.

M. N. BLACK,

Combings made into Switches and Montagues. All work warranted.

80 MARKET ST. LYNN

je 30—3m



VOL. 27 PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUGUST 25, 1886. NO. 34

GRAND SALE

—OF—

OIL STOVES, REFRIGERATORS,

CARRIAGES, Etc.

We must have the room for the purpose of making our fall goods, and the large stock of Summer goods now on hand must be sold. Remember, we shall offer at the lowest price, and for Cash or on our Easy Installment Plan, $1.00 down and $1.00 a week. We have the largest stock of Stoves, Ranges, Furniture, Carpets and Complete House Furnishings to be found in New England. Send for our Illustrated Catalogue and price list. We can save you money. Remember we deliver all goods free of charge and warrant everything.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

123 & 125 PLEASANT, & 24 SCHOOL ST.,
MARBLEHEAD.
293 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

All Horse and Steam Cars stop at our Doors.

Connected by Telephone.

MASON'S

FRUIT JARS,

600 dozen,

—AT—

W. F. PERRY'S,

87 WASHINGTON STREET,

SALEM.

s 9—3m

PIANOS

Behning Pianos,
Harrington Pianos,
—AT—
A. M. CRAIN'S
PIANO PARLORS,
52 Market St.,
LYNN.

Any make of Piano or Organ furnished to order.

je 30—1y

ORGANS

PEABODY

LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STAIRS.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the widow, Heirs-at-Law, Next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of GEORGE W. ELLIOT, late of Peabody, in said county, yeoman, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by George W. Elliot, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond, for the reasons alleged in said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of September next, at nine o'clock, before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same. And said George W. Elliot is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

aug 11—3t

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS.

To the Heirs-at-Law, and others interested in the estate of EDWARD SHERRY, late of Peabody, in said County, laborer, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, James Sherry, Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell the whole of the real estate therein described of said deceased, for the payment of debts and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Salem, in said County, on the first Monday of September next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same; And said Administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, three weeks successively, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this nineteenth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

aug 4—3t

M. N. BLACK,

Combings made into Switches and Montagues. All work warranted.

80 MARKET ST. LYNN.

je 30—3m

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

Blue fish is scarce!

Summer is almost ended!

The nights are pretty cool!

Bogus butter—a stuffed goat!

Caucuses will soon be talked of!

Warm weather produces indolence!

Vacation is approaching its close!

The evening primrose is in its glory!

Yesterday was St. Bartholomew's day.

The wanderers are beginning to return.

The next is harvest moon in September.

What has become of the band concert project?

Well, you was down to camp meeting Sunday, wan't you?

All post offices will be special delivery offices after Oct. 1.

A long spell of hot weather is predicted for September.

Major Lewis Allen is reported to be quite low and rapidly failing.

When in Salem get a good cigar at C. H. & J. Price's drug store.

The people have had their pleasure at the seaside and mountain side.

The Naumkeag Street Railroad carried 30,000 passengers last Sunday.

Now prepare to guide your squash vines; they are pushing along lively.

The special delivery system has not been a howling success in this town.

Boys and girls are getting down their school books from the high shelf.

The materials for that favorite New England dish "succotash" are now at hand.

The infant son of Honora Cuddire died last Friday night. Age ten months.

The telephone line men have been bracing up their wires and trimming the trees.

Peabody is now Representative District No. 21 instead of 12. Number of voters 2192.

Young girls of fifty and thereabouts can wear white dresses with impunity now-a-days.

Alex B. infant son of J. Frank Tigh, died yesterday at the age of 6 weeks and 2 days.

About 200 new books have been added to the library of St. John's Sunday School.

Judging from his dress we should say that one of our lawyers had lost all of his best suits.

Sunday was another of those clear, bracing, beautiful days when to live is a joy for ever.

Mr. Calvin Pierce will build a dwelling house for Mr. Frank Fellows on Endicott street.

Mr. John Ambrose killed a black snake last Thursday that measured six feet three inches.

Mr. Edward Duke has been elected Vice President of the 17th Mass. Regiment Association.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straigh at George Stevens'. *

Mr. W. J. McCarthy shipped a valuable Yorkshire terrier to parties in Winchester last week.

Mr. W. H. Perkins 2d has been drawn as juror for the September term of the Superior Court.

Mr. William Murphy, in the employ af Geo. W. Pepper, got his fingers badly jammed in a machine.

Rev. G. A. Phinney preached at Asbury Grove on Thursday evening and in Lynn last Sunday.

The Lynn & Boston road carried 2,260 through passengers on the Peabody branch last Sunday.

Depleted pocket books and dilapidated wardrobes are being brought home from the summer resorts.

Mr. E. N. Stoddard's horse fell on the So. Reading Railroad track this morning and broke a shaft.

Some men are taking time by the forelock and ordering their winter overcoats at Jas. Howley's.

The Essex County Convention of the Grand Army of the Republic will be held at Lynn September 8th.

Mr. Samuel Wilson of Andover street was driving around town yesterday in a wagon that had been in constant use for sixty-five years.

There was a team in town last week with a sign on it which read: "Don't pass this team with a bicycle."

Mr. George A. Whitney entertained the Peabody Bicycle Club at his cottage at Asbury Grove last Sunday.

Clifton Heights, a summer settlement at Marblehead, formerly known as Peabody camp, has a new casino.

Mr. Albert Staples, formerly of this town, is superintendent of the Naumkeag Street Railroad at Beverly Cove.

A train of ten Fitchburg cars were in town this morning to take the Catholic Temperance Societies to Lake Walden.

The Mayflowers of Marblehead were defeated at base ball, 9 to 6, by the young Atlantics of this town, last Saturday.

The Danvers Mirror says the rate of taxation in Peabody is $61 on a thousand. Not yet, brother, but it may be in time.

Mr. Wm. F. Sumner had a beautiful night blooming cereus unfold its leaves at his home in Shaw's Court, last Friday night.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town—Nothing like it, Principee. Clarks Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo Stevens' *

Mr. Frank Marrin of Lawrence has hired the new store of Mr. Baldwin's, on Foster street. He will open a provision store.

Officer Sweeney has a watch and chain which was found near the Post office. The owner can have the same by proving property.

Mr. Wm. A. Saunders has sold his cottage at Asbury Grove on private terms. He had previously bought Mr. L. W. Foan's interest.

Complaint is made of the store house at the corner of Lowe and Foster street. It contains a lot of green hides, and the odor is bad.

The tramps are beginning to show up more numerous again. Set them to sawing wood and the tide will soon turn in another direction.

We desire to thank those of our friends who have sent us locals and society notes. No one but an editor can fully appreciate such favors as these.

Work was begun last Monday in recovering the brook that crosses Lowell street near Donnell's store. It will be raised some and parts of the sides will be rebuilt.

Mr. Henry Saltonstall of this town is one of the directors of the Atlantic Mills, whose treasury was depleted by the late Wm. Gray, Jr., to the amount of half a million.

Mrs. Maurice Galway fell in a fit this morning at the police station while retiring from the cell in which her husband was confined, where she had taken him a breakfast.

On our desk we found a mammoth sun flower the other morning which measured over twelve inches across. We suspect we know who left it but he is too modest to have his name in print.

The modern bustle, on account of its huge dimensions, is the most uncomfortable of fashions, the women who wear them being obliged to sit bolt upright in church, horse-cars and carriages.

Mr. Maurice Galway, wanted by the police for assaulting his wife, gave the officers quite a chase yesterday, before he was captured near Ames' Rendering Works. His case will come up to-morrow.

Now is the time to cut weeds and not let them go to seed. A single plant of the common stinging nettle produces 100,000 seeds in one season; fever-few 125,000, and the fox-glove 640,000.

The annual reunion of the Nineteenth Massachusetts Volunteers will occur on its old camp ground, at Lynnfield, Saturday, Aug. 28, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the start of the regiment for the war.

A fox raided the hennery of Mr. Walter Baker of Mathuen, formerly of this town, one night last week and succeeded in getting away with some of his poultry. The animal was seen but not in time for capture.

Posters are out announcing a great pow-wow at Centennial Grove, Essex, Sept. 3, by the Red Men of this vicinity. A miscellaneous programme has been arranged and a large attendance is assured. Tickets can be had of Eben I. Kimball.

GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL

MARK DOWN SALE

—OF—

MEN'S, BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S

Spring and Summer Clothing

Furnishings, Hats and Caps.

Hundreds of Men's All Wool Business Suits, for $4.50, 5.00 6.00, 8.00, and 10.00 per suit.

Hundreds of Men's Thin Summer Summer Coats for 25c., 50 75c, and $1.00.

Great Bargains in Men's Pantaloons, for $1.25, 1.50, 2.00, 2.50 and 3.00.

3.00 Children's Suits, ages 4 to 11, for $1.00, 1.25, 1.50, and 2.00. About half pric

5.00 Children's All Wool Suits, for $2.50, 3.00 and 4.00, ages 4 to 13.

2.00 Boys' Long Pants Suits for $3.00, 3.50, 4.00, ages 4 to 13.

5.00 Children's Knee Pants, for 50c and 75c. each.

Two Thousand Boys' Shirt Waists for 25c, 50, 75c and 1.00 each 100 Men's Norfolk Blouses for $4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00 and 8.00 each.

Hundreds of Men's and Boys' Staw Hats for 10c, 15c, 25c, 38c, and 50c each.

150 doz. Summer Underflannels for 12 1-2c, 25c, and 38c each.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

177 & 179 Essex St., Salem.

Z. A. GALLUP, - - - - - MANAGER

Mr. J. M. Ward is in Philadelphia attending the convention of the American florists.

Nugent Brothers are offering big inducements to buyers of boots and shoes prior to their removal to the store lately occupied by the Post Office. See adv. page 4.

Some one sends us a postal card stating that the latest discovery is that the scent of onions inhaled will cause sleep, rest and repose. And we are requested to give our readers the benefit of this discovery. Whether it is a lasting and eternal repose the postal don't say.

The Providence Star, in speaking of the dedication of John Rogers Post G. A. R. new hall in Mansfield, says: Geo. Randall, of the Attleboro Advocate, made a very eloquent speech interspersed with a number of witty anecdotes, being frequently interrupted with loud applause.

One of the first plants to change from green to scarlet is the poison ivy. Beware of it. Remember the poison vine has three leaves in a cluster; the leaves of the harmless woodbine are in clusters of five. Another gaily-hued plant of the early autumn is the poison sumac or poison oak.

A fairly good portrait of Mr. Andrew H. Paton, Great Sachem and Great Chief of Records of the Great Council of Massachusetts Imp. O. of R. M., appeared in a recent issue of the Council Brand, published at Easton, Pa. An interesting biographical sketch accompanied the picture.

Mrs. Richard J. Lyons died at her home on Washington street last Saturday, after a lingering illness, at the age of 34 years and ten months. Her funeral took place from St. John's Church, Monday, and was largely attended. The bereaved family have the sympathy of their many friends.

At the regular meeting of Masconomo Tribe of Red Men, last Thursday evening, Charles C. Dodge was elected Sachem, Charles S. Goldthwait, Senior Sagamore, and George Stevens Junior Sagamore. The newly elected chiefs will be raised up at the next kindling of the council fire by the District Deputy.

There was a report in town last week that Master Workman Powderly had notified the Executive Board of District 77 that they could draw on the National Treasury for funds to support the men in the lockout. No further information concerning the report could be obtained, except that the men get their pay regularly.

The annual fair and cattle show of the Essex Agricultural Society will be held in Newburyport on Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 28 and 29. The exhibition will be in the City Hall, the business meeting in Fraternity Hall, and the dinner in Cadet Hall. The address will be delivered in the Unitarian Church by Rev. J. D. Kingsbury of Bradford.

A total eclipse of the sun occurs Aug. 29, which will be visible as a very small partial eclipse in the southern part of New England and the United States. The path of totality commences at the Isthmus of Panama, crosses the northern part of South America and some of the adjacent islands, crosses the Atlantic ocean in a southeasterly direction, strikes the coast of Africa near Benguela, and ends in Madagascar.

The following entertainments are booked for the Town Hall this season: Sept. 10, Clarke's Ten Nights in a Bar Room; Sept. 14, Pat Rooney's Company in "Pat's Wardrobe;" Sept. 13 or 16, Henry Chanfrau and Company in "Kit, the Arkansas Traveller," and later in the season Stanley Macy's company in "Kindergarden;" Warfield & Lignum at the rink Dec. 10 and 11.

The Jarvis Engineering Co., 61 Oliver street, Boston, has received the contract from M. T. Stevens & Son, woolen manufacturers of Andover, to put in a complete steam plant at Franklin Falls, N. H. They will set two 150 H. P. steel boilers with the Jarvis patent furnace, using the Sheffield grates. The new chimney will have the following dimensions: 48 feet at base, 54 inches at top, and 120 feet high. This is the fourth mill they have fitted up for this concern. This speaks well for a Peabody invention.

Frank B. Trask has again come into possession of the white pacer which he sold to a Waltham party about a year ago. This horse jockey on a small scale was ill at ease after he had sold the little animal, and would not have done so only he got a good price. He regained her by trading another, and says he will not let her go again. Knowing his propensities, we would not advise anyone to make him too good an offer, however.—Danvers Mirror.

Mr. Charles W. Enos, foreman for Thomas E. Wilson, was united in marriage to Miss Ollie Buxton at Asbury Grove, Hamilton, last Thursday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Geo. A. Phinney of the Methodist Church in this town. A romantic part of the proceedings were that the minister, in order to conform to the statute law, was obliged to follow them to the Peabody line, where the hack was stopped and the pronouncing of them man and wife took place. The bridal couple have gone on a trip to New Hampshire.

A new dodge of the unregenerate has just been turned up in some of their shady retreats. A seedy individual exhibited a silver dollar the other night, very casually, which the bystanders informed him was counterfeit. He stoutly denied the imputation, and they rang it and bit it, and subjected it to every test that was at hand, and each strengthened the first impression. Certainly its looks were against it, for it resembled an exceedingly clumsily constructed lead counterfeit. By and by the company began to bet, and our countryman took all the offers he had that his dollar was genuine. When he had attached the ready cash of the whole crowd, he took his knife and began to scrape off the tinfoil which he had carefully pasted on the silver piece, and the silver gleamed with unmistakable shine, and rang as only silver pieces can. The countryman pocketed his money, and each man present registered a private vow to get his money back with interest by the new discovery.

Poet's Corner.

(For the Press.)

In Memoriam.

JNO. PRESTON, JR.

For him Life's toilsome journey now is over,
And crossed the Unknown Sea;
And he has conquered Death, and now a victor
Won immortality.

Dear ones here sadly miss and mourn his absence
His sympathy and cheer;
So kind a husband, and so fond a father,
Through every passing year.

No more on Earth, will his wise, loving counsels,
And friendly aid be given;
But ties that knit his heart, to other hearts so firmly
Are not forever riven;

In the bright mansions of the Home Celestial
On the fair, heavenly shore,
Beyond all cares and sorrows, sin and suffering,
He dwells forever more.

And there with those who went from Earth before him,
Happy and blessed, he waits
The final coming of each Earth-loved dear one Beyond the Golden Gates.

S. E. I.

Wakefield, July 16, 1886.

A Bachelor's Romance.

BY ROBERT OGDEN FOWLER.

Her cheeks were red as any rose
Fresh gathered from the midmost heather,
Her mouth was sweet like appleblows
In summer,s blossom scented weather.

Across the grass and flowered close
We twain remeasured our slow pace;
A smile, a tear broke the repose
That hovered o'er her perfect face.

"Dear," quoth she, drawing down my eyes,
"Will all the years of parted pain
We two must suffer leave you wise
And bring you back without a stain?

"Will you return with lips as pure
And fresh as when they first knew mine?
Will absence leave thy heart as sure;
My destiny as one with thine?"

I soothed her fears as best I knew,
And kissing hence her sweet, salt tears,
I promised to be leal and true
Through all the lonely, parted years.

Half sad she smiled, cried passionately,
The sun-gold playing in her hair:
"Dear Heart? Forget—forget not me!
Love sometimes flees us unaware!"

* * * * * * * *

This happened twenty years ago,
And time has left her fresh and fair,
I seem to see her soft eyes glow,
And smell the flowers in her hair.

And she is wedded—hath her fill
Of love and joy, untouched of care;
And I, alas! am single still.
Love sometimes flees us unaware!

Lullaby.

BY EUGENE L. CRUTCHFIELD.

Go to sleep, my baby, now,
While I press upon thy brow
Kisses meant to thee to tell
That I love thee, love thee well.

Go to sleep, and may thy dreams,
Sweet and peaceful, be bright gleams
Sent to cheer thee on through life,
Keep thee pure and free from strife.

Go to sleep, the while I pray
That my darling, day by day,
Like the manger child may grow,
Both in stature and to know

What it is to do His will;
Him to love, though suff'ring ill;
Him to serve while life shall last;
Him to praise when death is past.

The terrible drain which scrofula has upon the system must be arrested, and the blood must be purified, or serious consequences will ensue. For purifying and vitalizing effects, Hood's Sarsaparilla has been found superior to any other preparation, It expels every trace of impurity from the blood, and bestows new life and vigor upon every function of the body, enabling it to entirely overcome disease.

What the superior seeks is in himself; what the small man seeks is in others.—Confucius.

Do not suffer from Sick Headacke a moment longer. It is not necessary. Carter's Little Liver Pills will cure you. Dose, one little pill. All druggists sell them.

The mouth of a wise man is in his heart; the heart of a fool is in his mouth.—Houghton.

The virtues of St. Jacobs Oil, as proclaimed by millions of restored sufferers, should induce every one to supply his household with this great specific. It conquers pain.

The unspoken word never does harm.—Kossuth.

Selected Story.

Mary's Elopement.

Face to face we sat for some time, in the cars, speeding across the country through Ohio.

Old he was, but erect of figure, keen and bright of eye, ruddy of cheek. He sat well forward on the seat as though accoutrements still prevented any lounging, and I noted him for an "old sabre" in a moment. He made the first advance, with a preliminary "Hem!" the passing of his left palm over the upper lip, where the mustache ought to have been, and with a slight Irish accent.

"Beg pardon, sir; but I think yer in the sarvice."

"Right you are," I replied, "and if I am not mistaken, you've been there, too!"

Then the right hand went to the forehead, in salute, and the body became rigid.

"Thankee, sir! I'm proud to say I have, and prouder to know I haven't lost the 'set up' yet. Forty-two years, eight months, five days, man and boy, I served the country in the field. Delany's me name—Sergeant Delany,—th' cavalry—oncet—Dragoons—an' there's few officers or ould men of the ould army that don't know Sergeant Delany an' be willin' to speak a good word for him."

Then we talked and talked, he most, through the long day. In the spirit begotten of comradeship, in the patronage the old blade felt for the young soldier, he gave confidences no other circumstances would have called forth, and, taking the cream of his story, the sum total was this:

"You could not have served so long and escaped wounds," I said, to lead him on.

"To be sure, no! But I haven't kept count. I've me head on me shoulders an' a full complemint of legs and arms, an' anything short of the loss of them don't count. Sure, we take them in the line of duty—the way they come.

"I was, if I do say it meself, as tight a lad as ever straddled pigskin and wore blade, cocked me hat, carried a can, slapped me leg an' winked at the girls. But I was caught early and fast. I'm of Irish blood, ye see, though I was brought over here while a bit of a boy. But it's Irish I am, and so fightin' and love-makin's small credit to me; it's natheral as breathin'.

"I'd just got me corporal's stripes and were stuck up with 'em like I was a major gineral when the ould —— Dragoons were quarthered at——, and there I met as nate an Irish lass as ever wore leather, and in a week I was a married man, and a betther enlistment paper I never signed. I always needed strict discipline; then I had it at home and while on duty, and it was the savin' of me.

"Faith, it didn't seem longer than from reville to retreat afore a year slipped around and I was a sergeant and the father of a daughter. Mary we called her, after the mother I loved well but was a troublin' son to; and I can say it bouldly, no purttier creature ever came on earth; and the manners of her, as she growed, were that astonishin' that though her mother were a well-mannered, brisk, honest woman always, and I were ever a prompt, disciplined soldier, yet where Mary got the high-breedin' ways were continual the worst of puzzle to me.

"There may have been and be men who love their little ones well as I, but ther' were never a man loved daughter better since God gave daughters to men. When she first came I were some put out, because she weren' a boy; but I had no thought of that when I found the tenderness of her baby heart. But I taught her all a boy should know. She could swim, ride, shoot, skate afore she were seven, and whistle like a canary. It's many's the time I'd laugh, when they'd tell me the ould sayin' about 'whistlin' girls;' and I'd always the notion of music, thou' mighty little talent, but be hard work, afther nearly drivin' me wife and all the garrison crazy with me practicin', I learned to make a fair fist, or mouth, with the fife, and could give Yankee Doodle, Garryowen and sich to the satisfaction of me friends and meself and to every one but the regular mimbers of the band. Well, she, Mary, could bate me hollow on that fife in no time, and proud to the very height of pride I was of her.

"We lived well and happy, when we weren't fighting, till she were sixteen years ould. You see, sir, you talkin' of wounds set me on this trail, and I'll tell you how a man can get a worse wound from a friend than ever the bullet or sabre of an enemy can give him, and how he can wound himself worse nor all.

"She were sixteen, as I said, and well educated for her place in life. We were in garrison then, and to fit her for takin' care of herself we let her go into the town to learn the dressmakin'—and never a girl had the good taste in dress like her.

"Well, ther' were a young leftenant came to our troop, then, a gay, handsome, brave young chap as ever you see. Barton be name. I respected him as an officer and I loved him as a son.

"It were some ten months after he come, when one night I went to my quarters at the barricks and Mary wasn't there to sit at the table with me. That night, before I wint in, Leftenant Barton came to me with his bright smile and friendly way, holdin' out his hand. 'Good by, sargeant,' says he. I'm off to-night.' 'Off where, sir?' says I. 'I resigned two weeks ago and my papers has just come in,' says he.

"That onsettled me. I'm hasty tempered at times, and when I went home the wife says, says she, 'You're late, but there's the illigant stew for you.'

"'The devil fly away with your stew, Mrs. Delany,' says I. 'Where's my daughter?'

"''Taint any of me knows,' says she, 'I 'spose she's kep late. Ate your stew, man, and don't be cursin' me, for I won't take it off you nor no man.'

"I'm fond of Irish stew, sir, and no woman makes it better nor Mrs. Delany, but with this and that I were so put out I never enjoyed a bite less.

"Eight o'clock came and I was worried more and more. Then the wife came out from the room where Mary slept with a bit of a note in her hand. I read it: 'Dear father and mother, I have gone with my Barton, that I love with all my heart.'

"I was struck cold, sir; I saw it all. Afore I could catch my breath there were footsteps running up the barracks stairs, and Mary burst in, all in silks and satins and velvet.

"'Oh, father! daddy! Oh, mother!" she cried. 'I couldn't go after all, without seein' you!' Her mother would have rushed to her girl, but I rushed between them.

"'You're no daughter of mine!' says I. 'Mrs. Delany, don't touch her! Girl go! I'll hear no word from her mouth. Go! before I disgrace me uniform by strikin' you, before I break my heart with cursin' you!'

"She looked at me; she knew what my temper was when it was up, and she turned and went.

"Ah, sorrow like that is hard to bear. It's the broken heart I carried in my breast them days, and long after. Men tried to speak to me of her and him, but I swore I'd kill the first man that named her name, and I've done it. I could not face the men and officers who'd known me so long. I had the right to ask me discharge after that length of service, and I did it and got it, and went where I'd never see a face that knew me.

"The wife never troubled me about the hardness, but I knew no other trade but the soldiering, and things didn't go well with us.

"Mary kept, somehow, knowledge of all our changes, and every month would come a letter with fifty dollars in notes to me. No word—no way I could tell from where it came. Christmas times the notes would be for a hundred, so I knew she was not in want.

"The Bartons were rich and a high family. Often I swore to go to them with the story of the ruin of my girl; but the love I still had for her and me own pride held me back from exposin' the trouble. I never played the fife, never thought of the ould thing after, and it's a hard life the wife had with me tempers, but she bore it all.

"The wound me daughter, me officer and meself had given me were killin' me with anger and despair. That wound hurt me longer, hurt me sorer and hurt me worse to the life core than any I ever got from Mexicans, Injuns or rebels, and I got them from all.

* * * * *

"Well, sir, it was just five years from the time I got that deadly hurt, and we were livin' in——, with hard scratchin' to get along on me pension and what I could make laborin', for I was gettin' ould. I'm past seventy now.

"I came in rather late one night and the wife says: 'You're wanted immediate to the Union Hotel,' says she; 'you've been sent for twice.' 'Who is it?' says I. 'I don't know,' says she; 'but brush yourself up and go at onct,' says she, 'and I'll have a nice stew for you when you get back. Maybe it's good luck comin'.'

"So I trimmed up for inspection and review. I'd been tryin' to get a watchman's place on a railroad and thought maybe some of the masters were wantin' to see me 'bout that.

"I soon got to the hotel. 'My name's Delany,' says I to the clerk. He taps the bell and says to the blackman, 'Show the gentleman up to parlor B,' says he.

"'Gentleman!' thinks I, 'Parlor B,' thinks I. 'It's risin' in the world I am. Maybe they'll be makin' a superintendent of an ould soldier,' thinks I, and I followed the blackie, all in a blind of wonder.

"It's a fine room I were shown into, and nobody in it. The sarvent left and I was smoothin' my hair before a big lookin' glass were there, when I heard a swish like a dress aside me. I turned and there were Mary—my Mary!—so beautiful, so like a queen, with her darlin' blue eyes lookin' so wistful at me.

"'Oh, daddy!' she cried, holdin' out her two arms, and callin' me by the name she called me when she were my own innocent little baby. 'O, daddy, listen to me now.'

"The anger rose up hot in me, though me heart were beatin' like 'twould burst me breast and a lump in me throat were chokin' me.

"'Not a word,' says I, 'not a word with deserters, and traitors, and worse! You're dead to me! You were no more Mary Delany from the night you left your parents!'

"'No!' says a deep, clear voice, 'but she's Mary Barton, and has been from that same night,' and out of a room door, leadin' into the parlor, steps my old leftenant, and put his arm around her so bold, and lookin' so handsome, that I was speechless and moveless.

"I struck the tears from my eyes, and heard a little voice say 'Drandad!' an' I looked down, and there was my little Mary, three years ould, lookin' up at me, an' holdin' in her hands that ould fife.

"I looked from the child to the mother, to the father, and I saw what an ould brute and fool I'd been. No need to tell me a word more.

"'Tiss me, drandad!' says the little one, and I gathered her up, and I, that had never shed a tear for sorrow or pain, run the eyes out of me with cryin' for joy.

"We talked and we talked. They told me how they had been to England and France for Mary's education, how the leftenant's people had joined them in Paris the year before, and how they all loved and thought there was nobody like the ould sargeant's Mary, the son's wife. And all this time, God forgive me for bein' selfish, I were forgettin' the poor ould mother.

"The baby was bundled up, holdin' the ould fife that Mary had taken with her when she went, and that baby had always played with, and we were soon in a carriage rolling off to my poor home.

"I went in first, little Mary in my arms. Mrs. Delany was in bed in the back room. 'What kep' ye, sargint?' sez she. 'I hope 'twas good luck. Ye'll find th' stew on the stove.'

"'The devil fly away with yer stew, Mrs. Delany,' says I. 'Come out here and see the stew I've brought you.' But before she could move from the bed Mary was on her, and—well, you can guess the rest, the happiness, the talk, the tenderness of that night! I waked the whole house with Yankee Doodle and Garryowen on that fife, and with me feelin's all worked up and bein' out of practice too, they were played bad enough to wake the dead.

"There ain't much more to tell. Our troubles and heartaches were over. The next mornin', talkin' to Mary and the leftenant I says, takin' a lot of letters out of my pocket, 'if you young people are short of money, here's over three thousand dollars that belongs to you, that's been sent to me for five years back.'

"'Oh, you dear, proud old daddy!' cries Mary, with her arms about my neck and tears in her eyes and voice, 'and you wouldn't use it in all your needs? I might have known it, thinking what you did of me.'

"Well, sir, that money went to buy a little farm where I and the ould wife live like a lady, and of course it will go back to them that gave it when we die.

"There's a boy now, sir. I'm going to see him christened Delany Barton, and he's to be a soldier. They're none of them ashamed of the ould sargeant and his wife, but she's not able to travel, and so I have to report alone. Will I take a sup out of your flask, sir?

"Well, talkin's dry work, and I've been doin' a power of it; a sup would go well, now, but if you'll excuse me, I won't take it. Ten minutes will bring me to where they're all waitin' for me, and I'd rather not kiss Mary and the babies with a taste of it on my lips."

In ten minutes we stopped at a station, and the old sergeant stepped from the cars, and as we moved off he was still the centre of a beautiful, loving group.

HAY FEVER:—Ely,s Cream Balm was reccommended to me by my druggist as a preventive to hay fever. Have been using it as directed and have found it a specific for that much dreaded and loathsome disease. For ten years or more I have been a great sufferer each year, from August 9th till frost, and have tried many alleged remedies for its cure, but Fly's Cream Balm is the only preventive I have ever found. Hay fever sufferers ought to know of its efficacy.—F. B. Ainsworth, of F. B. Ainsworth & Co., Publishers, Indianapolis, Ind.

Truth is the highest thing that man may keep.—Chaucer.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too!

Thought rules the world.—Emerson.

No scrofula infection can resist the purifying power of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

Collect as precious pearls the words of those who are as an ocean of knowledge and virtue.—Turkish.

Ayer's Pills take the lead of all aperients and purgatives. Their action is gentle, searching, and thorough.

Modesty withholds a man from vain boasting, and makes a wise man not to scorn a fool. Certainly the heart of the blushing man is nearer heaven than the brazen forehead, for it is a branch of humility, and when that dies virtue is on the wane.—Feltham.

"It is as harmless as it is effective," is what is said of Red Star Cough Cure by Dr. S. K. Cox, D. D., Analytical Chemist, Washington, D. C. Price, twenty-five cents.

To possess a good name is a long way on the road of success in life.—Chamfort.

J. E. HODGKINS,
22 Market Street,
LYNN,

Invites the attention of Ladies and Gents to his stock of Low Cut Shoes for Summer wear.

Gents' Low Shoes, $1 to 4.
Fine Calf, hand sewed, Oxfords, only $4.
Fine Calf, hand sewed, button Bals and Cong., only $4.25.
Fine line Pump Sole Calf button, Bals and Cong., $3.
Ladies' Wine Oxfords, all the rage, $1 to 1.75.
Ladies' Black Kid Oxfords, 1.25 to Boys and Youths, Misses and Children's BOOTS SHOES AND SLIPPERS

all prices.

Please examine our goods and prices before you purchase.

GEORGE STEVENS,
DEALER IN FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY
AND CHOICE CIGARS.
STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.
Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.
Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.
THE BEST GOODS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES.
Connected by Telephone.
GEO. STEVENS',
CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,
PEABODY SQUARE

CIGARS!
CIGARS!
CIGARS!

Those desiring to purchase a good Oigars, look at our assortment of Imported and Domestic.

Discount by box.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING
9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.
TRY OUR
JAMAICA GINGER.

Lactated
Food
FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

The Most Successful PREPARED FOOD.
FOR NEW-BORN INFANTS.

It may be used with confidence, when the mother is unable to nurse the child, as a safe and natural substitute for mother's milk.

The BEST FOOD to be used in connection with PARTIAL NURSING.

No other food answers so perfectly in such cases It causes no disturbance of digestion and will be relished by the child.

A SURE PREVENTIVE and CURE for CHOLERA INFANTUM.

By the use of this predigestic and easily assimilated Food, fatal results in this dreded diseas can be surely prevented.

A Perfect Nutrient for INVALIDS in either Chronic or Acute Cases.

Hundreds of physicians testify to its great value It will be retained when even lime water and milk is rejected by the stomach. In dyspepsia, and in all wasting diseases it has proved the most nutritious and palatabla, and the same time the most economical of Foods. For an infant may be made.

150 MEALS for $1.00.

Sold by Druggists—25c., 50c., $1.00.

☞ A valuable pamphlet entitled "Medical Opinions on the Nutrition of Infants and Invalids." sent free on application.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Buolingeon, Vt

DRS. KIMBALL & HOWARD
DENTISTS,
357 UNION STREET, LYNN.
(Spinney's Block near Central Station)

Make a specialty of administering the New Vegetable Vapor and extracting teeth. No charge for the Vapor when more than one tooth is extracted at a sitting.

Also are thorough masters of the profession of Dentistry, in both mechanical and operative branches.
jy 7—1y

COW FEEDS.

Now that pasturage is drying up and farmers must grain their stock, we would offer them a full line of feed including choice fine Middlings. White and Red Wheat Bran, Ground Oats, Barley Meal, Oat Dust, klin dried White Meal, &c., &c. We can give very low prices from cars on track.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

WAIT! WAIT! WAIT!

Parties about purchasing
FURNITURE,
CARPETS, &
STOVES;

should wait for the opening of the new FURNITURE, CARPET and HOUSE FURNISHING establishment of the

W. C. PACKARD FURNITURE & CARPET CO.,

281 ESSEX STREET, 1, 3, 5, 7, 9 CROMBIE STREET.
SALEM, MASS.

ESTABLISHED IN 1838.
LIGHT DRINKS FOR THE PEOPLE.
S. B. WINN & SON,
191 Washington St., Salem,
Near the Eastern Railroad Depot.
MANUFACTURERS OF ALL KINDS OF SUMMER DRINKS, INCLUDING GINGER ALE,
TONIC,
GINGER,
HOP,
and other BEERS.

Our Ginger Ale will be found far superior to any now on the market. It is put up in half pint bottles, in a neat and convenient manner. We pride ourselves upon the purity and originality of the ingredients selected for the compounding of this harmless and at the same time beneficial summer beverage.

Charged Soda Fountains
All sizes, constantly on hand.

Soda Water in Syphons.

Our Iron Clad Fountains give universal satisfaction.

All the water used in our manufactured drinks is filtered in the best possible manner. The composition used in charging our Soda Fountains is the best and purest known, notwishstanding the superior claims made by others. We challenge a comparison.

MOXIE NERVE FOOD $1 per dozen

In addition to the above, we keep constantly in stock, all kinds of

PURE LIQUORS,
FOR FAMILY AND MEDICINAL PURPOSES.

Cigars of the best brands, can be had.

Our steam apparatus for charging Fountains and Bottling, has all the modern improvements suggested by mechanical appliances. This is the only steam charging apparatus of the kind in Essex County, and the public are invited to call and see it in operation.

Samples of goods shown with pleasure.

Goods delivered in all parts of the city, Beverly, Danvers and Peabody, free of charge
S. B. WINN, F. M. WINN.
Telephone, 222.
may 5—4m

THE
EARLIEST FRUIT,
And Best Native and Southern Vegetables, Berries and Fruit,
— AT —
Porter's Market,
3 & 5 Central St., Salem.
may 19—4m

LADIES & GENTLEMEN,
CALL AT
CYRUS C. TREVETT'S,
IF YOU WANT
The most durable and stylish boots at bottom prices, be sure and bring the children.
110 UNION STREET.
LYNN, MASS.
jy 7—1 y

M. N. BLACK,
Hair Work and
Hair Goods,
80 MARKET ST. LYNN.
Opposite W. B. Gifford's.
je 30—3m

DR. LEON RIDEOUT,
DENTIST,
Has removed his office to his Residence,
NO. 8 JOHNSON STREET,
Third House from City Hall,
LYNN, MASS.
Hours, 8 to 12; 1 to 5.
Change, for better accommodation of my patrons.
je 9—1y

SEED BARLEY.

We have received at our office some handsome heads of four rowed barley, raised from seed sold by us early in the season. We have more got the same car to offer at 70 cents per bushel.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

A VALUABLE COMPOUND
— OF —
Bitter Barks and Roots, Combined with Iron and Pure Sherry Wine, called
FERRATED HYGIENIC WINE.
Recommended for Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, General Debility, Nervous Prostration and Lassitude; is especially adapted to delicate ladies.
See that the trade mark

HYGEIA
Is stamped on every label. Prepared by
C. H. & J. Price,
SALEM.
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

Finest Pianos
and Organs.
Pianos, $25 down, then $10 per month. Organs, $5 down, then $5 per month
EVERY INSTRUMENT WARRANTED.
☞ No charge for carting to Peabody.
W. D. BROWN,
76 MARKET STREET,
LYNN.
may 5—3m

LAWN OUTFITS,
HAMMOCK CHAIRS,
Canvas and Woven wire Cots, Spring Beds and Mattresses, Parlor Furniture, Loose Covers, Window Shades and Draperies.
WILSON & DUFFY
17 City Hall Square,]
LYNN.
Old furniture re-upholstered in the latest styles; good work and moderate prices; satisfaction guaranteed.
ORDERS BY MAIL PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.
je 30—3m

OIL STOVES &
REFRIGERATORS.

Purchasers are invited to call and examine the GARLAND OIL STOVE, which is acknowledged to be the BEST OIL STOVE in the market. We have also several good patterns of, Low Priced Oil Stoves.

Our stock of
REFRIGERATORS,
Uprights and Chests, is complete and of the BEST MAKES.
LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH.
☞ Easy Terms on Instalments.
WADLEIGH & MORSE,
81 North St.,
SALEM.
je 9—3m

Mrs. M. A. McNeil,

LADIES'

FANCY GOODS STORE

149 Essex St., Salem.

Special attention given to

Spinal Corsets, Shoulder Braces,

Abdominal Supporters, etc.

Also keep constantly on hand the largest variety of Corsets and Children's Waists in Essex County.

And have just received a large line of

INFANTS' & CHILDREN'S DRESSES,

Up to Ten years of age. Please call and examine.

REMEMBER THE NUMBER,

149 ESSEX STREET

A few doors below the Museum.

mch 31—6m

E. W. GOULD

BAY STATE

Steam Dyeing and Cleansing

WORKS.

9 1-2 FRONT STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

Promptness is our Motto.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Goods called for and Delivered.

AGENTS:

J. W. Pitcher, Atlantic block, Beverly; I. S. Day, Oak St., near the depot, Beverly Farms; Beals & Abbott, cor. Maple & Locust Sts., Danvers; B. F. Stevens, 16 Main St., Peabody; T. W. Slade, Manchester-by-the-sea; Wm. S. Stanley, 4 Grader's block, Marblehead; Benj. P. Edwards, Main St., Topsfield.

Miss BASSETT, formerly of the Essex Dye House, will be at our Office, No. 9 1-2 Front Street.

LEE HALL.

CLASSICAL & COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

CITY HALL SQUARE,

LYNN.

Business studies, also preparation for College and for the Institute of Technology. For terms and other information send for circular.

FRANK O. BALDWIN
Principal.

je 30—3m

HALLOWELL & SMILEY.

We desire to remind the people of Peabody that our store is well stocked with the

BEST MEATS & PROVISIONS,

THE CHOICEST VEGETABLES,

and will be found always

A Good Place to Trade.

Our Prices are always the Lowest.

REMEMBER US.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

Jas. Lafreniere,

HAIR DRESSER,

Has taken the shop under Baldwin's Hotel, where all who favor him with their patronage will receive

Courteous and Prompt Attention.

Diseases of the Head and Hair treated. A share of patronage solicited.

BALDWIN'S HOTEL, FOSTER ST.,

PEABODY.

may 26—4t

HOTEL NAHANT.

NAHANT BEACH.

SAM'L SOULE & SON, PROPS.

Is now open to Guests.

Horse cars from Salem and Peabody direct to the house.

Fish dinners a specialty.

Connected by Telephone.

P. O. Address' LYNN, MASS.

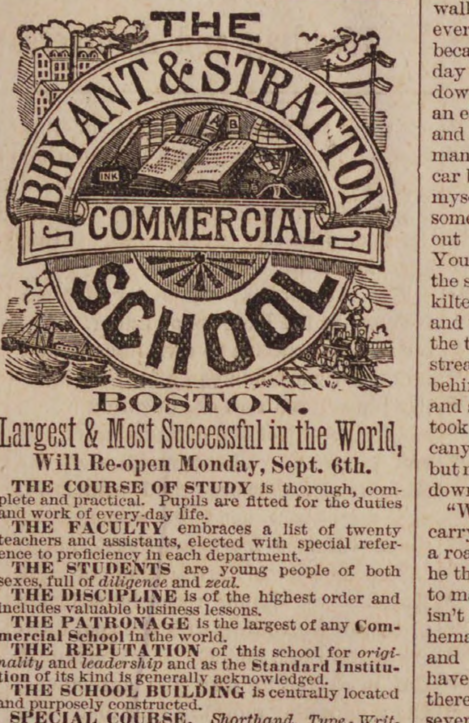
ROYAL

FULL WEIGHT
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., 106 Wall street, N. Y.
2d8



BOSTON.

Largest & Most Successful in the World,

Will Re-open Monday, Sept. 6th.

THE COURSE OF STUDY is thorough, complete and practical. Pupils are fitted for the duties and work of every-day life.

THE FACULTY embraces a list of twenty teachers and assistants, elected with special reference to proficiency in each department.

THE STUDENTS are young people of both sexes, full of diligence and zeal.

THE DISCIPLINE is of the highest order and includes valuable business lessons.

THE PATRONAGE is the largest of any Commercial School in the world.

THE REPUTATION of this school for originality and leadership and as the Standard Institution of its kind is generally acknowledged.

THE SCHOOL BUILDING is centrally located and purposely constructed.

SPECIAL COURSE. Shorthand, Type-Writing, Composition and Correspondence may be taken as a special course.

SITUATIONS in Business Houses furnished its pupils completes the varied inducements to attend this school.

On and after Aug. 23d, the Principal may be seen daily from 9 till 2 o'clock, at the School Building, 608 Washington St. Prospectus, containing full information concerning course of study, terms, etc., post free.

Golden Medical Discovery

Thoroughly cleanse the blood, which is the fountain of health, by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution will be established.

Golden Medical Discovery cures all humors, from the common pimple, blotch, or eruption, to the worst Scrofula, or blood-poison. Especially has it proven its efficacy in curing Salt-rheum or Tetter, Fever-sores, Hip-joint Disease, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Enlarged Glands, and Eating Ulcers.

Golden Medical Discovery cures Consumption (which is Scrofula of the Lungs), by its wonderful blood-purifying, invigorating, and nutritive properties. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Asthma, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. It promptly cures the severest Coughs.

For Torpid Liver, Biliousness, or "Liver Complaint," Dyspepsia, and Indigestion, it is an unequalled remedy. Sold by druggists.

DR. PIERCE'S PELLETS — Anti-Bilious and Cathartic.
25c. a vial, by druggists.

CROQUET.

The best sett in the city for $1.00.

Lawn Tennis Setts.

From $10.00 upwards.

RACKETS.

SUMMER READING

OF ALL KINDS.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

216 & 220 Essex St,

SALEM.

DESIRABLE REAL ESTATE

IN PEABODY,

FOR SALE.

The estate owned and occupied by C. C. Farwell and situated on the corner of Grove and Walnut streets, is offered for sale at a low price and on easy terms.

The estate consists of a two story frame dwelling house, containing 12 rooms, with water and gas, a barn 28x35, and about three quarters of an acre of land.

For a manufactory, with dwellings for the owner and tenants, there is no better situation in the county.

Address, or apply to

F. E. FARNHAM,
8 Allen's Block,
je 16 Peabody Square

MASSACHUSETTS

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

AT WORCESTER.

For the Training of Teachers.

Fall Term begins Thursday, Sept. 9, 1886.
Spring Term begins February 3, 1887.
Tuition and use of Text-Books FREE. For particulars address

E. H. RUSSELL, Principal.

LIVELY RAILROADING.

EXCITING WORK FOR THE ENGINEERS OF THE CALUMET BRANCH.

A Road that Winds Around a Mountain and Rises 400 Feet in a Mile—The Way the Train Comes Down—A Leap Into a Canyon 2,000 Feet Deep.

"It's a short seven miles from Hecla station in Brown's canyon, on the Denver and Rio Grande railway, to Calumet in the mountains," said a former employe of that road, "but when you get to Calumet you are just half a mile higher up in the world than you were at Hecla. That little branch has the heaviest curves and the steepest grades of any railroad that uses the ordinary drive wheel locomotive to run its cars in the known world. A grade of 200 feet to the mile and a fifteen degree curve—and that's almost like taking the same track back when the cars round it—are common on what is known as the Mountain division of the Rio Grande road; but the Calumet branch hasn't a grade on it less than 400 feet to the mile, and a twenty-five degree curve isn't any trick at all. That little road winds up the face of the mountain gulches for all the world as if it were an immense snake twisting and coiling itself in the most capricious manner.

TOBOGGANING ON THE RAIL.

"I worked on the perpendicular string of rails for three weeks. They called it 'carrying the hod' out there when you hire out to work on the Calumet branch, for it's about as near like climbing a ladder from the sidewalk to the top of a building as anything you ever saw. I might have worked longer at it, because I rather like the excitement, but one day when we started from Calumet to whisk down to Hecla with a locomotive, seven cars, an engineer, fireman and seven brakemen, and arrived there with one car and the brakeman that was on it in just ten minutes—the car being the one I rode on and the brakeman myself—I concluded that I would engage in something where there was less risk, and went out with a party hunting Sioux Indians. You see, the water brake on the engine and the steam brake on the cars got a little out of kilter when we were about half way down, and the hand brake didn't seem to answer the the twist very well, and from that time on a streak of lightning couldn't have caught on behind us. One after another the locomotive and six of the cars shot off of the curves and took a short route to the bottom of the canyon. I don't know how it ever happened, but my car stayed on the rails, and I dropped down into Hecla like a meteorolite.

"Well no; they don't make a business of carrying passengers on that Jacob's ladder of a road, but I guess they'll let any one ride if he thinks he can hold his breath long enough to make the trip down the gulch. Calumet isn't much of a place, being principally a hematite iron mine. The ore is very rich, and the Bessemer furnaces at Puebla must have it. I don't know who ever struggled up there and found the mine, but there it is, seven miles away and half a mile high. They couldn't build a gravity road to it because the route up the canyon is so everlastingly crooked. There wasn't one railroad engineer out of a hundred, hardly, that thought a locomotive could ever ascend and descend the mountain and handle the cars safely, but there was no other possible way to get at the mine, and they cut the road along the face of the canyon and began to experiment. The road is a narrow gauge one. When they first began to operate the road, if it wasn't a little the liveliest piece of railroad property in the universe then there is no evidence of the fact in about $300,000 worth of old iron, incapacitated locomotive boilers, car wheels and timbers, smokestacks, air brakes, hand brakes and sundry other disintegrated specimens of rolling stock that lie heaped at the bottom of the canyon all along the seven miles of this cloud-sweeping line.

CRASHING TOGETHER IN MID AIR.

"The train men couldn't get the hang of tobogganing on sleds down this gulch along at first, and there wasn't a day passed but spectators down below would catch a sudden glimpse of a train up the face of the mountain as it dashed like a thunderbolt from the mouth of some rock cut, flying with the speed of the wind, kept straight on its course, unable to follow the windings of the track, and leaped headlong from the precipice, locomotive and cars crashing together in mid air, grinding themselves into a million fragments, and thundering down in one great heap of ruins at the bottom of the canyon, at least 2,000 feet below. Then they knew at Hecla that the brakes had lost their grip, and that the train had refused to wait for repairs. The fellows generally managed to jump when they found the air brake had gone back on them, and there were more broken bones carried down that mountain, on their way to Hecla to be mended, the first year this lively road was opened for business than they generally lug off of a fair sized battlefield. This Calumet branch is so unpopular with the officers of the Rio Grande that only two of them ever experienced a ride upon it from the clouds to the earth. That was some years ago, and they never tried it again. Now, when the other officers want to enjoy the trip, they sit down and listen to the story of the two who tried it, and turn pale and go home satisfied.

"Well, after awhile, they got the way of moving trains successfully on the road. They found that, first, they must use locomotives of extraordinary weight, and, second, they must man the trains only with men who would stand at their posts at all hazards. There is a brakeman on every car. The cars are something like coal cars and carry five tons of ore each. They are equipped with air brakes and strong hand brakes. The locomotive drivers are checked by the powerful hydraulic brake. It takes an hour and a half to make the trip from Hecla to the mine summit. The down trip is made in about fifteen minutes. When the train starts from the mine every brakeman stands with his hands on his brake. The air brakes are tightly set. The water brakes get their tightest grip on the locomotive wheels. The locomotive itself runs with the throttle reversed. Yet against all this friction the train thunders down the mountain, shooting around the sharp curves, and dashing through narrow rock cuts many of them curved almost double, at the rate of a mile every two minutes. The men who man the hand brakes must be simply bundles of muscles and nerves. Their positive instructions are to work their brakes whenever the air brakes fail, and to stand at their post in the face of every risk and danger. It happens not a few times in the course of a year that these fearless fellows have to control as best they can some runaway train, and stick to it against the very likely chance that the next curve they strike will topple them, cars and all, over the brink of an abyss, the depth of which the eye can scarcely penetrate, and which yawns directly beneath the flying train. I believe these brakemen have succeeded in taking every runaway during the past year safely down to Hecla Junction."—New York Sun.

Favorite Trip for Canoeists.

The circumnavigation of Staten Island is a favorite trip for some of the venturesome New York canoeists. Such trips generally include an afternoon start and a camp on shore over night.

AFRICAN "SOUND TELEGRAPHY."

A Primitive Solution of the Problem of Short Distance Communication.

The system of sound telegraphy used by the people living on the border of the Gulf of Guinea, West Africa, is of interest as a primitive solution of the problem of communication through short distances. The instrument is made as follows:

Take a log of hard wood, about two feet long and about a foot in diameter. Plane off one side longitudinally to a surface four or five inches wide. In the center of this surface mark off an elongated and somewhat distorted Greek cross. The longer arms are placed longitudinally, and occupy about one-third of the plane surface. The transverse arms are three times as broad, and extend entirely across this surface. The natives dig out the wood within the outline of the cross, and from there gradually hollow out the whole leg. The sides, beginning at the center, are trimmed off laterally toward the ends, which are rounded off. The instrument is now ready. It will be perceived that by the methods above described we have a hollow drum with four tongues in the center, each of a different thickness, so as to produce a different sound when struck.

Two pieces of bamboo, the size of a man's wrist and about two feet long, are selected and stripped of the hard outside, which leaves the soft, pithy portion for use. This bamboo is of a peculiar kind, free from knots and solid throughout. With these sticks, used in a proper manner on the four tongues of the drum, a combination of sounds is produced, which, in connection with time as used in music, forms a perfect telegraphic language, readily understood by the initiated, the air being the transmitter. With this simple instrument the natives of the Gulf Guinea readily communicate with each other for a distance of a mile at least on land and a much longer distance by water. Messages can be sent long distances in a short time by parties at different points passing them along from one to the other. The writer has seen canoes coming down a river from the bush markets signaling people in the town and giving and receiving general news at a distance of fully three miles.—Scientific American.

Funny Incidents About Authors.

My half hour's chat with an experienced publisher like Mr. Osgood brought out a number of funny incidents of authors. He told me of a well known contemporary to whom the United States postal service is a perpetual reign of terror, bringing down upon his defenseless head an avalanche of amateur MSS., which he is coolly asked to read, criticise, correct and bring up to a literary standard, who has recourse to sending them on to publishers, returning to the author the formula: "I have taken the liberty to send your MSS. to ———, the publisher."

To distinguished authors the mail has really become a terror. Dr. Holmes has regaled the public with many inimitable chapters from his experience, and has given many a useful hint to his brethren who are similarly afflicted. Mr. Longfellow was a saint and took the trials imposed upon him by people who certainly reverenced him, if they were not up to the level of appreciating him, in an angelic fashion that we all marvel at rather than follow. But to reconcile courtesy and candor is a more difficult undertaking than any other form of sailing through the modern Scylla and Charybdis. Dr. Holmes says that he has one unvarying form for the acknowledgment of the first books of young authors sent him, something to the effect that "I do not wait to open the volume before I take my pen to thank you," after which obviously he is saved the trouble of opening it at all.

Look at the matter as one will, there is little excuse in all this. It is not genius, nor talent, nor even tenth-rate ability that imposes itself with such relentless audacity. Among all the sufferers no one is perhaps more diligently imposed upon than the editor. It seems to be in the nature of a popular belief that his mission in life is to engage in the personal service of literary adventurers. Not a day but that brings him more or less letters in which the "unknown and struggling" woman—for 99 times out of 100 it is a woman and not a man who is the imposer and relentless "devastator of a day"—in which the woman sets forth her autobiography and her aspirations in equal length and in equally appalling dimensions.—Lilian Whiting's Letter.

Betting on the Winking of Owls.

Betting on horses is a custom of honored age if not always honored in its patronage. But betting on owls—who ever heard of that kind of betting? There is a whole roost of owls out at the Zoo; gloomy, sleepy, blinking owls. When you look at them casually they blink, when you stare at them continually they won't wink. That's where the betting comes in. When the owl blinks, he shuts out the light from his sluggish brain, and breathes with a solemn air of apathy to all animated life. But to stand in front of the tall iron cage and watch five, six or seven of them sitting on a pole, and say which of them will wink first, or whether any of them will wink at all, is to deal with a great world of probabilities.

An owl is a great stayer. If any one looks straight at him expecting to see him wink he won't wink. It makes no difference how long he is stared at—he just keeps on looking and doesn't wink. The big pupils contract from a great black disk to a tiny small spot, and the smaller that spot gets the longer the owl can keep his eyelids open. That is one of the fine points in the owl economy. The game is very simple. Take a poleful of owls—say seven of them—and the keeper will suggest to the visitor that it will be pleasant to watch those owls and see if he can keep count with his watch how often they'll wink in a minute. The visitor watches them closely, and the seven owls contract the pupils of their optics and stare dizzily and lazily at space. "Why, owls never shut their eyes, do they?" the visitor will inquire innocently. "Oh, yes; they're bound to," says the keeper. "That fellow in the middle's been staring the longest. He'll go first; you watch him." The minute hand on a watch creeps slowly along; when patience scarcely longer survives, the end man on the owl pole winks slowly, deliberately, calmly. Then the others go one after another, as if infected by an epidemic, and all certainty of prediction is at once unbalanced. The next round the visitor is ready to bet a cigar on the result. He bets on the corner owl, and the one in the middle goes first. It gets exciting, and the spectators are carried away with the fever of betting on chance. A man will bet on every owl but the right one, and get almost in the state of desperation to bet his head and miss.—Philadelphia Times.

And Other Races Also.

Did you ever notice how suddenly a negro will start—especially if he is a laboring man—when he accidentally displaces some article of furniture in a room or drops a package, or unintentionally jostles somebody? I was reminded of this the other evening when I saw a darkey employe at the Merchants' accidentally knock a book from a shelf. He looked so disconcerted it might have been called ludicrous, if it hadn't been something nearer pathetic.—Pioneer Press "Voices."

The wise man will find a rogue by his face.—Swift.

COMPENSATION.

In that new world toward which our feet are set
Shall we find aught to make our hearts forget
Earth's homely joys and her bright hours of bliss?
Has heaven a spell divine enough for this?
For who the pleasure of the spring shall tell,
When on the leafless stock the brown buds swell,
When the grass brightens and the days grow long,
And little birds break out in rippling song?

O sweet the drooping eve, the blush of mor
The starlit sky, the rustling fields of corn,
The soft airs blowing from the fresh'ning seas,
The sun-flecked shadow of the stately trees,
The mellow thunder and the lulling rain,
The warm, delicious, happy summer rain,
When the grass brightens and the days grow long,
And little birds break out in rippling song!

O beauty manifold, from morn till night,
Dawn's flush, noon's blaze and sunset's tender light!
O fair, familiar features, changes sweet
Of her revolving seasons, storm and sleet,
And golden calm, as slow she wheels through space
From snow to roses; and how dear her face,
When the grass brightens, when the days grow long,
And little birds break out in rippling song!

O happy earth! O home so well beloved!
What recompense have we, from thee removed?
One hope we have that overtops the whole;
The hope of finding every vanished soul
We love and long for daily, and for this
Gladly we turn from thee, and all thy bliss,
Even at thy loveliest, when the days are long,
And little birds break out in rippling song.

—Celia Thaxter in The Century.

BATHERS OF THE SOUTH SEA.

Some Women Who Can Swim Like Mermaids and Dive Like Frogs.

The women of Samoa are not so pretty, but far more virtuous, than those of the Society islands, and possess traits peculiarly their own. Their only clothing is the lava-lava, frequently made of grass, which covers them from the hips to the thighs, the field for adornment being the head, around which wreaths of orange blossoms and of red flowers are worn. They are naturally endowed with a profusion of black hair, but, being enamored of the crushed strawberry color, they coat the head with slaked coral lime, a few applications of which give to the hair the desired hue.

They are very expert in the management of canoes, and swarm about the ship from early morn till close of eve, beseeching officers and men to be their "fliend," and when one assents to do the friendly act, the object of his friendship comes on board and showers upon him gifts of cocoanuts, seashells, fruit, eggs and an occasional chicken, for which, in return, he is expected to give money, or, preferably, such articles as soap, needles and thread, tobacco and writing paper. This act of friendly barter completed, the lady stands, not upon the manner of her going, but, taking advantage of the fact that there are no skirts to impede her flight, dives headlong out of a gunport, swims to her canoe and paddles off to make another "fliend."

The exhibition wound up with a grand siva, which is the name for the native dance. This brought into prominence the loveliest of Samoa's maids, in the person of Faapio, the daughter of Asi, Malietoa's great war chief. Wearing a tiara of glistening sea shells and a grass of bright colors in her hair, a necklace of red berries, and around her hips a lava-lava of the most expensive character, her faultless figure was set off to advantage, and as she danced with her father and two other chiefs, her smiles, gestures and contortions of body were amusing, and despite the fact that her body glistened in the sun from a coating of cocoanut oil, her graceful bearing commanded admiration. Other girls and chiefs danced in turn, but the siva, with its singing, waving of arms and other variations beggars description, and must be seen to be appreciated.—Samoa Cor. Baltimore Sun.

Tenement Life in New York.

Grand street is an overflow of the Bowery at one end, and the outlet of tenement life its whole length. Night and day, at midnight and early morning, the crowds never cease, and scarcely seem to grow less at any hour. The side streets are lined with crumbling, filth-drenched houses, in which live the foreign population. Italians crowd the doorways, women and babies lounge on the curbstones, and the older children play in the gutters.

Here and there a Spaniard stands in the shadow of some post, while his eyes search your face with a baleful gleam that makes you shudder. In the evening, while the street bands play on the corners, French girls dance on the sidewalk, and the narrow street seems to be a playground rather than a thoroughfare, for the people empty themselves into the street even before the sun goes down. Irishmen, Germans, Chinese and banished Russians live here side by side, and mingle day and night in the throng.

But the day brings some curious features to Grand street, a half semblance to an air of respectability, that it possesses at no other time, for after sundown the time for proprieties is over, and all restraint is laid aside.—New York Graphic.

A Slight Mistake in Reporting.

The Earl of Carnarvon at a banquet, in proposing the health of the clergy, said that "in these days clergymen were expected to have the wisdom and learning of a Jeremy Taylor." His lordship was next day reported to have said: "In these days clergymen were expected to have the wisdom and learning of a journeyman tailor."—The Argonaut.

100 Doses

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

One Dollar

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PERLE, Salem, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass

100 Doses One Dollar.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Timothy A. O'Leary of Peabody, in the County of Essex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to Mary O'Leary Gallagher, dated May 3d A. D. 1880. and recorded with Essex South District Registry of Deeds, Libro 1035, Folio 237, and for breach of the condition of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, I shall sell at public auction upon the premises on THURSDAY, the 26th day of August, 1886, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, namely: the following described real estate, situate in said Peabody, bounded and described as follows, to wit;—

Beginning at a point three feet Northeasterly from the Northeasterly corner of the grantor's new two story and a half house on Fulton Street; thence running Westerly on said Fulton Street forty feet; thence Southerly by other land of the grantor about eighty-nine feet to land of Bradley; thence Easterly by said Bradley's land forty feet to other land of the grantor; thence Northerly about eighty-nine feet to said Fulton Street and point of beginning, together with all the buildings thereon. Subject to all rights and restrictions referred to in said mortgage deed.

Terms of sale: One hundred dollars cash; balance in ten days.

JOHN J. KILBRIDE, Auctioneer.
MARY O'LEARY GALLAGHER, Mortgagee.

Peabody, July 28th, 1886.

SALEM GAS LIGHT COMPANY.

A DIVIDEND of Three Dollars per share will be payable at the Office of the Treasurer, on MONDAY, July 26, to stockholders of record July 22, 1886.

DAVID MOORE, Treasurer.
Salem, July 22, 1886. 3w

JOHN WOOD. JR.,

gent for County fo

Columbia, Victor, American Champion Challenge, Safety, and Ideal Bicycles, Tricycles, Parts and Sundries.

BICYCLES repaired, painted, ni ckell bought, exchanged and made to order,

AMERICAN MADE BICYCLES are best, fastest, most durable and cheapest any in the world.

Largest and best stock of SECOND-HAN MACHINES in New England.

Easy instalments.

Purchasers taught to ride free,

52 RANTOUL STREET,

Near Eastern Depot,

BEVERLY.

may 5—3m

HAT WE ARE SELLING.

Our Stock of

CHAMBER SETS

was never so extensive.

A Fine ASH SET, 10 pieces, for $23.00.
Full B. W. SET, Marble Top, $39.00.
Hard Wood Cottage Bed, $2.00.
Hard Wood French Bed, $3.00.

All Sorts of CHAMBER, KITCHEN and PARLOR FURNITURE at Lowest Rates.

We are offering our large line of Children's Carriages at Large Discount.

We have a big lot of OIL CLOTH and CARPETS, BRUSSELS, TAPESTRY, EXTRA SUPERS and INGRAINS, and sell as low as anybody.

We have a very large line of

C R TAINS and SHADES,

and our Prices are Low. CALL AND SEE ABOUT IT.

C. H. GOULDING.

Double Store, Walnut Street,

IF YOU ARE GOING TO THE SEASHORE OR COUNTRY YOU WILL NEED

Flannel Shirts,
Fancy Shirts,
Under Shirts,

HOSIERY, SUSPENDERS, GLOVES!

and a host of other things conducive to comfort.

We can supply you with the BEST, at Bottom Prices.

W. S. NEAL & CO.,

MEN'S FURNISHERS AND SHIRT MAKERS,

228 & 230 Essex St., Salem.

LADIES OF SALEM AND VICINITY,

It affords us pleasure to call your attention to our celebrated

HAND-SEWED SHOES

For Comfort, Beauty and Durability, they are not equalled. They are crumbs of comfort by the wayside.

Beware of Imitations! None genuine without the name Grover on the Sole.

Please Call and Examine them at the Store of

L. CUNNINGHAM.

147 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Agent for Salem and vicinity.

mch 31—1y

CHOICE VERMONT BUTTER.

We have just received a car load of VERMONT BUTTER which we shall offer by the tub at prices which

— WE WILL NAME WHEN YOU CALL. —

IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE US

Meats and Vegetables of all kinds at the

LOWEST PRICES FOR SPOT CASH.

Ames & Edgerly's Cash Market,

NEXT TO SAMUEL TRASK'S.

REMOVAL SALE.

This Week for Bargains.

On and after September 1st, we will occupy the rooms lately occupied by the Post Office. They have been thoroughly refitted and all necessary changes made to accommodate our large stock, therefore we are pleased to announce that on the above date we will be able to meet the wants of our customers in one of the finest stores in town.

Prior to removal we have marked our whole stock at prices that will sell the goods and please the customers.

Everybody invited to call. Every buyer assure a benefit.

NUGENT BROS.,

PEABODY SQUARE.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,

Editors and Publishers

THE SALEM Gazette has taken upon itself to voice the feeling of the manufacturers of Salem and Peabody in the position they have taken of adhering to the demands of their posted circular. In a long article in last Friday's issue that paper condemns the attitude taken by Mayor Raymond in a conference with the manufacturers—the substance of his suggestions having been given to the public in a previous issue of the Gazette. It is not the first time that this paper has contested the position taken by the Mayor. Its arraignment of this gentleman previous to the last election undoubtedly won for him many votes; his efforts towards harmony at this juncture will very likely result in an increased support, notwithstanding the condemnation of the Salem Gazette.

As we understand it, Mayor Raymond held no conference with the manufacturers in his official capacity. He endeavored, as he had a right to do—as any good citizen having the welfare of the city at heart had a right to do—to suggest a feasible and honorable method of settlement. He saw, as others do, that the business of Peabody and Salem was being prostrated by the long continuance of the difficulty. He saw, as others do, that both sides had rights which they could not honorably surrender. In the disturbances which arose, he showed his hand in no uncertain manner. Riotous elements were given to understand that no unlawful acts would be permitted. Under his prompt action all fears of a riot were dispelled. In all this he had the honor and safety of his city and its citizens at heart. He has given no indication that such active measures would be relaxed in future. But the Mayor needs no defence from us. Nor have we the space, if we had the inclination, to follow the long tirade of the Gazette in defense of every position taken by the manufacturers.

We are sorry to see the Gazette feel that nothing can be suggested in the line of a settlement of this difficulty except from policy. It intimates that Mr. Spaulding as well as Mayor Raymond is not actuated by motives other than selfish ones—or at best by motives which would defend a secret organization against the best good of the community. We suppose that is the naturel inclination of those who, like the editor of the Gazette, have had a taste of public life. They cannot realize that people may be governed by influences other than are politic—in short, by those which will in the future win the greatest applause and the largest number of votes. It may be that Mayor Raymond and Mr. Spaulding have this solely in view; but we are not prepared to believe it any more than that the persistent attitude of the Gazette against the rights and advancement of the laboring man is a bid in the same direction at some future time.

The Gazette says: "the Mayor asks them (the manufacturers) to make terms, not with their own men, but with such men as the 'noble order of the Knights of Labor' (this quotation not being the Mayor's words) may select; for this is exactly what taking down the posted notice means." The italics are ours. Is that what it means? When Newman Perkins took down his circular and began work, did it mean "making terms with such men as the noble order of the Knights of Labor may select?" He made no terms with the Knights of Labor. His arrangement was directly with his men. The terms of settlement involved no surrender of rights under the constitution, of which the Gazette has so much to say, on the part of Mr. Perkins. Under the terms made, which were not with the Knights of Labor as a body, certainly not with men which the order selected, we should like to have the Gazette tell us why Mr. Perkins was obliged to put back the circular. It would also be interesting to know in what respect in this case Mr. Perkins "yielded all right to the control of his business and property." He certainly did recede from the position of the manufacturers, for he took down his circular. Did he yield all right to the control of his business in the settlement which he made? And if Mr. Perkins could make such an arrangement, directly with his men, why cannot all the manufacturers do the same, and why should efforts toward such a settlement be condemned?

It becomes more evident that the posted circular means more than is claimed for it by the Knights themselves. It was shown in this case that when the men were willing to abide by its letter, agreeing to participate in no strikes, and making an individual contract with their employer, it was not enough. Else why was the circular ordered back in Newman Perkins' case? It means that the men must come out from the Knights of Labor. One of the workmen last week went to a leading manufacturer, informing him that he was ready to return to his work and to make a contract with him. "Have you left the Knights of Labor?" was the question. He replied that he had not, but that he probably should do so. "When you have left," said the manufacturer, "you may come and see me and I will talk with you."

We wish it understood that we do not endorse the processes that have been taken, in the past year, by the Knights. This is treated upon more in another article. But when it comes to this, that the manufacturer requires that his workman shall not belong to the organization, we confess that our sympathy is with the laborer. When it becomes more understood that this is the issue, the sympathy of the public, to our judgment, will lie in the same direction. The manufacturer, or the employer, has undoubtedly a legal right to make such a demand. He has a legal right to demand that his employe shall not belong to the Odd Fellows or the Masons. He has a legal right to demand that he shall not belong to this or that church, or otherwise. Possibly he may have the moral right to make the same demand. But in this country and in this age, such demands have not been looked upon with favor. They have savored of bigotry. Our fathers left the mother country for freedom to worship God according to their own consciences. In spite of the bitter storm which gathered around Masonry years ago, the order survives, and its members are not under a social or political or moral ban because of such membership. If this contest is to be singly and solely on this line, it is only a question of time as to the result. The members of the Knights of Labor are perfectly justified in taking a position of resistance. Opposition to the demands which have been made or which may be made by this order, on the part of the manufacturers, is one thing; opposition to the organization, per se, is another and far different thing.

* * *

WE ARE in sympathy with the Knights of Labor only to this extent, that we consider the good of the entire community, and the prosperity of our town, above the contest of either party for supremacy. We want to see fair play and justice done to all. We do not mean by this that we are in sympathy with the methods taken by that organization here and elsewhere, to enforce their demands.

The Knights made a mistake, in the first place, in regard to the trouble at the shops of Charles Harrington & Co. Everything was conceded to the men regarding wages and time. One man, whom Mr. Harrington desired to employ, who did not belong to the Knights of Labor, he would not discharge. For this one thing, none of the men would work. For this one man, all the workmen, who had been well used by Mr. Harrington and who had no other grievance, must remain idle and lose the work which they ought to have had. If the manufacturers ought not to refuse work to a man because he is a Knight of Labor, which we think they should not do, on the other hand the Knights should not insist that they refuse work to a man because he is not a Knight of Labor. The mistake was the cause of much further trouble, and has resulted in a condition of things requiring careful management to adjust, if in fact, it is ever adjusted.

Local assemblies have been too ready to declare strikes. Mr. Powderly says that strikes and the boycott should not be resorted to until all other means of settlement had failed. Arbitration will settle all difficulties, if entered upon in the right spirit. The republican party at its last convention declared in favor of this method of settling labor difficulties, and the result in many places has shown that harmonious settlements have been brought about.

Locally, the Knights made a mistake in the frequent and increasing demands made upon the manufacturers, particularly when those demands referred to matters which must always be under the control of the employer, if a successful business is to be conducted. Among these was the list and accompaniments presented by the splitters. Leading Knights of Labor have told us that this demand would never have been enforced by arbitration. It would have been at once thrown out. The splitters themselves, after suffering the result of their own folly,—for this list hastened the action of the manufacturers—yielded in a far from honorable manner, and left the organization which they had brought into trouble by their own act.

The Knights made another error in refusing the offer made in the first reply of the manufacturers to a proposition from the Executive Board,—that if they would withdraw the splitters' price list, the manufacturers would take down the circular. That was a fair and honorable method of settlement—a proposition which, we regret to say, does not find favor with the manufacturers at the present time.

To the rapid growth of the organization and the inability to instruct all the members in the true objects of the order, is due, we think, in a large measure, many of these mistakes. Human nature is the same everywhere, and it is just as natural for the laboring man to desire to obtain the best price and the best terms for his labor as it is for the manufacturer to desire to sell his leather at the largest possible profit. The last six weeks have brought home these errors to the laboring men, and they have had abundant opportunity to consider them.

We think we make no mistake when we say that the Knights realize that these are mistakes—and are willing, furthermore, to acknowledge it. Those people who insist that the Knights will not yield anything to the manufacturers know not what they are talking about. The great error of the manufacturers is that they will yield nothing. They will not remove a dot from an i, or a crossing from a t, in their circular. We leave it to the calm consideration of the public, IS THIS RIGHT?

* * *

IT HAS been said by several of our cotemporaries, referring to the labor trouble, that neither party was willing to yield anything. Strictly speaking, we think this is not true. The Knights of Labor have made several propositions looking toward a settlement. The overtures on the part of Mr. Spaulding and Mayor Raymond have been made with full faith that the Knights would yield nearly everything except fealty to their organization. They showed in the Perkins matter that no executive board was necessary; they made no objection to working with non-union men. Both of these things have been bones of contention in some places, and are points which have made difficulty with the manufacturers. The Executive Board have offered to confer or have the manufacturers confer with others than themselves; they have offered a local board or the State Board or any board. It cannot be said that they are unwilling to yield anything.

It should be remembered by the public, in judging of this long continued dulness of business, that many of the processes of the Knights are not upheld by them as a body. They have made mistakes. The growth of the Order has been unprecedented, and it is but human to err. We think they realize this—and more as the weeks go by. We think the District Assembly realize this in the substitution of a new Executive Board of conservative, experienced men for those, who, personally or by their actions, have made themselves obnoxious. We do not believe the Knights prefer idleness to work. They are ready to work. And it must be observed that while they have showed in Perkins' case that they were ready to make concessions, the manufacturers are not willing to yield their point, which can only mean the dismemberment of the organization. Upon the manufacturers rests, then, the responsibility for the continuance of the difficulty. If they are not ready to do business, no man can question their right to keep their shops closed. Unfortunately this is not so. The smaller manufacturers, especially, are in a condition requiring help.

It is not for the interest of our merchants, here, or in Salem, that the class of people, who more than any others supply their wants at home, should remain long in idleness. It is not a pleasant prospect to look forward to in the coming fall—with the manufacturers persistent on breaking up a secret organization, while many of their own number are members of similar secret organizations—with the men out of work, their families suffering, and business of all kinds at a standstill. It would seem as if some pacific measures could be taken to heal the wound. Believing this to be for the interest of the whole people, we have urged a conference of some kind. Peace is preferable to war. We don't ask the manufacturers to yield their rights, or the control of their business. We don't believe the Knights desire such a thing. Neither side understands each other thoroughly. Why not come to an understanding?

* * *

IF WILLIAM W. CRAPO had come out in man fashion, as did John D. Long, announcing that, although he should make no efforts to influence the people of Massachusetts towards him, in preference to any other candidate whom they preferred, yet, if they desired his services in the higher branch of Congress, he would abide by the fair and honest decision of the people,— if, we say, Mr. Crapo had done this, he would have been the most available candidate for the office of Governor, to succeed Gov. Robinson. The strength which was developed in his favor, by the spontaneous replies of leading representative journals of the State, to the Boston Globe, was an indication of this. The time, however, for such announcement has passed. If he expects the Convention to summon him from his retirement to be their standard bearer in the coming campaign, he will wait till some other year. The time is not ripe for such action, with so formidable a candidate as Lieut. Gov. Ames in the field.

Mr. Crapo would have been a fitting successor of the present Governor; and we confess we had hoped he would enter the lists this year. But there is no reason, other than this preference, why we should not willingly support Lieut. Gov. Ames for this position. The objections to him, on the ground of his inability to make long speeches at cattle shows, are foolish in the extreme. Mr. Ames can say all that the honor of the State requires that he should say, and he can easily call around him men who are able to give the editors at banquets ample opportunity to exercise their reportorial pencil. Gov. Talbot was no speaker, but he was as able an executive officer as the State has had for years. Such a man will do the State honor instead of harm His expected candidacy meets with approval among the Republican party, and that party will elect its nominees this year by an increasing majority. The favor with which President Cleveland has been regarded by some luke-warm republicans has been more than counterbalanced by the follies of the administration and the democratic party. It will be a strong republican year.

* * *

WE LEARN from an authoritative source, that Col. Eben F. Stone will not be a candidate for Congressional honors this fall. Already the names of several gentlemen have been announced by their friends as qualified for the honorable position, to represent old Essex County in the halls of Congress. The people of this portion of the County will turn instinctively to the one man of all others, who stands pre-eminently the representative of her people—and that man Gen. WILLIAM COGSWELL, of Salem.

We are perfectly aware that the friends of William E. Blunt, of Haverhill, are bringing forward his name with much assurance. We are not prepared to say that there are no claims in his favor. That portion of the county, representing the whole Merrimac Valley, has had a representative, for the past six years, in the person of Col. Stone. The business interests of Haverhill and Newburyport and the other towns in that section are more closely identified with each other than those of the eastern portion of the county with any of these places. We do not think we are extravagant in our demands in claiming that to this portion of Essex County belongs the honor of the coming representative to Congress.

The claims of Gen. Cogswell to the nomination are beyond question paramount to those of any other candidate whom we have heard suggested, or to whom we can turn. His services in a public capacity, to his own city and this portion of the district, are well and favorably known. A Republican always—yet not a bitter partisan; liberal in his views and charitable to those of his opponents, he has served us in the various offices to which he has been chosen with honor to himself and for the lasting good of the county and state. His services to his country are found in a record of which any man would be proud. He can be elected over any man whom the democrats can nominate. The party will make no mistake when they nominate him at the coming convention.

* * *

There will be enough peaches to go around this year, in spite of the repeated predictions by growers of the utter failure of the crop. The railroads which haul the crop of the Delaware and Maryland peach orchards to market say the yield will be almost up to the average. The peach growers are entitled to as much honor as some of the amateur weather regulators.

Mr. Fred P. Osborne, who was recently married, was presented last Thursday evening with a handsome easy chair by his shop mates.

THE REPUBLICAN party should nominate District Attorney Hurlburt this fall for re-election, without hesitation. We have no sympathy with any attempt otherwise. This office should be as much divorced from political affiliations as is the office of Clerk of Courts, Registrar of Deeds, or Registrar of Probate. The party will do a manly act, they will do honor to themselves and the people of the county, by dropping party lines and placing him at once in nomination. The democratic party will hardly dare, in this case, to do otherwise than confirm the nomination. It is by no means sure that he will be nominated in any other event. There is more opposition to him in the democratic than in the republican camp.

Should another man be nominated by the Republicans, we warn the party that hosts of citizens belonging to that party will vote for Mr. Hurlburt should he be in the field. Should the democrats nominate him, he is sure of an election, against whomsoever the republicans could nominate, and without refereace to the strength of the rest of the ticket.

* * *

THE SETTLEMENT made by Mr. Perkins has been referred to several times by us, because we consider it a very vital point in the controversy. The men agreed individually to participate in no strikes, and contracted individually with their employer. We have not seen any person able to tell us why, under this concession, if it was a concession, on the part of the men, they were not allowed to work, unless the circular meant even more than it said. If the men are ready to go to work under these terms for the small manufacturers, must the latter wait until all the manufacturers in the Association are ready to conform thus to the circular? For we are wholly unable to see why the settlement was not one under which the circular said the men could go to work. At the same time we understand and can see that they are satisfactory to the Knights of Labor. It looks very much like an application of the "freezing out" process to the smaller manufacturers, a method which puts a new phase upon the difficulties already existing here.

* * *

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If the men were permitted to go individually to their former employers, there is no doubt a mutually satisfactory arrangement would be speedily arrived at.—Salem Register.

If employers could be allowed to resume work after having made such a satisfactory arrangement, the end of the trouble would speedily be at hand.

There are strikes within strikes. The non-union men employed at Geo. J. Winchester's have struck for higher wages. Under ordinary circumstances the matter would be hardly worth mentioning. But at the present time, it cannot fail to provoke amusement.

The Gazette says it did not care to go into the Newman Perkins matter. We don't wonder at it. Every point that we can think of, which that paper has made against the Knights of Labor, is disproved by the settlement which he made. We wish the Gazette (which is entirely in sympathy with the manufacturers) would tell us exactly why the settlement was so unsatisfactory that influence was brought to bear from SOMEWHERE to compel him to put the circular back. We wish also the Gazette would tell us whence the influence came.

The Gazette, again, after quoting us as saying that "Mr. Perkins did not think the manufacturers had anything to do with the alleged boycott," goes on to justify it, if true, on the principle that one wrong act justifies another. This is bad business. The Gazette is getting "way off the track." The "boycott" is entirely wrong under any circumstances, and by whomsoever practiced. But two wrongs can never make one right.

It is now proper to say of Mayor Raymond, because he does not join in the condemnation, utterly, of every thing done by the Knights of Labor, that his ADMINISTRATION HAS BEEN A FAILURE. Everything depends, in certain quarters, upon joining issue on this one point. There is only one side to the question! One side is entirely right—the other shamefully wrong!

The manufacturers would appear to have more to gain than to lose by the suspension, while the striking workmen have more to lose than to gain.— Salem Gazette.

This is always the case. It also shows why the laboring man, in his individual capacity, has been losing everything and gaining nothing. The penalty has been a speedy discharge, in large manufactories, for the men who presumed, in their individual capacity, to ask for a slight increase in wages.

Messrs. Ames & Edgerly report one of the largest trades in business last Saturday night since they have been in business. Inasmuch as their dealing is entirely for cash, it is significant. It shows that the men are not destitute of the wherewithal to support their families. It shows also that the money is not spent for rum. The trade of this firm is almost entirely with the laboring class, and they expected a considerable falling off in patronage. They are as much surprised as anyone else, at the opposite result.

The Anarchists will never obtain a foothold in the Knights of Labor. Anarchy is destructive to civil liberty, and no honest workman can afford to identify himself with an organization which has for its object the destruction of life and property. The principles of the Knights of Labor are grand principles, and no citizen need be ashamed of them.—Master Workman Powderly.

The board of arbitration of the Knights of Labor recently adjusted prices for shovelling with the coal dealers at the Port, and C. H. Warren & Co., neglected to sign the agreement. On Wednesday morning four men who had been engaged in shovelling on a schooner for this firm, refused to go to work, until the paper was signed. Messrs. Warren & Co. did as the laborers desired, and but three hours were lost by the "strike."—Danvers Mirror.

* * *

BOXFORD.

Geo. W. Atherton, L. L. D., President of State College, Pa., and John P. Peabody, Esq., of Salem, attended church here last Sabbath. Both were Boxford boys. Dr. Atherton is a guest at Mr. Peabody's, at his home in Salem.

Rev. Prof. Allen, with his family, and Prof. Geo. Palmer, both of Harvard College, are spending the summer here. Rev. Fred Palmer, a brother of the Prof., is here with his family.

Prof. J. Y. Bergen, Jr., of the Peabody High School, and his family are spending the summer at the residence of Mrs. Arrington.

Prof. James H. Howe, music teacher in De Pauw University, Indiana, is spending his vacation here at his father's.

Stephen Peabody, of Newburyport, is rusticating at the old Dorman homestead, the former home of the wife of Selectman Herrick of Peabody.

Mr. George P. Daniels, of Salem, is spending the summer with his family at the Cleveland Farm.

Herbert E. Gage of this town, a senior in the Chandler Scientific School of Dartmouth College, is one of the three young men of the same class now with Prof. Quimby, who is making the necessary surveys to determine the true boundary line between the two great states of Massachusetts and New Hampshire. The party has been for several days encamped in Haverhill, but will soon move to West Newbury. This boundary question is one of no little interest to many of the dwellers along the line between the two states from a point near Pawtucket Falls, just above Lowell, to the ocean, for the line not being accurately located people living near it may with good reason question whether they are citizens of the Old Bay State or of the Granite State. The controversy is one of long standing. A decree of the king of England in 1740, or thereabouts, said the line should be three miles from the Merrimac on the north. It was soon after surveyed, but no bounds being set at the time there is no true and exact boundary settled. To decide the question, commissioners have been appointed by each state and a surveyor is now at work in the interests of each, Prof. E. T. Quimby for New Hampshire, and civil engineer Spofford of Haverhill for Massachusetts. The line is to be determined by triangulation and this part of the work falls on Prof. Quimby and his party, who have been at work since May, spending all their time in camp, which is moved as the work progresses. Their first camp was near Lowell. It will be several weeks before the mouth of the river is reached. Prof. Quimby has been for fifteen years engaged in the U. S. Coast survey, camping out every summer. Mrs. Quimby is one of the party this summer. The three young men are all Essex Co. boys, H. E. Gage, already mentioned, of Boxford, C. S. Carpenter of Andover, at one time of South Peabody, and J. B. Rogers of Byfield, of whom a Lowell paper says: "They are three as ruddy cheeked, well fed, and generally contented Massachusetts boys as one can find." The writer visited the camp at Haverhill last week, which will account for the amount of space given to the matter here.

But to return to Boxford. Haying is mostly done, a few meadows still remaining uncut. A season for cutting salt hay, that is, a course of low tides, has just begun, and as Sam Lawson would say, "The women have all been busy makin' pies, bakin' beans and brown bread, and bilin' doughnuts, for men who go to the ma'sh eats powerful;" for men still do go from here to Rowley and Ipswich and cut salt grass, dry it on the marsh, boat the hay to Rowley landing, and team it home with ox and horse teams. Mr. Editor: If you or any of the boys want something new in the way of a picnic, try a trip with some one who is "going to ma'sh."

Writing of teams brings to mind the great change here from oxen to horses. Where formerly on the various farms seventy or seventy-five yoke of oxen were kept, now the number may be counted on the fingers of one's hands. The match factory is still idle and some of the men formerly employed have moved away. Loads of pine timber are frequently seen on the way to J. B. Thomas' mill at Middleton. What is to be done with the farms in the small towns distant from markets when the present owners are dead? This is a question of some importance in many small communities, and becomes more worthy of attention as the young men willing to continue at farming diminishes.

I will not discuss the question, "Does farming pay?" or attempt to tell what inducements there are for young men to stick to the farms, but will say that in this part of Boxford at least three such places are owned and occupied during the summer by city people. Here now is a chance for city people to get country residences cheap. A bad thing for the country town, no doubt, that the places are not occupied all the time, but better in summer only than not at all. J. K. C.

August 18, 1886.

FALL OF 1886.

BRIDAL SILVER.

Through the summer months we have been having made some new styles in

STERLING SILVER,

and have also ordered an immense stock of the best quality

SILVER PLATED WARE.

These goods will be ready early in September, and we are confident we can offer the largest and finest stock of new goods in Essex County. No House in Boston can show a better line of medium price goods than we shall.

DANIEL LOW,

SALEM.

Wedding and Anniversary Presents a Specialty.

IVERS & POND PIANOS.

For the best Pianos in Salem examine the Ivers & Pond if you want a good one. For sale only by W. J. Lefavour, 175 Essex St., Salem.

New Advertisements.

OLD MAGAZINES WANTED.

Will take old Harper's, Scribner's, St. Nicholas or Century Magazines of any date whatever in exchange for Book Binding, Card Albums or Cash.

H. A. BROOKS,
BOOK BINDER,
224 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

HAMMERED BRASS TRAYS,

32 cts.; usually sold for 60 cts.

A lot of Gentlemen's all linen HEMSTITCHED PRINTED BORDERED HDKFS., 13 cts.; would be cheap at 25c.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

aug 24.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening Aug. 25, 1886,

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

The case of Cornelius Bagley for assault on John A. Lord's teamster was heard Thursday. Officer Jones testified to seeing Bagley throw down a stone. The driver of the team explained the assault but could not identify the men, there being three, he said. Judge Merrill discharged the man as there was not evidence enough to hold him for the higher court.

Mr. Joseph H. Lendall was in court Thursday morning charged with assaulting special officer M. J. McElligott, which he denied. The officer said he didn't want to say anything about it and asked to have the case withdrawn. In reply to questions by the Judge he said he did not know who struck him. Officer Flynn testified that he was too busy himself handling the crowd to tell who struck McElligott. As it was only on the statement of McElligott that Lendall was arrested the Judge told him he had little respect for a man who would make statements that he had and then know nothing about them. If the case was not a true one he didn't want it brought in. Lendall was discharged, and McElligott for once had good sense enough to resign.

Last Friday morning an ice team belonging to H. N. Batchelder, while heavily loaded, started down Main street hill and brought up against the plank walk at L. Pratt's bakery, doing some damage.

Last Friday, John Frizzell for assault on Timothy O'Keefe was held for trial the next day. On saturday he was fined $10 and costs, $16.63.

A Frenchman living in the old rubber factory on Ward street, Salem, had his leg broken while blasting at the Peabody quarry on Thursday afternoon; he was taken to the Salem Hospital.

Wm. Annis was caught in a belt at a Lynn shoe factory, last Saturday, and thrown against a machine with such force as to cut a deep gash in his head.

A young man named Field was found on Sunday night in the vicinity of Grove street wandering about dressed in a plug hat and a shirt. He was considerably intoxicated and thinly clad for so cool a night. His clothes were found a short distance away, and he was assisted to his boarding house.

An ex-special officer was called in to a resident of Dublin last Thursday night who had got too much liquor aboard and was smashing up his furniture.

Mr. John White reported to the police last Friday that his room had been entered at his boarding place, (Mrs. Miller's on Mill street) and $20 besides a watch and chain had been stolen.

Mr. H. M. Osborne's horse attached to his grocery wagon ran away on Lowell street Saturday morning scattering groceries in his wake. The team struck Mr. N. R. Welch's milk wagon, springing the axle and breaking one shaft. A boy was on the seat of the grocery wagon and was thrown out but not injured. The horse cleared himself and returned to the stable on Centaral street.

A two year and a half old daughter of Dennis Lawler on Holly street while at play about the yard last Friday afternoon fell into a twelve foot well. Several men who saw her fall rushed to the rescue and the child was saved. Doctor Shannahan was called but the little one did not require his services.

Mrs. John Torr living on Washington street, fell down a flight of stairs at her home last Saturday and dislocated one of her shoulders. Two physicians were called to attend her. Mrs. Torr is a very large woman and the shock was very bad for her.

Everett A Sumner, son of John A. P. Sumner, was playing with a lot of boys at Geo. Carr's barn yesterday, and ran up to the third floor and fell head first into the manger below. He was removed to his home in an unconscious condition. His neck and head were badly bruised also his knee, but no bones were broken. He had on a fireman's hat which prevented a fatal accident. Dr. Worcester attended him.

Mr. Geo. H. Low has attached the cottage of John A Enos, at Asbury Grove, in payment of a note. Mr. Enos does not deny the note, but says he bought the cottage for another party and it is in their name. If this is true the attachment will not amount to anything.

As the shifter was backing down some freight cars from the So. Reading track, last Friday, a little after six o'clock, one of them jumped the track below the station and caused about an hours delay to the down train. The wrecking train had it cleared up by nine o'clock.

Anthony Garvey had a partial sun stroke yesterday. Dr. Weston attended him and he is all right this morning.

The morocco factory of Furbush & Fuller on Main street was entered Sunday, and about $5 worth of goods wer stolen. The boys were arrested an part of the goods recovered.

ASBURY GROVE.

Asbury Grove is too near and too familiar to most of your readers for me to write much that is new or entertaining about it. The people who are occupying the cottages and getting rest and health among the tall pines and hemlocks have been putting on their best behavior as camp meeting week has just closed. The week is given entirely to the religious people and games and other social forms of amusement, including croquet, were given up for the week. There are many who occupy cottages who do not believe in the meetings and seldom attend them, yet they feel that at least one week in the year is devoted to and enjoyed by those who are interested, and out of respect to them the somewhat strict rules are observed. Early last week the big tents in the circle began to have their canvass stretched across their bony frames and people began to arrive in twos and threes to occupy them, and as the middle of the week approached a good sized stream of campers were flowing into the grounds. Nearly every cottage that has a spare room lets it during camp meeting, and often people who come to stay a day are lured into a sojourn of the whole week. After the second day the crowd began to literally swarm upon the camp ground and every available team was pressed into service to bring over the trunks and bundles for Wenham depot, including an old fashioned hay cart with the rack on, which was more than once loaded.

All was life and bustle in the large church tents, and life there has many pleasures and more discomforts, but people seem to enjoy them as a part of camp meeting week.

"This is the time that many long
In strange paths to roam,
And miss the comforts others take,
By being calm at home."

The experience of one is about the same with all who live in the big tents. In the first place a load of old straw is ordered and this is piled up in one corner of the tent. An old rusty stove with about a yard of funnel is found, and either set up out of doors or in a shed just large enough to hold it. On this may be seen at almost all hours of the day, and particularly in the morning, teapots, coffee pots, tin dippers, broken crockery and numerous things containing tea and other drinks of the tenters. These belong to those who have brought provisions enough in their trunks to last them through the week. Others simply lodge in the tent and take their meals at the restaurant. A temporary shelf is also erected against the back side of the tent, on which is a pail of water, and by the aid of a 7x9 mirror the ladies make their morning toilets, while the gentlemen go down to one of the numerous pumps and perform a like operation.

But it is at night that the novel part of this kind of life is noticed. After the evening meetings all repair to their society tent and a grand rush is made for the big pile of straw. Some have been thoughtful enough to provide themselves with an empty tick, which they fill and secure to themselves comfort above their fellows; but the less fortunate spread their straw on the bottom of the tent and make a pillow of their clothing or of the straw, and rolling themselves up in their blankets they are soon asleep. Previously, however, the tent is divided in the middle by a curtain and the ladies take one side and the gentlemen the other, literally fulfilling the bible quotation, "And he separated the sheep from the goats." The sleepers rest with their heads toward the sides of the tent and feet pointed toward the middle. It is often the case, however, that beds are made up lengthwise in order to accommodate. It would seem like a hardship to one who was accustomed to soft mattresses and spring beds, but they don't seem to mind it.

Sunday there was the largest attendance for many years and all the society tents were filled to overflowing. Rooms in the cottages were all taken up and hundreds were unable to remain over night. From all the surrounding country people visited the meeting for the day and armed with baskets of provisions, they sat in little groups about the grove lunching and chatting pleasantly, adding much to the novelty of the scene to one who had never attended before. At the eating house conducted by Mr. Caton, the rush was fearful and hundreds who were obliged to leave early were unable to get anything to eat. An idea may be formed of the amount of provisions consumed by the following, furnished by Mr. Jacob B. Lord, who has been head waiter for the past 14 years:

Roasting beef, 1,000 pounds; lamb, 60 quarters, about 450 pounds; hams, 250 pounds: tongue, 375 pounds; salt pork, 200 pounds; beans, baked, 800 quarts; shell beans, 14 bushels; corn, 1,200 ears; puddings, 150, four quarts each; pies, 1000; biscuit, 600 dozen; doughnuts, 400 dozen; milk, 800 quarts; butter, 100 pounds; brown bread, 400 loaves; coffee and tea, 500 gallons. The help employed in the cook room and dining-hall numbered seventy-five, male and female, twenty-five young lady waiters to the dining-room. At the farm houses in the vicinity there were immense crowds of people and one of them furnished 162 dinners, compelling the lady of the house to spend the whole night in cooking.

The breaking of camp Monday night was not characterized by that excitement that has been observed in former years. The meeting closed about ten o'clock and only a few of the societies held meetings in their tents. A party of young men started a meeting at the stand which was continued till midnight, but only a small number remained and there was no marked result.

At the Beverly tent a great work seemed to be going on and the excitement ran very high—one woman prostrating herself on the floor and all were crying and moaning. The meeting was continued far into the night. The police took occasion to enjoy the last night and patrolled the grounds decorated with circular fans for badges.

The meetings at the Peabody tent arranged by the W. C. T. U., in which several of the good ladies were interested, were a failure, not through a lack of work on their part, but the Association looked upon them as a "side show" and arranged a mass meeting at the stand at the same hour, and of course took the crowd and the enterprise was given up.

The singing was a special feature this year and many of the pieces were new. They used Epworth's Hymnals instead of the Gospel Hymns of former years.

Before I close I just want to say a word about the "retreat." During the past week a new sign has been elevated to a conspicuous position, bearing the words "Hamilton Park." This is the new name for the retreat which was given in the first place to a disgruntled few who were not satisfied and built outside the association grounds, in fact retreated from them, and now while they depend largely on the accommodations furnished at the camp ground, they are trying to make Hamilton Park quite exclusive. It is reported that an effort will shortly be made to build a chapel there and that one enterprising party has offered to give the land as soon as the amount is subscribed.

MUSICAL NOTES.

Miss L. P. Howard, contralto of the choir of the Unitarian church of this town, and of the South church in Salem, is to leave for Kansas City this fall, to reside there.

Charles A. Clark, organist of St. John's church, returned to his post last Sunday for one day. He will be absen two weeks longer.

The fifth entertainment in behalf of the "Hall Fund" will be given in Juniper Hall next Thursday evening Aug. 26, by Mr. C. A. Clark, Mrs. E. R. Bigelow, Miss M. E. Stanley, Mr. Andrew Fitz and others.

The popularity of the Boston Music hall concerts under the direction of Mr. J. C. Mullaly continues unabated. Manager Ellis is to be congratulated upon the success of his enterprise.

The Musical Festival at the Point of Pines was a grand success. Last Sunday, the closing day, there were large numbers from this vicinity, notwithstanding the cold weather and numerous other attractions. Manager Thayer deserves credit for the manner in which it was conducted.

Edward K. Hood's course in Lynn will open early in October. Innis, the great trombone soloist, will appear at the first concert. Mr. Hood has been on the coast of New York at the different watering places there, the past week, under the management of Walter Wade of Brooklyn.

Not a seat in Mechanic Hall remained unsold Monday evening, at the opening of the Bennett & Moulton Opera Co. There is no doubt that the company have "caught on," and our readers who desire to witness any of the performances this week will do well to look out for their seats.

The new organ at the Unitarian church is in position and an exhibition of its powers will be given by the builder next week Thursday, Sept. 2d. It is expected that S. B. Whitney, of Boston, the well-known organist, will be present. Probably Miss Dalton and other members of the choir will assist in some vocal selections. We shall have farther particulars next week.

◆

A Prediction:—A cyclone in the shape of Warfield and Lignum's Comedy Company, will strike Peabody in the early part of December, and we learn we will be presented with a treat in the shape of fun that will be long remembered, and surpass all previous efforts of fun makers that have heretofore visited our town; Mr. J. S. McMurry, the great English Baritone Vocalist Composer is one of the prominent features and Messrs. Warfield and Lignum's name being at the head of the bill should be sufficient guarantee of Big Success. The company consists of eight selected artists including the Gem Brass Band.

IMMENSE BARGAINS

THIS WEEK!

NOW IS YOUR TIME TO GET

Men's Congress Rals. only 65 cents.
Boys' Congress Bals only 75 cents.
Youths' Congress Bals only 65 cents.

REGULAR $1.00 GOODS.

Men's and Boys' Tennis, 75 cents.
Men's Tennis Bals., $1.00.
Smith Hand Sewed Goat Button, $2.75.
Women's Comfort Button, $2.00.
Women's Mikado Slipper, 35c.
Men's Silk Embroidered Slipper, 65c.
Women's Fine Kid Oxfords, $1.00.
Women's House Slipper, 25c.

BIG BARGAINS IN SUMMER GOODS FOR THE NEXT TEN DAYS

— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

SALEM.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

SALEM'S

Reliable Dry Goods Establishment.

AUGUST BARGAINS.

The vigorous pushing business which has made our establishment so irresistibly attractive the past two weeks will be kept up throughout the balance of the month.

OUR

Great Blanket Sale

to be continued one week longer, at the same prices. Over hundred pairs of these goods were sold on Monday and Tuesday of last week.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

238 & 240 Essex Street,

94 & 96 Washington Street.

SALEM, MASS.

BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S CLOTHING!

— AT —

KENT & BOYNTON'S

— AT —

Greatly Reduced Prices.

It is not necessary for us to say that our Children's, as well as our Men's Clothing, is superior to any in Essex County.

READ OUR PRICES ON SUITS IN BROKEN LOTS.

Children's	Short	Pant	Suits	$2.50;	formerly	4.00	Boys'	Long	Pant	Suits	$5.00;	formerly	6.50.
"	"	"	"	2.75;	"	4.00	"	"	"	"	5.50;	"	7.00.
"	"	"	"	3.00;	"	4.50	"	"	"	"	6.00;	"	8.00.
"	"	"	"	3.50;	"	5.00	"	"	"	"	6.50;	"	8.50.
"	"	"	"	4.00:	"	6.00	"	"	"	"	7.00;	"	10.00.
"	"	"	"	5.00;	"	6,75	"	"	"	"	8.00;	"	12.00.

In our Gent's Clothing Department we are having a great Mark-Down and Clearance Sale. Money refunded on all garments returned within a reasonable time.

KENT & BOYNTON,

250 & 254 Essex St., Salem.

Now Is The Time

FOR GOOD BARGAINS IN OUR LINE OF HARD-WARES.

READ OUR PRICES!

Good Hatchets only	25 cts.
Good Chopping Axe only	65 cts.
Good Saw Horse only	25 cts.
Good Shoe Brush only	25 cts.

Grand Display of Good Pocket Knives for 25 cts.

Great bargains can be had on our

5, 10 & 25 ct. Counters.

Closing out our stock of

ICE CREAM FREEZERS & SCREENS.

BUY THE

BEST CLOTHES WRINGER FOR $2.50,

— AT —

S. TRASK & SON,

WALNUT ST.

BEEHIVE

BARGAINS!

100 pcs. HAMBURG EDGINGS, fine goods, for 10 cts. yd.; well worth 12 1-2 cts.

50 pcs. HAMBURG EDGINGS, fine and wide, for 12 1-2 cts.; would sell for 17 cts.

25 pcs. wide ORIENTAL LACES—cream and white—for 10 cts. yd.; never sold for less than 12 1-2 cts.

50 pcs. wide ORIENTAL LACES. Your choice for 12 1-2 cts.; regular 25 cent laces.

— AT —

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE.

SALEM.

STRAWBERRIES,

POT GROWN.

Plants of Leading Varieties.

By setting in AUGUST will secure fruit the following season.

PLANTS ready now. Send for Circular, or call on

E. & C. WOODMAN,

FLORIST AND GARDEN SUPPLIES,

DANVERS, MASS.

Greenhouses, Holten St., Tapleyville, on line of Horse R. R.

SUIT DEPARTMENT.

Ladies' Small Mantles.

The balance to be sold at 50 cts., 75 cts. and $1,

Children's Suits, Sizes 2 to 12 yrs,

Prices, 50 cts., 75 cts. and $1.00 up.

The balance of the Conrad Stock to be sold this week regardless of cost.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

M. N. BLACK,

Saratoga Waves made to order, a specialty, also old pieces redressed to look as well as new.

80 MARKE ST,. LYNN.

je 30—3m

Boyden House,

128 1-2 & 132 UNION ST.

(NEAR CENTRAL STATION.)

H. FRENCH, - Prop.,

LYNN, MASS

je 9—1y

BANKRUPT SALE

Of and Imported stock of

Human Hair Goods

The chance that comes but once in a life time.

The extensive stock of Mr. Leonard, the great importer and dealer of fine hair goods, was sold at auction last week in Boston. We were large purchasers of the same at merely nominal prices, and we propose to give our customers the benefit of the same. We have elegant waves at less than one quarter the original price. Crimps for 10c, 25c, 37c up. Warranted water curl ones for 50 and 75 cts.

Hair Switches for 25c, 50c, up. Gray Switches, a full line, from $2 up.

Polished Hair Crimping Irons 25c. Regular price $1.

Fluffy Fedore Curlers 15c, regular price 30c Ornaments, Hair Pins, etc., etc.

COME & EXAMINE.

Mrs. J. H. Browne's

153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

Also Remember all our Trimmed Hats and Bonnets will be closed out at Bargain prices. We have the largest stock to select from in the city

BROWNES

Next door to the Museum.

CROQUET.

HAMMOCKS.

Ice Cream Freezers.

These goods we are offering for a very low figure; the lowest prices ever offered on croquet can be found on our stock of

CROQUET.

Try our Extension Window Screens, also our Screen Frames for 20 CENTS.

Buy the best all steel Scythes, warranted.

Low figures on Bats and Balls.

S. TRASK & SON,

WALNUT ST.

REMOVAL!

JAMES HOWLEY.

Merchant Tailor,

Being about to remove to larger and more convenient quarters in the Hotel Building, finds himself overstocked with desirable goods and in order to reduce the same, offers to close out the entire stock at cost between now and August 1

This stock consists of a fine line:

Summer Suitings,

Light Overcoatings,

Heavy Fall Goods,

and Heavy Woolens.

Particular attention is called to about 230 PATTERNS IN

FASHIONABLE PANTALOONS,

The price of which has been made so low that it will insure a large sale and the first comers will have the largest Stock to select from.

REMEMBER

all these GOODS MUST GO to make room for the large stock ordered for the new store.

☞ I employ none but first class journeymen Tailors and guarantee satisfaction.

AN INSPECTION INVITED.

James Howley,

Over Warren Trask's Store.

Coal Dealers.

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheaokin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal. Cumberland Coal.

All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telphone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville, and will be promptly attended to.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

W. T. Batchelder. Amos Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

— AT —

PICKERINGS

7 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, JR & CO.,

Peabody Street.

N. O. VERY,

(Successor to L. B. Hatch)

DEALER IN

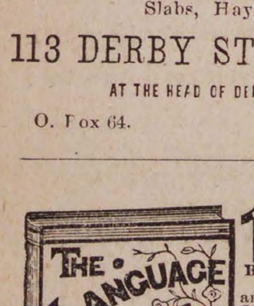
WOOD AND COAL

Hard and Soft Wood Kindlings, Bark, Slabs, Hay, etc.

113 DERBY ST., SALEM,

AT THE HEAD OF DERBY WHARF.

O. Box 64. Telephone, 444



15 CENTS FOR SAMPLE COPY of THIS BEAUTIFUL BOOK. It gives the LANGUAGE and Sentiment of Every Flower and Shrub, 3000 different kinds. Also all the Known Rules of Flirtation with Glove, Parasol, Handkerchief and Fan. It is the most complete work of the kind ever published. Send Fifteen Cents in stamps for a sample copy, also our price to agents. Agents wanted everywhere. Ad. AMERICAN PUB. CO., 17 North Tenth Street, Philad'a, Pa.

OUR SINGER THIS STYLE $17 15 DAYS' TRIAL. A Full Set of Attachments. WARRANTED 5 Years. Send for Circular. E. C. HOWE & CO., 122 N. 6th St., Phila., Pa.

mch 24

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs: and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any $10 cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40.000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground feb 11—3m

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Should be kept constantly at hand, for use in emergencies of the household. Many a mother, startled in the night by the ominous sounds of Croup, finds the little sufferer, with red and swollen face, gasping for air. In such cases Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. Emma Gedney, 159 West 128 st., New York, writes: "While in the country, last winter, my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with Croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was tried in small and frequent doses, and, in less than half an hour, the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the Pectoral saved my darling's life." Mrs. Chas. B. Landon, Guilford, Conn., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Saved My Life,

and also the life of my little son. As he is troubled with Croup, I dare not be without this remedy in the house." Mrs. J. Gregg, Lowell, Mass., writes: "My children have repeatedly taken Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for Coughs and Croup. It gives immediate relief, followed by cure." Mrs. Mary E. Evans, Scranton, Pa., writes: "I have two little boys, both of whom have been, from infancy, subject to violent attacks of Croup. About six months ago we began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and it acts like a charm. In a few minutes after the child takes it, he breathes easily and rests well. Every mother ought to know what a blessing I have found in Ayer's Cherry Pectoral." Mrs. Wm. C. Reid, Freehold, N. J., writes: "In our family, Ayer's medicines have been blessings for many years. In cases of Colds and Coughs, we take

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

and the inconvenience is soon forgotten."

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

SICK HEADACHE

Positively Cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00. CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

CATARRH ELY'S

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CATARRH
CURES COLD IN HEAD
ROSE-COLD
HAY-FEVER
DEAFNESS
HEADACHE
PRICE 50 CENTS
ELY BRO'S. OWEGO, N.Y. U.S.A.
EASY TO USE

Cream Balm

Gives Relief at once and Cures

COLD in HEAD

CARTARRH

HAY FEVER

Not a Liquid, Snuff or Powder. Free from Injurious Drugs and Offensive odors.

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Drug is s. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS!

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS WILL Purify the Blood.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS BEGETS Sound, Refreshing Sleep.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS FOR That Tired, Weary Feeling.

Sick Headache.

GENTS:—I have been subject to Sick Headache for years, and have tried, in vain, many advertised remedies and several physicians, but all to no purpose. At last I tried your B. B. Bitters—without much faith, I admit—but to-day I can truly say, that after taking the third bottle, I have not suffered from it. I recommend it to all my friends; several have been cured by it. My little grandson was permanently cured of Biliousness and Sick Headache, which were so severe as to cause convulsions. They have all ceased since he commenced the use of B.B.B.

MRS. B. C. BODLE,
Orange, Luzerne County, Pa.

FRENCH'S HOTEL.

CITY HALL SQUARE. NEW YORK.

Opposite City Hall and the Post Office.

This Hotel is one of the most complete in its appointments and furniture of ANY HOUSE in New York City and is conducted on the

EUROPEAN PLAN.

Rooms only One Dollar per day. Half minute's walk from Brooklyn Bridge and Elevated R. R. All lines of cars pass the door. Most convenient Hotel in New York for Merchants to stop at. Dining Rooms, Cafes and Lunch Counter replete with all the luxuries at moderate prices.

THE ROCKS BRIDGE TRAGEDY.—Fifty years ago the bridges then upon navigable waters were arranged differently from what they are at the present time. Instead of swinging laterally away from the channel, two sections of the bridge were arranged to open perpendicularly, leaving an ample way for vessels to pass. One man could not manage one of these old style bridges. When building bridges over navigable water the duty of constructing a "draw" was of the first importance, as in the early days when railways were unknown, schooners and sloops and packets were the most efficient vehicles in the carrying trade between seaboard towns.

Thus it was upon the Merrimac. Several towns upon that river situated above the Newburyport bridge derived their principal importance from this traffic, and the bridge tender had little leisure on the incoming and outgoing of the tide which alone rendered navigation possible.

One day, as the bridge tender at Rocks bridge, Joseph Morse by name, sat chatting with a number of his neighbors, he expressed the conviction that his end was near at hand; that on the flood tide that day he was to be called upon to open the bridge for the schooner Cordelia to pass up; that she would remain up over one tide, and that when she passed the bridge on her way to the sea he would fall and die at his post of duty.

The schooner Cordelia? says one of his hearers, there is no such schooner on the river.

Very true, says the bridge-tender, but I see by the Boston papers that the schooner Cordelia, Capt. Trefethern, is plying between Boston and the Piscataqua, up as far as Dover. She may drift this way, and if she does I shall take it for granted that she will not make the sea before I am gone to my long home.

A few hours at most would tell what reliance to put in the draw-tender's convictions. The wind was blowing fresh from the sea, and many sail were already bowling landward inside of Plum Island bar. Presently the white sails of a schooner standing out in mid-channel as though bound up the river came plainly into view. On and on she came straight for the bridge.

She was not a vessel that any of the little group with whom the bridge-tender had been talking had any recollection of having previously seen. She blows her horn as a signal to the draw-tender to open the bridge, and the crowd pass down upon the bridge to see who the stranger is and where she is bound. As she came near the bridge she was hailed to this effect, when the answer came back: Schooner Cordelia, Capt. Trefethern, bound to Haverhill.

The coincidence was startling to all except the bridge-tender, who seemed to regard it as a matter of course. The schooner passed on with a still freshening breeze, the bridge was closed and the group returned to the shady retreat they had left on her approach.

Again seated the bridge-tender was urged to tell the story of his dream. It was not a dream, said he and yet I could not say I was broad awake. I certainly was not asleep, but the incident of seeing the schooner Cordelia, precisely as we saw her just now, was as vividly impressed upon me then as the fact that I have seen her now is fixed in my mind. Beyond this I know nothing. I shall see the Cordelia again, and then you will know if my convictions or prediction comes true.

The next day, the same group, with one or two sceptical additions, met at the bridge-tender's. The tide was at its height and if the Cordelia was to fulfil the prediction she would soon be seen rounding the point, a few miles up the river.

The wind had changed and was blowing seaward, a good eight mile breeze. Presently, the bridge-tender exclaimed: There she comes! Her topsail is just visible above the hill.

The group watched her as she became more and more distinct until her whole outline came plainly into view. She was speedily at the point to demand an open way, and as before the whole group accompanied the bridge-tender on his rounds of duty. The bridge was opened and the schooner passed. As her rigging cleared the railing the bridge-tender closed the bridge, and walking a few steps, seemed to stumble and fall. His companions thought him feigning in order to frighten them, but on going to him found he was dead.

RED STAR COUGH CURE

TRADE MARK.

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

ST. JACOBS OIL

TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain

Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc. PRICE, FIFTY CENTS. AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston,

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts,

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.

NATURE'S CURE FOR CONSTIPATION, A Reliable Remedy For Sick Stomach, Torpid Liver, Billious Headache, Costiveness, TARRANT'S EFFERVESCENT SELTZER APERIENT.

It is certain in its effects. It is gentler in its action. It can be relied upon to cure, and it cures by assisting, not by outraging, nature. Do not take violent purgatives yourselves or allow your children to take them; always use this elegant pharmaceutical preparation which has been for more than forty years a public favorite. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Sick-Headache, AND DYSPEPSIA.

STARCHINE Wonderful Reformation in Laundry Starch. Starching, Ironing and Polishing made easy.

Requires no cooking. Saves time, labor and money. Gives Troy laundry finish and gloss. Equal to over two pounds of ordinary starch. Ask your grocer for STARCHINE. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. SAMPLE FREE for letter stamp.

The Geo. Fox Starch Co. Cincinnati, O. Oldest Starch Factory in U. S. Established 1824.

WANTED.—I want you to do parlor work for me at your own home; plenty work; good pay; $1 per piece; all materials free. A. LOVE, Cleveland, Ohio.

Saving Institutions.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

WARREN

Five Cents Savings Bank

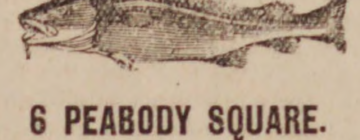
RUFUS H. BROWN, President.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treasurer.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Dividends are payable semi-annually, on the third Wednesday of May and November.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET



6 PEABODY SQUARE.

LOBSTERS.

LOBSTERS.

LOBSTERS.

Boiled Fresh every day.

A fine assortment of Ocean Lake and River Fresh Fish.

A full line of Salt, Smoked and Pickled Fish.

R. F. DODGE.

Arthur Elliott & Co.,

DEALERS IN

FRESH AND SALT FISH.

Lobster and Fancy Fish in their seasons.

A share of public patronage solicited.

Caller Street,

PEABODY.

CROSS,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY

64 MARKET STREET, LYNN

Express.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at			9 47 A. M
Freight	"	at	5 00 P. M
Express	" Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight	" "	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Aparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

Dr. F. G. Bates,

DENTIST,

218 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

OVER MERRILL & MACKINTIRE'S,

All Work Warranted.

mch 31—1y

$1

13 WEEKS,

The POLICE GAZETTE will be mailed, securely wrapped, to any address in the United States for 3 months on receipt of

ONE DOLLAR.

Liberal discount allowed to postmasters, agents and clubs. Sample copies mailed free. Address all orders to

RICHARD K. FOX,
FRANKLIN SQUARE, N. Y.

Bedding Plants

and Coleus.

Fine lot of Fushias and other Plants.

WARD'S GREENHOUSES.

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM
Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square.

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM.

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

PEABODY.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

EDWIN B. BALCOM,

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very best Tobacco in the market, we feel justified in saying he

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol Cuba brands

FOR A 5C SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

SHORTHAND Text-book and Instruction by mail to master it, given by the author of the system for $6. Most popular and easy method. Endorsed by 1000 graduates and professional stenographers. Book alone $1. D. L. Scott Browne, 23 Clinton Place, New York, N. Y.

GOOD SALARIES or Commission to Men and Women to act as local or traveling Agents. No experience needed Steady work! JAMES E. WHITNEY, Nurseryman Rochester, N. Y. (Mention this paper.)

je 8—3m

AYER'S SUGAR CATHARTIC COATED PILLS

CURE

Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine cathartic, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. E. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to violent Headaches, arising from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. About a year ago I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Hannah, Gormley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last thirty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, that I was obliged to give up work. After being under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was soon enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

Ayer's Pills,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,

ACCORDEONS

HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

ONE THOUSAND!

Of the good people of Salem and vicinity moved bya sense of the great importance of the New Discovery to the whole human family have reported at our office that

BATTIS'

Modified Extract

— OF —

Denicotized Tobacco

Has cured and will cure the following diseases:

RHUEMATISM, NEURALGIA,
HEADACHE,
DYSPEPSIA,
ERYSIPELAS,
SPRAINS,
ROSE CANCER,
SORE EYES,
KIDNEY COMPL'TS
DIPTHERIA,
PNEUMONIA.
COLIC and CRAMP,
CHOLERA MORBUS,
TOOTHACHE,
BRUISES,
SCARLET FEVER,
BRIGHT'S DISEASE,
SPINAL TROUBLE.

All of these it will cure and has cured, if human testimony is worth anything. Any information as to above will be cheerfully furnished.

J. H. BATTIS,

Sole Proprietor and Manufacturer.

28 & 30 Front St., Salem.

PRICE 75c. A BOTTLE.

apr 14—3m

HAY!
HAY!
HAY!

10 cars arrived to-day for sale cheap. Fancy White Middlings, Bran, Fine Feed, Oat Meal, Ground Oats, Cotton Seed Wheat, Screenings, Barley, Fancy le lip Barley, Oats, Mixed Oats, White Oats, Haxall and St. Louis Flour. Also other kind of feed for Horses and Cows in great variety. Please call and examine our stock and prices before buying elsewhere.

J. V. & J. HANSON
2 & 4 FRONT ST, SALEM,
ALSO AT
Peabody Square & Danvers Iron Works.

F. D. TARLTON,

DRY GOOD

BARGAINS! BARGAINS!

25udozen Ladies' colored skirts at 25 cents, marked down from 50 to close.

20 dozen Ladies' Lisle Gloves 10 cents, worth 25.

Ladies' and Misses' Cotton Hosiery, 6 cents to 50 cents per pair.

Parasols and Jerseys in great variety.

F. D. TARLTON,

42 MAIN STREET, PEABODY.

A FEW CUT PRICES.

Men's Best Hand Sewed Strap,	Regular	$4 50.	Our Cut Price	$3.50.
Men's Best Hand Sewed Lace Oxford,	Regular	4 75.	Our Cut Price	3.65.
Men's Best Hand Sewed Button Oxford	Regular	5 00.	Our Cut Price	3.75.
Men's Best H. Sewed Cong. But. & Bal.	Regular	5.50.	Our Cut Price	4.00.

The above most excellent bargains will be immediately appreciated.

More Fat Things For You.

Ladies' Glove Top Button Worked Hole,	Regular Price,	$1.25.	Cut Price .75c.
Ladies' Serge Congress,	Regular Price,	.75.	Cut Price .40c.
Ladies' Kid Croquet Slippers,	Regular Price,	.65.	Cut Price .35c.
Ladies' Kid Opera Slippers,	Regular Price,	.65.	Cut Price .37c.
Misses Goat Button, Spring Heel Size 11 to 2,	Regular Price,	1.25.	Cut Price .85c.
Misses Grain Button, Heeled, Size 11 to 2,	Regular Price,	1.10.	Cut Price .69c.
Child's Kid Button, Spring Heel, 5 to 8,	Regular Price,	.65.	Cut Price .37c.
Man's Tap Sole Bal., Solid leather,	Regular Price,	1.25.	Cut Price .75c.
Boys' Tap Sole Bal., Solid leather,	Regular Price,	1.00.	Cut Price .65c.

At 38 Munroe St.,

(M. E. TUCKER'S BUILDING.)

WELLMAN OSBORNE.

Hussey

CRAYON ARTIST & PHOTOGRAPHER;

252 Essex Street, Salem.

Having refitted and refurnished our gallery with new Lenses, Cameras, Backgrounds, Accessories, etc., etc., and having one of the largest and finest operating rooms and skylights in the country, we now have facilities second to none for doing first class work in all branches of Photography.

We have just purchased the finest instruments obtainable for making pictures from 8x10 to 24x24 (full life size) direct from the sitter, and make them either bust, half or full length, or groups. To introduce them we shall make them very low for three months.

We have special facilities for copying old and faded Photographs, Daguerreotypes, Ambrotypes, Tintypes, etc. Before giving your pictures to agents, come to us, and see our samples and get our prices. You can save money and at the same time get better work and not risk the breaking or losing of your pictures in the mails.

We make a specialty of Life Size Free Hand Crayons, made from any kind of picture or from life. One of the advantages, not to speak of the superior artistic qualities, of free hand work over the mechanically finished solars, is that any changes from the original, no matter how great, can be easily made, whereas in the finished solar but very slight changes can be made, We can furnish duplictaes from any negative ever taken by N. C. Bosuley.

Call and see what we are doing, all will be treated courtesy whether anythiug is desired ornot

Every one who has visited that historic town of Salem, Massachusetts, remembers the queer museum in the Essex Institute, in which are preserved an extraordinary variety of curiosities from the ends of the earth, the relics of the early seamen of two generations ago, whose adventures and heroisms gave a glory to American shipping in East Indian trade and in the war of 1812 that has sadly faded since. These "Old Salem Sea-captains" are the subject of an excellent article in the September Harper's, by Thomas Wentworth Higginson, whose narrative is none the less entertaining because of the part taken by his ancestors in those stirring events. "These men were the humbler Drakes, the Cavandishes of their day; they carried the American flag when it was an unknown ensign; they voyaged from distant island on to island without chart or light-house; they made and lost great fortunes—made them commonly for others, lost them for themselves. During the Revolution Salem alone sent out 158 armed vessels, carrying in all more than 2,000 guns. They took 445 prizes, 54 out of their own fleet being lost. The loss of their vessels was to be expected, but the loss from history of all detailed memorial of these daring men is more serious." Their fearless commercial enterprise is traced from before the Revolution, through the scenes of antipodal traffic, among the unrivalled deeds of prowess in the two wars with England, and into the early Federal politics.

Charles Stewart Parnell is the subject of a brilliant article in the September number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly, illustrated by a series of exquisite pictures of Avondale, the home of the greatest Irish leader after O'Connell in this century. Col. Charles Chaille Long, the well-known explorer, treats us to an off-hand sketch of experience in Burmah. Edmond Mallet, the leader of French Canadians in this country, tells the story of "The early days of Montreal," and enriches it with attractive illustrations. "Foot-prints of Jeanne d'Arc" takes us to the scenes connected with her wonderful career; and the American Giacomelli, W. H. Gibson, tells of "Some Common Dangerous plants." The number is a most attractive one, full of attractively old facts and charming pictures.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for September, opens with the second installment of Mr. Powell's interesting "Leaves from My Life," with portraits of Robert Southey, William Wordsworth, S. T. Coleridge, Leigh Hunt and Miss Langdon. A very interesting article is, "Why do Church-bells Annoy?" by Dr. S. Austen Pearce, Mus. Doc. Oxon, which is illustrated with no less than fourteen cuts. "Dilettante Days" comes to an end in this number, which those who have followed the author in this delightful story of travel will regret. How much of the story is true, and how much is fiction, the author has not revealed. There are two views, exterior and interior, of the new St. Thomas's Church at Mamaroneck, N. Y., and a view of the Russian Church erected in memory of Vladimie, a Russian prince and saint. There are numerous short articles, poems and mid-summer illustrations, making up a bright and interesting number of this favorite family magazine.

The September number of that fascinating magazine, The Young Ladies Journal, has been received from the International News Company of New York. Besides the usual profusion of new styles in dress patterns and fancy work there is the gigantic supplement full of the latest fashions. There is also a colored plate containing summer suits and wraps. A third supplement is a colored design for slippers and braces in embroidery. The literary part of the magazine is equal to the others and in this issue is a new story by Dorothy Lancaster entitled "A Tempting Offer." You can obtain this magazine of the Peabody News Company.

A better number of the Atlantic than that for September the regular reader of the magazines will seldom find. One of the first things the reader will turn to is a story by Rebecca Harding Davis, entitled "Mademoiselle Joan," a pretty sketch of Canadian life, with a touch of the supernatural in it. Mr. Bradford Torrey, the author of "Birds in the Bush," has a paper on the "Confessions of a Bird's-Nest Hunter," written in his usual genial manner. Besides these articles there is a clever study, "The Saloon in Politics," which shows what a factor the saloon is in our political questions, written by George Frederick Parsons. Mr. Frank Gaylord Cook contributes a paper on "The Laws Partiality to Married Women." Both these articles will interest the student of social questions. For the student of history Mr. Fiske's article, "The Paper Money Craze of 1786," will prove agreeable reading; and, last but not least, of Henry James' powerful story, "The Princess Casamassima," now drawing to an exciting climax. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

The most popular American novelist is Rev. E. P. Roe, of whose books hundreds of thousands of copies have been sold. His "Opening a Chestnut Burr," "Barriers Burned Away," and other books have a world-wide reputation. His latest work, "The Young Hornets," is now printed in the Boston Daily Globe.

Fine manners are like personal beauty, a letter of credit everywhere. —Bartol.

To be capable of respect at the present day is well nigh as rare as to be worthy of it.—Sexton.

SALEM SHOE STORE,

278 ESSEX STREET SALEM,

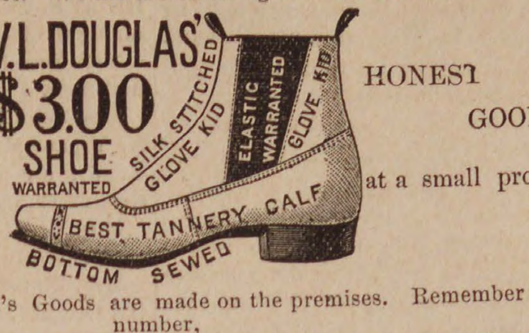
Invite their Peabody customers to inspect their elegant line of

CANVASS AND LAWN TENNIS GOODS

At Reasonable Prices. We are the Salem agents or the celebrated

Button Lae & Congress

W.L.DOUGLAS' $3.00 SHOE WARRANTED



HONEST GOODS at a small profit.

Our Men's and Children's Goods are made on the premises. Remember the number,

278 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

Opposite Packard's Furniture Store. T. A. CORSON, Agent.

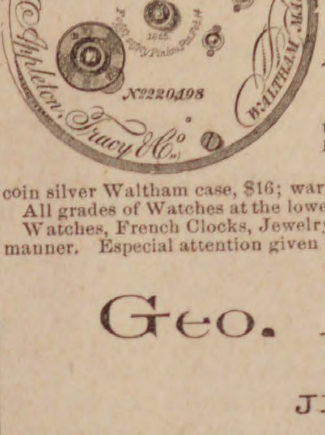
mch 13—1y

WATCHES!

BARGAINS

— IN —

American Watch Co., Waltham and Elgin Watches.



Appleton, Tracey & Co.,

Full Jeweled, adjusted, chronometer balance, patent regulator and breguet hair spring A very fine timekeeper, at a great reduction from regular prices.

The reliable P. S. BARTLETT WATCH, in a 3-oz. coin silver Waltham case, $16; warranted perfect in every respect.

All grades of Watches at the lowest prices.

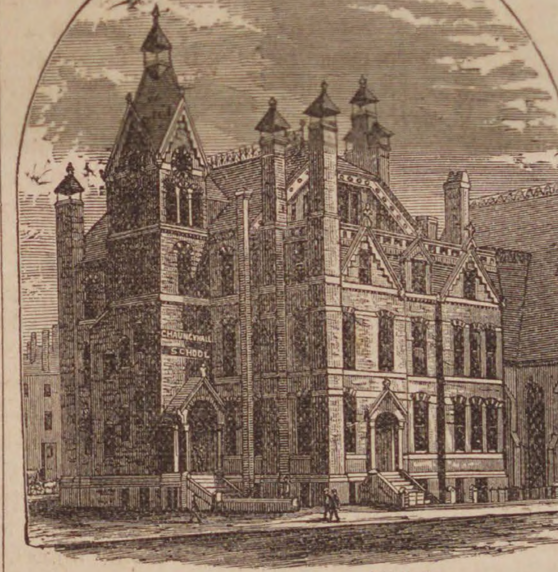
Watches, French Clocks, Jewelry, Eye Glasses, etc., repaired in prompt and superio manner. Especial attention given to cleaning and adjusting fine Watches.

Geo. A. Collins,

JEWELER,

26 MAIN STREET, PEABODY AND 198 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Chauncy-Hall School.



PARENTS desiring for their boys and girls the personal attention of private schools and the discipline and varied associates of public schools, will find both combined here.

The New Catalogue gives a full account of the great Care for Health; the thorough preparation for College, for Business, and the Mass. Institute of Technology; the facilities for Special Students; and the unusual arrangements for Young Children.

Graduates of High Schools often take advantage of the opportunities offered by Chauncy Hall for elective studies, to do advanced work in languages or other branches. There is no more charge for several classes in any study than for one class.

The school building, Boylston Street, near Dartmouth, is in the most elegant part of Boston, and is easily accessible. Horse cars pass the door.

[ESTABLISHED IN 1828.]

259 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

(Opposite the Art Museum).

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

CREAM HOME MADE BREAD

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich ride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamenta work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty.

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

COMER'S

Commercial College,

BOSTON, MASS.

Best Equipped and Most Successful in America

Re-opens Sept. 1, 1886, for the 46*th Year.*

The course of study is elective and embraces the following subjects: Book-keeping; Penmanship; Commercial Arithmetic; Law and Correspondence; Short-Hand; Type-Writing; the English Branches. Students may begin at any time, receive INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION, and progress according to ability. Separate department for ladies.

Graduates Aided to Employment.

PUBLIC SCHOOL GRADUATES take our course as a finishing off for their other school work, before going into business.

Our Special Three Months' Course

is taken by persons whose time and means are limited.

THE COLLEGE BULLETIN, (Illustrated) gives full particulars and will be mailed free upon application. For further particulars address or call upon

C. E. COMER, 666 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

NOTICE OUR

REMOVAL.

P. Hartigan & Son,

HORSE SHOERS,

Have removed from the rear of Kinsman's Block to

184 BRIDGE ST.,

Nearly opp. St. Peter street, Salem.

OLD ESTABLISHED CONCERN,

P. Hartigan, Senior, has had 30 years' experience.

N. B. Personal attention given to Horses that interfere or over-reach.

☞ Treatment of CORNS and QUARTER CRACKS a specialty.

All our work is guaranteed.

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD On and after Monday, June 28. 1889 trains will run as follows.—)

EASTERN DIVISION;

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, A. M., 1 55, 3 27, 5 08, 6 47 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 6 10, 8, 10 55 A. M., 12 M., 3, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M. Sunday, 9 27, A. M. Return 5 45 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6,30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48, 7 51, 8 13, 8 34, does not stop at Lynn, 8 43, 8 58, 9 25, 9 55, 10.48 A M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 12, 3 35, 4 05, 4 21, 5 18, 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 8 55, 9, 9 53 P.M. Sundays, 5.37, 8 45, 9 35, 10 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3, 5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48, 7 51, 8 43, 8 58, 10 48 A. M., 12 M, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 35, 4 21, 5 18, 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 9, 9 53, P. M. Sundays, 8 45, 9 35, 11 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3, 5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Beverly, 6 53, 8 13, 8 45, 10 44, 11 20 A. M., 12 02, 1 05, 2 27, 2 47, 3 56, 4 05, 5 12, 5 35, 5 57, 6 36, 7 05, 7 15, 7 45, 10 10, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M. 2 19, 7 17, 8 07 P. M

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—6 53, 8 45, 11 20 A. M., 2 47, 4 05, 5 35, 7 05, 7 45, 10 10 P. M Sunday, 7 17 P.M.

Essex, 8 13 A. M., 1 05, 3 56, 6 36 P. M.

Ipswich, 8 13, 9 35, 10 44 A. M., 1 05, 2 27, 3 57, 5 12, 6 36, 7 15 P. M, Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

Newburyport, 8 13, 9 35, 10 00, 10 44 A.M. 1 05, 2 02, 2 27, 3 56, 5 12, 6 36, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Newburyport—4 45, 6 30, 7, 8, 8 13, 9 07, 11 40 A.M 2 35, 3 30, 3 35, 5 43, 7 20, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.

Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 15, 8 31, 9 25, A. M. 12 02, 3 53, 6 06, 7 26, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A.M., 5 06 P. M.

Essex—7, A. M., 12 05, 5 40 P. M.

Rockport—6 05, 7 20, 8 35, 10 A. M., 1 15, 4 55, 6 40, 9 P.M. Sundays—7 50, 9 55 A. M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 29, 8 44, 10 08 A M, 1 25, 5 03, 6 48, 9 09 P M. Sundays—8, 10 03A. M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 42, 8 56, 10 21 A. M., 1 39, 5 17, 7 01, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14, 10 16 A. M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 50, 9 16, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 21, 12 40, 1 58, 4 13, 5 35, 6 25, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 9 43 P. M. Sundays 8 35 10 35 A. M. 2 52, 5 30, 9 10 P. M.

Swampscott,—6 44, 8 50, 10 36, 11 26, 11 54 A. M., 12 36, 2 19, 3 28, 4 31, 6 20, 6 56, 8 32, 10. 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 12 A.M., 2 02, 5 52, 6 27, 7 09, 7 59, 10 12 P. M.

Lynn—6 40, 8 02, 8 35, 8 46, 9 10, 9 25, 9 51, 10 32, 11 10, 11 23, 11 51, A. M., 12 33, 12 55, 1 52, 2 15, 3 25, 3 45, 3 55, 4 28, 5 03, 5 24, 5 45, 6 16, 6 25, 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 27, 9 57, 10 45, 11 45 P.M. Sundays 8 52, 11 07 A. M., 1 57, 5 48, 6 24, 7 05, 7 54, 10 07, P. M.

Boston—6 10, 7 30, 8, 8 10, 8 45, 9, 9 30, 10, 10 45, 10 55, 11 45, A. M. 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 40, 2 15, 3, 3 20, 3 30, 4, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40, 7 10, 7 50, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 30 A. M., 1 20, 5 10, 5 45, 6 25, 7, 7 15, 9 30 P.M.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 7 55, 8 40, 9 30, 10 50 A M 1 05, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 5 55, 7 20, 10 on Saturdays P M. Sundays, 9 10, A. M. 2 15, 7 20, 9 15 P. M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15, 9 10, 10 15 A M, 12 45, 2 3 25, 4 55, 5 40, 6 20, 7 45 on Saturday, P M. Sundays, 8 30, A. M., 12 50, 5 25, 8 45 P. M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 35, 8 53, 10 15 A. M., 1 52, 4 48 P. M.

Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A M, 3 21, 4 15, 5 55 P. M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 12 A M, 12 05, 3 55, 4 39, 6 09 P. M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 21 A M, 12 14, 4 05, 4 46, 6 18 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 28 A M. 12 22, 4 12, 4 53, 6 26 P. M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lowell—7 A. M., 4 43, 6 P.M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 AM, 4 43, 6 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A M, 3 37, 4 43, 6 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 08, 11 35 A M 12 47, 3 37, 4 43, 5 20, 6, 6 42 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 35 A. M., 12 15, 5 10 P. M Sundays 8 A M

Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 10 12 A M, 1 02, 5 58 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M

Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A M, 1 30, 4 45, 6 22, P M. Sundays 9 02A M

Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 8 22, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A. M. 1 46, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 38, P M. Sundays 9 18 A M

Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A M, 1 55, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 47 P M. Sundays 9 27 A M

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston Je. 28. 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8 30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9.00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3.30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS fo Hartford, New Haven, Jersey City, Trenton Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for Ne York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St. or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON
A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE,

June, 21, 1886.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.30, 3, 3.30, 4, (Express) 4.30, 5, (Express), 5.30, 6, (Express) §6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 9.50, 10.50, 11.15 P. M

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, (Express) 7.30 (Express), 8 (Express), 8.30 (Express), 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.30 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.30, 3, 3.30, 4, 4.30, 5, 5.30, 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 9.40, 10.15, P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 9, 9.30 P. M.

§Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. C. A. HAMMOND Sup

THE

WASHINGTON LUNCH ROOM,

Post Office Building,

SALEM.

Steaks and Chops served in first-class style.

Oysters and Salads a specialty.

ALDEN THOMAS, - Prop.

je 9—3m

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

Messrs. Editors:—Have you ever been berrying? I have. One of those delightfully cool afternoons which we have been having lately I borrowed a two quart covered basket and a quart tin pail and started forth for pastures green to try my luck. Shall I ever forget under what favorable auspices I started out? My course lay up on the Andover Turnpike. I waited till a milk wagon that was going to Middleton came along and then rode to my destination. Now, gentle reader, as I come to the most interesting part of the narrative and recite what was to me a valuable experience, look your closest attention. You may be in my position some time. If you ever are caught as I was, come round and see me and we will talk it over.

Well, after riding a few miles up Andover Turnpike, I came to a house where I was told, by paying five cents, I might go into their pastures to pick berries. I alighted from the milk wagon and went round to the back door. A woman answered my knock to whom I stated my purpose. She took in the whole situation at once. Her face lighted up with one of those large, sweet, sad smiles that sometimes is found playing upon a man's face when an old maid aunt has suddenly died leaving him $2,000.

I say this woman took in the whole situation at once. She knew I belonged to the great army of the uninitiated. She must have admired my bright twelve and a half cent neck-tie, my newly laundried collar and "biled" shirt.

For five cents I learned I could go into the pastures and pick a quart or a bushel of berries. I plainly stated I would be contented with filling my basket and pail. I was bewildered with so much generosity on the part of my country friend, for I thought she must be a friend to me to be willing to let me pick a bushel for five cents.

She told me to go in at the second pair of bars on the opposite side of the road, so having deposited a nickel in her hand she left me, her face bathed in a heavenly smile. I went out through the gate to the berry pasture.

I crawled through the bars and started for the bushes. I was all alone. None to disturb me. No cows were grazing there. The birds sang merrily, the sky was clear, the air was cool and I was just in the mood for berrying.

My little pail strapped to my waist and with basket in hand I wandered in search of berries with bounding heart. Right here let me say there were plenty of bushes, beautiful looking bushes, there are no better bushes in the country. But as for berries, either I was too late or the berries had come too soon. A very few dried up huckleberries on an average of one and a half on a bush in shady, neglected spots could be found on bushes that were as scattered as meteoric stones. In less than an hour I wandered up and down the little pasture and at last by accident I came upon a high blueberry bush with a few green berries on it. I nearly fainted when I thought how near I came to missing it. I picked two or three dozen berries and with what few huckleberries I had with rare good luck come upon, I left that pasture with a grand total of one hundred and twenty-nine berries and a little square backed bug which stood as sentinel among them and saw that none got away.

My friend, it all comes over me now. I understand that beautiful angelic smile which stole over my country-friend's face. I would have given her five cents more if she would have come and taken me out of the pasture before I had walked two miles about in it in a fruitless search for berries. Picking berries like every other kind of business needs experience. I have had the experience. If you ever go berrying come round and see me. I will give you some of my experience if you will give me some of your berries.

JOHN BRAINERD.

MESSRS. EDITORS: — How many times will our people be "jewed" by travelling snides who offer a good deal for a little money but never keep their word? Early last spring a fellow made the rounds of this town and secured subscriptions to what he claimed was a business directory of the retail trade of New England. He claimed it would be a classified directory of the leading business houses. Subscribers were to pay 60 cents each and sign a contract to take one. A short time ago the agent was around delivering them. They contained only a list of firms taken from the Boston Directory and such outside firms as would pay them to advertise them. Several local firms were "gulled" into advertising on the cover. As the whole circulation was less than a hundred, their money was thrown away. Several persons when they looked it over refused to take it and were obliged to put up with the threats and insults of the agent.

PUBLIC.

MESSRS EDITORS:—As one who has been interested in the success of the Lovering Pension bill I have watched with some interest to learn whether the action of the meeting at San Francisco, when it was declared "if the Government has erred in the matter of pensions, it has been on the side of excessive generosity" has had the effect of giving that movement a black-eye or not. Will some of the local parties in town who have been "taking it up" let the public hear from them? and whether it is proposed to continue the fight for an $8.00 universal pension?

INTERESTED.

SPARKS.

Last Wednesday, the weather was all that could be desired by the members of Steamer Company No. 2, it being the day they had set for their second annual trip on the steamer Empire State. The party numbered twenty-six in all, consisting of the members of the company, with engineer Summer, fireman Childs and driver Tanch, Engineers Johnson, Southwick, Tibbetts and Reed, Honorary members D. S. Littlefield, Chas. G. Folsom and D. B. Lord as invited, guests and some half a dozen other friends. They left Peabody at 8 o'clock for Boston, repairing to Battery wharf where the boat was taken for Provincetown. The boys scattered about the boat enjoying themselves in various ways. Fine concerts were given both forenoon and afternoon by the Empire State band and Boardman's orchestra. Dinner was served the party at 1 o'clock, gotten up in the usual good style of the management of the boat, and the hungry firemen did full justice to the viands set before them. A landing was made at Provincetown a little before 2 o'clock, and one hour was allowed to go on shore and see the sights of the old-fashioned town. One party of six chartered an ancient equipage which was drawn up at the head of the wharf, being induced to do so by the promise of a full view of the town and numerous funny stories by the veteran driver "old Deacon Snow." The deacon said he was the oldest deacon in the town. He had lived there for 37 years, and horse and carriage had been his constant companions. He drove the party through all the streets and lanes of the town, regaling his patrons with some decidedly shady stories for a deacon. The different engine houses were visited, one in particular being noticeable for the neatness of the machine and its handsome hall. This was the house of Excelsior No. 4, a Hunneman machine. The department consists of four hand engines and one hook and ladder truck manned by 400 men under the charge of Chief Hilliard, one of the best known fire chiefs in Massachusetts. The visit to Provincetown was enjoyed by everyone and was one of the best features of the trip. The boat left Provincetown at 3 o'clock and after a very pleasant sail of nearly four hours landed the party in Boston a little before 7 o'clock. Some of the members stopped to the theatres. Many amusing episodes transpired during the day, one being the introduction, by the joker of the company, of clerk Reith to a granger who was found on the boat, as the chairman of the Peabody Selectmen, a fact that spread around among the passengers on the boat, and Johnny was soon the object of much attention from parties who had heard of the town of Peabody during the riots. The day was on the whole a red letter day to Steamer 2, and will long be remembered by all present. The company are now talking of taking a trip of several days next season, probably a trip to New York, Coney Island and up the Hudson.

New gongs have been put on Hose 4 and Steamer 2, during the past week.

The seventh annual convention of the State Firemen's Association will be held in Pittsfield for three days, commencing Aug. 31. Speakers and topics have been selected, ex Chief-Engineer Macintosh having been assigned the following topic: "The merits and demerits of direct pumping over gravity (or otherwise), in an efficient water supply."

Charles A. Enos, engineer of Steamer No. 1, was united in marriage, last Wednesday evening, to Miss Olive Buxton, daughter of George Buxton of this town. The ceremony was performed at Asbury Grove by Rev. Geo. A. Phinney, and the young couple started on a short wedding tour in New Hampshire. Charlie is a general favorite with the firemen in this department and all wish him a long life of happiness and prosperity. The new couple will reside on Park street.

The whistle on the pumping station will be raised to-day, and when the work is completed the whistle will stand 18 1-2 feet above the ridge pole of the boiler room.

Captain George O. Pierce is slowly recovering from his sickness.

Three non-union men arrived in town, Monday. There was no outbreak.

What has become of our new Selectman? He was not at the meeting Saturday and has not been around town since.

PERSONAL.

Daniel Woodman and son Henry of the Port have been spending their vacation in Denmark, Me., and also among the mountains in New Hampshire.

Mr. R. H. Gowing, book-keeper for Mr. A. B. Clark, is spending a week among the Mountains of N. H.

Mrs. Fred B. Thomas is on a visit to Attleboro.

Mrs. John Bell and son, of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. James Bell, of Orange, N. J., are at the residence of Mr. Geo. Clerk, on Elm street.

Miss Minnie Nowell, of Merrimackport, is visiting in Peabody.

Mrs. Timothy F. Bradley started for Old Orchard, yesterday, where she will spend a week or two.

Mrs. C. A. Warner has gone to Nova Scotia.

Miss Alice H. Nelson was registered at Hotel Naumkeag, Oak Bluffs, last week and Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Blaney were at the Summit House, Mount Washington.

Mr. Emory W. Myers, book-keeper for J. B. Thomas, is spending a few days at Attleboro.

Miss Rosa Campion, who has been attending school in Cincinnati, has returned home.

Mr. Fred G. Farrington is at Epping, N. H.

Mr. Peter Sim will sail for Scotland, to-morrow.

Mr. Samuel Bruce will probably accept a situation offered him in California.

Miss Alice Maud Klein, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is the guest of Mrs. E. H. Collins.

Mr. William Lord spent a few days last week, at Cottage City.

Mr. Frank G. Newhall, cashier of the Brighton Bank, was visiting in town yesterday.

Mr. Geo. H. Wilson has gone to the Weirs, N. H., and Warren Bushby is taking his place as driver for Geo. W. Pepper.

Mrs. E. C. Loring of Red Wing, Minn., is dangerously ill. She formerly lived on Foster street.

The W. C. T. U. will conduct the services at the Alms House next Sunday. A barge leaves the square at 9.30.

A party of bad boys destroyed a lot of choice plants at the residence of A. E. Wells on Tremont street during his absence.

Mr. Geo. H. Jacobs the clothing dealer is suffering from a severe eye trouble. He can use his eyes but a very little.

Mr. E. A. Gilman formerly Secretary of the Eastern Associates has retired from that position and taken a clerkship with the company.

Mr. P. J. Lyons will close his barber shop at 11 o'clock on Saturday nights and open at 7 o'clock Sunday mornings in the future.

It is reported that Mr. H. N. McCully has been obliged to have his hand, which was severely injured a short time ago, amputated. He is in Florida.

A loaded bark car broke away at Proctor's tannery last Monday and jumped the track in the new bark shed striking their large timbers, breaking them off.

The non-union men who were employed at Winchester & Son's—Polish Jews—struck last Monday morning for an increase of pay from $10 to $12 a week. That's a pretty how d'y do.

If you desire a first-class shoe polish use the "Myrbane," the quickest polish ever used. It blacks readily over oil and is warranted strictly uninjurious 5, 10 and 15 cts. per box at Nugents Shoe Store.

Last Saturday was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Benj. F. Upton, and their friends tendered them a pleasant surprise at their house on Central street, and they were made the recipients of a large number of beautiful presents.

Nugent Bros. have marked their whole stock of boots and shoes at prices that must insure trade for the next ten days.

The firm of Wm. G. Webber & Co., there being several competitors, were awarded and have just completed the carpeting of the church of the Immaculate Conception, in Salem. The carpet is a fine Brussels and a very neat and appropriate pattern.

We made a call on brother Waldron of the Fairhaven Star, last week, and found him prospering. He has now removed his composing room up stairs, occupying the entire building,—having fitted up a private sanctum for his own use. The Star is appreciated by Fairhaven people—which we are glad to know. We also visited brother Strahan of the Cottage City Herald, which is published semi-weekly, and has a large patronage among the islanders. The Herald has recently come under the management of Mr. Strahan, who is making a very interesting and readable paper. Cottage City has been a success this year, and plans for a regular series of sports, next year, under a Carnival Club, just formed, are being perfected.

If you are in want of anything in the line of Furnishing Goods call and get prices, which you will find the lowest in the market, quality considered, at W. S. Neal & Co's., 228 and 230 Essex Street, Salem.

The Union Club will make its annual summer excursion to New Hampshire on Tuesday, Sept. 7. Dover, Alton Bay, the sail over Winnipesaukee, Centre Harbor, Wolfboro, the Crawford, Mt. Washington, the Glen Jackson and the Intervale will be included in the trip.

A good many people are prejudiced against green corn, as an article of diet, believing its use to be promotive of bowel troubles. Nothing could be farther from the truth. Properly prepared and eaten, corn is a positive cure for diarrhœa. Plucked when at the proper stage, well cooked and each row of grains cut through the center before eaten, no vegetable production is more wholesome or nutritive than corn. The splitting of the grains renders it easily digestible, while at the same time freeing the starch and other elements which are very soothing to the bowels. No article of summer diet deserves to be held in higher esteem, and few are cheaper than corn, when at its very best. It is a production peculiar to the United States, and is not esteemed at its real value.

The strawberry plants offered this fall by E. & C. Woodman, Danvers, are in extra fine condition and can be planted now, thereby securing a partial growth this season, bearing fruit the following June sufficient to more than return the original outlay. They are all pot grown plants and can be planted either in dry weather or otherwise with no fear of wilting and loss. Good deep, rich soil and thorough cultivation are requisite for best success in strawberry culture. They have six or seven of the leading varieties that thrive and do well in this locality, and parties intending to plant a strawberry bed, large or small, would do well to call at their green-houses in Danvers before purchasing elsewhere. By securing these plants so near home, avoiding the long transportation and consequent injury that many incur by sending their orders to other states, much better satisfaction can be given and fully as good, we think, if not better, plants can be obtained. They would be pleased to mail their printed circular to any applying. See adv.

A Quaker Maiden's Logic.

Oh, if I only had a frock as blue as the summer's sky!
With a sash all soft and silky of every brilliant dye!
And a hat just heavy laden with all the flowers that grow,
I'd be the happiest maiden in Quakerdom, I know!

As I slowly combed my curls by the looking-glass to-day,
Mother gently chided me in her own peaceful way,
"Ah, Ruth, my little daughter! Thee must think thyself full fair,
Thee tak'st full thrice as long's thee need'st to simply smooth thy hair.

"I fear me much thou dost forget that life is short and vain,
And days for work are passing which may never come again.
Then, Ruth, my child, remember that the fairest far are those Whose lives are filled with goodness from childhood till the close."

I cannot understand it, why all the world's so bright,
Why gay colors on a maiden are anything but right.
If God has made us Quakers, why green trees instead of gray,
And why these flowers so brilliant a-blooming all the day?

If God had meant me to be drab, why are my eyes so blue,
My cheeks are red as poppies, my hair the corn's gold hue.
I cannot understand it! Perhaps I will some day,
When I'm as old as granny, and my yellow hair is gray.

The Diet of Strong Men.

The Roman soldiers, who built such wonderful roads and carried a weight of armor and luggage that would crush the average farm hand, lived on coarse brown bread and sour wine. They were temperate in diet, and regular and constant in exercise. The Spanish peasant works every day and dances half the night, yet eats only his black bread, onion and watermelon. The Smyrna porter eats only a little fruit and some olives, yet he walks off with his load of 800 pounds. The coolie, fed on rice, is more active and can endure more than the negro fed on fat meat. The heavy work of the world is not done by men who eat the greatest quantity. Moderation in diet seems to be the prerequisite of endurance.

Marriages.

In Danvers, Aug 17, by W. S. Lovejoy, Esq., Mr. George A. Downs to Sarah Sheldon, both of Sanford, Me.

In Beverly, Aug 11, by Rev. Mr. Butler, Mr. David Arthur Lee to Miss Winnifred Trask; 17th, Mr. William Frank Works to Miss Edna Augusta Groce.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Aug. 19, Annie M., daughter of Theodore G., and Ann Lee, 11 mos., 2 dys.

20, Lawrence, son of the late Lawrence and Honora Cuddire, 2 mos. 23 dys.

21, Ellen E., wife of Richard Lyons, aged 34 yrs. 10 mos. 2 dys.

In Danvers, Mary Elizabeth, daughter of James F. and Hannah M. Brown, 3 mos. 15 days.

In Salem, Aug. 19, Mrs. Nancy B., wife of Augustus Todd, 60 yrs. 5 mos. 4 days; Mrs. Sarah J., widow of Mr. Edward Martin, 69 yrs. 6 mos.

21st, Mrs. Harriet P., widow of Mr. Wells 49 yrs. 8 mos. 6 days.

Boucle Jerseys.

Regular Four Dollar ones for $2.00
Regular Four Fifty ones for 2.25
Regular Five Dollar ones for 3.00
The above are Surprising Bargains.

Regular Three Dollar Plaited Waist Jerseys, for only $2.00.

LADIES' LISLE THREAD HOSE, very fine brilliant goods, worth 50 cents anywhere—now only 25 cents.

TOURISTS RUCHING, fine goods, six yards in box for only 16 cts.

FOUR JOB LOTS OF KIDS, 9 cts., 39 cts., 49 cts. and 69 cts. See them.

LADIES' LISLE GLOVES, short wrist, but perfect goods; two pairs for 5 cts. Nice for country, gardening or rough house work.

BOYS' SHORT SOCKS, full, regular, worth 25 cts.; marked down to 5 cts. Examine them.

The best line of DRESS PRINTS in the city. Blue and Gold, Indigo and White Polka Dots, &c., &c.

CHEMISETTES—the new thing—25c.

BOYS' and MISSES HOSIERY, all marked down to clear it out.

MEN'S SOCKS—Seamless—equal to Shaw's, 15 cts.; two pairs for 25 cts.

BLACK BOWS, 5 cts.

MEN'S COLLARS, MEN'S HDKFS. Elmwood Collars, 18 cts.; Racket Collars, 8 cts.

Spectacles, Eye Glasses, Opera Glasses, Silver Ware, Jewelry, Bronzes, Gold Pencils, Pens, &c., &c.

LADIES' GOLD PENS, with Pearl Holder, very choice, best makes,

— AT —

John P. Peabody,
227 & 229 ESSEX STREET.

IF YOU WANT A

PIANO,

Buy a Chickering or Woodward & Brown, and I guarantee perfect satisfaction.

A large stock of all kinds of Instruments

— AT —

245 ESSEX STREET.

Banjos, Guitars, Violins, Harmonicas, Accordeons, Strings, etc.

Sheet Music and Books.

Pianos selected from any factory and price guaranteed less than Boston prices.

E. V. EMILIO,
245 ESSEX ST.,
SALEM.

EVERY YOUNG MAN

Should have such a knowledge of the requirements of business as may be obtained at the

BURDETT
Business COLLEGE

Removed to
592 WASHINGTON STREET,
Cor. Hayward Place,
BOSTON.

Owing to the unprecedented increase of the College patronage, central, commodious, light and elegant apartments have been secured at FIVE NINE-TWO WASHINGTON ST., cor. Hayward Place, a few doors above R. H. White & Co's, on same side of street.

Students can commence on and after Monday, Sept. 6. Prospectus mailed free. Principals may be seen at the College daily, between 9 and 4. Unequalled facilities for procuring situations for Students.

C. A. & F. H. BURDETT, Principals.
aug 11—8t

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE

BROKER & APPRAISER.

SALEM,

Offers for Sale at reasonable

THE SAUNDERS' ESTATE

MAIN ST., PEABODY.

FOR SALE.

The Tanyard belonging to the Estate of Abel Story, situated at Essex Falls, near Railroad. Plenty of Water. A Rare chance.

Apply to B. F. RAYMOND,
ESSEX, MASS.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,

SALEM, MASS.

EXAMINATION of Candidates for admission on TUESDAY, September 7. Tuition and text books free. Pecuniary aid to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to

D. B. HAGAR, Principal.
jy 26—3w

KILN DRIED WHITE MEAL.—Received to-day from mill, another car of kiln dried white meal, which is giving great satisfaction to all who use it, bringing us renewed orders. We can make a low price for ton lots from car much lower than on yellow meal.

CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
aug 18 41 to 47 Central St.

OLD OATS.—We have a full assortment of all grades of last years' crop of Oats, which being thoroughly seasoned, are for safer feed for horses than the crop just harvested. We invite your examination and early orders.

CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
aug 17 41 to 47 Central St.

CHAPTER 317, ACTS OF 1886.

An Act in Relation to the Inspection and Sale of Imitation Butter,

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:—

SECTION 1. Section seventeen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is hereby amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oil or grease not produced from milk or cream, shall have the words,—imitation butter,—or if such substitute is the compound known as—oleomargarine,— then the word — oleomargarine, — or if it is known as — butterine,— then the word — butterine, — stamped, labelled or marked in a straight line in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length, so that said words cannot be easily defaced, upon the top, side and bottom of every tub, firkin, box or package containing any of said article, substance or compound. The said stamp, label or mark shall contain no other words. And whoever, by himself or his agents, exposes or offers for sale any of the said article, substance or compound, not in the original package, shall attach to the said article, substance or compound, in a conspicuous place, a label bearing the words,—imitation butter—oleomargarine,—or—butterine, as the article may be, in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length. And in case of retail sales of any of said article, substance or compound not in the original packages, the seller shall, by himself or his agents, attach to each package so sold, and shall deliver therewith to the purchaser, a label or wrapper bearing in a conspicuous place upon the outside of the package the words,—imitation butter,—oleomargarine, — or butterine, — and no other words, in printed letters in a straight line of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length.

SECT. 2. Section nineteen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound made in imitation or semblance or butter or cheese, or a substitute for butter or cheese, except as provided in the two preceding sections, and whoever, with intent to deceive, defaces, or erases, cancels or removes any mark, stamp brand, label or wrapper provided for in said sections, or in any manner shall falsely label, stamp or mark any box, tub, article or package marked, stamped or labelled as aforesaid, shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 3. Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter, or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oils or grease not produced from milk or cream, contained in any box, tub, article or package, marked or labelled with the word—dairy,—or the word—creamery,—shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 4. Every person who conveys any imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine in carriages or otherwise, for the purpose of selling the same in any city or town, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, be licensed by the inspector or inspectors of milk of such city or town to sell the same within the limits thereof, and shall pay to such inspector or inspectors fifty cents to the use of the city or town. The inspector or inspectors shall pay over monthly to the treasurer of such city or town all sums collected by him or them. In towns in which there is no inspector of milk, licenses shall be issued by the town clerk. Licenses shall be issued only in the names of the owners of the carriages or other vehicles, and shall, for the purposes of this chapter, be conclusive evidence of ownership. No license shall be sold, assigned or transferred. Each license shall record the name, residence, place of business, number of carriages or other vehicles used, the name and residence of every driver or other person engaged in carrying or selling imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine, and the number of the license. Each licensee shall, before engaging in the sale of any of the articles as aforesaid, cause his name, the number of his license and his place of business to be legibly placed on each outer side of all carriages or vehicles used by him in the conveyance of the articles aforesaid, in Gothic letters not less than one inch in length, and he shall report to the inspector or inspectors any change of driver or other person employed by him which may occur during the term of his license. Whoever, without being first licensed under the provisions of this section, sells any of the articles as aforesaid, or exposes or offers them for sale from carriages or other vehicles, or has them in his custody or possession with intent to sell, and whoever violates any of the provisions of this section shall, for a first offence, be punished by a fine of not less than thirty nor more than one hundred dollars; for a second offence, by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars.

SECT. 5. Every person before selling or offering for sale any of the said articles in a store, booth, stand or market-place in a city or in a town in which an inspector or inspectors of milk are appointed, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually, on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, register in the books of such inspector or inspectors, or, if there be no inspector, then in the books of the town clerk, and shall pay to him or them fifty cents to the use of such city or town; and whoever neglects to so register shall be so punished for each offence by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars.

SECT. 9. This act shall take effect upon its passage. [APPROVED JUNE 23, 1886.]

THOMAS W. PEASLEY,
Inspector of Milk.
Peabody, August 6, 1886.

COLLINS BROS.,

DEALERS IN

COAL, WOOD & BARK.

OFFICES:
248 Bridge Street,
— AND —
72 Noth Street.
SALEM.

Stove, Chestnut, Egg and Broken Coals at the Lowest Market Prices.

☞ All orders promptly attended to.
je 30—3m

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to _ St. Peter street, Salem

Business Chance!

DANE BROTHERS,

(Successors to J. H. Trofatter.)

Horse & Carriage Exchange

101 Boston St., Salem.

Large stock of new and second-hand carriages for sale or exchange. Also horses, for sale or exchange.
je 8—6m

EDWARD P. MOULTON,

PLUMBING,

Water & Gas Fitting

Of every description. Ventilation of Closets, and Drainage a specialty.

All orders promptly attended to. First-class work and satisfaction guaranteed.

28 Norman Street,

SALEM.
je 8—4m

HOLLY TREE INN.

The Best Materials only are used in the preparation of

Appetising Food,

AT THE

POPULAR HOLLY TREE DINING ROOMS,

9 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.
may 19—4m

M. MORIARTY,

MANUFACTURER OF

Soda, Ginger Ale and Tonic Beers.

Bottler of Cider, Lager Beer, Philadelphia Stock Ale and Porter.

Corner Market Sq. and Front St.

SALEM, MASS.

HORSES!

Arrived Friday, April 30th.
42 HORSES! 42
TWO CAR LOADS OF
HORSES

Purchased by Mr. Abbott for our trade,
NOW READY FOR SALE AT OUR
Sale Stable 52 Charter Street.

Abbott & Reynolds.

EXCURSION TICKETS

For the whole system of Railways in the

White and Green Mountains

— SOLD BY —

D. P. GROSVENOR,

35 Main Street.

Authorized Agent for Peabody, Mass.
july 28—5w

D. P. GROSVENOR.

PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.

Compounder of

Physicians Prescriptions

and dealer in

RELIABLE DRUGS.

35 MAIN STREET

PEABODY, MASS.

Sagamore House,

133 UNION ST., LYNN,

(NEAR CENTRAL DEPOT.)

Special Rates to Commercial and Professional Travelers.

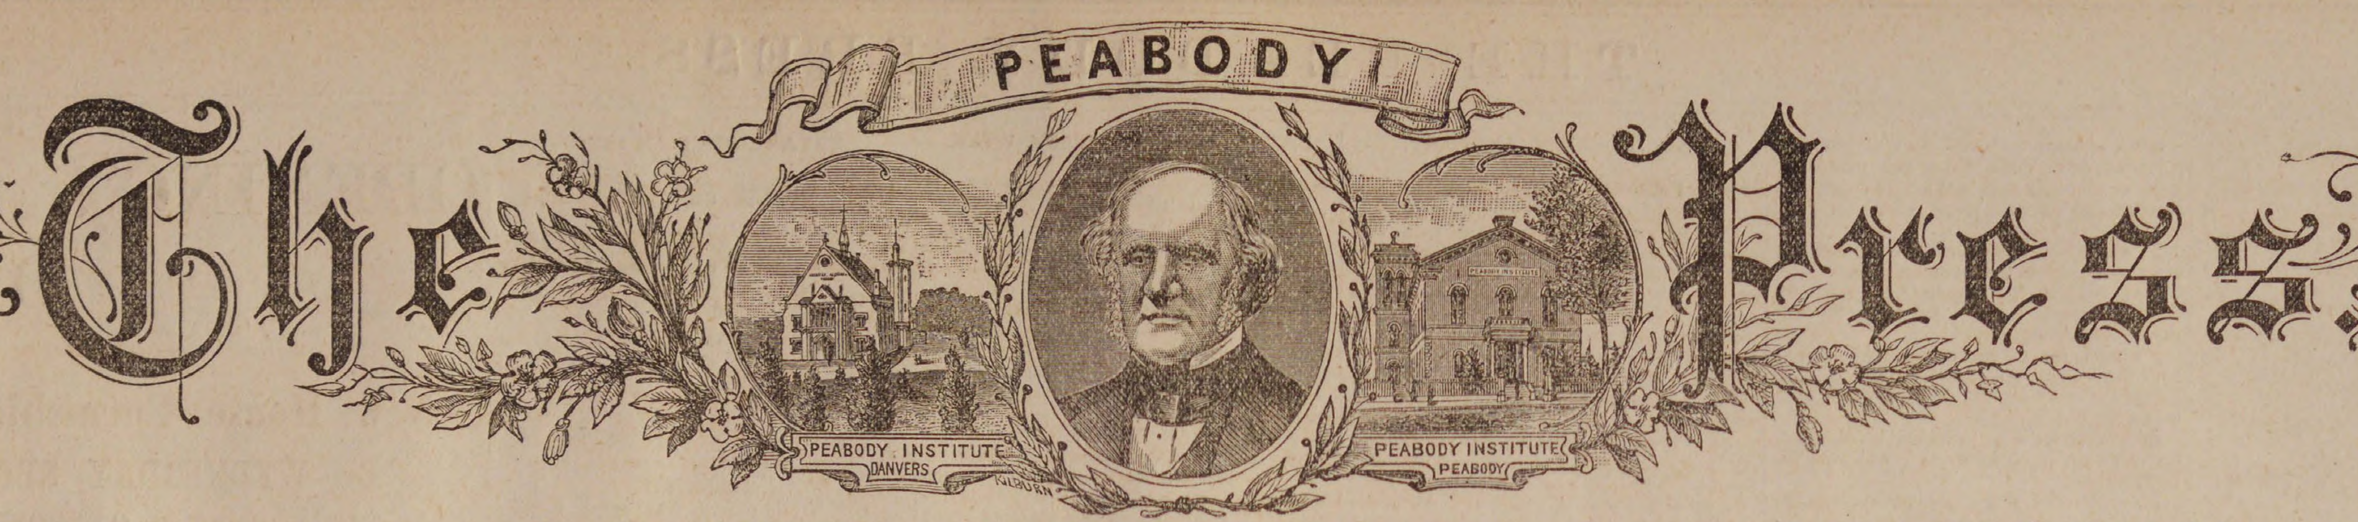
Renovated and Refurnished.

J. M. Batchelder & co., Props.
je 9—1y

W. S. OSBORNE,

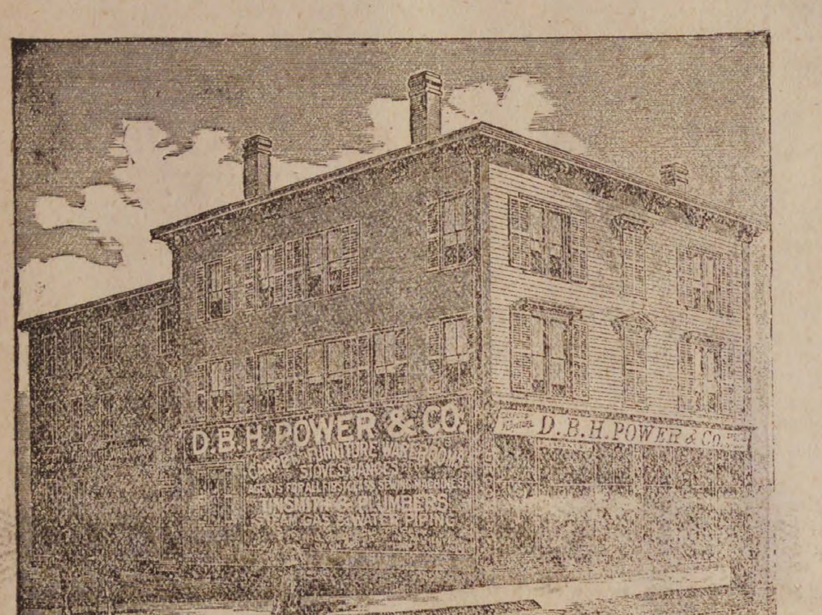
TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER

Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Office Second Door west of Hay Scales.



The Peabody Press.

VOL. 27 PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 1, 1886. NO. 3~~4~~5.



D.B.H. POWER & CO.
D.B.H. POWER & CO.

GRAND OPENING.

The extensive additions to our buildings are now completed. Our new fall stock has arrived and we most heartily invite the citizens of Essex County to call and inspect the Largest House Furnishing Store in New England, 32,700 square feet of floor room, all under one roof, with the largest and most Extensive Stock of House Furnishing goods ever seen in any one store. It is a museum worthy of inspection. You will be kindly received and shown all over our immense establishment by our clerks, whether you intend to purchase or not.

We have OIL CLOTHS all prices, styles and widths. INGRAIN, TAPESTRY and BRUSSELS CARPETS. RUGS, STRAW MATTING, STAIR CARPET. BORDERS, etc. We have the most elegant display of these goods ever seen, and our Carpet room is the model of perfection.

Furniture, Bedding, Stoves, Ranges, Tin and Wooden Ware, Hardware, Etc.

Remember we manufacture our own STOVES and we warrant every one that we sell. We deliver and set up our Stoves ready for a fire without extra charge. Carpets made and put down. All goods delivered free. We guarantee our prices the lowest and our terms the easiest. Goods sold for cash or on our own and original instalment plan, $1.00 down and $1.00 a week. We lead and others follow.

D B. H. POWER & CO.,

123 & 125 PLEASANT, & 24 SCHOOL ST.,

MARBLEHEAD.

293 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

All Horse and Steam Cars stop at our Doors.

MASON'S

FRUIT JARS,

600 dozen,

— AT —

W. F. PERRY'S,

87 WASHINGTON STREET,

SALEM.

e 9—3m

PIANOS Behning Pianos, Harrington Pianos, ORGANS

— AT —

A. M. CRAIN'S

PIANO PARLORS,

52 Market St.,

LYNN.

Any make of Piano or Organ furnished to order.

je 30—1y

PEABODY

LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STAIRS.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the widow, Heirs-at-Law, Next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of GEORGE W. ELLIOT, late of Peabody, in said county, yeoman, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by George W. Elliot, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him the executor therein named, and that he may be exempt from giving a surety or sureties on his bond, for the reasons alleged in said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of September next, at nine o'clock, before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same. And said George W. Elliot is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

aug 11—3t

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS.

To the Heirs-at-Law, and others interested in the estate of EDWARD SHERRY, late of Peabody, in said County, laborer, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, James Sherry, Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell the whole of the real estate therein described of said deceased, for the payment of debts and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Salem, in said County, on the first Monday of September next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same; And said Administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, three weeks successively, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this nineteenth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

aug 4—3t

M. N. BLACK,

Combings made into Switches and Montagues. All work warranted.

80 MARKET ST. LYNN.

je 30—3m

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

September 1!

Shorter days still!

Rain was needed!

Cattle show season!

Be wise and advertise!

New moon last Sunday!

Early frosts are expected!

School again next Monday!

Barking dogs are a nuisance!

Get your light overcoat ready!

Going to the Red Men's picnic?

Have you received your tax bill?

Horse car parties continue popular!

Three days more of school vacation!

Lots of school marms in town again!

Oil of lavender will drive away flies!

It is not too late to sow turnip seed!

Nature's indications predict an early fall.

Nearly time for the church bean suppers.

The young people are enjoying corn roasts.

Grapes of a poor quality are in the market.

The cool weather is suggestive of October.

The good house wife is now making preserves.

Farmers are raising big vegetables to boast about.

The harvesting of the potato crop is progressing.

The watering cart continues its perambulations.

A new water filter has been put into Spring pond.

The candidates are beginning to hustle themselves.

Forage the forest for fine ferns and autumn leaves.

A list of our solid men will be found in another column.

Chestnut bells are numerous! Likewise the chestnuts.

Large extra editions of the PRESS are printed weekly.

The peach man is doing his best to make life miserable.

Coal oil is an excellent exterminator of the Canada thistle.

The sun crosses the equator and autumn begins Sept. 22.

The woodbine and maple leaves have begun to change color.

The glistening tear is more eloquent than the silvery tongue.

A large number of non-union men are constantly arriving.

The baker is the only loafer that fault is not found with.

The trade dollar will some day be worth one hundred cents.

Half the sorrow and woe that is found in life is imaginary.

The Democratic state convention will meet at Worcester, Sept. 30.

Your strawberry plants should receive attention about this time.

Mr. T. E. Proctor's factory was shut down for repairs last Friday.

Both the water and gas pipes pass through the brook on the square.

Sweet potatoes are in the market, and the quality is improving daily.

If you are waiting for something to turn up just step on a barrel hoop.

A large quantity of mushmelons have been placed on the market this week.

Mr. E. H. Porter hss been rebuilding the chimneys at the Methodist church.

Examine your potatoes and see if the bugs are not eating them in the ground.

Some men delight in telling what they know about other men's business.

The year is now beginning to decline. Each day is shorter than the preceding one.

"Labor day" is Sept. 6. It will be generally observed by the Knights of Labor.

The Beverly Citizen has closed its fifty-fifth volume. It is destined to reach its 100th.

We have got a good brook across Lowell street now. A large part of the sides were relaid.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straigh at George Stevens'. *

Mr. Matthew Lynn is improving the Bushby estate on Central street recently purchased by him.

Mr. Chas. McCarthy has sold his fish business to Mr. R. F. Dodge of the Central Fish Market.

If competition continues on the steamship lines even the newspaper men can go to Europe.

The glass in the old Jacobs factory on Main street is being completely broken out by hoodlums.

Quite a good deal of political canvassing is in progress, and several gentlemen have put out "feelers."

The beautiful blue-colored thistles will soon be going to seed. Farmers, ain't you going to destroy them?

The carcass of a dead cat has been scattered quite promiscuously about Union street this week. Plant it.

Camphorated glycerine will be found serviceable to put on exposed parts to keep the mosquito from biting you.

The voice of the katydid and fall cricket is heard. An old tradition says that means frost within six weeks.

It is reported that a fine summer hotel will be erected near Mr. David T. Winter's summer residence at Clifton.

What a heap of fun the "coal hole" must have with an egotist who pretends to be something or somebody he never was.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town—Nothing like it, Principee. Clarks Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo Stevens' *

Give your fowls clean, dry and warm quarters in summer, and supply them bountifully with clean, fresh water, in clean vessels.

Mr. Frank P. Chase, driver on a Middleton milk wagon, fell from the team Friday morning near the flag staff and injured his hip.

Mr. Francis H. Appleton was one of the pall bearers at the funeral of Mr. Amos A. Lawrence, who died at Nahant, Sunday week.

A dog of the bull species bit a boy named McMahon on Oak street last Saturday, and tore his pants. The dog belonged to a fruit peddler.

Doctor C. G. Weston set the arm of a boy named Hayes living on Low street, who fell off a rock at South Peabody one day last week.

Now the farmer's soul serene,
His joy intense and utter;
The tax on oleomargarine
Means higher price for butter.

Never use soap on oil cloth; put about a teacup of milk in warm water and use this instead. Soap dulls the colors and milk brightens them.

Mr. George Pratt and his sons have constructed an eight foot octagon kite which is frequently seen among the clouds. It is named the "Lockout."

Complaints are made in some directions that cows and other animals are driven daily along the sidewalks, much to the disgust of many female pedestrians.

Mr. J. L. Colcord brought us in several ears of a fine eating green corn from a variety first placed on the market by Mr. Thomas C. Durkee. It was delicious.

Mr. Chas. Basford has put a number of his homing pigeons to the test during the last week. One pair returned from Portland and another from Asbury Grove.

The water board are having removed from the ponds that furnish our water supply, the unhealthy exhalations in the shape of mud and decaying vegetable growth.

Mr. H. F. Lawrence showed us Friday the solid silver shoe and knee buckles worn by Gen. Moses Porter of Danvers in the early wars. They were marked "M. P."

Now upon the garden gate the loving couple hang till late, arm in arm they spend the night in ecstasies of love's delight. Green corn and vegetables at Hallowell & Smiley's.

At the meeting of the selectmen Saturday, the pay of the special police was equalized with that of the regular force. The cost of building the new side walk at South Peabody was also considered.

The employes of Almy, Bigelow and Washburn will tender Mr. James F. Almy, the senior member of the firm, a reception on his return from Europe. Mr. Almy is expected to sail to-day.

Miss Bridget E. McMannus, a cousin of William McMannus, has entered the Convent of the Sisters of Notre Dame in Baltimore, Md., for a course of training before entering the Sisterhood.

A GIGANTIC

CLOTHING, HAT, CAP

— AND —

GENT'S FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT

— FOR —

SALEM.

David Conrad's entire block to be connected with the Naumkeag Clothing Store which will be when completed the largest retail Clothing, Hat, Cap and Gent's Furnishing Goods Establishment in New England, except the "Marlboro" in Boston, one of our own stores, and the largest in the U. S.

We desire to inform the citizens of Essex County that we have leased the Conrad estate, formerly occupied by him as a Dry Goods Store, and shall commence at once to connect it with the Naumkeag Clothing Store, making one enormous establishment.

BUYERS OF CLOTHING, HATS, CAPS AND FURNISHING GOODS REMEMBER!

Our entire stock of Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing, Hats, Caps and Furnishing Goods, amounting to over ($65,000), sixty-five thousand dollars worth must be closed out at once. This will be the grandest opportunity for the citizens of Essex County to secure reliable clothing at figures lower than ever before heard of in New England.

This sale will include all our heavy Winter Overcoats, carried over from last season, numbering over (600) six hundred Men's, Boys' and Children's all warranted to be clean perfect goods, just as stylish as any made this year, and a saving of 30 to 40 per cent. to the buyer. Our object in offering this gigantic sale so early in the season, is on account of enlarging our store.

School commences now in a few days. Parents should not fail to call and examine our enormous stock of Boys' and Children's School Suits, in heavy and medium weight. We shall offer at this sale over (2000) two thousand Boys' and Children's School and Dress Suits, over 50 different patterns to make your selections from. In fact you will have a wholesale stock to select from, at prices that cannot fail to meet with the approval of every buyer. The goods must be closed out before the 20th of September.

We must unload a very large proportion of this stock before our alterations are completed.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

177 & 179 Essex St., Salem.

Z. A. GALLUP, - - - - - MANAGER

One of the Polish Jews from Geo. J Winchester's tannery was on the street with a hand organ last Thursday morning. He played several lively tunes in front of the Knights of Labor Hall.

About thirty little ones from some children's home in Lynn came through town last Friday on the way to the Willows. The little folks and their benevolent looking matron seemed to enjoy it.

A movement is on foot among the Masonic mutual relief associations of this state for consolidation into a single body. A convention to further discuss the matter will be held at Worcester, Sept. 11. Delegates from this town will be present.

Mrs. Kate Foley, living near the Salem line, has been sick for over three weeks and is now better. During her sickness she has had no one to care for her wants but sympathetic neighbors who were very kind to her, and to whom she is very grateful.

The building trade has not been so dull in this town for years as this season. Very little heavy work has been done, and carpenters and masons have spent most of their time on small work, and employed few men.

America's cup is to be defended by he Mayflower, which won the second trial race, on Wednesday. The Puritan was second, Priscilla third, Atlantic fourth. The races with the Galatea will occur Sept. 7, 9 and 11.

The frequent showers this season have caused a number of pools of water to remain through the season that usually dry up. The foliage of the shade trees is reflected in beautiful and varying shades of green. Yet unappreciative residents in the vicinity complain of them and imagine that malaria haunts them day and night.

The work is progressing finely on the brook across Lowell street. In removing the covers it was found that one of them would weigh seven or eight tons, and as it was not safe to risk the lifting of it by the derrick it was split in two. Many people wondered how they ever got it there in the first place as there were no derricks in those days. It was probably put into position by roilers.

The roof of the Warren Bank Building has been treated to a coat of paint.

For several days last week an old horse that was won in a raffle has made his home on the "Village green," on the Tremont street side of Dublin. No one appeared to own the animal, and the boys amused themselves in driving him from place to place, and the more courageous mounted his back. What has become of the animal is not learned.

Mr. Samuel Trask has sold his interest in the firm of Samuel Trask & Son, to Mr. John S. Morrison of Willimantic, Conn., a young man who has had several years experience in the hardware business. His son William still retains his interest in the firm which will in future be known as Morrison & Trask. The young men begin business with an established trade and we do not hesitate to predict a successful future for them.

The eighteenth and nineteenth annual report of the trustees of the Peabody museum of American Archæology and Ethnology has been received. The report of Prof. Putnam to the trustees, is an exceedingly interesting one on the results of his investigations of the work of the mound builders and the curios found in their earthly habitations at an earlier period than the formation of the glaciers. It is yet to be determined when these mounds were built and who constructed them. The scientific research which is being made may give a solution to this mystery one of these days.

A party of seven very distinguished guests were in town one day last week, to visit the Peabody Institute. They were seven in number and represented the Japanese government. They were the Secretary of the Japanese Navy and captain, paymaster and four lieutenants. The secretary was an old man and the others quite young, and all spoke English. They had been chosen by their government to inspect the naval and military system of England and America. They were dressed in American cut garments and attracted little attention. They sail for England, Sept. 4th.

The Prohibitionists of Peabody will hold a caucus on Thursday eve, Sept. 2, at 7.45 o'clock, in Franklin Hall (W. C. T. U. Headquarters) to nominate delegates to the State Convention to be holden at Worcester on Wednesday, Sept. 8, and to transact any other business that may properly come before it.

One of the handsomest and probably one of the largest private monuments in town, was erected in Walnut Grove cemetery on Friday of last week, for the Reed family of Peabody. It was made by the Chapman Granite Works, of Westerly, R. I., at a cost of $1400 to the owners. The monument is situated in the newer portion of the cemetery, in a spacious lot, in which will be interred the remains of several of the family, which will be moved from a lot near by. It is of the finest granite, beautifully polished, and stands nearly fifteen feet high, with a base six or eight feet square, and upon the top is a large urn. The stone is prettily carved, and engraved with the names and years of birth and death of the deceased.—Danvers Mirror.

The Danvers Mirror says:—C. H. Warren & Co., the coal men, had cut down last week the oldest tree at the Port except the Endicott pear tree. The trunk measured 15 feet in circumference, and four of the limbs 8 feet and four inches each. Levi Paradise cut the tree down, one limb at a time. On the last limb he had three falls in order to carry it away from Messrs. Warren & Co's., office. He had a pair of horses on each long fall, and six men on the short one, to take in the slack of rope. As the horses drew, and the limb was up about straight, there was a great strain on the ropes, and one of the long falls gave way, bringing all the strain on the small one held by the men, which also broke. The limb fell on one corner of the office, starting one side of the roof and pushing out a portion of the rear part of the building. It took until nearly four o'clock in the afternoon to get the limb from the roof.

Poet's Corner.

The Yachters.

BY MARTHA PERRY LOWE.

Rock them gently, gentle ocean,
In thy keeping they must be;
I will still my soul's commotion;
I will trust my all to thee.

Let the silver moonbeams creeping
Shine upon their happy eyes,
While their hearts with joy are leaping,
And the tender visions rise.

Is the vessel running lightly,
Flying o'er the open sea?
Hold the reins, O captain, tightly,
Lest she slip away from thee.

Is a mighty calm around her,
Like the quiet of the dead?
Break, O winds, the swoon that bound her,
Dash the billows o'er her head.

Youth and love and hope are beaming
In the radiant evening hour,
Laughter softens into dreaming,
Night subdues them with her power.

Come, thou white-winged vessel, bringing
To this haven of repose
Those young hearts and voices singing
As our weary eyelids close.

—Boston Transcript.

ALBUM VERSES.

A little said and truly said
Can deeper joy impart.
Than hosts of words that reach the head,
But never touch the heart.

If around our ways you'd wisely seek,
Five things observe with care—
Of whom you speak, to whom you speak
And how and when and where

Our lives are albums written through,
With good or ill, with false or true,
And as the holy angels turns
The pages of our years,
God grant they read the good with smiles,
And blot the bad with tears.

When time, who steals our years away,
Shall steal our pleasures too;
The memory of the past will stay,
And half our joys renew.

True worth is in being, not seeming,
In doing each day that goes by,
Some little good not in dreaming,
Of great things to do bye and bye,
For whatever men say in their blindness,
And spite in the fancies of youth;
There is nothing as kingly as kindness
And nothing so royal as truth.

Accept dear friend these lines from me,
They show that I remember thee,
And hope some thought they will retain,
Till you and I shall meet again.

May your days in joy be past
With friends to bless and cheer,
And each year exceed the last,
In all that earth holds dear.

If writing in albums remembrance assures,
With the greatest of pleasure I'll scribble in yours.

* * *

A Boston paper, in speaking lately of the number of new medical remedies which are offered to the public every year, called attention to the fact that the majority of them have a very short existence. Some are never heard of after twelve months have passed by; others are forgotten in the course of three or four years, while it is a rare thing to know of any which retain their popularity longer than eight or ten years. When there is an exception to this rule, it may be set down as a fact that the article possesses some extraordinary merit to survive so many changes. The most remarkable illustration of this is seen in St. Jacob's Oil. Steadily and surely it worked its way into public favor, receiving no help, except from its own efficacy, and to-day there is hardly a civilized country in which it is not hailed as a conqueror of pain. Like Tennyson's brook, men may come and men may go, but St. Jacobs Oil goes on for ever.

* * *

If we do not have a war with Mexico it will not be the fault of some of the newspapers.

I can recommend Ely's Cream Balm to all hay fever sufferers, it is, in my opinion, a sure cure. I was afflicted for 25 years, and never before found permanent relief.—W. H. Haskins, Marshfield, Vt.

I have been a hay fever sufferer for three years; have often heard Ely's Cream Balm spoken of in the highest terms; did not take much stock in it because of the many quack medicines. A friend persuaded me to try the Balm, and I did so with wonderful success.—T. S. Geer., Syracuse, N. Y.

A printed sheet, although square, is called a circular, because it is intended to go round.

Cultivate the entire year round. When the ground is past cultivating, then cultivate the brain.

There will be no newspapers in heaven because we are told there will be no more sorrow there.

Mrs. Chas. Smith of Jimes, Ohio, writes: I have used every remedy for Sick headache I could hear of for the past fifteen years, but Carter's Little Liver Pills did me more good than all the rest.

Brother Gardner's Summer Sermons.

Dar am sartin fings which you kin chalk down on de cellar doah wid a feelin' dat you am gwine to hit nine times whar you miss once.

De wuss a man's breff smells de clusser he am gwine to git to you in an argyment.

It am twice as easy to spend fifty cents to go to de circus as it am to pay back two shillins of borrowed money.

No man can remember whar he frowed his empty cans and bottles until he diskivers dat somebody has dumped ashes ober his fence.

Broadcloth an silks looks well on de street, but dey doan hitch werry well wid cold 'taters at home.

De walue of de dog you kick am no gauge fur de feelins of de owner if he happens to be around.

Nine men outer ten borrow wid de expectashun of bein just so much ahead. De odd one will want to borrow again as a reward fur his honesty.

It am powerful easy to discriminate between a wise man an a fanatic. De wise man belongs to your party; de fanatic to de opposishun.

While you should luv your naybur as yourself, doan gin him to understan dat you kin be depended on to lie awake o' nights to purtect his grape arbor.

De man who figgers dat he can so live as to dodge slander an escape malice has got a heap o' thistles waitin fur his bar feet.

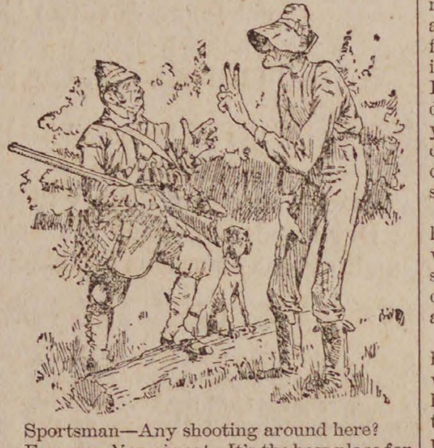
The aiverage man's bizness word kin be depended on up to a sartin pint—as fur as he will profit by keepin it.

De problem of livin doan depend so much on hangin to an old welvet ca'pet in de parlor as it does in savin de crusts and crumbs in de kitchen.

When a man's whisky costs mo' dan his flour he should stan ready to wote fur de buildin of two wings on de county house.

While it am true dat all men w r created equal, a heap of us have got spiled in de bringin up. About de only time social barriers am abolished am durin a steamboat exploshun.—Detroit Free Press.

The Hunter Hunted.



Sportsman—Any shooting around here?

Farmer—Yes, sir-ee! It's the boss place for shooting. Three men shot yesterday, two today, so far, and you will be the third if you don't mosey out of my clover patch.—The Judge.

Couldn't Mounseer Him.

A story is going the rounds of the European diplomatic circles relating to one of our present representatives of high rank in the far east. At a dinner given by a prominent native official, at which the whole diplomatic corps was present, the American minister was seated by the side of the French ambassador, who often addressed his American colleague after the usual French manner as monsieur. This did not please the temper nor suit the dignity of the gentleman of the eagle country, and he stood the supposed undue familiarity on the part of the Frenchman until his patience became quite exhausted, and then his pent-up indignation burst forth in words more characteristic for strength than elegance, and as reported in about this strain:

"By ——, sir, I'd have you to understand, sir, that I've been governor of the state of ——, a state, sir, larger than the whole of your country, sir, and I'll be d——d if I'll be mounseered by you or any one else."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Our Little Ones.

A little girl calling with her mother at a new house, where the walls were not yet papered, exclaimed: "What a bald-headed house, mamma!"—Babyhood.

THE PITH OF IT.

Harry (who has the idea, but forgets the precise words)—Oh, sister, Mrs. B. told me to tell you how awfully kind it was of you to sing, as it's so hard to get any one to do it nowadays unless they sing well.—Life.

INGENUITY.

"Ma, can I go over to Sallie's house and play a little while?" asked 4-year-old Mamie. "Yes, dear; I do not care if you do." "Thank you, ma," was the demure reply. "I've been."—Detroit Free Press.

DISCOVERY IN NATURAL HISTORY.

A little girl from the city was on her first visit to the country. While riding near Cliffton Springs she saw a lot of cat tails near the road. "Oh, antie," she exclaimed, "I never knew before that sausages grew on sticks."—Harper's Bazar.

THE MATTER WITH JIM.

"They's going to be something the matter with my big brother Jim next week," said a 6-year-old child to her teacher.

"Indeed," said the teacher; "what is going to be the matter with Jim?"

"He's going to get married; that's what's going to ail him," was the surprising reply.—Detroit Free Press.

A POOR BARGAIN.

There is a new baby on Deer Hill avenue. It is a small one. Its little 5-year old sister watched it carefully for a few minutes yesterday, and then turned to the maternal head of the family and said: "Mamma, couldn't papa have paid another dollar and got a larger one?"—Danbury Democrat.

A Cure for Drunken Husbands.

Mrs. Thomas Dollard, of McDonald, Pa., has found a new method of reforming drunken husbands. Her plan is to pour coal oil over their clothing and set fire to them. Mrs. Dollard tried this on her own husband last week, and we now have to refer to him as the late Mr. Dollard. We can recommend her method only for its effectiveness. An inebriated husband lasts about two minutes and a half after the oil can is found. Some people will maintain that this is quicker work than the exigencies of the case demand; but that is a question which is open for discussion. We do not propose to go into it. We have done our duty when we advise husbands to take out fire insurance on their lives.—Cincinnati Graphic.

Enough is as Good as a Feast.

Our neighbor, The Tribune, remarks that, whereas, before the ports of Japan were opened to the Christian nations of the world there were only eleven intoxicating drinks known in the country; now there are more than 200, which is, of course, deplorable. And yet it should be noted that an ambitious man, by adroitly combining eleven intoxicants, could bring himself to a state where 189 additional beverages would not perceptibly affect him. In the matter of intoxicants enough is as good as a feast.—Life.

THE JUDICIARY EMISSARY.

How a Politician's Reformation Did Not Prevent His Candidate's Success.

Once upon a time an ambitious man, who aspired to be governor of "Little Rhody," sat down to count all possible votes. The prospect of his election was dubious, but there came to his memory the political proverb current in the old Bay State. They say there: "As Hull goes, so goes Massachusetts." The candidate then remembered this tiny dot in the ocean too often neglected, and a trusty emissary was sent over with $500 to be judiciously expended. Masking his purpose under various pretexts, the gentleman surveyed the ground and discovered that the one topic of general interest was the leaky roof of the Center church. To the pious islanders—that was before summer travel had intruded—their church was the one precious possession, but they were too poor to properly repair the sanctuary, and a meeting was called to raise funds for simply patching the roof. The aforesaid emissary attended this meeting. Devoutly he listened to prayer and speech, and then, rising as if under the influence of uncontrollable emotion, he spoke with a broken voice after this manner:

"My friends, I am a stranger among you, and I have a confession to make. I came to this meeting moved alone by curiosity, but, as I sat among you, hearing your expressions of earnest faith, I have been controlled by sentiments unknown before. I had never realized how one's creed could influence one's life until now, and I begin to see dimly how wrongly I have estimated the consolations of religion.

"My friends"—this with a telling gulp—"I have still another confession to make. I did not come to the island for fishing or to regain lost health. I came to do a thing so base that I am covered with shame when I think of it. As I have listened to you here I have realized my wickedness, and I desire now to make whatever reparation I may. I was exceedingly anxious that in the coming election Mr. —— should succeed; I knew that ready money was scarce upon your island, and I came here—with shame I confess it—to buy your votes. Pardon me for the vile thought, and pray for me that I may be forgiven." Another gulp, and then: "Here, my friends, I give to you for repairing this sanctuary the money I had intended to use for a vile purpose, and when I shall tell my friend Mr. —— what I have done, I am sure that he will approve. Like yourselves, he is an earnest Baptist, and he can trust his election to that all-wise Providence which moves in a mysterious way. Will some brother take charge of this money?"

A "brother" came forward and received a heavy bag with musically clinking contents, while the little congregation looked as awestruck as Belshazzar's guests when the wondrous words of doom were written on the palace wall.

The emissary sat with bowed head and handkerchief pressed close to—presumably—weeping optics. When the service was over, hard, honest hands gave the stranger a fraternal grip, and real tears dimmed many pious eyes. The emissary went back to Providence; the Center church was repaired, and—every mother's son on the island voted for that emissary's candidate!—Block Island Letter to Hartford Courant.

Rays of Sunshine.

Life Insurance Agent (to applicant)—I see our physician has pronounced you in robust health, and considers you a perfectly safe risk.

Applicant—Yes, I'm in good health.

Agent—What is your business?

Applicant—I'm a base ball umpire.

Agent—Sorry, sir; but I shall have to decline such a risk. The company won't have it.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY.

Clerk (to employer)—What shall I mark that new lot of black silk at?

Employer—Mark the selling price $3 a yard.

Clerk—But it only cost $1 a yard.

Employer—I don't care what it costs. I'm selling off regardless of cost.

THEIR LOVE FOR LIQUOR.

"Yes," said a Kentuckian who had been in the far west, "Indians are powerful fond of whisky. Let 'em once get the taste of whisky an' they'll give up anything for it. An old chief in western Dakota offered me a pony, saddle, bridle, blanket, and I don't know what else for a pint of whisky I had with me."

"And you wouldn't give it to him?"

"Not much. That was the last pint I had left. But it shows how fond Indians are of whisky.

RELIGION VERSUS BUSINESS.

Minister (to deacon)—How were you pleased, Brother Jones, with my sermon on the sin of betting on elections?

Deacon Jones—Well-er, to be frank with you, I didn't like it at all.

Minister—No?

Deacon—No, sir. I'm in hats, you know, and there's very little money in the business as it is.—New York Sun.

Explanation Only Made the Matter Worse.

The other day, as the train from Monterey slackened its speed to stop at Menlo Park, a lady rose from her seat and hurriedly left the car. When the whistle for starting again was blown a gentleman who sat immediately behind the lady referred to noticed that she had left a small baby slumbering upon the seat. Seizing the infant, the gentleman rushed to the rear of the car and handed it to a man on the platform, explaining as the train moved on that it must be given to its mother.

The kind hearted traveler had just returned to his seat with the consciousness of having performed a good action, when the lady suddenly returned and excitedly demanded to know what had become of her child. While the benevolent traveler tried to explain the bereaved mother called him a kidnapper and fourteen kinds of scoundrels, besides banging him over the head with her umbrella.—San Francisco Post.

A Temperance Lecture by Nasby.

Likker sellin looks like a mighty profitable biznis, but it ain't alluz. It hez its drorbax. Yoo see, yer customers don't live long enuff to make the biznis ez profitable as it shood be. Jest ez yoo git a man fairly fixed so that he hez to hev his likker regler, he gits so that he won't work, and consekently don't hev money to satisfy his appetite. That's the trubble. Wat good to me is a man with a healthy longin' for stimulant, and no money to pay for it?—Toledo Blade.

A Remarkable Youth.

"Have you any offspring?" inquired the severe, long-haired passenger, through his nose, of a stranger by his side.

"Oh, yes, sir," was the polite reply, "a son."

"Ah, indeed! Does he use tobacco?"

"Never touches it in any form."

"I'm glad to hear that. Tobacco is monstrously sinful. Does he indulge in spirituous liquors?"

"Never tasted a drop in his life."

"Excellent. Stay out nights?"

"No, sir. Never thinks of going out after supper."

"I'm very much pleased to know this, sir. Your son is a remarkable young man."

"Oh, he's not a young man. He's a 2-months'-old baby."—Life.

LITTLE PETER'S LIVELY WEEK.

What Would the Boy Have Come To if They Hadn't Sent for His Aunt?

PINE SUMMIT, Pa., Aug. 14.—Peter Moore lives on the mountain, two miles from this place. He is 12 years old. On Monday of last week he was playing "shinny" during recess at school. Tommy Shett hit him on the nose with a shinny club and broke Peter's nose. Peter had to stay home from school, and to amuse himself on Tuesday he took down his father's gun. In handling it it was discharged, and a buckshot went through Peter's left hand. The rest of the charge lodged in a calf in the yard and killed it.

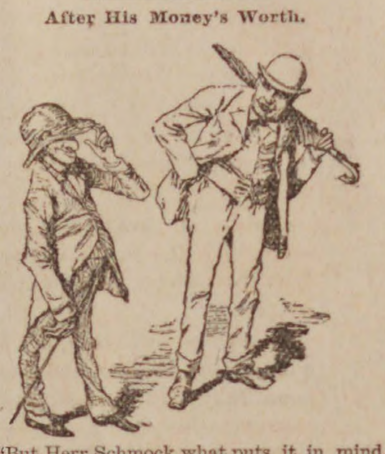
The boy had to go to bed, but he was not yet knocked out. On Wednesday, while lying in bed, he discovered that his mother had left her set of false teeth on a stand at the head of the bed. Peter got them. He tried the experiment of fitting them in his own mouth. The teeth slipped into his throat, and before they could be fished out he was nearly choked to death.

Thursday was a hard day on Peter, and he found nothing that amused him until late in the afternoon. His mother had given him an apple. He went to rummaging in the stand drawer, and found an old razor. This he pressed into service and began to peel his apple with it. During the paring process the razor slipped through the apple and chopped the end of Peter's thumb off.

In spite of all these little setbacks, the lively boy was able to be around the house on Friday. His mother left a kettle of boiling water standing on the kitchen hearth. During the temporary absence of Mrs. Moore Peter found recreation in jumping to and fro over the steaming pot. He had succeeded in clearing it several times when he struck the kettle with one foot and it was upset. The boiling water poured over Peter's bare feet and scalded them so the skin peeled off. He was put to bed again. Friday night it rained hard all night. The roof leaked over Peter's bed, and water got in over the plaster on the ceiling. The dampness loosened the plaster from the lath, and Saturday forenoon a piece as big as the bed tumbled down on Peter. When they dug the yelling youngster out from under the debris he was pretty thoroughly barked and bruised.

His mother sent for an aunt of Peter's on Saturday afternoon, and she has been keeping constant watch over him ever since, and the past week has accordingly been dull and uneventful for him.—New York Sun.

After His Money's Worth.



"But Herr Schmock what puts it in mind to you for your little head one such large hat to get?"

Herr Schmock—Would I then a little one take when I for the same money a large hat can have.—Fliegende Blaetter.

Facetiae.

A young teacher in one of our primary departments spent the greater part of an afternoon in describing the appearance and habits of the mole to her class. And when she had finished she said: "Now, children, I want you all to try and remember what I have told you, for I shall call upon one of you to repeat it to-morrow."

Accordingly on the morrow she began by asking, "What did I talk about yesterday?"

Up flew a dozen hands in the air, signifying that the owners were ready with the answer. "You may tell me, Carrie," said the young teacher, singling out a 5-year-old who had seemed uncommonly eager to be singled, and the 5-year-old, with a beaming smile, in a loud and cheerful voice proclaimed, "A wart."

IRREGULAR BUSINESS METHODS.

Uncle Rastus (to grocer)—Mister Smif tole me ter come heah an' git a sack o' flour an' a plug o' terbackah, an' yo' is ter charge 'em ter him. Grocer (dubiously)—I don't know about that, Uncle Rastus. Was it a verbal order that he gave you? Uncle Rastus—No, sah; he jes tole me ter git 'em. Yo' hain't 'fraid ter trus' a gemmen like Mister Smif, is yo'?

PAYING HIM HIS PROFIT.

Hatter—Vy, dot's dirt scheap! I dole you vot, I don' make ten cent profit on dot if I sell um at dot brice! Chinaman—Welle, I pay you ten centee plofit an' takee hatte. All light?—Harper's Bazar.

Giving the Other Woman a Show.

An old shanty boat, with a tin stern wheel and a general air of having been a tender to Noah's ark, has been at the mouth of Jack's run, near Bellevue, since the spring. John Whitfield, his wife and another woman lived on the boat. The ark is gone now, and the happy family is no longer happy.

On Saturday Whitfield sent his wife to town to collect an alleged debt, and in her absence he and the female took the train for Wheeling. Mrs. Whitfield was broken hearted at first, when she found that her faithless lord had flown. The neighbors comforted her, however, and last evening she said: "Well, I've supported John by sewing for ten years, and I guess I'll give the other woman a show now."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Shrewd Boy.

A jar of preserves had effected a very mysterious disappearance during the night, and the fact was mentioned at the breakfast table next morning. Denials of guilt came from every side, but it was noticed that one particular youngster was silent.

"And what have you to say, Georgie?" finally said his aunt, turning toward him. And then very honestly and solemnly came the response:

"My pa don't allow me to talk at the table."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Saved by a Miracle.

A couple from the humbler walks of life came before a justice of the peace to be married, when, the ceremony being over, the bride began to weep copiously.

"What's the matter?" asked the new husband.

"I never told you that I don't know how to cook," sobbed the bride.

"Don't fret. I'll not have anything for you to cook. I'm a poet."—German Joke.

What Wall Street Wants.

It struck Mr. Lewis that he could make money by photographing the Delaware county house where Mr. Gould was born and sell copies in Wall street. He journeyed down the river with his trunk full of the pictures. But they didn't sell. "We don't care a continental for Gould's birthplace," said a broker to Lewis, confidentially. "What this world wants is a peep at Gould's tombstone."—New York Times.

ESTABLISHED IN 1838.

LIGHT DRINKS FOR THE PEOPLE.

S. B. WINN & SON,

191 Washington St., Salem,

Near the Eastern Railroad Depot.

MANUFACTURERS OF ALL KINDS OF SUMMER DRINKS, INCLUDING

GINGER ALE,
TONIC,
GINGER,
HOP,
and other BEERS.

Our Ginger Ale will be found far superior to any now on the market. It is put up in half pint bottles, in a neat and convenient manner. We pride ourselves upon the purity and originality of the ingredients selected for the compounding of this harmless and at the same time beneficial summer beverage.

Charged Soda Fountains

All sizes, constantly on hand.

Soda Water in Syphons.

Our Iron Clad Fountains give universal satisfaction.

All the water used in our manufactured drinks is filtered in the best possible manner. The composition used in charging our Soda Fountains is the best and purest known, notwithstanding the superior claims made by others. We challenge a comparison.

MOXIE NERVE FOOD $1 per dozen

In addition to the above, we keep constantly in stock, all kinds of

PURE LIQUORS,

FOR FAMILY AND MEDICINAL PURPOSES.

Cigars of the best brands, can be had.

Our steam apparatus for charging Fountains and Bottling, has all the modern improvements suggested by mechanical appliances. This is the only steam charging apparatus of the kind in Essex County, and the public are invited to call and see it in operation.

Samples of goods shown with pleasure.

Goods delivered in all parts of the city, Beverly, Danvers and Peabody, free of charge

S. B. WINN, F. M. WINN.

Telephone, 222.

may 5—4m

The Most Successful PREPARED FOOD. FOR NEW-BORN INFANTS.

It may be used with confidence, when the mother is unable to nurse the child, as a safe and natural substitute for mother's milk.

The BEST FOOD to be used in connection with PARTIAL NURSING.

No other food answers so perfectly in such cases It causes no disturbance of digestion and will be relished by the child.

A SURE PREVENTIVE and CURE for CHOLERA INFANTUM.

By the use of this predigestic and easily assimilated Food, fatal results in this dreded diseas can be surely prevented.

A Perfect Nutrient for INVALIDS in either Chronic or Acute Cases.

Hundreds of physicians testify to its great value It will be retained when even lime water and milk is rejected by the stomach. In dyspepsia, and in all wasting diseases it has proved the most nutritious and palatable, and the same time the most economical of Foods. For an infant may be made.

150 MEALS for $1.00.

Sold by Druggists—25c., 50c., $1.00.

☞A valuable pamphlet entitled "Medical Opinions on the Nutrition of Infants and Invalids." sent free on application.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington, Vt

CICARS!

CICARS!

CICARS!

Those desiring to purchase a good Cigars, look at our assortment of Imported and Domestic.

Discount by box.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

TRY OUR

JAMAICA GINGER.

THE

EARLIEST FRUIT,

And Best Native and Southern Vegetables, Berries and Fruit,

— AT —

Porter's Market,

3 & 5 Central St., Salem.

may 19—4m

DRS. KIMBALL & HOWARD

DENTISTS,

157 UNION STREET, LYNN.

(Spinney's Block near Central Station)

Make a specialty of administering the New Vegetable Vapor and extracting teeth. No charge for the Vapor when more than one tooth is extracted at a sitting.

Also are thorough masters of the profession of Dentistry, in both mechanical and operative branches. jy 7—1y

OPENING !

OPENING !

— OF THE —

—New House Furnishing Emporium,—

On WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 8th,

AT 9 O'CLOCK A. M.

Music in the Evening by the Salem Brass Band.

Furniture and Carpets.

THE LARGEST CARPET HALL IN THE CITY.

Stoves, Ranges, Crockery Ware, Wooden Ware, Clocks and Kitchen Furnishings, in fact everything to furnish your homes from Cellar to Attic.

8 Floors filled to overflowing with a mammoth Stock of which will be sold at prices that we will guarantee shall be the lowest of any quoted, by any House in Boston for Cash or by our special system of credit, in weekly or monthly payments.

FURNITURE AND CARPETS,

W. C. PACKARD FURNITURE AND CARPET CO.,

Largest House Fusnishers in Eastern Massachusetts,

281 Essex & 1, 3, 5, 7 Combie Streets,

NEXT TO MECHANICS HALL.

A VALUABLE COMPOUND

— OF —

Bitter Barks and Roots, Combined with Iron and Pure Sherry Wine, called

FERRATED HYGIENIC WINE.

Recommended for Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, General Debility, Nervous Prostration and Lassitude; is especially adapted to delicate ladies.

See that the trade mark

Is stamped on every label. Prepared by

C. H. & J. Price,

SALEM.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

LADIES & GENTLEMEN,

CALL AT

CYRUS C. TREVETT'S,

IF YOU WANT

The most durable and stylish boots at bottom prices, be sure and bring the children.

110 UNION STREET.

LYNN, MASS.

jy 7—1 y

M. N. BLACK,

Hair Work and Hair Goods,

80 MARKET ST. LYNN.

Opposite W. B. Gifford's.

je 30—3m

DR. LEON RIDEOUT,

DENTIST,

Has removed his office to his Residence,

NO. 3 JOHNSON STREET,

Third House from City Hall,

LYNN, MASS.

Hours, 8 to 12; 1 to 5.

Change, for better accommodation of my patrons.

je 9—1y

Finest Pianos and Organs.

Pianos, $25 down, then $10 per month. Organs, $5 down, then $5 per month

EVERY INSTRUMENT WARRANTED.

☞ No charge for carting to Peabody.

W. D. BROWN,

76 MARKET STREET,

LYNN.

may 5—3m

LAWN OUTFITS,

HAMMOCK CHAIRS,

Canvas and Woven wire Cots, Spring Beds and Mattresses, Parlor Furniture, Loose Covers, Window Shades and Draperies.

WILSON & DUFFY

17 City Hall Square,

LYNN.

Old furniture re-upholstered in the latest styles; good work and moderate prices; satisfaction guaranteed.

ORDERS BY MAIL PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

je 30—3m

OIL STOVES & REFRIGERATORS.

Purchasers are invited to call and examine the GARLAND OIL STOVE, which is acknowledged to be the BEST OIL STOVE in the market. We have also several good patterns of Low Priced Oil Stoves.

Our stock of

REFRIGERATORS,

Uprights and Chests, is complete and of the BEST MAKES.

LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH.

☞ Easy Terms on Instalments.

WADLEIGH & MORSE,

81 North St.,

SALEM.

fe 9—3m

Mrs. M. A. McNeil,

LADIES'

FANCY GOODS STORE

149 Essex St., Salem.

Special attention given to

Spinal Corsets, Shoulder Braces, Abdominal Supporters, etc,

Also keep constantly on hand the largest variety of Corsets and Children's Waists in Essex County.

And have just received a large line of

INFANTS' & CHILDREN'S DRESSES,

Up to Ten years of age. Please call and examine.

REMEMBER THE NUMBER,

149 ESSEX STREET

A few doors below the Museum.

mch 31—6m

E. W. GOULD

BAY STATE

Steam Dyeing and Cleansing

WORKS.

9 1-2 FRONT STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

Promptness is our Motto.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Goods called for and Delivered.

AGENTS:

J. W. Pitcher, Atlantic block, Beverly; I. S. Day, Oak St., near the depot, Beverly Farms; Beals & Abbott, cor. Maple & Locust Sts., Danvers; B. F. Stevens, 16 Main St., Peabody; T. W. Slade, Manchester-by-the-sea; Wm. S. Stanley, 4 Grader's block, Marblehead; Benj. P. Edwards, Main St., Topsfield.

Miss BASSETT, formerly of the Essex Dye House, will be at our Office, No. 9 1-2 Front Street.

LEE HALL.

CLASSICAL & COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

CITY HALL SQUARE,

LYNN.

Business studies, also preparation for College and for the Institute of Technology. For terms and other information send for circular.

FRANK O. BALDWIN
Principal.

je 30—3m

HALLOWELL & SMILEY.

We desire to remind the people of Peabody that our store is well stocked with the

BEST MEATS & PROVISIONS,

THE CHOICEST VEGETABLES,

and will be found always

A Good Place to Trade.

Our Prices are always the Lowest.

REMEMBER US.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

Jas. Lafreniere,

HAIR DRESSER,

Has taken the shop under Baldwin's Hotel, where all who favor him with their patronage will receive

Courteous and Prompt Attention.

Diseases of the Head and Hair treated. A share of patronage solicited.

BALDWIN'S HOTEL, FOSTER ST.,

PEABODY.

may 26—4t

HOTEL NAHANT.

NAHANT BEACH.

SAM'L SOULE & SON, PROPS.

Is now open to Guests.

Horse cars from Salem and Peabody direct to the house.

Fish dinners a specialty.

Connected by Telephone.

P. O. Address' LYNN, MASS.

ROYAL

FULL WEIGHT
ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER

BAKING

POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multituds of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., 106 Wall street, N. Y.

2d8

THE BRYANT & STRATTON
COMMERCIAL SCHOOL INK

BOSTON.

Largest & Most Successful in the World,

Will Re-open Monday, Sept. 6th.

THE COURSE OF STUDY is thorough, complete and practical. Pupils are fitted for the duties and work of every-day life.

THE FACULTY embraces a list of twenty teachers and assistants, elected with special reference to proficiency in each department.

THE STUDENTS are young people of both sexes, full of diligence and zeal.

THE DISCIPLINE is of the highest order and includes valuable business lessons.

THE PATRONAGE is the largest of any Commercial School in the world.

THE REPUTATION of this school for originality and leadership and as the Standard Institution of its kind is generally acknowledged.

THE SCHOOL BUILDING is centrally located and purposely constructed.

SPECIAL COURSE. Shorthand, Type-Writing, Composition and Correspondence may be taken as a special course.

SITUATIONS in Business Houses furnished its pupils completes the varied inducements to attend this school.

On and after Aug. 23d, the Principal may be seen daily from 9 till 2 o'clock, at the School Building, 608 Washington St. Prospectus, containing full information concerning course of study, terms, etc., post free.

For "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated school teachers, milliners, seamstresses, housekeepers, and over-worked women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all restorative tonics. It is not a "Cure-all," but admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most potent Specific for all those Chronic Weaknesses and Diseases peculiar to women. It is a powerful, general as well as uterine, tonic and nervine, and imparts vigor and strength to the whole system. It promptly cures weakness of stomach, indigestion, bloating, weak back, nervous prostration, debility and sleeplessness, in either sex. Favorite Prescription is sold by druggists under our positive guarantee. See wrapper around bottle. Price $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

A large treatise on Diseases of Women, profusely illustrated with colored plates and numerous wood-cuts, sent for 10 cents in stamps. Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

SICK HEADACHE, Bilious Headache, and Constipation, promptly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pellets. 25c. a vial, by druggists.

CROQUET.

The best sett in the city for $1.00.

Lawn Tennis Setts.

From $10.00 upwards.

RACKETS.

SUMMER READING

OF ALL KINDS.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

216 & 220 Essex St.,

SALEM.

DESIRABLE REAL ESTATE

IN PEABODY,

FOR SALE.

The estate owned and occupied by C. C. Farwell and situated on the corner of Grove and Walnut streets, is offered for sale at a low price and on easy terms.

The estate consists of a two story frame dwelling house, containing 12 rooms, with water and gas, a barn 28x35, and about three quarters of an acre of land.

For a manufactory, with dwellings for the owner and tenants, there is no better situation in the county.

Address, or apply to

F. E. FARNHAM,
8 Allen's Block,
Peabody Square.

je 16

MASSACHUSETTS

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

AT WORCESTER.

For the Training of Teachers.

Fall Term begins Thursday, Sept. 9, 1886.
Spring Term begins February 3, 1887.
Tuition and use of Text-Books FREE. For particulars address

E. H. RUSSELL, Principal.

HOW THE FIGHT BEGAN.

Origin of a Row in Donnybrook Fair. Heads and Shillelahs.

How did the row begin? I have been trying for the last half hour to find out; but, after all, no one but an Englishman would have asked the question. I cannot tell you the least, but I can form a pretty good idea, and perhaps convey one to your readers, by explaining how a row that I witnessed many years ago in Donnybrook fair, of immortal memory, did begin.

It was late in the afternoon, and the fair had preserved an unwonted air of quiet during the day, when there came staggering along, close to where I was standing, an Irishman who was evidently "spoiling for a fight." Close by stood a dancing booth, one of the ordinary canvas tents one sees at every fair, or race course for that matter, with a platform in the middle and a bench running all round, on which the spectators sat. On the outside, as they sat could be clearly seen, under the thin covering of the tents, the outlines of their figures as they leaned against the canvas.

"Four o'clock an' no foight yet," muttered the new arrival, regretfully, as he steadied himself to look round for a possible antagonist. Suddenly his eye caught the booth, and rested approvingly upon it, when the canvas swayed with the heads and shoulders of the spectators within. Without a moment's hesitation he gave a "haroosh," waved his shillelah round his head, and brought it down with all his force upon the projection nearest to him, representing the skull of some hapless inmate, who, in fancied security, was enjoying a quiet view of the proceedings inside. The projection disappeared, and with it the owner of the head which had caused it. In a moment the inmates of the booth swarmed out—all save one; and so the fight began.

It must have been somewhat thus that the row began to-day. One moment there was good humor and quiet; a little bustling, perhaps an occasional cheer or an intermittent "boo," and the next a tossing sea of heads, surmounted by a sort of surge of shillelahs.—Tyrone Cor. London Globe.

On the Edge of Society.

The most prominent characteristic of the young man who believes he hovers about the edge of society is his disposition to speak ostentatiously of his debts. I was going to Kingston the other day when I found myself seated next to a young man of unknown income whose acquaintance I was obliged to acknowledge. He wore yellow and brown plaid trousers, a dark brown blouse, a white necktie and a pure white crush hat. I recognized the outfit and said:

"Going to the mountains, eh?"

"Yes, b'Jove; you don't know what a relief it is. I positively had to slip down through side streets to the ferry."

"Why, what did you do that for?"

"The beastly collectors were after me. I assure you I have not had a moment's peace in six months. Tailors' bills, shoe dealers' bills and haberdashers' bills have been thrust in my face at every corner I turned, don't you know. These people have no consideration for the feelings of a gentleman. They have made me wretched, most wretched. But now (drawing a long breath) I am clear from them all. I shall stay away till snow flies, if I freeze clear through for it. I'd rather be an icicle, don't you know, than the objective point of a collector."

The pitiful little object didn't owe a cent in the world, except to his landlady. Not that he was honest, but because he could not get trusted for a cigarette, let alone a suit of clothing. The fly suit that he wore, I happened to know, had been purchased at a $10-for-this-week-only sale in Eighth avenue, and when his landlady threw him out he bundled off to the Catskills, where he hoped that his dainty manners and imitation English would give him provender for a week or two. Meantime he must needs pour the tale of his persecutions from collectors into the ears of those whom he could not thus defraud because it was fashionable to imitate the young men about town who have credit and abuse it.—New York Cor. Brooklyn Eagle.

Chief "Bill Poster" of England.

A man who is engaged in business, no matter how extensive it is and how educated and gentlemanly he may be, is considered as being "in the trade," which is a bar to his being presented to the queen, and, consequently, to his admission into the sacred circle of the aristocracy. I know of but one exception to this rule. Hon. W. H. Smith, a former member of the lords of the admiralty, consequently a member of the ministry, and who was formerly a member of parliament, is called the chief "bill poster" of all England. He gained this title from being the president of a company which rents all the sites in London, on all the railroad platforms, and in depots and other available places throughout England where bills and signs can be posted, and which are sublet to parties wishing to advertise. The company also has control of all the news stands at railroad depots and in the cities of England, and are thus engaged in selling newspapers on a gigantic scale all over Great Britain, in addition to the rather small business, although on a great scale, of renting out space for bills and posters. This great "bill poster" and "newsvender," in spite of his plebeian business, has the entree to aristocratic society, simply on account of his ability as a politician and having been a member of the ministry.—London Cor. Cleveland Leader.

The Bubble So Many Admire.

The warp and woof of English society is a sham. Thackeray saw it out of the clearest kind of cosmopolitan eyes, and even Dickens was not wholly dead to it. But, while the purse holds out, it is resplendent indeed. The bully in the men makes good soldiers. The power of England is undeniable. The slave in the woman, when she does not elope, makes excellent housewifery. The domestic fabric of England is respectable and orderly. But the church, the state and the home built upon the poise and balance of classes in the relation which now exists, and which, with trifling incidents not seriously disturbing the personal life of England, has existed since Magna Charta.—Henry Watterson in Courier-Journal.

A Raspberry Picking Machine.

A citizen of Yates, N. Y., has invented a machine for picking raspberries. It consists of a long tray made of cloth affixed to a light frame. This tray is carried from bush to bush very easily, and with a large hook in one hand the operator draws the bush over the tray, while with the other hand he strikes the bush lightly with a padded bat. It has been proven that for $15 as many berries can be picked as cost before $60. In other words, one person with this tray can gather sixty quarts per hour, or 600 quarts in ten hours.—Chicago Times.

The "Free State of Dade."

On the northwest corner of Georgia lies the county of Dade. This is known to the neighboring regions as the free state of Dade, owing not only to the wild and mountainous character of the region whose few and scattered inhabitants are in keeping with their surroundings, but because during the war of the rebellion they openly seceded from the state of Georgia and the Confederacy and managed to secure a freedom which they virtually maintain to-day.—Cor. Washington Star.

Brevities.

A Profane Upstart—The man who sat on a pin.—Texas Siftings.

Teacher—Hans, name three beasts of prey. Hans—Two lions and a tiger.—German.

A Chinaman was a witness in a case before the district court yesterday afternoon, and when it was asked him if he desired a chicken killed upon which to make oath, indignantly exclaimed: "Hella, no, cuss allee samee Melican man."—Albuquerque (N. M.) Journal.

Student—We treated the patient in the most approved way. Doctor—How? Student—Well, we put him on milk diet, then we put him on wine, then we put him on the electrical treatment, and now— Doctor—You will put him on ice.—Hotel Mail.

"Laura," said Mrs. Parvenu, on the hotel piazza, to her daughter, "Laura, go and ask the leader of them orchestras to play that 'sympathy from Meddlejohn' over again. It's such an awful favorite of mine, and your father's, too.—Boston Traveller.

She had a pretty hat,
And she had a little cough;
And her little cough, it is no harm to mention,
When in the church she sat,
Shook the plumes upon her hat,
And to its many beauties called attention.
—Boston Courier.

A bachelor advertised for a "helpmate—one who would prove a companion for his heart, his hand and his lot." A fair one replying asked very earnestly, "How big is your lot?" —Church Press.

Died—At 4 p. m., Aug. 5, in the chambers of the Capitol, Forty-ninth congress, after an illness of seven months and twenty-nine days. Interment private.

Dearest congress, thou hast left us,
And thy loss we deeply feel;
But 'tis heaven that hath bereft us;
It can all our sorrows heal.
—Washington Critic.

A Boston lady was making some purchases in a drug store in Kansas City recently, when a countryman came swinging along, and in a loud voice addressed the dapper clerk with, "Say, mister, goteny caster ile?" "Certainly, sir," he replied. "Do you wish it for lubricating purposes?" "Thunder, no! I wanter greeze my waggin."—Boston Herald.

We can't see for the life of us why a woman tries to shoo a hen with the front of her dress, when by turning around and shaking her bustle she might put an ordinary hen into spasms.—Germantown Independent.

Lightning recently passed between a mule and a lawyer in Texas, and killed the lawyer. It was not easy to discriminate between the two, but the lightning evidently wanted to test its powers to the fullest, and so chose the hardest subject.—Boston Post.

A fellow who was scalped by the Apache Indians says that his head felt like a red onion with a mustard plaster blistering it.—Philadelphia Herald.

In England the population doubles in fifty years. The American cucumber evidently has not found its way over there yet.—Yonkers Statesman.

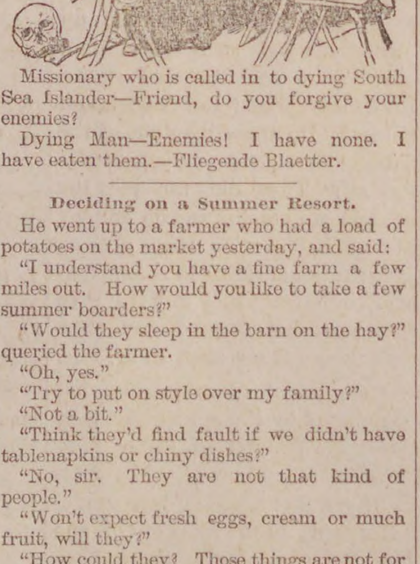
Ex-Sergeant Connell, who is a survivor of the Greely expedition, was not fit to eat. He will lecture.—New Orleans Picayune.

It is a curious fact that the sun never shines so hot on the baseball ground as it does on the harvest field.—New Holland Clarion.

Our Contemporary's Ill-Timed Humor.

Abe Eli, a member of the Tail Holt Hook and Ladder company, is lying very low at his home across the creek with sunstroke. It is supposed that he overheated himself while trying to rescue a stone doorstep at the time of the burning of Mr. E. B. Skinner's ice cream and undertaking emporium near the postoffice last spring. The statement in The Clams Falls Ledger, that "it looks as if Abe was going to get there, Eli," is very ill-timed. Fun is fun, and no one is fonder of his jeu de spirit than we are, but we know when to laugh and when to not laugh. The readers of The Tail Holt Palladium will never be rudely shocked by ill-timed merriment in these columns.—Bill Nye.

At Peace With His Enemies.



Missionary who is called in to dying South Sea Islander—Friend, do you forgive your enemies?

Dying Man—Enemies! I have none. I have eaten them.—Fliegende Blaetter.

Deciding on a Summer Resort.

He went up to a farmer who had a load of potatoes on the market yesterday, and said:

"I understand you have a fine farm a few miles out. How would you like to take a few summer boarders?"

"Would they sleep in the barn on the hay?" queried the farmer.

"Oh, yes."

"Try to put on style over my family?"

"Not a bit."

"Think they'd find fault if we didn't have tablenapkins or chiny dishes?"

"No, sir. They are not that kind of people."

"Won't expect fresh eggs, cream or much fruit, will they?"

"How could they? Those things are not for summer boarders."

"Well, if that's the kind of people they are, and they'll pay in advance and keep to themselves, we might take five or six of them at $7 or $8 a piece."

A CRITICAL TIME.

"Ma can't see you," said a Cass avenue girl of 10 as a peddler ascended the front steps.

"Is she at home?"

Yes, sir, but she's very busy."

"Will you ask her to step to the door?"

"No, sir. She's up stairs trying on her bathing suit before the big mirror. When she gets it on she's going to pose. If she looks statuesque we're going to the seashore. If she just seems to be common we're going out in the country to Uncle William's. Please go away and don't disturb the poses."—Detroit Free Press.

He Needs but One Thing More.

We are told an affecting story by a gentleman from Peoria, Ills. A little dog had one of his legs badly crushed under a loaded dray. A young physician picked up the suffering animal tenderly, carried it home, and found that only amputation could save its life, which was done in a very skillful manner. The sagacious dog, it appears, did not forget the great service, for one day when the physician called, some months after the surgical operation was performed, it hopped up nimbly on its three pins and nipped a good big piece out of the calf of the Good Samaritan's leg. Now he only needs the hydrophobia.—Cincinnati Commercial.

Some One Must Have Put Them There.

Here's a story of how stumping for Congress was conducted years back. Blackburn and Marshall were running for Congress, and as usual each said hard things about the other. At last the personalities became so bitter that it was feared an encounter would ensue. Finally, to smooth matters, the friends of both parties made them promise to go unarmed. As was customary in those days the contestants journeyed together, and it so happened one night that both had to sleep in one bed. When the hour for retiring came both appeared reluctant to disrobe. Looking at each other in silence for a minute or two Blackburn spoke up and accused Marshall of being armed. This was indignantly denied, but in removing his clothes Blackburn caught sight of the butt end of a pistol, and calling Marshall's attention to it said: "Now, Marshall, you see I'm unarmed." Then, as Blackburn pulled off his coat two pistols and a knife dropped to the floor. Joe gave them a sad look and said: "I wonder who put them in my pocket." Both men then shook hands and agreed that honors were even and the best feeling existed throughout the rest of the campaign.

He Was Looking for Promotion.

"I was in the Washington oil field a few days ago," said a gentleman to-day, "and on my return I had to wait nearly a half hour for a train and I amused myself by taking in the sights around the station. A lady evangelist was there getting in her work in first-class order until she came up to a neatly dressed young man, who, I noticed, had been very intently perusing the columns of Zion's Watch Tower. "My young friend, are you a watchman on Zion's walls?" asked the lady. The young man blushed to the roots of his hair and said: "No, ma'am, I am only a night watchman in Cannonsburg, but I am looking for promotion soon." The crowd fairly shouted with laughter and the lady joined in.

The well known strengthening properties of Iron, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

The materials for that favorite New England dish "succotash" are now at hand.

The love of money is the root of evil. There is a constant overproduction of the root crop.

A huge derrick-pole fell and severely injured the foot of mechanical engineer E. R. Hoyt at the New Orleans Exposition and after only three applications of St. Jacobs Oil, all the swelling and pain disappeared.

A burlesque troupe is probably called a stock company because there is a great display of calves.

"100 Doses One Dollar" is true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy.

Already the days are noticeably shortening up, a harbinger that time rolls on and winter approaches.

The most astonishingly beneficial results have followed the use of Red Star Cough Cure by those affected with throat and lung troubles. Price, twenty-five cents.

A merchant who gives no credit can heed the injunction "post no bills."

Common dollars are not scarce wherever common sense is abundant.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla vitalizes and purifies the blood. If you feel dull and languid you need it.

When a young man wants to protect a young lady he puts his armor round her.

Don't despise a thing because it is small. A jug will hold more than most men.

For foul stomach, constipation, and fetid breath, Ayer's Pills are a radical and entire cure.

Better to have loved a short girl than never to have loved at all.

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming 'smaller by degrees, and beautifully less.' I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

WHAT WE ARE SELLING.

Our Stock of

CHAMBER SETS

was never so extensive.

A Fine ASH SET, 10 pieces, for $23.00.
Full B. W. SET, Marble Top, $39.00.
Hard Wood Cottage Bed, $2.00.
Hard Wood French Bed, $3.00.

All Sorts of CHAMBER, KITCHEN and PARLOR FURNITURE at Lowest Rates.

We are offering our large line of Children's Carriages at Large Discount.

We have a big lot of OIL CLOTH and CARPETS, BRUSSELS, TAPESTRY, EXTRA SUPERS and INGRAINS, and sell as low as anybody.

We have a very large line of

CURTAINS and SHADES,

and our Prices are Low. CALL AND SEE ABOUT IT.

C. H. GOULDING.

Double Store, Walnut Street,

IF YOU ARE GOING TO THE SEASHORE OR COUNTRY YOU WILL NEED

Flannel Shirts,
Fancy Shirts,
Under Shirts,

HOSIERY, SUSPENDERS, GLOVES

and a host of other things conducive to comfort.

We can supply you with the BEST, at Bottom Prices.

W. S. NEAL & CO.,

MEN'S FURNISHERS AND SHIRT MAKERS,

228 & 230 Essex St., Salem.

LADIES OF SALEM AND VICINITY,

It affords us pleasure to call your attention to our celebrated

HAND-SEWED SHOES

For Comfort, Beauty and Durability, they are not equalled. They are crumbs of comfort by the wayside.

Beware of Imitations! None genuine without the name Grover on the Sole.

Please Call and Examine them at the Store of

L. CUNNINGHAM,

147 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Agent for Salem and vicinity.

mch 31—1y

Massey

CRAYON ARTIST & PHOTOGRAPHER;

252 Essex Street, Salem.

Having refitted and refurnished our gallery with new Lenses, Cameras, Backgrounds, Accessories, etc., etc., and having one of the largest and finest operating rooms and skylights in the country, we now have facilities second to none for doing first class work in all branches of Photography.

We have just purchased the finest instruments obtainable for making pictures from 8x10 to 24x24 (full life size) direct from the sitter, and make them either bust, half or full length, or groups. To introduce them we shall make them very low for three months.

We have special facilities for copying old and faded Photographs, Daguerreotypes, Ambrotypes, Tintypes, etc. Before giving your pictures to agents, come to us, and see our samples and get our prices. You can save money and at the same time get better work and not risk the breaking or losing of your pictures in the mails.

We make a specialty of Life Size Free Hand Crayons, made from any kind of picture or from life. One of the advantages, not to speak of the superior artistic qualities, of free hand work over the mechanically finished solars, is that any changes from the original, no matter how great, can be easily made, whereas in the finished solar but very slight changes can be made. We can furnish duplictaes from any negative ever taken by N. C. Bosuley.

Call and see what we are doing, all will be treated courtesy whether anything is desired o rnot.

CHOICE VERMONT BUTTER.

We have just received a car load of VERMONT BUTTER which we shall offer by the tub at prices which

— WE WILL NAME WHEN YOU CALL. —

IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE US

Meats and Vegetables of all kinds at the

LOWEST PRICES FOR SPOT CASH.

Ames & Edgerly's Cash Market,

NEXT TO SAMUEL TRASK'S.

REMOVAL SALE.

This Week for Bargains.

On and after September 1st, we will occupy the rooms lately occupied by the Post Office. They have been thoroughly refitted and all necessary changes made to accommodate our large stock, therefore we are pleased to announce that on the above date we will be able to meet the wants of our customers in one of the finest stores in town.

Prior to removal we have marked onr whole stock at prices that will sell the goods and please the customers.

Everybody invited to call. Every buyer assured a benefit.

NUGENT BROS.,

PEABODY SQUARE.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers

AT THE REPUBLICAN State Convention, last year, the committee on resolutions, of which Henry Cabot Lodge was chairman, reported the following which was adopted and became a part of the platform of the republican party in this State: "Massachusetts under republican rule has done much for labor. No other State approaches our record in this respect. We urge a close and continued attention to all questions affecting this great interest, and we commend to the legislature a careful consideration of the plan of a state board of arbitration, of the principle of employers' liability, of the regulation of convict labor so that it shall not compete with the honest labor of the commonwealth, and of more frequent payment of wages by corporations."

We said then, in our columns, that we believed the party meant what it said; the resolution was not clap-trap to catchv otes. It meant a new departure in the Republican party. It meant that these issues, which had been put forward and advocated by the then National party, must be met; that the party was ready to meet them, and to declare itself in harmony with the labor party in these respects. In commending the resolutions, in advocating any or all of these issues, we claim to stand solidly on the platform of the Republican party, with which we were then as we are now in sympathy. Members of this same party who have been unwilling to follow us in our efforts to secure, locally, a settlement of the labor troubles by arbitration, were members on the floor of the same convention which commended to the legislature a state board of arbitration.

Has the Republican party in Massachusetts fulfilled its promise? Did the resolution of Henry Cabot Lodge mean anything? A state board of arbitration has been established, appointed by Gov. Robinson, and it has already organized, the third man having been agreed upon. A bill providing for the weekly payment of employes in corporations was passed and signed by the Governor. These were two of the important measures which the National party had long advocated. They were indorsed by the platform at Springfield and have been made a part of the laws of the state by a Republican legislature

It has done more. It has caused to be proposed for the consideration of the next legislature, to the end that if adopted by them, it may be submitted to the people, the abolition of the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting for certain officers, viz:—Governor and Lieutenant Governor, Senators and Representatives. We do not contend that the Republican party is a unit on this latter point. Its policy has been in the opposite direction. Yet such a well-known Republican as Ex-Governor Boutwell advocated this policy years ago, and in the legislature Republicans of life-long standing voted in favor of the submission of this amendment to the people. And we are surprised to see an attempt, in some directions, to prevent the re-election of Republicans who voted for this measure, as if our legislators were not expected to vote according to their consciences in the measures considered by them.

Of the state board of arbitration, much has been said by those who were evidently unacquainted with its mode of procedure. The board cannot arbitrate unless there is something to arbitrate on. They must be asked to arbitrate. Parties in dispute must agree to submit their differences to them, and to abide by their decision. They have no power, for instance, to come here and settle the difficulties, unless both sides agree to submit their difference to them. So it is conceivable that however able and conscientious men they may be, there may be nothing for them to do.

We commend this board of arbitration, the manner in which it was formed, together with the resolutions of the last Republican convention, to those Republican papers that hold up their hands in horror at the thought of such a thing as arbitration. We commend them to the manufacturers, some of whose committee were members of the convention which declared in favor of arbitration. Are we not consistent with the principles there adopted, and in harmony with the platform of the party, in advocating arbitration here as a settlement of difficulties? Was not Henry Cabot Lodge, who reported the resolution, consistent in recommending in the Boston Advertiser a settlement of our difficulties by arbitration, rather than the editor of the Salem Gazette, who is surprised at being opposed by such good authority?

* * *

THE SALEM Gazette quotes very freely from our article of last week, in which we alluded to the mistakes which had been made by the Knights of Labor. It then says:—

> The PRESS here makes a series of very important admissions to the general effect that the Knights have made demands that are not only morally indefensible but that are even inconsistent with allowing an employer to conduct a successul business!

These admissions are evidently a surprise to the Gazette. From its standpoint, it cannot see that a paper which is not willing to condemn in toto the Knights of Labor, can admit that this body have made mistakes. There is not a single step that the manufacturers have taken, that is not right, according to the Gazette. Nothing can be done or has been done by the Knights that is not wrong, by the same authority. The Gazette expects us to reverse the proposition, and is surprised that we should condemn anything done by the Knights of Labor.

The PRESS is not the organ of the manufacturers, as the Gazette evidently is; it is not the organ of the Knights of Labor, as no one would ever accuse the Gazette of being. It has tried to point out the errors of BOTH SIDES; it has claimed that both sides had rights; it has pointed a method of settlement honorable to both parties. If this is what the Gazette calls a "duplex attitude," we are perfectly willing to stand by it. We shall feel that we have done our duty as it has been made known to us, with no bitterness or harsh feeling.

The Gazette asks for our reasons for hazarding an opinion that the Knights are willing to acknowledge any of their mistakes. We have several which we will try to make clear to the Gazette. In regard to the Harrington boycott, District Assembly 77 has recently appointed a new Executive Board,—consisting of conservative and careful men. It has been understood—we don't vouch for its truth—that the old Board of District 77 was not unanimous in insisting that the single non-union man, with whom Mr. Harrington made a contract, should not be allowed to work with the others. Furthermore, in cases like this in other districts where a conference between the manufacturers and the Knights have been held, as was the case in the Harrington trouble, SOME SATISFACTORY SETTLEMENT HAS BEEN ARRIVED AT. It looks to an outside party that the body of Knights were not pleased that the old District Board failed to make a settlement with Harrington at the outset, and that the selection of a new Board was an admission of that fact.

In regard to the mistake in the demands made upon the manufacturers, when those demands referred to matters which must always be under the control of the employer, we had in mind the accompaniments of the splitters' price list, regarding the sorting of leather, the taking of apprentices, and the like. Our opinion that the Knights acknowledge this to be a mistake is formed from the fact that some of these splitters, even the originators of the list, have yielded; and inasmuch as we are informed that there was not an unanimity of feeling regarding the presentation of the list at the outset.

The Gazette further says: "If the organization is willing to acknowledge its error, why does it not do so? There is nothing to prevent." Is'nt there? To whom can they acknowledge it? How can it be made? They have offered conference after conference with the manufacturers, who will not even confer with them; will not even talk over matters in a calm and honorable manner—to say nothing of an attempt to effect a settlement by which the rights of both can be protected. The men have, however, made an attempt towards it. When they agreed with Newman Perkins, INDIVIDUALLY, without a conference on Mr. Perkins' part with the Executive Board, did they not concede something? Was this the way settlements had previously been made? When they agreed not to participate in ANY STRIKE, did they concede nothing? Was not this the point, or one of the points, of the manufacturers' circular? and was not the agreement of Mr. Perkins, individually, with his men, the other point? Will the Gazette tell us what these concessions, or acknowledgement of mistakes, if you will, amounted to? Were the men allowed to work? The Gazette has not told us why Mr. Perkins put back his circular, and why, after the agreement had been made, they were not allowed to work, and he himself was not allowed to continue his business. It CANNOT DO SO, without admitting that after the men, belonging to the Knights of Labor, had conceded all the circular demanded, IT WAS NOT ENOUGH. It cannot do so without admitting that an influence, FROM SOMEWHERE, was brought to bear upon Mr. Perkins, an influence which he did not dare to resist.

The Gazette, finally, says the manufacturers know "what is involved when they depart from the stand they have taken." What is the stand they have taken? Is it that the men should treat individually with them, and agree to participate in no strikes? This cannot be, because this is what Perkins' men agreed to, and he was not allowed to settle thus. The only stand they have taken is that the men must come out from the Knights of Labor. If it don't mean this, what does it mean?

* * *

> Regarding Mr. Perkins, we fail to see, as a matter of fact, any evidence that he has ever been "boycotted," or that the manufacturers have ever endeavored to injure his credit, as has been stated. Mr. Perkins himself denies it to the Press representative. The Press seems to have received an answer from Mr. Perkins that it did not expect, and is now inclined to discredit the testimony of its own witness.—Salem Gazette.

Not a bit of it. The writer of this article, personally, interviewed both Mr. Newman Perkins and his son, who had charge of the shop. The interview was solely for the purpose of LEARNING THE TRUTH. It was not for the purpose, as the Gazette intimates, of obtaining a certain kind of an answer. The Gazette can't seem to realize that it is possible for a paper to publish anything but one side. The PRESS was the only paper to give the settlement between Mr. Perkins and his men. The Gazette has quoted from us twice to prove in Mr. Perkins' words that he was not "boycotted," and that the manufacturers have not attempted to injure his credit. This portion of Mr. Perkins' assertion, in the PRESS, the Gazette has copied. Why don't it give the rest of it, and tell its readers, in Mr. Perkins' words, why he put back the circular and stopped work? So far from being surprised at the result of our interview, we have regarded it as one of the most important and valuable things we have published since the trouble.

Let us refresh editor Horton's memory regarding the putting back of that circular. We quote from our own interview, in Mr. Perkins' words:

> Being asked the reason for this step he said that the parties who were using his stock preferred that he should wait until a settlement was effected with all the manufacturers and the men. The shoe manufacturers who were cutting his stock thought it best under all the circumstances that he should not run at present.

We give the editor of the Gazette credit for the ability to see that this was a very guarded statement. We knew it and felt it. And while we have no doubt that it is technically true, we are equally sure that there was something behind it which Mr. Perkins was unwilling to reveal. It was evidently unpleasant to him, and when he said that the parties in Boston "preferred" that he should put back the circular, we were positive that the preference meant an influence so powerful that he felt compelled to heed it. We have never said that the manufacturers, here, were the influence that compelled him to put the circular back. Mr. Perkins says they were not, to his knowledge. We have never said that any attempt was made to injure his credit. We know of none. All we have said we insist upon, that SOME INFLUENCE was brought to bear upon him. If the Gazette knows where that influence originated better than we do, tell us. It will not, likely, find much "evidence," except in the result. Mr. Perkins is the only man who could give evidence in the matter, and he is not on the stand.

* * *

Judge Merrlll was called upon last Saturday afternoon to perform a marriage ceremony for an ancient couple who had journeyd from New Hampshire. Their ages were 60 and 40. Officer Grady acted as best man and probably kissed the bride at the close of the ceremony.

Nugent Brothers' new store will be opened for business tomorrow morning. They are prepared to give all buyers, who may favor them with a call, generous bargains in boots and shoes.

Mr. U. A. Brophy was made a happy father last Friday night.

NOTES AND COMMMENTS.

Mr. Perkins informed a gentleman last week that he should not start up again until he could "run his own business." He was not prevented from doing so by the Knights at his first starting up. What did he mean by the remark? Perhaps the Salem Gazette can enlighten us.

It is not true that the most of the relief money coming to the men from the treasury of the Knights, finds its way into the pockets of the rumsellers. It is easy for some men to believe anything. For the past three weeks there has been very little drunkenness in this town—no disturbances and unusual quiet on the streets. The rumsellers have not been having what they call a good trade. Ames & Edgerly, who supply the laboring men largely with provisions, report a good business, and that the men pay for their goods. The same report comes from others. Let us give credit where credit is due. The remark that "all the money is spent for rum," creates much applause in certain quarters, and is considered by the same parties a smart thing for a newspaper to say. The trouble is it is not true.

How ready the organs of the Manufacturers are to quote the letter of Parsons, the convicted Chicago Anarchist, in which he says that "the foundation principle of socialism or anarchy is the same as that of the Knights of Labor." And this, too, against the assertion of Mr. Powderly to the contrary. This same Parsons denies any participation in the riot—said he only predicted one. Yet there was evidence enough to convince a jury that he does not tell the truth, and to convict him with the rest, as a murderer. Are his words of more weight than those of Mr. Powderly? With some men, yes, because they agree with their own ideas.

The Gazette now says that a boycott on the part of the manufacturers is self-defence; there is no justification for it on the other side. It says: "When we find, therefore, that a grocer or any other trader has made himself a party to a process which combines to starve a man for presuming to exercise both his legal and natural right to labor for whom he pleases, we have no hesitation in saying it is perfectly right to break that man down in his mean effort by letting him feel that the indefensible process of which he is a part is nothing less than assault upon the general public, to be resisted, as any public enemy should be resisted, by the only effectual means attainable within the limit of what is strictly lawful."

> Senator Douglass of Brockton seems to be unopposed for the lieutenant-governorship, but word comes that he is anxious to go back to the senate.—Boston Globe.

There is no need for the Globe or Senator Douglass to be disturbed. He will not be called upon to leave the Senate for the chair of lieutenant-governor.

Mr. Barry of the State Board of Arbitration says he has not read the article of the Salem Gazette on the Constitutional rights of the Manufacturers, but should like to. Send him up a copy, brother Horton.

We must ask the Gazette to instruct us as to the rights under the constitution of the Manufacturers who do not belong to the Association, like George F. Putnma, who started up work with his old men. Do they have any more constitutional rights after they have joined the Association than before? Do those men out of the Association have any constitutional rights at all? They did not post the circular, and can employ and do employ Knights of Labor. Do they give up their constitutional rights in so employing them, or haven't they any to give up? Just what their status is under the Gazette's theory is not clear to us.

The state board of arbitration has been completed by the appointment of Mr. Chas. H. Walcott, of Concord, as third member of the board. Mr. Walcott is 37 years of age, and is a graduate of Harvard, in the class of '70, and has for the past dozen years been studying and practicing law in the courts of Suffolk and Middlesex counties. He has served in several town offices and is a trustee of a Concord savings bank.

The Boston Journal publishes an interview with Richard P. Barry, one of the members of the State board of Arbitration, and some of his remarks concerning local matters are of interest: Mr. Barry thought that in such a case as the great labor trouble in the leather industry in Salem and Peabody, where 2000 men have been idle for seven weeks, where a matter of $20,000 per week in wages is withdrawn from circulation, where there is a loss to capital and a loss to labor, and where the whole community is suffering, I think the members of the board might go over there and exert their good offices by meeting the parties on both sides to bring about peace and harmony and to effect a settlement, and I think that the next Legislature that met would approve their acts. We discussed that point this afternoon, as to how far we might go in such a case as mediators. You know there was Mr. Squire, as seemingly as stiff as any of these Salem or Peabody manufacturers, but through the good offices of a clergyman and the Mayor a settlement was brought about and mutual concessions were secured. We might exert our good offices in the same way.

Being asked if there had not been a mistake made there, and that the action of the Knights of Labor in so recently changing the membership of their Executive Board was in itself a partial rcognition that it was a mistake? Mr. Barry said, yes, I do. I know that they felt that some of the members of that board were not the men for the place, and so, to use a common phrase, they fired them out, and put in their places their wisest and most conservative men. If these men had been on the board at the start, there would not have been the bad blood that now exists between the manufacturers and their men.

Mr. George F. Putnam of Salem, resumed business this week and his old hands will return to work. It is also reported that Mr. Thomas E. Proctor who has never posted the circular has notified his hands that they can return next Monday. It is understood that he will make an agreement with them similar to the one made by Newman Perkins. The men will consider it to-morrow.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Frank Upton, of N. J., brother of Edgar Upton, is in town.

Mr. Jefferson Canney and family of Minneapolis, Minn., are the guests of Mr. J. L. Colcord.

Miss E. M. Cockburn is at Newport, R. I.

Elbridge and Gertrude Dean are at Centre Harbor.

Mr. William Plummer has gone to Ohio, on a visit.

Mr. W. H. Brown returned last Thursday from a trip to Saratoga, in company with Mr. George S. Harris, wife and daughter and Miss Annie B. Denning of Marblehead.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Littlefield will spend their vacation at Saratoga.

Mr. Walter Harris, a driver for C. F. Hathaway, is spending his vacation at Bath, Me.

Rev. Geo. A. Phinney of the Methodist church, has declined an offer of the Presidency of the New Orleans University, which was recently tendered him.

Mr. Thomas N. Barnaby and son have gone to Middleton, for their vacation.

Mrs. W. W. Pinder and daughter are at Marblehead.

Mr. A. F. Clark, is at Greenfield, N. H.

Misses Helen and Susie Poor are at the Weirs, N. H.

Dr. C. S. Wright and family are rusticating at Cape Cod.

Miss Kate E. Sweeney has been sojourning at Chicopee, Mass.

Mr. James J. Masterson has gone to Whately Mass.

Mrs. Sarah Tigh, of Boston, is visiting in town.

Mrs. Freeman Wallace of Holdeness, N. H., is visiting Mrs. Carr on Holten street.

Mr. C. C. Hills has gone to Sunapee N. H.

Miss Maggie E. Masterson has been visiting City Point, for a week or more.

The Ipswich Chronicle says:—At the Bay View, Alec Clark, wife and family are having, as Mrs. Clark says, "a good time every minute." With them this week are Mrs. Ober, and Miss Mary Geroux of Peabodv.

At Eagle Hill, Peabody House, Mrs. J. B. Thomas, Elmer Thomas, Reuben Nelson, George Walton, Jesse Smith, C. A. Thomas, L. B. Southwick and Henry Thomas of Peabody.

Mr. O. A. Foster is in Chicago on business of the Enos Electric Railroad Company.

Capt. Chas. Estes of Biddeford, Me., is visiting in town.

* * *

The friends of the mother of Rev. C. V. Hanson of Damariscotta, Me., will regret to learn that she had a severe shock of paralysis one day last week.

The picnic of the Essex County C. T. A. Union held at Lake Walden Grove last Wednesday, was largely attended from this town. They arrived home at 8.30.

Nugent Brothers thank all their friends and customers for their generous patronage in the past, and solicit a continuance thereof at their new store, Upton's block, Foster street.

Officer Goodwin while removing the storm signals yesterday, broke the wire connecting Doctor Pikes residence with the stable.

The Band of Hope went to ship rock yesterday and got caught in the rain and went to William Miller's house and spent the afternoon.

The Essex County C. T. A. Union hold their annual convention at Beverly next Tuesday. Delegates will be present from this town.

F. D. TARLTON,

Dry Goods.

THE NEW CORSET.

THE TRICORA RELIEF

Having elastic side sections, adapts itself to the various positions of the body in stooping, sitting & reclining. It affords great relief and comfort to the many who find ordinary Corsets oppressive. The "TRICORA" stays used for boning are unequaled for durability & comfortable support, & are absolutely unbreakable.

Beware of Imitations.

Ask for it

The most Durable, Comfortable, and Healthful Corset ever sold for its price.

Every pair warranted to give satisfaction or money returned.

F. D. TARLTON.

FOR BARGAINS IN

Cotton Hosiery, Light Prints
and Summer Underwear,

—CALL AT—

42 MAIN STREET.

FALL OF 1886.

BRIDAL SILVER.

Through the summer months we have been having made some new styles in

STERLING SILVER,

and have also ordered an immense stock of the best quality

SILVER PLATED WARE.

These goods will be ready early in September, and we are confident we can offer the largest and finest stock of new goods in Essex County. No House in Boston can show a better line of medium price goods than we shall.

DANIEL LOW,

SALEM.

Wedding and Anniversary Presents a Specialty.

IVERS & POND PIANOS.

For the best Pianos in Salem examine the Ivers & Pond if you want a good one. For sale only by W. J. Lefavour. 175 Essex St. Salem.

New Advertisements.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET,

Is the place to buy your

OYSTERS,

opened fresh every day at 30 and 40 cents per quart, also a nice line of Fancy Oysters at 75 cents per quart.

Ocean, Lake and River Fresh Fish,

LOBSTERS and CLAMS

IN THEIR SEASONS.

No. 6 Peabody Square.

R. F. DODGE, - Proprietor.

REPORT

Of the condition of the SOUTH DANVERS NATIONAL BANK, at Peabody, in the State of, Massachusetts, at the close of business, Aug. 27 1886:

RESOURCES.
Loans and Discounts,	$260,152.31
Overdrafts,	43.83
U. S. Bonds to secure Circulation,	150,000.00
Due from other National Banks,	994.95
Real estate, furniture and fixtures	3,000.00
Current expenses and taxes paid,	1,597.88
Premiums paid,	6,300.00
Checks and other cash items,	568.10
Bills of other Banks,	3,478.00
Fractional paper currency, nickels and cents,	35.50
Specie,	5,984.76
Legal-tender notes,	3,500.00
Redemption Fund with U. S. Treasurer, (5 per cent of circulation,)	6,750.00
Total,	$442,405.33
LIABILITIES.
Capital stock paid in,	$150,000.00
Surplus fund,	75,000.00
Undivided profits,	10,352.81
National Bank notes outstanding,	134,300.00
Dividends unpaid,	1,094.00
Individual deposits subject to check,	63,505.58
Due to other National Banks,	8,152.94
Total,	$442,405.33

STATE OF MASSACHUSETTS, COUNTY OF ESSEX, } ss.

I, G. M. FOSTER, Cashier of the above-named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

G. M. FOSTER, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 1st day of September, 1886.

GEORGE HOLMAN.
Notary Public.

Correct—Attest:

EDGAR W. UPTON,
HORACE BUSHBY,
W. P. CLARK, } Directors.

Peabody, September 1, 1886.

Boucle Jerseys.

Regular Four Dollar ones for	$2.00
Regular Four Fifty ones for	2.25
Regular Five Dollar ones for	3.00

The above are Surprising Bargains.

Regular Three Dollar Plaited Waist Jerseys, for only $2.00.

LADIES' LISLE THREAD HOSE, very fine brilliant goods, worth 50 cents anywhere—now only 25 cents.

TOURISTS RUCHING, fine goods, six yards in box for only 16 cts.

FOUR JOB LOTS OF KIDS, 9 cts., 39 cts., 49 cts. and 69 cts. See them.

LADIES' LISLE GLOVES, short wrist, but perfect goods; two pairs for 5 cts. Nice for country, gardening or rough house work.

BOYS' SHORT SOCKS, full, regular, worth 25 cts.; marked down to 5 cts. Examine them.

The best line of DRESS PRINTS in the city. Blue and Gold, Indigo and White Polka Dots, &c., &c.

CHEMISETTES—the new thing—25c.

BOYS' and MISSES HOSIERY, all marked down to clear it out.

MEN'S SOCKS—Seamless—equal to Shaw's, 15 cts.; two pairs for 25 cts.

BLACK BOWS, 5 cts.

MEN'S COLLARS, MEN'S HDKFS. Elmwood Collars, 18 cts.; Racket Collars, 8 cts.

Spectacles, Eye Glasses, Opera Glasses, Silver Ware, Jewelry, Bronzes, Gold Pencils, Pens, &c., &c.

LADIES' GOLD PENS, with Pearl Holder, very choice, best makes,

—AT—

John P. Peabody,

227 & 229 ESSEX STREET.

HAMMERED BRASS TRAYS, 32 cts.; usually sold for 60 cts.

A lot of Gentlemen's all linen HEMSTITCHED PRINTED BORDERED HDKFS., 13 cts.; would be cheap at 25c.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

aug 24.

The Peabody Press.

ednesday Evening Sept. 1, 1886,

HEAVY TAX PAYERS.

elow will be found a list of the izens and corporations in this town o pay a tax of $150 or more. The luation has been increased in many ses, and for that reason we publish eamount paid b th m anda compari n can easily be made.

	1885	1886
wis Allen,	774.20	818.80
t. of A. A. Abbott,	232.44	233.60
T. Arnold,	228.20	210.00
irs of Hazen Ayer,	165.36	169.60
H. Appleton,	1194.62	1234.00
H. Appleton, Trustee,		498.40
nos L. Ames,	253.16	235.60
mes Buxton,	169.70	175.60
arren National Bank,	312.00	320.00
arren Five Cents S. B.,	181.74	497.60
illiam Blaney,		151.60
rs. A. W. Bancroft,	233.22	239.20
rus T. Batchelder,		150.00
muel Brown,	183.74	178.80
hn M. Berry,	172.82	160.40
ilip Bushby,	165.80	174.00
H. Brown & Co.,	1577.16	1224.80
H. Brown,	679.26	1336.40
rs. R. H. Brown,	312.00	320.00
ephen F. Blaney,	298.40	314.00
ephen Blaney,	870.92	1199.60
t. of Daniel Buxton Jr.	427.88	435.20
illiam H. Brown,	881.84	900.40
ishby & Co.,	166.96	171.20
s. N. Burbeck,	229.76	235.60
lliam H. Baldwin,		162.00
ayhew S. Clark,	420.08	430.00
aron F. Clark,	345.20	337.20
ndrew Curtis,	208.70	215.60
iza D. Clement,	260.52	283.20
ex B. Clark,	269.54	352.40
eorge Clerk,		152.40
mes Craig,	172.04	176.40
ole & Osgood,	160.58	164.80
illiam T. Dole,	163.46	161.20
illiam P. Clark,	412.28	390.80
nos. Carroll,	206.36	211.60
eirs of Jona. Dustin,	696.54	714.40
t. of Isaac B. Elliot,	179.40	184.00
ust. of Lewis Elliot,	152.10	156.00
S. Emmerton,	192.32	202.00
ephen Fernald,	370.94	413.20
harles B. Farley,	455.18	466.80
B. Farley supplemental	553.80	578.40
muel Hutchinson,	197.78	200.40
illiam Hayes,	326.82	337.60
eorge Holman,	344.42	354.00
seph Jacobs,	257.84	264.40
elen W. Jacobs Chase,	189.54	168.00
nathan King,	2153.24	2982.80
st. of Obadiah Kimball,	184.08	188.80
eirs of William Little,	195.00	200.00
mes P. King,	509.00	458.00
st. of Henry A. King,	315.90	248.00
ben U. King,	153.32	157.20
st. of Perley King,	1154.84	771.20
illiam H. Little,	182.96	184.40
lizabeth M. Little,	159.12	163.20
hn A. Lord,	383.42	452.40
A. Lord, Jr.,	324.92	333.20
aroline A. Lord,	245.70	315.20
hn Linehan,	205.58	204.40
mes Marsh,	211.04	220.40
rancis Marsh,	158.00	170.00
. Horace Merrill,	172.04	176.40
saac Munroe,	160.34	285.20
lex B. Merrill.	151.76	158.80
lbert A. Messer,	314.00	205.20
. C. Munroe,	160.34	182.00
unroe & Arnold,	227.76	233.60
ames E. Millea,	154.88	154.00
elson & Merrill,	1120.08	1108.80
eirs of Kendall Osborn,	213.72	203.20
st. of Franklin Osborn,	558.48	400.00
. Warren Osborn,	410.72	469.20
eirs of Caleb Osborn,	207.48	212.80
eo. M. Osborn & Co.,	163.80	161.60
eo. F. Osgood,		165.20
eirs of Geo. A. Osborne,	282.36	289.60
. Osborn,	293.72	318.80
. Osborn, Jr., & Co.,	1165.32	1297.60
eo. S. Osborne,	252.72	389.20
st. of Joseph Poor,	201.34	206.40
lbert F. Poor,	160.34	290 80
ewman Perkins,		169.20
st. of William Pierce,	186.42	175.20
. K. Pevear,	345.20	378.00
st. Mrs. L. P. Proctor,	226.76	273.60
elen O. Proctor,	156.00	240.00
ugusta Proctor,	156.00	240.00
ohn Pinder,	242.24	249.20
emberton Bros.,	527.28	548.80
enj. C. Perkins,	198.56	165.20
ike & Whipple,	154.44	158.40
eorge C. Pierce,	258.62	266.00
. & G. H. Poor,	713.70	1399.20
eorge W. Pepper,	179.84	185.20
Stephen Peabody,	195.44	158.80
mos K. Raddin,	222.74	223.60
acob C. Rogers,	1350.62	1625.20
. F. Southwick,		162.00
enry Saltonstall,	1082.30	1431.60
. Saltonstall and F. H. Appleton Trustees,	421.20	432.00
Mrs. Eliza Sutton,	1560.00	1680 00
Harriet N. Simonds,		152.00
Charles Simonds,	260.95	267.60
Heirs of Thos. Stimpson,	358.80	368.00
Frank W. Stanley,	424.76	435.60
Richard Smith,	156.44	160.40
Heirs of Samuel Symonds,	156.00	160 00
. B. Southwick & Co.,	187.20	187.20
. A. Southwick,	168.92	317.20
J. B. Thomas,	1720.94	1926.00
Est. of Andrew Torr,	232.44	235.20
Lydia W. Thacher,	263.64	350.40
Samuel Trask,	205.58	180.80
Charles H. Tigh,	307.64	312.40
Est. of George Upton,	1392.30	1520.80
Est. of Elijah W. Upton,	636.48	672.00
Mrs. Lucy E. Upton,	368.16	409.60
Edgar W. Upton,	570.62	636.40
David G. Upton,	186.36	207.60
Warren Wilson,	362.36	378.00
Children of John Wilson,	156.78	160.80
Benj. S. Wheeler,	661.88	685.20
Geo. J. Winchester,	186.08	187.60
Geo. J. Winchester & Son,	896.22	359.20
Daniel Woodbury,	221.96	224.40
Winchester & Blaney,	330.72	289.60
Henry B. Wilson,		174.00
NON-RESIDENTS.
Danvers Bleachery,	3120.00	3840.00
J. Alba Davis,	216.84	222.40
Eastern R. R. Co.,		296.80
B. & M. R. R. Co.,		192.00
Henry Gardner, Salem	410.28	397.60
James A. Gillis,	160.68	155.20
Chas. Harrington & Co.,	875.16	897.60
T. E. Proctor, Boston,	1151.28	3648.00
Salem Gas Light Co.,	249.60	256.00
Est. J. O. Safford, Boston,	634.92	404.00
Eben Sutton, N. Andover,	347.88	356.80
William Sutton, Salem,	258.96	265.60
Wm. P. Upham, Salem,	163.80	174.40
Henry and Chas. Van Brunt, Boston,	305 76	310.40
Webster & Co., Boston,	613.08	868.80
T. W. Walker, Waltham,	717.60	760.00
Chas. F. Coburn, Boston,		300.80
Mrs. J. E. Harris, Salem,		160.80
Heirs Tim. O'Shea, Salem,		195.20
Fred. W. Dahl, Boston,		162.40

The annual drill of the Eighth Regiment will take place at Salem, on Thursday. September 9.

Misses Colored Cotton Hose 12 1-2, former price 25, at F. D. Tarlton's. *

MUSICAL NOTES.

Andrews, Moulton & Johnson opened the season in Mechanic Hall, Salem, last week by a series of performances by the Bennett & Moulton Opera Co. Full houses greeted them at every performance. It may perhaps be known to our readers that there are two opera companies on the road, one styled Company A, the other B. The one which held the boards last week is not the company which opened the season in Salem last year. This company had never before appeared in Salem.

The proprietors of the Bennett & Moulton Co. must have relied upon the reputation of the other company which has been farily well received in Salem, when they decided to put this company in Mechanic Hall, to open the season. In nearly every respect it is inferior to the other company, and this is particularly so in the female parts. Some of the young ladies are good actresses; in their speaking parts they leave nothing to be desired, but their singing is anything but equal to the demands of the operas. Neither Miss King nor Miss St. Claire, the two young ladies to whom are entrusted the leading parts, has a soprano voice, and excepting on the low notes both have very light voices. In Olivette Miss King made up well, and was successful in the song of the Torpedo and the Whale. Of the male parts the success of the company is surely due to Mr. Charles Bigelow, the comedian. As Coquelicot in Olivette he deserves credit for the entire performance.

The rendition of the Mikado was far from being a success. Think of Mechanic Hall being packed in every part, listening to a performance of the Mikado where such popular pieces as "He's got them on the list" did not provoke an encore, but were allowed to fall flat on the audience. Not until the last act did Mr. Bigelow as Ko-Ko arouse the audience sufficiently to "catch on." The entree and business of the "Three little Maids" was so ridiculous as to provoke laughter all over the house, and the only solo of any account falling to the part of Yum-Yum, at the beginning of the 2d act, one of the best things in the Mikado, was enticely omitted, as was also the beautiful "Madrigal," which any quartette of ordinary musical ability should render passably well. No blame can be attached to Andrews, Moulton & Johnson, but the proprietors of the opera company are surely deserving of censure on the part of the press and public for giving such a weak performance to a house composed of people, three-fourths of whom had seen a good performance of the Mikado.

The full announcement of the Worcester Musical Festival is at hand, beginning Monday, Sept. 20, and closing Friday evening, Sept. 24. This is the 29th year, and the festivals of this association command importance in the entire musical world. New York and Boston as well as the other country are drawn upon for talent. The press of all the large cities deem it of enough moment to have special reports, and it is a grand reunion of musical people. The liberality of its management, the work of its chorus and efficiency of its board of directors, including its secretary Mr. A. C. Munroe, is placing this association where the Handel and Haydn society in Boston was years ago in the days when its management was other than it is now. What of prestige it has lost, the Worcester association has gained.

The soloists are some of the best. The soprano list is headed by Mlle. Louisa Pyk, who makes her first appearance in this country. There are also Miss Jennie Sargent, of whom great things are expected. She is a pupil of Lyman W. Wheeler, has been in Europe several years, where she appeared last season with great success. Mme. Blanche Stone Barton, a favorite of last year, Miss Elene Buffington Kehew, well known in this vicinity, and Mlle. Zelie DeLussan, the leading soprano of the Boston Ideal opera company will also be heard. For contraltos there will be Mme. Belle Cole, Miss Mathilde Lennon and Miss Gertrude Edmands—the latter the soloist at the last performance of Salem Oratorio society. The tenors are headed by William Courtney, the well-known vocal instructor of New York, and there are also Whitney Mockridge, who sang last year, Jules Jordan, the famous Providence singer, and Dr. F. B. Mandeville. For baritones and basses there are Dr. Carl E. Martin, Geo. Prehn, Wm. C. Baird. Francis F. Powers and John H. Wilson—none of them familiar to Boston, but with good reputation, or they would never have been engaged by this association. Frederick Archer, the well-known organist of New York, and editor of the "Keynote" will be present, as will also Herr Carl Baermann, the noted pianist, and Miss Belle Botsford, the English violinist. The Orpheus club of Springfield, consisting of 60 male voices, the festival orchestra of fifty performers, the grand chorus or four hundred voices—all will be under the direction of Carl Zerrahn. The sale of season tickets begins Tuesday, Sept. 7th at $5.00 each, which includes a reserved seat at all the rehearsals and concerts. The choice of seats at this sale will be offered at auction—those remaining will be sold at the mnsic store of C. L. Gorham & Co., where seats may be ordered by mail. We shall have something further to say regarding the programme of works later on.

The exhibition of the new organ of the Unitarian Church will take place to-morrow evening at 7.30 o'clock. The exhibition is given by Mr. Hutchins, the builder of the organ, and all overs of music who are interested in hearing the new instrument are invited to be present. The exhibition of the organ will be by Everett E. Truette, one of Boston's popular organists, who has given, with success, several recitals in Tremont Temple the past season. The first piece on the programme will be rendered by Miss E. Dora Clark, the organist of the church, and Charles A. Clark, the organist of St. John's Church, will also, by invitation of the committee, render one selection. The vocal portion of the programme will be given by the choir of the church, consisting of Miss Grace F. Dalton, soprano, Miss S. P. Howard, contralto, Mr. Andrew Fitz, tenor, Mr. S. P. Chase, basso. The organ is run by water power and is the largest and most powerful organ in town.

The Naumkeag Clothing Company have leased the elegant store of Mr. David Conrad, adjoining their present quarters. The block, which adjoins the one occupied by the Naumkeag will be connected with it and the whole when finished will make the largest clothing store in New England, outside of the Marlboro in Boston, which is the largest in the United States. A large stock of hats and caps, clothing and gentlemen's furnishing goods will be placed on the counters in time for the fall trade. The work will be commenced at once and pushed forward with the zeal and energy which characterizes the every action of this well-known company, and the new part is expected to be ready for occupancy by the tenth of this month. We congratulate Mr. Z. A. Gallup through whose enterprise this large business has been established, and we feel sure the public will continue to make in the future as in the past, the Naumkeag the leading clothing store in old Essex County.

The annual convention of the National Tanners and Hide and Leather Dealers Association is being held in Boston to-day. On the committee are Thomas E. Proctor and John O. Poor. Reports of the various standing committees on "The Branding of Hides," "Tannery Insurance," "The Employment of an Expert Chemist," and other topics of interest will be presented and among the new subjects for discussion will be offered — "The Labor Question," "Reduction of the Shrinkage Guarantee of Hides to 2 per cent," "Value of Chemical Tests in a Tannery," "Best Method of Grinding and Leaching Bark," "Proper use and Value of Extracts inTanning," "Value and Utilization of Tannery Refuse."

Mrs. Elizabeth, wife of Mr. John Torr, whom we reported last week as having been seriously injured by a fall, died at her home on Washington street, last Friday afternoon, at the age of 78 years 8 months and 27 days. She had been in ill health for a number of years but was a patient sufferer. A husband and one daughter, Mrs. William Trask, survive her.

Conductor Childs of the Naumkeag street railroad lost $20.45 last Thursday morning. The money was made up to return to the office in Salem as he came through, and as the office was not open he put the money in the case enclosing the lamp. He left his car for a few minutes in Peabody, and when he returned the money was gone.

Mr. John Hammond, on English street, was surprised last Monday night by a few of his friends, it being his 48th birthday. His sons made him a present of a handsome French Clock, and a few other nice presents were given by his friends. A very enjoyable evening was spent.

The Peabody Woman Suffrage Club will hold a meeting on next Monday eve, at 7.40 o'clock, in the W. C. T. U. headquarters. All interested are invited to attend.

About thirty of the young friends of Miss Julia Barrows surprised her at her home on Wallis street, last Wednesday evening, and during the good time that followed presented her with a gold ring.

Good laws were never designed to be like cobwebs, which catch the little flies and suffer the large ones to break through.

Mr. Eben F. Enos a former resident has been granted a patent on a sheet holder for marine vessels.

Mr. Geo. A. Lawrence made 40 out of a possible 50 in a rifle shoot at Salem last Friday.

Mr. John B. Wilson preached at the Methodist Church, Marblehead, last Sunday.

IMMENSE BARGAINS

THIS WEEK!

NOW IS YOUR TIME TO GET

Men's Canvas Bals. only 65 cents.
Boys' Canvas Bals only 75 cents.
Youths' Canvas Bals only 65 cents.

REGULAR $1.00 GOODS.

Men's and Boys' Tennis, 75 cents.
Men's Tennis Bals., $1.00.
Smith Hand Sewed Goat Button, $2.75.
Women's Comfort Button, $2.00.
Women's Mikado Slipper, 35c.
Men's Silk Embroidered Slipper, 65c.
Women's Fine Kid Oxfords, $1.00.
Women's House Slipper, 25c.

BIG BARGAINS IN SUMMER GOODS FOR THE NEXT TEN DAYS

— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

SALEM.

254 KENT & BOYNTON 250

Special Sale

— OF —

Children's School Suits.

At this sale we shall offer several large lots of Children's and Boys Suits at extremely low prices in both fine and medium grades.

Also special bargains in

MEN'S SUITS AND PANTALOONS.

— AT —

KENT & BOYNTON'S,

250 & 254 Essex St., Salem.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

SALEM'S

Reliable Dry Goods Establishment.

AUGUST BARGAINS.

The vigorous pushing business which has made our establishment so irresistibly attractive the past two weeks, will be kept up throughout the balance of the month.

OUR

Great Blanket Sale

to be continued one week longer, at the same prices. Over hundred pairs of these goods were sold on Monday and Tuesday of last week.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

238 & 240 Essex Street,

94 & 96 Washington Street.

SALEM. MASS.

Now Is The Time

FOR GOOD BARGAINS IN OUR LINE OF HARDWARES.

READ OUR PRICES!

Good Hatchets only	25 cts.
Good Chopping Axe only	65 cts.
Good Saw Horse only	25 cts.
Good Shoe Brush only	25 cts.

Grand Display of Good Pocket Knives for 25 cts.

Great bargains can be had on our

5, 10 & 25 ct. Counters.

Closing out our stock of

ICE CREAM FREEZERS & SCREENS.

BUY THE BEST CLOTHES WRINGER FOR $2.50,

— AT —

S. TRASK & SON,

WALNUT ST.

BEE-HIVE

BARGAINS!

100 pcs. HAMBURG EDGINGS, fine goods, for 10 cts. yd.; well worth 12 1-2 cts.

50 pcs. HAMBURG EDGINGS, fine and wide, for 12 1-2 cts.; would sell for 17 cts.

25 pcs. wide ORIENTAL LACES —cream and white—for 10 cts. yd.; never sold for less than 12 1-2 cts.

50 pcs. wide ORIENTAL LACES. Your choice for 12 1-2 cts.; regular 25 cent laces.

— AT —

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE.

SALEM.

STRAWBERRIES,

POT GROWN.

Plants of Leading Varieties.

By setting in AUGUST will secure fruit the following season.

PLANTS ready now. Send for Circular, or call on

E. & C. WOODMAN,

FLORIST AND GARDEN SUPPLIES,

DANVERS, MASS.

Greenhouses, Holten St., Tapleyville, on line of Horse R. R.

SUIT DEPARTMENT.

Ladies' Small Mantles.

The balance to be sold at 50 cts., 75 cts. and $1,

Children's Suits, Sizes 2 to 12 yrs,

Prices, 50 cts., 75 cts. and $1.00 up.

The balance of the Conrad Stock to be sold this week regardless of cost.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

M. N. BLACK,

Saratoga Waves made to order, a specialty, also old pieces redressed to look as well as new.

80 MARKE ST,, LYNN.

je 30—3m

Boyden House,

128 1-2 & 132 UNION ST.

(NEAR CENTRAL STATION.)

H. FRENCH, - Prop.,

LYNN, MASS.

je 9—1y

BANKRUPT SALE

Of and Imported stock of

Human Hair Goods

The chance that comes but once in a life time.

The extensive stock of Mr. Leonard, the great importer and dealer of fine hair goods, was sold at auction last week in Boston. We were large purchasers of the same at merely nominal prices, and we propose to give our customers the benefit of the same. We have elegant waves at less than one quarter the original price. Crimps for 10c, 25c, 37c up. Warranted water curl ones for 50 and 75 cts.

Hair Switches for 25c, 50c, up. Gray Switches, a full line, from $2 up.

Polished Hair Crimping Irons 25c. Regular price $1.

Fluffy Fedore Curlers 15c, regular price 30c Ornaments, Hair Pins, etc., etc.,

COME & EXAMINE.

Mrs. J. H. Browne's

153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

Also Remember all our Trimmed Hats and Bonnets will be closed out at Bargain prices. We have the largest stock to select from in the city

BROWNES

Next door to the Museum.

CROQUET.

HAMMOCKS.

Ice Cream Freezers.

These goods we are offering for a very low figure; the lowest prices ever offered on croquet can be found on our stock of

CROQUET.

Try our Extension Window Screens, also our Screen Frames for 20 CENTS.

Buy the best all steel Scythes, warranted.

Low figures on Bats and Balls.

S. TRASK & SON,

WALNUT ST.

REMOVAL !

JAMES HOWLEY.

Merchant Tailor,

Being about to remove to larger and more convenient quarters in the Hotel Building, finds himself overstocked with desirable goods and in order to reduce the same, offers to close out the entire stock at cost between now and August 1

This stock consists of a fine line:

Summer Suitings,

Light Overcoatings,

Heavy Fall Goods,

and Heavy Woolens.

Particular attention is called to about 230 PATTERNS IN

FASHIONABLE PANTALOONS,

The price of which has been made so low that it will insure a large sale and the first comers will have the largest Stock to select from.

REMEMBER

all these GOODS MUST GO to make room for the large stock ordered for the new store.

☞ I employ none but first class journeymen Tailors and guarantee satisfaction.

AN INSPECTION INVITED.

James Howley,

Over Warren Trask's Store.

Coal Dealers.

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheacskin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal. Cumberland Coal.

All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telephone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville, and will be promptly attended to.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

vr T. Batchelder. ncyS Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

— AT —

PICKERINGS

7 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, JR & CO.

Peabody Street

N. O. VERRY,

(Successor to L. B. Hatch.)

DEALER IN

WOOD AND COAL,

Hard and Soft Wood Kindlings, Bark, Slabs, Hay, etc.

113 DERBY ST., SALEM.

AT THE HEAD OF DERBY WHARF.

O. Box 64. Telephone, 444

---

15 CENTS FOR SAMPLE COPY of THIS BEAUTIFUL BOOK. It gives the LANGUAGE and Sentiment of Every Flower and Shrub, 3000 different kinds. Also all the Known Rules of Flirtation with Glove, Parasol, Handkerchief and Fan. It is the most complete work of the kind ever published. Send Fifteen Cents in stamps for a sample copy, also our price to agents. Agents wanted everywhere. Ad. AMERICAN PUB. CO., 17 North Tenth Street, Philad'a, Pa.

OUR SINGER THIS STYLE $17

15 DAYS' TRIAL. A Full Set of Attachments. WARRANTED 5 Years. Send for Circular. E. C. HOWE & CO., 122 N. 6th St., Philo., Pa.

mch 24

BUSBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any $10 cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40.000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground feb 11—3m

YOUR HAIR

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and faded; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age? Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 30 years, and, although I am upwards of 60, my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BE assured, that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely fallen out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. H. P. Williamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo. A. Dadman, Waterloo, Mo., had his hair restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures diseases of the scalp. F. H. Foster, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

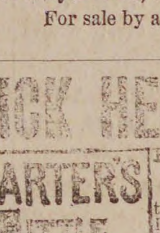
Ayer's Hair Vigor,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

For sale by all Druggists.

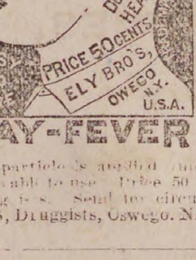
SICK HEADACHE



CARTERS LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively Cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial. Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00. CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

CATARRH ELY'S Cream Balm



Gives Relief at once and Cures

COLD in HEAD

CATARRH

HAY FEVER

Not a Liquid, Snuff or Powder. Free from Injurious Drugs and Offensive odors.

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

eb 3—1y

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS!

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS WILL Purify the Blood.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS BEGETS Sound. Refreshing Sleep.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS FOR That Tired. Weary Feeling.

Sick Headache.

GENTS:—I have been subject to Sick Headache for years, and have tried, in vain, many advertised remedies and several physicians, but all to no purpose. At last I tried your B. B. Bitters—without much faith, I admit—but to-day I can truly say, that after taking the third bottle, I have not suffered from it. I recommend it to all my friends; several have been cured by it. My little grandson was permanently cured of Biliousness and Sick Headache, which were so severe as to cause convulsions. They have all ceased since he commenced the use of B.B.B.

MRS. B. C. BODLE,
Orange, Luzerne County, Pa.

FRENCH'S HOTEL.

CITY HALL SQUARE. NEW YORK.

Opposite City Hall and the Post Office.

This Hotel is one of the most complete in its appointments and furniture of ANY HOUSE in New York City and is conducted on the

EUROPEAN PLAN.

Rooms only One Dollar per day. Half minute's walk from Brooklyn Bridge and Elevated R. R. All lines of cars pass the door. Most convenient Hotel in New York for Merchants to stop at. Dining Rooms, Cafes and Lunch Counter replete with all the luxuries at moderate prices.

PERLEY'S REMINISCENCES.

AMONG THE books that find a place in the households of rich and poor alike, awakening old memories and associations in the minds of the elderly, and furnishing a treasury of fascinating stories for the young, none is more likely to receive a ready and permanent welcome than this volume from the pen of the veteran writer, Major Ben Perley Poore, of Newbury.

During his long and honorable career of nearly sixty years, as correspondent of leading journals, clerk of Congressional Committees, and compiler of official documents, he has been thrown into intimate contact with men and the events that have made so great a part of the stirring history of these momentous years. He saw and knew the actors in the great moral conflict which preceded the rebellion, the statesmen and soldiers who brought the war to a successful conclusion, and the leaders who guided the country through the period of reconstruction. From the stores of this rich and varied experiences, Major Poore has collected in two handsome volumes a fund of anecdote, recollections, and suggestions which cannot fail to be entertaining and instructive to the general reader, while it will give the historian light and shade for more elaborate work.

The following extract will indicate the matter and manner of the "reminiscences;" and it also has a bearing on one of the prominent public questions of the present day:

emovals from office that places might be provided for Jackson men were the order of the day, but President Jackson was not disposed to displace any veteran soldier. Among other victims designated for removal by the politicians, was General Solomon Van Rensselaer, whose gallant services against Great Britain in the War of 1812 had been rewarded by an election to the House of Representatives, followed by his appointment as Postmaster of Albany. He was a decided Federalist, and the petition for his removal was headed by Martin Van Buren and Silas Wright.

Visiting Washington, General Van Rensselaer received a cordial greeting from General Jackson at a public reception, and then, taking a seat in a corner, he waited until the room was cleared, when he again approached the President, saying: "General Jackson, I have come here to talk to you about my office. The politicians want to take it from me, and they know I have nothing else to live upon." The President made no reply, till the aged Postmaster began to take off his coat in the most excited manner, when Old Hickory broke out with the inquiry: "What in Heaven's name are you going to do? Why do you take off your coat here?" "Well, sir, I am going to show you my wounds, which I received in fighting for my country against the English!" "Put it on at once, sir!" was the reply; "I am surprised that a man of your age should make an exhibition of himself," and the eyes of the iron President were suffused with tears as, without another word, he bade his ancient foe good evening.

The next day, Messrs. Van Buren and Wright called at the White House and were shown up into the President's room, where they found him smoking a clay pipe. Mr. Wright soon commenced to solicit the removal of General Van Rensselaer, asserting that he had been known as a very active advocate of John Quincy Adams; that he had literally forfeited his place by his earnest opposition to the Jackson men, and that if he were not removed the new Administration would be seriously injured. He had hardly finished the last sentence when Jackson sprang to his feet, flung his pipe into the fire, and exclaimed, with great vehemence, "I take the consequences, sir! I take the consequences! By the Eternal! I will not remove the old man! I cannot remove him! Why, Mr. Wright, do you not know that he carries more than a pound of British lead in his body?" That settled the question, and General Van Rensselaer remained undisturbed as Postmaster at Albany through the Jackson Administration, although Martin Van Buren, when he came into power, promptly "bounced" him.

The Art Amateurs for September contains a fine colored plates, "A Spring Landscape," outline sketches; Designs for wood carving, tile decorations, cup and saucer, borders, repousse metal work and monograms.—Sketches from nature; lessons in water color paintings; Hints for decorating apartments; Art needlework, correspondence etc.

Zephyr Corsets for hot weather or for fleshy people, are the desirable thing, at Peabody's.

Buy your silver wares at Peabody's, 227 and 229 Essex street, and you will save twenty-five per cent.

A very choice stock of bar and lace pins in gold and silver plate, oxydized &c., at Peabody's.

Bristle and wire hair brushes, teeth brushes, nail and flesh brushes, at Peabody's.

RED STAR TRADE MARK. COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

ST JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain

Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc. PRICE, FIFTY CENTS. AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY.

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston.

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.
Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80, Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.

NATURE'S CURE FOR CONSTIPATION, A Reliable Remedy For Sick Stomach, Torpid Liver, Billious Headache, Costiveness, TARRANT'S EFFERVESCENT SELTZER APERIENT.

It is certain in its effects. It is gentler in its action. It can be relied upon to cure, and it cures by assisting, not by outraging, nature. Do not take violent purgatives yourselves or allow your children to take them; always use this elegant pharmaceutical preparation which has been for more than forty years a public favorite. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Sick-Headache, AND DYSPEPSIA.

STARCHINE Wonderful Reformation in Laundry Starch. Starching, Ironing and Polishing made easy.

Requires no cooking. Saves time, labor and money. Gives Troy laundry finish and gloss. Equal to over two pounds of ordinary starch. Ask your grocer for STARCHINE. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. SAMPLE FREE for letter stamp.

The Geo. Fox Starch Co. Cincinnati, O. Oldest Starch Factory in U. S. Established 1824.

WANTED.—I want you to do parlor work for me at your own home; plenty work; good pay; $1 per piece; all materials free. A. LOVE, Cleveland, Ohio.

COW FEEDS

Now that pasturage is drying up and farmer must grain their stock, we would offer them a full line of feed including choice fine Middlings, White and Red Wheat Bran, Ground Oats, Barley Meal, Oat Dust, kiln dried White Meal, &c., &c. We can give very low prices from cars on track.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.

Saving Institutions.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

WARREN

Five Cents Savings Bank

RUFUS H. BROWN, President.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treasurer.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Dividends are payable semi-annually, on the third Wednesday of May and November.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY

AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS

AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE

Arthur Elliott & Co.,

DEALERS IN

FRESH AND SALT FISH.

Lobster and Fancy Fish in their seasons.

A share of public patronage solicited.

Caller Street,

PEABODY.

CROSS,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies' and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY.

64 MARKET STREET, LYNN

Express.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at		9 47 A. M
Freight " "	at	5 00 P. M
Express " Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight " "	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P.M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost s Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

Dr. F. G. Bates,

DENTIST,

218 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

OVER MERRILL & MACKINTIRE'S,

All Work Warranted.

mch 31—1y

$1

13 WEEKS,

The POLICE GAZETTE will be mailed, securely wrapped, to any address in the United States for 3 months on receipt of

ONE DOLLAR.

Liberal discount allowed to postmasters, agents and clubs. Sample copies mailed free. Address all orders to

RICHARD K. FOX,

FRANKLIN SQUARE, N. Y.

Bedding Plants

and Coleus.

Fine lot of Fushias and other Plants.

WARD'S GREENHOUSES.

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM
Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square.

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counselor at Law,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counselor at Law,

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

PEABODY.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

EDWIN B. BALCOM,

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very best Tobacco in the market, we feel justified in saying he

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol Cuba brands

FOR A 5C SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO, 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

SHORTHAND Text-book and Instruction by mail to master it, given by the author of the system for $6. Most popular and easy method. Endorsed by 1000 graduates and professional stenographers. Book alone $1. D. L. Scott Browne, 23 Clinton Place, New York, N. Y.

GOOD SALARIES

or Commission to Men and Women to act as local or traveling Agents. No experience needed and Steady work! JAMES E. WHITNEY, Nurseryman Rochester, N. Y. (Mention this paper.)

je 8—3m

Happiness

results from that true contentment which indicates perfect health of body and mind. You may possess it, if you will purify and invigorate your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. E. M. Howard, Newport, N. H., writes: "I suffered for years with Scrofulous humors. After using two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I great relief. It has entirely restored me to health." James French, Atchison, Kans., writes: "To all persons suffering from Liver Complaint, I would strongly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with a disease of the liver for nearly two years, when a friend advised me to take this medicine. It gave prompt relief, and has cured me." Mrs. H. M. Kidder, 41 Dwight st., Boston, Mass., writes: "For several years I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family. I never feel safe, even without it. As a liver medicine and general purifier of the blood, it has no equal." Mrs. A. B. Allen, Winterpock, Va., writes: "My youngest child, two years of age, was taken with Bowel Complaint, which we could not cure. We tried many remedies, but he continued to grow worse, and finally became so reduced in flesh that we could only move him upon a pillow. It was suggested by one of the doctors that Scrofula might be the cause of the trouble. We procured a bottle of

Found

At Home

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

and commenced giving it to him. It surely worked wonders, for, in a short time, he was completely cured."

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,

ACCORDEONS

HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

ONE THOUSAND !

Of the good people of Salem and vicinity moved bya sense of the great importance of the New Discovery to the whole human family have reported at our office that

BATTIS'

Modified Extract

— OF —

Denicotized Tobacco

Has cured and will cure the following diseases:

RHUEMATISM, NEURALGIA,
HEADACHE,
DYSPEPSIA,
ERYSIPELAS,
SPRAINS,
ROSE CANCER,
SORE EYES,
KIDNEY COMPL'TS

DIPTHERIA,
PNEUMONIA.
COLIC and CRAMP,
CHOLERA MORBUS,
TOOTHACHE,
BRUISES,
SCARLET FEVER,
BRIGHT'S DISEASE,
SPINAL TROUBLE.

All of these it will cure and has cured, if human testimony is worth anything. Any information as to above will be cheerfully furnished.

J. H. BATTIS,

Sole Proprietor and Manufacturer,

28 & 30 Front St., Salem.

PRICE 75c. A BOTTLE.

apr 14—3m

HAY!

HAY!

HAY!

10 cars arrived to-day for sale cheap. Fancy White Middlings, Bran, Fine Feed, Oat Meal, Ground Oats, Cotton Seed Wheat, Screenings, Barley, Fancy le lip Barley, Oats, Mixed Oats, White Oats, Haxall and St. Louis Flour. Also other kind of feed for Horses and Cows in great variety. Please call and examine our stock and prices before buying elsewhere.

J. V. & J. HANSON

2 & 4 FRONT ST, SALEM,

ALSO AT

Peabody Square & Danvers Iron Works.

READ

What the Lynn Bee says in its issue of Aug. 25.

BUSINESS BOOMING

IN WEST LYNN—THE REMARKABLE VOLUME OF BUSINESS TRANSACTED BY WELLMAN OSBORNE IN HIS FOUR STORES—OTHER ENTERPRISES IN THE WESTERN SECTION OF THE CITY.

The decided boom has struck West Lynn and the activity manifest is very pleasing to one interested in the city's prosperity, and the three great enterprises now in successful operation there should be matters of pride to every citizen. The remarkable statement of the Boston & Maine railroad company to the effect that Wellman Osborne had received 13,763 cases of rubber goods for the past season's trade and the surprise expressed by many who were not aware of the extent of Mr. Osborne's wholesale and retail trade, determined The Bee to send a reporter to see the visible proofs of the statement. As our readers are interested in everything relating to the prosperity of our city we are sure they will be pleased tolearn the result of an enterprise which, first tried as an experiment, has become an assured success, competing with the large Boston jobbing houses. Before describing what our reporter saw we will remark that Mr. Osborn'e entire and very successful business career has been identified with the prosperity of Lynn, andhis immense establishment of to-day is the outgrowth of the small beginnings of 20 years ago.

Believing that his experienee as a retailer had given him a training, which peculiarly qualified him to appreciate the needs of the retail trade he started, four years ago, his wholesale department, and the rapid increase of his business each year—more than doubling the record of the preceding one—has trebly realized his anticipation. Mr. Osborne's present establishment composes two wholesale and two retail stores covering an area of upward of 35,000 square feet, and our reporter found this area literally packed from floor to ceiling with an amount and variety of boots, shoes and rubbers, absolutely bewildering to one unaccustomed to the business. What could become of such a mountain of goods was a matter of wonder to our reporter; but, when he was shown absolute proof that, in the busy seasons, the shipments average over 100 cases per day, his wonder was changed to astonishment at the rapidity with which the stock is being continually turned to make room for fresh goods. In this connection we will say that Mr. Osborne's present quarters are totally inadequate to properly accommodate his business, and he is now erecting an addition to his building, which will be 100 feet long, 65 feet wide, and three stories high. The two upper stories of this addition will be devoted to the manufacture of his so-called "Matchless" line of ladies' misses' and children's fine goods, which are having an immense run in all sections of the country, and whose success has been something phenomenal, they being noted in the trade as splendid fitters, prime wearers, and, above all, big sellers. The remainder of the building will be occupied as an addition to his wholesale department, and will, for a short time, give him the room he so imperatively needs. Mr. Osborne employes 31 persons in various capacities in his several stores and that they are a busy set is well-known to the hundreds of working people who pass his wholesale stores at the time of the noon shipments, when the sidewalks are almost blocked with the piles of cases waiting for the expresses.

On the day of our reporter's visit he saw cases marked for Los Angeles, California; Portland, Oregon; Austin, Texas; Sanford, Florida; Kansas City, Missouri; Newark, Ohio, and many places in New York and the New England states. By this it will be seen that Mr. Osborne's trade is not confined to any locality, but in fact he can almost literally say, "my field is the world." Truly the successful issue of his enterprise is a deserved tribute to the pluck and business sagacity which saw in Lynn, what others had failed to see, an opportunity which had only to be seized and pushed to lead on to a certain victory. Mr. Osborne attributes his success to a determination not to be undersold by anyone, and an unwavering belief in large sales and small margins. This, and judicious advertising, backed up to the letter by goods and prices, are in his belief the true and only explanation of the wonderful growth of his business. That the people appreciate his way of doing business is attested by the fact that on the occasion of his great mark-down sales he has frequetnly been obliged to lock his doors to keep back tho crowds that surged into his Market street store, and a most remarkable manifestation of the firm hold he has upon his trade is the fact that with only one day's notice to the public of his removal he was able to pack his Munroe street store with customers upon its opening last Saturday, thus scoring him the greatest victory in his long series of successes.

May the fruit of Mr. Osborne's enterprise be abundant is the wish of the Bee. When visiting Mr. Osborne's establishment our reporter's attention was called to the other two enterprises which are doing so much for West Lynn. We allude to the extensive morocco business of Lucius Beebe & Son, for which they have erected one of the largest and finest structures in the city, and to the immense plant of Thomson, Houston Electric Dynamo company, which is being still further enlarged by the erection of another factory adjoining the present. But our article has run beyond its limits and we shall have to reserve for another occasion a description of what was seen in these two vast buildings.

Facts About the St. John River.

Tradition has it that the deep and narrow chasm through which the waters of the St. John (north) find their way to the sea was formed by some mighty convulsion of nature many centuries ago, and there is sufficient confirmatory evidence that the statement rests upon more than mere tradition. The level of the waters of the St. John is fifty feet above that of the bay, yet so mighty are the tides of the latter that steamers and sailing vessels of six hundred tons burden are borne from the one to the other at their incoming and outgoing. The rapids or falls are principally just above the chasm referred to, over which, many years ago, an airy suspension bridge was thrown for carriage and foot travel, and recently the cantilever which connects the railway systems of the Strait of Canso with those of the Pacific coast. Directly above its mouth, which is spanned by the suspension and cantilever bridges, the river expands into a basin of such extent that it affords room for the storage of vast rafts of timber, which are towed down by small steamers from its upper waters and its tributaries, as well as anchorage for a great number of steam and sailing vessels. In the same basin lie three small islands, two of which have precipitous sides, and are very picturesque.

◆

Mind Your Own Business.

Nine-tenths of all that goes wrong in this world is because some one does not mind his business. When a terrible accident occurs, the first cry is that the means of prevention were not sufficient. Everybody declares we must have a new patent fire escape, an automatic engine switch, or a high proof non-combustible sort of lamp oil. But a little investigation will usually show that all the contrivances were on hand, and in good order; the real trouble was somebody didn't mind his business.

The engineer of the mill, at Rochester, N. Y., thought the engine would stand a higher pressure than the safety valve indicated, so he tied a few bricks to the valve to hold it down; result: four workingmen killed, a number wounded, and the mill blown to pieces.

The best ventilated mine in California was turned into a death-trap for half a hundred miners, because one of the number entered with a lighted lamp the gallery he had been warned against.

Nobody survives to explain the explosion of the dynamite cartridge factory in Pennsylvania, but as that type of disaster is almost always due to heedlessness, it is probable that this instance is not an exception to the rule.

◆

Hastily-written Letters of the Day.

The neatly-written, closely-lined letters of the past are wholly out of style with women of fashion. Rough Irish-linen paper unruled, a "stub" pen and a scrawling chirography go to make up the hurried notes one receives nowadays in lieu of the long, friendly letter of olden times. The art of correspondence, which used to be one of the greatest accomplishments our grandmothers possessed, may be recovered among the lost arts. At the present day the society woman has no time for letter-writing; but when society demands her writing at all, she sits down in the hurry of the moment, and with a business-like air dashes of a note covering several pages, it is true, but containing about as much matter as could easily be put upon the despised postal card, and then her duty is done. The old saying that a letter shows the character of a person who writes it and the character of the one to whom it is written, if it be true, would argue the modern society woman a trifle too blase or too fast, one or the other. There is as much character in a woman's writing as in her voice and one feels a little awed, upon opening a modern billet doux, in character like a printed placard, as he would upon hearing a coarse, gruff voice proceed from the rosy lips of a fair woman.

◆

About the Two Napoleons.

The letter M is curiously coupled with Napoleon I., and also his nephew. Napoleon I.: Maitland was the person to whom he surrendered; Malet conspired against him; Marchand was his valet, who accompanied him to St. Helena; Maret was his most trusty counselor; Marie Louise was his second wife; Menon lost him Egypt; Metternich vanquished him in diplomacy; Montholon wrote his memoirs; Moreau betrayed him; Murat, whom he made king of Naples, deserted him; M was the initial letter of six of his marshals; Marengo was his first great victory; Mont St. Jean (Waterloo) was his last battle; Moscow his pitfall. Napoleon III.: MacMahon, the greatest general, succeeded him as a ruler of France; Maximilian and Mexico were his evil stars; Malakoff (duke of), next to MacMahon, his most distinguished general; Moltke was his destiny; Montijo (countess of) became his wife; Montebello and Magenta two of his victories; in the month of March the prince imperial was born and the treaty of Paris signed, and in May he escaped from Ham.

◆

Every individual should bear in mind that he is sent into the world to act a part in it, and, though one may have a more splendid and another a more obscure part assigned to him, yet the actor of each is equally responsible.

◆

Cuticura soap, 14 cts. per cake, at Peabody's.

SALEM SHOE STORE,

278 ESSEX STREET SALEM,

Invite their Peabody customers to inspect their elegant line of

CANVASS AND LAWN TENNIS GOODS

At Reasonable Prices. We are the Salem agents or the celebrated

W.L.DOUGLAS'
$3.00
SHOE
WARRANTED
SILK STITCHED
GLOVE KID
ELASTIC
WARRANTED
GLOVE KID
BEST TANNERY CALF
BOTTOM SEWED

Button Lace & Congress

HONEST GOODS at a small profit.

Our Men's and Children's Goods are made on the premises. Remember the number,

278 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

Opposite Packard's Furniture Store. T. A. CORSON, Agent.

mch 13—1y

WATCHES!

Appleton Tracey & Co.
WALTHAM, MASS.
No220498

BARGAINS

— IN —

American Watch Co., Waltham and Elgin Watches.

Appleton, Tracey & Co.,

Full Jeweled, adjusted, chronometer balance, patent regulator and breguet hair spring. A very fine time-keeper, at a great reduction from regular prices.

The reliable P. S. BARTLETT WATCH, in a 3-oz. coin silver Waltham case, $16; warranted perfect in every respect.

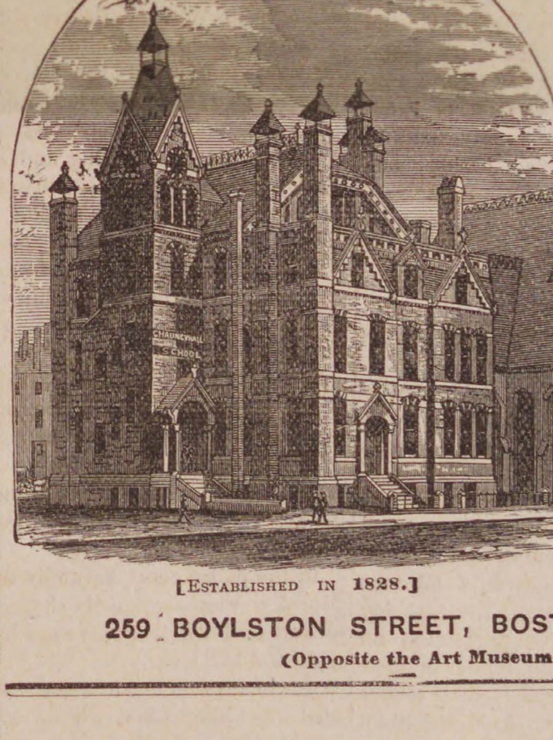
All grades of Watches at the lowest prices.

Watches, French Clocks, Jewelry, Eye Glasses, etc., repaired in prompt and superior manner. Especial attention given to cleaning and adjusting fine Watches.

Geo. A. Collins,

JEWELER,

26 MAIN STREET, PEABODY AND 198 ESSEX STREET, SALEM



[ESTABLISHED IN 1828.]

Chauncy-Hall School.

PARENTS desiring for their boys and girls the personal attention of private schools and the discipline and varied associates of public schools, will find both combined here.

The New Catalogue gives a full account of the great Care for Health; the thorough preparation for College, for Business, and the Mass. Institute of Technology; the facilities for Special Students; and the unusual arrangements for Young Children.

Graduates of High Schools often take advantage of the opportunities offered by Chauncy Hall for elective studies, to do advanced work in languages or other branches. There is no more charge for several classes in any study than for one class.

The school building, Boylston Street, near Dartmouth, is in the most elegant part of Boston, and is easily accessible. Horse cars pass the door.

259 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

(Opposite the Art Museum)

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

CREAM HOME MADE BREAD

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich ride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamenta work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

COMER'S

Commercial College,

BOSTON, MASS.

Best Equipped and Most Successful in America

Re-opens Sept. 1, 1886, for the 46th Year.

The course of study is elective and embraces the following subjects: Book-keeping; Penmanship; Commercial Arithmetic; Law and Correspondence; Short-Hand; Type-Writing; the English Branches. Students may begin at any time, receive INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION, and progress according to ability. Separate department for ladies.

Graduates Aided to Employment.

PUBLIC SCHOOL GRADUATES take our course as a finishing off for their other school work, before going into business.

Our Special Three Months' Course

is taken by persons whose time and means are limited.

THE COLLEGE BULLETIN, (Illustrated) gives full particulars and will be mailed free upon application. For further particulars address or call upon

C. E. COMER, 666 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

NOTICE OUR

REMOVAL.

P. Hartigan & Son,

HORSE SHOERS,

Have removed from the rear of Kinsman's Block to

184 BRIDGE ST.,

Nearly opp. St. Peter street, Salem.

OLD ESTABLISHED CONCERN,

P. Hartigan, Senior, has had 30 years' experience.

N. B. Personal attention given to Horses that interfere or over-reach.

☞ Treatment of CORNS and QUARTER CRACKS a specialty.

All our work is guaranteed,

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD On and after Monday, June 28. 1889 trains will run as follows.—

EASTERN DIVISION.

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, A. M, 1 55, 3 27, 5 08, 6 47 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 6 10, 8, 10 55 A. M., 12 M., 3, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M. Sunday, 9 27, A. M. Return 5 45 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6,30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48 7 51, 8 13, 8 34, does not stop at Lynn, 8 43, 8 58, 9 25, 9 55, 10.48 A M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 12, 3 35, 4 05, 4 21, 5 18, 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 8 55, 9, 9 53 P.M. Sundays, 5.37 8 45, 9 35, 10 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3 ,5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48. 7 51, 8 43, 8 58, 10 48 A. M., 12 M, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 35, 4 21, 5 18. 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 9, 9 53, P. M. Sundays, 8 45. 9 35, 11 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3, 5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Beverly, 6 53, 8 13, 8 45, 10 44, 11 20 A. M., 12 02, 1 05, 2 27, 2 47, 3 56. 4 05, 5 12, 5 35. 5 57, 6 36, 7 05, 7 15, 7 45, 10 10, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M. 2 10, 7 17, 8 07 P. M

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—6 53, 8 45, 11 20 A. M., 2 47, 4 05, 5 35, 7 05, 7 45, 10 10 P. M Sunday, 7 17 P.M.

Essex, 8 13 A. M., 1 05, 3 56, 6 36 P. M.

Ipswich, 8 13. 9 35, 10 44 A, M., 1 05, 2 27, 3 57, 5 12 6 36. 7 15 P. M, Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

Newburyport, 8 13, 9 35, 10 00, 10 44 A.M. 1 05, 2 02 2 27, 3 56. 5 12, 6 36, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Newburyport—4 45. 6 30, 7, 8, 8 13. 9 07, 11 40 A.M 2 35. 3 30, 3 35, 5 43. 7 20, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.

Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 15, 8 31, 9 25, A. M. 12 02 3 53, 6 06, 7 26, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A.M., 5 06 P. M.

Essex—7, A. M , 12 05 5 40 P. M.

Rockport -6 05, 7 20, 8 35, 10 A. M., 1 15, 4 55, 6 40 9 P.M. Sundays—7 50, 9 55 A. M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 29, 8 44, 10 08 A M, 1 25, 5 03, 6 48, 9 09 P M. Sundays—8, 10 03A. M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 42. 8 56, 10 21 A. M., 1 39, 5 17, 7 01, 9 23 P. M. Snndays, 8 14, 10 16 A. M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 50, 9 16, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 21, 12 40. 1 58, 4 13, 5 35, 6 25, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 9 43 P, M. Sundays 8 35 10 35 A. M. 2 52. 5 30, 9 10 P. M.

Swampscott,—6 44, 8 50, 10 36, 11 26. 11 54 A. M., 12 36. 2 19, 3 28, 4 31, 6 20, 6 56, 8 32, 10. 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 12 A.M., 2 02, 5 52, 6 27, 7 09, 7 59 10 12 P. M.

Lynn—6 40. 8 02. 8 35, 8 46, 9 10, 9 25, 9 51, 10 32, 11 10, 11 23, 11 51, A M,. 12 33, 12 55. 1 52, 2 15, 3 25, 3 45, 3 55, 4 28, 5 03, 5 24, 5 45. 6 16, 6 25. 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 27, 9 57, 10 45, 11 45 P.M. Sundays 8 52. 11 07 A, M , 1 57, 5 48, 6 24, 7 05, 7 54 10 07, P. M.

Boston—6 10, 7 30, 8, 8 10, 8 45, 9, 9 30, 10. 10 45. 10 55, 11 15. A. M. 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 40, 2 15, 2, 3 20, 3 30. 4. 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40. 7 10, 7 50, 9 20, 10 15. 11 15 P M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 30 A. M, 1 20. 5 10. 5 45, 6 25, 7. 7 15. 9 30 P.M

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 7 55, 8 40, 9 30 10 50 A M 1 05, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 5 55, 7 20 10 on Saturdays P M. Sundays, 9 10, A. M. 2 15, 7 20, 9 15 P. M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15, 9 10, 10 15 A M, 12 45, 2 3 25, 4 55, 5 40, 6 20, 7 45 on Saturday, P M. Sundays, 8 30, A. M., 12 50, 5 25, 8 45 P. M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 35, 8 53, 10 15 A. M., 1 52, 4 48 P. M.

Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A M, 3 21, 4 15, 5 55 P. M

Wakefield for Salem—8 12 A M, 12 05, 3 55, 4 39, 6 09 P. M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 21 A M, 12 14, 4 05, 4 46, 6 18 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 28 A M, 12 22, 4 12, 4 53, 6 26 P. M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lowell--7 A. M., 4 43, 6 P. M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 AM, 4 43, 6 P M, Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A M, 3 37, 4 43, 6 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Danvers—6 15. 7, 7 28, 8 58, 11 35 A M 12 47, 3 37, 4 43, 5 20, 6, 6 42 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 35 A. M., 12 15, 5 10 P. M Sundays 8 A M

Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 10 12 A M, 1 02. 5 58 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M

Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A M, 1 30, 4 45, 6 22, P M. Sundays 9 02 A M

Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 8 2, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A.M. 1 46, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 38, P M. Sundays 9 18 A M

Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02. 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A M. 1 55. 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 47 P M. Sundays 9 27 A M

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston Je. 28. 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8.30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9.00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3 30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS fo Hartford, New Haven. Jersey City, Trenton Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St. or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON

A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE,

June, 21, 1886.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.30, 3, 3.30, 4, (Express) 4.30, 5, (Express), 5.30, 6, (Express) §6.30, 7, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9.20, 9.50, 10.50, 11.15 P. M

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, (Express) 7.30 (Express), 8 (Express), 8.30 (Express), 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15 5.45, 6.15, 6.45, 7.15, 7.45, 8.40, 9.10, 9.40, 10.10, 10.30 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.30, 3, 3.30, 4. 4.30, 5, 5.30, 6, 6.30, 7, 7.30, 8. 8.30, 9, 9.40, 10.15, P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A M.; 12 M.; 1. 1.45, 2.15, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.15, 6.45. 7.15, 7.45, 8.15, 9, 9.30 P. M.

§ Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A.   C. A. HAMMOND up

THE

WASHINGTON LUNCH ROOM,

Post Office Building,

SALEM.

Steaks and Chops served in first-class style.

Oysters and Salads a specialty.

ALDEN THOMAS, - Prop.

je 9—3m

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—In your last issue was an enquiry from someone as to whether the Service Pension Association had not received a black eye at the hands of the recent National Encampment of the G. A. R., at San Francisco.

As a member of that Association, I reply, that there can be but one answer to that question, and that in the affirmative. The movement in favor of the Service Pension Bill was defeated by a vote of 327 to 86, which may indeed be termed a black eye for the measure. But, Messrs. Editors, it was just such a black eye as thoroughly arouses the injured party; just such a black eye as every reform must receive at its inception; just such a black eye as Bull Run was to the Federal Army; just such a black eye as indicates sure and complete defeat to the giver. The Service Pension Association received a similar black eye in 1885, at the Massachusetts Department Convention at Boston, but this year the tables were turned with a vengeance, the opposition to the measure buried forever, and the delegates to the National Convention pledged in favor of the bill, a pledge which four of the delegates were so lacking in honor and manliness as to ignore. The pressure brought to bear upon them was undoubtedly great, and that brings us to the secret of the small vote for the Bill, in the National Encampment; a vote small "per se," but large under the circumstances. That Encampment does not, to-day, represent the G. A. R. Every veteran knows that at least three fourths of all the enlisted veterans, i. e., the rank and file, the great body of the Order, comprising nine tenths of the members, are enthusiastically in favor of the principle of the Bill, vis: a pension to every survivor of the late war, not as an invalid or a pauper, but for his service to this Government, for which it is indebted for its very existence, and independent of, and in addition to, all disability pensions. Why then did not the vote at the Encampment show this? Because, as has been said, it is not a representative body. The division of the honors and emoluments of service, in the war and ever since, between the enlisted and the commissioned soldiers has been on the well-known principle of the division of the proceeds of the hunt between the White Man and the Indian. Somehow, the private gets the crow every time, and the framers of the Rules and Regulations of the G. A. R., faithfully incorporated this principle into these Rules when they provided that every Past Dept. Commander should be entitled to a vote in every Convention by virtue of their offices, and in addition to that of the elected delegates. As this State has had nineteen Past Commanders and others, perhaps, more in proportion, it will be seen that these Annual gatherings are anything but representative bodies. The Past Commanders are responsible to no one, and they need work only for their own interests. Now the interests of those who have managed not only to control the machinery of the Order, but have also used their positions in it to obtain fat Custom House and other Government and State offices, do not lie in the direction of this measure. It is, in their opinion, subversive of that cardinal principle, before alluded to, by which they have always got the turkey. They are assisted by the powerful influence of the great Pension Ring at Washington, which has been robbing the veterans ever since the war. It is an indisputable fact, that the Chief of that Ring hired one of the finest suites of rooms in that palatial Hotel, the Occidental, during the week of the late Encampment, and there kept open house, in the fullest, and most Californian sense of the term, for all his friends, including nearly all the leaders of the opposition to this Bill, particularly a certain official of very high rank in the G. A. R., who is often seen riding with the Great Pension Shark through the streets of Washington or Long Branch, assisting in spending the thousands wrung from the poor soldiers.

The truth is, and every ingenuous soldier will admit it, the present Pension System is a fraud, placing a premium on perjury and bumming, and defrauding the worthy soldier of his deserts. For this reason the mass of the Veterans oppose it and will certainly force it to give way to a more equitable plan, no matter if those who support it do chance to control, for the time being, the machinery of the G. A. R. And so far from feeling discouraged by the vote at San Francisco, they deem it a glorious beginning of a contest for justice to a most deserving class, in a cause which is as sure to triumph as truth is to prevail. VETERAN.

It is said that Prof. C. R. Bill is presenting the National music course to the school authorities of the western part of New York. This is the new series of music books which Prof. L. W. Mason has brought out. We presume Prof. Bill intends to introduce them here.

ASBURY GROVE.

The season at the grove is drawing to a close and the exodus commenced as soon as the meetings were over at the circle. The grounds never look so neat after as before camp meeting, the crowds during the week leaving the avenues unclean and dusty while the groves and parks are littered with paper bags and lunch boxes where the family picnic was held during camp meeting week. About 200 families remain in the cottages but by the last of the week that number will be reduced at least one half. For the first week or so after the excitement of camp meeting, and when one sees the heavy trunks of his neighbors loaded on express teams, he feels a little homesick and in many cases the fever is contagious and he packs up and starts for home himself, only to wish as the Indian summer comes on that he was again enjoying the cool nights among the pines and hemlocks. One misses also the signs of life along the avenues and the big bunches of golden rod are missed from the piazzas, the closed blinds shut out the sight of the pretty draperies, easy chairs and other things that have made it look pleasant and home like.

Social life is also sadly interrupted and as some one is going daily considerable time is spent in a free and easy manner chatting, shaking hands and saying good by to old neighbors and friends and wishing them the smiles of Providence until another year shall again bring them back. September takes home the children also and the little ones are often so loath to give up the freedom they have enjoyed here that they cry and beg their mammas to remain.

But those who hasten home the first of September make a mistake. As long as it is warm enough to live out of doors it is the pleasantest month here; the foliage is just beginning to put on its varying colors and the sky above smiles in sympathy, while those who remain enjoy the quiet of the grove and discover new charms each day.

It has been a busy week for Mr. Chas. O. Putnam, the gentlemanly superintendent, and some fifteen men have been employed in removing the white covers from the society tents, carting away the straw and clearing up the rubbish left after a week of camp life. Only two of the society tents in the circle are occupied, besides one wooden structure where rooms were rented. Speaking of Mr. Putnam, it is with regret we learn that he has tendered his resignation to the Association, as he is a careful and painstaking man, and well adapted to the position he occupies.

A gloom was cast over the entire grounds last Friday by the tragic death of Master Harry Smith, 16 years of age, youngest son of Mr. Chester Smith of Chelsea, while bathing in the lake at Idlewood. Harry Smith was a general favorite about the grounds and around him clustered the regard of all who knew him. He was the light and joy of his home, the youngest son of an affectionate father and tender mother whose lives seem bound in most tender ties to their children. A higher than human power in divine wisdom saw fit to remove him early to a better and purer life and we can only say to the stricken family, "He doeth all things well."

The Association have made plans for greatly improving this place next season. The old eating house will be removed and a large restaurant building erected on the site. The old farm house near the entrance occupied by the superintendant's family, will also be removed and a modern house and post office will be erected. It is also understood but not officially announced that permission will be given the horse railroad company to extend their tracks inside the grounds to a position opposite the eating house.

The people down here are all feeling well over the arrival of a little bunch of mail matter that came to postmistress Mrs. Lincoln Ames and her husband last Saturday. It is a female and weighs ten pounds. Of course we all take an interest in that kind of mail matter that comes to the grounds and nearly all the ladies have been down to kiss it and the men are waiting their turn.

To-morrow night, Andrews, Moulton & Johnson will bring to Mechanic Hall the great play of the Banker's Daughter—one of the New York Union Sq. Theatre successes in the time of Chas. R. Thorne, Jr. It is to be presented by Crossen's company, and new scenery and effects are promised. It is one of the most effective society plays ever brought out, and it deserves a good house.

The following delegates to the G.A.R. County Convention at Lynn, Sept. 8th, were elected at a meeting of Post 50, G. A. R., last Monday night. W. J. Adams, Geo. F. Ward and W. H. Fuller. Delegates to the Veterans Rights Convention, B. F. Southwick and T. E. Jackman. Comrade W. H. Hildreth of Rutland, Vermont, presented the post with a neat marble gavel block. On the side is cut the letters "Post 50, G. A. R."

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

Thomas Cuddire, Timothy Linehan, Dennis McCarthy and Michael O'Brien, for destroying flowers at the residence of Mr. A. E. Wells, on Tremont street were fined $5.73 each. An example should now be made of some of the juvenile fruit thieves.

Jerry Hannon, for using profane language on the street, was fined $1 and costs this morning in this police court.

One of Hemmenway & Caller's non-union men was stoned last night, but was not seriously injured.

The police made raids Saturday at the houses of T. T. Riordan, Mary Gallagher, Ellen Hayes, Michael Quinn and Daniel Colman, but no liquors were found.

Mr. John A. Enos reports the loss of a package containing notes to the amount of $5,000. It had just been paid to him by a party in Boston.

Mr. E. W. Dunning of Bath, Me., was in town yesterday and took away his buggy with the green running gear which was shipped to this town by Ex Officer Reed of Lynn and his friend. While here the men made an attempt to ship the property back to the owners but were prevented by Mr. Morgan, the station agent. The men had hired the team and stolen it. They were arrested and put under $1000 bonds.

A little daughter of Albert Webb of the Port fell into a pail of hot water and was fatally scalded last Saturday.

In the police court last Thursday Maurice Galway was sent to the house of correction for three months.

Last Wednesday night the watchman at John A. Lord, Jr.'s factory saw three suspicious looking persons about the premises, and fired his revolver twice in quick succession and the fellows disappeared.

Miss Teresa Hickey and a lady friend while looking in a window of a Salem store last Thursday came near being struck by a heavy iron rotd hat supported an awning, that was thrown from its position by a team striking against the post.

Last Friday morning a loaded team belonging to William Perkins, 2d, got to going down Franklin street at a lively rate and one of the horses was thrown down, but not seriously injured.

In the police court last Friday morning Hosea Cushing and Joseph Farley were tried charged with assault on Moses Costley, in the employ of the Newhalls on Lynn street. Costley ordered the men away from the premises, when they struck him with an iron bar from behind. The men were fined $10 and costs.

Special Officer Daniel Haskell will begin his official duties by protecting his own garden from fruit thieves.

A boy named Chase fell from a tree on Walnut street last Friday and cut his head. Seven stitches were required to repair damages.

In the police court Saturday Stephen Murphy was arraigned charged with assault on Patrick Sullivan. He was fined $15 and costs.

A woman who had a ticket to Medford was brought through to Peabody last Friday night by Conductor Skinner's express train, although that conductar was not present. The woman was very violent in the denunciation of the railroad company. She was induced to keep her seat till the train reached Salem, when she was left to make the best of her way back.

Bargains at Tarlton's 42 Main street.

Mr. James Howley is ready for business in his new store.

Business has been dull at the Dye house of the Bleachery.

Secret society meetings are increasing in the number of attendants.

F. Osborne Jr. & Co., are fencing in their Foster street establishment.

Mr. C. A. Sanger can now be found at his new laundry on Walnut street.

Did you know that isinglass or rice water makes delicate starch for muslins.

The Lynn & Boston Railroad carried 2050 through passengers on the Peabody branch Sunday.

The St. Johns C. T. A. Society will hold their semi annual election of officers this evening.

There will be a church meeting of the Universalist parish in their parlors to-morrow evening.

The police extend their thanks to Mr. B. F. Southwick for a generous supply of luscious peaches.

It is hoped the Red Men and their friends will turn out to the basket picnic at Centennial Grove Friday.

Rev. F. W. Sprague has returned from his vacation, having passed a delightful season in the vicinity of Philadelphia.

Next Friday will be observed in the Catholic churches as a holy day of obligation, the occasion being the feast of the Sacred Heart.

Mr. Philip Butler of Boston is frescoing the Warren National Bank room. He is the party who frescoed the Universalist Church.

ANECDOTE OF CLEVELAND.

The critical point in the campaign of 1884 in New York was the withdrawal of William Purcell of the Rochester Union from the Democratic electoral ticket. Purcell was an Irishman, a Roman Catholic, and a firm friend of John Kelly.

Purcell's defection in 1884 filled Cleveland's friends with consternation. Cleveland himself was aroused to the necessity of mollifying the Rochester editor. Old party friends appealed to his generosity and to his party fealty, and the tide of his indignation was partly turned. He remained quiescent. Further appeals were made, and he finally consented to preside at a Democratic meeting in Rochester, with the proviso that Mr. Cleveland himself should attend the meeting. The proviso alarmed the Governor. His presence was thought to be imperatively necessary in New York and Brooklyn at that time. He preferred the Academy of Music in Brooklyn and New York. While in this dilemma some one suggested that Gen. McClellan be sent to Rochester in his place.

Mr. Cleveland therefore wrote an autograph letter to Gen. McClellan, detailing the critical situation of affairs, both urging and beseeching him to go to Rochester and make a speech in his behalf. It was thought that McClellan's presence would stir up the veterans of the war. The General was in poor health. His physician cautioned him against accepting the invitation. Mr. Cleveland's letter, however, was so urgent that he did not feel at liberty to decline. The welfare of the party was at stake, and he was too true a soldier to shirk going to the front even on a medical certificate. He went to Rochester and spoke at one of the largest meetings held in the campaign. It was unusually effective. It choked Democratic disaffection in that section of the State, and it bore ripe fruit on election day. The General returned to New Jersey in poorer health than when he left there, but with the proud consciousness of having done his duty. Not a word of acknowledgment did he receive either directly or indirectly from Albany. After the election prominent men East, South, and West were invited to the Executive Mansion, but McClellan was not among them.

When the President elect came on to New York and held his Victoria Hotel conference, Gen. McClellan called upon him. His card was sent in, but no one came to usher him into the Executive presence. He waited an hour, sandwiched between ward politicians and Assembly district heelers, who gazed at him in astonishment. Then the door opened, and the politicians ranged themselves in line. Col. Dan Lamont and the President elect came forward, and in true kingly style passed down the line, shaking hands and saying "How do you do?" right and left. McClellan was hardly recognized. He disguised his mortification as well as he could.

These facts came to light over a year ago. A well-known New Jersey Democrat called on Gen. McClellan, and asked him for a letter of commendation addressed to the President.

"You are an old and an intimate friend," the General replied, "and I would do anything within the pale of friendship and duty to serve you, but you must excuse me in this case."

The Judge pressed him for his reasons, and with great reluctance the General gave them. He also exhibited Gov. Cleveland's letter beseeching him to go to Rochester. The letter is now in the hands of Mrs. McClellan.—Savannah News.

Mr. Frank Roberts after finishing the job of putting down the seats at the Institute, took his men down Salem Harbor to-day.

We learn that Dr. C. S. Wright will not occupy the rooms in Mr. Thomas' block, on account of the barber shop which will be on the same floor.

Marriages.

In Marblehead, Aug. 11, by Rev. Shinnick, Mr. John F. Power to Miss Mary E. Collins.

In Gloucester, Aug. 25, by Rev. Mr. Green, Mr. E. Everett Webster to Miss Annie C. Norwood.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Aug. 27, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Benjamin, wife of Mr. John Torr, 78 yrs. 8 mos. 27 days; Miss Helena, daughter of Mr. John Mahoney, 27 yrs. 7 mos; 17th, Mary Ann, daughter of Edward and Mary Spence, 11 mos. 17 days; 22d. Alex G., son of J. Frank and Kate G. Tigh, 1 mos. 16 days.

OLD MAGAZINES
WANTED.

Will take old Harper's, Scribner's, St. Nicholas or Century Magazines of any date whatever in exchange for Book Binding, Card Albums or Cash.

H. A. BROOKS,
BOOK BINDER,
224 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

SPARKS.

Adjourned meetings of the Relief Association and the directors of the Relief Association will be held at the engine house next Monday evening at 8 o'clock and 8.30 o'clock respectively. The meeting of the association is called for the purpose of electing a director to represent Steamer No. 1. John O. Buxton is nominated.

The engineers have caused cards to be printed with the numbers and location of alarm boxes, in large type, to be posted in conspicuous places in the engine and hose houses.

It is just one month this morning since the last alarm. There have been general alarms in Salem since the fire alarm telegraph was adopted in Peabody, by which false alarms would have been raised in Peabody but for the telegraph alarm.

Fireman Brophy of Steamer 1 is the last to receive congratulations. It is a young fireman or policeman, and was born Saturday morning. The cigars have been furnished.

A letter was received this morning from Excelsior hand engine company No. 4 of Provincetown, in which they announce that they wish to visit Peabody at some time this fall, and wish for particulars in regard to expenses, etc. If they decide to come, the firemen of this town should endeavor to give them some kind of a reception.

IF YOU WANT A
PIANO,
Buy a Chickering or Woodward & Brown, and I guarantee perfect satisfaction.

A large stock of all kinds of Instruments
— AT —
245 ESSEX STREET.

Banjos, Guitars, Violins, Harmonicas, Accordeons, Strings, etc.

Sheet Music and Books.

Pianos selected from any factory and price guaranteed less than Boston prices.

E. V. EMILIO,
245 ESSEX ST.,
SALEM.

EVERY YOUNG MAN
Should have such a knowledge of the requirements of business as may be obtained at the

BURDETT
Business COLLEGE

Removed to
592 WASHINGTON STREET,
Cor. Hayward Place,
BOSTON.

Owing to the unprecedented increase of the College patronage, central, commodious, light and elegant apartments have been secured at FIVE NINE-TWO WASHINGTON ST., cor. Hayward Place, a few doors above R. H. White & Co.'s, on same side of street.

Students can commence on and after Monday, Sept. 6. Prospectus mailed free. Principals may be seen at the College daily, between 9 and 4. Unequalled facilities for procuring situations for Students.

C. A. & F. H. BURDETT, Principals.
aug 11—8t

WM. M. HILL.
AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE
BROKER & APPRAISER.
SALEM,
Offers for Sale at reasonable
THE SAUNDERS' ESTATE
MAIN ST., PEABODY.

FOR SALE.

The Tanyard belonging to the Estate of Abel Story, situated at Essex Falls, near Railroad. Plenty of Water. A Rare chance.

Apply to B. F. RAYMOND,
ESSEX, MASS.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,
SALEM, MASS.

EXAMINATION of Candidates for admission on TUESDAY, September 7. Tuition and text books free. Pecuniary aid to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to
D. B. HAGAR, Principal.
jy 26—3w

KILN DRIED WHITE MEAL.—Received to-day from mill, another car of kiln dried white meal, which is giving great satisfaction to all who use it, bringing us renewed orders. We can make a low price for ton lots from car much lower than on yellow meal.
CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
aug 18 41 to 47 Central St.

OLD OATS.—We have a full assortment of all grades of last years' crop of Oats, which being thoroughly seasoned, are for safer feed for horses than the crop just harvested. We invite your examination and early orders.
CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
aug 17 41 to 47 Central St.

CHAPTER 317, ACTS OF 1886.

An Act in Relation to the Inspection and Sale of Imitation Butter,

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:—

SECTION 1. Section seventeen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is hereby amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oil or grease not produced from milk or cream, shall have the words,—imitation butter,—or if such substitute is the compound known as—oleomargarine,—then the word—oleomargarine,—or if it is known as—butterine,—then the word—butterine,—stamped, labelled or marked in a straight line in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length, so that said words cannot be easily defaced, upon the top, side and bottom of every tub, firkin, box or package containing any of said article, substance or compound. The said stamp, label or mark shall contain no other words. And whoever, by himself or his agents, exposes or offers for sale any of the said article, substance or compound, not in the original package, shall attach to the said article, substance or compound, in a conspicuous place, a label bearing the words,—imitation butter—oleomargarine,—or—butterine, as the article may be, in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length. And in case of retail sales of any of said article, substance or compound not in the original packages, the seller shall, by himself or his agents, attach to each package so sold, and shall deliver therewith to the purchaser, a label or wrapper bearing in a conspicuous place upon the outside of the package the words,—imitation butter,—oleomargarine,—or butterine,—and no other words, in printed letters in a straight line of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length.

SECT. 2. Section nineteen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound made in imitation or semblance of butter or cheese, or a substitute for butter or cheese, except as provided in the two preceding sections, and whoever, with intent to deceive, defaces, or erases, cancels or removes any mark, stamp, brand, label or wrapper provided for in said sections, or in any manner shall falsely label, stamp or mark any box, tub, article or package marked, stamped or labelled as aforesaid, shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 3. Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter, or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oils or grease not produced from milk or cream, contained in any box, tub, article or package, marked or labelled with the word—dairy,—or the word—creamery,—shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 4. Every person who conveys any imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine in carriages or otherwise, for the purpose of selling the same in any city or town, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, be licensed by the inspector or inspectors of milk of such city or town to sell the same within the limits thereof, and shall pay to such inspector or inspectors fifty cents to the use of the city or town. The inspector or inspectors shall pay over monthly to the treasurer of such city or town all sums collected by him or them. In towns in which there is no inspector of milk, licenses shall be issued by the town clerk. Licenses shall be issued only in the names of the owners of the carriages or other vehicles, and shall, for the purposes of this chapter, be conclusive evidence of ownership. No license shall be sold, assigned or transferred. Each license shall record the name, residence, place of business, number of carriages or other vehicles used, the name and residence of every driver or other person engaged in carrying or selling imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine, and the number of the license. Each licensee shall, before engaging in the sale of any of the articles as aforesaid, cause his name, the number of his license and his place of business to be legibly placed on each outer side of all carriages or vehicles used by him in the conveyance of the articles aforesaid, in Gothic letters not less than one inch in length, and he shall report to the inspector or inspectors any change of driver or other person employed by him which may occur during the term of his license. Whoever, without being first licensed under the provisions of this section, sells any of the articles as aforesaid, or exposes or offers them for sale from carriages or other vehicles, or has them in his custody or possession with intent to sell, and whoever violates any of the provisions of this section shall, for a first offence, be punished by a fine of not less than thirty nor more than one hundred dollars; for a second offence, by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars.

SECT. 5. Every person before selling or offering for sale any of the said articles in a store, booth, stand or market-place in a city or in a town in which an inspector or inspectors of milk are appointed, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually, on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, register in the books of such inspector or inspectors, or, if there be no inspector, then in the books of the town clerk, and shall pay to him or them fifty cents to the use of such city or town; and whoever neglects to so register shall be so punished for each offence by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars.

SECT. 9. This act shall take effect upon its passage. [APPROVED JUNE 23, 1886.]

THOMAS W. PEASLEY,
Inspector of Milk.

Peabody, August 6, 1886.

COLLINS BROS.,
DEALERS IN COAL, WOOD & BARK.
OFFICES:
248 Bridge Street,
— AND —
72 Noth Street.
SALEM.

Stove, Chestnut, Egg and Broken Coals at the Lowest Market Prices.

☞ All orders promptly attended to.
je 30—3m

J. H. ALLEN,
UNDERTAKER,
Removed to St. Peter street, Salem

Business Chance!
DANE BROTHERS,
(Successors to J. H. Trofatter.)
Horse & Carriage Exchang
101 Boston St., Salem.

Large stock of new and second-han carriages for sale or exchange. Als horses, for sale or exchange.
je 8—6m

EDWARD P. MOULTON,
PLUMBING,
Water & Gas Fitting

Of every description. Ventilation o Closets, and Drainage a specialty.

All orders promptly attended to. First class work and satisfaction guaranteed.

28 Norman Street,
SALEM.
je 8—4m

HOLLY TREE INN.
The Best Materials only are used in the preparation of Appetising Food,
AT THE
POPULAR HOLLY TREE DINING ROOMS,
9 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.
may 19—4m

M. MORIARTY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Soda, Ginger Ale and Tonic Beers.

Bottler of Cider, Lager Beer, Philadelphia Stock Ale and Porter.

Corner Market Sq. an Front St.
SALEM, MASS.

HORSES!
Arrived Friday, April 30th.
42 HORSES! 42
TWO CAR LOADS OF
HORSES
Purchased by Mr. Abbott for our trade,
NOW READY FOR SALE AT OUR
Sale Stable 52 Charter Street
Abbott & Reynolds.

EXCURSION
TICKET
For the whole system of Railways in the White and Green Mountain
— SOLD BY —
D. P. GROSVENOR,
35 Main Street.
Authorized Agent for Peabody, Mas
july 28—5w

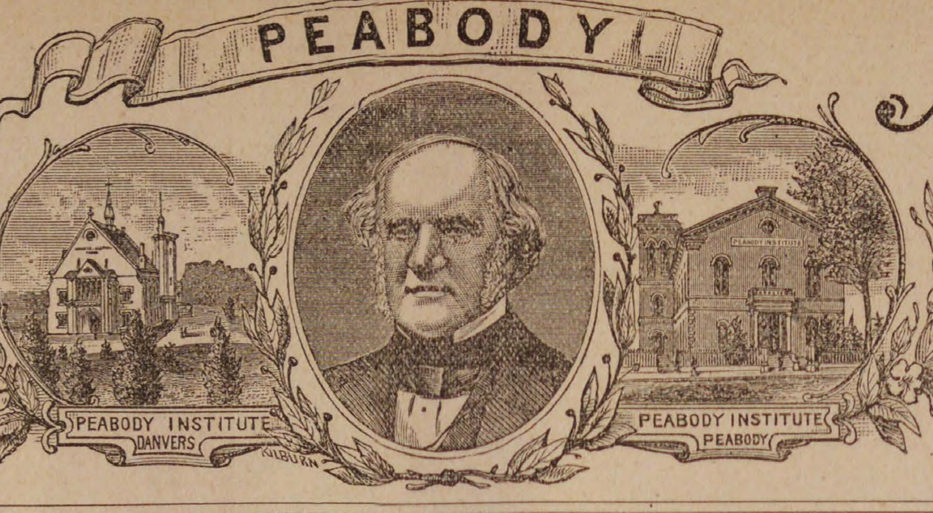
D. P. GROSVENOR.
PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.
Compounder of
Physicians Prescriptions
and dealer in
RELIABLE DRUG
35 MAIN STREET
PEABODY, MASS.

Sagamore House,
133 UNION ST., LYN
(NEAR CENTRAL DEPOT.)
Special Rates to Commercial and Profession Travelers.
Renovated and Refurnished.
J. M. Batchelder & co., Prop
je 9—1y

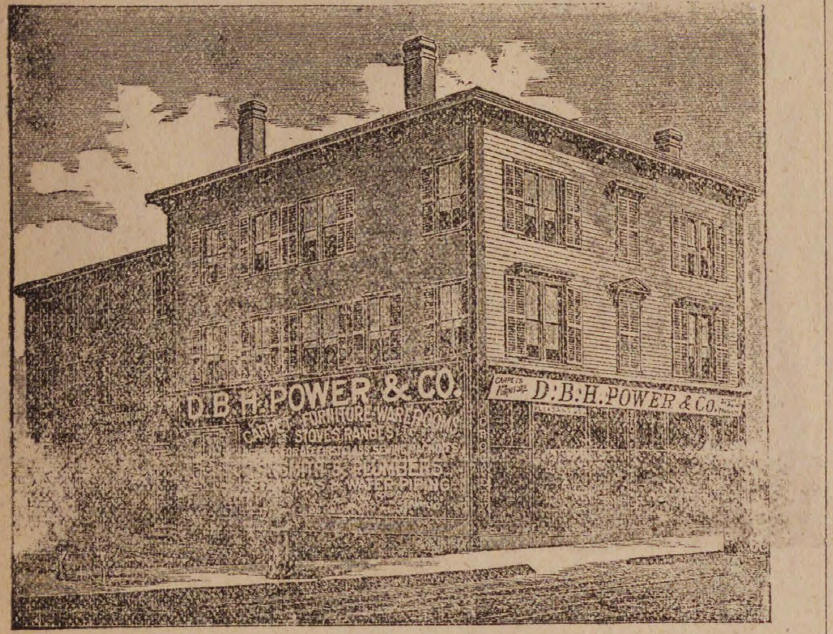
W. S. OSBORNE,
TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISH
Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. O
Second Door west of Hay Scales.

PEABODY

The Press.



VOL. 27 PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 8, 1886. NO. 35.



D.B.H. POWER & CO.
D.B.H. POWER & CO.

GRAND OPENING.

The extensive additions to our buildings are now completed. Our new fall stock has arrived and we most heartily invite the citizens of Essex County to call and inspect the Largest House Furnishing Store in New England, 32,700 square feet of floor room, all under one roof, with the largest and most Extensive Stock of House Furnishing goods ever seen in any one store. It is a museum worthy of inspection. You will be kindly received and shown all over our immense establishment by our clerks, whether you intend to purchase or not.

We have OIL CLOTHS all prices, styles and widths. INGRAIN, TAPESTRY and BRUSSELS CARPETS. RUGS, STRAW MATTING, STAIR CARPET. BORDERS, etc. We have the most elegant display of these goods ever seen, and our Carpet room is the model of perfection.

Furniture, Bedding, Stoves, Ranges, Tin and Wooden Ware, Hardware, Etc.

Remember we manufacture our own STOVES and we warrant every one that we sell. We deliver and set up our Stoves ready for a fire without extra charge. Carpets made and put down. All goods delivered free. We guarantee our prices the lowest and our terms the easiest. Goods sold for cash or on our own and original instalment plan, $1.00 down and $1.00 a week. We lead and others follow.

D B. H. POWER & CO.,

123 & 125 PLEASANT, & 24 SCHOOL ST.,

MARBLEHEAD.

293 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

All Horse and Steam Cars stop at our Doors.

MASON'S

FRUIT JARS,

600 dozen,

— AT —

W. F. PERRY'S,

87 WASHINGTON STREET,

SALEM.

e 9—3m

PIANOS

Behning Pianos,
Harrington Pianos,
— AT —
A. M. CRAIN'S
PIANO PARLORS,
52 Market St.,
LYNN.

ORGANS

Any make of Piano or Organ furnished to order.

je 30—1y

PEABODY

LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STAIRS.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET,

Is the place to buy your

OYSTERS,

opened fresh every day at 30 and 40 cents per quart, also a nice line of Fancy Oysters at 75 cents per quart.

Ocean, Lake and River Fresh Fish,

LOBSTERS and CLAMS

IN THEIR SEASONS.

No. 6 Peabody Square.

R. F. DODGE, - Proprietor.

SUIT DEPARTMENT.

Ladies' Small Mantles.

The balance to be sold at 50 cts., 75 cts. and $1,

Children's Suits, Sizes 2 to 12 yrs,

Prices, 50 cts., 75 cts. and $1.00 up.

The balance of the Conrad Stock to be sold this week regardless of cost.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

HAMMERED BRASS TRAYS,

32 cts.; usually sold for 60 cts.

A lot of Gentlemen's all linen HEMSTITCHED PRINTED BORDERED HDKFS., 13 cts.; would be cheap at 25c.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

24.

M. N. BLACK,

Combings made into Switches and Montagues. All work warranted.

80 MARKET ST. LYNN.

je 30—3m

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

Shorter days!

No more circuses!

Early frosts are feared!

Fringed gentian is in bloom!

Cucumber vines are dried up!

The housewife is canning fruit!

Pears and apples are abundant!

School life has begun in earnest!

Farmers have a bountiful harvest!

September closes up the re-unions!

The cranberry crop is reported short!

House cleaning is in the near future!

Lawns are as fresh and green as in June.

Mr. J. B. Thomas' tax in Salem is $520.80

The market is overstocked with tomatoes.

The second crop of hay has been gathered.

The cider mills have been put in operation.

Don't expect good grapes till the natives come.

Summer don't leave us till the 22d of September.

The boys continue the raids on the apple orchards.

Sandpipers are reported plenty at Ipswich neck.

Woodbine and maple leaves are changing color.

Mr. Henry Gardner on Margin street is building a new barn.

Sunflowers measuring from 18 inches to two feet are now exhibited.

Meeting of the W. C. T. U., in Franklin Hall, Friday, at 3 P. M.

The ice man now drops large pieces of congealed fluid along the streets.

Mr. Jacob C. Rogers, as trustee, pays a tax of $1,322 in Somerville.

Visit the 5 and 10 cent counter at Morrison & Trask's Hardware store.

If money to save you wisely choose
Always at Nugent's buy your shoes.

Several of our leather manufacturers attended the convention in Boston last week.

Full line of baskets for the fruit season, at Morrison & Trasks, Walnut street.

The Daisies and Shamrocks played ball last Saturday, and the former won, 37 to 13.

Potatoes may be a drug in the market but they are a luxury on the break fast table.

The vacation of the oyster has terminated and you can find him at the Central fish market.

Miss Grace Stevens now presides over the musical instruments at E. V. Emilio's in Salem.

Mrs. Doran's pet dog became a victim to officer Goodwin's nickle plated revolver, recently.

The Clippers of Danvers defeated the Clippers of Peabody at base ball last Friday, 15 to 14.

The date for the West Peabody Farmers Club fair has been fixed for Sept. 21st and 22d.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

It was just two weeks that the derrick stood on Lowell street, while rebuilding the brook.

It doesn't seem long since spring, and yet we'll soon be seeing autumn tints in the woods.

The cool mornings and nights we are having are the most delightful kind for enjoyable sleeping.

Shooting of ducks of all kinds, gray squirrels, hares and rabbits, is now open to sportsmen.

A number of Peabody gentlemen attended the New England fair, at Bangor, Me., last week.

The tax payers are looking around for the "spondulicks" to meet the payments of their tax bill.

Now comes the report that inside of two weeks the labor trouble will be over. "That's the stuff."

It is an actual fact that a man last week offered for sale a watermelon containing a bottle of whiskey.

In the police court Monday morning, James Gallagher was fined $10 and costs for disturbing the peace.

Mr. Elbridge Kelley will put in a steam heating apparatus in the house of Mathew Lynn, on Central street.

The Knights of Pythias have lowered the limit of age of applicants. A man "rising" 41 can't rise in that order.

Bargains for everybody this week at Nugent's new shoe store, Upton's Block, Foster street. Give them a call.

Jack Barry, for assaulting Dennis Scanlon, paid costs in the police court, Thursday morning, amounting to $6.33.

Mr. W. H. Hildreth has our thanks for the interesting Rutland, Vermont papers, and W. H. Pingree for Texas papers.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town—Nothing like it, Principee. Clarks Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo Stevens' *

A well-dressed stranger had an epileptic fit on Foster street, last Saturday, but soon came out of it. He was a drummer.

Among the heavy tax payers of Malden, are Webster & Co., $2,464.32, K. M. Jarvis, $189.04 and W. F. Wiley $231.20.

The Baptist church pulpit was very handsomely decorated with flowers, las Sunday, by two of the young ladies of the society.

The little boys and girls meet at the new post office at the five o'clock mail to flirt, the same as in the old. How pufficky awful!

Rev. J. W. Hudson will preach next Sunday, at the Unitarian church, a sermon on the Hymns of the church,—past and present.

A night blooming cereus at the residence of Moses Page on Central street, Sunday evening, brought out a number of friends to see it.

Peabody will be represented with the New England Water Works Association on their trip to inspect the Lawrence water works, Sept. 15th.

The following delegates were elected to the Unitarian Conference in Saratoga the week of Sept. 20th:—Mrs. P. T. Nelson, Arthur W. Littlefield.

In the police court Saturday morning Mr. Thomas McNiff, for cutting flowers from the garden of Mrs. Lucy Southwick at South Peabody, was fined $10.33.

The remains of Mrs. Richard Loring who died at Red Wing, Minn., were brought to this town for interment and a funeral service was held in the South Church, Monday.

The Peabody's were defeated at base ball by the Danvers club last Saturday. Score 14 to 2. The Miller's of Wakefield also defeated the M. Y. B's., of this town. Score 8 to 2.

All interested in prohibition are invited to Franklin Hall, No. 5 Allen's Block, to-morrow evening, to listen to reports from the delegates to the State Convention, at Worcester, to-day.

Peabody has a genius! A resident of that town has perfected a screen that permits a fly to leave the room and go out doors, but so arranged that it cannot return.—Wakefield Citizen.

Messrs. Colburn & Fuller have put into their Milford factory a new machine for cutting soles, by which they will make a saving of $300 to $500 a month. Such enterprise is commendable.

A meeting was held at Danvers last Wednesday evening to take steps toward forming a Village Improvement society, and among the invited guests and speakers, was Mr. James P. King, of this town.

The police found a man in a bark car in the rear of Foster street Saturday evening. He had fallen into a vat near Roger Gill's shop, and had hung his pants over the wheel of a bark wagon to dry.

The forming of Veterans Rights Association by the Grand Army is very commendable. The object of this Association is to look after the interests of the veterans and furnish them employment when needed.

We are glad to note the success of James N. Ham, formerly of this town, in his position in Lexington, Mass. In addition to his duties as principal of the High School, he has been appointed superintendent of schools for the town.

The Postmaster General has issued new instructions to postmasters for their guidance in carrying out the recent law extending the special delivery system on and after the 1st of next October, to all postoffices and to all mailable matter.

A GIGANTIC

CLOTHING, HAT, CAP

— AND —

GENT'S FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT

— FOR —

SALEM.

David Conrad's entire block to be connected with the Naumkeag Clothing Store which will be when completed the largest retail Clothing, Hat, Cap and Gent's Furnishing Goods Establishment in New England, except the "Marlboro" in Boston, one of our own stores, and the largest in the U. S.

We desire to inform the citizens of Essex County that we have leased the Conrad estate, formerly occupied by him as a Dry Goods Store, and shall commence at once to connect it with the Naumkeag Clothing Store, making one enormous establishment.

BUYERS OF CLOTHING, HATS, CAPS AND FURNISHING GOODS REMEMBER!

Our entire stock of Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing, Hats, Caps and Furnishing Goods, amounting to over ($65,000), sixty-five thousand dollars worth must be closed out at once. This will be the grandest opportunity for the citizens of Essex County to secure reliable clothing at figures lower than ever before heard of in New England.

This sale will include all our heavy Winter Overcoats, carried over from last season, numbering over (600) six hundred Men's, Boys' and Children's all warranted to be clean perfect goods, just as stylish as any made this year, and a saving of 30 to 40 per cent. to the buyer. Our object in offering this gigantic sale so early in the season, is on account of enlarging our store.

School commences now in a few days. Parents should not fail to call and examine our enormous stock of Boys' and Children's School Suits, in heavy and medium weight. We shall offer at this sale over (2000) two thousand Boys' and Children's School and Dress Suits, over 50 different patterns to make your selections from. In fact you will have a wholesale stock to select from, at prices that cannot fail to meet with the approval of every buyer. The goods must be closed out before the 20th of September.

We must unload a very large proportion of this stock before our alterations are completed.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

177 & 179 Essex St., Salem.

Z. A. GALLUP, - - - - - MANAGER

The Essex County Veteran Odd Fellows' Association will hold its annual meeting in Beverly, Tuesday, Sept. 14th. The session will take up the whole day, and will be of great interest to the members. The dinner will be furnished.

Nugent Bros. have perfected the arrangements of their new store, Upton's Block, Foster street, and are ready for business. They have the finest shoe store in town, and filled with the largest and best assortment of footwear which they will sell at the lowest prices.

Miss Nellie French, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. French of Salem, formerly of Peabody, celebrated her fifteenth birthday last week, and a large party of her young friends were present. During the evening the young lady was presented with a gold chain and charm.

The League of Essex County Wheelmen will hold its eighteenth meet at Lynnfield, on Saturday. Dinner will be served at the Lynnfield Hotel and the day will be spent with sports on the hotel grounds and boating and fishing on the lake. The start will be made from Salem common at 10 o'clock.

The printers and editors of the PRESS are indebted to Mr. A. C. Osborne for a very generous supply of excellent plums from his extensive fruit orchard on Central street. Mr. Osborne has six trees of the fruit and has raised several bushels. The public can sample it by calling at George Stevens' store.

Last Thursday, John Dalton an old resident in the employ of Albert F. Poor, while hauling bark from the freight yard on Central street, fell between the horse and the shafts of the wagon, and the forward wheels passed over his body, but he kept his hold on the reins and stopped his horse. The accident was caused by the breaking of the seat on which he was sitting. He made his way to the tannery and to his home on Endicott street. His injuries were of an internal nature and he died the next day. He leaves a widow, two sons and three daughters.

During the noon hour last Wednesday some unknown person entered the tannery of Mr. Samuel Symonds on Walnut street, and burned up the overalls, boots and aprons of the non-union men employed there. Such meanness would meet its just deserts if the parties were detected.

The report of Chief of Police Peasley for the month of August is as follows:—Whole number of arrests, 27, of which four were for drunkenness; assaults, 9; malicious mischief, 4; burglary, 2; disturbance of the peace, 2; riotous proceedings, 2; vagrancy 1; keeping an unlicensed dog, 1; malicious injury, 1; larceny, 1.

Engineer Pettey's report at the pumping station for last month reads as follows:—Whole number of gallons pumped, 16,875,010; average per day, 543,355; pounds of coal for the month, 41,513; average pounds per day, 1,339; number of gallons pumped per pound of coal, 406 4-10; average running time per day, 6 hours 50 minutes.

One of our business men has been corresponding with a French plate glass firm in Paris, to obtain a certain kind of glass. It took him about six weeks to get a reply and in it he was addressed as "Monsieur" and the letter was written in French. The gentleman's daughter translated it for him.

The harvest moon fulls on the 13th. The husbandmen of old, saw in the celestial arrangement that permitted the moon to rise for four evenings after the full with only thirty-two minutes' average difference, a providential interposition to prolong the day, and thus lend them assistance in gathering in the harvest.

The new letter-sheet envelopes are daily passing through the mail much to the aggravation of the postoffice officials who have not yet been able to get any, and don't know when they can. They are said to show a tendency to split open at the edges; whether from the poor quality of the paper or too hard usage in the mail-bags does not appear.

A young son of Benj. McKean fell seventeen feet from a ladder, last Wednesday, and came up smiling without any injury.

A long line of express and carpenters wagons, and several barges making a long procession passed through town last Wednesday night. It was the Lynn Mechanics who had been on a picnic to the Willows.

Last Wednesday evening, the St. Johns C. T. A. Society elected officers as follows:—Pres., John E. Russell; Vice President, M. T. Ray; Rec. Sec., M. F. Collins; Treasurer, John J. Daley; Cor. Sec., John F. Duffy; Collector, Eugene T. Motley; Librarian, Patrick Clancey; Directors, James J. Donovan, James Finlay, John J. Cahill, John J. Donnelly, John J. McBride; Board of Investigation, Christopher Cahill, Charles J. Houghton.

National Bank Examiner Jeremiah Getchell, was in town last week, looking into the condition of our local banks. As he was examining the notes in the directors' room, a bystander remarked that he must see a great variety of signatures in the course of his work. "Yes," he said, "I see many names and styles of penmanship, but I grow very familiar with some of them."

At the caucus held in Franklin Hall, Thursday evening, the following were elected delegates to the State Convention at Worcester:—Samuel Trask, D. S. Littlefield, J. T. Casino, Rev. Willard Spaulding, Rev. Mr. Shipman, Caleb F. Shilaber, Luther T. French, Mrs. Elizabeth S. Osborne, Mrs. Dennison Moore, Dennison Moore, Mrs. Samuel Trask, Edward Fuller and Mrs. M. O. Stevens.

A special car brought a party of the employes of the Salem & Danvers street railroad from Danvers last Wednesday evening, to visit Moses Terrio, a fellow employe who lives on Jacobs street. The evening was spent with music and refreshments. During the evening Mr. Terrio, who has recently been married, was presented with a dinner set, toilet set and handsome clock.

SCENES IN THE BOWERY.

SATURDAY NIGHT STROLL THROUGH A THIRSTY THOROUGHFARE.

Glimpses of Saloons, Shooting Galleries, Concert Halls and Dives—A Street Full of Hoodlums—In the Gallery of a Theatre.

Under the stars, the elevated railway and the electric lights. Colors look brighter than by daylight. There are no neutral tints on the Bowery. The violet would shrink and die here unnoticed in the blaze of the peony and the hollyhock. From the hues which adorn the body of the "tattooed lady" in the dime museum to those which are flaunted upon her morally tattooed sister without, all are of glaring reds, blues, greens and yellows! A smile blossoms into a broad grin on this high pressure street, a whisper takes on thunder tones, and a friendly greeting often appears as an aggravated assault.

An undertaker's shop, with the grandest and gloomiest "casket" violently "starred" in the window! The proprietor has stepped next door to hobnob with the florist over a glass of beer, and under the shadow of an enormous floral trophy appropriately marked "Rest," which is calculated to cause a modest and sensitive corpse to shiver with shameful surprise.

ON THE ROAD TO RUIN.

Hoodlums!—female hoodlums, from 13 to 16 years of age, short of dress, long of tongue, with bangs, bold eyes, tremendous hats and "Mikado tuck-ups" to their hair. The street swarms with them and they seem to "know it all." Not wholly bad, perhaps, but on the road to being so. Looking for excitement, aching for attention, dying for a dance, anything for admiration, any length for a compliment. Vanity ruins more women than vice. The philanthropist who would seek to save these girls might be met by a startling question, Do they wish to be saved?

Beer and free lunch galore, attacked by a perspiring and not particular throng. Ten men to one fork! The red herring, so conducive to thirst, is not popular, the tripe having evidently borne the brunt of attack. The cheese has suffered greatly, too, and looks as though it wished itself dead, which it isn't.

A "lung tester!"

"Try your lungs, gents!"

What's that? A woman struck by the proprietor. Evidently his wife, for she sinks down on a door step, rubs her arm and makes no complaint.

"You won't?"

"No, John; I won't!"

Another blow. A knot of people block up the sidewalk and cry "Shame." No one steps between them, however. Probably if any one did the couple would combine against him. The man turns to his lung tester and polishes it fiercely, trying to appear as if it were not conspicuous, which, as Dickens has remarked, "No one has ever yet succeeded in doing!" "Go on about your business!"

The growl seems to come from the nickel-tipped machine. The crowd slowly dissolves, wondering, perhaps, why the woman doesn't test her lungs by calling the police!

A shooting gallery! "Six shots for ten cents." One man is received coolly here, but two, if they are acquaintances, make the proprietor joyful. For the two are sure to compete in marksmanship, and in the excitement of emulation take little heed of the number of shots fired. It is an easy matter to "blow in" a dollar in a shooting gallery.

A "TOP-HEAVY" HOUSE.

The theatre! "Last night of 'Jack Sheppard.' Cast of Bowery favorites!" Come in! A handsome theatre, a "top-heavy" house, a bad performance. Let us go up into the gallery! Phew! It is packed! "Jack Sheppard," Saturday night, the gallery and the Bowery! What else could be expected of such a conjunction? Many of the boys are stripped to undershirts. They want action, these gamins, and care little for consistency. It is nothing to them that Jack is escorted to the gallows by a detachment of local militia in the uniform of the N. G. S. N. Y., or that an "oak chamber" is used as a prison, as long as the gunpowder can be depended upon, the manacles are the real thing, and the red fire holds out to the bitter end! Sharp fellows, these gallery boys, too. One of them, sent by three friends to secure seats in the front of the gallery, achieved his purpose by lying at full length on the benches until his friends arrived!

Out into the air again, charged with electricity and beer! An old-time gambler, with his mustache died a deadly black. A relic! Such as he have stopped dyeing, or have died altogether. "Dives" by the dozen, down steps from which arise language and music equally offensive. Huge posters of popular and respectable actresses adorn the fronts of these places, with the names carefully covered up. Through the swinging screen doors a "flush" customer is welcomed, or a bankrupt one "bounced."

A Chinese laundry! Five celestials hard at work, although it is 11:30, ironing shirts all of them, squirting water from their mouths, and, as Thackeray has said, "without a profile among 'em." Bang! A brick is hurled against the window, but Won Kee is undisturbed! He has profited by dearly bought experience, and his window is netted with wire.

Twelve o'clock by the illuminated dial on the Cooper institute, which grandly towers above the sea of frivolity that beats against its base. One more glance down the broad thoroughfare. But little diminution of the throng, although it is the "noon of night." The street seems crowned with fire, studded with blazing gems. And below the electric lights, that make the pale old moon seem but a faded thing.—Edward E. Kidder in New York World.

Enjoying a Three Dollar Ride.

They tell a hard story about young Tom Blinks. Tom is addicted to tapping the rosy at times. The other day while slightly in this line, Tom thought a drive would do him good.

He went to his accustomed stable and called for his buggy, and while the animal was being put to it he took his seat in the chariot and fell asleep. They let him severely alone for a three hours' snooze. At the end of that time he awoke and the stableman asked him where he had been. Tom looked round and after a moment's hesitation answered:

"Out to Wes'ches'er; Har'em river. Stopped at Gabe Case's; came back."

Then he paid his $3 and went away perfectly satisfied.—New York Journal.

Meanest Teacher on Record.

The meanest teacher on record—and that means a great deal to the children—is the one at Liegnitz, in Germany, who gave her class the following problem for a holiday task: "From 880,788,899 deduct 629 until nothing remains." The poor girls figured and figured for hours without making much headway; finally their tears attracted the attention of the parents. A simple division will show that the figure 629 is contained in the larger one no less than 14,000,300. Allowing three deductions a minute and twelve hours' work a day, it would take over six hundred days to do what had been given the girls as a holiday amusement.—Chicago Herald.

BANKING OUT WEST.

FINANCIAL OUTCOME OF PAYING ATTENTION TO BUSINESS.

A Dozen Farms and a Wife—Making Money Regardless of Sentiment or Sympathy—Trouble with the Settlers—A Funny Bargain.

On an east bound train the other day was a well-fed and comfortable-looking man, who announced that he had been attending to business very strictly for three or four years, and that he was then on his way to the seashore for the purpose of having a little recreation. His wife was a plump, fresh-looking young woman several years his junior, who, besides being fashionably dressed, had an air of business about her which is met with in the fair sex more frequently in this part of the country than elsewhere.

"Yes," the tourist said, after settling himself back in his seat in the smokers' section, "I've been attending to business mighty close. In fact, I've had to. I'm a banker. When I came out in this country I had just about $4,000 clean cash. Down where I came from everybody said $4,000 wasn't enough to put in your eye. It might do to buy a home with or get a team, but as far as business was conconcerned it was only an aggravation. I had heard something about Dakota, and I made up my mind that I would show some of the smart men whether $4,000 capital was good for anything or not. I went west along with the immigrants, set up a little office, put out a sign 'Money to Loan,' and sat down to await custom.

"I put my money out in small sums principally. A settler would come in and ask for $50 or $100. I would ask him what he had. Well, he might have an equity in his land, or he would have some household furniture, farm machinery, or horses and wagons. I would let him have the money, and take a mortgage on all that he had, deducting my interest at 10, 12 or 14 per cent., in advance. Plenty of them would want a little money for a month or two months, and I'd always sock it to those fellows. I've had $10 for the use of $50 for thirty days many a time. A good many of the settlers were Scandinavians, and I could not talk to them in their own language, nor could they speak to me in mine, but I got up a printed form which they could understand, and in that way managed to do business very satisfactorily.

BANKING BUSINESS OUT WEST.

"It requires a very clear head and good judgment to do a banking business out here. Particularly is this true in a new settlement in the winter time. I've changed my location three times since I've been in Dakota. After a township has been settled for a while it is not much good to men in my line. When I have moved I have always gone into new country. The people get along first-rate for a few months, but the first winter fetches them. They have to have money, and a man who stands by ready to help them is a sort of public benefactor. I have had at one time and another mortgages on the stuff belonging to several hundred farmers, some times taking mortgages for sums as small as $10 to $20. In fact, they are the ones that pay, as the men who give them are usually on their last legs, and about all that you have to do is to wait a while and then gather in their stuff.

"I have come into possession of some of the best farming land in Dakota in this way. A man might get hard up, and come to me for $100 for six months. When the time was up he would be worse off than he was before, and by stretching the mortgage a little I would give him another $100, the whole thing to be paid in three months. Then he might come around and make a poor mouth, and ask for an extension, and all that, but you see that wasn't what I was out there for. My capital wasn't very large, and I had to keep it moving, and then, too, there is no sentiment in business. I'd have to take the farm. In some such cases I have sold it back to the man at 12 or 15 per cent. interest, on condition that he would pay me monthly, but he usually gets tired of that.

THE FUNNIEST BARGAIN.

"Yes, I have had to take a good deal of junk in my day, some of it stuff that I couldn't give away, but I took it just the same. It wouldn't be business to let go of anything that you once got hold of. Probably the funniest bargain that I ever made, though, was the one that brought me that young lady in there, my wife. She was out here 'farming,' as she calls it, though she didn't know a harrow from a feed-cutter. She was a brave girl, though. She had a little money and paid for her farm, but she had to go into debt for her house and machinery. That's where I got in my work. When it came time for her to make a payment she was short, and so she came to me for money. I gave it to her and took a mortgage on all her property real and personal. That is the kind of deals I like to make. If you can get one of those girls for a customer, you are liable to have a farm after awhile dirt cheap.

"Well, when the note fell due she couldn't pay it, and I gave her an extension at 12 per cent. I usually get 15 in such emergencies, but I took pity on her. Then that came due, and she had no money, and so I foreclosed on her. That made her mad. She wanted to make a compromise, and after a while I patched up a bargain with her, but as I repented of it, I told her the place and all the things would have to be sold. A friend of mine bid them in for about the sum of my claim, and the girl got notice to leave, which she didn't do. Not much. She just stayed there, and one day when I rode out to see if she had gone, she opened on me with a rifle, calling me an old shark and thief. When I tried to get some help from the people round about, they intimated that they would see me hanged first, and, by thunder, the girl had me. She was in possession, and there wasn't law enough in that county then to get her out.

"So after awhile I came to the conclusion that I would have to reason with her. It was getting to be about time for me to climb out of there any way, but I couldn't bear the idea of losing the farm. Then I got a man to negotiate with her for an interview, and after awhile I called on her, making myself as agreeable as possible. The upshot of it was that I asked her to marry me, and she consented. I'm pretty well satisfied with the deal, for to tell you the truth, I would never have got that farm if I hadn't taken her along with it."—Dakota Cor. New York Sun.

A Sliding Trap-Door.

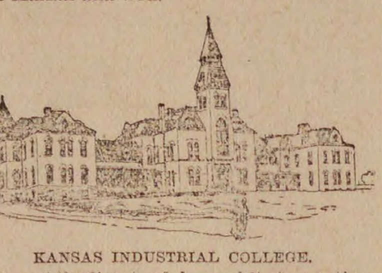
Joseph Cook has a sliding trap-door in the ceiling of one of the rooms of his house. It leads to his study, and he uses it when he wants to be alone.—Chicago Herald.

AN INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

The Kansas State Educational Institution Illustrated.

The agricultural colleges of the western states are, as a rule, superior to those in the east. In educational matters generally, in fact, as far as public schools and things pertaining to them are concerned, the west is in advance of the east. It adopts improved methods at once, laying off its townships square and the streets of its cities according to the points of the compass. It has no wrong old systems to pull down and clear away, in which respect it is lucky.

Kansas particularly is one of the liveliest, most progressive states in the Union. It ought to be. Its people are the sons and daughters of those heroic souls who fought for free Kansas and won.



KANSAS INDUSTRIAL COLLEGE.

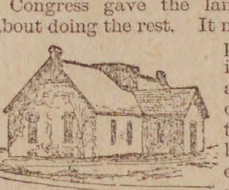
One of the livest of her public institutions is her State Industrial college. It is not an agricultural college, you will observe, and is not called so, although farming is carried on there to a considerable extent. Its scope includes the industrial trades as well.

In the discussion of the ensilage question, which is now chronic, a certain expert writes that the most poorly constructed silos and the loudest smelling products from them came from the state agricultural colleges of the country. This is rough on the learned professors who spend their time analyzing the St. Andrew's cross of the butter globule under the microscope, but it is no doubt true, more's the pity.

The Kansas State Industrial college was not one of those from which the ensilage that smelled like rotten cabbage came. That is sufficient to say. It has also an excellent course of text book study.

The institution has been in existence twenty-three years. Those who provided freedom for Kansas provided also for the education of her citizens. In 1862 congress made a noble grant of land to the young state for a school of learning. The college was started at the town of Manhattan, in 1863.

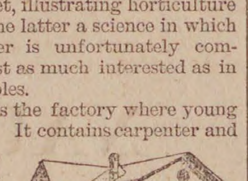
Congress gave the land. The state set about doing the rest. It made money appropriations, and buildings were erected and grounds laid out. The view of the main college building strikes the eye as somewhat peculiar. It is a fine and imposing structure of white limestone, as all the college buildings are. But the absence of large trees is noticeable at once, suggesting the great treeless lands of the northwest. Yet western energy is providing for even that lack in the landscape, and before the present generation has vanished from the scene Kansas and the other states will have miles of young forest, planted by the hands of indomitable pioneers.



HORTICULTURAL HALL.

The adjunct buildings of the various departments are grouped about the main one. Horticultural hall has a large workroom and an extensive cabinet, illustrating horticulture and entomology, the latter a science in which the modern farmer is unfortunately compelled to be almost as much interested as in grains and vegetables.

Mechanics' hall is the factory where young artisans are made. It contains carpenter and blacksmith shops, and telegraph and printing offices. The institution prints a neat and handsome college paper, The Industrialist, weekly, the work on which is all done by the sudents.

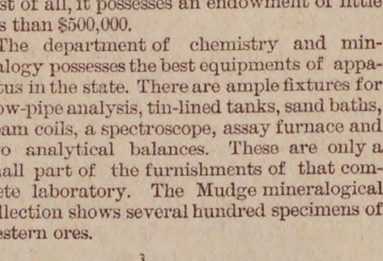


MECHANICS' HALL.

All the buildings are on a generous scale. Mechanics' hall is 39 by 100 feet, and has an engine room attached. Horticultural hall is provided with a boiler room and steam heating apparatus.

The extensive grounds belonging to the school are laid out with an eye to artistic beauty in landscape gardening. There are grain fields, pasture and meadow lands, a vineyard, and orchards of large and small fruits. There is also a nursery, where fruit and ornamental trees may be tested to find whether they will grow in Kansas. The strong young school has also a scientific club. Best of all, it possesses an endowment of little less than $500,000.

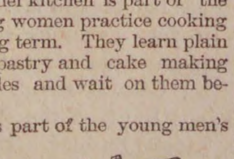
The department of chemistry and mineralogy possesses the best equipments of apparatus in the state. There are ample fixtures for blow-pipe analysis, tin-lined tanks, sand baths, steam coils, a spectroscope, assay furnace and two analytical balances. These are only a small part of the furnishments of that complete laboratory. The Mudge mineralogical collection shows several hundred specimens of western ores.



LABORATORY.

One of the best of the branches of the institution, however, is its household economy department. The college admits both sexes. They study and recite in the same classes. For the girls especially, however, there are classes of instruction in cooking, sewing and dairy work. A model kitchen is part of the plan, and the young women practice cooking an hour a day dining term. They learn plain and fancy dishes, pastry and cake making and how to set tables and wait on them besides.

A military drill is part of the young men's training, and a large and handsome hall is given up to them for exercises. This is an admirable feature, and ought to be attached to all schools, of what kind soever. In a hall above the drill room the department of natural history is to be shortly established.



ARMORY.

The farm proper contains 250 acres. A spacious stone barn and sheds are attached.

Of the graduates of the school, many of the young men become farmers, while a large proportion of the girls become teachers. From all walks of life they come to the state college. A list of the occupations of the parents of the students gives among others a laundress, a barber and a day laborer, side by side with the banker, the lawyer and the wealthy man of leisure. This is truly the people's college.

THREE PUPIL-DILATING POISONS.

Characteristics of a Peculiar Group—The Symtoms They Produce—Remedies.

There is a peculiar group of poisons whose action is to dilate the pupils instead of contracting them, like opium, to arrest the secretions of the skin, to stimulate the brain, causing delirium, and paralyze the ends of the nerves of motion; to stimulate the spinal cord and then paralyze it; to increase the action of the heart and then to bring it to a stand-still. These drugs are belladonna (the deadly night shade), hyoscyamus, (henbane), and stramonium ("jimson weed" or thorn-apple). These all act alike, but vary in strength, the order in which they have been named being that of their destructive qualities. They allay pain, but not to the same extent as opium, and induce sleep to some degree.

The symptoms produced are alike, and are as follows, when given in poisonous doses: Heat and dryness of the mouth and throat, nausea, vomiting, dizziness, indistinct or double vision, delirium, great excitement, convulsions followed by stupor and unconsciousness. The pupils of the eyes are dilated to their utmost, and light does not affect them. The face is reddened with an eruption similar to that of scarlet fever; the eyes are fixed and brilliant; the gait is tottering; and the delirium is such as to cause silly talk and frequent bursts of causeless laughter. The berries, root and leaves of belladonna have each caused fatal poisoning. The active principle, atropine, is an extremely powerful drug, producing the same effects when taken in very minute doses. Poisoning may result from applying a belladonna plaster to the skin, especially if the surface is broken. Most cases of belladonna poisoning result from mistakes in prescribing or administering remedies. Its use by criminals is rare.

Stamonium, or "jimson weed," is such a common plant and accessible to every one that poisoning from the careless swallowing of its seeds is not at all uncommon. Scarcely a year passes but some child dies from this cause in our city. The authorities are certainly responsible for such accidents, as it would be an easy matter to cause every plant of the kind to be destroyed before the seeds have matured. In India a similar plant is often made use of by the Thugs to render their victims helpless. The symptoms are the same as those of belladonna poisoning. It is likely that some of the "drugging" employed by the professional thieves in this country is done with preparations of stramonium seeds.

Henbane (hyoscyamus) is poisonous in every part. Leaves, roots and seeds produce effects like those observed after poisoning by belladonna, but the dose required to produce such results is much larger. Twenty of the seeds have been known to produce poisoning, and the same may be said of the "jimson weed."

The treatment of poisoning by any of these three plants is to remove all that may remain in the stomach by the most prompt and effective emetics; in case these do not act, the stomach tube must be brought into use. Then give castor oil to remove any of the poisonous materials that may have passed beyond the stomach. As there is no trustworthy chemical antidote, morphine may be given cautiously on account of its action being opposed in most particulars to that of these poisons. Coffee and alcohol should be given if the heart becomes very weak, as shown by the pulse. Animal charcoal and tannin have been given, although there do not appear to be any very good reasons for administering them.—Cor. Globe-Democrat.

Gossip About Diamonds.

"Yes, there is a difference between a gem and a diamond," said a State street jeweler; "a gem is a perfect diamond, or a perfect precious stone of any kind. When a diamond merchant speaks of a gem he means something in which there is no fault or flaw, no imperfection of color, shape or cut. The difference between a gem and a diamond may be as wide as that between a 'plug' horse and a thorough-bred racer. One stone may be worth $30, and another of exactly the same size may be worth $100, or even more. Not one person in 1,000 can tell a gem from a fairly good stone. The weight, also, is small index to the size of a diamond as it appears in a setting. A karat stone may appear as small at this—o—or it may be nearly twice as great in circumference, like this—O. A gem must be cut so correctly that a hair's-breath is far too wide to measure the plane of the different facets by. Every facet must be of precisely the same size as every other facet of like position. Its angle, too, must be geometrically correct. The glory of a diamond is its refractive power. Without light the diamond is as useless as a pretty picture, though it is a very common belief among people who have never handled diamonds that the stones have light in themselves, making them brilliant even in complete darkness."—Chicago Herald Interview.

A Cripple's Remarkable Climb.

One day not long ago a watchman at the monument was astonished by a lame woman leaning on crutches asking for permission to go to the top. She had not provided herself with a pass, but the watchman thought he would spare her a journey to the war department and back because of her infirmity, and let her go into the monument without it. Besides he had no idea she would go very far up the deep stairway. She was confident enough for both and told him she "would get there all the same." She could not carry a candle, as it took both of her hands to manage her crutches, so she hired a boy to go on ahaad of her to light the way.

Two hours after she appeared at the bottom, having made the ascent and descent without more evidence of fatigue than is customary with those who are in perfect physical condition. She was very proud of her morning's work, and said that perhaps wooden legs were better for climbing monuments than those of flesh. At any rate her wooden ones were not the least tired. Mrs. Stanton will have to put this among the records of womanly courage and persistence. Up to date no lame man has climbed to the top of the Washington monument.—Washington Capitol.

Queer Specimen of Corn.

A queer specimen of corn is on exhibition at Cuthbert, Ga. It is a cluster of forty or more small ears of corn, each about as long and large around as the middle finger on a man's hand, and coming out on the stalk where the tassel should have been. No shuck protected the corn, but instead a heavy silk about two feet long fell off in a graceful manner, the whole supported by an ordinary sized stock, partially matured.—Chicago Times.

ESTABLISHED IN 1838.

LIGHT DRINKS FOR THE PEOPLE.

S. B. WINN & SON,

191 Washington St., Salem,

Near the Eastern Railroad Depot.

MANUFACTURERS OF ALL KINDS OF SUMMER DRINKS, INCLUDING

GINGER ALE,
TONIC,
GINGER,
HOP,
and other BEERS.

Our Ginger Ale will be found far superior to any now on the market. It is put up in half pint bottles, in a neat and convenient manner. We pride ourselves upon the purity and originality of the ingredients selected for the compounding of this harmless and at the same time beneficial summer beverage.

Charged Soda Fountains

All sizes, constantly on hand.

Soda Water in Syphons.

Our Iron Clad Fountains give universal satisfaction.

All the water used in our manufactured drinks is filtered in the best possible manner. The composition used in charging our Soda Fountains is the best and purest known, notwithstanding the superior claims made by others. We challenge a comparison.

MOXIE NERVE FOOD $1 per dozen

In addition to the above, we keep constantly in stock, all kinds of

PURE LIQUORS,

FOR FAMILY AND MEDICINAL PURPOSES.

Cigars of the best brands, can be had.

Our steam apparatus for charging Fountains and Bottling, has all the modern improvements suggested by mechanical appliances. This is the only steam charging apparatus of the kind in Essex County, and the public are invited to call and see it in operation.

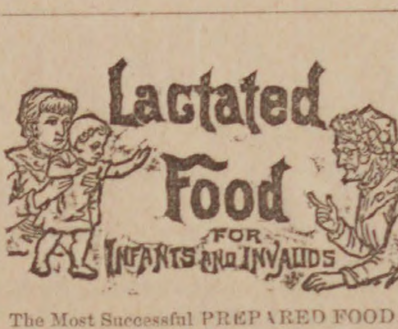
Samples of goods shown with pleasure.

Goods delivered in all parts of the city, Beverly, Danvers and Peabody, free of charge

S. B. WINN, F. M. WINN.

Telephone, 222.

may 5—4m



The Most Successful PREPARED FOOD.

FOR NEW-BORN INFANTS.

It may be used with confidence, when the mother is unable to nurse the child, as a safe and natural substitute for mother's milk.

The BEST FOOD to be used in connection with PARTIAL NURSING.

No other food answers so perfectly in such cases It causes no disturbance of digestion and will be relished by the child.

A SURE PREVENTIVE and CURE for CHOLERA INFANTUM.

By the use of this predigestic and easily assimilated Food, fatal results in this dreded diseas can be surely prevented.

A Perfect Nutrient for INVALIDS in either Chronic or Acute Cases.

Hundreds of physicians testify to its great value It will be retained when even lime water and milk is rejected by the stomach. In dyspepsia, and in all wasting diseases it has proved the most nutritious and palatabla, and the same time the most economical of Foods. For an infant may be made.

150 MEALS for $1.00.

Sold by Druggists—25c., 50c., $1.00.

☞ A valuable pamphlet entitled "Medical Opinions on the Nutrition of Infants and Invalids." sent free on application.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Buolingeon, Vt

CICARS!

CICARS!

CICARS!

Those desiring to purchase a good Oigars, look at our assortment of Imported and Domestic.

Discount by box.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

TRY OUR

JAMAICA GINGER.

THE

EARLIEST FRUIT,

And Best Native and Southern Vegetables, Berries and Fruit,

— AT —

Porter's Market,

3 & 5 Central St., Salem.

may 19—4m

DRS. KIMBALL & HOWARD

DENTISTS,

157 UNION STREET, LYNN.

(Spinney's Block near Central Station)

Make a specialty of administering the New Vegetable Vapor and extracting teeth. No charge for the Vapor when more than one tooth is extracted at a sitting.

Also are thorough masters of the profession of Dentistry, in both mechanical and operative branches. jy 7—1y

OPENING!

OPENING!

— OF THE —

—New House Furnishing Emporium,—

On WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 8th,

AT 9 O'CLOCK A. M.

Music in the Evening by the Salem Brass Band.

Furniture and Carpets.

THE LARGEST CARPET HALL IN THE CITY.

Stoves, Ranges, Crockery Ware, Wooden Ware, Clocks and Kitchen Furnishings, in fact everything to furnish your homes from Cellar to Attic.

8 Floors filled to overflowing with a mammoth Stock of

FURNITURE AND CARPETS,

which will be sold at prices that we will guarantee shall be the lowest of any quoted, by any House in Boston for Cash or by our special system of credit, in weekly or monthly payments.

W. C. PACKARD FURNITURE AND CARPET CO.,

Largest House Fusnishers in Eastern Massachusetts,

281 Essex & 1, 3, 5, 7 Combie Streets,

NEXT TO MECHANICS HALL.

A VALUABLE COMPOUND

— OF —

Bitter Barks and Roots, Combined with Iron and Pure Sherry Wine, called

FERRATED HYGIENIC WINE.

Recommended for Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, General Debility, Nervous Prostration and Lassitude; is especially adapted to delicate ladies.

See that the trade mark

Is stamped on every label. Prepared by

C. H. & J. Price,

SALEM.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

LADIES & GENTLEMEN,

CALL AT

CYRUS C. TREVETT'S,

IF YOU WANT

The most durable and stylish boots at bottom prices, be sure and bring the children.

110 UNION STREET.

LYNN, MASS.

jy 7—1 y

M. N. BLACK,

Hair Work and Hair Goods,

80 MARKET ST. LYNN.

Opposite W. B. Gifford's.

je 30—3m

DR. LEON RIDEOUT,

DENTIST,

Has removed his office to his Residence,

NO. 8 JOHNSON STREET,

Third House from City Hall,

LYNN, MASS.

Hours, 8 to 12; 1 to 5.

Change, for better accommodation of my patrons.

je 9—1y

Finest Pianos and Organs,

Pianos, $25 down, then $10 per month. Organs, $5 down, then $5 per month

EVERY INSTRUMENT WARRANTED.

☞ No charge for carting to Peabody.

W. D. BROWN,

76 MARKET STREET,

LYNN.

may 5—3m

LAWN OUTFITS,

HAMMOCK CHAIRS,

Canvas and Woven wire Cots, Spring Beds and Mattresses, Parlor Furniture, Loose Covers, Window Shades and Draperies.

WILSON & DUFFY

17 City Hall Square,

LYNN.

Old furniture re-upholstered in the latest styles; good work and moderate prices; satisfaction guaranteed.

ORDERS BY MAIL PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

je 30—3m

OIL STOVES & REFRIGERATORS.

Purchasers are invited to call and examine the GARLAND OIL STOVE, which is acknowledged to be the BEST OIL STOVE in the market. We have also several good patterns of Low Priced Oil Stoves.

Our stock of

REFRIGERATORS,

Uprights and Chests, is complete and of the BEST MAKES.

LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH.

☞ Easy Terms on Instalments.

WADLEIGH & MORSE,

81 North St.,

SALEM.

e 9—3m

Mrs. M. A. McNeil,

LADIES'

FANCY GOODS STORE

149 Essex St., Salem.

Special attention given to

Spinal Corsets, Shoulder Braces, Abdominal Supporters, etc.

Also keep constantly on hand the largest variety of Corsets and Children's Waists in Essex County.

And have just received a large line of

INFANTS' & CHILDREN'S DRESSES,

Up to Ten years of age. Please call and examine.

REMEMBER THE NUMBER,

149 ESSEX STREET

A few doors below the Museum.

mch 31—6m

E. W. GOULD

BAY STATE

Steam Dyeing and Cleansing

WORKS.

9 1-2 FRONT STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

Promptness is our Motto. Satisfaction Guaranteed. Goods called for and Delivered.

AGENTS:

J. W. Pitcher, Atlantic block, Beverly; I. S. Day, Oak St., near the depot, Beverly Farms; Beals & Abbott, cor. Maple & Locust Sts., Danvers; B. F. Stevens, 16 Main St., Peabody; T. W. Slade, Manchester-by-the-sea; Wm. S. Stanley, 4 Grader's block, Marblehead; Benj. P. Edwards, Main St., Topsfield.

Miss Bassett, formerly of the Essex Dye House, will be at our Office, No. 91-2 Front Street.

LEE HALL

CLASSICAL & COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

CITY HALL SQUARE,

LYNN.

Business studies, also preparation for College and for the Institute of Technology. For terms and other information send for circular.

FRANK O. BALDWIN
Principal.

je 30—3m

HALLOWELL & SMILEY.

We desire to remind the people of Peabody that our store is well stocked with the

BEST MEATS & PROVISIONS,

THE CHOICEST VEGETABLES,

and will be found always

A Good Place to Trade.

Our Prices are always the Lowest.

REMEMBER US.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

Jas. Lafreniere,

HAIR DRESSER,

Has taken the shop under Baldwin's Hotel, where all who favor him with their patronage will receive

Courteous and Prompt Attention.

Diseases of the Head and Hair treated. A share of patronage solicited.

BALDWIN'S HOTEL, FOSTER ST.,

PEABODY.

may 26—4t

HOTEL NAHANT.

NAHANT BEACH.

SAM'L SOULE & SON, PROPS.

Is now open to Guests.

Horse cars from Salem and Peabody direct to the house.

Fish dinners a specialty.

Connected by Telephone.

P. O. Address' LYNN, MASS.

ROYAL

FULL WEIGHT
ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
ROYAL BAKING POWDER

BAKING

POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multituds of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. Royal Baking Powder Co., 106 Wall street, N. Y.

2aw

THE BRYANT & STRATTON COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

BOSTON.

Largest & Most Successful in the World,

Will Re-open Monday, Sept. 6th.

THE COURSE OF STUDY is thorough, complete and practical. Pupils are fitted for the duties and work of every-day life.

THE FACULTY embraces a list of twenty teachers and assistants, elected with special reference to proficiency in each department.

THE STUDENTS are young people of both sexes, full of diligence and zeal.

THE DISCIPLINE is of the highest order and includes valuable business lessons.

THE PATRONAGE is the largest of any Commercial School in the world.

THE REPUTATION of this school for originality and leadership and as the Standard Institution of its kind is generally acknowledged.

THE SCHOOL BUILDING is centrally located and purposely constructed.

SPECIAL COURSE. Shorthand, Type-Writing, Composition and Correspondence may be taken as a special course.

SITUATIONS in Business Houses furnished its pupils completes the varied inducements to attend this school.

On and after Aug. 23d, the Principal may be seen daily from 9 till 2 o'clock, at the School Building, 608 Washington St. Prospectus, containing full information concerning course of study, terms, etc., post free.

OVER WORKED Women

For "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated school teachers, milliners, seamstresses, housekeepers, and over-worked women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all restorative tonics. It is not a "Cure-all," but admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most potent Specific for all those Chronic Weaknesses and Diseases peculiar to women. It is a powerful, general as well as uterine, tonic and nervine, and imparts vigor and strength to the whole system. It promptly cures weakness of stomach, indigestion, bloating, weak back, nervous prostration, debility and sleeplessness, in either sex. Favorite Prescription is sold by druggists under our positive guarantee. See wrapper around bottle. Price $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

A large treatise on Diseases of Women, profusely illustrated with colored plates and numerous wood-cuts, sent for 10 cents in stamps. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

SICK HEADACHE, Bilious Headache, and Constipation, promptly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pellets. 25c. a vial, by druggists.

CROQUET.

The best sett in the city for $1.00.

Lawn Tennis Setts.

From $10.00 upwards.

RACKETS.

SUMMER READING

OF ALL KINDS.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

216 & 220 Essex St,

SALEM.

DESIRABLE REAL ESTATE

IN PEABODY,

FOR SALE.

The estate owned and occupied by C. C. Farwell and situated on the corner of Grove and Walnut streets, is offered for sale at a low price and on easy terms.

The estate consists of a two story frame dwelling house, containing 12 rooms, with water and gas, a barn 28x35, and about three quarters of an acre of land.

For a manufactory, with dwellings for the owner and tenants, there is no better situation in the county.

Address, or apply to

F. E. FARNHAM,
8 Allen's Block,
je 16 Peabody Square.

MASSACHUSETTS

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

AT WORCESTER.

For the Training of Teachers.

Fall Term begins Thursday, Sept. 9, 1886. Spring Term begins February 3, 1887. Tuition and use of Text-Books Free. For particulars address

E. H. RUSSELL, Principal.

Poet's Corner.

Peculiar Poems.

Written for the Press by Francis Nugent.

REVELRY OF THE DYING.

[This striking poem originally appeared, it is believed, in the St. Helena Magazine. It relates to the early services of the English army in India, of which the author was a captain. The poem is said to have been written at a time when a dreadful pestilence swept over the land, and whilst his comrades were hourly being stricken down around him by "the poisonous breath" of the simoon, which desolated the garrison and cut off all means of rescue or escape. The lines derive peculiar interest from the fact that the writer, having finished the verses, was in the act of reciting them when he too was stricken down with the plague, of which he instantly died. The poem, whilst presenting a flash of ghastly wit seldom exceeded in grimness, gives the very poetry of military despair, but still the dying together of brothers in arms.]

We meet 'neath the sounding rafter,
And the walls around are bare;
As they shout to our peal of laughter
It seems that the dead are there.
Come stand to your glasses, steady!
We drink to our comrades' eyes;
Quaff a cup to the dead already;—
And hurrah for the next that dies!

Not here are the goblets glowing;
Not here is the vintage sweet;
'Tis cold as our hearts are growing,
And dark as the doom we meet.
But stand to your glasses, steady!
And soon shall our pulses rise;
A cup to the dead already;—
Hurrah for the next that dies.

Not a sigh for the lot that darkles;
Not a tear for the friends that sink;
We'll fall 'neath the wine-cup's sparkles
As mute as the wine we drink.
So stand to your glasses, steady!
'Tis this that the respite buys;
Quaff a cup to the dead already;—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

Time was when we frowned at others;
We thought we were wiser then.
Ha! Ha! let them think of their mothers
Who hope to see them again.
No! stand to your glasses, steady!
The thoughtless are here the wise;
One cup to the dead already;—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

There's many a hand that's shaking;
There's many a cheek that's sunk;
But soon, though our hearts are breaking,
They'll burn with the wine we've drunk!
Then stand to your glasses, steady!
'Tis here the revival lies;
Quaff a cup to the dead already;—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

There's a mist on the glass congealing;
'Tis the hurricane's sultry breath;
And thus does the warmth of feeling
Turn ice in the grasp of death.
Now stand to your glasses, steady!
For a moment the vapor flies;
A cup to the dead already;—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

Who dreads to the dust returning?
Who shrinks from the sable shore,
Where the high and haughty yearning
Of the soul shall sting no more?
Ho! stand to your glasses, steady!
The world is a world of lies:
Quaff a cup to the dead already;—
Hurrah for the next that dies!

Cut off from the land that bore us,
Betrayed by the land we find,
Where the brightest have gone before us,
And the dullest remain behind.
Stand! stand to your glasses, steady!
'Tis all we have left to prize;
One cup to the dead already;—
And hurrah for the next that dies!

BARTHOLOMEW DOWLING.

HOME, SWEET HOME.

[John Howard Payne, while starving in an attic in London, wrote that exquisite poem, "Home, Sweet Home," which has been translated into many languages and sung the whole world round. Thinking it would interest the readers of the Press to peruse the source from whence Payne derived the inspiration to write that glorious poem, I herewith append a song by an Irish poet, Sir John Denham, which was one of Payne's especial favorites, and the reciting of which afforded him sweet consolation in hours of dejection and despondency.]

'Mid scenes of confusion and creature complaints,
How sweet to my soul is communion with saints;
To find at the banquet of mercy there's room,
And feel in the presence of Jesus at home
Home! home! sweet, sweet home!
Prepare me, dear Saviour, for glory, my home.

Sweet bonds that unite all the children of peace!
And thrice precious Jesus, whose love cannot cease!
Though oft from thy presence in sadness I roam,
I long to behold thee in glory, at home.
Home! home! sweet, sweet home!
Prepare me, dear Saviour, for glory, my home.

I sigh from this body of sin to be free,
Which hinders my joy and communion with thee;
Though now my temptation like billows may foam,
All, all will be peace, when I'm with thee at home.
Home! home! sweet, sweet home!
Prepare me, dear Saviour, for glory, my home.

While here in the valley of conflict I stay,
O give me submission, and strength as my day;
In all my afflictions to thee would I come,
Rejoicing in hope of my glorious home.
Home! home! sweet, sweet home!
Prepare me, dear Saviour, for glory, my home.

Whate'er thou deniest, O give me thy grace,
The spirit's sure witness, and smiles of thy face;
Endue me with patience to wait at thy throne,
And find, even now, a sweet foretaste of home.
Home! home! sweet, sweet home!
Prepare me, dear Saviour, for glory, my home.

I long, dearest Lord, in thy beauties to shine;
No more as an exile in sorrow to pine;
And in thy dear image arise from the tomb,
With glorified millions to praise thee at home.
Home! home! sweet, sweet home!
Prepare me, dear Saviour, for glory, my home.

SIR JOHN DENHAM.

The power of duly appreciating little things belongs to a great mind. A narrow minded man has it not, for to him little things are great.
[Bishop Whately.

Let us often think of our own infirmities and we shall become more indulgent towards those of others.—[Fenelon.

Susceptible persons are more affected by a change of tone than by unexpected words.—[Eliot.

Men who have most to say use the fewest words.—[Billings.

The mould of a man's fortune is in his own hands.—[Bacon.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cures Liver Complaints, Female Disorders, Rheumatism, and all diseases of the blood.

These are the five signs of a great man: to reprove nobody, to praise nobody, to blame nobody, nor even to speak of himself or his merits.
[Epictetus.

Thoughts rule the world.

The editor of the Corsicana, Texas, Observer, Mr. G. P. Miller, had a severe attack of rheumatism in his left knee, which became so swollen and painful that he could not walk up the stairs. He writes that after a few applications of St. Jacobs Oil the pain entirely disappeared, and the knee assumed its normal proportions.

It is more noble to make yourself great than to be born so.—[Proverb.

Enjoy what little you have while the fool is hunting for more.
[Proverb.

The only way to have a friend is to be one.—[Emerson.

Some are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them.—[Shakespeare.

One of the Willows cars, with 114 registered fares, broke down on Essex street, near Plummer hall, last Sunday evening.

Collect as precious pearls, the words of the wise and virtuous.
[Kader.

Bilious Complaints, Constipation and Nausea are all relieved and cured by Ayer's Pills.

Believe that story false that ought not to be true.—[Sheridan.

Summer coughs and colds generally come to stay, but the use of Red Star Cough Cure invariably drives them away. Safe, prompt, sure.

All must respect those who respect themselves.—[Beaconsfield.

Faithfullness and sincerity first of all.—[Confucius.

In many localities Hood's Sarsaparilla is in such general demand that it is the recognized family medicine. People write that "the whole neighborhood is taking it," etc. Particularly is this true of Lowell, Mass., where it is made, and where more of Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold than of any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier. It is the great remedy for debility, scrofula, dyspepsia, biliousness, or any disease caused by impure state or low condition of the blood. Give it a trial.

Success does not consist in never making blunders but in never making the same over a second time.
[Shaw.

I have been a hay fever sufferer for three years; have often heard of Ely's Cream Balm spoken of in the highest terms; did not take much stock in it because of the many quack medicines. A friend persuaded me to try the Balm, and I did so with wonderful success.—T. S. Geer., Syracuse, N. Y.

I can recommend Ely's Cream Balm to all hay fever sufferers, it is, in my opinion, a sure cure. I was afflicted for 25 years, and never before found permanent relief.—W. H. Haskins, Marshfield, Vt.

CHIAROSCURO.

She stands in the glare of the light,
With a face that is sadder than thought,
And eyes that are sadder than rhyme,
While her jewels are blazoning bright,
And her robe, with gold traceries wrought,
To her sway and her motions keeps time.

The fall of the flowers at her feet
Makes a radiant and many-hued rain,
Whose odor creeps upward and 'round,
So faint and so sickeningly sweet,
That the old days come to her again,
And mute is the music and sound

Of the voices that cheer her to-night;
And vanished the offerings rare,
The faces upturned to her eyes,
And the blazoning jewels and light,
While her soul darkens o'er with despair,
And her heart to her heart mutely cries.

They echo their calls loud and long,
They shout as again she appears,
But the look on her beautiful face
It is sadder than thought or than song—
Her smile it is sadder than tears,
While the praise of her name fills the place.
—Lulah Ragsdale.

Peculiarities of the English Newspapers.

When it comes to "news," the London newspaper is nowhere. The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Evening Times publish more foreign news, even more London news, every day than appears in all the British newspapers combined. As to American news, the London papers, for the most part, ignore it. They report the American stock markets, with a line or two of mention if there happens to be a conflagration, an earthquake or a strike. This exclusion of the United States as a topic having any concern for Europeans is done on a system, which is shown conspicuously in cases of public disorder or scandal, which are daily chronicled, with all possible exaggeration.

News items in the London journals, like guests at the London dinner tables, take precedence according to rank and title. Russia, being an empire, comes first; then Austria, another empire; then Germany, another; then France, ex-empire and presumptive candidate for royalty; and then Turkey, Egypt and Spain. By the time the United States is reached there is no room left, and so we are given a stool in the corner and told to mind our manners. It is with us in England as it was with Rabelais when he went to Rome, and, seeing the princes of the church kissing the pope's toe, wondered, with some anxiety, what part of the pontifical body a poor monk would be required to salute. Indeed, the press of London, whatever else it may be, is a perfect transcript of London society; and, knowing a lord and loving a lord, it has nothing for the untitled American but a cold potato and a sneer, done up in an extra dirty napkin.—Henry Watterson in Courier-Journal.

Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

It is not long since Helen Hunt Jackson, talking to Miss Helen Bartlett, who has just had her new play accepted by Lawrence Barrett, said: "Ella Wheeler—who is Ella Wheeler? I never heard of her." Helen Hunt was then known only to the few—those who appreciated a scholarly and delicate style and subjects fit for the contemplation of a cultivated reader. Ella Wheeler was the recipient of more letters than she could find the time to answer from all manner of tired, harassed and unhappy people all over the United States to whom she had suggested some gleam of comfort or of hope.

But in spite of the warm cordiality which distinguishes her she can resent an insult quickly and wittily. For example:

Not long ago a lady presented a gentleman to the poetess, saying:

"Mrs. Wilcox, this gentleman has met you once before, when for some reason you made an unfortunate impression on his mind, which, I am sure, will be eradicated as soon as you know each other better."

Mrs. Wilcox surveyed the embarrassed young man unflinchingly, then she said:

"His experience has differed from mine. He left no impression upon my mind whatever" and the unfortunate man retreated, the victim of the blundering indiscretion of one woman and the sharp-edged wit of another.—Cor. Chicago Tribune.

Talmage's Opinion of Reporters.

"Talk about reporters not being truthful and honest," said Rev. Dr. Talmage, when his attention was called to a recent report of an occurrence in New York city, "I think that they are, as a class, more truthful and honest than those who say they are not. I personally know a great many of the reporters on the papers in New York city and they are all perfect gentlemen. I have never been misrepresented during all the years that I have been acquainted with newspapers and newspaper men. I have never had a reporter break faith with me. Whenever they have promised to return a manuscript or omit anything they have invariaby done just as they said they would do. That there are mistakes in newspapers I am willing to admit, but I am not willing to admit that they were made purposely.

"The trouble with most men is that they are constantly trying to keep something back instead of being perfectly open, frank and free. This the reporters invariably discover and they will invariably find out what that something is. Most of the mistakes and misrepresentations made in reports are mistakes that can almost always be charged up to some one outside of the newspaper office—usually an interested person."—Exchange.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. Wood, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. Balcom, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. Proudfoot, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

FALL OF 1886.

BRIDAL SILVER.

Through the summer months we have been having made some new styles in

STERLING SILVER,

and have also ordered an immense stock of the best quality

SILVER PLATED WARE.

These goods will be ready early in September, and we are confident we can offer the largest and finest stock of new goods in Essex County. No House in Boston can show a better line of medium price goods than we shall.

DANIEL LOW,

SALEM.

Wedding and Anniversary Presents a Specialty.

254 KENT & BOYNTON 250

Special Sale

— OF —

Children's School Suits.

At this sale we shall offer several large lots of Children's and Boys Suits at extremely low prices in both fine and medium grades.

Also special bargains in

MEN'S SUITS AND PANTALOONS.

— AT —

KENT & BOYNTON'S,

250 & 254 Essex St., Salem.

LADIES OF SALEM AND VICINITY,

It affords us pleasure to call your attention to our celebrated

HAND-SEWED SHOES

For Comfort, Beauty and Durability, they are not equalled. They are crumbs of comfort by the wayside.

Beware of Imitations! None genuine without the name Grover on the Sole.

Please Call and Examine them at the Store of

L. CUNNINGHAM.

147 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Agent for Salem and vicinity.

mch 31—1y

Allssey

CRAYON ARTIST & PHOTOGRAPHER;

252 Essex Street, Salem,

Having refitted and refurnished our gallery with new Lenses, Cameras, Backgrounds, Accessories, etc., etc., and having one of the largest and finest operating rooms and sky-lights in the country, we now have facilities second to none for doing first class work in all branches of Photography.

We have just purchased the finest instruments obtainable for making pictures from 8x10 to 24x24 (full life size) direct from the sitter, and make them either bust, half or full length, or groups. To introduce them we shall make them very low for three months.

We have special facilities for copying old and faded Photographs, Daguerreotypes, Ambrotypes, Tintypes, etc. Before giving your pictures to agents, come to us, and see our samples and get our prices. You can save money and at the same time get better work and not risk the breaking or losing of your pictures in the mails.

We make a specialty of Life Size Free Hand Crayons, made from any kind of picture or from life. One of the advantages, not to speak of the superior artistic qualities, of free hand work over the mechanically finished solars, is that any changes from the original, no matter how great, can be easily made, whereas in the finished solar but very slight changes can be made. We can furnish duplictaes from any negative ever taken by N. C. Bosuley.

Call and see what we are doing, all will be treated courtesy whether anything is desired or not

CHOICE VERMONT BUTTER.

We have just received a car load of VERMONT BUTTER which we shall offer by the tub at prices which

— WE WILL NAME WHEN YOU CALL. —

IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE US

Meats and Vegetables of all kinds at the

LOWEST PRICES FOR SPOT CASH.

Ames & Edgerly's Cash Market,

NEXT TO SAMUEL TRASK'S.

NEW SHOE STORE.

BARGAINS FOR THE

People of Peabody.

Having completed the arrangement of our new store in Upton's Block, Foster Street, we are now ready for business, and will give all shoe-buyers who visit our store, big bargains in the line of footwear.

Children's Spring Heel Button,	50 cts.
Children's N. Y. Grain Button, B. C. D. & E.,	$1 00
Misses' Wine Oxford,	85 cts.
Misses' N. Y. Grain Button, B. C. D. & E.,	$1.25
Ladies' Serge Buskins, Kid-lined,	25 cts.
Ladies' Kid Pointed Slippers,	50 cts.
Ladies' Congress Boots,	75 cts.
Boy's Balmorals,	85 cts.
Men's Slippers,	35 cts.
Men's Grain Oxfords,	90 cts.
Men's Veal Calf Bals. and Congress,	$1.50

All our low cut shoes will be sold at cost.

We are Agents for the Troy Laundry.

SHIRTS with BOSOMS, 10 cts.
COLLARS and CUFFS, 1 1-2 cts.

NUGENT BROS.,

Dealers in

Boots, Shoes, Rubbers, Etc.

UPTON'S BLOCK,

Foster St., Peabody, Mass.

LARGEST STOCK!
BEST GOODS!
LOWEST PRICES!

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM.
Editors and Publishers

THE CONDITION of things to-day in Peabody and Salem reflects credit upon the Knights of Labor. The report of the Chief of police for last month verifies our statement of last week, that the laboring men are not spending their money for rum. Our streets are quiet—and the work of the police is no more arduous than if the men were about their work as of old. Those elements which at the outset caused disturbance and outbreak have been suppressed. That there should be some connected with the Knights of Labor who could not be controlled at first by the calmer counsels of the leaders of the order, is no more surprising than that these same men could not be easily controlled by the police force. To expect the Order to hold them in subjection was to anticipate what even the officers of the law were unable to accomplish. That order now prevails is due as much to the control of the Knights as to the police force; a method which is more quiet, easier to be accomplished and productive of as lasting results.

While this state of affairs has prevailed, it should be remembered that non-union men have been coming to this town and Salem, and been put at work in the places of the former employes. Men who were of the number who were locked out by the circular, have seen fit to desert the order or return to their old places. Yet there has been no disturbance—no riots. Are these men who have quietly seen their places filled, have seen men from other places come in and take the positions which they formerly held, entitled to no praise for a proper observance of the law? Have they not established their right to be considered honorable, peaceable and law abiding citizens of this commonwealth?

We regret that the outlook for a settlement of the present difficulty seems yet afar off. If the manufacturers hold to their present position, one of two things will happen. Either the importation of non-union help will continue until the places of the old employes are filled, or the laboring men, finding further resistance useless, will return to their old places—under the circular, which is now posted in the shops. One or both of these conditions is likely to prevail, on the supposition that no concession is made by the manufacturers. What will be the outlook if one or both of these things result? Will the difficulty be settled? If the men, driven by starvation and want to a surrender, are compelled thus to yield to the demands of the employers, so that no resistance is manifest, what will be the result?

This is a fair question, and we ask it calmly, and commend to the manufacturers a consideration of the answer. Compulsory surrender is not settlement. And would such a surrender be promotive of harmonious relations between employer and employed for years to come? Suppose the men go in under the circular, being compelled by necessity. Suppose, after a little, their wages are reduced, their working time increased. Perhaps they feel that their old time grievances—grievances which led to the formation of trades unions, labor organizations and Knights of Labor, are being augmented. How far will the agreement be binding on either party? Suppose they conclude to strike, despite their agreement. What is to be done on the part of the manufacturer? Nothing but to fight the same old battle over again. This is not an impossible case, and can only enforce anew the language of Sumner: "Nothing is ever settled that is not settled right."

Again, suppose, the places of the employes are all filled with non-union men. What kind of an agreement are they making with the manufacturers? Do these men agree not to strike,—not to join any labor organization? Perhaps, after a little they, too, become dissatisfied with their wages or their condition. Suppose they, too, strike. What will then happen? The same old battle,—the manufacturers will be in the same condition as at the outset of the posting of the present circular.

Either of these conditions, we submit, is likely to result under the supposition which we have put forth. Is it not a fair question, what is the outlook?

On the other hand, it is plain that the difference between the parties hangs on a very slender thread. It all hangs on the wording of that circular. The conditions of that circular have been agreed to by Mr. Perkins' men, and would probably be agreed to by all the men, if it could only come down. The posting of it, and the manner of such posting is as obnoxious to the men as the presentation of the splitter's list was to the manufacturers. The Knights of Labor are ready to yield the price list—removing the thing which was obnoxious to the manufacturers. It is the right of the manufacturer to have them yield this. Are the Knights asking too much that the circular, which has been the cause of so much trouble, should come down, provided the men are willing to make the same terms as are indicated by it, after it has been removed?

We are aware that the Salem Gazette makes the point that if what we have said is true, and such agreement is the rule of the shop, why not leave the circular up? If it is the rule, and perfectly understood, WHY NOT HAVE IT DOWN? The men have yielded every other point claimed by the manufacturers, or would do so. Can't the manufacturers yield just this much, or submit to a third party whether they will yield it?

WE HAVE said that the change in the Executive Board of District 77 of the Knights of Labor was an apparent indication that this body recognized that mistakes had been made by the old Board—that the Knights were not altogether pleased with their management. We referred to the Harrington boycott, and to the understanding which had become prevalent that it was not done by [illegible] unanimous consent of the old B[illegible]. The remarks of Mr. Barry, of the State Board of Arbitration, in an interview published in the Boston Journal, and [illegible] which we referred last week, confirmed our judgment in this matter.

Taking it for granted that we are correct in our supposition, and that the new Executive Board of that district was appointed because of the need of calmer and wiser counsels, why would it not be a wise and gracious thing on the part of the new Board to remove the boycott then established, regarding Mr. Harrington? We are sure that the leading men in the order regard this boycott as a mistake—even more, they are convinced it should not have been established, but that a settlement with the Harrington's should have been made.

We have heard it hinted, on good authority, that if the Knights would do this, the manufacturers' circular would come down. Whether this be true or not, the removal of the boycott on the part of the Knights would show to the public that they are ready to make a concession on their part. If, after making such a concession, the manufacturers were unwilling to meet them, public sympathy would more and more incline to the laboring men. The latter can afford to take this step. It would be wise, politic and generous on their part. Will they do it?

The arrrngements of Premiums and Committees for the Essex Agricultural Society's sixty-sixth annual exhibition at Newburyport, has been arranged. Among the committees, we notice the following gentlemen and ladies from Peabody; On bulls, Elbridge Mansfield; Working oxen and steers, James P. King; Family horses, Francis H. Appleton; Draft horses, Andrew M. Courtis; Colts and draft horses, E. P. Barrett; Swine, John H. Colcord; Sheep, James Marsh; Plowing with three or four horses, Chas. S. Emerton; Agricultural implements, John E. Herrick; Apples, George M. Foster; Vegetables, Francis H. Appleton; Grain and feed, James P. King; Manufacturers and general merchandise, Joseph S. Needham; Work by children under 12 years of age, Mrs. James P. King; Farms, James P. King; Grain crops etc., John H. Colcord and James P. King; Forest trees, Francis H. Appleton; Cranberries, J. S. Needham. Mr. E. P. Barrett is a member of the auditing committee and James P. King is on the committee to visit other societies and farmers clubs.

UNITARIAN CHURCH.

Last Sunday afternoon at the opening service of the Unitarian church after the vacation, Rev. J. W. Hudson preached a sermon from Psalms 150:1, "Praise ye the Lord." The preacher alluded to this psalm and those preceding as hallelujah psalms; they were sung in the choral service of the Temple in times of rejoicing. Milton's Paradise Lost is but a paraphrase of the 148th psalm—it is the same thought, in the 5th Book, where it begins "These are thy glorious works," etc. These psalms suggest a regular development of the praise service, beginning with human weakness, and leading up in the 150th, which is the climax, to the praise of God as a religious service in the temple. It is an outline of the method of worship in the sanctuary. Not only the singers but the musicians were called upon to join in the service.

Religion has called into service the highest gifts of man. Art goes hand in hand with religion, and its first expression was architecture. The best which it could do was dedicated to divine service. The next was poetry, which is art applied to language. The sweetest expressions of thought are in the litanies of religion. All the ancient books are religious books—for instance the psalms and those which were abundant in the times of the kings and prophets. Their excellence has never been equalled. The best hymns, like Old Hundred, are paraphrases of the ancient psalms. They were the hymns of the Hebrews, and were sung in antiphony—by two choirs in response, which is the only way in which some of the psalms could be rendered, like the one from which the text was taken. The Hebrew nation has been a music loving people from the times of antiquity and it has extended to more modern times. Meyerbeer and Mendelssohn were from this race. One is surprised at the prominence given to music in ancient times, and at the long list of instruments mentioned 1000 years before Christ.

The preacher said that our subject leads us to music, and the quality of the musical service in the church. There are three kinds of instruments in present use—the string, the wind, and instruments of percussion. The type of the first is the harp or violin; of the second the flute; of the third the drum or cymbal. In the 150th psalm all these are mentioned. There is the trumpet, which is the symbol of war—translated horn in some places. Next is the psaltery and harp. The timbrel was a large tambourine—the first instrument to be invented. The pipe was the flute. Then there was the cymbals and loud sounding cymbals,—the first like ours, the second like the castanet, or clappers, which was not used as a plaything. Combinations of like instruments to these would not suit us. It is too noisy,—more like the music of the Chinese theatre. The ancients had no knowledge of harmony. All played the air.

The organ is mentioned two or three times in the Bible. It was in ancient time substantially the same as now—only in its most primitive form. We see representations of it in ancient sculpture. It consisted of eight pipes which were held in the hand and played on the end. The first church organ was put in about 1000 years ago in Europe, since which time this instrument has been pre-eminent for church service. These early organs had only 16 pipes, and as the number increased, with the improvements, the bellows was introduced to supply wind. Owing to their primitive form several pair were needed.

Keys were introduced about 800 years ago, and at first were five or six inches wide and were operated by the whole hand. The organ was the first instrument to which they were applied. The method of striking two or three together led to the discovery of modern harmony, the greatest discovery of the musical world. When this new field was opened there came a succession of great men, and this development reached its climax in the last century, to which this age still resorts for the masters of the organ. The grand masterpieces of music are all religious. The organ is the only instrument except the human voice which can give expression to this religious harmony. Melody originated later on; very few hymn tunes have come down to us later than the time of Charles Wesley. The sublime compositions of the masters are never popular; harmony rather than melody appeals to the religious instinct, for which reason the organ can never be supplanted.

The preacher went on to describe several of the more celebrated organs of the old world, and then said that organ building came to a sudden stop in the time of Cromwell. The Puritans were opposed to such music in their church. This was even seen in this country after the Puritans had landed on our shores. English Parliament in 1642 had a law passed forbidding the use of organs in churches. About this time the organs in Westminster Abbey and St. Paul's Cathedral were assailed with axes. Some of the more enlightened of the Puritans, however, like Martin Luther, had organs in their houses. After 1660, rapid improvements were made, enlargements were made and pedals were attached. In Harlem, Holland, there is an organ with 4000 pipes, and in Freyburg, Germany, one with 6000. These two are the largest in the world,—the next being one in Cincinnati and one in Chicago. There is an organ in a church in Paris, to listen to a certain note in which is of itself considered an act of worship.

The pastor then gave an outline of the work of the society and a brief description of the organ, which is given in full in the musical column of this paper. He said the society was prompted by a worthy purpose in erecting the organ,—not for show or entertainment, but by a desire to praise God worthily. As its predecessor was a help to worship in this house for over 40 years, let us hope that this one will have an equal and greater work to do—that it will be an inspiration of strength to manhood and womanhood, and an incentive to noble things.

NOTES AND COMMMENTS.

The Brockton Gazette has this to say regarding Editor Horton's condemnation of arbitration. It is to the point, and we give a few extracts.

"Why not arbitrate? Haven't the laborers rights? Haven't the capitalists rights?

* * * * * *

Arbitration is not surrender There could be no arbitration until the representative of the manufacturers had agreed to the choice of the third man. This is a free country. If the course of the manufacturers has led workmen to willingly join secret organizations in which the actions of the whole, and their prosperity as well, are left to the discretion of a few, is it not time for the manufacturers to stop and ponder on the causes that have led to this condition of things? What has led workingmen to form Knights of Labor and other similar organizations? Simply the desire to protect their own material, personal, worldly, everyday interests,—their bread and butter. That is the sole reason.

* * * * * *

The laboring man runs just as much risk of having his rights arbitrated away under the forms of statute law, as do the manufacturers. Editor Horton's anxiety about the latter on this score is entirely unnecessary.

Capital, moreover, is abundantly able to care for itself in the long run. It has cared too much for itself in the past; and it is that fact that has caused the labor troubles and labor organizations. The bone and sinew of the state to-day are the laboring men. They do not complain without reason nor strike without cause, as a whole. When they think they have grievances, why should not a board of arbitration be granted to consider them?"

The Georgetown Advocate, of which William B. Hammond, formerly of this town, is one of the Editors, has this to say regarding the troubles here:

"There is a feeling that it is not alone the wage workers that are at fault, but that a heavy responsibility rests upon those accumulators of wealth who have closed their factories against the toilers for their daily bread. In many instances, the present trouble recalls the doings and sayings of years that have fled, and our recollection extends back to the time when an Irishman was as much of a curiosity as the "greatest show on earth" ever exhibited, and a certain old "Irish gentleman one of the rail ould sort," was often pointed out as the first to take up his abode in Danvers, now Peabody. The remark is often made, that the lockout serves the Irish right, as they were the instrument that cut under the American wage workers, and forced them to other fields of labor. But we candidly ask, were not these same bosses who have now combined to starve organized labor out, as much to blame for this state of things, as labor itself?"

"They say, and "they say" are not "liars" this hitch, that the leather establishments in town are doing first rate at the present time. They are all fully employed, working full hours with complete complements of men, which means that the proprietors are "tallowing," as they say in Kansas.—Woburn Journal."

"But there will be some compensation sooner or later, for the evils these labor disturbances have engendered. They will lead to a clearer definition of the relations between labor and capital, with material advantage to both. The workingmen will find that they can get ample justice without fighting for it, and the moneyed men will find that they can invest funds without any risk of losing them through the freaks and follies of agitators who make a livelihood by fomenting discord among their fellowmen. We have faith enough in human nature to feel perfectly confident that the end will be satisfactory, and that it is not far off."—Shoe and Leather Reporter.

Mr. Geo. Emerson on Franklin street was called to Reading last Saturday by the illness of his brother Mr. John A. Emerson, who has been sick for a long time with Bright's disease. His brother died on Sunday. He was a twin to John B., another brother who lives in Lynn.

Mr. Tuttle, foreman for Dahl & Co., while repairing a "soak" at that tannery this morning, was treated to a cold water bath, by the breaking away of the boarding of an adjoining pit. The newspapers are not expected to mention it.

PERSONAL.

Dr. Chas. C. Pike and wife, accompanied by Doctor Odlin of Melrose, will leave town next Friday for a trip to St. John's.

Mr. John F. Morland has accepted the very responsible position as correspondent for the associated press for this vicinity. It is a compliment to Mr. Morland to be asked to fill the position; but at the same time he is abundantly able and competent to fill it.

Mr. John Linehan and Miss Kate Linehan are taking a vacation.

Mr. John Osborne and family have gone to Haverhill, N. H.

Mrs. P. W. Duffy and family have removed to Cambridgeport. She has seen lots of trouble since she came from Southbridge to Peabody.

Mr. Augustus Merrill is enjoying the sea breezes of New Hampshire.

Mr. Geo. R. Nelson, of Chicago, is renewing old acquaintances in town.

Alice Chase Newton, dramatic reader, paid Mark Marston of Lowell a flying visit Monday night. Miss Newton is East engaging musical talent to support her in her starring tour through the western and southern states this season.

Mr. Geo. A. Whitney and wife went on the B. & M. excursion from Wenham to Centre Harbor, yesterday.

Miss Hattie Phillips has gone to Saratoga where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Geo. C. Prescott.

Miss Mabel Marks, a former resident and daughter of Benj. Marks, is visiting in town.

Mr. Fred Williams will pay a flying visit to Wolfboro, N. H., this week.

Miss Tena Bradley of Lowell street is taking her vacation.

Miss Blanchard, in the employ of Almy, Bigelow and Washburn, is enjoying a three week's vacation.

Mr. Charles A. Batchelder spent Sunday at Dover, N. H.

Mr. George C. Peirce has returned from his vacation in Maine but we regret to learn that his health has not improved as much as was expected.

Mr. S. S. Littlefield has been appointed district deputy to the Haverhill Tribe of Red Men. He holds a similar relation to the Newburyport Tribe.

Mr. George Ingalls and Cornelius Murphy are enjoying themselves on Ipswich river.

City Marshal O'Sullivan of Lawrence was the guest of Dr. John Shannahan last Thursday.

Miss Clara Cooms of Gloucester is visiting in town.

Mr. S. F. Blaney has gone on an ocean trip to Savannah, Ga. He will visit Alabama before his return.

Mr. W. S. Ward and Walter Lloyd made a run to Providence on their bicycles last Saturday. Time 6 hours 50 minutes.

Arthur W. Tyler, Esq., of New York City was in town Sunday.

SPARKS.

At 9.10 o'clock Tuesday forenoon Walter P. Hills, clerk of H. & L. 1., discovered smoke pouring from the old, unoccupied house on Spring Street Court, owned by Laurence Goodrich. He ran to box 37, at the corner of Oak and Foster streets, and pulled in an alarm. The department were promptly on the spot, but their services were not required as the fire had been put out by the neighbors. This fire was probably set by children, and it is the fourth or fifth time that it has been on fire within the past ten days. It should be torn down.

John O. Buxton was elected a Director of the Relief Association at the meeting Monday evening, representing Steamer 1, in place of George H. Carr, resigned.

Foreman Charles H. Hooper, of Hose 3, was united in marriage, this afternoon, to Miss Mary E. G. Batchelder, of this town, by Rev. F. W. Sprague. The happy couple immediately started for Chicago, where they will pass the next two or three weeks. On their return to Peabody they will reside on Andover Street. Foreman Hooper is one of the most popular officers in the department, and he has the best wishes of his brother firemen for his future happiness.

By an accidental breaking of the circuit Monday afternoon at 1.40 o'clock, two strokes of the fire alarm were sounded. Sup't Smart was cleaning the battery.

The wagon of Hose 5 was shipped to Concord, N. H., last Friday, where it will be painted at the works of the Abbot Downing Company, the makers of the wagon.

At the meeting of Steamer 2, held last evening, a committee of three were appointed to confer with committees from the other companies in the department, to see what action will be taken in regard to a reception of the Excelsior engine Company of Provincetown, some time this fall.

The Board of Engineers will hold their regular meeting this evening.

The Salem board of Aldermen have concurred with the Council, and the Pearce & Jones system of fire alarm has been adopted. Z.

—GO TO—

MORRISON & TRASK,

SUCCESSORS TO

Samuel Trask & Son.

WALNUT STREET,

For Hardware, Paints, Oils, Cutlery, Tanners and Curriers Tools, Cordage, Farming Tools, Seeds, Dole's Tanners Shovels and Hooks.

—ALSO AGENTS FOR—

H. W. John's Asbestos Paint.

MORRISON & TRASK,
Walnut Street.

sep 8—1y

GRAND RE-OPENING

—OF THE—

PEABODY INSTITUTE,

MONDAY EVENING, SEPT. 13, '86.

THE RIVALS CONCERT CO.,

CONSISTING OF

ALFRED DE SEVE, Violonist.
WULF FRIES, Violoncellist.
EDWARD K. HOOD, Reader.
MRS. J. P. FERNALD, Soprano.
MRS. DE SEVE, CHARLES A. CLARK, } Accompanists.

Under the Management of Edward K. Hood.

Tickets on Sale at Grosvenor's Drug Store, Thursday morning, at 9 o'clock.

ADMISSION 25 Cts.

Reserved Seats, 35 and 50 Cts.

Twenty or more attended the picnic of the Improved Order of Red Men at Centennial Grove last Friday. There was a large attendance from all parts of the county. The day was fine and everything passed off to the satisfaction of all present. Among the distinguished men of the order present, were William J. Dinsmore, Great Sachem of the Great Council of Massachusetts, Andrew H. Paton, Great Chief of Records, Charles H. Litchman, past Great Sachem, Mayor Parsons of Gloucester, and numerous other well known men of the order. An interesting feature of the days programme were the sports and they were much enjoyed. One hundred yards dash in which there were eight starters and in which the prizes of $3 and $2 were won by R. B. Brown of Lynn and Gardner Kimball of Marblehead respectively, John J. Cahill of this town coming in third. There was a running jump in which J. McCarthy of Peabody, in a field of nine entries, jumped 19 feet 3 inches, winning first prize, and R. B. Brown of Lynn won second prize, jumping 19 feet 2 inches. There was a standing jump, in which "Bennie" of Salem won first prize, jumping 12 feet 7 inches, with J. McCarthy of Peabody second, his jump being 12 feet 5 inches. There was a non-professional single scull race, the first prize, $5, was won by Sherman Dodd of Salem; second, $3, by Frank Chapman of Marblehead; third, $2, by C. Frost, Marblehead. A base ball game was played between nines from Wingaersheek Tribe of Gloucester and Agawam Tribe of Danvers, and was won by the latter by a score of 15 to 9. The prize of $15 was awarded to the Danvers team. There were three entries in the professional single scull race, including John and Edward Cutter of Salem. The prize of $10 was won by Edward Cutter. A 125 yards dash was won by Robert Burns of Lynn, with J. Kimball second. Wingaersheek Tribe of Gloucester was awarded the silver gold mounted tomahawk for selling the largest number of tickets.

IVERS & POND PIANOS.

For the best Pianos in Salem examine the Ivers & Pond if you want a good one. For sale only by W. J. Lefavour, 175 Essex St. Salem.

New Advertisements.

SOUTH DANVERS MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE CO'Y.

The members of this Company are hereby notified that their Annual Meeting for the Election of a Board of Directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may come before them, will be held at the Room of the South Danvers National Bank, in Peabody, on MONDAY, October 4th, 1886, at 7 o'clock, P. M.

G. M. FOSTER, Sec'y.

Peabody, Sept. 8, 1886.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN

Ladies' Tailoring Department.

Our Rooms will be open for orders, MONDAY, Sept. 13th. The Department will still be under the supervision of Miss S. M. ALDEN, whose superior talent is well known to all our patrons and friends.

A. B. & W.

sept 8

Boston & Main R. R.

SEPTEMBER 9,

—Grand Excursion—

—FROM—

SALEM

—TO—

Centre Harbor.

ON LAKE WINNIPESAUKEE,

Only $2.00.

60 MILES SAIL ON LAKE WINNIPESAUKEE,

The Most Beautiful Lake in America,

On the Fast Steamer Mt. Washington.

An Excellent Dinner can be obtained on the Steamer.

Train leaves Salem at 8.13 A.M.

Tickets good Going Sept. 9th and Returning Sept. 9th or 10th, 1886.

JAS. T. FURBER, General Manoger.
D. J. FLANDERS, Gen'l Pass'r Ag't.

RAYMOND'S VACATION EXCURSIONS.

All Travelling Expenses Included.

SEVEN GRAND TRIPS

—TO—

CALIFORNIA.

Leaving Boston November 4 and December 9, 1886; January 6, January 20, February 3, February 17, and March 10, 1887.

THE RAYMOND AT SOUTH PASADENA, the most beautiful and healthful situation in Southern California; at the elegant Hotel del Monte, at Monterey; the Palace Hotel, in San Francisco; Santa Cruz; the Napa Soda Springs; and many other leading hotels and health resorts. There will be nine returning parties from San Francisco in the Winter, Spring and early Summer months, with special trains and daylight rides over the most picturesque parts of the Mountain Route. The tickets are also good returning on any train independent of the travelling parties, with a choice of routes east of Ogden, Utah. All railway travel both ways in Palace Cars. Frequent halts for rest. All arrangements Strictly First-Class. Tickets to be had independently of hotel board in California if desired.

W. RAYMOND. I. A. WHITCOMB.

Send for descriptive circulars.
W. RAYMOND,
296 Washington St. (opposite School St.), Boston, Mass.

Rubber BOOTS

—WITH—

DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Ordinary Rubber Boots always wear out first on the ball. The CANDEE Boots are double thick on the ball, and give

DOUBLE WEAR.

Most economical rubber Boot in the market. Lasts longer than any other boot, and the PRICE NO HIGHER.

Call and examine the goods.

"CANDEE" RUBBER BOOTS GIVE DOUBLE WEAR ON THE BOTTOM
GREATEST IMPROVEMENT EVER MADE IN RUBBER BOOTS
TWO YEARS TEST.
A COMMON SENSE IDEA
DOUBLE THICK BALL.

FOR SALE BY

NUGENT BROS.,

PEABODY, MASS.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening Sept. 8, 1886,

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The public schools after a vacation of nine weeks were opened for the fall term last Monday, and teachers and pupils have returned refreshed and invigorated for the large amount of work before them. During vacation the committee have improved the opportunity to make necessary alterations and repairs and each school room has had a very thorough cleaning, which included the scrubbing of the paint, floors and desks.

At the Bowditch school the roof has been altered and repaired by discontinuing the use of the gutters and slating over them. The school house and out buildings have been thoroughly and neatly painted.

At the Centre school work has been confined to the general cleaning up and re-grading certain portions of the play yard about the building.

At the Wallis school a new door head over the cellar way outside the building has been built and the usual cleaning up took place.

At the Endicott school new folding blinds have been put on the inside and the painting, which was only partly done, has been finished. There has been considerable grading done about the yard.

A general cleaning of the Rockville, Felton and West schools has taken place and the fences about the grounds of the latter have been whitewashed. The only repairs necessary for the High school was the setting of considerable window glass, which had been broken with stones, including the little circular window under the roof.

During the vacation Mr. G. Fred Osgood, for the committee, has been busy in purchasing supplies and books. A large saving has been made by rebinding many of the school books which had been roughly handled in the past. A new combination cover made of heavy rope stock will be used on all the books. The following are the teachers and the salaries they will receive:

HIGH SCHOOL.
J. Y. Bergen, Jr.,	$1400.00
Frances M. Henshaw,	650 00
Annie J. Fairchild,	500.00
CENTRE SCHOOL.
Jefferson K. Cole,	$1200.00
Julia P. Wilkins,	500.00
Esther R. Perkins,	490.00
Mary P. Towne,	490.00
Laura P. Whitney,	440.00
Kate E. Wiley,	440.00
Sarah E. Towne,	440.00
Carrie Upton,	440.00
Margaret S. Poor,	400.00
Eva D. Raddin,	380.00
Mary C. Chandler,	360.00
Mattie Wilkins,	360.00
WALLIS SCHOOL.
George F. Barnes,	$1200.00
Adelaide S. Hill,	500.00
Mary Stratton,	480.00
Sarah S. Williams,	490.00
Clara T. Jacobs,	440.00
Vienna A. Batchelder,	440.00
Florence E. Hannan,	440.00
Mary H. Poole,	400.00
Kate Price,	400.00
Mary A. Forness,	400.00
Mary E. Walton,	400.00
BOWDITCH SCHOOL.
Abelard E. Wells,	$1000.00
Georgie S. Hart,	440.00
Carrie E. Gee,	440.00
Adelaide H. Torr,	400.00
Jennie S. Tufts,	400.00
ROCKVILLE SCHOOL.
Lindley H. Farr,	$600.00
Florence H. Taylor,	360.00
Hattie K. Pike,	400.00
WEST PEABODY SCHOOL.
Carrie E. Welch,	$500.00
Eva M. Flint,	340.00
FELTON SCHOOL.
Ida M. Baker,	$360.00
Nellie T. Allen,	300.00
ENDICOTT SCHOOL.
E. A. Sanborn,	$400.00
Nellie M. Boynton,	360.00
Eliza M. Cass,	300.00
JANITORS.
W. A. Mayhew,	$450.00
Albert F. Beckett,	450.00
George Raddin,	175.00
Peter A. Snyder,	125.00
John Rhodes,	200.00
Edward Caden,	200.00
Dennis Linnehan,	200.00
Daniel H. Felton,	60.00
Alice Bolster,	30 00
MUSIC.
Prof. C. R. Bill,	$450.00

The attendance at the different schools is about the average and a visit to the schools showed the following:

WALLIS.—George F. Barnes, 47; Miss Stratton, 31; Mrs. Williams, 52; Miss Jacobs, 57; Miss Batchelder, 54; Miss Hannon, 53; Miss Poole, 52; Miss Price, 60; Miss Forniss, 57; Miss Walton, 43.

CENTRE.—J. K. Cole, 47; Miss Perkins, 35; Miss Towne, 51; Miss Whitney, 52; Miss Wiley, 51; Mrs. Towne, 62; Miss Upton, 31; Miss Poor, 67; Miss Wilkins, 49; Miss Raddin, 45; Miss Chandler, 58.

BOWDITCH.—A. E. Wells, 72; Miss Gee, 58; Miss Torr, 49; Miss Tufts, 61.

ROCKVILLE.—L. H. Farr, 36; Miss Taylor, 40; Miss Pike, 49.

FELTON.—Miss Ida M. Baker, 15; Miss Allen, 15.

ENDICOTT.—Mrs. Sanborn, 55; Miss Boynton, 56; Miss Cass, 50.

WEST.—Miss Carrie E. Welch, 21; Miss Eva Flint, 29.

HIGH.—Junior's, 20; Middlers, 19; Senior's, 17.

The total number of pupils in all the schools is 1716.

* * *

Mr. W. H. Baldwin has sold his residence in Wakefield and moved his family to his hotel on Foster street.

A new bark shed is improving the looks of the Little Mill property.

MUSICAL NOTES.

The event of last week was the dedication of the new organ of the Unitarian Church, which has taken the place of the organ in use in that church for over 40 years. The latter was presented to the society by the late Eben Sutton, and at the time was considered one of finest toned organs in the State. Some years ago it was entirely renovated, sub-bass added, and removed from its old quarters in the rear of the church to the more modern position of a place behind the pulpit. Of late, however, it became evident that one of two things must be done,—either a new organ purchased or a large amount of money expended on the old one. By a judicious covering up of the defects on the part of the organist, the old organ was made to do service seemingly equal to the demands made upon it. Only the choir and organist knew how skillully these defects were covered. But the time was fast approaching when this could no longer be done.

The first effort towards the purchase of a new organ was made by the Unity Club, which, during each season for several years, had held entertainments—the proceeds of which were devoted to a fund for this purpose. A goodly sum was realized in this way, and last spring, at a meeting of the society, steps were taken which resulted in augmenting the fund to such an extent that the committee were authorized to contract for a new organ. After a careful consideration of the merits of the several organ builders, it was decided to give the contract to Geo. P. Hutchings, of Boston, the builder of the new organ in the North Church in Salem. Several schemes were presented by Mr. Hutchings, and the result was the organ which is at present in position at the church and which was played in public for the first time last Thursday evening.

The organ is of sufficient power to meet all the demands of the service. More attention has been given to the swell organ than to the great organ, by the advice both of Mr. Hutchings and competent musical authority. More variety of combination, more beautiful effects, and better expression for accompaniments can be obtained by the use of the swell, and the builders of organs, except for purposes where power is the principal requisition, are more and more becoming inclined to this arrangement. The recess in the church, in which the organ is placed, is considered better than is obtained in most churches, and while it may be true that any recess detracts from the full beauty of an organ, there is in this one the least possible diminution in the effects which can be produced.

The concert, which had been arranged by Mr. Hutchings and the committee of the society, served to bring out all the different combinations and effects of the instrument. The selections of Mr. Truette, the organist, were such as to give variety to the performance, and to show himself a master of the organ. The war march from Athalia, by Mendelssohn, was grandly rendered—displaying the clearness and brilliancy of the instrument, while the Andante from Batiste showed the true power of the organ in the quiet, legato movement which moves all hearers to an attitude of reverence and worship. The opening piece was well rendered by Miss E. Dora Clark, the regular organist of the church, who also played the accompaniments for the vocal selections by the choir. Charles A. Clark, the organist of St. John's church, gave several selections by the desire of the committee, and served only to enhance the fine reputation, as an organist, which he holds among us. The different arrangements which he rendered of the familiar "O Paradise," were beautifully done. One combination, particularly, reminded us of its rendition by the boy choir of the Cathedral in Boston, behind the scenes of the old Globe Theatre in its palmy days. Two selections were rendered by the choir of the church, one unaccompanied, and in the selection with the organ, as well as in the music of last Sunday at the regular service, it was shown to what an extent the new organ is an aid to the choir. We append the following description of the organ:

GREAT ORGAN.

1. Open Diapason 8 feet metal.
2. Dolcissimo, 8 feet metal.
3. Melodia (Std. Bass) 8 feet wood.
4. Octave, 4 feet metal.
5. Octave Quinte, 2 2-3 feet metal.
6. Super Octave, 2 feet metal.

SWELL ORGAN.

7. Bourdon Bass, } 16 feet wood.
8. Bourdon Treble, } 16 feet wood.
9. Violin Diapason, 8 ft. wood and metal.
10. Salicional, 8 feet metal.
11. St'd. Diapason, 8 feet wood.
12. Flute Harmonique, 4 feet metal.
13. Violina, 4 feet metal.
14. Flautino, 2 feet metal.
15. Oboe, } 8 feet metal.
16. Bassoon, } 8 feet metal.

PEDAL ORGAN.

17. Bourdon, 16 feet wood.

MECHANICAL REGISTERS.

18. Swell to Great Coupler.
19. Great to Pedal Coupler.
20. Swell to Pedal.
21. Blower's Signal.

PEDAL MOVEMENTS.

1. Forte, combination Great Organ.
2. Piano, " " "
3. Octave Coupler, Swell to Great.
4. Tremolo, for Swell Organ.
5. Balanced, Swell Pedal.

SUMMARY.

Great Organ,	6 stops.	366 pipes
Swell Organ,	10 "	488 "
Pedal Organ,	1 "	27 "
Total speak'g stops,	17
Couplers, etc.,	4
Pedal Movements,	5
Total,	26 stops	881 pipes.

The organ is run by water power, making it at all times under the control of the performer, and preventing that irregularity of tone which is often produced by a blower. This is one of the improvements in furnishing power for a church organ which is best appreciated by the organist. The choir gallery of the church has been improved by new curtains, new rails and new lamps, making it at once attractive and pleasant.

Miss May C. Barrell, the well known contralto singer of Lynn, a sister of Dr. Geo. M. Barrell, who is well known in this town, was married last Wednesday evening to Ritchie O. Woodward of West Union, Iowa. The Lynn Bee has the following in reference to the wedding:—"The many guests who assembled in the early evening to grace the occasion were received by W. I. Beckford, assisted by H. Graham Wheeler of Peabody and Edward Kavanagh, Jr., who acted as ushers. The house was lighted throughout by candles. The marriage ceremony as performed by Rev. Henry Hinckley was beautiful and impressive. The bride was attired in white surah satin trimmed with Irish point lace and carried a bunch of white roses. The bridesmaids were M. Ida Beckford and Lillian B. Clark; the former wore a pink surah satin with pearl ornaments, in her hand she bore a bunch of pink rose buds. Miss Clark's dress was of satin, ashes of roses color, and she carried a bunch of asters. Dr. Geo. M. Barrell, the brother of the bride, and Henry F. Woodward, brother of the bridegroom, were groomsmen. The ceremony was at 7 o'clock, and the reception followed it in the early evening. The presents, very numerous and elegant, were much admired by the many friends of the bride, who is so popular in the musical and social circles of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Woodward left last evening for Washington, D. C., where they will spend a few days, and then go to their future home in Iowa, where he will devote himself to his profession as a lawyer."

The Peabody Institute hall, which has been re-seated with the fine opera chairs of Thos. Kane & Co., of Racine, Wis., will be opened by a first class entertainment Monday evening, Sept. 13. It will be given by the Rivals Concert Co., one of the most successful combinations of last season—the only change from last year in its personnel being the change from Walter Emerson, the cornetist, to Wulf Fries, the veteran violoncellist. The company opened the course of entertainments in Danvers last year—drawing a good house, despite one of the worst storms of the season, and appeared in Springfield, Philadelphia, and other places The artists are well known and it will be an entertainment equal to anything given in town for many years. The company consists of Mons. Alfred De Seve, the renowned violin virtuoso, whose wonderful playing excites the wildest enthusiasm wherever he appears. He has never appeared in Peabody, and we can assure our readers of a rich treat. Encore after encore has greeted him at every appearance. Wulf Fries is known to all musical people as the veteran violoncello player. He was a wonderful player as long ago as the old Mendelssohn Quintette Club had an existence, and he has lost none of the charms with which he holds his hearers spell bound. To say that Edward K. Hood is sure to please a Peabody audience is superfluous. No impersonator or reader has ever appeared here who gives such satisfaction. His selections will be new and witty as ever. Mrs. Fernald will sing "Alla Stella Confidante" with 'cello obligato by Mr. Fries, once with violin and once with piano. Mme. De Seve will accompany Mons. De Seve—for the remaining selections Charles A. Clark, the well known pianist and organist of St. John's church, will assist.

A musicale will be given Friday evening at the Juniper Hall, Salem Willows, by Mrs. J. P. Fernald, Miss Emma Rice, Miss Chaney of Somerville, Mr. Isaac Littlefield of East Stoughton, and others. Mr. Leslie Goldthwait, of this town, will be the pianist.

* * *

Eddie Burnham, better known as "young Iry," fell from a load of wood last Monday, and received a severe cut on his head.

Thomas Skidd, who was bitten by by Patrick McNamara in the under lip on May 30, is again under the doctor's care, as the wound has broken out afresh.

Mr. A. L. Ames is beating the record with a sunflower fifteen or eighteen feet high with a hundred blossoms on it. A neighbor says that all the fertilizer he gave it was the dust that came from his boots while blacking them.

FALL COLORS
NEW NECKWEAR.

Our stock this season far surpasses all our previous efforts and we are now prepared to show all the

NEW SHAPES

In an endless variety of SILKS,

— AT —

POPULAR PRICES.

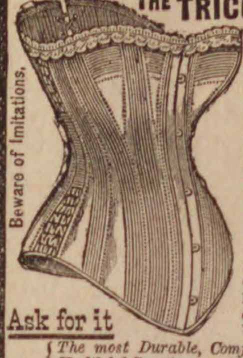
W. S. NEAL & CO.,

228 & 230 Essex St., Salem.

F. D. TARLTON,

Dry Goods.

THE NEW CORSET.



Beware of Imitations.

THE TRICORA RELIEF

Having elastic side sections, adapts itself to the various positions of the body in stooping, sitting & reclining. It affords great relief and comfort to the many who find ordinary Corsets oppressive. The "TRICORA" stays used for boning are unequaled for durability & comfortable support, & are absolutely unbreakable.

Ask for it

The most Durable, Comfortable, and Healthful Corset ever sold for its price.

Every pair warranted to give satisfaction or money returned.

F. D. TARLTON.

FOR BARGAINS IN

Cotton Hosiery, Light Prints
and Summer Underwear,

— CALL AT —

42 MAIN STREET.

BUSTLES,

FORMS

AND Watch Spring

SKIRTS.

THE NEWEST SHAPES.

— AT —

John P. Peabody,

227 & 229 ESSEX STREET.

New Fall and Winter

GOODS,

FOR THE

BEE-HIVE,

Sept. 18th,

Our entire new stock of

UNDERWEAR,

HOSIERY,

and GLOVES,

will be ready for sale. All should wait for the best assorted stock ever offered

— AT —

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE,

SALEM.

Fall and Winter Opening.

Having moved to the new and elegant Store in the

Old Hotel Building,

NEXT TO THE POST OFFICE,

And placed on our Counters an ENTIRE NEW STOCK of

FALL AND WINTER GOODS,

Embracing all the latest styles in Imported and Domestic Woolens. We are prepared to better accomodate our customers than ever before.

— PRICES THE LOWEST —

AND A PERFECT FIT GUARANTEED.

JAMES HOWLEY,

Merchant Tailor,

NEXT TO THE POST OFFICE. PEABODY, MASS.

IMMENE BARGAINS

THIS WEEK!

NOW IS YOUR TIME TO GET

Men's Canvas Bals. only 65 cents.
Boys' Canvas Bals only 75 cents.
Youths' Canvas Bals only 65 cents.

REGULAR $1.00 GOODS.

Men's and Boys' Tennis, 75 cents.
Men's Tennis Bals., $1.00.
Smith Hand Sewed Goat Button, $2.75.
Women's Comfort Button, $2.00.
Women's Mikado Slipper, 35c.
Men's Silk Embroidered Slipper, 65c.
Women's Fine Kid Oxfords, $1.00.
Women's House Slipper, 25c.

BIG BARGAINS IN SUMMER GOODS FOR THE NEXT TEN DAYS

— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

SALEM.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

Preliminary Opening,

— ON —

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 8.

Your presence is requested with friends at the Opening of early importations and New York purchases of

RICH

---Dress Goods---

The display will be made on 3d Floor, adjoining our Carpet Department. Elevator.

Wednesday, September 8,

8.30 A. M. to 6 P. M.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

Essex and Washington Street,

SALEM, MASS.

STRAWBERRIES,

POT GROWN.

Plants of Leading Varieties.

By setting in AUGUST will secure fruit the following season.

PLANTS ready now. Send for Circular, or call on

E. & C. WOODMAN,

FLORIST AND GARDEN SUPPLIES,

DANVERS, MASS.

Greenhouses, Holten St., Tapleyville, on line of Horse R. R.

Boyden House,

128 1-2 & 132 UNION ST.

(NEAR CENTRAL STATION.)

H. FRENCH, - Prop.,

LYNN, MASS

je 9—1y

BANKRUPT SALE

Of and Imported stock of

Human Hair Goods

The chance that comes but once in a life time.

The extensive stock of Mr. Leonard, the great importer and dealer of fine hair goods, was sold at auction last week in Boston. We were large purchasers of the same at merely nominal prices, and we propose to give our customers the benefit of the same. We have elegant waves at less than one quarter the original price. Crimps for 10c, 25c, 37c up. Warranted water curl ones for 50 and 75 cts.

Hair Switches for 25c, 50c, up, Gray Switches, a full line, from $2 up.

Polished Hair Crimping Irons 25c. Regular price $1.

Fluffy Fedore Curlers 15c, regular price 30c Ornaments, Hair Pins, etc., etc.

COME & EXAMINE.

Mrs. J. H. Browne's

153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

☞ Also Remember all our Trimmed Hats and Bonnets will be closed out at Bargain prices. We have the largest stock to select from in the city

BROWNES

Next door to the Museum.

Coal Dealers.

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheackin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal. Cumberland Coal.

All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telphone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville, and will be promptly attended to.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

Wm. T. Batchelder. Amos Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK. SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

—AT—

PICKERINGS

7 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals

Orders can be left at Office. 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, Jr & Co.,

Peabody Street

N. O. VERRY,

(Successor to L. B. Hatch.)

DEALER IN

WOOD AND COAL,

Hard and Soft Wood Kindlings, Bark, Slabs, Hay, etc.

113 DERBY ST., SALEM.

AT THE HEAD OF DERBY WHARF.

P. O. Box 64. Telephone, 444

15 CENTS FOR SAMPLE COPY of THIS BEAUTIFUL BOOK. It gives the LANGUAGE and Sentiment of Every Flower and Shrub, 3000 different kinds. Also all the Known Rules of Flirtation with Glove, Parasol, Handkerchief and Fan. It is the most complete work of the kind ever published. Send Fifteen Cents in stamps for a sample copy, also our price to agents. Agents wanted everywhere. Ad. AMERICAN PUB. CO., 17 North Tenth Street, Philad'a, Pa.

THE LANGUAGE OF FLOWERS AND FLIRTING

OUR SINGER THIS STYLE $17 15 DAYS' TRIAL. A Full Set of Attachments. WARRANTED 5 Years. Send for Circular. E. C. HOWE & CO., 122 N. 6th St., Phila., Pa.

mch 24

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs: and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any $10 cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground feb 11—3m

Be Warned

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

Bright's Disease

Prevented

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. TRADE MARK

Positively Cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00. CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

CATARRH ELY'S Cream Balm

ELY'S CREAM BALM CURES COLD IN HEAD CATARRH ROSE-COLD HAY-FEVER DEAFNESS HEADACHE PRICE 50 CENTS ELY BRO'S, OWEGO, N.Y. U.S.A. EASY TO USE

Gives Relief at once and Cures

COLD in HEAD

CATARRH

HAY FEVER

Not a Liquid, Snuff or Powder. Free from Injurious Drugs and Offensive odors.

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular, ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS!

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS WILL Purify the Blood.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS BEGETS Sound. Refreshing Sleep.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS FOR That Tired. Weary Feeling.

Sick Headache.

GENTS:—I have been subject to Sick Headache for years, and have tried, in vain, many advertised remedies and several physicians, but all to no purpose. At last I tried your B. B. Bitters—without much faith, I admit—but to-day I can truly say, that after taking the third bottle, I have not suffered from it. I recommend it to all my friends; several have been cured by it. My little grandson was permanently cured of Biliousness and Sick Headache, which were so severe as to cause convulsions. They have all ceased since he commenced the use of B.B.B.

MRS. B. C. BODLE,
Orange, Luzerne County, Pa.

FRENCH'S HOTEL.

CITY HALL SQUARE. NEW YORK.

Opposite City Hall and the Post Office.

This Hotel is one of the most complete in its appointments and furniture of ANY HOUSE in New York City and is conducted on the

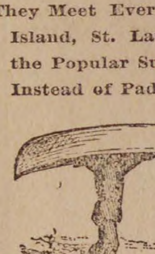
EUROPEAN PLAN.

Rooms only One Dollar per day. Half minute's walk from Brooklyn Bridge and Elevated R. R. All lines of cars pass the door. Most convenient Hotel in New York for Merchants to stop at. Dining Rooms, Cafes and Lunch Counter replete with all the luxuries at moderate prices.

MEETING OF THE A. C. A.

CAMP OF THE CANOEISTS IN THE THOUSAND ISLANDS.

They Meet Every August at Grindstone Island, St. Lawrence River—Canoeing the Popular Summer Recreation—Sails Instead of Paddles the Fashion Now.

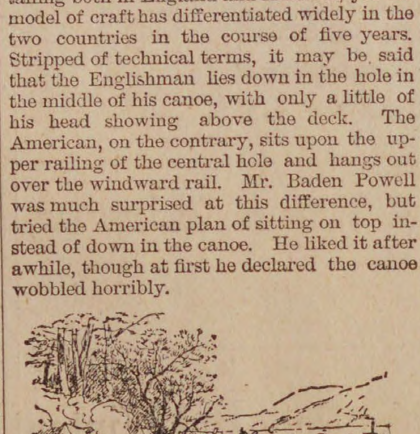


THIS year for the third summer the A. C. A. holds its August meet among the Thousand islands of the St. Lawrence. What does A. C. A. mean? It means the American Canoe association. It is composed of the various canoe clubs all over the country. In August each year they load their canoes upon baggage cars and speed to the beautiful Thousand islands of the St. Lawrence river. They camp out upon some of the islands. They remain there two or three weeks, hunting, paddling, sailing, fishing, loafing and eating. There is preliminary skirmishing in the way of racing during the whole time, and the meet breaks up in a grand race to see which club and which man shall be the champion for next year.

This year some Englishmen participated in the race, bringing their canoes across the ocean for the purpose. Most prominent among them was Mr. Warrington Baden Powell, the father of canoe sailing in this country as well as England. Be it known that canoe sailing is now the rage. Paddles there are still, for times when there is not a capful of wind; but whenever there is breath enough to lift a hair, your canoeist hoists his little sheet and scorns what boatmen call a "white ash breeze."

The peculiarity of this kind of travel is that the canoe takes two sails. One is forward, rather a large one, and it is called the mainsail. The smaller is aft, and it is called the mizzen. It is likewise known as the jigger, or dandy. Sail may be hoisted also in a paddling canoe, but in that case there is only one, and it is placed astern. The A. C. A. canoes are all sailers.

Although Mr. Baden Powell started canoe sailing both in England and America, yet the model of craft has differentiated widely in the two countries in the course of five years. Stripped of technical terms, it may be said that the Englishman lies down in the hole in the middle of his canoe, with only a little of his head showing above the deck. The American, on the contrary, sits upon the upper railing of the central hole and hangs out over the windward rail. Mr. Baden Powell was much surprised at this difference, but tried the American plan of sitting on top instead of down in the canoe. He liked it after awhile, though at first he declared the canoe wobbled horribly.

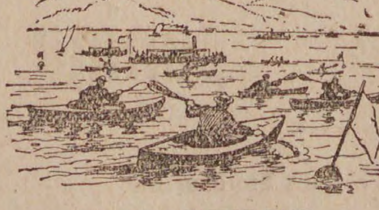


IN CAMP.

The A. C. A. camp is at the foot of Grindstone island, on the shore of Eel bay. Canoes were drawn up on the beach here, tents dotted all around, and the smoke of little camp fires ascended all day. It was very free and easy and very jolly. That person is no man or woman at all who does not enjoy now and then the freedom of the wild woods. There were about 500 canoeists present at the meet. The camp was a place of great interest to the people of the surrounding islands. The association chartered a propeller, which made four trips a day, touching at the neighboring islands. She brought large numbers of visitors, who inspected the great canoe camp as curiously as if it had been Barnum's circus or the Wild West show.

A canoe is an unsociable affair, an old bachelor or old maid's boat, for both men and women sail therein. It only holds one, or, in a great pinch, two persons. The approved shape has only the hole in the middle, as you see in the illustration. All the rest is decked lightly over and full of air. This adds to the lightness of the craft. It weighs so little and is so buoyant that it will run in six inches of water readily, and a foot is ample depth.

Mr. Baden Powell is the champion canoeist of Great Britain. Mr. C. Bowyer Vaux, of the New York Canoe club, is the champion of America. His racing canoe is the Lassie, the fastest one known. The Lassie is very light. She carries ninety-two feet of sail and less than seventy-five pounds ballast. She has two center boards and a deck tiller. When there is very slight wind she carries a spinnaker to give her additional sail. Underneath the covered deck are packed tent, bedding, cooking utensils and all things needed for camping out. The Englishman's canoe, like everything else English, is heavier and broader than the American one. Even it is not so very wide, however, being only thirty inches across. It carries 150 pounds of shot bags for ballast.



OFF FOR A PADDLE RACE.

We may expect canoeing to become more and more popular in the next few years. It is an exhilarating recreation that can be pursued in our shallow, crooked waters throughout all North America. The Indians understood this before us, and constructed everywhere the light bark boats that shot in and out and up and down streams like darting fish. They had war canoes and peace canoes.

The lightest canoes can be carried over rapids or swamps just as the Indians used to carry theirs. In camping out, a canvas called a canoe tent, is stretched above the cockpit, and beneath it, inside his craft, the pleasure seeker may unroll his blankets and sleep like a top, with his boat either drawn upon the shore or anchored out.

Mr. John Habberton is an enthusiastic canoeist. He writes:

The canoe is absolutely the only "all-around" small boat in the world; that is, the only boat that can be easily and safely used with either paddle or sail—or oars, if a man is depraved enough to pervert things from their proper uses.

It is the only boat moved by hand power in which the occupant can always look ahead.

A lady can sail a canoe, handling both sail and rudder without any straining and twisting that threatens to part the shoulder seam of her dress.

Every day adds to the great amount of evidence as to the curative powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Letters are continually being received from all sections of the country, telling of benefits derived from this great medicine. It is unequalled for general debility, and as a blood purifier, expelling every trace of scrofula or other impurity. Now is the time to take it. Made by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists.

Make no promise but what you intend to keep, and once made, cost what it may, keep it.—[Cahill.

Any fool can earn money, but it takes a wise man to spend it.

RED STAR TRADE MARK. COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

ST. JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain

Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc. PRICE, FIFTY CENTS, AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.

WANTED The owner of a Mining Claim which has "Ore in Sight" valued at $147,238, assays from which give $100 to $250 per ton in Gold, ask for Capital to further develop the same and put it upon a paying basis by the erection of suitable machinery, &c. Will sell an equal one-half interest for $50,000, the money so obtained to be placed in trust or otherwise secured to the purpose above mentioned. For full information, principals only address

WM. H. SPOONER,
Bristol, R. I.

FRAZER AXLE GREASE

BEST IN THE WORLD ☞ Get the Genuine. Sold Everywhere.

TO ADVERTISERS.—Lowest Rates for advertising in 1000 good newspapers sent free. Address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

Saving Institutions.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

WARREN

Five Cents Savings Bank

RUFUS H. BROWN, President.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treasurer.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Dividends are payable semi-annually, on the third Wednesday of May and November.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY

AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS

AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE

Arthur Elliott & Co.,

DEALERS IN

FRESH AND

SALT FISH.

Lobster and Fancy Fish in their seasons.

A share of public patronage solicited.

Caller Street,

PEABODY.

CROSS,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY.

64 MARKET STREET, LYNN

Express.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at 9 47 A. M
Freight " " at 5 00 P. M
Express " Boston at 3 30 P. M
Freight " " at 4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P.M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost s Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM. at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

Dr. F. G. Bates,

DENTIST,

218 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

OVER MERRILL & MACKINTIRE'S,

All Work Warranted.

mch 31—1y

$1

13 WEEKS.

The POLICE GAZETTE will be mailed, securely wrapped, to any address in the United States for 3 months on receipt of

ONE DOLLAR.

Liberal discount allowed to postmasters, agents and clubs. Sample copies mailed free. Address all orders to

RICHARD K. FOX,
FRANKLIN SQUARE, N. Y.

Bedding Plants

and Coleus.

Fine lot of Fushias and other Plants.

WARD'S GREENHOUSES

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM [!
Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM.

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY.

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counselor at Law,

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

PEABODY.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

EDWIN B. BALCOM,

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very best Tobacco in the market, we feel justified in saying he

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol Cuba brands

FOR A 5C SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one- The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO, 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.'

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

SHORTHAND Text-book and Instruction by mail to master it, given by the author of the system for $6. Most popular and easy method. Endorsed by 1000 graduates and professional stenographers. Book alone $1. D. L. Scott Browne, 23 Clinton Place, New York, N. Y.

GOOD SALARIES

or Commission to Men and Women to act as local or traveling Agents. No experience needed. Steady work! JAMES E. WHITNEY, Nurseryman, Rochester, N. Y. (Mention this paper.)

je 8—3m

INDIGESTION

To strengthen the stomach, create an appetite, and remove the horrible depression and despondency which result from Indigestion, there is nothing so effective as Ayer's Pills. These Pills contain no calomel or other poisonous drug, act directly on the digestive and assimilative organs, and restore health and strength to the entire system. T. P. Bonner, Chester, Pa., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the past 30 years and am satisfied I should not have been alive to-day, if it had not been for them. They me of Dyspepsia when all other remedies failed, and their occasional use has kept me in a healthy condition ever since." L. N. Smith, Utica, N. Y., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills, for Liver troubles and Indigestion, a good many years, and have always found them prompt and efficient in their action." Richard Norris, Lynn, Mass., writes: "After much suffering, I have been cured of Dyspepsia and Liver troubles

Cured

By Using

Ayer's Pills. They have done me more good than any other medicine I have ever taken." John Burdett, Troy, Iowa, writes: "For nearly two years my life was rendered miserable by the horrors of Dyspepsia. Medical treatment afforded me only temporary relief, and I became reduced in flesh, and very much debilitated. A friend of mine, who had been similarly afflicted, advised me to try Ayer's Pills. I did so, and with the happiest results. My food soon ceased to distress me, my appetite returned, and I became as strong and well as ever."

Ayer's Pills,

PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

For sale by all Druggists.

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,

ACCORDEONS

HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

ONE THOUSAND!

Of the good people of Salem and vicinity moved by a sense of the great importance of the New Discovery to the whole human family have reported at our office that

BATTIS'

Modified Extract

— OF —

Denicotized Tobacco

Has cured and will cure the following diseases:

RHUEMATISM, DIPTHERIA,
NEURALGIA, PNEUMONIA.
HEADACHE, COLIC and CRAMP,
DYSPEPSIA, CHOLERA MORBUS,
ERYSIPELAS, TOOTHACHE,
SPRAINS, BRUISES,
ROSE CANCER, SCARLET FEVER,
SORE EYES, BRIGHT'S DISEASE,
KIDNEY COMPL'TS SPINAL TROUBLE.

All of these it will cure and has cured, if human testimony is worth anything. Any information as to above will be cheerfully furnished.

J. H. BATTIS,

Sole Proprietor and Manufacturer,

23 & 30 Front St., Salem.

PRICE 75c. A BOTTLE.

apr 14—3m

HAY!
HAY!
HAY!

10 cars arrived to-day for sale cheap. Fancy White Middlings, Bran, Fine Feed, Oat Meal, Ground Oats, Cotton Seed Wheat, Screenings, Barley, Fancy le lip Barley, Oats, Mixed Oats, White Oats, Haxall and St. Louis Flour. Also other kind of feed for Horses and Cows in great variety. Please call and examine our stock and prices before buying elsewhere.

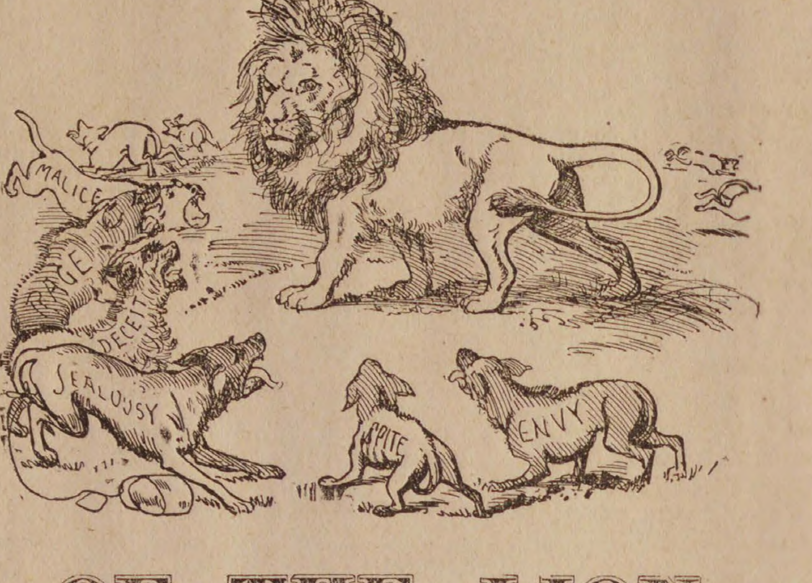
J. V. & J. HANSON

2 & 4 FRONT ST, SALEM,

ALSO AT

Peabody Square & Danvers Iron Works.

AWAKENING



OF THE LION.

When lions roar, so travellers say
All other beasts flee far away
And forth from every brake and dell
Is heard their feeble whine and yell.
But loud above and more and more
Is heard the lion's majestic roar.

So when Osborne's enterprise
Leads him to boldly advertise
The other dealer's feeble pipe is heard;
But no one by its note is stirred
And trade goes rushing by their doors
To fill with countless throngs his stores.

Merit is the Trade-Mark of Success.

Quality the True Test of Value.

Blood tells every time, and the extraordinary fact that we were able, in the face of great obstacles and with only ONE DAYS notice to the public of our removal, to pack our Munroe street store with customers upon its opening Saturday, speaks volumes for the firm grip we have upon the people's favor. We count it the greatest victory in our splendid series of successes. The only explanation of such a manifestation is that

Our Prices Unerringly Hit The Mark,

and the people keen on the scent of a good thing gravitate as naturally to our stores as the needle in the compass does to the magnetic pole. Our course before the public has been straightforward and the people have rendered their Verdict Of Approval.

in a way that there is no mistaking. The following are samples of the expressions that were heard at our opening Saturday night. "If Osborne should move to High Rock he would pull the trade with him." The trade will follow Osborne wherever he goes. A Munroe street dealer in another line of goods said: "We ought to clip in and each give Osborne $25 a year to stay on Munroe street. I have had more business to-day than for a long while. The above are genuine expressions and

Tell Unmistakably How The Current Sets.

We make no preposterous claims and when we say that we carry in either of our retail stores a stock larger by far than any other retail shoe store in the city, appearances in and about our stores

Do Not Give The Lie To Our Assertion

for each is packed from floor to ceiling with the visible proofs of what we claim. So also when we claim to sell at prices lower than the other dealers dare to dream of for the same grade of goods

The Cold, Hard Facts Are On Our Side

every time. For it must be patent even to the most obtuse mind that nothing but the most genuine inducements would draw to our stores such immense crowds year after year. The people are not caught with chaff, nor would it be possible for us to impose on their credulity for any length of time. WE DO NOT TRY IT. The people responded nobly to our call from our old store and we are determined that their confidence shall not be misplaced. We shall make our Temporary store on Munroe street, which we have engaged until Oct. 1st., and our West Lynn store

Centres Of Intense Interest,

And in order that there may be no let up nor any subsidence of the swelling tide we shall, from now until Oct, 1st., absolutely and without reserve, mark down, IN BOTH STORES, every pair of boots and shoes whose selling price has been 50 cts., and upwards. This is sweeping, and we pledge our word and honor upon its fulfillment. We have no desire to deceive, nor could we do so, as we have hundreds of customers who have traded with us from the year of our starting in business, and who know our prices as well as we know them ourselves. We Shall Offer A Legion Of Bargains.

in a sale Rich with the spoils of the finest stock of boots and shoes in the city, sacrificed because of inexorable necessity. We take no questional means to entrap the people into our stores, first, because it is not honest, and second because we stand preeminent among the Lynn dealers for SIZE VARIETY and QUALITY of stock and LOWEST OF PRICES. Therefore, while some try to imitate us and others ape, WE have no occasion to copy any, and we accept the implied compliment paid us by the dealer who took an underhand method to make the people think we had moved into his store thus hoping to trade upon our name and reputation for low prices to help him make a respectable showing at his opening.

"But it would not do
The scheme fell through."

And the few who may have been momentarily deceived were quickly undeceived when they saw the beggarly array of stock and the lonesome appearance of things generally, which would have been impossible at one of our sales. We would remind the aforesaid dealer that confidence is a plant of slow growth and needs careful attention. Nothing but correct methods and honest dealings will build up a successful business.

Driven from home and into the street
We told you we never would suffer defeat
The wave of misfortune backward was beat
By prices our rivals never could meet.

COME AND GET YOUR SHARE OF THE WEALTH OF BARGAINS.

AT OUR TWO RETAIL STORES,

38 Munroe St., 23 Market Square,

WELLMAN OSBORNE.

MEXICO AND HER WAYS.

WHAT ROSWELL P. FLOWER OBSERVED DURING A RECENT VISIT.

Advantages of the Mexican Pacific Road. Mining and Machinery—Country and Climate—Twenty Great Cities—How the Natives Work—Travel.

We ought to have Mexico for our neighbor and business friend, with perfected intercourse. The Mexican Pacific road gives us a wonderful opportunity to reach out into this country and develop it. Our people have no idea what it is. The great bulk of the people are still in as primitive a state as those along the Nile. You may see them in sandals, half-naked, bearing burdens on their heads, laboring in the old primitive ways of which we read. Why at Zacatecas there is a mine that has been operated for 250 years. It was bought by an English company and put in charge of a Gen. Howard. The finest mining machinery was bought and sent to him. He couldn't use it in competition with cheap native labor, and to-day the descendants of the Indians who opened the mine 250 years ago are carrying out the ore on their backs just as their ancestors did. They get twenty-five cents a day. Machinery can't compete with that.

FINE COUNTRY AND CLIMATE.

There are 700 miles of the Mexican Pacific road running through as fine a country as the world ever saw, at an elevation of about 7,000 feet above the sea. In these fields I saw twenty yoke of oxen hitched to a single one-pointed plow. You see donkeys on the streets with dressed mutton, lamb or beef hanging from the saddle, while the master peddles it out. The air is so dry that the meat does not spoil in it. They carry trunks around on their backs. At the most a two-wheeled donkey cart is used. A wagon man went down there to sell wagons, and could do nothing at all, until one day in the plaza he unhitched six pairs of mules from one of their carts, put them on a wagon and demonstrated that he could pull with the mules four times as much in a wagon as they had drawn in a cart. He sold 100 wagons right away.

They use litters for a great many burdens. You will see two men stuck between the handles of a litter in the City of Mexico, carrying a coffin and a dead man out beyond the limits. There they dig a hole in the ground about two and one-half feet deep, throw in the corpse, cover it up and return the coffin. A funeral costs about fifty cents. When the Mexican Pacific road was being built, those in charge gave the men shovels with long handles. They had been using shovels with handles about two feet long, which made them stoop down to the ground. They said the long shovels were no good, and proceeded to break off the handles and continue their back-breaking method. After a time they got accustomed to the shovels. Now here are a people among whom a wonderful trade can be developed. It only needs a commercial treaty to assure manufacturers that prices are to be steady to make Mexico a most valuable neighbor and ally.

TWENTY GREAT CITIES.

The cities are extremely populous. From El Paso to Mexico City there must be twenty great cities with populations ranging from 40,000 up to 120,000. Except in Mexico there is little or no civilization. In one of these cities I saw great camphene torches suspended at the street corners for lighting. In the City of Mexico you will find electric light, gas, telephones and everything of that kind. In the most of the cities you will find kerosene. If they could have the lamps and other articles which we manufacture at something like our rates it would make a wonderful market. A great many Germans and English have gone into Mexico recently and bought farming lands, which they are working with modern plows and machinery. They will soon force the natives to use the same implements and we might supply them all. We can get from them coffee, sugar, hides and many things that do not interfere with our own productions to any extent.

I was the traveling companion for a time of Senator Hearst and Joaquin Miller. They were down there to investigate the mining possibilities. Senator Hearst told me that, although Mexico was for many decades the principal source of the world's supply of silver and much of its gold, and although some of her rich mines have been worked for centuries, the richest mines have never been opened at all. They lie back in the country and have been wholly inaccessible. They require spurs of railroad to reach and develop them even now.

Travel there is unaccompanied by any danger. The railroad system will soon do for Mexico and the United States what the opening of railroads to Savannah, Atlanta and New Orleans did for the south. The railroad makes Mexico feel opor. A new railroad almost always impoverishes its projectors and the people along the line. Mexico has an income of $23,000,000 a year, with $30,000,000 of expenses. It is unable to meet the grants to the railroad. But I found President Diaz hopeful and sensible of the future. He sees that the railroad, by enabling him to mass troops anywhere in the country, has made revolutions impossible, and will give the country permanent peace, under which it will speedily thrive. The government feels so strongly on this point that a robber along the line of the road meets with severe punishment. This is making travel more secure every day.—New York Tribune Interview.

A Petrified "Boa Constrictor."

The interesting story now going the rounds of the press about the finding of a petrified boa constrictor of immense size near Piedmont, W. Va., is a hoax. It is true that a wonderful discovery has recently occurred near that place, but instead of its being a large snake it is a gigantic fern fossil of the carboniferous age—a sigillaria easily recognized by the seal-like impressions and unjointed stem. The seal impressions are probably what were taken for the scales of the snake. The fossil is slightly flattened, and is eighteen feet long and six inches in diameter.—Chicago Times.

Uniform System of Signals.

Efforts are being made to prepare a series of railroad signals which will be understood on any road in the country. As it is at present the code of one line often conflicts or differs from that of another road, so that if a trainman accepts a position on another road he has the whole code of signals to learn over again, and then he is in constant danger of confusing the two. This would all be done away with if a uniform system be adopted.

Criticising the Cloth.

The Rev. Leonard Bacon is quoted as saying that, at many of the idlest of summer resorts, there is no one profession so multitudinously represented as that of the men who are supposed to be officially burning with zeal for the rescue of a dying world, and that there is no smaller small talk talked and no lazier dawdling done by any than by them.—New York Sun.

Gone Back to Gas.

Mobile, Ala., has the distinction of being the only city of the world which, having tried the electric light for street lighting, has gone back to gas.

SALEM SHOE STORE,

78 ESSEX STREET SALEM,

Invite their Peabody customers to inspect their elegant line of

CANVASS AND LAWN TENNIS GOODS

At Reasonable Prices. We are the Salem agents of the celebrated

W.L.DOUGLAS'
$3.00
SHOE
WARRANTED
SILK STITCHED
GLOVE KID
ELASTIC WARRANTED
GLOVE KID
BEST TANNERY CALF
BOTTOM SEWED

Button Lace & Congress

HONEST GOODS at a small profit.

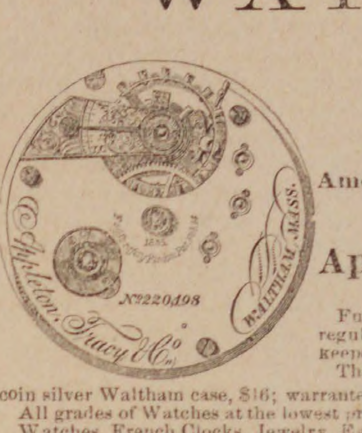
Our Men's and Children's Goods are made on the premises. Remember the number,

278 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

Opposite Packard's Furniture Store. T. A. CORSON, Agent.

mch 13—ly

WATCHES!



Appleton, Tracey & Co.
WALTHAM, MASS.
No 220498

BARGAINS

— IN —

American Watch Co., Waltham and Elgin Watches.

Appleton, Tracey & Co.,

Full Jeweled, adjusted, chronometer balance patent regulator and breguet hair spring. A very fine timekeeper, at a great reduction from regular prices.

The reliable P. S. BARTLETT WATCH, in a 3-oz. coin silver Waltham case, $16; warranted perfect in every respect.

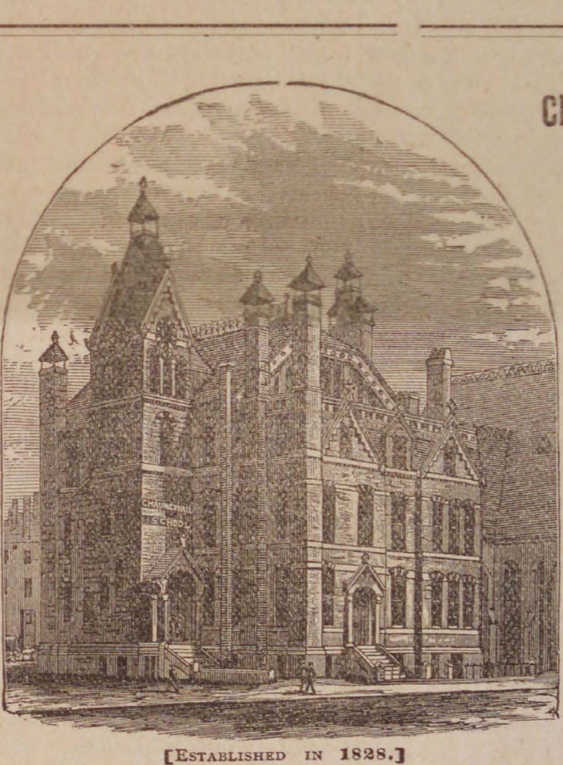
All grades of Watches at the lowest prices.

Watches, French Clocks, Jewelry, Eye Glasses, etc., repaired in prompt and superior manner. Especial attention given to cleaning and adjusting fine Watches.

Geo. A. Collins,

JEWELER,

26 MAIN STREET, PEABODY AND 193 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.



[ESTABLISHED IN 1828.]

Chauncy-Hall School.

PARENTS desiring for their boys and girls the personal attention of private schools and the discipline and varied associates of public schools, will find both combined here.

The New Catalogue gives a full account of the great Care for Health; the thorough preparation for College, for Business, and the Mass. Institute of Technology; the facilities for Special Students; and the unusual arrangements for Young Children.

Graduates of High Schools often take advantage of the opportunities offered by Chauncy Hall for elective studies, to do advanced work in languages or other branches. There is no more charge for several classes in any study than for one class.

The school building, Boylston Street, near Dartmouth, is in the most elegant part of Boston, and is easily accessible. Horse cars pass the door.

259 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

(Opposite the Art Museum)

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

— CREAM HOME MADE BREAD —

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich ride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamenta work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

COMER'S

Commercial College,

BOSTON, MASS.

Best Equipped and Most Successful in America

Re-opens Sept. 1, 1886, for the 46th Year.

The course of study is elective and embraces the following subjects: Book-keeping; Penmanship; Commercial Arithmetic; Law and Correspondence; Short-Hand; Type-Writing; the English Branches. Students may begin at any time, receive INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION, and progress according to ability. Separate department for ladies.

Graduates Aided to Employment.

PUBLIC SCHOOL GRADUATES take our course as a finishing off for their other school work, before going into business.

Our Special Three Months' Course

is taken by persons whose time and means are limited.

THE COLLEGE BULLETIN, (Illustrated) gives full particulars and will be mailed free upon application. For further particulars address or call upon

C. E. COMER, 666 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

All our work is guaranteed,

NOTICE OUR

REMOVAL.

P. Hartigan & Son,

HORSE SHOERS.

Have removed from the rear of Kinsman's Block to

184 BRIDGE ST.,

Nearly opp. St. Peter street, Salem.

OLD ESTABLISHED CONCERN,

P. Hartigan, Senior, has had 30 years' experience.

N. B. Personal attention given to Horses that interfere or over-reach.

☞ Treatment of CORNS and QUARTER CRACKS a specialty.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

EDITORS OF PEABODY PRESS:—A correspondent in a late issue spoke of the W. C. T. U. meetings at Asbury Grove, during Camp Meeting week as a failure. This is a mistake. The undertaking to present our work there was most fruitful. From all points in Essex County, and beyond, comes the assurance that it was a success, and those who planned the meetings are being made aware that a great interest in the W. C. T. U., work was aroused. I want to correct this mistake for the sake of the truth, and because I believe Rev. Mr. Phinney, Mr. Drown, and the other good people of our M. E. Church have won the grateful thanks of the W. C. T. U. by being so ready to allow our flag and name to be represented on their tent and to kindly acquiesce in all our plans. Personally I made a mistake in not asking permission of the Association for these meetings, thus securing a larger interest in what was most certainly an innovation, and preventing the current idea that we intended to over-ride the management of the camp meeting. This mistake was entirely a fault of thoughtlessness and did not occur from any disposition to antagonize. The women heartily interested in this reform are the busy ones who have not the leisure for all the considerate courtesies that make up the amenities of life, but they fully intend to win their way, and present their work, by the grace of persuasion.

The meetings were so signal a success that many hearts and heads are planning for their recurrence next year. MARY O. STEVENS.

Peabody, Aug. 30.

MESSRS. EDITORS: — The responsibility for the present deplorable state of business in this town has been placed upon the manufacturers, upon the Knights of Labor as an organized body, kings of South street, Boston, upon the Shoe manufacturers in different parts of the state and upon various men individually in town and out. Where the responsibility belongs is not for me to say, but do those who are responsible realize the full weight of the responsibility and the continual harm to this town and people.

This town is called upon to support an extra day and night police.

Who is responsible?

Extra sessions of the town government are obliged to be held at an expense of $15 a day.

Who is responsible?

There are store keepers who are obliged to furnish supplies to men who have been their customers while they were at work who will be permanently ruined, unless this trouble is soon ended.

Who is responsible?

There are farmers who are dependent upon the product of their small farms which is peddled from house to house, and unless the shops soon start will never receive a cent for their season's work.

Who is responsible?

There are small manufacturers who have placed all they were worth in a little business in hopes to realize a good living in the future. Expenses are eating up their capital.

Who is responsible?

There are large manufacturers who have paid their men fair wages in the past and who are dependent on the product of this labor to meet outstanding obligations, which will in time send them to the wall unless they are paid.

Who is responsible?

There are families who have been adding to their small amount in the Savings Bank, that will be forced to take it to live upon unless they can soon be earning wages.

Who is responsible?

And so I might go on and picture greater and graver responsibilities, but, isn't this enough for all to consider, and isn't it better for all to study a means of settlement rather than to assume the responsibility for its continuance? A LOOKER ON.

MESSRS. EDITORS: — I was much pleased in reading the communication from "Veteran" concerning the Lovering pension bill, and my own opinion of the Encampment agrees with his, but I never saw it stated so clearly before. But to go back to the Lovering bill, I should like to call his attention to an article which appeared in the New York Sun a short time ago and ask him if it is true, believing he has given the subject more attention than I have. It says:—

"Mr. Lovering estimates that his bill would put upon the pay rolls 600,000 more pensions at a cost of $58,000,000, besides increasing present pensions of a less amount than eight dollars at a cost of $8,000,000. The statutes of the pension office however, show that the number of soldiers now living, exclusive of those who have already applied for pensions is about 1,000,000 instead of 600,000, so that the cost of pensioning them at $96 a year would be $96,000,000. There are also 75,000 filed applications of soldiers for pensions which were not decided upon at the time of these statistics of the pensionable population and they would add over $7,000,000 to the annual cost of the Lovering bill, supposing them to derive their rights to pensions under that bill. Add the several millions for the increase of all pensions under eight dollars to this amount and it is clear that the Lovering bill might add nearly $110,000,000 a year to the pension burden."

The Sun further insinuates that "this raid on the treasury" is being pushed by the claim agents and that their agitation of it will go on in spite of the frowning of the soldiers who fought for the Union.

Now, Mr. Veteran, will you kindly inform me where the Sun gets its formidable array of figures, and just what the friends of the bill propose.

ONE OF THEM.

A VACATION TRIP.

No doubt many of your readers are contemplating a vacation, and are undecided where it shall be spent. Some choose the quiet of the country, while others prefer recreation at the seashore. To those who desire a spot where a happy blending of the two may be found, the thriving city of Belfast, Maine, offers unsurpassed attractions. One may take the train at Salem, and after a pleasant ride of about nine hours over the Boston & Maine and Maine Central railroads arrive in Belfast; or taking one of the steamers of the Bangor line the trip may be made entirely by water. Starting from Boston at 5 P. M. by this route, one has a good opportunity to view the harbor and Massachusetts coast. After the coast has disappeared from sight in darkness, he may retire to his stateroom and "rocked in the cradle of the deep" and lulled to rest by the myriad voices of ceaseless waves, forget himself in peaceful slumber, conscious nevertheless that stout hearts and vigilant eyes are ever on the alert for his safety.

Arising in the early morning he may see old Sol, as he apparently arises from his watery couch, and ushers in the light of day. After touching at Rockland and other immediate points, Belfast is reached about 9 A. M. The city is pleasantly situated on Penobscot bay, commanding an extensive and beautiful view of this entire body. Ship building is the principal industry, but here, as elsewhere, is not at present so extensively carried on as in former years. During our stay we had the good fortune to witness the launching of a three masted brigantine from the yard of Capt. Geo. W. Cottrell. Owing to delay in the arrival of the tug-boat, the launch did not occur until 11 P. M. A launching at this novel hour attracted to the spot a large gathering of the townspeople, and, not to be outdone, the full moon came from her hiding place, and shedding her effulgent light upon the scene added much to its beauty and proved a pleasant companion to all. As we watched for the great hull to move and listened to the quick strokes of the hammer, making rhythmic music all the while, there came vividly to our mind the beautiful words of Longfellow in the "Launching of the Ship."

Then the master, with a gesture of command,
Waved his hand; and at his word,
Loud and sudden there was heard,
All around them and below,
The sound of hammers, blow on blow,
Knocking away the shores and spurs.

And see! she stirs!
She starts—she moves—and seems to feel
The thrill of life along her keel;
And spurning with her foot the ground,
With one exulting joyous bound,
She leaps into the ocean's arms.

The streets of Belfast are wide and clean, well ornamented with beautiful shade trees, elms predominating. One cannot fail to notice the uniform neatness and attractive appearance of the dwellings, unmistakable signs of prosperity and thrift. Although having suffered several times from disastrous conflagrations, yet, Phœnix like, she has arisen from her ashes, and the large business blocks and public buildings are a credit to her industry and perseverance. Being the county sea of Waldo county, the court house and jail are located here. There is also a fine government building used both as a custom house and post office. Increasing business has necessitated an enlargement, and Congress has appropriated money for that purpose. This city has as yet failed to adopt the standard time and consents to be considered "behind the times" in this respect, knowing well that she is thirty minutes ahead of her sister cities of the East. However she may stand in the matter of time, she certainly is not behind in her support of a base ball team, in which she justly takes pride. Games are well patronized, (the fair sex manifesting unusual interest,) especially those with the Bangors, great rivalry existing between these two clubs. Accommodations for boarders are excellent, there being three good hotels and many first class private boarding houses.

Space and time forbid the mention of the many rare attractions offered the visitor to this city, but if any of your readers are in search of boating, bathing and fishing, fine walks and pleasant drives, charming country scenery and pure air, combined in an unusual degree with the bustle of a well regulated city, let them visit Belfast.

Everyone Knows the Child.

Says Eli Perkins in the Washington Post: On the New York Central train bound for the "States," at Saratoga, was a beautiful but careworn woman with a spoiled child. The lovely mother had spoiled the child herself. It caused the misery of the nurse, the careworn look of its mother and the profanity of the passengers. It was truly an enfant terrible. After using up the nurse, the fashionable but careworn mother put down her Skye-terrier and took the child in her lap. Then the following dialogue ensued:

"Ma, put up 'is window!"

"No, dear; it's too cold."

"Ma, I want 'is window up."

"Now, lovey, 'oo don't want it up."

"Yes, me doo too! Put it up, Isa!"

"Now, mamma's pretty little darling don't want to catch cold."

"Me don't tare for told, me want 'is up!"

Then the child seemed to go all to pieces, like a biting parrot. The seat looked as if it were occupied by a buzz-saw or a fanning-mill. As the noise wore down a little I heard the mother cooing and saying soothingly as she raised the window:

"There, mamma's darling, itty sweety, it sal have the window up—so it sal—there—there—"

"Me don't want it up!" cried the child, after it had taken in the situation. "Me want it down!"

"No, sweety, mamma's pet said it wanted it up, and—"

"No, me wants it down. Me—"

"O, you sweet sugar soul," said the loving mother, folding the little boy to her breast, while the tears rolled down her cheeks.

"No, me ain't!"

"Yes, precious one."

"Naw!" and then the boy-objector, the infant Holman, resolved itself into a buzz-saw and wind-mill again, while it stamped its feet till clouds of dust rolled out of the cushions."

"Now, darling, don't do so."

"Es me will!"

Then all the passengers could hear was the mother saying:

"Now mamma's sweet pet shouldn't do so. Dear little dumpling, just wait till it gets to Saratoga and it shall have all the window's down in the hotel."

The baby didn't finally stop at the "States," but became the general manager of a cottage a mile from Saratoga.

A Judge Who Loved A Joke.

The following reminiscence is told of the one-time celebrated Chief Justice Parsons of Boston. When Judge Parsons was on the bench, a case was called before the noon recess, and the court adjourned till 2 p. m. At the appointed hour the court came in, and the foreman of the jury informed "His Honor" that only eleven jurors were present. Parsons was the most punctual of men himself, had little charity for delinquents, and he fidgeted around, dipping his pen into the inkstand and catching flies. About fifteen minutes past 2 the tardy twelfth man arrived. Parsons, who was a firm but mild-mannered man, told the juror to stand up. "What excuse have you to offer, sir, for being late—for keeping the court, clerk and attorneys waiting?"

"May it please your Honor," said the delinquent, "I went home, ate my dinner, and then sat down in the rocking-chair and fell asleep. I did not awake until fifteen minutes ago, and I ran all the way to the court house. I am very sorry, sir, I assure you."

"Sir," said Judge Parsons, "I cannot accept your excuse. I shall fine you ten dollars." "I did not dream of that," said the juror, with an expression of loss in his countenance. "Mr. Clerk," said the judge, "you will remit the fine," and then with a merry twinkle in his eye, he ordered counsel to proceed with the case. Parsons dearly loved a joke.

Bridging the Bloody Chasm.

While we were tramping over the battlefields around Marietta, Ga., the young man from Connecticut grew sweet on the pretty daughter of the widow with whom we boarded. It was love at first sight and they went in heavy. Our guide had been an old red soldier, and when he saw how things were going winked the girl to a seat on the wash-stand behind the house and said:

"Now, Lucy, this 'ere orter stop."

"What 'ere?"

"In love with that feller?"

"Hain't I a right?"

"No, gal. Me'n your old father served in the ranks together. We fit again them Yanks together, and together we cum home calkerlatin' to hate 'em as long as we lived. 'Twouldn't be right fur you to go back on your dad that way."

"Jim Skuee," she replied, "mebbe ye never heard nuthin' 'bout bridgin' the bloody chasm and shakin' hands across the last ditch. I know pap was a fighter, but after he'd been home a year or two 'long came a Yank one day looking for land. He had a bottle o' whiskey, and he and pap sat down on this very bench and fit them old fights over until both got drunk and fell in a heap. When they woke up they began to shake and bridge, and they kept it up till the Yank hurrahed for General Lee and pap hollored for General Grant. Now you shut! If you don't want to bridge you can stub around with your nose stuck up and your knees out to the weather, but don't you go to interferin' with me! Dad bridged, mam's bridged, and I'm going to climb out of the last ditch and hustle for a Yankee husband!"

Cuticura soap, 14 cts. per cake, at Peabody's.

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Miss Hill of the Wallis school has had a call to teach in Somerville.

John Dorgan, a resident of Spring street, will take a trip to Ireland.

A generous sized list of uncalled for tax bills is posted at the post office.

L. & G. H. Poor have put in a 16 foot lathe and will do their own repairing.

A black snake, four feet and a half long, was found frozen to death in the ice house in So. Peabody Monday.

The B. & M. Railroad will replace their old covering at the depot with new ones and put in a concrete walk.

Read W. G. Webber & Co's. announcement this week. It will be a great day at this store to-day and all the week.

Mrs. Norah Keefe, an aged inmate of the Alms House, died yesterday at the age of 80 years. She leaves two daughters.

The Peabody Dramatic Club will shortly go on the road and produce the "Long Strike." Dates have already been written for.

A very brilliant meteor was noticed in the northern sky last Monday night. Its colors changed very quickly, making a handsome sight.

Hemenway & Caller, curriers on Spring street, started up with their old help Monday, but R. S. D. Simmonds on whom they depended for power, refused to furnish it.

Among the officers of the Essex County Catholic Temperance Association chosen yesterday were Charles J. Houghton, 1st Vice President, and D. J. O'Connor, District Deputy and Recording Secretary, both from this town.

In the police court Tuesday morning, John O'Shea paid costs for assaulting John Calnan, amounting to $4.33. O'Shea had previously sworn out a complaint against Calnan for selling him a glass of liquor, and he was fined $50. and costs. Edward Fitzpatrick, for being drunk, paid $1. and costs.

A surprise party took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Flannagan. The occasion was suggested by the birthday of Mrs. Flannagan and a large number of friends were present. Among other presents received by the hostess was a superb hanging lamp from her sister.

A car load of the drivers and conductors on the Lynn horse railroad, with a four horse car, passed through town yesterday on their way to Danvers and the Lafayette House, Salem. On the rear of the car was a large placard "West Lynn Beavers." They all had on linen dusters and tall white hats.

Those who have fallen into the habit of having crackers set in the oven for a few minutes before they are brought to the table can testify to the difference between the crisp appetizers they become by this process and the tough tastelessness of cold ones. It is by such inexpensive variations of homely fare that the wise housewife increases the attractiveness without adding to the expense of her table.

Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, whose reputation as a speaker and lecturer is more than national, will deliver a free lecture in the Peabody Institute, Thursday, Sept. 16th, on Woman Suffrage. Mrs. Livermore has just finished a brilliant series of addresses at the summer watering-places, at which her audiences have numbered as high as six thousand people. No one should fail to hear this justly celebrated woman, on the subject on which she has spoken with the greatest success. Mr. A. E. Wells will introduce the speaker.

Marriages.

In Danvers, Aug., 25, by Rev. C. A. Merrill, Mr. Frederick W. Mangold to Miss Mary Withey; 26th, Mr. Willis A. Barker of Antrim, N. H., to Miss Hattie C. Blake of D.

In Marblehead, Sept. 1. by Rev. F. T. Pomeroy, Mr. John H. Witham to Miss Rebecca R. Dinsmore.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Sept. 3, Catharine, daughter of Maurice and Mary Flynn, 7 mos, 3 days, John Dalton, 50 yrs., 5 mos.

In Danvers, Aug. 29, Marion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Webb, 3 yrs., 8mos.

In Salem, Sept. 2, Mr. Benjamin B. Ruee. 58 yrs., 3 mos., 18 days. 5ht., Mrs. Lydia wife of Mr. George C. Clark, 71 years.

In Reading, Sept. 5th, John A. Emmerson, Age 64 years 5 months.

ELASTIC BRAIDS.

Plain Silk Elastic Braids in Red, Blue and White, also on Fancy figures, black elastic braids and cords, Hat Elastics, Garter Elastics and made up garters at PEABODY'S.

A CHICKERING,
WOODWARD & BROWN.
— OR —
EMERSON PIANO
Will suit you. Call at
245 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Before purchasing.
I sell for cash or on Instalments.
Everything in the music line.
E. V. EMILIO,
245 ESSEX ST.,
SALEM.

EVERY YOUNG MAN

Should have such a knowledge of the requirements of business as may be obtained at the

BURDETT Business COLLEGE

Removed to
592 WASHINGTON STREET,
Cor. Hayward Place,
BOSTON.

Owing to the unprecedented increase of the College patronage, central, commodious, light and elegant apartments have been secured at FIVE NINE-TWO WASHINGTON ST., cor. Hayward Place, a few doors above R. H. White & Co.'s, on same side of street.

Students can commence an and after Monday, Sept. 6. Prospectus mailed free. Principals may be seen at the College daily, between 9 and 4. Unequalled facilities for procuring situations for Students.

C. A. & F. H. BURDETT, Principals.
aug 11—8t

OLD MAGAZINES
WANTED.

Will take old Harper's, Scribner's, St. Nicholas or Century Magazines of any date whatever in exchange for Book Binding, Card Albums or Cash.

H. A. BROOKS,
BOOK BINDER,
224 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

WM. M. HILL.
AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE
BROKER & APPRAISER.
SALEM,
Offers for Sale at reasonable
THE SAUNDERS' ESTATE
MAIN ST., PEABODY.

M. N. BLACK,
Saratoga Waves made to order, a specialty, also old pieces redressed to look as well as new.
80 MARKET ST,. LYNN.
je 30—3m

FOR SALE.

The Tanyard belonging to the Estate of Abel Story, situated at Essex Falls, near Railroad. Plenty of Water. A Rare chance.
Apply to B. F. RAYMOND,
ESSEX, MASS.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,
SALEM, MASS.

EXAMINATION of Candidates for admission on TUESDAY, September 7. Tuition and text books free. Pecuniary aid to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to
D. B. HAGAR, Principal.
jy 26—3w

KILN DRIED WHITE MEAL.—Received to-day from mill, another car of kiln dried white meal, which is giving great satisfaction to all who use it, bringing us renewed orders. We can make a low price for ton lots from car much lower than on yellow meal.
CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
aug 18 41 to 47 Central St.

OLD OATS.—We have a full assortment of all grades of last years' crop of Oats, which being thoroughly seasoned, are for safer feed for horses than the crop just harvested. We invite your examination and early orders.
CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
aug 17 41 to 47 Central St.

CHAPTER 317, ACTS OF 1886.

An Act in Relation to the Inspection and Sale of Imitation Butter,

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:—

SECTION 1. Section seventeen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is hereby amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oil or grease not produced from milk or cream, shall have the words,—imitation butter,—or if such substitute is the compound known as—oleomargarine,—then the word—oleomargarine,—or if it is known as—butterine,—then the word—butterine,—stamped, labelled or marked in a straight line in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length, so that said words cannot be easily defaced, upon the top, side and bottom of every tub, firkin, box or package containing any of said article, substance or compound. The said stamp, label or mark shall contain no other words. And whoever, by himself or his agents, exposes or offers for sale any of the said article, substance or compound, not in the original package, shall attach to the said article, substance or compound, in a conspicuous place, a label bearing the words,—imitation butter—oleomargarine,—or—butterine, as the article may be, in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length. And in case of retail sales of any of said article, substance or compound not in the original packages, the seller shall, by himself or his agents, attach to each package so sold, and shall deliver therewith to the purchaser, a label or wrapper bearing in a conspicuous place upon the outside of the package the words,—imitation butter,—oleomargarine,—or butterine,—and no other words, in printed letters in a straight line of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length.

SECT. 2. Section nineteen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound made in imitation or semblance or butter or cheese, or a substitute for butter or cheese, except as provided in the two preceding sections, and whoever, with intent to deceive, defaces, or erases, cancels or removes any mark, stamp, brand, label or wrapper provided for in said sections, or in any manner shall falsely label, stamp or mark any box, tub, article or package marked, stamped or labelled as aforesaid, shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 3. Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter, or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oils or grease not produced from milk or cream, contained in any box, tub, article or package, marked or labelled with the word—dairy,—or the word—creamery,—shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 4. Every person who conveys any imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine in carriages or otherwise, for the purpose of selling the same in any city or town, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, be licensed by the inspector or inspectors of milk of such city or town to sell the same within the limits thereof, and shall pay to such inspector or inspectors fifty cents to the use of the city or town. The inspector or inspectors shall pay over monthly to the treasurer of such city or town all sums collected by him or them. In towns in which there is no inspector of milk, licenses shall be issued by the town clerk. Licenses shall be issued only in the names of the owners of the carriages or other vehicles, and shall, for the purposes of this chapter, be conclusive evidence of ownership. No license shall be sold, assigned or transferred Each license shall record the name, residence, place of business, number of carriage or other vehicles used, the name and residence of every driver or other person engaged in carrying or selling imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine, and the number of the license. Each licensee shall, before engaging in the sale of any of the articles as aforesaid, cause his name, the number of his license and his place of business to be legibly placed on each outer side of all carriages or vehicles used by him in the conveyance of the articles aforesaid, in Gothic letters not less than one inch in length, and he shall report to the inspector or inspectors any change of driver or other person employed by him which may occur during the term of his license. Whoever, without being first licensed under the provisions of this section, sells any of the articles as aforesaid, or exposes or offers them for sale from carriages or other vehicles, or has them in his custody or possession with intent to sell, and whoever violates any of the provisions of this section shall, for a first offence, be punished by a fine of not less than thirty nor more than one hundred dollars; for a second offence, by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars.

SECT. 5. Every person before selling or offering for sale any of the said articles in a store, booth, stand or market-place in a city or in a town in which an inspector or inspectors of milk are appointed, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually, on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, register in the books of such inspector or inspectors, or, if there be no inspector, then in the books of the town clerk, and shall pay to him or them fifty cents to the use of such city or town; and whoever neglects to so register shall be so punished for each offence by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars.

SECT. 9. This act shall take effect upon its passage. [APPROVED JUNE 23, 1886.]

THOMAS W. PEASLEY,
Inspector of Milk.

Peabody, August 6, 1886.

COLLINS BROS.,
DEALERS IN COAL, WOOD & BARK.
OFFICES:
248 Bridge Street,
— AND —
72 Noth Street.
SALEM.
Stove, Chestnut, Egg and Broken Coals at the Lowest Market Prices.
☞ All orders promptly attended to.
je 30—3m

J. H. ALLEN,
UNDERTAKER,
Removed to St. Peter street, Salem

Business Chance!
DANE BROTHERS,
(Successors to J. H. Trofatter.)
Horse & Carriage Exchange
101 Boston St., Salem.
Large stock of new and second-hand carriages for sale or exchange. Also horses, for sale or exchange.
je 8—6m

EDWARD P. MOULTON,
PLUMBING,
Water & Gas Fitting
Of every description. Ventilation of Closets, and Drainage a specialty.
All orders promptly attended to. First-class work and satisfaction guaranteed.
28 Norman Street,
SALEM.
je 8—4m

HOLLY TREE INN.
The Best Materials only are used in the preparation of Appetising Food,
AT THE
POPULAR HOLLY TREE DINING ROOMS,
9 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.
may 19—4m

M. MORIARTY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Soda, Ginger Ale and Tonic Beers.
Bottler of Cider, Lager Beer, Philadelphia Stock Ale and Porter.
Corner Market Sq. and Front St.
SALEM, MASS.

HORSES!
Arrived Friday, April 30th.
42 HORSES! 42
TWO CAR LOADS OF
HORSES
Purchased by Mr. Abbott for our trade,
NOW READY FOR SALE AT OUR
Sale Stable 52 Charter Street.
Abbott & Reynolds.

EXCURSION
TICKETS
For the whole system of Railways in the White and Green Mountains
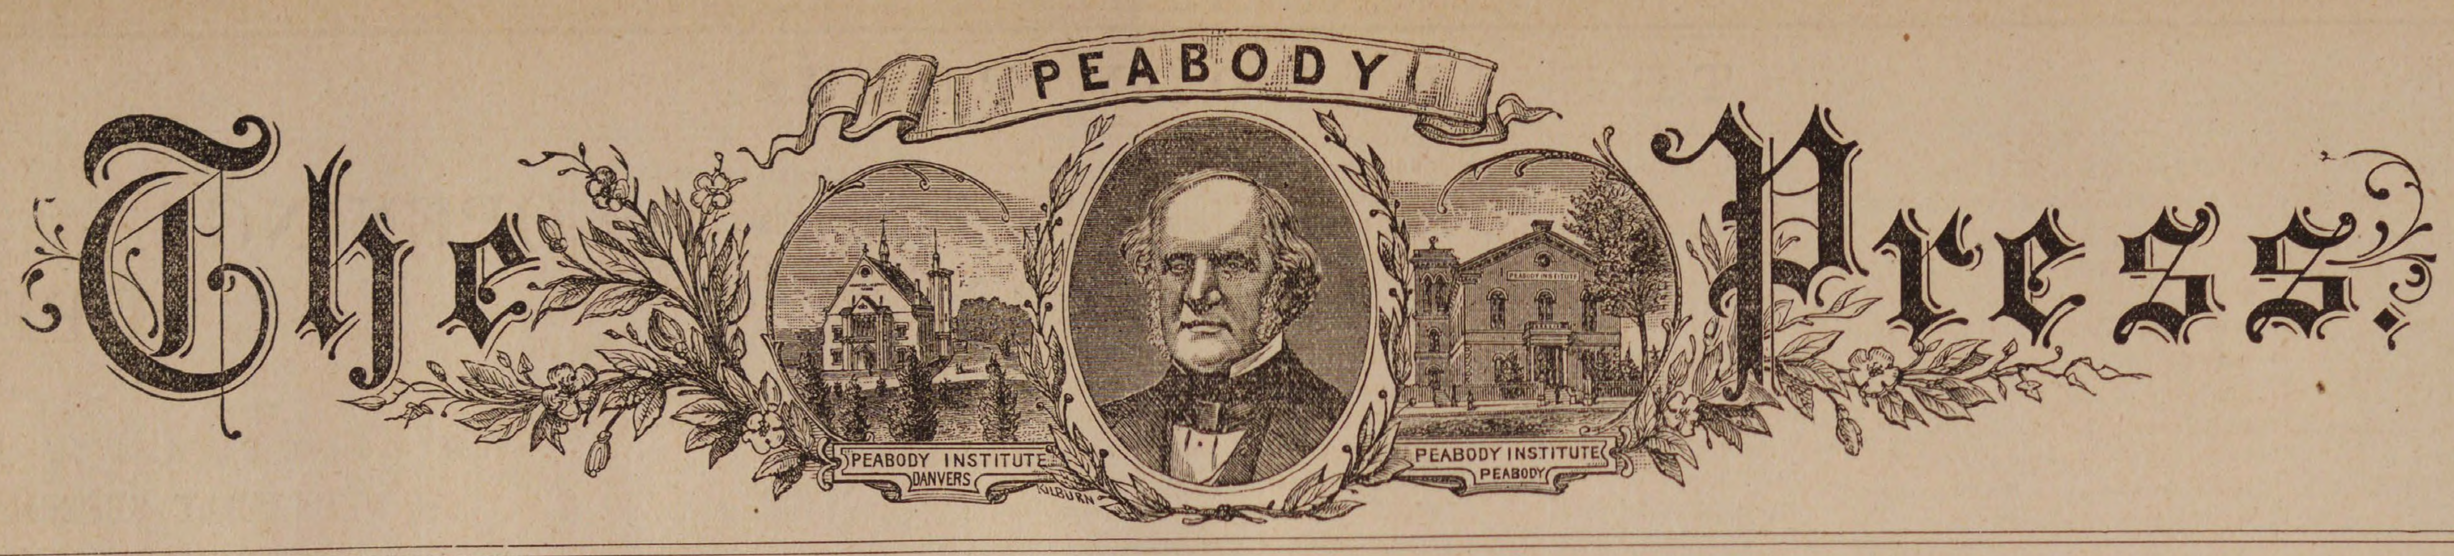
— SOLD BY —
D. P. GROSVENOR,
35 Main Street.
Authorized Agent for Peabody, Mass.
july 28—5w

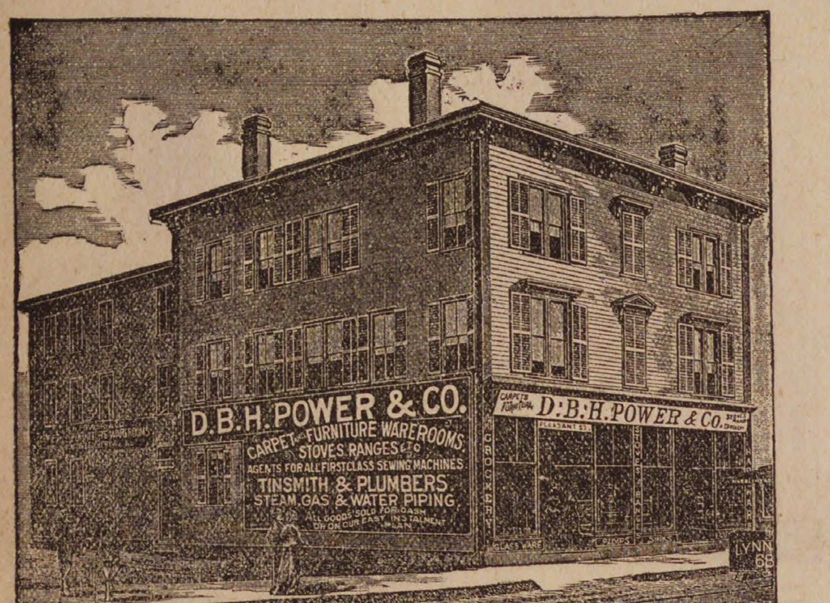
D. P. GROSVENOR.
PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST,
Compounder of
Physicians Prescriptions
and dealer in
RELIABLE DRUGS.
35 MAIN STREET
PEABODY, MASS.

Sagamore House,
133 UNION ST., LYNN
(NEAR CENTRAL DEPOT.)
Special Rates to Commercial and Professional Travelers.
Renovated and Refurnished.
J. M. Batchelder & co., Props.
je 9—1y

W. S. OSBORNE,
TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER
Home, 96 Central St., Peabody.
Second Door west of Hay Scales.



VOL. 27 PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING. SEPTEMBER 15, 1886. NO. 35



D.B.H. POWER & CO.
CARPET & FURNITURE WAREROOMS
STOVES RANGES &c.
AGENTS FOR ALL FIRST CLASS SEWING MACHINES
TINSMITH & PLUMBERS
STEAM, GAS & WATER PIPING
D.B.H. POWER & Co.

GRAND OPENING.

The extensive additions to our buildings are now completed. Our new fall stock has arrived and we most heartily invite the citizens of Essex County to call and inspect the Largest House Furnishing Store in New England, 32,700 square feet of floor room, all under one roof, with the largest and most Extensive Stock of House Furnishing goods ever seen in any one store. It is a museum worthy of inspection. You will be kindly received and shown all over our immense establishment by our clerks, whether you intend to purchase or not.

We have OIL CLOTHS all prices, styles and widths. INGRAIN, TAPESTRY and BRUSSELS CARPETS. RUGS, STRAW MATTING, STAIR CARPET, BORDERS, etc. We have the most elegant display of these goods ever seen, and our Carpet room is the model of perfection.

Furniture, Bedding, Stoves, Ranges, Tin and Wooden Ware, Hardware, Etc.

Remember we manufacture our own STOVES and we warrant every one that we sell. We deliver and set up our Stoves ready for a fire without extra charge. Carpets made and put down. All goods delivered free. We guarantee our prices the lowest and our terms the easiest. Goods sold for cash or on our own and original instalment plan, $1.00 down and $1.00 a week. We lead and others follow.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

123 & 125 PLEASANT, & 24 SCHOOL ST.,

MARBLEHEAD.

293 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

All Horse and Steam Cars stop at our Doors.

MASON'S

FRUIT JARS,

600 dozen,

— AT —

W. F. PERRY'S,

87 WASHINGTON STREET,

SALEM.

69—3m

PIANOS

Behning Pianos,
Harrington Pianos,
— AT —
A. M. CRAIN'S
PIANO PARLORS,
52 Market St.,
LYNN.

ORGANS

Any make of Piano or Organ furnished to order.

je30—1y

PEABODY

LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STAIRS.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET,

Is the place to buy your

OYSTERS,

opened fresh every day at 30 and 40 cents per quart, also a nice line of Fancy Oysters at 75 cents per quart.

Ocean, Lake and River Fresh Fish,
LOBSTERS and CLAMS
IN THEIR SEASONS.

No. 6 Peabody Square.

R. F. DODGE, - Proprietor.

SUIT DEPARTMENT.

Ladies' Small Mantles.

The balance to be sold at 50 cts., 75 cts. and $1,

Children's Suits, Sizes 2 to 12 yrs,

Prices, 50 cts., 75 cts. and $1.00 up.

The balance of the Conrad Stock to be sold this week regardless of cost.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

HAMMERED BRASS TRAYS,

32 cts.; usually sold for 60 cts.

A lot of Gentlemen's all linen HEMSTITCHED PRINTED BORDERED HDKFS., 13 cts.; would be cheap at 25c.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

24.

M. N. BLACK,

Combings made into Switches and Montagues. All work warranted.

80 MARKET ST. LYNN.

je 30—3m

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

Hogs are ripening!

Potatoes are small!

Our town is very quiet!

Hay fever is still with us!

Melons appear to be plenty!

It's good vacation weather yet!

Don't you believe all you hear!

The beach season is winding up!

The "sere and yellow leaf," will—

About time to shoot that straw hat!

Farmers are boasting of big vegetables.

It is time to slip your plants for the house.

Get your pickles of Hallowell & Smiley.

Drummers in all styles are in town this week.

Don't delay too long in paying your tax bill.

Cider mills are beginning to run on full time.

The Salem News aims to be a humorous paper.

A good frost would spoil lots of handsome lawns.

The hills are red with the fruit of the barberry bush.

Do your trading at Nugent's new shoe store, Foster street.

Communion services were held at the churches, Sunday.

There is some talk of a board of trade. Start it, gentlemen.

The best place to buy porcelain kettles is at Morrison & Trask's.

Rev. F. W. Sprague preached at the Danvers Asylum last Sunday.

Keep the dust off the leaves if you want your house plants to thrive.

Mr. Calvin Osborne is improving his currying shop, in numerous ways.

Ladies' house boots only 75 cents at Nugent's shoe store, Foster street.

Next year the Massachusetts firemen's association meets at Taunton.

Caucuses will be held late this year to correspond with the conventions.

Mason's improved fruit jars and extra rubbers at Morrison & Trask's.

The annual Salisbury beach gathering takes place to-day and to-morrow.

F. Osborne, Jr., & Co. are having a new whitening machine built for their factory.

The gypsies have "folded their tents like the Arabs," and silently stole away.

Mr. Timothy Desmond has opened a new grocery store on Washington street.

The schools have now been running a week, and education's wheels revolve without friction.

Subscriptions to the PRESS are always in order. Eight have been received this week.

The Essex County G. A. R. have voted to hold a union basket picnic at Centennial Grove.

Rev. W. Spaulding addressed a large meeting of the Knights of Labor at Danvers last night.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

A shaving machine for green hides is being introduced in town. Great claims are made for it.

Farmers are invited to exhibit their produce at the coming fair of the West Peabody farmer's club.

Mr. Albert Trask has raised his house on Central street about two feet and made other improvements.

Mr. H. C. Torr is still running his tannery on Foster street with his old hands. There is no circular.

The town is setting edge stones in front of W. H. Heath's tin shop and Donnell & Son's grocery store.

Mr. Geo. Clerk has closed his morocco factory on Foster street for a short time, owing to a lack of stock.

Mr. W. T. Dole has placed a granite stepping stone in front of his residence on Washington street.

Edward Ware, son of Jas. Ware, was badly bitten by a dog yesterday while at play on Endicott street.

The farmers are freely bringing to market apples, pears, tomatoes, green corn, beans, pickling cucumbers, cabbages and other farm and garden products.

R. C. Richardson, clerk at S. Donnell & Sons grocery, is the happy father of a little girl, born last Saturday.

Our genial town undertaker and chairman of the Board of Health of this town tips the scales at just 229 pounds.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town—Nothing like it, Principee. Clarks Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo Stevens' *

E. C. Larrabee and Sumner Southwick have been making a fine exhibition of vegetables and fruit at Warren Trask's market.

The autumnal equinox occurs on the 22d at 10 o'clock in the evening, and day and night will be of equal length all over the globe.

Mr. John Slater, of New York, a test medium, gave a private sitting at the residence of one of our citizens last Friday evening.

In the death of James O'Toole of this town his parents will receive $1000 from the C. O. of Foresters of which he was a member.

Thos. E. Proctor, Webster & Co. and Jacob C. Rogers, have each contributed $100 toward the Boston fund for the Charleston sufferers.

Mr. John F. Morland assisted at the post office, last Thursday, while postmaster Ward paraded with the eighth regiment in Salem.

If September's present warm spell continues, the month, in point of heat will out rank August, whose many cool days were notable.

Mr. W. R. Armstrong has gone to Bangor, Me. He will enter the employ of Mr. Thomas I. Noyes, who is manufacturing glove kid.

An eel nearly six feet long was taken from a vat in the rear of L. B. Southwick's factory last Friday, and afterwards escaped to the brook.

Mr. John A. Enos advertises in the Boston Globe for a business man to straighten out his accounts, offering to pay $100 for a month's work.

One of the non-union men at F. Osborne Jr. & Co's. factory, was for eleven years chairman of the board of selectmen, at Conway, N. H.

Mr. James H. Buxton has a hatchet handle made by himself years ago which has been used so much that the form of his hand has worn into it.

The residents of Central street are complaining of fruit thieves, and if the depredations do not cease they talk of instituting a vigilance committee.

An eight year old boy named Chas. Barnstead was knocked down by a horse car last Monday and had a narrow escape from being run over.

The harvest moon was full Monday night, and during the succeeding four evenings the average difference in the time of rising is only 32 minutes.

The room recently vacated by James Howley over Warren Trask's store will be occupied as a harness shop by Mr. N. R. Richards of Augusta, Me.

If you want a neat appearing and solid wearing school boot buy the N. Y. Grain Button, B C D and E widths. Children's, $1.00, Misses', $1.25, at Nugent's.

Last Saturday afternoon, Jerry Conway of Salem, and James Murphy of Peabody, had a foot race of 100 yards for a prize of $5, and it was won by the former.

Official figures, that cannot lie, show that the eggs laid last year by the hens of the United States, were worth as much as all the silver produced in the same period.

Word was received Friday of the death of Wm. Putnam of Red Wing, Minn., a brother in law of Mrs. R. E. Loring, who died at his residence a short time ago.

Mrs. G. A. Osborne offers for sale her pew in the South Church, No. 31. It is one of the most desirable pews in the church. Inquiries can be made of Miss M. J. Floyd.

Mr. B. F. Hutchinson has been showing his customers a White Spine Cucumber, 13 inches in length, and 12 inches in circumference. It was raised at So. Peabody.

Mr. Albert F. Beckett has resigned his position as janitor of the Wallis school to accept the position of head carpenter at the leather factory of Thomas E. Proctor. Mr. Beckett has been a faithful man for the position and it will not be easy to fill his place.

--- A GIGANTIC ---

CLOTHING HAT, CAP

AND

GENT'S FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT

FOR

SALEM.

David Conrad's entire block to be connected with the Naumkeag Clothing Store which will be when completed the largest retail Clothing, Hat, Cap and Gent's Furnishing Goods Establishment in New England, except the "Marlboro" in Boston, one of our own stores, and the largest in the U. S.

We desire to inform the citizens of Essex County that we have leased the Conrad estate, formerly occupied by him as a Dry Goods Store, and shall commence at once to connect it with the Naumkeag Clothing Store, making one enormous establishment.

BUYERS OF CLOTHING, HATS, CAPS AND FURNISHING GOODS REMEMBER!

Our entire stock of Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing, Hats, Caps and Furnishing Goods, amounting to over ($65,000), sixty-five thousand dollars worth must be closed out at once. This will be the grandest opportunity for the citizens of Essex County to secure reliable clothing at figures lower than ever before heard of in New England.

This sale will include all our heavy Winter Overcoats, carried over from last season, numbering over (600) six hundred Men's, Boys' and Children's all warranted to be clean perfect goods, just as stylish as any made this year, and a saving of 30 to 40 per cent. to the buyer. Our object in offering this gigantic sale so early in the season, is on account of enlarging our store.

School commences now in a few days. Parents should not fail to call and examine our enormous stock of Boys' and Children's School Suits, in heavy and medium weight. We shall offer at this sale over (2000) two thousand Boys' and Children's School and Dress Suits, over 50 different patterns to make your selections from. In fact you will have a wholesale stock to select from, at prices that cannot fail to meet with the approval of every buyer. The goods must be closed out before the 20th of September.

We must unload a very large proportion of this stock before our alterations are completed.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

177 & 179 Essex St., Salem.

Z. A. GALLUP, - - - - - MANAGER

The Peabody Bicycle Club took part in the meet of the Essex County wheelmen at Lynnfield last Saturday. Games and sports were indulged in and dinner was served at 3 o'clock.

We noticed a local sportsman with a pair of partridge, last Thursday. He should remember that the law is not off on that bird till Friday, Oct. 1st. The penalty is $20 fine.

The employes of the Lynn & Boston street railroad will give a supper at Hotel Nahant, this evening, and the employes of the Danvers & Naumkeag roads will be their guests.

The J. W. Vaughn morocco machine company are moving their business to Peabody street, Salem. They have recently shipped a large setting out machine to Woburn.

The W. C. T. Union will not hold their meeting Friday afternoon, as they will attend a neighborhood meeting to be held in Swampscott, corner of Main and Burrell streets, at 2.30 P. M.

Some of the special police are practicing shooting. They are probably getting in trim for the cattle show and hope to capture all the cigars offered as prizes by the owners of air guns.

Some store keepers have an idea that the whole sidewalk was made for them. They put boxes and other incumbrances in front of their places of business, much to the inconvenience of pedestrians.

It sometimes happens that we are obliged to cut down our correspondence and often entirely omit editorial matter. But we aim to give all the local news and work for the interest of our patrons.

Mr. Green, the driven well fiend, has again sent out his circulars to parties in this town demanding a royalty on driven wells. He has been repeatedly beaten in the Western courts and his claims set aside.

The clerk of the water board was in a meditative mood this morning when a reporter accosted him; he was speculating on the amount of damage a first class earthquake would entail on the water pipes in town.

When a man enters the newspaper business he learns rapidly until at the end of two months he knows it all, then he begins to unlearn what he has before learned, and at the end of five years, he knows a little about it.

A couple of Peabody bicycle riders went to Newburyport last Sunday on their machines and on their return had a strong wind to ride against. Notwithstanding that they made twenty-nine miles in three hours, including stops.

Mr. Stephen Fernald passed his 78th birthday yesterday and is enjoying excellent health. If we are correctly informed several of our citizens were born the same year, 1808, Joseph Jacobs, W. H. Little and Edward Trask now of North Beverly.

The seventh Essex Congressional convention will be held at town hall Peabody, September 30, at 10 o'clock A. M. Representation is one for each town, and one for each 200 voters or majority fraction thereof, cast in the last presidential election.

At a meeting of representatives of the different assemblies of the Knights of Labor, held at Salem last Saturday, it was voted to support Rev. Willard Spaulding of this town for Congress from this district. The Knights of Labor should keep out of politics until they are forced into it.

Three young men of this town who are learning telegraphy, have asked the telephone and telegraph companies for permission to use their poles for the purpose of placing a private wire to their own homes, and thus give them a better opportunity to practice.

The "Sparks" reporter of the PRESS got a terrible fright last Sunday and his friends think it will stop his growth. He attempted to slide down the brass pole at the Central Station just as the horses came out of their stall. The young man did not dare to drop and the pole was too smooth to hold on to any length of time, and but for the timely arrival of members of his company we should be writing an entirely different kind of an item.

The amaryllis, which has attracted so much attention in the garden of Mr. Hodgkins on Lowell street, is over thirty years old. There are forty stalks which have never been divided and have yielded 206 blossoms at once. It has indeed been a beautiful sight.

School girls who chew gum, and most of them do, will be interested to know that several leading Chicago physicians say that an indulgence of the habit for fifteen minutes or so after each meal greatly promotes digestion, and is a sovereign remedy for "heart-burn."

Swallows are congregating on telegraph wires preparatory for the fall flight to a warmer clime. The congregating of these birds usually begins with the blossoming of the aster, and is one of the first visible indications of a swiftly waning summer. Did you know it?

The culvert below Harrington's tannery, that was washed out during the freshet, has been repaired. The brook is badly filled up with mud and filth and under the Grove street bridge a large quantity of gravel was washed in. It will be an expensive job to clean the brook one of these days.

The best cider apple is the old, well-known crab apple. It still holds its place as the best for that purpose and for preserving. It finds a ready sale when marketed, and is being more extensively grown. It is not a very sour apple, as many suppose, but it is rather tart, though well flavored.

The following letter was sent to the Mayor of Haverhill:—

PEABODY, Sept. 4, 1886.

To His Honor, the Mayor of Haverhill:

DEAR SIR—I am authorized by the selectmen to express to you the obligations the town of Peabody is under to you and your police force, for the prompt and very efficient aid rendered at the critical time of our labor troubles, and to request you to forward your bill for services rendered, and expenses incurred on our account, which will be readily paid. Respectfully yours,

NATHAN N. POOR,
Clerk of Selectmen.

Poet's Corner.

The Fire of Home.

BY GEORGE WORSTER.

I hear them tell of far off climes,
And treasures grand they hold—
Of Minster walls, where stained light falls
On canvas, rare and old.
My hands fall down, my breath comes fast,
—But ah, how can I roam?
My task I know: to spin and sew,
And light the fire of home.

Sometimes I hear of noble deeds;
Of words that move mankind;
Of willing hands that to other lands
Bring light to the poor and blind.
I dare not preach, I cannot write,
I fear to cross the foam.
Who, if I go, will spin and sew
And light the fire of home.

My husband comes as the shadows fall,
From the fields with my girl and boy.
His loving kiss brings with it bliss
That hath no base alloy.
From the new ploughed meadows, fresh and brown,
I catch the scent of the loam:
"Heart do not fret, 'tis something yet
To light the fire of home."

From the Woods.

BY PAUL H. HAYNE.

Why should I, with a mournful, morbid spleen,
Lament that here, in this half desert scene,
My lot is placed?
At least the poet winds are bold and loud,—
At least the sunset glorifies the cloud—
And forests old and proud
Rustle their verdurous banners o'er the waste.

And the great sky, the royal heaven above,
Darkens with storms or melts in hues of love;
While far remote,
Just where the sunlight smites the woods with fire,
Wakens the multitudinous sylvan choir;
Their innocent love's desire
Poured in a rill of song from each harmonious throat.

My walls are crumbling, but immortal looks
Smile on me here from faces of rare books;
Shakespeare consoles
My heart with true philosophies; a balm
Of spiritual dews from humbler song or psalm
Fills me with tender calm,
Or through hushed heavens of soul
Milton's deep thunder rolls.

And more than all, o'er shattered wrecks of Fate,
The relics of a happier time and state,
My nobler life
Shines on unquenched! O deathless love that lies
In the clear midnight of those passionate eyes!
Joy waneth! Fortune flies!
What then? Thou still art here, soul of my soul, my Wife!

Down to the Sea.

I know not what its course may be Down from the mountains to the sea:

The spring I know, alone and still,
Where bubbles forth a little rill.

The clear, brown streamlet well I know,
And how its hurrying waters flow.

At first the grasses turn to make
A softer runnel for its sake;

The careless buttercup looks down
And sends a petal to the town,

As whisp'ring to the happy day,
The brook sets forth upon its way.

Farther, bright pebbles line its bed
And gleam and glance beneath its tread.

It rushes through the alder shade
Nor loiters for the open glade.

Down swift cascades it flies and sings—
Shakes the white spray in airy wings;

Then, plunging, with a deepened roar,
Through the cleft rock its waters pour.

The solid basin far below
Is hollowed wide beneath its flow.

Here for a space it stops, to gain
New volume for the open plain.

At length full-swelling, broad and free,
It sets serenely toward the sea.

Beside the green, dark pool I wait
Stayed by thy warning hand, O Fate!

I may not follow, though I hear
The siren's song within my ear;

Nor may, for me, the motion stay
That rolls the river on its way.

I only know its path must be Down from the mountain to the sea.

The brook that lightly sped away
Lies weltering ocean-wide today.

The child, whose days were bound with mine,
Is tossed and torn on life's cold brine.

Mr. Geo. W. Walts, General Agent, Freight Department, Union Pacific Railway, San Francisco, Cal., says:—"I have derived much benefit from the use of Red Star Cough Cure in case of coughs and colds." No opiates.

Learn to live well, that thou mayest die so too,
To live and die is all we have to do.

Selected Story.

Joy's French Rolls.

If you do, said aunt Marcia, I will disown you. I never will recognize you as my niece again, never.

I wish you wouldn't look at me Marcia, said poor mamma, wiping her eyes, as if it were my fault. I'm sure I've frowned on it from the very first; the girls all know I have.

Again mamma wiped her eyes and looked out, through the rain-splashed window, on the dismal lawn in its March dress of mud and snow. Aunt Marcia folded back the skirt of her purple silk gown and put her feet on the fender bar.

As for you, Rejoice, she said, I am deeply, wholly and unutterably disappointed in you; you have no appreciation of what is due to your position; you are a disgrace to the name of Witherspoon.

My pretty sister Rejoice, whose home name is Joy, turned from the fire and looked at aunt Marcia.

If you will just listen a minute, she said respectfully but quite firmly, I think perhaps: I can make you understand things better.

Aunt Marcia sent her marabout plume trembling by a toss of the head which said plainly, You won't persuade me; but as the lips said nothing, Joy began:—

First of all, dear father died; that was the most terrible thing that could happen to us.

Mother began to cry very softly, and Joy made haste to go on.

Then we found that instead of being rich we were poor; that we must give up everything but mamma's little fortune, and must live the year round in the old house in Hillsborough—

Which is mortgaged over your very heads to Peter Dryden, interrupted aunt Marcia.

Yes, assented Joy. I was coming to that.

Now, said aunt Marcia, in her most managing tone, your mother's fortune is enough to almost live on.

But I'd rather die and done with it, than to almost live, said Maud, dismally. If I thought I should never have any more nice dresses or satin boots or Germans or symphony concerts, I should just want to give up.

Spoken like a lady and a Witherspoon, said aunt Marcia. You have at least refined instincts, Maud.

And again she set her plumes trembling but this time with approval.

Joy pressed her lips together and looked into the fire without speaking

It is no use, pursued aunt Marcia, for you to ask any favors of Peter Dryden. He is a small-souled, purse-proud, blue-nosed, old miser.

He sent Mary Ann's mother a load of coal last winter, said I.

He wears patched boots, said Maud, and he is so very rich, he might give us the mortgage outright if he chose. A thousand dollars is nothing to him.

He gave all the children of St. John's Mission a day down the harbor last summer, said Joy.

I don't want to speak against him, said mamma, bnt they say he is so mean that he never eats meat, and yon know that he would not lift a finger to keep Arthur Silsbee's horses from being sold for debts, and they his own cousins by marriage.

Who? the horses? said Joy, saucily, and took mamma's hand and kissed it, by way of apology.

He will foreclose, as sure as my name is Marcia Witherspoon; said aunt. You might borrow the money somewhere, perhaps. As for me, you know I have no ready money, but I have offered to take Maud to Newport.

I think we might take a flat, said Maud, tearfully.

We should all be flats if we did, said I, when we have a good home here; besides, father specially asked us not to sell the house.

But if you must work, said aunt Marcia, going back to the beginning of our conversation, why not choose something decent and ladylike? Anything but this low, vulgar employment. To cook for a living! To keep a shop—Oh, it is terrible!

It is, indeed, said mamma, helplessly. Joy always had low instincts from a child. She would always play at cooking, and at ironing her doll's clothes, instead of dressing up and pretending to pay visits as Maud used.

Well, I'm sure, said Joy, I'm sorry you all feel so bad about it, because we must earn some money, and cooking is the only thing I have the least talent for. I don't wish to boast, but I did do well at the cooking class.

Aunt Marcia sniffed.

A fashionable cooking class. A great experience upon which to base such a venture as this! Why, child, you know absolutely nothing of real, practical cooking.

Oh, but I do, though, cried Joy, eagerly. Just ask Mary Ann, I've been thinking this over all winter, and she has helped me. I've made all the bread we've had for two months, so you see I am really capable.

Joy, you're a jewel, said I, pulling to pieces the clay copy I was making of mamma's exquisite Sleeping Peri. I'll be your right-hand man. I'd rather make good bread than bad statuary any day.

Joy came and kissed me.

You are the jewel yourself, she said. We'll make a fortune with French rolls, and you shall go to Italy and become the greatest sculptor of the age!

Well, said Aunt Marcia, rising, I've done my best, and no one can say I haven't. You are a stiff-necked, obstinate girl, and I wash my hands of you. Helena, I shall be glad to see you and Maud at my house, whenever you come to town.

With this Aunt Marcia rustled stiffly out to her carriage and drove away.

There! said Maud. Now you've done it, Joy Witherspoon, and I hope you're satisfied.

Joy went and kissed mamma, but she did not answer Maud.

Come, Nan, she said, let us go and see our future kingdom.

Our "future kingdom" was a building father built, in imitation of the Southern fashion of detached kitchens; but our servants would never use it, and it had been closed for a number of years. There were two rooms divided by a hall, running directly through, with a door on our garden and another on the public lane which ran behind the house.

Now, here, said Joy, flying about, is the kitchen; and here, just across the hall, will be the little shop. I'll be chief cook and bottle-washer, and you, Nan, shall be shop-woman, because you've such a good head for figures. Now see here, Joy rattled on, taking a seat on a kitchen table, I've written out some little cards, asking for patronage, which we'll send around to all the ladies; and here in this book, only see how many have promised to be regular customers! Instead of sending to town for their fancy cooking they will employ me. Isn't it lucky for us, Nan, dear, that Hillsboro' is a collection of country seats, and the ladies will be always giving picnics, and kettle-drums and lawn tennis teas; and they are all so good to me you can't think!

Joy took me suddenly round the waist and whirled me wildly around the kitchen, her black eyes shining with tears and laughter.

There! she said, when she stopped quite out of breath, whatever we are let us be dignified. Come into the house while I tell poor Mary Ann that we cannot afford to keep her any longer. Little Jennie Snow will do very well, and she only charges two dollars a week.

Monday we had our garden house scrubbed till it fairly shone, and Mary Ann came bringing out a store of cooking dishes.

Shure, she said heartily, it's all as nate as an eggshell just, and if 'twasn't for me mother and the childher, it's staying meeself I'd be, to help yez. Shure ye've a turn of the wrist for fancy cakes that bates me entirely, and I wish ye good luck for a brave young leddy as ye are, Miss Joy.

Mamma couldn't bear to come out and inspect our kitchen, but Maud came, holding up her gown as if she were in a coal shed, instead of a kitchen as "nate as an eggshell."

Oh what would Mrs. Faulkner say, she moaned, and Ethel Motte, and all our set?

Tuesday morning wbo should come in but Mrs. Faulkner herself, smiling as rosy as a flower. She announced that she had come to help us make out a scale of prices for our goods. We thought she made them abominably high, but she said she had consulted with other ladies, and they had all agreed as to what was proper.

And so the next day we really opened our little shop, and I wish to say right here that, in spite of Maud's predictions, there were not half a dozen people of all those we had known who were not just as pleasant and gracious that spring and summer as they had ever been. And as Joy says, as for those who despise us for what we have done, let them go; they never were worthy the noble name of friends, and it is well we know the false from the true.

Of course, among our customers were some queer people, and we had to work hard to try and please them all. There was old Miss Ellis, who wanted Smyrna currants in her bread; and Mrs. Desmond, who would buy only heart-shaped pound cakes; and the Hartleys, who always selected their cream-cakes themselves, and would have them only of a certain size; but the oddest person of all was Peter Dryden.

It was a blazing day in June, and I was busy making my accounts. Joy had brought in a tray of little puffs, and stood giving each its spoonful of ruby jam before she sent them up to Mrs. Faulkner's lunch party. We heard a cane tapping on the walk; a shadow darkened the door, and there, if you please, stood Peter Dryden himself—a queer, little old man, in a snuff-brown suit, a wide-brimmed hat, badly mended shoes, and a bunch of pansies in his button-hole. He stood a moment looking about in silence, and though it may sound boastful, I must say there could not be much fault found with our little shop. It was clean and cool, with the shadow of the grape leaves flickering over the white floor and a big blue and white pot of roses on the window-sill.

Well! said he, in his dry, sharp voice. Got anything in this shop of yours that's fit to eat?

It was neither wise nor polite, but I spoke without thinking and said—

We have nothing in the shop which is not fit to eat.

Yes, you have, said he, pointing at the little show-case with his cane. You've got gimcracks and fol-de-rols that are unfit for any Christian to eat. Tarts and cakes, I hate 'em. I wish they were all in the Red Sea. Ugh! Abominable abomination! Got any plain rolls?

Yes, sir, said Joy.

Do you ever let customers eat here?

We never have, but we can.

Then bring me three rolls and a glass of milk.

Joy tripped out and in again with a tray on which were three tiny rolls and a glass of milk, with ice tinkling pleasantly against the sides. Peter Dryden looked at Joy as she put his lunch before him. She wore a big, brown linen apron, and her curls were tucked away under a cap.

I saw you once, young woman, he said. It was a winter's day, and you wore a velvet gown and costly furs; you were driving two gray horses, and your father sat beside you. He looked proud of you.

Yes, sir, said Joy, uncertain just what to say, yet she had to blink to keep the tears from coming. We used to take turns, Joy and I, in driving papa down to the office mornings. How proud we were of bim and he of us, poor papa!

Yes, yes, said Peter Dryden, he looked proud of you, then. How would he look if he could see you now? Wouldn't he be ashamed of his daughter, the cook?

Joy threw back her head like a queen.

No, she said. Papa does see. He knows what we are doing, and loves us and is proud of us, as we should have loved and honored him just the same as if he had been a rag picker in the streets of Boston.

Joy's cheeks were very pink and her eyes shone like stars; she looked like an empress as she walked off with her empty tray.

The old miser only said "hum" and ate his lunch in silence. When he finished he rose and went out of the shop; then he put his head in at the open window, his face looking older and dryer than ever above the

(Continued on 3d page.)

ESTABLISHED IN 1838.

LIGHT DRINKS FOR THE PEOPLE.

S. B. WINN & SON,

191 Washington St., Salem,

Near the Eastern Railroad Depot.

MANUFACTURERS OF ALL KINDS OF SUMMER DRINKS, INCLUDING

GINGER ALE,
TONIC,
GINGER,
HOP,
and other BEERS.

Our Ginger Ale will be found far superior to any now on the market. It is put up in half pint bottles, in a neat and convenient manner. We pride ourselves upon the purity and originality of the ingredients selected for the compounding of this harmless and at the same time beneficial summer beverage.

Charged Soda Fountains

All sizes, constantly on hand.

Soda Water in Syphons.

Our Iron Clad Fountains give universal satisfaction.

All the water used in our manufactured drinks is filtered in the best possible manner. The composition used in charging our Soda Fountains is the best and purest known, notwishstanding the superior claims made by others. We challenge a comparison.

MOXIE NERVE FOOD $1 per dozen

In addition to the above, we keep constantly in stock, all kinds of

PURE LIQUORS.

FOR FAMILY AND MEDICINAL PURPOSES.

Cigars of the best brands, can be had.

Our steam apparatus for charging Fountains and Bottling, has all the modern improvements suggested by mechanical appliances. This is the only steam charging apparatus of the kind in Essex County, and the public are invited to call and see it in operation.

Samples of goods shown with pleasure.

Goods delivered in all parts of the city, Beverly, Danvers and Peabody, free of charge

S. B. WINN, F. M. WINN.

Telephone, 222.

may 5—4m

Lactated
Food
FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

The Most Successful PREPARED FOOD.
FOR NEW-BORN INFANTS.

It may be used with confidence, when the mother is unable to nurse the child, as a safe and natural substitute for mother's milk.

The BEST FOOD to be used in connection with PARTIAL NURSING.

No other food answers so perfectly in such cases It causes no disturbance of digestion and will be relished by the child.

A SURE PREVENTIVE and CURE for CHOLERA INFANTUM.

By the use of this predigestic and easily assimilated Food, fatal results in this dreded diseas can be surely prevented.

A Perfect Nutrient for INVALIDS in either Chronic or Acute Cases.

Hundreds of physicians testify to its great value It will be retained when even lime water and milk is rejected by the stomach. In dyspepsia, and in all wasting diseases it has proved the most nutritious and palatabla, and the same time the most economical of Foods. For an infant may be made.

150 MEALS for $1.00.

Sold by Druggists—25c., 50c., $1.00.

☞ A valuable pamphlet entitled "Medical Opinions on the Nutrition of Infants and Invalids." sent free on application.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Buolingeon, Vt

CIGARS!

CIGARS!

CIGARS!

Those desiring to purchase a good Oigars, look at our assortment of Imported and Domestic.

Discount by box.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

TRY OUR

JAMAICA GINGER.

THE

EARLIEST FRUIT,

And Best Native and Southern Vegetables, Berries and Fruit,

— AT —

Porter's Market,

3 & 5 Central St., Salem.

may 19—4m

DRS. KIMBALL & HOWARD

DENTISTS,

157 UNION STREET, LYNN.

(Spinney's Block near Central Station)

Make a specialty of administering the New Vegetable Vapor and extracting teeth. No charge for the Vapor when more than one tooth is extracted at a sitting.

Also are thorough masters of the profession of Dentistry, in both mechanical and operative branches. jy 7—1y

OPENING!

OPENING!

— OF THE —

—New House Furnishing Emporium,—

On WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 8th,

AT 9 O'CLOCK A. M.

Music in the Evening by the Salem Brass Band.

Furniture and Carpets.

THE LARGEST CARPET HALL IN THE CITY.

Stoves, Ranges, Crockery Ware, Wooden Ware, Clocks and Kitchen Furnishings, in fact everything to furnish your homes from Cellar to Attic.

8 Floors filled to overflowing with a mammoth Stock of

FURNITURE AND CARPETS,

which will be sold at prices that we will guarantee shall be the lowest of any quoted, by any House in Boston for Cash or by our special system of credit, in weekly or monthly payments.

W. C. PACKARD FURNITURE AND CARPET CO.,

Largest House Fusnishers in Eastern Massachusetts,

281 Essex & 1, 3, 5, 7 Combie Streets,

NEXT TO MECHANICS HALL.

A VALUABLE COMPOUND

— OF —

Bitter Barks and Roots, Combined with Iron and Pure Sherry Wine, called

FERRATED HYGIENIC WINE.

Recommended for Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, General Debility, Nervous Prostration and Lassitude; is especially adapted to delicate ladies.

See that the trade mark

Is stamped on every label. Prepared by

C. H. & J. Price,

SALEM.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

LADIES & GENTLEMEN,

CALL AT

CYRUS C. TREVETT'S,

IF YOU WANT

The most durable and stylish boots at bottom prices, be sure and bring the children.

110 UNION STREET.

LYNN, MASS.

jy 7—1 y

M. N. BLACK,

Hair Work and Hair Goods,

80 MARKET ST. LYNN.

Opposite W. B. Gifford's.

je 30—3m

DR. LEON RIDEOUT,

DENTIST,

Has removed his office to his Residence,

NO. 8 JOHNSON STREET,

Third House from City Hall,

LYNN, MASS.

Hours, 8 to 12; 1 to 5.

Change, for better accommodation of my patrons.

je 9—1y

Finest Pianos and Organs.

Pianos, $25 down, then $10 per month. Organs, $5 down, then $5 per month

EVERY INSTRUMENT WARRANTED.

☞ No charge for carting to Peabody.

W. D. BROWN,

76 MARKET STREET,

LYNN.

may 5—3m

LAWN OUTFITS,

HAMMOCK CHAIRS,

Canvas and Woven wire Cots, Spring Beds and Mattresses, Parlor Furniture, Loose Covers, Window Shades and Draperies.

WILSON & DUFFY

17 City Hall Square,

LYNN.

Old furniture re-upholstered in the latest styles; good work and moderate prices; satisfaction guaranteed.

ORDERS BY MAIL PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

je 30—3m

OIL STOVES &

REFRIGERATORS.

Purchasers are invited to call and examine the GARLAND OIL STOVE, which is acknowledged to be the BEST OIL STOVE in the market. We have also several good patterns of Low Priced Oil Stoves.

Our stock of

REFRIGERATORS,

Uprights and Chests, is complete and of the BEST MAKES.

LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH.

☞ Easy Terms on Instalments.

WADLEIGH & MORSE,

81 North St.,

SALEM.

e 9—3m

Mrs. M. A. McNeil,
LADIES'
FANCY GOODS STORE
149 Essex St., Salem.

Special attention given to
Spinal Corsets, Shoulder Braces,
Abdominal Supporters, etc,

Also keep constantly on hand the largest variety of Corsets and Children's Waists in Essex County.

And have just received a large line of
INFANTS' & CHILDREN'S DRESSES,
Up to Ten years of age. Please call and examine.

REMEMBER THE NUMBER,
149 ESSEX STREET
A few doors below the Museum.
mch 31—6m

E. W. GOULD
BAY STATE
Steam Dyeing and Cleansing
WORKS.
9 1-2 FRONT STREET,
SALEM, MASS.

Promptness is our Motto.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Goods called for and Delivered.

AGENTS:
J. W. Pitcher, Atlantic block, Beverly; I. S. Day, Oak St., near the depot, Beverly Farms; Beals & Abbott, cor. Maple & Locust Sts., Danvers; B. F. Stevens, 16 Main St., Peabody; T. W. Slade, Manchester-by-the-sea; Wm. S. Stanley, 4 Grader's block, Marblehead; Benj. P. Edwards, Main St., Topsfield.

Miss Bassett, formerly of the Essex Dye House, will be at our Office, No. 91-2 Front Street.

LEE HALL
CLASSICAL & COMMERCIAL SCHOOL
CITY HALL SQUARE,
LYNN.

Business studies, also preparation for College and for the Institute of Technology. For terms and other information send for circular.

FRANK O. BALDWIN
Principal.
je 30—3m

HALLOWELL & SMILEY.

We desire to remind the people of Peabody that our store is well stocked with the
BEST MEATS & PROVISIONS,
THE CHOICEST VEGETABLES,
and will be found always
A Good Place to Trade.
Our Prices are always the Lowest.
REMEMBER US.
Hallowell & Smiley
16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

Jas. Lafreniere,
HAIR DRESSER,
Has taken the shop under Baldwin's Hotel, where all who favor him with their patronage will receive
Courteous and Prompt Attention.
Diseases of the Head and Hair treated. A share of patronage solicited.
BALDWIN'S HOTEL, FOSTER ST.,
PEABODY.
may 26—4t

HOTEL NAHANT.
NAHANT BEACH.
SAM'L SOULE & SON, PROPS.
Is now open to Guests.
Horse cars from Salem and Peabody direct to the house.
Fish dinners a specialty.
Connected by Telephone.
P. O. Address' LYNN, MASS.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. Royal Baking Powder Co., 106 Wall street, N. Y.
2dw

THE BRYANT & STRATTON COMMERCIAL SCHOOL
BOSTON.
Largest & Most Successful in the World,
Will Re-open Monday, Sept. 6th.

THE COURSE OF STUDY is thorough, complete and practical. Pupils are fitted for the duties and work of every-day life.
THE FACULTY embraces a list of twenty teachers and assistants, elected with special reference to proficiency in each department.
THE STUDENTS are young people of both sexes, full of diligence and zeal.
THE DISCIPLINE is of the highest order and includes valuable business lessons.
THE PATRONAGE is the largest of any Commercial School in the world.
THE REPUTATION of this school for originality and leadership and as the Standard Institution of its kind is generally acknowledged.
THE SCHOOL BUILDING is centrally located and purposely constructed.
SPECIAL COURSE. Shorthand, Type-Writing, Composition and Correspondence may be taken as a special course.
SITUATIONS in Business Houses furnished its pupils completes the varied inducements to attend this school.
On and after Aug. 23d, the Principal may be seen daily from 9 till 2 o'clock, at the School Building, 608 Washington St. Prospectus, containing full information concerning course of study, terms, etc., post free.

Golden Medical Discovery

Thoroughly cleanse the blood, which is the fountain of health, by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution will be established.
Golden Medical Discovery cures all humors, from the common pimple, blotch, or eruption, to the worst Scrofula, or blood-poison. Especially has it proven its efficacy in curing Salt-rheum or Tetter, Fever-sores, Hip-joint Disease, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Enlarged Glands, and Eating Ulcers.
Golden Medical Discovery cures Consumption (which is Scrofula of the Lungs), by its wonderful blood-purifying, invigorating, and nutritive properties. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Asthma, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. It promptly cures the severest Coughs.
For Torpid Liver, Biliousness, or "Liver Complaint," Dyspepsia, and Indigestion, it is an unequalled remedy. Sold by druggists.
DR. PIERCE'S PELLETS — Anti-Bilious and Cathartic.
25c. a vial, by druggists.

CROQUET.
The best sett in the city for $1.00.
Lawn Tennis Setts.
From $10.00 upwards.
RACKETS.
SUMMER READING
OF ALL KINDS.
MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,
216 & 220 Essex St,
SALEM.

DESIRABLE REAL ESTATE
IN PEABODY,
FOR SALE.

The estate owned and occupied by C. C. Farwell and situated on the corner of Grove and Walnut streets, is offered for sale at a low price and on easy terms.
The estate consists of a two story frame dwelling house, containing 12 rooms, with water and gas, a barn 28x35, and about three quarters of an acre of land.
For a manufactory, with dwellings for the owner and tenants, there is no better situation in the county.
Address, or apply to
F. E. FARNHAM,
8 Allen's Block,
je 16 Peabody Square.

MASSACHUSETTS
STATE NORMAL SCHOOL
AT WORCESTER.
For the Training of Teachers.
Fall Term begins Thursday, Sept. 9, 1886.
Spring Term begins February 3, 1887.
Tuition and use of Text-Books Free. For particulars address
E. H. RUSSELL, Principal.

(Continued from 2d page.)

pot of fresh pink roses.

Charge it to P. Dryden, said he, and off he went.

After that he used to come in every noon on his way from the station. He would not let me wait on him, but always said: Go tell the black-eyed girl to bring my lunch He always had the same, three rolls and a glass of milk; and he always left the shop, put his head in at the window, and said, Charge it to P. Dryden.

Maud said she'd no doubt he'd refuse to pay when we sent in our bill, but Joy said that, though miserly and eccentric, everybody said he was rigidly honest, and we had faith and let the bill run.

Now I don't pretend that our summer was a play day, and that cooking and shop-keeping were pure fun.

We did not have all pleasant days, by any means. Mamma was lonely without Maud who was in Newport. Aunt Marcia wrote disagreeable letters full of solemn warning, and our new servant objected to such a young mistress as Joy, and neglected her work sometimes. Joy lost flesh, and I had dizzy headaches, some dazzling days. But then as Joy told mamma, she had often lost flesh from too much party-going; and I often had worse headaches in the studio, fussing over my clay models; and now, at any rate, we were doing something worth while. We were really making money. Of course we knew it was all because everybody was so kind, but we had really made enough to help us comfortably through the winter, and to pay the interest on our mortgage, so that Peter Dryden could not foreclose.

One day when we were as busy as bees making all sorts of pretty cakes for a children's party at Mrs. Hammerton's, the gate clicked and in tripped Ethel Motte. She was in the simplest gray linen gown and had a basket of grapes and flowers for mamma.

I've come to help you cook, she said cheerfully; at which we had to laugh, for Ethel was notoriously unfortunate when we all went to cooking-class together, and always forgot the most important ingredient in every rule she tried. She went in to chat awhile with mamma, and to give her the grapes, then she came out to stay with us.

Papa is going to call for me on his way up to dinner, she said, so you've got to let me stay all day.

She read some notes to us from some of the girls, and then demanded that we should let her help.

I tell you what, said Joy, you may shape these rolls, Ethel.

I can't spoil 'em, can I? asked Ethel, anxiously.

No, said Joy, not if you try all night. See, you cut one out, so—double it over, so—give it a wee little touch of butter on the edge, so—and tuck it into the pan to rise, so—there!

Oh, let me try! cried Ethel, joyously, tucking up her sleeves. Oh, Joy, what white, springy dough! Oh, I never can make such small cozy little rolls as yours, mine look so fat. Oh, Nan, isn't it like modelling. I wonder if Italy will be any better fun than this; oh, dear—

Ethel broke off suddenly. The dear girl had not meant to remind me of the time when papa had promised that I should go to Italy with the Mottes, to study sculpturing with Ethel. Joy hastened to put in a word, and Ethel began again to make fun of her rolls, and the rest of the day was as gay and pleasant as when, in old times, in the house on Newbury street, Ethel used to run over to spend the day with us, in china-painting and crewel work.

Summer passed and the lovely autumn; and Hillsborough people closed their houses and went back to town; and Maud came back from Newport, with lavender satin ribbons on her black silk gown, and Joy and I tidied our little shop and kitchen, and then shut and locked it for the winter.

And then at last the holiday season came. We had feared it much for mamma, Joy and I, for it was on Christmas day that poor papa had the stroke which was the beginning of his illness.

So on Christmas morning we tried to make the breakfast table specially bright and pretty, that mamma might at least begin the day with pleasant thoughts. The fire burned gaily, and the sunlight danced in over the round table, with its old fashioned blue china and silver; the fragrant coffee steamed, and under a snowy napkin some of Joy's best rolls were keeping warm; on a pretty glass dish was a comb of golden honey, a Christmas gift from Mary Ann, whose mother kept bees.

While we were waiting for the others, Joy ran out to brush the snow from the steps, and I made mamma's slice of toast and picked some white chrysanthemums for the table.

Joy came in with her eyes shining and her cheeks glowing from the keen, cold air.

Only think, Nan, she said, Jimmy Dunlap has brought our letters and he said he was going to be our postman all winter if we'd let him. Virtue is its own reward, Nan. This is his return for all those stale cakes we gave him last summer, as he went by to school. Merry Christmas, mamma.

Mamma came in with her black gown sweeping softly behind her, the morning sunshine falling on her yellow hair. In a moment Maud followed, yawning and shivering, and we all sat down to breakfast.

A package for you, Maud, said Joy, distributing her mail. A letter apiece for mamma and Nan, and a yellow envelope for me. Oh, I hope it isn't a bill.

Mine is the lovely set of pearl and turquoise I admired in Bigelow & Kennard's, said Maud complacently. Of course I cannot wear them while I am in black, but next year I can. How kind Aunt Marcia is.

Yes, said mamma, she is kind. She has invited you and me, Maud, to her house to spend the holiday week. Why, Nannie, child, what is it? You are crying!

I can not help it, said I; it is only for gladness, and because I don't deserve such gladness. I never would go and leave you, Joy, if I didn't feel sure I had some talent. Mrs. Motte has asked me to go to Italy and study sculpturing with Ethel. It's too good to be true; but won't I just work.

You may all see mine, said Joy, in a queer, quivering voice. She threw two papers down, and then, without warning, began to cry, my strong, brave sister Joy.

We all bent to read the papers. The first was our mortgage—cancelled; the second, the following lines, in a crabbed, odd handwriting:—

December 24, 18—

Peter Dryden,
To Rejoice Witherspoon, Dr.
To French rolls, from June 9 to Oct. 30, $500
To fresh milk, from June 9 to Oct, 30, 50.

Received payment,
Please receipt and oblige, Peter Dryden.

PEABODY.

Now that the recent additions to the house-furnishing establishment of D. B. H. Power & Co. are completed, and the new rooms occupied, it is safe to say that Marblehead has the largest establishment of the kind in the county of Essex, with a floor area of nearly an acre. Of course, it is really a county institution, drawing its trade from all the neighboring towns and cities, and, indeed, from places quite remote; still as a Marblehead enterprise our townspeople are justly proud of the success, and the push and business shrewdness behind it. Thousands of dollars that used to be carried out of town are now spent at home for the simple reason that nowhere else can so splendid a stock of goods be found, upon such favorable terms. And so the tide has turned and we find scores of strangers coming to Marblehead to trade, which completely upset the conservative notion that our town must necessarily take a second place.

Consult almost any county paper and there are pictures of the well-known buildings, and the legend: "D.B. H. Power & Co. One Dollar Down and One Dollar a Week," which means that goods are sold by instalments upon this novel and hitherto unheard of plan. One can purchase almost any article really needed in a modern home at this place, and upon the terms just mentioned. There is a carpet room, spacious and well-lighted and containing the latest patterns of carpets; a furniture room full to overflowing with stylish and serviceable goods; a shade and upholstery department; a department of tin and wooden ware; a silverware department; a crockery department, in all of which can be found a large assortment of elegant goods, displayed with taste and sold at bottom prices. There is also a room for bedding, mattresses and springs, and a stove manufactory, where several hands are kept busy all the time in turning rude castings into stoves and ranges. This is one of the advantages the firm has in selling stoves, of which several carloads, embracing a wide variety, are handled in the course of the year. Indeed, goods by the carload, of various kinds, much as this way of buying might have astonished the old inhabitants, is the regular thing at this place. It is quite impossible to say what magnitude the business will attain, so rapid and steady has been its success. From the small store first rented at the corner of School and Pleasant streets, to the present mammoth emporium owned and occupied by the firm alone, with a force of twenty employes, with an original and admirable system of keeping accounts, with the facilities for speedy delivery of goods, in town and out, with a Salem branch already established and in thriving condition, we look forward to still further increase of trade, as the firm becomes more and more widely known.—

Marblehead Messenger.

Save This and Wait.—Great failure of a large Wholesale Clothing House. Stock to be closed out at retail by order of the court in six days. Cut this out. Save this and wait. On account of the great failure, the immense wholesale clothing establishment, 181 Washington st., three doors from Court st., Boston, will remain closed for four days, to take an inventory of stock and arrange for a great assignee sale. This great assignee sale will commence Friday, Sept 17, at 10 o'clock, in the large building, 181 Washington st., between Court st. and Cornhill, Boston. The stock consists of nearly $200,000 worth of fine clothing, hats and other goods, and will be sold at retail 47 per cent less than first cost as it is ordered that the estate must be settled up within six days. We mention a few prices to show what extraordinary bargains will be offered, and remember there are thousands of other bargains we cannot mention here. Men's fine beaver overcoats, $2.85, guaranteed worth $15 or money refunded; we allow you to keep this overcoat home four days, and if you do not think it worth $15 we hereby agree to return the money. A splendid suit of men's winter clothes, $3.75, guaranteed worth $13 or money returned; we allow you to keep this suit home four days, and if you are not satisfied with it, no matter what the cause is, we hereby bind ourselves to return the money. We offer an elegant pair of men's winter pants, for $1.24, guaranteed worth $4 or money returned. Over 6000 light and heavy Overcoats, over 10,000 different kinds of finest quality silk and satin lined suits. Men's woolen Jackets, 69 cents, worth $2 00. Men's finest quality Fur Hats, 99 cents, latest style, and worth $3.00. All kinds of Winter Underwear and 45,000 different other goods, at 181 Washington st., between Court st. and Cornhill, Boston. Remember, this great assignees sale commences Friday, Sept 17. at 10 o'clock, and must close in six days. No goods sold and no one allowed in the store until Friday, Sept. 17, at 10 o'clock. Sale open till 9 at night.

Hay Fever.—I have been a periodical sufferer from hay fever (a most annoying and loathsome affliction) since the summer of 1879, and until I used Ely's Cream Balm was never able to find any relief until cold weather. I can truthfully say that Cream Balm cured me. I regard it as of great value, and would not be without it during the hay fever season.—L. Georgia, Binghampton, N. Y.

The very recentmost agony is for a lady to have her photograph taken, full-length panel, and then, after having elaborately dressed the picture in silks and laces, to send it to her best young man.

Three Peculiarities
Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:
1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.
2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.
3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.
The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are Unknown to Others
Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared with the greatest skill and care, by pharmacists of education and long experience. Hence it is a medicine worthy of entire confidence. If you suffer from scrofula, salt rheum, or any disease of the blood, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, or kidney and liver complaints, catarrh or rheumatism, do not fail to try
Hood's Sarsaparilla
"I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all my friends as the best blood purifier on earth." Wm. Gaff, druggist, Hamilton, O.
"Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me of scrofulous humor, and done me worlds of good otherwise." C. A. Arnold, Arnold, Me.
A book containing many additional statements of cures will be sent to all who desire.
Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar.

FALL OF 1886.
BRIDAL SILVER.
Through the summer months we have been having made some new styles in
STERLING SILVER,
and have also ordered an immense stock of the best quality
SILVER PLATED WARE.
These goods will be ready early in September, and we are confident we can offer the largest and finest stock of new goods in Essex County. No House in Boston can show a better line of medium price goods than we shall.
DANIEL LOW,
SALEM.
Wedding and Anniversary Presents a Specialty.

254 KENT & BOYNTON 250

Special Sale
— OF —
Children's School
Suits.
At this sale we shall offer several large lots of Children's and Boys Suits at extremely low prices in both fine and medium grades.
Also special bargains in MEN'S SUITS AND PANTALOONS.
— AT —
KENT & BOYNTON'S,
250 & 254 Essex St., Salem.

LADIES OF SALEM AND VICINITY,
It affords us pleasure to call your attention to our celebrated
HAND-SEWED SHOES
For Comfort, Beauty and Durability, they are not equalled. They are crumbs of comfort by the wayside.
Beware of Imitations! None genuine without the name Grover on the Sole.
Please Call and Examine them at the Store of
L. CUNNINGHAM.
147 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Agent for Salem and vicinity.
mch 31—1y

Ilsley
CRAYON ARTIST & PHOTOGRAPHER
252 Essex Street, Salem.
Having refitted and refurnished our gallery with new Lenses, Cameras, Backgrounds, Accessories, etc., etc., and having one of the largest and finest operating rooms and skylights in the country, we now have facilities second to none for doing first class work in all branches of Photography.
We have just purchased the finest instruments obtainable for making pictures from 8x10 to 24x24 (full life size) direct from the sitter, and make them either bust, half or full length, or groups. To introduce them we shall make them very low for three months.
We have special facilities for copying old and faded Photographs, Daguerreotypes, Ambrotypes, Tintypes, etc. Before giving your pictures to agents, come to us, and see our samples and get our prices. You can save money and at the same time get better work and not risk the breaking or losing of your pictures in the mails.
We make a specialty of Life Size Free Hand Crayons, made from any kind of picture or from life. One of the advantages, not to speak of the superior artistic qualities, of free hand work over the mechanically finished solars, is that any changes from the original, no matter how great, can be easily made, whereas in the finished solar but very slight changes can be made. We can furnish duplictaes from any negative ever taken by N. C. Bosuley.
Call and see what we are doing, all will be treated courtesy whether anything is desired or not.

CHOICE VERMONT BUTTER.
We have just received a car load of VERMONT BUTTER which we shall offer by the tub at prices which
— WE WILL NAME WHEN YOU CALL. —
IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE US
Meats and Vegetables of all kinds at the
LOWEST PRICES FOR SPOT CASH.
Ames & Edgerly's Cash Market,
NEXT TO SAMUEL TRASK'S.

NEW SHOE STORE.

BARGAINS FOR THE

People of Peabody.

Having completed the arrangement of our new store in Upton's Block, Foster Street, we are now ready for business, and will give all shoe-buyers who visit our store, big bargains in the line of footwear.

Children's Spring Heel Button,	50 cts.
Children's N. Y. Grain Button, B. C. D. & E.,	$1 00
Misses' Wine Oxford,	85 cts.
Misses' N. Y. Grain Button, B. C. D. & E.,	$1.25
Ladies' Serge Buskins, Kid-lined,	25 cts.
Ladies' Kid Pointed Slippers,	50 cts.
Ladies' Congress Boots,	75 cts.
Boy's Balmorals,	85 cts.
Men's Slippers,	35 cts.
Men's Grain Oxfords,	90 cts.
Men's Veal Calf Bals. and Congress,	$1.50

All our low cut shoes will be sold at cost.

We are Agents for the Troy Laundry.

SHIRTS with BOSOMS, 10 cts.
COLLARS and CUFFS, 1 1-2 cts.

NUGENT BROS.,

Foster St., Peabody, Mass.

LARGES STOCK!
BEST GOODS!
LOWEST PRICES!

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers

With regard to the "alleged agreement" by which Mr. Perkins' men stipulated with their employer to live up to the terms of the circular, we have simply taken the word of the PRESS. Without doubting that the PRESS intended to tell just what it believed to be true, we do have doubts about that exact mutual understanding. We do not reconcile the idea of agreeing to the exact terms of a rule of the shop upon the condition that the rule shall be kept out of sight. It looks to us as if there was a willingness that the employer shall understand one thing and the Knights of Labor another.—Salem Gazette.

If the above quotation means anything, it means either that the PRESS has deceived the public in regard to the agreement made between Mr. Perkins and his men, or that the PRESS has been deceived in regard to the terms of such agreement. The Gazette does, however, give us credit for "intending to tell what it (the PRESS) believed to be true." If we have not stated the agreement as it was, or if we have been ourselves deceived regarding it, it is not only the privilege but the duty of the Gazette to set us and the public right, and tell what the agreement was. SOME AGREEMENT WAS MADE. If it was not as we have stated it, what was it? The Gazette, as a respectable journal, has no right to accuse us of deception unless it knows and can tell the public wherein the deception lies. If it has "doubts about that mutual understanding," it can easily relieve itself of all doubt by taking a little trouble to ascertain what the agreement was.

Fortunately for the truth of our assertion, Mr. Perkins kept a copy in writing of the terms of this agreement. It was shown to us and very likely the editor of the Gazette can see it. While it may not be word for word as we stated it, (we did not pretend to give a copy, although we might have done so) if it does not agree substantially with our statement we are ready to apologize to the Gazette and the public. Will the Gazette get a copy of it, publish it, and let the public see who is right?

Again, if the Gazette is of the impression that there was a "willingness that the employer shall understand one thing and the Knights another," a consultation with the men employed by Mr. Perkins and who entered into the agreement, will dispel that illusion. Not only Mr. Perkins and his men, but the Knights of Labor, in general, understand this agreement to be as we stated it. We have heard no one except the Gazette express any doubt on the subject.

The truth of the matter is, the Gazette don't wish to admit that the Knights are willing to make the concessions which they did make in that agreement. IT IS a hard thing to realize that such an agreement was entered into, seemingly so near to what was desired by the posted circular, and at the same time see that under it Mr. Perkins was not allowed to continue business.

And while the Gazette has endeavored in every conceivable way to avoid answering the question "why Mr. Perkins was obliged to put back the circular," it has never answered it. Of course it is plain enough to anyone that the men went readily to work when he took down the circular, and went out again when he put it back. It was expected that they would do so. When he put it back on his door, he understood perfectly well that the men would discontinue their work. Several of them, however, without agreement and without price for their labor, remained until his stock was in proper condition to leave. Perahps we have deceived the public as to the reason we have given for the replacing of the circular. If so, we shall be glad to be set right by the Gazette.

Gen. Wm. Cogswell for Congress.

We have already stated that Gen. William Cogswell, of Salem, is the man whom the republicans of this Congressional district should nominate for Congress. We believe the contest, in the convention, will be between him and William E. Blunt of Haverhill. There may be from Gloucester a delegation favorable either to Mr. Babson or Col. Haskell. But we cannot conceive of any considerable strength being attached to this movement. The most that can be expected is a union on their candidate in the event of the balloting being so close that both Cogswell and Blunt shall fail to receive the nomination. This we do not think likely to happen.

The Haverhill papers have already voiced the sentiment of that locality as strongly in favor of Mr. Blunt. We certainly agree with the Bulletin of that city when it says regarding Col. Stone: "The District is weary of him, and he ought to retire absolutely. It would be more honorable and creditable in him. He is an estimable man, but not adapted to Congressional service. He has not the requisite energy and tact to make a successful representative. His service has been a failure, and his reputation has been diminished instead of enhanced by it."

The claims of the Haverhill people, for the nomination of Mr. Blunt, have been based largely upon the desire of that locality for a representative in Congress. Yet the Bulletin says: "We believe in selecting the man most likely to be useful to the district, no matter where he resides. We say a change must be made, and, whilst making it and in making it, we suggest this long silent claim of locality. But we do not press it unless our candidate is worthy. We challenge no comparison. But we should fear none."

Inasmuch, therefore, as the Bulletin gives up the question of locality, unless it can demonstrate that their candidate is the one most likely to be useful to the district, and inasmuch as it fears no comparison between the record of Mr. Blunt and that of any other candidate mentioned, we make no apology for presenting Gen. William Cogswell on the ground of superior fitness for the position, leaving the locality to take care of itself.

We wish it distinctly understood that we do not desire to underrate the merits of Mr. Blunt. We do not deny that he is a good republican, or that if nominated he would faithfully represent the district. If nominated by the Convention, he will receive our cordial and hearty support. We support Gen. Cogswell for the nomination because we believe him to be the most valuable man for the district, and because of a more recent service, as a representative of the people, than that of the gentleman from Haverhill. The Bulletin says: "Sixteen years ago this fall Haverhill elected William E. Blunt to the legislature." After a service there of five years he was appointed postmaster of Haverhill. There have been many changes in the republican party since the sixteen years ago, during which time Mr. Blunt served the party. Then a nomination by the republicans in almost any section of the State was considered equivalent to an election. The old war horses of the party were in the ascendancy and they kept their power carefully guarded. No member of the party unless of their number or supported by them, could receive a nomination for office, or be sent as a delegate, even, to a convention. In most of the towns and cities of the State, until within a few years, you will find the same names as delegates to conventions for the last twenty years. The younger, progressive, liberal members of the party were in the minority. They stood little if any chance of recognition. But of late years there has been a change. The younger members of the party, in this State, have come to the front. Their demands for recognition have been enforced in a manner which admitted of no question. While we do not claim that they are any better republicans than the old war horses of the party, they have infused new blood into its councils. They have recognized the demands of former members of the party, who left it because of a lack of prominence in it of its more liberal members, and are bringing back to the republican party many who had wandered from its fold. Henry Cabot Lodge is a representative of this element of the party. So is Hon. John D. Long. So, also, is Gen. William Cogswell. He is not only a representative of it, but has represented it in the Massachusetts Senate during the time when the more progressive and liberal ideas of the party began to be ascendant. He does not look backward six teen years for an experience in a legisative body, but comes fresh from an experience as the leader of the party in the upper branch of our legislative body—as chairman of the judiciary committee, the most important committee of the legislature.

The record of Mr. Blunt is confined entirely to his five years' experience in the legislature, and his service to the Government as postmaster of Haverhill. Gen. Cogswell's record is more than local. It is national. At the beginning of the war of the rebellion he was one of the first to respond and served honorably and with distinction to the end of the conflict. This record covers a series of services to the nation, to his state, and to the city where he has so long resided—always with credit and honor to himself and his party.

The Haverhill Bulletin says it need fear no comparisons of record. We surely fear none with the record of the candidate whom we present. More than this. We confidently challenge a comparison of Gen. Cogswell's record with that of any man whose name has been or can be mentioned in this district, believing that the plea of "superior fitness" in his case can be well and safely urged from Salem "under the present circumstances."

Gen. Cogswell is an Essex County boy. He was born in the town of Bradford in 1838. He entered Dartmouth College on his seventeenth birthday—not graduating but leaving his class for a voyage around the globe before the mast. On his return he entered the law school of Harvard University in 1860, and was admitted to the Essex bar in September of that year. He opened a law office in the city of Salem April 20, 1861. This was at the first beginning of the war. Hearing of the first assault upon the old flag, he put out circulars for the enlistment of troops, was appointed captain of the company May 11, 1861, and joined the 2d Massachusetts Regiment under command of Col. Gordon. He participated in the campaign of the Shenandoah valley under Gen. Banks, in the battle of Cedar Mountain under Pope, in the battle of Antietam, after which battle he became Lieut. Col., and in the battle of Chancellorsville where he was severely wounded, and became Colonel of his regiment. Having partially recovered from his wounds, he joined his regiment after the battle of Gettysburg, and in the fall of that year (1863) he was sent with the 11th and 12th Corps to the relief of Gen. Thomas at Chattanooga. He was stationed also along the Chattanooga & Nashville R. R. that winter, commanding respectively the posts of Tallahoma and Elk River Station. In the spring of 1864 he joined the advance, with his regiment, in Sherman's Campaign of Atlanta. When this city was taken he was appointed, by the corps commander, commander of the post of Atlanta, where he had under his command over 13,000 troops—a larger body than Gen. Scott commanded in the whole Mexican war. He was charged with the destruction of Atlanta after Sherman's troops had started through Georgia, after which he closed up the rear of Sherman's army and soon after joined the main army. He was in the assaulting line when Savannah surrendered to Gen. Sherman, having been sent in the meanwhile with his brigade to Argyle Island, an island in the Savannah river near the So. Carolina shore, which threatened Hardee's line of retreat, and probably hastened the evacuation of Savannah.

There, on the field of battle, he was promoted by Gen. Sherman, with Secretary Stanton on the spot, to be Brigadier General by brevet, with the command of a brigade, and was assigned to the command of the 3d Division of the 20th Army Corps of the army of Georgia, in Gen. Sherman's armies. In the march through the Carolinas he was engaged March 16th in the battle of Averysboro, and the 19th in the battle of Bentonville, in which engagement—the last real hard fighting of the war,—he was spoken of in the highest manner by his superior officers, as shown in the reports in the war department and by the New York papers which gave a very full report of that battle. July 25th, 1865, Gen. Cogswell was mustered out of the service and resumed the practice of law in Salem.

The record which Gen. Cogswell had made in the war, the experience there gained, qualified him even more for the duties devolving upon the nation and state in times of peace. For a part of the year 1867, and the years 1868-9, he was chosen Mayor of Salem. In 1870-71 he was a member of the House of Representatives of Massachusetts—serving upon the judiciary committee, and as chairman of the committee on towns. In 1873-74 he was again elected Mayor of Salem. In 1881-2-3 he was again returned to the House of Representatives, serving each year as chairman of the judiciary committee, during which period the success of his committee in carrying through its measures was remarkable. One year, out of 134 bills reported by his committee, but one was lost in the House. The same is almost substantially true of the other years. In 1885-6, the last two years, he has served the senatorial district to which we formerly belonged with signal ability. He was again chairman of the Judiciary committee—this time of the Senate, where he served both years. During this service he was instrumental in saving Essex County from the expense of a new Insane Asylum, and has in other ways contributed to the success of measures looking towards economy in expenditure in the State and County, the killing of the report of the State House Committee, designed to take a piece of land at a cost of over $2,000,000 being especially notable.

Gen. Cogswell has been a consistent and firm republican. He never has voted other than the republican ticket, though sometimes independent of the party whip, and at all times liberal regarding the views of his opponents. With the exception of the four years of the war, and possibly two other off years, he has been, since 1860, engaged every fall upon the stump in this and other New England states, advocating the principles of the republican party.

With such a record we present Gen. Cogswell to the voters of the Seventh Congressional District. He will receive the unanimous support of the Salem delegation for his nomination, ably seconded by the surrounding towns. We present him, in the words of the Haverhill Bulletin, on the ground of superior fitness. We present him as the representative of all that is progressive and liberal in the republican party—that republicanism which will elect Oliver Ames as Governor, and will choose John D. Long as the Junior Senator from Massachusetts to the halls of Congress. We do not decry the merits of any other candidates, but we leave it to the judgment of the District, if the record, in war and in peace, which Gen. Cogswell has made, does not entitle him to a place in our Republican delegation of Congressmen. We believe it will be so demonstrated when the convention meets in our town on the last day of the month.

NOTES AND INCIDENTS.

Large numbers of non-union men are arriving in town, in fact they are coming in faster than the manufacturers can take care of them. The new green shaving machine is said to do the work with less waste than hand labor and large ones will be built as soon as possible. The only thing that is delaying all the factories from starting is the lack of green shavers. A large number of the knife men and splitters whose price list precipitated the strike, have gone back and are going back to their old jobs. This is largely on account of the stubbornness of the Executive Board of the Knights of Labor of District 77 in not removing the boycott on Harrington and their seeming disposition to keep up a fight against the manufacturers instead of trying to settle the trouble. It looks now as if, in order to keep any of their old places, the men would be compelled to make an unconditional surrender.

It is true that the nomination of Rev. Mr. Spaulding was not authorized by the official Boards of the Knights of Labor. They claim not to be a political organization, and probably are not in the strictest sense. Yet it is true that he will be supported by the labor element throughout the district, and the sooner the democrats and republicans realize the fact the better. The fight this year will be between Spaulding and the republican nominee. The democrats will be the third party unless they vote for the republican nominee. They will never vote for Spaulding, at least the "old liners" will not. The fight grows interesting.

The Haverhill Bulletin said the other day that in 1884, "until a late hour it was hoped by the Democrats and quite confidently expected by many, that John I. Baker would retire in favor of Spofford." We never heard of such expectations. The party who supported Baker were sanguine enough in this vicinity to expect that Baker would be elected, and there were many republicans here who voted for him in preference to Col. Stone.

The Gazette is in error in stating that no votes were cast, in the convention which nominated Rev. Mr. Spaulding, for a republican. Mr. William E. Blunt had a few votes, and we are informed that his claims were advocated in the convention by several gentlemen.

We understand that there is no truth in the story about the union men in Mr. Proctor's employ asking him to defer putting on non-union men for a week.—Salem Gazette.

The rumor must have been confined to the sanctum of the Gazette. It was not current here.

Some of the Republican papers in the seventh district are quoting from democratic contemporaries as to the prospects of republican candidates for nomination. Among them is the Salem Gazette, which quotes from the Valley Visitor as to the prospects of Dr. Loring. Editor Horton is too shrewd a politician not to know, without calling upon the democratic papers, what is going on in this district, and that Dr. Loring has'nt a ghost of a chance of obtaining the nomination.

Mr. Warren Shaw has been appointed one of a committee of three to investigate and report the condition of the firm of H. W. French, slipper manufacturers of Lynn.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—The request to "Veteran" in your last issue opens the whole question of Service Pensions, and to fully comply with it would require a page of your paper or what many of your readers would doubtless prefer, the hiring of a hall. But, as concisely as possible, he will recapitulate for the benefit not only of "one" but many "of them," the grounds on which veterans support the Service Pension or Eight Dollar Bill. To begin with the least worthy of these claims is that of economy. The survivors of the late war now average upwards of fifty years of age. All that have hitherto needed help will need more for their few remaining years, and many whose pride has so far kept them from confessing themselves paupers, as they are obliged to do under the present pension system, cannot longer wholly support themselves. They must come upon their towns to a greater or less extent, and the Legislature of 1885 passed a Statute making it possible for soldiers of this and all other towns in the State to take from the town treasuries hundreds of thousands of dollars for the support of their needy comrades. How much more equitable that this burden, so onerous upon particular towns, should fall upon the whole country, especially upon that section of it which was the sole cause of this vast loss of health, property and life. The burden is but a light one upon the vast revenues of the whole country. The tax upon whiskey alone, which should be always continued, and increased rather than decreased, will much more than meet this just expenditure.

Next, it is due. In the face of all the magnificent promises made up in the old Town Hall and in a thousand other halls throughout the country, every day worthy soldiers are forced to share the lot of the common pauper and vagrant pensioner. It is nearly impossible for an honest soldier now to secure a pension. The numerous and senseless requirement of existing pension laws can hardly be met after a lapse of twenty-one years, except by fraud. Soldiers homes? They could all be filled a dozen times over. With an equitable mortgage on every dollars worth of property in the country, soldiers are beggars in our streets, and paupers in our alms houses.

It is needed. To nine soldiers out of ten it would come like dew to parched ground, relieving their pressing necessities and making their few remaining years comfortable, and the one-tenth wants it to give to the other nine, and thus be spared the necessity of putting out their own earnings as they now do.

It should be granted in order to break up the present iniquitous pension system, which offers a premium on frauds and hospital bummers, pays to martinet officers who held sinecures and "sine pericula" in the war, and fat government offices ever since, enormous sums of money, and to veterans who faced death a thousand times, as low as one dollar a month with possible increases of twelve cents at a time, after interminable red tape. And this brings us to the absurdity quoted by "One of them" from the N. Y. Sun, to the effect that claim agents are hankering for the passage of the Service Pension Bill. One moment's thought should have sufficed to convince "One of them" that no claim shark would desire to exchange a system which necessitates a score or more of affidavits in every case, for one where nothing more is needed than a discharge paper and a certificate of identity. "No attorney needed" is now stamped by the department upon the Widow's Increase papers. With added force, could it be said of the collection of claims under the Service Pension Act? No! Every pension agent from George E. Leman down is ranged against a bill which allows nothing for collection. No matter what the number of them—judging from Massachusetts, the estimate of one million survivors is nearly double the real number—but if it were true it would not be an oppressive burden on the whole country and ten years will take away one-half of it.

My space grows short, but "One of them" and "All of them" may depend upon it, that logic as well as right is on the side of this Bill, or rather the principle embodied in it, viz: reward, not charity; recompense for service performed, not alms; and every candid, unprejudiced man who gives thought to it becomes converted to its doctrine. There are numbers not unprejudiced or disinterested in regard to it, even in the ranks of the G. A. R. Com. S. S. Burdette don't want it because his offices have given him more than he can get under it. Henry B. Pierce don't want it now that he is Secretary of State, into which office he has crept by the support of the men whose wishes he so openly defied in his recent action at San Francisco. George S. Merrill don't want it. He served a few months in the army and many years in the Lawrence post office. George S. Marden and other leaders of the order in this State thought they didn't want it before they heard from their comrades, and generally those that have been receiving all the plums in the pudding, don't want to change the existing order of things. They distrust a new deal. But the great mass of the rank and file, poor, proud, "unawed by influence and unbribed by gain," through the medium of such noble representatives as Loring and Patch do ask this rich and prosperous country to distribute the wealth rapidly accumulating in its treasury to those who made possible a treasury and a nation, on the extravagant basis of twenty-seven cents per day to each.

VETERAN.

"Nathan H. R. Dawson, of Alabama, succeeds Hon. John Eaton as commissioner of education. There were a score of prominent Democratic leaders and superintendents mentioned in connection with the office, any one of whom would have reflected eredit upon all concerned. President Cleveland did not select any one of these. He ignored the petitions of the multitudes of teachers; forgot that there was an educational system, a school-room science, a teaching fraternity at the head of which he was to appoint a national leader. He passed over every state that has made a specialty of educational advancement, and took the state that ranks every other in the Union in the intensity of ignorance and the neglect of general education. He passed by every man who has taught, who has supervised, who has studied education or written thereon, and selected a man who has done none of these things."—Journal of Education.

Congressman Lovering is not as popular this year as he was two years ago. His failure to get the new post-office building after the bill had passed the Senate and only waited for the approval of the House, has caused a good many interrogatories. His navy yard influence is nothing, and indeed, under the present administration, a navy yard in a congressional district is a positive draw-back to a candidate. He was elected two years ago by a small majority. The friends of Mr. Lodge believe that this can be easily overcome the present year. The contest will be a warm and exciting one.

—Lynn Union.

The old Joshua Poole house on Prospect street is being repaired. It is used for a boarding house.

Mr. James Fallon is building a new barn on Wallis street.

To-day, Friday and Saturday are Ember days at the Catholic church, also fast days of obligation.

Marriages.

In Peabody, Sept. 15, by Rev. F. W. Sprague, Geo. H. Farrington to Miss Nellie M. Bartlett. [No cards. At home, No. 17 Chestnut street, Thursdays in October.]

In Peabody, Sept. 8, by Rev. J. W. Hudson, Mr. Moses G. Welch of Danvers to Miss Susan M. Shove of Peabody.

In Danvers, Sept. 6, by Rev. Mr. Powers, Mr. Frank Burke of Weymouth, N. S., to Miss Eliza Thibideau of D.; 9th, by Rev. S. P. Barrows of Boston, Mr. B. Arthur Robinson of Hingham to Miss Helen M. Johnson of D.

In Salem, Sept. 12, by Rev. S. L. Gracey, Mr. Loren Coffin to Miss Marcella A. Roberts, both of Salem.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Sept. 8, Mrs. Honorah O'Keefe, 71 years 6 months.

In Danvers, Sept. 5, Luella May, daughter of Chas. E. and Alice L. Kelly, 7 months, 16 days.

In Salem, Sept. 7, Mrs. Julia, widow of Mr. Dan'l Harrington, 90 years; 8th, Mr. Thomas F. McHugh, 29 yrs. 4 mos. 23 days; 10th, Nancy Rosamond, daughter of Elijah R. and Elizabeth Perkins, 20 yrs. 5 months, 4 days.

IVERS & POND PIANOS.

For the best Pianos in Salem examine the Ivers & Pond if you want a good one. For sale only by W. J. Lefavour. 175 Essex St. Salem.

New Advertisements.

SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION Training for every need in Elocution, voice, body or mind. Courses for Speakers, Teachers, Professionals and members of Society. 48 hours a week. Work adapted in kind and amount to individual needs, aim and opportunity. Classes for those out of town, graduates of other schools, etc. Library; Loan Fund; Degree of A. M. to A. B.'s, Opens October 7. Call 10-1. For Catalogues, etc., address

S. S. CURRY, Ph. D., Freeman Place,
(15 1-2 Beacon Street), Boston.

Course of Readings by leading elocutionists will open with the School for benefit of Endowment Fund.

sept 15—4t

—GO TO—

MORRISON & TRASK,

SUCCESSORS TO

Samuel Trask & Son.

WALNUT STREET,

For Hardware, Paints, Oils, Cutlery, Tanners and Curriers Tools, Cordage, Farming Tools, Seeds, Dole's Tanners Shovels and Hooks.

ALSO AGENTS FOR

H. W. John's Asbestos Paint.

MORRISON & TRASK,

Walnut Street.

sep 8—1y

The New Discovery.

A FEW RECENT CURES BY BATTIS' EXTRACT of DENICOTIZED TOBACCO.

Richard Cloutman of Wenham, Mass., had a bad cough for the past six years, and had been a confirmed invalid. He was completely restored to health by two applications of the extract to the throat and breast.

John R. Mansfield, No. 11 Nursery St., Salem; hand poisoned by a fish bone wound, hand and arm badly swollen, and pain in breast; bathed wound and arm with the extract twenty minutes; dressed same with cotton batting, wet with extract, and entirely cured with one application.

Daughter of William B. Flannagan, No. 45 Charter Street Salem, age 7 yrs.; had diseased eyes, and loss of sight; was confined to a dark room for two months; was relieved with one application of the extract, and entirely cured in one week.

Ellis H. Porter, Kimball court, Salem, was cured of a bad attack of cholera morbus, by one application of the extract to the bowels.

John S. Davis, No. 5 Becket street, Salem; rheumatism in knees and feet; was unable to touch his feet to the floor for months; after using the extract one day was able to walk up stairs and entirely cured in one week.

John B. Clifford, No 11 Becket street, Salem; had a severe attack of Diphtheria; was completely cured by using the extract for a gargle and binding a flannel wet with the same around the throat. He reports his wife as being cured of kidney complaint by bathing across the back with extract.

Wm. B. Farrington, Salem, Mass.; eczema on the head, finds the extract the only medicine that ever relieved him.

We would state to show the great confidence the public have in the curative power of Battis' Modified Extract of Denicotized Tobacco, that we have sold at retail the past year, over 3000 bottles at our store No. 30 Front street, Salem, Mass.

J. H. BATTIS,

Sole Proprietor and Manufacturer.

For sale by all druggists.

RAYMOND'S VACATION EXCURSIONS.

All Travelling Expenses Included.

SEVEN GRAND TRIPS
—TO—
CALIFORNIA.

Leaving Boston November 4 and December 9, 1886; January 6, January 20, February 3, February 17, and March 10, 1887.

THE RAYMOND AT SOUTH PASADENA, the most beautiful and healthful situation in Southern California; at the elegant Hotel del Monte, at Monterey; the Palace Hotel, in San Francisco; Santa Cruz; the Napa Soda Springs; and many other leading hotels and health resorts. There will be nine returning parties from San Francisco in the Winter, Spring and early Summer months, with special trains and daylight rides over the most picturesque parts of the Mountain Route. The tickets are also good returning on any train independent of the travelling parties, with a choice of routes east of Ogden, Utah. All railway travel both ways in Palace Cars. Frequent halts for rest. All arrangements Strictly First-Class. Tickets to be had independently of hotel board in California if desired.

W. RAYMOND. I. A. WHITCOMB.

☞Send for descriptive circulars.
W. RAYMOND,
296 Washington St. (opposite School St.), Boston, Mass.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS.

To the Heirs-at-Law, and others interested in the estate of PRESCOTT E. GRANT, late of Peabody, in said County, carpenter deceased, intestate, GREETING:

WHEREAS, Henry Wardwell, Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance the first account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Salem, in said County, on the first Monday of October next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed; And said Administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of September, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

sept 15—3t

SOUTH DANVERS MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE CO'Y.

The members of this Company are hereby notified that their Anual Meeting for the Election of a Board of Directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may come before them, will be held at the Room of the South Danvers National Bank, in Peabody, on MONDAY, October 4th, 1886, at 7 o'clock, P. M.

G. M. FOSTER, Sec'y.

Peabody, Sept. 8, 1886.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN

Ladies' Tailoring Department.

Our Rooms will be open for orders, MONDAY, Sept. 13th. The Department will still be under the supervision of Miss S. M. ALDEN, whose superior talent is well known to all our patrons and friends.

A. B. & W.

sept 8

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening Sept. 15, 1886,

HOME HAPPENINGS.

The Peabody Woman Suffrage Club will on next Thursday evening give our people an opportunity to listen to the marvellous eloquence of Mrs. M. A. Livermore. She will speak in Institute Hall on the subject of "Suffrage for women." We think she has not spoken here since 1870, when she met Gen. Hall in debate on the same subject, and is therefore not familiar to our lecture goers. As she is nearing her sixty-fifth birthday any public address may be her last, and the people who do not make the most of this opportunity to see and hear the queen of the American platform are unlikely to again have so good a chance.

Mrs. Livermore was born Mary Ashton Rice in the city of Boston. As a girl she was bright, impetuous and warm hearted, giving promise of the remarkable woman she has made. Brought up at the north end of Boston she early graduated from the Hancock school with high honors. Afterwards she was a pupil and teacher at the Charlestown Female Seminary. When she had acquired Greek enough to render her eligible, she applied for admission to Harvard College but President Quincy did not open its doors to the daring spirit. As the wife of Rev. D. P. Livermore, a well known Universalist minister, she became popular as an author; as a nurse during the civil war she made a reputation in canvassing the great northwest for hospital supplies, and in conducting "sanitary commission fairs," that brought her close to the hearts of those who watched with deep interest every movement of the Union Army. As an advocate of the franchise for women she stands pre-eminent; and as a philanthropist, temperance worker and platform speaker she is known the whole land over. Some one once said to her, "the Lord made you up, Mrs. Livermore, to do a big job of work in this world," and when one scans the years of her life, full of labor for the people and the reforms that need help, it can be clearly seen that she is fulfilling her mission.

The lecture is free but a collection will be taken up. Mr. A. E. Wells, principal of the Bowditch school, will introduce the speaker. The newly fitted hall is an attraction to an audience and with such a well known and gifted speaker and a subject that has been not often presented in the town, a large gathering is sure to be present.

Mr. Geo. H. Farrington, the well known confidential clerk for Messrs. O. B. Chadwick & Co., insurance agents in Peabody and Danvers, and Miss Nellie M. Bartlett, daughter of J. E. T. Bartlett, Esq., were united in marriage this afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. F. W. Sprague of the Universalist church, at which church Miss Bartlett has been organist for many years. The happy couple start to-night for a bridal trip to New York, bearing with them the congratulations of many friends, in which the PRESS heartily joins. Mr. and Mrs. Farrington will reside at No. 17 Chestnut street, where they will be at home Thursdays in October.

Last Thurday two well dressed ladies entered the store of one of our retail dealers and inquired for a family named Falkner. They said they had come from Andover to Danvers but thought they would visit Peabody and see the party called for. When it was found his name was not in the directory, they said they had not got money enough to return as they had expected to get enough from Falkner for the purpose. The store keeper expressed his sympathy for them and advised them to state their case to Conductor Nason who would probably see that they returned safely to their family. A broad hint to help pay their fare was not taken.

A former employe and poor man living in one of Franklin Osborne's houses who has not been to work since the lockout went to Mr. Osborne the other day and told him he was unable to pay his rent. Mr. Osborne immediately offered the man his former position in the factory which the man said he could not accept as he was a member of the Knights of Labor. Mr. Osborne told the man to keep the house and pay when he got to work.

That decayed and defunct drama, "Ten Nights in a Bar-room," was played at Town Hall last Friday evening before a small but not particularly pleased audience. They made a street parade with a bass drum and a half dozen boys hid under a bottle. Probably the company will be bottled before the close of the season.

An insane man is annoying the residents of Central street. It is said that special police Robert Buxton arrested him one day last week when the fellow pulled a revolver and the police let him go.

The failure of the rag firm of Lockwood and McClintock has considerable interest for our readers because the monied man of the concern was Mr. D. Webster King, a former resident and well known business man. Mr. King's connection with the firm and what hastened the failure of the concern is told by an exchange as follows: W. Lockwood and E. W. McClintock have been the general partners in the concern, and D. Webster King of Boston has been the special partner, having negotiated paper for the firm to the amount of $90,000. They were making money on their Japanese rags when the cholera scare caused the embargo and led to the disinfecting regulations. The delays and extra expense cansed by this change of affairs was a heavy blow to the trade and the firm has also become mixed up in a law suit for $15,000 with the disinfecting company. The special partner precipitated the suspension. Mr. King is a man well along in years, and is seeking to lay aside some of his business responsibilities. He caused an investigation of the affairs of the firm, incited thereto, it is surmised, by the general financial nervousness which has overtaken the moneyed men of Boston since the Gray defalcations were disclosed. As a result he declined to act any longer as the firm's agent for the negotiation of paper, and a suspension was decided on as being the best thing under the circumstances. Mr. King is a director of the Security National Bank of Boston, and the cashier of that bank, Charles R. Batt, has been chosen assignee for all the creditors, there being no preferences. He estimates the liabilities of the concern at something more than $200,000 and the nominal assets at double that amount. He believes that the firm can pay 50 cents on the dollar, and in the event of a successful termination of the pending lawsuit with the disinfecting company, they can make a return of 75 cents.

The creditors are justified in feeling sore over their failure, if the report be true that the three partners of the concern, including D. Webster King, the special Boston partner, have each been drawing $675 a month salary out of it for a considerable period. The New York Times in reviewing the failure says that it acquires significance because of its relations to the rag disinfecting ring which has flourished in that port. The article goes on to explain that two vessels loaded with cargoes of Japanese rags belonging to Lockwood & McClintock were set on by the ring in a way to cause losses which were severe in the extreme. One of these vessels was the Vigilante, which arrived in May, 1885, with a clean bill of health from a Japanese port. Nothwithstanding this fact, says the times, Health Officer Smith arbitrarily ordered that the whole cargo should be "disinfected" as soon as it arrived,—and "disinfected" meant merely "steamed"—put through the patent process, for which Health Officer Smith's friend, Bartlett, of Brookyn, levied $6.20 a ton. The firm had previously sold the cargo for 2 3-4 cents a pound, and the result was that the patent steam process instead of helping the rags in any way damaged them to such an extent that the persons who had contracted to take the cargo refused to accept them, on the ground that they had been ruined by the patent process, and Lockwood & McClintock finally were glad to dispose of them at from 1 5-8 to 1 3-4 cents per pound. But while the patent steaming scheme took this big amount of money out of the firm they were obliged to pay as well $10,000 to Bartlett for the very work that had damaged them. Being ordinary mortals, Lockwood & McClintock naturally rebelled against this sort of a stand-and-deliver campaign, and a suit is now pending against Health Officer Smith and the firm of E. B. Bartlett & Co. When the other ship arrived a Pennsylvania paper-maker bought the cargo and got the treasury department to consent to having the rags shipped to his place of business near Philadelphia. They were stopped in the latter port four or five months through the influence, it is supposed, of Health Officer Smith and Bartlett. They were finally delivered without the local board of health ordering them disinfected and were made into paper, no damage or even threatened danger resulting, it is claimed, to the public health. The loss to the firm in connection with both vessels they assert to be $20,000 or $25,000, all of which might have been spared them, they fully believe, but for the arbitrary rulings of the health officer. All paper of the firm held in Boston is indorsed by Mr. King, who is amply able to meet all demands thus thrust upon him. There will be no disturbance of Mr. King's business in Boston in consequence of the assignment.

Mr. James E. Ricker of this town was married last Monday night in Lynn, to Miss Louise C. Crane of Beverly.

Mr. Charles Drain, formerly with Hathaway the baker, has taken a similar position with Curtis of Salem.

SPARKS.

Box 28 was pulled in by officer J. B. Mack at 7.40 o'clock Sunday evening, for a slight fire in the house of William Halloran on Hanover street. The fire was caused by the overturning of a table upon which was a lighted kerosene lamp which exploded setting fire to the table cloth, but doing no further damage. The whole department turned out—with unusual promptness, the apparatus from the Central Station reporting at the head of Foster street, almost before the last round was struck, but their services were not required. The time of getting out at the Central station was a little over half a minute. The alarm worked perfectly, the whistle being heard by J. B. Reith, at Wenham, and the box counted.

Hose Company No. 1, with a number of invited guests, passed Saturday night and Sunday at Little Neck, Ipswich, and that they had a good time goes without saying.

Hose Company No. 4, with friends and invited guests, are spending to-day at Horse Pasture Point, on the Rial side, Beverly. Great preparations have been made, and it is a well known fact that when Four's boys start on an occasion like this, it is a success. The Sparks scribe returns thanks for invitations to be present at both of the above parties, but pressure of business prevented our getting away.

We are pleased to note the fact that Capt. George O. Pierce of Hose 2, has recovered from his recent sickness and is now able to attend to his duties.

Roswald C. Richardson of the H. and L., is the latest happy father in the fire department, and he has been receiving the customary congratulations over the advent of the little daughter which arrived last Saturday. This has been a great year for firemen.

Supt. of fire alarm Smart was in Concord, N. H., for three days, last week.

Foreman J. H. Miller has had an offer to travel with a new patent fire extinguisher.

The committees appointed by the various companies in the fire department will meet at the Central Station, Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock, to take action on the matter of having a parade of the department some time this fall.

SOUTH PEABODY.

Mr. Chas. Merrow lost a horse last Friday night from colic.

Work will cease in Cedar Grove Cemetery next Saturday night for the season, the money having nearly run out.

Mr. Edward Knowles of Nova Scotia is visiting friends here.

Mrs. D. S. Roberts is confined to the house by lameness, her feet being in such a condition she can hardly bear her weight on them.

Mr. Thomas A. Parker of Reading, Mass., brother of Geo. J. Parker, died at his place of residence last Sunday night, after an illness of only ten days, of typhoid malaria. He had just returned from a trip to California with the G. A. R. of that town. Mr. Parker has been a resident of Reading for nearly thirty years and was respected by all that knew him.

G. Oscar Williams has moved into Mr. C. M. Merrow's house on County street.

Mr. Sylvester Needham has been suffering the past two weeks by being poisoned by dog-wood in his arms.

Mrs. John Twiss and Miss Rebecca Pike went on the excursion to Center Harbor Sept. 13.

Mr. Arthur Goodrich of New York City is spending his vacation with his sisters on Lynnfield street.

Conductor Basford is taking a vacation of a few days on account of illness.

PERSONAL.

Jacob Osborne and wife, Benjamin Palmer and wife, Herman Campbell and wife and Mrs. James P. King are rusticating at Bethel, Me.

Mr. John F. Pickering has gone for a short vacation to the Adirondack Mountains.

Mrs. E. G. Reith and Mrs. Edmund Woodbury have gone to Leominster for a weeks visit.

Mrs. S. P. Wilson and her sons Geo. O. P. Wilson and Henry Clay Wilson have gone to Skowhegan, Me.

Mr. George Clerk and N. Webber of Lynn left for a trip to the White Mountains today.

Mr. Samuel P. Messer has gone to Chicago to take charge of a model of the Essex Electric Railroad which is being exhibited there.

Mr. Daniel F. Buxton and A. F. Manning spent Sunday with their employer, Mr. A. B. Clark, at Ipswich.

Mrs. Chas. M. Poor has gone to Rhode Island for a vacation.

Mr. Andrew Kiley and family have gone to Ireland, sailing last Thursday.

Mrs. John Gott of Gloucester has been visiting in town.

Mr. H. N. Torry was in town Sunday.

Rev. J. W. Hudson and wife, have been visiting in Essex.

Joseph Porter, of this town, has sailed for Europe on a purchasing tour for Brown Durrell & Co.

HOSIERY CHEAP.

COTTON SOX, 10, 15, 17, 25, 35, 50.
MERINO SOX, 25 and 50.
CASHMERE SOCKS, 25, 50, and 65.
WOOL SOX, 10, 20, 25, 35, 50, 60.

Our stock of Hosiery is unequalled. Our prices are as low as the lowest.

W. S. NEAL & CO.,
228 & 230 Essex St., Salem.

F. D. TARLTON,
Dry Goods.

THE NEW CORSET.
THE TRICORA RELIEF
Beware of Imitations.
Ask for it

Having elastic side sections, adapts itself to the various positions of the body in stooping, sitting & reclining. It affords great relief and comfort to the many who find ordinary Corsets oppressive. The "TRICORA" stays used for boning are unequaled for durability & comfortable support, & are absolutely unbreakable.

The most Durable, Comfortable, and Healthful Corset ever sold for its price.
Every pair warranted to give satisfaction or money returned.
F. D. TARLTON.

FOR BARGAINS IN Cotton Hosiery, Light Prints
and Summer Underwear,
—CALL AT—
42 MAIN STREET.

BUSTLES,
FORMS
AND Watch Spring
SKIRTS.
THE NEWEST SHAPES.
— AT —
John P. Peabody,
227 & 229 ESSEX STREET.

New Fall and Winter
GOODS,
FOR THE
BEE-HIVE,
Sept. 18th,

Our entire new stock of
UNDERWEAR,
HOSIERY,
and GLOVES,
will be ready for sale. All should wait for the best assorted stock ever offered
— AT —
Frank Cousins'
BEE-HIVE.
SALEM.

Fall and Winter Opening.

Having moved to the new and elegant Store in the Old Hotel Building,
NEXT TO THE POST OFFICE,
And placed on our Counters an ENTIRE NEW STOCK of FALL AND
WINTER GOODS,
Embracing all the latest styles in Imported and Domestic Woolens. We are prepared to better accomodate our customers than ever before.

—PRICES THE LOWEST—
AND A PERFECT FIT ED

JAMES HOWLEY,
Merchant Tailor,
EXT TO THE POST OFFICE. PEABODY, MASS.

IMMENE BARGAINS
THIS WEEK!
NOW IS YOUR TIME TO GET
Men's Canvas Bals. only 65 cents.
Boys' Canvas Bals only 75 cents.
Youths' Canvas Bals only 65 cents.
REGULAR $1.00 GOODS.
Men's and Boys' Tennis, 75 cents.
Men's Tennis Bals., $1.00.
Smith Hand Sewed Goat Button, $2.75.
Women's Comfort Button, $2.00.
Women's Mikado Slipper, 35c.
Men's Silk Embroidered Slipper, 65c.
Women's Fine Kid Oxfords, $1.00.
Women's House Slipper, 25c.
BIG BARGAINS IN SUMMER GOODS FOR THE NEXT TEN DAYS
— AT —
Geo. E. Pearson's.
206 ESSEX STREET.
SALEM.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

French Novelties.

We are now displaying an entirely new and extensive line of FRENCH NOVELTIES in

-- DRESS GOODS, --

embracing the latest and choicest importations.

This line comprises a full assortment of combination suitings with Bayedere Plush and Grecian Stripe Skirts, etc., in Mahogany, Heliotrope, Cuban Brown, Princess Blue, and other choice new shades.

In this department we have exceeded all our former efforts and offer a line of goods that alone will repay a visit to our establishment.

OPENING
OF OUR Fall Importation
— OF
French Fancy Stripe Flannels.
JERSEY STRIPE,
FLANNELS
— AND —
EIDER DOWN CLOTH.

Comprising a magnificent assortment of the choicest patterns and newest colorings.

These goods are justly celebrated for style, quality and finish, and are specially adapted for Ladies' Dresses, Skirts, Wrappers and Jackets and for Children's wear.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,
Essex and Washington Street,
SALEM, MASS.

STRAWBERRIES,
POT GROWN.
Plants of Leading Varieties.
By setting in AUGUST will secure fruit the following season.
PLANTS ready now. Send for Circular, or call on
E. & C WOODMAN,
FLORIST AND GARDEN SUPPLIES,
DANVERS, MASS.
Greenhouses, Holten St., Tapleyville, on line of Horse R. R.

Boyden House,
128 1-2 & 132 UNION ST.
(NEAR CENTRAL STATION.)
H. FRENCH, - Prop.,
LYNN, MASS
je 9—1y

BANKRUPT SALE
Of and Imported stock of
Human Hair Goods
The chance that comes but once in a life time.

The extensive stock of Mr. Leonard, the great importer and dealer of fine hair goods, was sold at auction last week in Boston. We were large purchasers of the same at merely nominal prices, and we propose to give our customers the benefit of the same. We have elegant waves at less than one quarter the original price. Crimps for 10c, 25c, 37c up. Warranted water curl ones for 50 and 75 cts.

Hair Switches for 25c, 50c, up. Gray Switches, a full line, from $2 up.

Polished Hair Crimping Irons 25c. Regular price $1.

Fluffy Fedore Curlers 15c, regular price 30c Ornaments, Hair Pins, etc., etc.

COME & EXAMINE.
Mrs. J. H. Browne's
153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,
SALEM.

Also Remember all our Trimmed Hats and Bonnets will be closed out at Bargain prices. We have the largest stock to select from in the city

BROWNES
Next door to the Museum.

Coal Dealers.

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheackin Coal. Genuine Franklin Coal. Cumberland Coal.

All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telphone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville. and will be promptly attended to.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

T. Batchelder. Moys Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

—AT—

PICKERINGS

7 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coal

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

ECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, Jr & CO.,

Peabody Street

N. O. VERRY,

(Successor to L. B. Hatch.)

DEALER IN

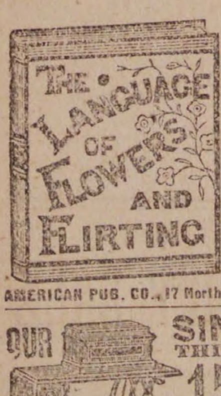
WOOD AND COAL,

Hard and Soft Wood Kindlings, Bark, Slabs, Hay, etc.

113 DERBY ST., SALEM.

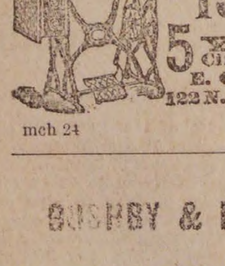
AT THE HEAD OF DERBY WHARF.

P. O. Box 64. Telephone, 44.



THE LANGUAGE OF FLOWERS AND FLIRTING

15 CENTS FOR SAMPLE COPY of THIS BEAUTIFUL BOOK. It gives the LANGUAGE and Sentiment of Every Flower and Shrub, 3990 different kinds. Also all the Known Rules of Flirtation with Glove, Parasol, Handkerchief and Fan. It is the most complete work of the kind ever published. Send Fifteen Cents in stamps for a sample copy, also our price to agents. Agents wanted everywhere. Ad. AMERICAN PUB. CO., 17 North Tenth Street, Philad'a, Pa.



SINGER THIS STYLE $17 15 DAYS' TRIAL. A Full Set of Attachments. WARRANTED 5 Years. Send for Circular. E. C. HOWE & CO., 122 N. 6th St., Phila., Pa.

mch 24

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any $10 cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground. feb 11—3m

Be Warned

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Compiaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using

Prevented

AYER'S

Sarsaparilla

my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively Cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00. CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York. Sold by Druggists.

CATARRH ELY'S

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CATARRH
CURES COLD IN HEAD
ROSE-COLD
HAY-FEVER
DEAFNESS
HEADACHE
PRICE 50 CENTS
ELY BROS. OWEGO N.Y. U.S.A.
EASY TO USE
HAY-FEVER

Cream Balm

Gives Relief at once and Cures.

COLD in HEAD

CARTARRH

HAY FEVER

Not a Liquid, Snuff or Powder. Free from Injurious Drugs and Offensive odors.

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable to use. Price 50 cents by mail or at Druggists. Send for circular. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS!

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS WILL Purify the Blood.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS BEGETS Sound. Refreshing Sleep.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS FOR That Tired, Weary Feeling.

Sick Headache.

GENTS:—I have been subject to Sick Headache for years, and have tried, in vain, many advertised remedies and several physicians, but all to no purpose. At last I tried your B. B. Bitters—without much faith, I admit—but to-day I can truly say, that after taking the third bottle, I have not suffered from it. I recommend it to all my friends; several have been cured by it. My little grandson was permanently cured of Biliousness and Sick Headache, which were so severe as to cause convulsions. They have all ceased since he commenced the use of B.B.B.

MRS. B. C. BODLE,
Orange, Luzerne County, Pa.

FRENCH'S HOTEL.

CITY HALL SQUARE. NEW YORK.

Opposite City Hall and the Post Office.

This Hotel is one of the most complete in its appointments and furniture of ANY HOUSE in New York City and is conducted on the

EUROPEAN PLAN.

Rooms only One Dollar per day. Half minute's walk from Brooklyn Bridge and Elevated R. R. All lines of cars pass the door. Most convenient Hotel in New York for Merchants to stop at. Dining Rooms, Cafes and Lunch Counter replete with all the luxuries at moderate prices.

"My system seemed saturated with scrofula," said Mr. Selby Carter, Nashville, Tenn., "but Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me."

I live for those who love me
For those that know me true
For the heaven that smiles above me
And awaits my coming too;
For the cause that needs assistance
For the wrongs that need resistance
For the future in the distance,
And the good that I can do.

Mr. J. E. Bousal, New Bloomfield, Pa., clerk of the several courts of Perry Co., Pa., was afflicted with rheumatism for more than thirty years. After spending hundreds of dollars with different physicians, and trying every known remedy without benefit, he used St. Jacobs Oil, which effected an entire cure.

I fain would ask thee to forget,
'Twere best perhaps I were forgot;
I raise the pen to write—and yet
I write the words—forget me not.

How can I ask thee to forget
When 'tis so sweet to remembered be,
Then let me say without regret
Think.—yes, oftimes think of me.

Carter's Little Liver Pills have no equal as a prompt and positive cure for Sick Headache, Billiousness, Consumption, Pain in the Side, and all Liver Troubles. Try them.

Straight is the line of Duty,
Curved is the line of Beauty.
Follow the first and you shall see
The second ever follow thee.

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters,

Should fate, my friend e're lead you
To some distant land away,
I hope the memory of the friends
Of youth, will by you ever stay.

Scrofula diseases manifest themselves in the warm weather. Hood's Sarsaparilla cleanses the blood, and removes every taint of scrofula.

Speak not ill of friend or lover,
They may prove true in the end.
Best be blind to little failings,
And stand ready to defend.
Always striving to discover
Some new virtue in a friend.

A Judge Who Loved A Joke.

The following reminiscence is told of the one-time celebrated Chief Justice Parsons of Boston. When Judge Parsons was on the bench, a case was called before the noon recess, and the court adjourned till 2 p. m. At the appointed hour the court came in, and the foreman of the jury informed "His Honor" that only eleven jurors were present. Parsons was the most punctual of men himself, had little charity for delinquents, and he fidgeted around, dipping his pen into the inkstand and catching flies. About fifteen minutes past 2 the tardy twelfth man arrived. Parsons, who was a firm but mild-mannered man, told the juror to stand up. "What excuse have you to offer, sir, for being late—for keeping the court, clerk and attorneys waiting?"

"May it please your Honor," said the delinquent, "I went home, ate my dinner, and then sat down in the rocking-chair and fell asleep. I did not awake until fifteen minutes ago, and I ran all the way to the court house. I am very sorry, sir, I assure you."

"Sir," said Judge Parsons, "I cannot accept your excuse. I shall fine you ten dollars." "I did not dream of that," said the juror, with an expression of loss in his countenance. "Mr. Clerk," said the judge, "you will remit the fine," and then with a merry twinkle in his eye, he ordered counsel to proceed with the case. Parsons dearly loved a joke.

Bridging the Bloody Chasm.

While we were tramping over the battlefields around Marietta, Ga., the young man from Connecticut grew sweet on the pretty daughter of the widow with whom we boarded. It was love at first sight and they went in heavy. Our guide had been an old red soldier, and when he saw how things were going winked the girl to a seat on the wash-stand behind the house and said:

"Now, Lucy, this 'ere orter stop."

"What 'ere?"

"In love with that feller?"

"Hain't I a right?"

"No, gal. Me'n your old father served in the ranks together. We fit again them Yanks together, and together we cum home calkerlatin' to hate 'em as long as we lived. 'Twouldn't be right fur you to go back on your dad that way."

"Jim Skuee," she replied, "mebbe ye never heard nuthin' 'bout bridgin' the bloody chasm and shakin' hands across the last ditch. I know pap was a fighter, but after he'd been home a year or two 'long came a Yank one day looking for land. He had a bottle o' whiskey, and he and pap sat down on this very bench and fit them old fights over until both got drunk and fell in a heap. When they woke up they began to shake and bridge, and they kept it up till the Yank hurrahed for General Lee and pap hollored for General Grant. Now you shut! If you don't want to bridge you can stub around with your nose stuck up and your knees out to the weather, but don't you go to interferin' with me! Dad bridged, mam's bridged, and I'm going to climb out of the last ditch and hustle for a Yankee husband!"

He Didn't Like Picnics.

"Where'm I goin' this vacation, pop?" inquired Jimmy Tuffboy of his paternal.

"Well, you are going to behave yourself for one thing."

"That's a tough one, pop. Where then?"

"I guess if you go to one picnic that will do you."

"One picnic! No picnic for me. I'm going to tramp these woods 'round here for six straight weeks. Picnics are no use. Who wants to row a boat-load o' girls all over a pond, an' not have 'em speak to you on the street?"

What is your title, my pretty maid? Oleo-Margarine, sir, she said.

RED STAR TRADE MARK COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

ST JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain

Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc. PRICE, FIFTY CENTS. AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston.

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASGOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.

WANTED The owner of a Mining Claim which has "Ore in Sight" valued at $147,238, assays from which give $100 to $250 per ton in Gold, ask for Capital to further develop the same and put it upon a paying basis by the erection of suitable machinery, &c. Will sell an equal one-half interest for $50,000, the money so obtained to be placed in trust or otherwise secured to the purpose above mentioned. For full information, principals only address

WM. H. SPOONER,
Bristol, R. I.

FRAZER AXLE GREASE

BEST IN THE WORLD ☞ Get the Genuine. Sold Everywhere.

TO ADVERTISERS.—Lowest Rates for advertising in 1000 good newspapers sent free. Address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

Saving Institutions.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK,

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

WARREN

Five Cents Savings Bank

RUFUS H. BROWN, President.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treasurer.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Dividends are payable semi-annually, on the third Wednesday of May and November.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE

Arthur Elliott & Co.,

DEALERS IN

FRESH AND SALT FISH.

Lobster and Fancy Fish in their seasons.

A share of public patronage solicited.

Caller Street,

PEABODY.

CROSS,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY.

64 MARKET STREET, LYNN

Express.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves	Peabody	at	9 47 A. M
Freight "	"	at	5 00 P. M
Express "	Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight "	"	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P.M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES.

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Aparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

Dr. F. G. Bates,

DENTIST,

218 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

OVER MERRILL & MACKINTIRE'S,

All Work Warranted.

mch 31—1y

$1

13 WEEKS.

The POLICE GAZETTE will be mailed, securely wrapped, to any address in the United States for 3 months on receipt of

ONE DOLLAR.

Liberal discount allowed to postmasters, agents and clubs. Sample copies mailed free. Address all orders to

RICHARD K. FOX,

FRANKLIN SQUARE, N. Y.

Bedding Plants and Coleus.

Fine lot of Fushias and other Plants.

WARD'S GREENHOUSES

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM
Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM.

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY.

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

PEABODY.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

EDWIN B. BALCOM,

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very best Tobacco in the market, we feel justified in saying he

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol Cuba brands

FOR A 5C SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO, 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

SHORTHAND Text-book and Instruction by mail to master it, given by the author of the system for $6. Most popular and easy method. Endorsed by 1000 graduates and professional stenographers. Book alone $1. D. L. Scott Browne, 23 Clinton Place, New York, N. Y.

GOOD SALARIES or Commission to Men and Women to act as local or traveling Agents. No experience needed. Steady work! JAMES E. WHITNEY, Nursery man Rochester, N. Y. (Mention this paper.)

je 8—3m

For Instant Use

As a reliable remedy, in cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, or sudden Colds, and for the prompt relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy for home use. I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults." John H. Stoddard, Petersburg, Va., writes: "I have never found a medicine equal to

AYER'S
Cherry Pectoral

for the prompt relief of throat and lung diseases peculiar to children. I consider it an absolute cure for all such affections, and am never without it in the house." Mrs. L. E. Herman, 187 Mercer st., Jersey City, writes: "I have always found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral useful in my family." B. T. Johnson, Mt. Savage, Md., writes: "For the speedy cure of sudden Colds, and for the relief of children afflicted with Croup, I have never found anything equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the most potent of all the remedies I have ever used." W. H. Stickler, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured my wife of a severe lung affection, supposed to be Quick Consumption. We now regard the Pectoral as a household necessity." E. M. Breckenridge, Brainerd, Minn., writes: "I am subject to Bronchitis, and, wherever I go, am always sure to have a bottle of with me. It is without a rival for the cure of bronchial affections."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

PREPARED BY
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
For sale by all Druggists.

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,
ACCORDEONS
HARMONICAS,
And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

OLD MAGAZINES

WANTED.

Will take old Harper's, Scribner's, St. Nicholas or Century Magazines of any date whatever in exchange for Book Binding, Card Albums or Cash.

H. A. BROOKS,
BOOK BINDER,
224 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE
BROKER & APPRAISER.
SALEM,

Offers for Sale at reasonable

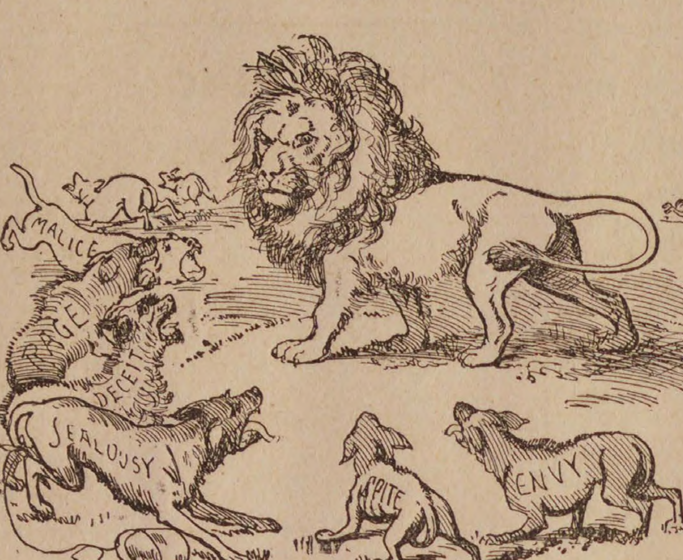
THE SAUNDERS' ESTATE
MAIN ST., PEABODY.

HAY!
HAY!
HAY!

10 cars arrived to-day for sale cheap. Fancy White Middlings, Bran, Fine Feed, Oat Meal, Ground Oats, Cotton Seed Wheat, Screenings, Barley, Fancy le lip Barley, Oats, Mixed Oats, White Oats, Haxall and St. Louis Flour. Also other kind of feed for Horses and Cows in great variety. Please call and examine our stock and prices before buying elsewhere.

J. V. & J. HANSON
2 & 4 FRONT ST, SALEM,
ALSO AT
Peabody Square & Danvers Iron Works.

AWAKENING



OF THE LION.

When lions roar, so travellers say
All other beasts flee far away
And forth from every brake and dell
Is heard their feeble whine and yell.
But loud above and more and more
Is heard the lion's majestic roar.

So when Osborne's enterprise
Leads him to boldly advertise
The other dealer's feeble pipe is heard;
But no one by its note is stirred
And trade goes rushing by their doors
To fill with countless throngs his stores.

Merit is the Trade-Mark of Success.

Quality the True Test of Value.

Blood tells every time, and the extraordinary fact that we were able, in the face of great obstacles and with only ONE DAYS notice to the public of our removal, to pack our Munroe street store with customers upon its opening Saturday, speaks volumes for the firm grip we have upon the people's favor. We count it the greatest victory in our splendid series of successes. The only explanation of such a manifestation is that

Our Prices Unerringly Hit The Mark,

and the people keen on the scent of a good thing gravitate as naturally to our stores as the needle in the compass does to the magnetic pole. Our course before the public has been straightforward and the people have rendered their Verdict Of Approval.

in a way that there is no mistaking. The following are samples of the expressions that were heard at our opening Saturday night. "If Osborne should move to High Rock he would pull the trade with him." The trade will follow Osborne wherever he goes. A Munroe street dealer in another line of goods said: "We ought to clip in and each give Osborne $25 a year to stay on Munroe street. I have had more business to-day than for a long while. The above are genuine expressions and

Tell Unmistakably How The Current Sets.

We make no preposterous claims and when we say that we carry in either of our retail stores a stock larger by far than any other retail shoe store in the city, appearances in and about our stores

Do Not Give The Lie To Our Assertion

for each is packed from floor to ceiling with the visible proofs of what we claim. So also when we claim to sell at prices lower than the other dealers dare to dream of for the same grade of goods

The Cold, Hard Facts Are On Our Side

every time. For it must be patent even to the most obtuse mind that nothing but the most genuine inducements would draw to our stores such immense crowds year after year. The people are not caught with chaff, nor would it be possible for us to impose on their credulity for any length of time. WE DO NOT TRY IT. The people responded nobly to our call from our old store and we are determined that their confidence shall not be misplaced. We shall make our Temporary store on Munroe street, which we have engaged until Oct. 1st., and our West Lynn store

Centres Of Intense Interest,

And in order that there may be no let up nor any subsidence of the swelling tide we shall, from now until Oct, 1st., absolutely and without reserve, mark down, IN BOTH STORES, every pair of boots and shoes whose selling price has been 50 cts., and upwards. This is sweeping, and we pledge our word and honor upon its fulfillment. We have no desire to deceive, nor could we do so, as we have hundreds of customers who have traded with us from the year of our starting in business, and who know our prices as well as we know them ourselves. We Shall Offer A Legion Of Bargains.

In a sale Rich with the spoils of the finest stock of boots and shoes in the city, sacrificed because of inexorable necessity. We take no questional means to entrap the people into our stores, first, because it is not honest, and second because we stand preeminent among the Lynn dealers for SIZE VARIETY and QUALITY of stock and LOWEST OF PRICES. Therefore, while some try to imitate us and others ape, WE have no occasion to copy any, and we accept the implied compliment paid us by the dealer who took an underhand method to make the people think we had moved into his store thus hoping to trade upon our name and reputation for low prices to help him make a respectable showing at his opening.

"But it would not do
The scheme fell through."

And the few who may have been momentarily deceived were quickly undeceived when they saw the beggarly array of stock and the lonesome appearance of things generally. which would have been impossible at one of our sales. We would remind the aforesaid dealer that confidence is a plant of slow growth and needs careful attention. Nothing but correct methods and honest dealings will build up a successful business.

Driven from home and into the street
We told you we never would suffer defeat
The wave of misfortune backward was beat
By prices our rivals never could meet.

COME AND GET YOUR SHARE OF THE WEALTH OF BARGAINS.

AT OUR TWO RETAIL STORES,

38 Munroe St., 23 Market Square,

WELLMAN OSBORNE.

Book Notices.

The September number of North's Philadelphia Musical Journal may well be called a "Banner" number. The sketch "An Organist's Dream" will be of unusual importance to all that have the subject of Church Music at heart, and the sprightly written history of "A Summer Jaunt of a German Singing Society" (The Young Mannerchor) is brimful of interest and humor. The music in this number is headed by a new edition in B flat of Geibel's superb song "Mizpath," Leybath's charming "Rondo Capriccio," Meyer's ever-popular and spirited galop, "The Adriondacks," and "Bourree," by Handel. Subscription, one dollar per annum, in advance; single copies, ten cents. All new subscribers can select, as premium, sheet music to the value of $2.00, marked price, from the publisher's extensive catalogue. Published by F. A. North & Co., 1,308 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

There are some books, like the remarkably popular "Franz's Album of Songs," which awaken in those who have genuine musical taste, real enthusiasm. One of these is the new "Album of Songs," by Halfdan Kjerulf, (Oliver Ditson & Co., $1.50). It will be difficult to find anywhere songs truer to nature, purer in sentiment, more melodious or beautiful, than the thirty-three in this volume. The melodies, which are of the finest workmanship, with well wrought harmonies, and yet not difficult, prove that Kjerulf is a brother in song and the equal of the illustrious Franz. The original text is by the most notable writers, and includes a song in French by Victor Hugo. All of the songs have English translations.

The readers of "Ben Hur," Gen. Lew Wallace's fascinating "Story of the Christ, will be glad to know that the sweet song of the fair Egyptian, "Wake not, but hear me Love," has been set to music by George L. Osgood, and published by Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, at thirty-five cents.

Victor Hugo's "Day Break," with music by N. A. Allen, "Nell, the Village Lass," by J. W. Wheeler, (each thirty cents), and Max Piutti's version of the Sweedish Folk-Song, "High in the Vault of Heaven," (twenty-five cents), charming love songs, are announced by Oliver Ditson & Co. They also announce the following choice instrumental pieces: "Waltz," from the Opera of "Love's Vow," (thirty-five cents), "Lilly's Garden Polka," an excellent teaching piece (twenty-five cents), "Mandolin Polka" for Violin, by C. E. Pratt, (forty cents), "Nocturne," by Chopan, (thirty cents).

Two full page portraits of Liszt are given in the September Century together with pictures of his home and favorite pupils. Alfred E. Moore describes in a humorous vein his sensations and mishaps in mid-air under the title, "Amateur Ballooning." His companion, John G. Doughty, recounts "The Balloon Experiences of a Timid Photographer." The papers are illustrated with the fruits of the latter's art, curious photographs of the earth, and of cloud effects from altitudes of a mile or more, being here given in fac-simile reproductions. So far as known these are the first photographs taken in America from a balloon. In the War Series a fertile subject is introduced by General Alfred Pleasonton's "Successes and Failures of Chancellorsville."

In St. Nicholas for September is given too much that is bright and interesting to particularize. But among the contents may be mentioned the continuation of Little Lord Fauntleroy by Mrs. Burnett; Kelp gatherers by J. T. Trowbridge; Nan's Revolt by Rose Lattimere Alling and Horace E. Scudder's historical serial. The Brownies game of lawn tennis is amusingly told in verse and pictures.

The Magazine of American History for September is both a surprise and a delight. With the first opening of its beautiful pages one is ushered into a unique portrait gallery, and makes or renews acquaintance with a long line of brilliant public characters. A more entertaining contribution to magazine literature than Mrs. Lamb's "Illustrated Chapter of Beginnings" it would be hard to find. The second article of this number is a thoughtful study into "The Defects of our Constitution," by the eminent writer, Judge John W. Johnston, of Washington. In the third paper Hon. Horatio King, a member of President Buchanan's cabinet, writes a most readable paper on his "First and Last Sight of Abraham Lincoln," which is followed by an intensely interesting article by J. Algernon Peters, of New Orleans, entitled "Pope Pius IX, and the Confederacy," the frontispiece of the magazine being a portrait of the great pontiff. In the Original Documents of the number may be found the original letter of Washington's dentist, referring to Washington's Last Tooth," an item that has been running through the newspapers during the past month. The standing departments of the September issue overflow, as usual, with good things. Published at 30 Lafayette Place, New York City.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is recommended by the best physicians as the only reliable blood purifier.

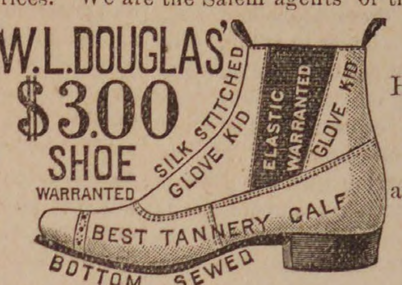
In after times when other friends
Around you may be seen,
I hope one little thought of yours will be
Of me and the friends that have been.

SALEM SHOE STORE,

278 ESSEX STREET SALEM,

Invite their Peabody customers to inspect their elegant line of
CANVASS AND LAWN TENNIS GOODS
At Reasonable Prices. We are the Salem agents or the celebrated

Button
Lace &
Congress

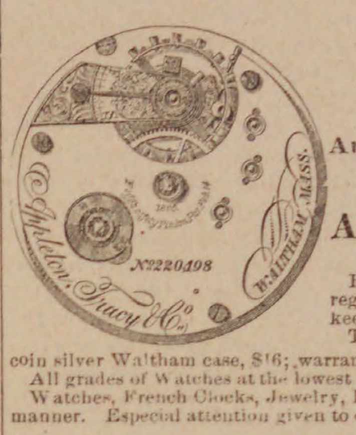


HONEST
GOODS
at a small profit.

Our Men's and Children's Goods are made on the premises. Remember the number,

278 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Opposite Packard's Furniture Store. T. A. CORSON, Agent.
mch 13—1y

WATCHES!



BARGAINS
— IN —
American Watch Co., Waltham and Elgin Watches.

Appleton, Tracey & Co.,

Full Jeweled, adjusted, chronometer balance, patent regulator and breguet hair spring A very fine timekeeper, at a great reduction from regular prices.

The reliable P. S. BARTLETT WATCH, in a 3-oz. coin silver Waltham case, $16; warranted perfect in every respect.

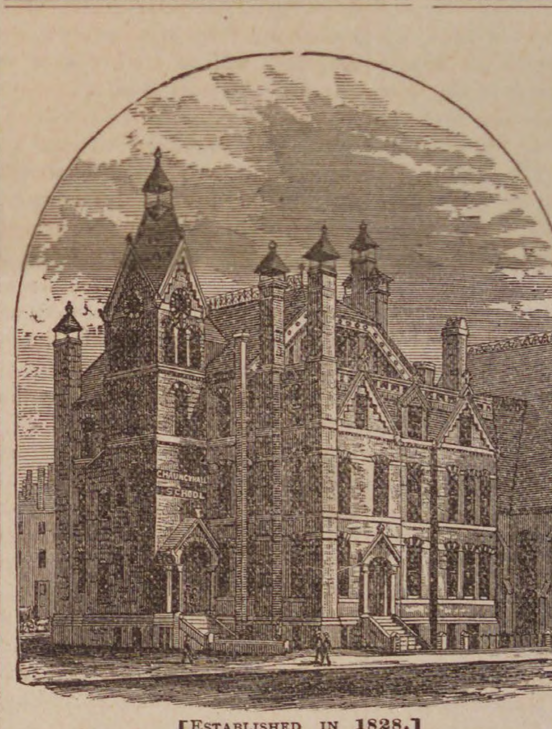
All grades of Watches at the lowest prices.

Watches, French Clocks, Jewelry, Eye Glasses, etc., repaired in prompt and superio manner. Especial attention given to cleaning and adjusting fine Watches.

Geo. A. Collins,

JEWELER,

26 MAIN STREET, PEABODY AND 198 ESSEX STREET, SALEM



Chauncy-Hall School.

PARENTS desiring for their boys and girls the personal attention of private schools and the discipline and varied associates of public schools, will find both combined here.

The New Catalogue gives a full account of the great Care for Health; the thorough preparation for College, for Business, and the Mass. Institute of Technology; the facilities for Special Students; and the unusual arrangements for Young Children.

Graduates of High Schools often take advantage of the opportunities offered by Chauncy Hall for elective studies, to do advanced work in languages or other branches. There is no more charge for several classes in any study than for one class.

The school building, Boylston Street, near Dartmouth, is in the most elegant part of Boston, and is easily accessible. Horse cars pass the door.

[ESTABLISHED IN 1828.]

259 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON, MASS.
(Opposite the Art Museum)

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL
CREAM HOME MADE BREAD

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich ride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamenta work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

COMER'S
Commercial College,

BOSTON, MASS.

Best Equipped and Most Successful in America

Re-opens Sept. 1, 1886, for the 46th Year.

The course of study is elective and embraces the following subjects: Book-keeping; Penmanship; Commercial Arithmetic; Law and Correspondence; Short-Hand; Type-Writing; the English Branches. Students may begin at any time, receive INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION, and progress according to ability. Separate department for ladies.

Graduates Aided to Employment.

PUBLIC SCHOOL GRADUATES take our course as a finishing off for their other school work, before going into business.

Our Special Three Months' Course is taken by persons whose time and means are limited

THE COLLEGE BULLETIN, (Illustrated) gives full particulars and will be mailed free upon application. For further particulars address or call upon

C. E. COMER, 666 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

All our work is guaranteed.

NOTICE OUR
REMOVAL.

P. Hartigan & Son,
HORSE SHOERS,

Have removed from the rear of Kinsman's Block to

184 BRIDGE ST.,

Nearly opp. St. Peter street, Salem.

OLD ESTABLISHED CONCERN,

P. Hartigan, Senior, has had 30 years' experience.

N. B. Personal attention given to Horses that interfere or over-reach.

☞ Treatment of CORNS and QUARTER CRACKS a specialty.

ASBURY GROVE.

It may be a surprise to the PRESS readers to think that anyone who has a comfortable home in town would still cling to cottage life here, but strange as it may seem there are about sixty families that still linger to enjoy, what to them, thus far, has been the pleasantest month of the year. Who could imagine more perfect weather than last week? While humanity in Peabody were sweltering with the glass at 85, we were enjoying a temperature of about 75, while a cool wind robbed the sun of all its fierceness, and the clear dome above was almost unflecked by a single cloud. It has in fact been ideal summer weather, and at night so cool that an extra blanket was needed.

What do we do? Why, do as we have done all summer, spend our days with grove parties and rambles through the woods and our evenings in social parties on the piazza and games and sports of appropriate nature. Another duty has devolved upon us also, the providing for a large number of homeless cats that have been deserted by those who fondled and petted them earlier in the season. So general is this cruelty practiced, that the Superintendent makes a business later in the fall of shooting all cats found about the grove.

Extensive improvements are being made about the grounds, cottages are changing hands rapidly and are being "fixed up" for winter. The Association are cutting down a large number of trees in the avenues that have in the past interfered with carriage driving and are cleaning and building new bridges over the brooks. The former is no small job as they are filled with a soft mud to within a foot of the top and so deep that a man cannot stand in them. In cleaning them the men are obliged to stand on boards braced against the side and as a consequence the work is necessarily slow.

The avenues along "Sunnyside," leading to Idlewood Lake, are being rebuilt and will greatly improve that part of the grounds. The two vacant lots in the circle will be filled with society tents before another season. One is to be a large wooden structure and the other will be moved from Central Avenue. There is a rumor that the association will make an effort to have more camp meetings held here, and it is expected that the "higher sanctification" people who have met at Douglass, will hold their meetings here, and perhaps others also may be induced to come. The success that has attended the meetings here in the past shows that camp meetings have survived the changes of more than a quarter of a century and in the future will be looked upon as a permanent American institution. This is as it should be, yet there are some who disparage this method and wonder why so many people attend camp meetings when they have so many privileges at home. Some one has answered this by saying: "There is an acknowledged power in reiterated effort, and a series of sermons by different preachers presents truth in a variety which is often very effectual." There is also a large class which rarely enters a church but which are attracted by camp meetings; and the excursion which so many make to the camp ground and the change of air are beneficial.

During the winter months windows and doors of the cottages are boarded up and bedding and furniture packed away. It is the general custom to hang the bedding over beams in the chambers as it protects them from stray vermin and dirt. It is not unfrequently the case when blankets have been left in drawrers to find them in the spring entirely perforated and eaten by large black ants which build their nests in them. Mice and squirrels also frequently find their way inside and build their homes in the most comfortable blankets they can find. The better class of cottages are well taken care of by Mr. Adams, a brother of W. J. Adams of Peabody, who lives on the grounds the year round and who for a small sum keeps the pine needles swept from the roofs and gutters and the piazzas free from snow in the winter.

THE HAMILTON PICNIC.

A large number from the grove united last Saturday with the town of Hamilton in celebrating their third annual picnic at Centennial Grove. This is a very pleasing feature and could be profitably imitated by other towns. Each year the town holds a picnic and the expenses are paid by voluntary subscriptions and an attractive programme is arranged by an efficient committee. Every one turns out, the farmer with his family, the farm hands, the stranger who is sojourning there and the invited guests all mingle in one common level and enjoy themselves. This year was no exception, and there was excellent music furnished by the Salem Brass Band, numerous sports including a wheelbarrow race, potato race, foot race, shooting match and egg race for ladies. Great interest centered in the base ball match which was very exciting as both teams are said to have been training under Professionals all summer. The players were selected by Mr. John T. Dodge and Mr. G. M. Fassett, formerly station agent in Peabody. Space would not allow me to give a record of all the brilliant plays, and the scorer could not find paper enough in the grove to keep an account of the errors. Lu Dodge, better known as "Shorty," made the greatest score — of errors. Teague the first base made a great record — on muffled balls, but Charlie Loose made a great catch on a foul tip. G. M. Fassett was pitcher and struck out three men, that is, they were struck with the ball and unable to play any more. He was ably assisted by John Whitmore a professional catcher, who put a large board behind him to stop the ball with. C. O. Putnam the Asbury Grove superintendent astonished his friends by filling the positions of first and second base and short stop all at the same time. We can't explain just how he did it, but it was by turning round back to when he saw the ball coming and then chasing it all over the field. Doctor Thayer dropped his suspenders and made a double play and home run in the same inning, throwing the ball to Charlie Hill the Asbury Grove store keeper who shut his eyes to make a running catch, and succeeded nobly, too —in running. The score at the end of an hour stood 9 to 1 in favor of Fasset's team and he immediately telegraphed a challenge to the Bostons to play his club in the near future. As a whole the picnic was very enjoyable and broke up about 11 o'clock when a special train took the people home.

THE RAYMOND & WHITCOMB EXCURSIONS TO CALIFORNIA.—Messrs Raymond & Whitcomb are to have no less than seven of their incomparable excursions to California the coming season, the dates of departure being November 4, December 9, January 6 and 20, February 3 and 17 and March 10. Southern California will, of course, prove the great centre of attraction, and the opening of the new and magnificent hotel, the Raymond, at South Pasadena, only eight miles from Los Angelos, will be an event of special interest. There will be nine opportunities to return with excursion parties from San Francisco in the winter, spring, and early summer months, and the route is through the most picturesque parts of California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, etc. There is in fact a choice of routes returning. A feature worthy of particular mention is that all the parties are to cross the mountains of Colorado in special trains. The tickets are also good to return at any time by regular train. The Raymond, the Hotel del Monte at Monterey, the Palace Hotel at San Francisco, Santa Cruz, the Napa Soda Springs, and numerous other famous Pacific Coast resorts are included in the Raymond hotel list. Some of the excursionists will pass two months or more at the Raymond, but the "independent tickets" permit their holders to exercise their own preferences as to time and period of sojourn. Hotel coupons, good for a day's board each at any of a score of different hotels, may be had in any number desired, and the same will be redeemed at their full value if remaining unused. Thus the purchaser of an "independent ticket" can go where he pleases, and as he pleases, enjoying at the same time all the privileges and advantages of the party system. Circulars giving full details may be obtained of W. Raymond, 296 Washington street, opposite School street, Boston, Mass.

Clara Morris comes to the Hollis St. Theatre this week. Her engagement is limited, as usual, to five nights and one matinee, during which time she will be seen as "Miss Multon," "The New Magdalen," "Camille," "L'Article 47," opening with the latter play on Monday night, and closing with "Camille" at the Saturday matinee. Her company embraces the following names: Bijou Heron, Henry Miller, Kate Dennin-Wilson, Ogden Stevens, Rowland Buckstone, H. B. Phillips, Geo. F. Bird, Mollie Ravel, Jos. Brannan, Sara Lascelles, Clara Ogden, little Angela Ogden, Jno. Elliot, Geo. Fredericks, Victor Willing, Charles Johnson.

At the prohibition state convention last Wednesday, Mrs. M. O. Stevens was appointed a member of the committee on resolutions and also on the state committee. The following nominations were made:—

For Governor—Thomas J. Lothrop of Taunton.

For Lieutenant Governor — John Blackmer of Springfield.

For Secretary of the Commonwealth —George Kempton of Sharon.

For Treasurer and Receiver General —John L. Kilburn of Lee.

For Attorney General—Samuel M. Fairfield of Malden.

For Auditor—William W. Sherman of Lowell.

Merrill & Mackintire have a full assortment of school stationery and school books of all kinds. Their immense stock of school supplies affords opportunity for selection, and their prices, at both wholesale and retail, are sufficiently low to command trade. Give them a call.

MUSICAL NOTES.

We are pleased to learn that an organ recital will be given in the Unitarian Church, by Charles A. Clark, the first Thursday in October. He will have the assistance of Miss Grace F. Dalton, the soprano of the choir of that church. We hope the musical people of this vicinity will appreciate the recital, and that others will be given by orgrnists in the vicinity. We don't suppose there is any money in it, but what is that to an ambitious organist?

The Salem Cadet Band went to Concord, N. H., last week, and accompanied the Knights Templar of that place to Fabyans, giving a concert there in the great parlor of the hotel. They also gave a concert in Concord, of which the Monitor of that place thus speaks:—

> Several thousand people listened with delight last evening to the concert given in front of the state house, by the Salem Cadet Band, Jean M. Missud, director. It was one of the finest concerts of the kind ever given in Concord and added to the great popularity this organization had among music lovers in Concord. The applause was very liberal, and all would have been pleased to listen to a programme of twice the length. The public are indebted to Mount Horeb Commandery in no slight degree for the rare treat afforded through its courtesy.

The School Board of Springfield, Mass., are considering the expediency of substituting Holt's method of teaching music in the school for Mason's charts. The latter are used here, and have been used in Springfield.

The Salem Brass Band furnished music for the 3d annual picnic of the towns of Wenham and Hamilton, held at Centennial Grove on Saturday.

Mr. Frederick Archer, the editor of the Keynote, and the well known organist of New York City, has been engaged as organist of St. Joseph's church, in Dorchester, taking the position held by the late Mr. Lennon. Mr. Archer has given a regular series of organ recitals in New York City, for several seasons, and is considered the finest organist in that city. He will teach in Boston, Saturdays and Mondays, returning to New York the remainder of the week.

The ladies and gentlemen who have taken up their summer residence at Juniper Point, have given a series of entertainments during the summer for the reduction of the debt upon the hall there. Last Friday evening the closing one was given. The affair was entirely impromptu, being gotten up in a few days, and confined mostly to a light class of music. The programme consisted of songs by Mrs. Fernald, Miss Emma I. Rice, Miss Emma Cheney and Mr. Isaac Littlefield, with a couple of duets, a trio, and a piano solo by Mr. Leslie Goldthwait, who also played the accompaniments. All the performers kindly volunteered their services, and the little hall was crowded to repletion. Mr. Littlefield had been ill for several weeks and sang with difficulty, yet he was highly appreciated by an audience to many of whom he was a stranger, rendering Abt's Echoes with much feeling. It was as enjoyable an affair to the singers as it apparently was to the audience.

Last Monday evening an audience of some three hundred people listened, in the Peabody Institute, to an entertainment by the Rivals Concert Co. The well known reputation of Mons. Alfred DeSeve and Wulf Fries, as artists, should have induced more people of the town to attend. Those who did attend, however, had a musical treat which is not likely to be repeated very soon. Mons. DeSeve gave two numbers—receiving an enthusiastic reception and an encore at every performance. Some one remarked that it did not seem like a Peabody audience, so rapturous was the applause at the close of his numbers, and none of the performers had reason to be anything but pleased at their reception. The veteran Wulf Fries, whose face has been familiar to musical people for many years, played the violoncello with his usual grace and artistic finish, and when we have said this, no greater compliment can be paid him. Mr. Hood was of course good, and kept the audience in good humor during his presence on the stage. His "Light from Over the Range" was never better rendered than on this occasion, and his impersonations took greatly with the audience. Mrs. Fernald rendered "Forbidden Music" "Alla Stella Confidante" with cello obligato by Mr. Fries, and Gounod's "Ave Maria" with violin obligato by Mons. DeSeve. The accompaniments for the vocal selections, as also for Mr. Fries, were played by Charles A. Clark, and in such an intelligent manner as to command the admiration of the entire audience.

The editor of this column is grateful to his brethren of the press for the kind and complimentary notices of Mrs. Fernald's singing, both at Juniper Hall, last Friday night, and at the concert by the Rivals Co., Monday evening.

There were many musical people from out of town present at the concert Monday evening. Among them we noticed Geo. A. Shepard, Esq., the efficient secretary of the Salem Oratorio Society.

Miss Georgie H. Learned of Boston, the piano accompanist for Mrs. Edna A. Hall, the celebrated vocal teacher, is visiting in town.

During the absence of Nellie M. Bartlett (Mrs. Geo. H. Farrington) on her wedding tour, the position of organist at the Universalist church will be filled by Mr. Leslie Goldthwait.

Miss Edith Wendell, a pupil of Mrs. Edna A. Hall of Boston, and a Portsmouth N. H. girl, recently met with splendid success at Manhattan, New York, in connection with Gilmore's Band. Miss Wendell is singing in the "Church of Our Father" in Brooklyn, and has taken up her residence in that city. At this concert she was recalled four times, the band laid down their instruments and shouted, brava! and Mr. Gilmore paid her a high compliment regarding the musical training of her voice, which she had received from Mrs. Hall. Miss Wendell has friends in town who will be pleased to hear of her success, a success which we know is deserved.

C. R. Bill, having been requested to supervise the introduction of the Mason system of Musical instruction in several cities of New York state, has obtained leave of absence from the schools for three months for that purpose. He expects to return to the schools, Jan. 1.

Mr. W. J. Winch will sale for home from Europe, in the Pavonia, Sept. 17. During his absence he has sung six times at the Crystal palace, and at four Richter concerts, at several Philharmonic concerts, and many times for the Royal Albert Hall Choral society, also for the Manchester and Liverpool Philharmonic societies, for the Glasgow and Edinborough Choral Unions, in four concerts at Bayreuth, and three days at the English cathedral at Gloucester., where he created the tenor part in a new oratorio. More than all, he was selected by the late Abbe Liszt, from among all the grand tenor's to sing for him at a grand musical at his home.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

In the police court Thursday morning, James Kelley for disturbing the peace, was fined $5 and costs.

Mrs. Nellie Barnstead for assault, was fined $5 and costs.

Some one stole a number of chickens from the coop of James Lafreniere, the hotel barber, at his home on Liberty street, one evening last week.

Mr. Peter Marron of Salem, while driving at South Peabody with his daughter, met with an accident last Thursday, by the horse running away. Mr. Marron was severely injured about the body, and the young lady was badly bruised about the lower limbs and hips. The horse fell to the ground on the square and broke a shaft. He was secured before further damage was done.

Mary J. Bresnehan of Dalton's court, was in the police court Friday, charged with being a common railer and brawler. She was put on probation.

Dr. Foster was called to attend Michael Pheaney, living at Washington street, who met with an accident at the Bleachery, last Friday. He was sewing a piece of cloth which passed over a roll, and the large needle was caught and pierced his stomach, making a wound five inches long.

While Warren and Alfred Wilson were driving down Foster street, yesterday, the forward wheel came off. The horse was prevented from running away, and no serious damage was done.

Mr. John Roche, in the employ of J. Arthur Trask, stuck a nail inhis foot at the old hotel building, and has since been laid up with it.

John Ryan and Chas. O'Connell, charged with throwing stones at the shop of S. Augustus Southwick last Saturday, were in the police court today. Ryan was fined $10 and costs, and O'Connell was acquited.

John Dillon drunk paid a dollar and costs in the police court this morning.

Conductor Basford took a couple of his young pigeons on one of his trips to Lynn the other day and when he reached the stables let them go. One started for home and the other flew to the ground and has not been seen since.

A row boat belonging to Michael Cady was stolen from its moorings at Danvers river, a short time ago, and the owner found it in Beverly last Saturday. The oars were missing.

Last Saturday some one stole a pair of shoes from a carpenter in the employ of J. R. Wingate, while he was making repairs at the Central fish market.

A telephone pole on Crowninshield street fell down, with the wires attached, Monday morning.

A vicious dog bit Mary Ann Dooling while on her way to school last Thursday, making a painful wound.

Daniel Connors, of Danvers, was fined $1 and cost in the police court Saturday for being drunk.

The 4.50 train up last night struck the big Newfoundland dog "Jim" belonging to Patrick Mahoney. The dog was sent into the air as high as the smoke stack and came down and was struck again, knocking him into the air, when he picked himself up and started for home. He was so badly injured he had to be killed.

The assaults on non-union men are again getting altogether too numerous. One was assaulted on Northend street, Thursday, and on Walnut street, Friday. An example made of a few of the hoodlums, who do this, would have a wholesome effect.

CHAPTER 317, ACTS OF 1886.

An Act in Relation to the Inspection and Sale of Imitation Butter,

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:—

SECTION 1. Section seventeen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is hereby amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oil or grease not produced from milk or cream, shall have the words,—imitation butter,—or if such substitute is the compound known as—oleomargarine,—then the word—oleomargarine,—or if it is known as—butterine,—then the word—butterine,—stamped, labelled or marked in a straight line in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length, so that said words cannot be easily defaced, upon the top, side and bottom of every tub, firkin, box or package containing any of said article, substance or compound. The said stamp, label or mark shall contain no other words. And whoever, by himself or his agents, exposes or offers for sale any of the said article, substance or compound, not in the original package, shall attach to the said article, substance or compound, in a conspicuous place, a label bearing the words,—imitation butter,—oleomargarine,—or—butterine, as the article may be, in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length. And in case of retail sales of any of said article, substance or compound not in the original packages, the seller shall, by himself or his agents, attach to each package so sold, and shall deliver therewith to the purchaser, a label or wrapper bearing in a conspicuous place upon the outside of the package the words,—imitation butter,—oleomargarine,—or butterine,—and no other words, in printed letters in a straight line of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length.

SECT. 2. Section nineteen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound made in imitation or semblance of butter or cheese, or a substitute for butter or cheese, except as provided in the two preceding sections, and whoever, with intent to deceive, defaces, or erases, cancels or removes any mark, stamp, brand, label or wrapper provided for in said sections, or in any manner shall falsely label, stamp or mark any box, tub, article or package marked, stamped or labelled as aforesaid, shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 3. Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter, or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oils or grease not produced from milk or cream, contained in any box, tub, article or package, marked or labelled with the word—dairy,—or the word—creamery,—shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 4. Every person who conveys any imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine in carriages or otherwise, for the purpose of selling the same in any city or town, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, be licensed by the inspector or inspectors of milk of such city or town to sell the same within the limits thereof, and shall pay to such inspector or inspectors fifty cents to the use of the city or town. The inspector or inspectors shall pay over monthly to the treasurer of such city or town all sums collected by him or them. In towns in which there is no inspector of milk, licenses shall be issued by the town clerk. Licenses shall be issued only in the names of the owners of the carriages or other vehicles, and shall, for the purposes of this chapter, be conclusive evidence of ownership. No license shall be sold, assigned or transferred. Each license shall record the name, residence, place of business, number of carriage or other vehicles used, the name and residence of every driver or other person engaged in carrying or selling imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine, and the number of the license. Each licensee shall, before engaging in the sale of any of the articles as aforesaid, cause his name, the number of his license and his place of business to be legibly placed on each outer side of all carriages or vehicles used by him in the conveyance of the articles aforesaid, in Gothic letters not less than one inch in length, and he shall report to the inspector or inspectors any change of driver or other person employed by him which may occur during the term of his license. Whoever, without being first licensed under the provisions of this section, sells any of the articles as aforesaid, or exposes or offers them for sale from carriages or other vehicles, or has them in his custody or possession with intent to sell, and whoever violates any of the provisions of this section shall, for a first offence, be punished by a fine of not less than thirty nor more than one hundred dollars; for a second offence, by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars.

SECT. 5. Every person before selling or offering for sale any of the said articles in a store, booth, stand or market-place in a city or in a town in which an inspector or inspectors of milk are appointed, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually, on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, register in the books of such inspector or inspectors, or, if there be no inspector, then in the books of the town clerk, and shall pay to him or them fifty cents to the use of such city or town; and whoever neglects to so register shall be so punished for each offence by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars.

SECT. 9. This act shall take effect upon its passage. [APPROVED JUNE 23, 1886.]

THOMAS W. PEASLEY,
Inspector of Milk.

Peabody, August 6, 1886.

A CHICKERING,
WOODWARD & BROWN.
— OR —
EMERSON PIANO
Will suit you. Call at
245 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Before purchasing.
I sell for cash or on Instalments.
Everything in the music line.
E. V. EMILIO,
245 ESSEX ST.,
SALEM.

EVERY YOUNG MAN
Should have such a knowledge of the requirements of business as may be obtained at the BURDETT
Business COLLEGE
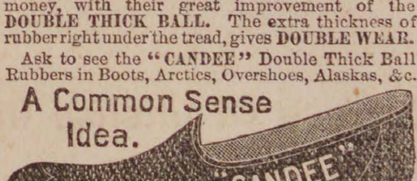
Removed to
592 WASHINGTON STREET,
Cor. Hayward Place,
BOSTON.
Owing to the unprecedented increase of the College patronage, central, commodious, light and elegant apartments have been secured at FIVE NINE-TWO WASHINGTON ST., cor. Hayward Place, a few doors above R. H. White & Co.'s, on same side of street.
Students can commence on and after Monday, Sept. 6. Prospectus mailed free. Principals may be seen at the College daily, between 9 and 4. Unequalled facilities for procuring situations for Students.
C. A. & F. H. BURDETT, Principals.
aug 11—8t

"CANDEE" ARCTICS
—WITH—
DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Two Years TEST.
Double Wear on the Sole
"CANDEE"
Double Thick Ball.

The "CANDEE" RUBBER Co. give a better Rubber than can be obtained elsewhere for the same money, with their great improvement of the DOUBLE THICK BALL. The extra thickness of rubber right under the tread, gives DOUBLE WEAR.
Ask to see the "CANDEE" Double Thick Ball Rubbers in Boots, Arctics, Overshoes, Alaskas, &c.



A Common Sense Idea.
"CANDEE"
Double Thick Ball.

FOR SALE BY
NUGENT BROS.,
PEABODY, MASS.

M. N. BLACK,
Saratoga Waves made to order, a specialty, also old pieces redressed to look as well as new.
80 MARKET ST., LYNN.
je 30—3m

FOR SALE.
The Tanyard belonging to the Estate of Abel Story, situated at Essex Falls, near Railroad. Plenty of Water. A Rare chance.
Apply to B. F. RAYMOND,
ESSEX, MASS.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,
SALEM, MASS.
EXAMINATION of Candidates for admission on TUESDAY, September 7. Tuition and text books free. Pecuniary aid to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to
D. B. HAGAR, Principal.
jy 26—3w

KILN DRIED WHITE MEAL.—Received to-day from mill, another car of kiln dried white meal, which is giving great satisfaction to all who use it, bringing us renewed orders. We can make a low price for ton lots from car much lower than on yellow meal.
CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St.
aug 18

OLD OATS.—We have a full assortment of all grades of last years' crop of Oats, which being thoroughly seasoned, are for safer feed for horses than the crop just harvested. We invite your examination and early orders.
CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St.
aug 17

COLLINS BROS.,
DEALERS IN COAL, WOOD & BARK.
OFFICES:
248 Bridge Street,
— AND —
72 Noth Street.
SALEM.
Stove, Chestnut, Egg and Broken Coals at the Lowest Market Prices.
☞ All orders promptly attended to.
je 30—3m

J. H. ALLEN,
UNDERTAKER,
Removed to St. Peter street, Salem.

Business Chance!
DANE BROTHERS,
(Successors to J. H. Trofatter.)
Horse & Carriage Exchange
101 Boston St., Salem.
Large stock of new and second-hand carriages for sale or exchange. Also horses, for sale or exchange.
je 8—6m

EDWARD P. MOULTON,
PLUMBING,
Water & Gas Fitting
Of every description. Ventilation of Closets, and Drainage a specialty.
All orders promptly attended to. First-class work and satisfaction guaranteed.
28 Norman Street,
SALEM.
je 8—4m

HOLLY TREE INN.
The Best Materials only are used in the preparation of Appetising Food,
AT THE
POPULAR HOLLY TREE DINING ROOMS,
9 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.
may 19—4m

M. MORIARTY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Soda, Ginger Ale and Tonic Beers.
Bottler of Cider, Lager Beer, Philadelphia Stock Ale and Porter.
Corner Market Sq. and Front St.
SALEM, MASS.

HORSES!
Arrived Friday, April 30th.
42 HORSES! 42
TWO CAR LOADS OF
HORSES
Purchased by Mr. Abbott for our trade,
NOW READY FOR SALE AT OUR
Sale Stable 52 Charter Street.
Abbott & Reynolds.

EXCURSION TICKETS
For the whole system of Railways in the White and Green Mountains
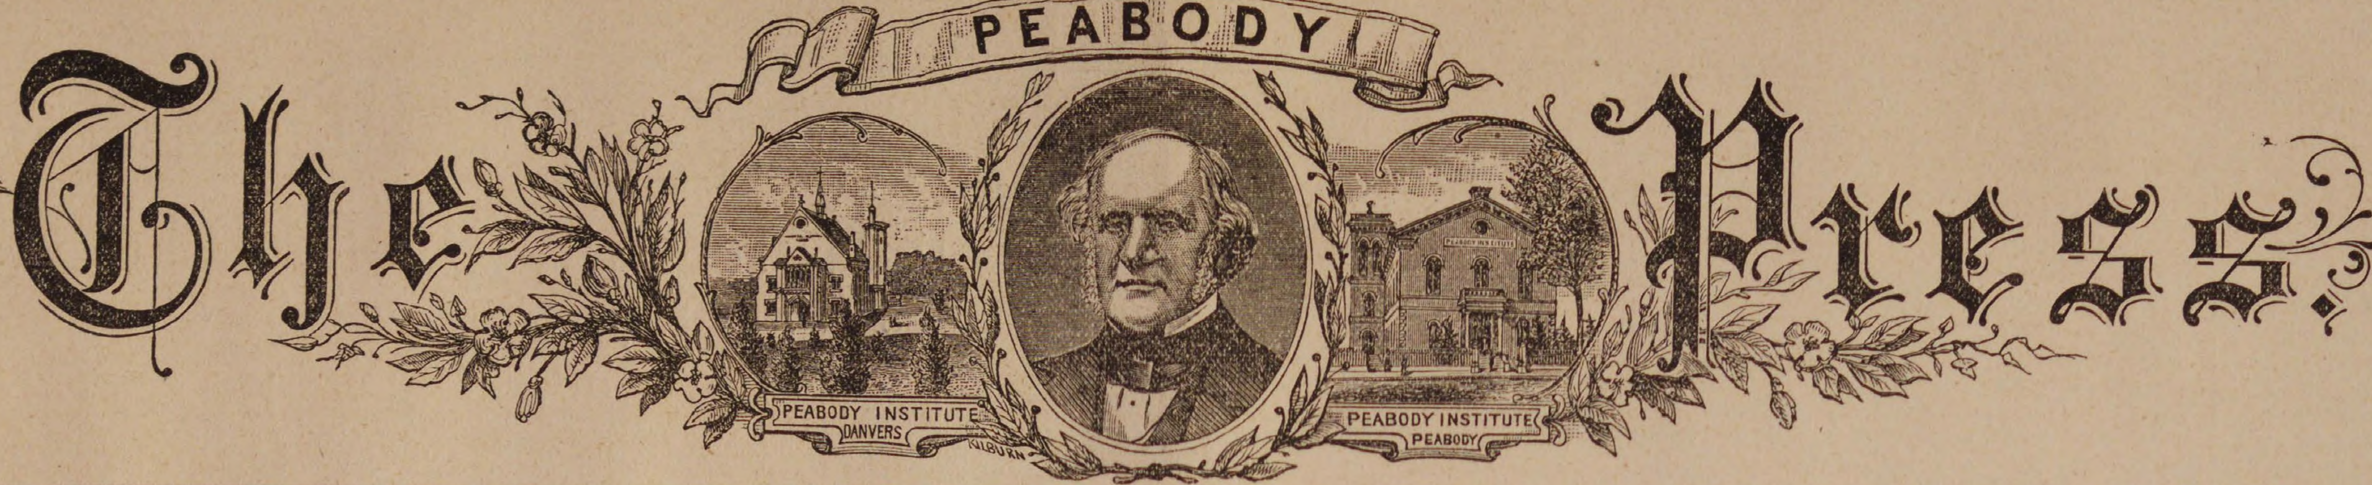
— SOLD BY —
D. P. GROSVENOR,
35 Main Street.
Authorized Agent for Peabody, Mass.
july 28—5w

D. P. GROSVENOR.
PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.
Compounder of
Physicians Prescriptions
and dealer in
RELIABLE DRUGS.
35 MAIN STREET
PEABODY, MASS.

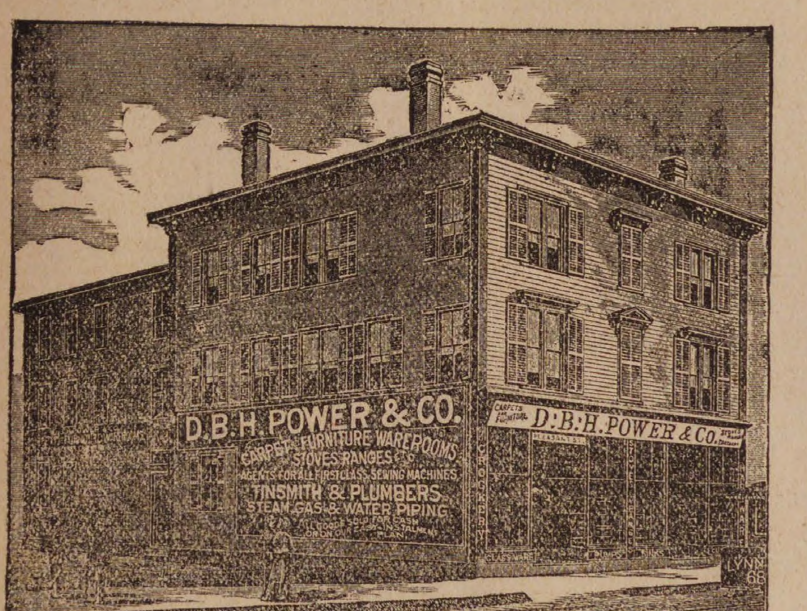
Sagamore House,
133 UNION ST., LYNN,
(NEAR CENTRAL DEPOT.)
Special Rates to Commercial and Professional Travelers.
Renovated and Refurnished.
J. M. Batchelder & co., Props.
je 9—1y

W. S. OSBORNE,
TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER
Home, 96 Central St., Peabody.
Second Door west of Hay Scales.

PEABODY The Press.



VOL. 27 PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING. SEPTEMBER 22, 1886. NO. 37.



D.B.H. POWER & CO.
CARPET, FURNITURE WAREROOMS
STOVES, RANGES
AGENTS FOR ALL FIRST CLASS SEWING MACHINES
TINSMITH & PLUMBERS
STEAM, GAS & WATER PIPING
D.B.H. POWER & CO.

GRAND OPENING.

The extensive additions to our buildings are now completed. Our new fall stock has arrived and we most heartily invite the citizens of Essex County to call and inspect the Largest House Furnishing Store in New England, 32,700 square feet of floor room, all under one roof, with the largest and most Extensive Stock of House Furnishing goods ever seen in any one store. It is a museum worthy of inspection. You will be kindly received and shown all over our immense establishment by our clerks, whether you intend to purchase or not.

We have OIL CLOTHS all prices, styles and widths. INGRAIN, TAPESTRY and BRUSSELS CARPETS. RUGS, STRAW MATTING, STAIR CARPET. BORDERS, etc. We have the most elegant display of these goods ever seen, and our Carpet room is the model of perfection.

Furniture, Bedding, Stoves, Ranges, Tin and Wooden Ware, Hardware, Etc.

Remember we manufacture our own STOVES and we warrant every one that we sell. We deliver and set up our Stoves ready for a fire without extra charge. Carpets made and put down. All goods delivered free. We guarantee our prices the lowest and our terms the easiest. Goods sold for cash or on our own and original instalment plan, $1.00 down and $1.00 a week. We lead and others follow.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

123 & 125 PLEASANT, & 24 SCHOOL ST.,

MARBLEHEAD.

293 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

All Horse and Steam Cars stop at our Doors.

MASON'S

FRUIT JARS,

600 dozen,

— AT —

W. F. PERRY'S,

87 WASHINGTON STREET,

SALEM.

e 9—3m

PIANOS Behning Pianos,
Harrington Pianos, ORGANS
— AT —
A. M. CRAIN'S
PIANO PARLORS,
52 Market St.,
LYNN.

Any make of Piano or Organ furnished to order.

je 30—1y

PEABODY

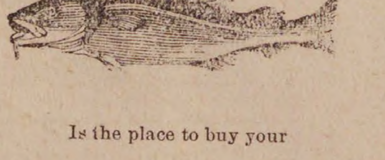
LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STA



CENTRAL FISH MARKET,

Is the place to buy your

OYSTERS,

opened fresh every day at 30 and 40 cents per quart, also a nice line of Fancy Oysters at 75 cents per quart.

Ocean, Lake and River Fresh Fish,

LOBSTERS and CLAMS

IN THEIR SEASONS.

No. 6 Peabody Square.

R. F. DODGE, - Proprietor.

SUIT DEPARTMENT.

Ladies' Small Mantles.

The balance to be sold at 50 cts., 75 cts. and $1,

Children's Suits, Sizes 2 to 12 yrs,

Prices, 50 cts., 75 cts. and $1.00 up.

The balance of the Conrad Stock to be sold this week regardless of cost.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

HAMMERED BRASS TRAYS,

32 cts.; usually sold for 60 cts.

A lot of Gentlemen's all linen HEMSTITCHED PRINTED BORDERED HDKFS., 13 cts.; would be cheap at 25c.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

21.

M. N. BLACK,

Combings made into Switches and Montagues. All work warranted.

80 MARKETST. LYNN.

je 30—3m

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

265th day of the year!

Autumn begins to day!

Lemons will be cheaper!

New oranges are arriving!

Closed cars are wanted evenings!

Yesterday was St. Matthew's day!

Summer visitors have gone home!

The old school bell sounds natural!

Non-union men continue to arrive!

The housewife is now doing all she can.

Will the News put its scissors in here?

Now forage the woods for ferns and forest leaves.

The leaves of the maple are beginning to turn.

Some people, nay, some editors, make us tired.

Business is quiet in the dye house of the Bleachery.

Jordan Lodge F. & A. M. will visit Woburn to-night.

Most of the Odd Fellows have gone to Boston to-day.

Few men are so clever as to know all the mischief they do.

Best quality prints in remnants, 5 cents a yard at Tarlton's.

The personal column is so small it is merged with the local.

Mr. Edmund Woodbury has gone to Leominster to visit his son.

Money saved is money made:
Nugents is the place to trade.

Mr. Thomas J. Putnam of Washington, D. C., is visiting in town.

Timothy Holland and John O'Gara have entered Brighton seminary.

Mr. J. W. Vaughn offers his factory near the railroad station to let.

Large congregations worshipped in the different churches last Sunday.

Mr. John Moulton of Salem, has moved to Liberty street in this town.

Conductor Richard Stuart of the Danvers Road, has gone to California.

Mr. Geo. B. Chandler was made the happy father of a little girl yesterday.

Ladies' Leather Buskins, hand made, only fifty cents at Nugent's Shoe Store.

A large flock of wild geese were seen flying southward over this town, Sunday.

Mr. Peter Brien, on Bowditch court, has some ripe strawberries in his garden.

A ride out in the country is delightfully enjoyable at this season of the year.

Mrs. Benj. C. Osborne is building an addition to her cottage at Asbury Grove.

Jack Barry won a 150 yard race yesterday from a fellow named Riley of Salem.

Mrs. Fred Clerk and daughter, of New Haven, Conn., are visiting in town.

A notice of the meeting of the registrars of voters will be found in another column.

Mr. Joseph H. Poor's residence on Chestnut street, has been connected by telephone.

Blankets and comforters, large assortment, lowest prices, at F. D. Tarlton's, 42 Main street.

Rev. Mr. Sprauge preached at the Universalist church, Marblehead, last Sunday afternoon.

Dogs killed several hens belonging to David M. Newhall, at So. Peabody, last Wednesday.

Coburn Fuller & Co., shoe manufacturers of Milford, pay their help $25,000 a month.

The family of Prof. Bergen of the high school will remain at Boxford till the first of October.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

Several of our manufacturers are providing quarters for the non-union men in their employ.

A man working for Harrington had his head cut with a stone while walking along Beaver street.

Mr. Walter Harris has been transferred from Mr. Hathaway's Peabody to his Marblehead bakery.

The juice of a lemon in a cup of strong coffee without sugar, is offered as a remedy for sick headache.

R. W. C. H. Norris, of Salem, will officially visit Jordan Lodge F. & A. M. on the evening of Sept. 29.

Miss Josie Moulton, daughter of John G. Moulton, the meal man, has been elected school teacher at Denver, Col.

The St. Johns C. T. A. Society have hired the town hall, and will give a social dance on the evening of October 11th.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town —Nothing like it, Principee. Clarks Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo Stevens' *

Mr. E S. Plaisted, station agent of the B. & L., is a delegate from Danvers to the Republican Congressional Convention.

Truant officer Crowley says that truancy in our schools is becoming less frequent. Only one or two cases a day are reported.

F. D. Tarlton has taken the agency for the Domestic Sewing Machine. One is on exhibition at his store, 42 Main street.

Mr. William Emmerson, of the firm of N. W. Edson & Co., will go to house keeping in Mrs. Andrew Porter's house on Elm street.

The next meeting of the Essex County Universalist Sunday School Association will occur at Lynn, on Wednesday, October 13.

If you wish to save from two to five dollars on the price of a set of teeth, call on Dr. Doyle; prices reduced on all kinds of dentistry. *

Miss Maggie Carbrey, living on Dustin street, was given a surprise party last evening and her friends presented her with a gold ring.

F. Osborne Jr. & Co., have subscribed $25 for the Charlestown fund, B. D. Hill $5, J. B. Thomas $100 and B. F. Southwick $10.

The Boston & Maine railroad are arranging to put a new wire for their use from Newburyport to Lawrence, passing through Peabody.

A skating and dancing party was given in the Marblehead skating rink last evening for the benefit of the Peabody tanners and curriers.

A large number of tickets have been sold for the benefit of the locked out men, to an athletics exhibition at the Salem base ball ground to-day.

Mr. Calvin Pierce is making improvements in St. Paul's Episcopal church. A new roof will be put on and an entrance made from Lowell street.

Mr. H. I. Benedict, formerly of the PRESS office, has accepted an offer from the Martha's Vineyard Herald to remain with them through the winter.

The Bowditch and Center school nines played base ball last Saturday and the latter won 26 to 9. The Daisies defeated the Actives by a score of 9 to 3.

Here is something for the girls who are fond of wearing natural flowers. Burn the stems before fastening to the corsage and this will prevent their fading.

At a meeting of Masconomo Tribe of Red Men last Thursday evening, District Deputy S. S. Littlefield raised up the chiefs. Charles C. Hill was appointed Second Sannap.

The 66th annual exhibition of the Essex Agricultural Society will be held at Newburyport on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 28 and 29. Get your pumpkins ready.

A Prohibition meeting is to be held in Franklin Hall, at 7.30 on to-morrow evening. Rev. A. A. Williams, of Lynn, is expected to speak. A cordial invitation is given to all to attend.

A delicate glue for mounting ferns and sea-weeds, is made of five parts of gum arabic, three parts white sugar, two parts starch, and a very little water. Boil until thick and white.

There seems to be trouble at Upton's glue works, and a gang of men who were hanging around there yesterday said they were on a strike. They returned to the provinces this morning.

Messrs. Boynton & Cochey, of Lynn, have taken the old Noyes factory on Aborn place and will manufacture fly button stock. If it proves successful it will be an important industry in this town.

Some of the papers are suggesting the name of Henry Wardwell, Esq., for state senator from this district. Mr. Wardwell is in every way qualified and will get there some time if not this year.

--- A GIGANTIC ---

CLOTHING HAT, CAP

—— AND ——

GENT'S FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT

—— FOR ——

SALEM.

David Conrad's entire block to be connected with the Naumkeag Clothing Store which will be when completed the largest retail Clothing, Hat, Cap and Gent's Furnishing Goods Establishment in New England, except the "Marlboro" in Boston, one of our own stores, and the largest in the U. S.

We desire to inform the citizens of Essex County that we have leased the Conrad estate, formerly occupied by him as a Dry Goods Store, and shall commence at once to connect it with the Naumkeag Clothing Store, making one enormous establishment.

BUYERS OF CLOTHING, HATS, CAPS AND FURNISHING GOODS REMEMBER!

Our entire stock of Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing, Hats, Caps and Furnishing Goods, amounting to over ($65,000), sixty-five thousand dollars worth must be closed out at once. This will be the grandest opportunity for the citizens of Essex County to secure reliable clothing at figures lower than ever before heard of in New England.

This sale will include all our heavy Winter Overcoats, carried over from last season, numbering over (600) six hundred Men's, Boys' and Children's all warranted to be clean perfect goods, just as stylish as any made this year, and a saving of 30 to 40 per cent. to the buyer. Our object in offering this gigantic sale so early in the season, is on account of enlarging our store.

School commences now in a few days. Parents should not fail to call and examine our enormous stock of Boys' and Children's School Suits, in heavy and medium weight. We shall offer at this sale over (2000) two thousand Boys' and Children's School and Dress Suits, over 50 different patterns to make your selections from. In fact you will have a wholesale stock to select from, at prices that cannot fail to meet with the approval of every buyer. The goods must be closed out before the 20th of September.

We must unload a very large proportion of this stock before our alterations are completed.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

177 & 179 Essex St., Salem.

Z. A. GALLUP, - - - - - MANAGER

Mr. C. L. Eastman, of Chelsea, will preach on Social Purity at Franklin Hall, next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Ladies invited. The regular business meeting of the union will be held at 3 o'clock.

The republican caucus to choose delegates to the state and congressional conventions and a town committee will be held at town hall to-morrow evening. The democratic caucus will be held Friday evening.

The annual session of the Universalist State Convention, will be held in Gloucester three days, commencing Sept. 28. Delegates from Peabody will be present. Rev. F. W. Sprague is one of the speakers.

The League of Essex County Wheelmen is to hold its annual fall races on Saturday, October 9, the place to be announced later. They will be held either at the Danvers riding park or on the Lynn racing track.

It is reported that Rev. A. B. Hervey, formerly of the Universalist church, is engaged to be married to Miss Jennie, daughter of Mr. B. F. Shaw, a former resident, now famous as the inventor of the "Shawknit" stocking.

The school committee have appointed Mr. William F. Summer as Janitor of the Wallis school. Mr. Summer lives near by and we should think would be a good man for the position. Prof. Mason will conduct the music during the absence of Prof. Bill.

Sleep will do much to cure irritability of temper, peevishness and uneasiness. It will do much to cure dyspepsia. It will relieve the languor and prostration felt by consumptives. It will cure the neuralgia. It will cure a broken spirit. It will cure sorrow.

Two large English mastiffs, en route from some Maine watering place, attracted much attention on Lowell street last Saturday. The dogs belonged in Lowell. One was three years old and weighed 168 pounds. The female was only eleven months old and weighed 135 pounds. They were intelligent looking brutes.

Miss Jessie Beckett of this town was united in marriage last Thursday evening to Mr. Andrew Dow of Lynn. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. W. Sprague of the Universalist church. The PRESS extends congratulations. They will reside on Central street.

The Peabody skating rink will be opened for the season by the Peabody Cycle Club, Wednesday evening, Oct. 6th. There will be skating and dancing, also a two mile kankaroo bicycle race against skates and a sack race. The Salem Brass Band will furnish the music.

The country is now wearing a garb almost as fresh and green as that of June, but here and there like eyes of fire, gleam forth the first red and yellow of the maple and the dogwood, while the roadside shimmers with the nodding golden rod and purple Indian plume, and over all the old zigzag fence slumbers the bursting bitter sweet in sweet profusion. 'Tis a lovely season, the beginning of Autumn.

The trip of the Danvers and Naumkeag street railroad conductors to Lynn, last Wednesday, and the good time that followed, will long be remembered. Previous to the starting of the Danvers Cars, Mr Vickery, in behalf of the employes, presented Superintendent Cook with a handsome gold watch chain and charm. The car was handsomely decorated and they proceeded to Hotel Nahant where an excellent supper was served, and the festivities were continued until day light.

It may be of interest to some people to know that under present legal decisions to refrain from publcation of the names of persons convicted of or charged with crime, for a consideration, is substantially blackmail, the punishment for which is "punishment in the state prison not exceeding fifteen years, or in the house of correction not exceeding ten years, or by fine not exceeding $5,000, or by both such imprisonment and fine." Wonder whether any one within ten miles has received money from a defendant in a police court to withhold his name from appearing in any paper?

Children's glove, kid or goat Button, best made, only 40 cents at Nugent's.

Mr. Joseph N. Burbeck, who broke his leg, is so far recovered as to ride out.

For window glass, paints, oils, lanterns and lamps, go to Morrison & Trasks.

Chas. A. Ware, Esq., has been called to Wells, Me., by the death of his grandmother.

Messrs. C. O. Stone & W. C. Munroe have entered their trotters at the Franklin Park races.

An exchange puts the following query: "If a cannon ball be dropped from a balloon above the earth, describe its course through space.

Fred G. Preston, Esq., has settled his suit against the Danvers street railway company by the payment to him by the company of $25.

The town clerk is preparing a duplicate copy of the list of taxable polls and estates for 1886, to be placed on file at the State House.

Excursion tickets to the White Mountains by either the Boston and Maine or Boston and Lowell roads are advertised. The round trip tickets to Crawfords or Fabyans are $3, good going Sept. 20 and 27, and returning until Sept. 25 and Oct. 2.

The Lowell Weekly Sun of last Saturday contained the pictures and an interesting sketch of the newspaper men of Lowell. There were twenty-two of them and are as fine looking men as could be found anywhere. The enterprise of the Sun in presenting them to their readers is commendable.

The Endicott farm at the Port, on which is the 253 year old Endicott pear tree, is to have a face wall the whole length of its street line on Endicott street. S. E. McLaughlin is to build it and began the job some two weeks ago. The farm is about half a mile on each side of the street, and the wall is to cost over $7,000. This farm is owned by William Endicott of London (who is here at the present time), but is in charge of W. C. Endicott, Sec. of War, and is carried on by T. H. O'Neil.—Danvers Mirror.

Poet's Corner.

The Old Story.

BY MARY BRADLEY.

No doubt old Mother Tabbyskin
Had reason for complaint,
When she declared that really
It would provoke a saint,
To see that pompous Thomas-cat
Go strutting round the house,
And never lift his lazy paw
To even scare a mouse!

"It's truly shameful," she observed
To Mrs. Catharine Black,
"It truly is!" Came Catharine's Emphatic answer back.
"If you and I should spend our lives
Like those great worthless things,
Would we be coddled by the fire
And fed on chicken wings?"

"Not much!" said Mother Tabbyskin.
"Not much!" said Madame Black,
Flashing scorn from her green eyes,
And humping up her back.
"It's time—mi-ow!—there was a change—
Let's travel round o'nights,
And try and rouse the sisterhood
To strike for equal rights!

"Agreed!" says Mother Tabbyskin,
And so they hired a hall,
And issued flaming circulars—
Admission free to all.
The feline neighborhood was aroused;
White cats and buff and gray,
Flocked in to hear what Tabbyskin
And Catharine had to say.

And there were nods, and there were winks,
And there was whispering,
And some said it was very fine,
And some said no such thing.
"What good," asked little Mrs. White,
"Will equal rights do us?—
They'll surely wake my kittens up
If they make such a fuss?"

Not far from her Miss Malta sat—
A dainty maid in gray,
Who listened with attentive ears
Drooped in a graceful way.
She really had not known her sex
Was so abused, till now,
And yet—and yet for all the talk,
She didn't quite see how.

But Mrs. Catharine ought to know,
So Malta crossed her paws,
And thought she would devote herself
Henceforward to the cause.
To free her poor downtrodden sex
From tom-cat tyranny,
And get them votes and offices—
How glorious it would be!

But maiden hearts are weak, alas!
And some one whispered near,
"The right to love, and be beloved,
Is always yours, my dear.
Come, sweetheart! come away with me,
Forsake this squalling crew,
And equal rights nor equal wrongs
Shall ever trouble you!"

Soon from without a thrilling strain
Stole sweetly through the hall,
It was the long-drawn melody
Of Thomas on the wall.
And then alas for Tabbyskin's
And Catharine's advice!
They might as well have stayed at home
To scare away the mice.

Snowball and Jet and Tortoise shell,
The silly kittykins!
Began to be as fidgety
As if they sat on pins.
One presently with velvet feet
Stole sidelong to the door,
Another slyly followed her,
Then half a dozen more!

Like Mr. James's heroine,
Of whom we all have read,
They had no will but Thomas's
And followed where he led;
While Tabbyskin and Catharine
Were left to caterwaul
In solitary majesty,
Deserted by them all.

A Boston Beauty.

She read to rest her the Zend Avesta,
And could talk in Homeric Greek,
She was a master of Zoroaster,
On Kant had written a critique.
With Emerson and Parker, and Schleirmacher,
And Baker and Joseph Cook
She was familiar, and would almost kill yer
In discussing them like a book.
She'd give you a spasm on protoplasm,
And make you dizzy on art;
She was primed on theology and anthropology,
On Darwin, and Hobbs and Descartes.
It was almost painful, she had such a brainful
Of knowledge so far out of reach;
It was almost intolerable to hear her grow voluble
With her polysyllabical speech.
She would talk and gabble on the ruins of Babylon,
And the excavations in Crete,
Switch off on psychology, physics, philology,
Coal, carbon, petroleum and peat.
She had for her suitors professors and tutors
Of antedeluvian lore,
But she fain would resist 'em and quickly dismissed ,em
And showed 'em the way to the door.
But there came one summer a St. Louis drummer,
And his suit persistently plied,
And this St. Louis drummer he wooed and won her
And carried her off as his bride.

—Lynn Saturday Union.

EAVESDROPPING.

They sat together in the soft moonlight,
Upon the rocks, and gazed out o'er the sea.
He was a handsome, manly youth, and quite
A match for such a lovely girl as she.

Their trysting-place was a romantic spot,
Known, as the lovers thought, to them alone;
For, as old Shake would say, they did not wot
That I had made their secret all my own.

They were engaged. She'd named the happy day.
Within a month they twain would be made one.
Meanwhile they spooned; and I'm ashamed to say,
I used to hide close by, and watch the fun.

This special night they sat there, slow to speak
As lovers will, entranced in silent bliss,
Until he drew her close and on her cheek
Impressed, as lovers will, a tender kiss.

She started, shrieked, and thrust aside his arm,
Then turned away her head and softly cried.
"Why, darling!" he exclaimed, "What was the harm?
What! can't a fellow kiss his future bride?"

But still she sobbed. And then down by her side
In wild alarm he knelt, and begged that she would speak.
"What can I do to soothe my sweet?" he cried.
"What was the meaning of that dreadful shriek?"

She raised her head a little, dried a tear,
The color flushed her face in one hot wave;
"I—I think," she sobbed, "that if you really loved me, dear,
You would go off somewhere, and get a shave."

—Somerville Journal.

THE GROCER.

A grocer cannot take his E's
Or even C K a rest,
For he's to market while the B's
Sleep E Z in their nest.

He has to watch with all his I's
When customers S A
To help themselves, or other Y's
They'd steal his fine R A.

He makes big profit on his T's,
With sugar mixes S &,
And grinds with coffee lots of P's
Or N E thing at hand.

Slow payers he must not X Q's,
Because, in K C he trusts,
With all the caution he may U's,
Sure in the N D busts.

When for a man he cuts H E's,
A big P C will weigh
And wrap it ere the buyer C's
It's mouldy with D K.

Most every one the grocer O's,
But, if he's Y Z will Shut down on each dead B T knows,
And have no M T till.

—H. C. Dodge in Tid-Bits.

THE SEA SERPENT CORNERED.

Oh, thou serpent, dragon, demon, hitherto to common seamen, from Alaska to Van Dieman, thou hast shown thy devil visage and thy length of scaly tail; but none will doubt thy being when a councilman of Gloucester and a pedagogue of Boston stand up boldly on the roster and declare that they have seen thee—how thy skeptics cringe and quail!

Oh, thou monster megalosaurus! we believe; oh, don't devour us, don't destroy or overpower us; we are humble, true believers in thy being, famous snake! for no old world traveled sailor, that the ocean's waves have tossed on, 'gainst a councilman of Gloucester or a pedagogue of Boston, would the slightest vague denial of mild contradiction make!

In thy wandering eccentricity thou hast long sought for publicity, but thy valid authenticity men would doubt and still deny; but fair truth must stand triumphant, whatso-e'er the price it cost her, and a pedagogue of Boston or a councilman of Gloucester cannot, would not, will not, could not—could not ever tell a lie.

—Lynn Union.

CHIAROSCURO.

She stands in the glare of the light,
With a face that is sadder than thought,
And eyes that are sadder than rhyme,
While her jewels are blazoning bright,
And her robe, with gold traceries wrought,
To her sway and her motions keeps time.

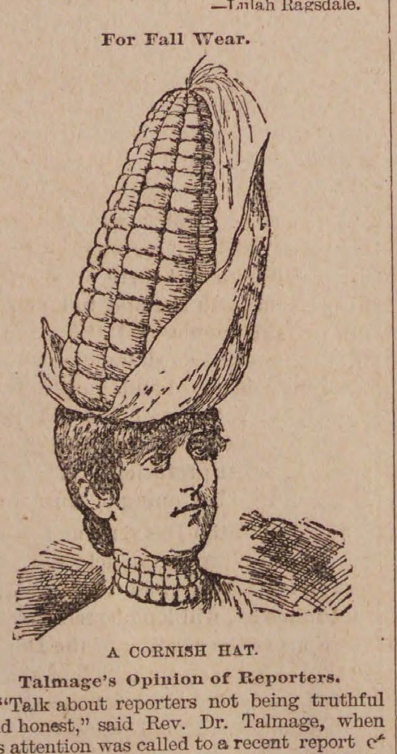
The fall of the flowers at her feet
Makes a radiant and many-hued rain,
Whose odor creeps upward and 'round,
So faint and so sickeningly sweet,
That the old days come to her again,
And mute is the music and sound

Of the voices that cheer her to-night;
And vanished the offerings rare,
The faces upturned to her eyes,
And the blazoning jewels and light,
While her soul darkens o'er with despair,
And her heart to her heart mutely cries.

They echo their calls loud and long,
They shout as again she appears,
But the look on her beautiful face
It is sadder than thought or than song—
Her smile it is sadder than tears,
While the praise of her name fills the place.

—Lulah Ragsdale.

For Fall Wear.



A CORNISH HAT.

Talmage's Opinion of Reporters.

"Talk about reporters not being truthful and honest," said Rev. Dr. Talmage, when his attention was called to a recent report of an occurrence in New York city, "I think that they are, as a class, more truthful and honest than those who say they are not. I personally know a great many of the reporters on the papers in New York city and they are all perfect gentlemen. I have never been misrepresented during all the years that I have been acquainted with newspapers and newspaper men. I have never had a reporter break faith with me. Whenever they have promised to return a manuscript or omit anything they have invariaby done just as they said they would do. That there are mistakes in newspapers I am willing to admit, but I am not willing to admit that they were made purposely.

"The trouble with most men is that they are constantly trying to keep something back instead of being perfectly open, frank and free. This the reporters invariably discover and they will invariably find out what that something is. Most of the mistakes and misrepresentations made in reports are mistakes that can almost always be charged up to some one outside of the newspaper office—usually an interested person."—Exchange.

Sunbeams.

BETTER MIND THE DOCTOR.

Patient—What do you think of a warmer climate for me, doctor?

Doctor—Great Scott! man, isn't that just what I am trying to save you from?

OVERPRODUCTION.

"Who are all those men standing on a line in front of the dime museum?"

"They are men applying for a job to exhibit themselves?"

"What have they done?"

"Swum the Niagara rapids."

DISCONTENTED, BUT DOMESTICATED.

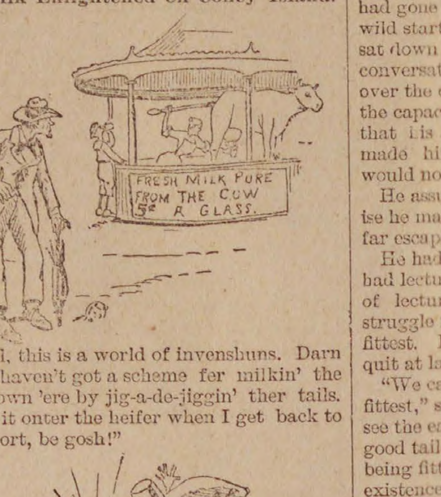
"Ball players are a discontented lot."

"I don't think so. They seem to be very contented."

"Oh, no! They are constantly going out on strikes."

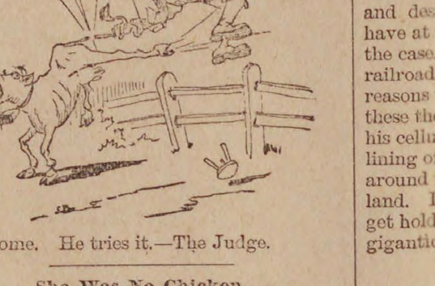
"True; but that is offset by their great domestic affection. They are always running for home."

Skimmilk Enlightened on Coney Island.



FRESH MILK PURE FROM THE COW 5¢ A GLASS.

"Well, this is a world of invenshuns. Darn if they haven't got a scheme fer milkin' the cows down 'ere by jig-a-de-jiggin' ther tails. I'll try it onter the heifer when I get back to Horseport, be gosh!"



At home. He tries it.—The Judge.

She Was No Chicken.

Maj. Grenade (anxious to make himself agreeable to a wealthy spinster)—Been to Florida, Miss Verjuice?

"No, indeed, major! I'm very delicate, don't you know, and could not possibly endure the suffering such a jaunt might produce. I really undergo such excruciating pains in the chest that——"

Maj. G. (interrupting)—Yes—er—pardon me! I've been troubled with the same complaint myself in India. Diet yourself, my lady; live on rice.

Miss V.—Oh, major! what a horrid notion. Why, the stuff is only fit for chickens.

Maj. G.—True, true! I forgot. You are no chicken. Allow me to suggest in prefer——

But the lady closed her fan with a fierce rattle and flounced away.—Glasgow Herald.

Must Have Home Comforts.

Stranger—I see ye advertise board with home comforts.

Landlord—Yes, sir.

Stranger—Any skeeters 'bout the place?

Landlord—Not a mosquito within forty miles.

Stranger—Well, I'm sorry. I've lived in New Jarsey nigh on to sixty year an' the hum of a skeeter is music to me. I'm lookin' for board, stranger, but I'm an old man and I can't git along 'thout home comforts. Good day.—Life

The Little Folk.

Nat and Charlie had never seen a snake before, and this morning they came running into the house very much excited.

"O, mamma! mamma!" cried Nat, "There's a tail running along out in the garden wifout anysin' on it!"—Youth's Companion.

MAKING BUTTER

A little city boy who had just returned from his first visit on a farm gave this description of butter making:

"You ought to just see how auntie makes butter with a barrel and a broomstick!"—Youth's Companion.

A LOSS.

"My boy," said a west end parent not long since, who still believes in the old fashioned virtue, "remember that you will never lose by politeness."

"But father, I have," contradicted the boy.

"Now, what did you ever lose by being polite?" demanded the parent.

"My seat in a horse car," eagerly returned the youth.

Instruction was discontinued for the rest of that morning.—Albany Argus.

YOUTHFUL SOCIABILITY.

A mild mannered young lady moved gently up to the counter in a Scranton drug store yesterday, and in a musical voice asked the medicine man: "Please let me have some insect powder." An unobserved urchin, who had been standing close by, managed to hear the order, and astonished the fair customer by asking aloud: "Are you troubled much wid bedbugs, mum, in this hot weather?" The lady gently screened her embarrassment with a blush, and remarked to the grinning druggist that "childhood was sometimes very original."—Scranton Truth.

Modest Mr. Nye.

"To those who pant for a good book with amusing pictures and grammatical reading matter on the inside, let me say, 'Pant no more'!!!

"I will have such a volume ready in a few weeks. It is now in the hay press, and moist-browed agents with oil-cloth grips are soliciting the names of our best people with marked success.

"I have been the author of other books, but this one is greater in every way than all the others united. It is longer, wider and purer. Mr. Comstock has pawed over it and gone away perfectly delighted. Mr. Bergh has ransacked its virgin pages and chaste illustrations, and states that there is in it no specific violation of the laws relating to cruelty to dumb brutes. It has been tested by the police and tried with acids, and everybody agrees that it is a good book for one and all.

"Everything that could harrow up the feelings or provide a flow of anguish has been carefully expunged. I have had two rapid expungers from the east working on it night and day for several weeks.

"The book will explain a good many things that have heretofore remained unexplained, such as spots on the sun, how to make a good paste for wall paper that will not shrink the room when applied, how to win the affections of capital, how to write for the press, how to set bread, how to purify the liver without removing it. Personal reminiscences, experiments with starvation; in all, over 600 pages of thinks that I have thought.

"Had I not full confidence and childlike faith in the beauty and merit of the book, money would not hire me to thus indorse it.

Yours truly, "BILL NYE."

NYE MEETS AN INNOCENT

Who Talks Evolution With One Hand and Steals With the Other.

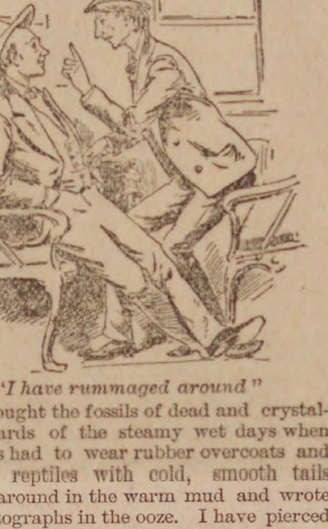
Socrates never uttered a wiser or more pertinent maxim than this: "There is more than one way to remove the cuticle of the cat."

I was riding on the evening train, the other day, my active brain keeping time to the clinkety-clack of its wheels over the rail joints, the steady rumble of the train and the wail of the whistle at the crossings, when a slender young man who had got aboard at the station two miles back came in and took a seat by me. He rose again, went back along the car with his eye on the other seats until he saw a deserted conductor's slip sticking in the window sill. He came back, sat down by me, stuck the slip in his hat, and in two minutes was sound asleep. The conductor came in, glanced over the people and took a fare here and there, but got over the crowd without nailing the slumbering young man with the pink slip in his hat. When he had gone back the young man awoke with a wild start, took a drink from a cooler, and sat down with me again. I drew him into conversation, and found that he had been over the country a good deal, but never in the capacity of a sweat producer. He said that his father died from overwork, and made him promise, ere he died, that he would not die in that manner.

He assured me that he had kept the promise he made to his dying father, and had thus far escaped death from overwork.

He had traveled in many capacities and had lectured also. He had delivered a series of lectures on Darwinism, evolution, the struggle for existence, and the survival of the fittest. But he had lost faith in it all, and quit at last.

"We cannot believe in the survival of the fittest," said he, "for if we did we would soon see the earth populated by tailors, and the good tailors would survive the poor tailors, being fittest to survive. In the struggle for existence the strong butter would overtake and destroy the weak, and thus we would have at last only the strong; but such is not the case. Look at the coffee we get at the railroad eating houses. No, there are many reasons why I am not a believer in any of these theories," he said musingly, as he upset his celluloid cuffs and buttoned them to the lining of his coat sleeves. "I have rummaged around through the great free libraries of our land. I have read everything that I could get hold of. I have studied the tracks of the gigantic straddle bugs of pre-historic times.



"I have rummaged around"

I have sought the fossils of dead and crystallized lizards of the steamy wet days when trilobites had to wear rubber overcoats and gigantic reptiles with cold, smooth tails roamed around in the warm mud and wrote their autographs in the ooze. I have pierced under the great circus tent of the universe and studied the menagerie of every clime, but I believe there is a big gulf between the baboon and the man. It is as wide to-day as ever it was; no doubt as wide thousands of years ago as it is to-day. That's why I hope that my parents did not chatter and squeak at each other in bygone centuries. If they hung to the tropical vines and played circus all the year round and wore nothing but sunlight I am glad I did not have to witness it. If they cavorted through the forests of those primeval days and went in swimming in violation of the city ordinances, and remained out late nights and roosted in the trees, I am glad that I did not survive the sad sight.

"Nothing would pain an affectionate and loving child like this. Nothing would so crush the pride of a fond son as the spectacle of his parents, old enough to know better, yelping through the forests, turning handsprings in the grass, hanging from the drooping boughs of umbrageous trees and loafing through the bright and blooming days of life, like a consolidated aggregation of zoological wonders.

"I am not what you might term a hewer of wood or a drawer of water, of course, yet I am opposed to indolence. I do not care for it. I have had every inducement to become indolent if I would, but I would not. I am a believer in a certain degree of progress in each man's lifetime, and for that reason I am striving to acquire knowledge.

"Yes, we ought to strive to do something, no matter how unimportant it may be. I have lectured on phrenology, traveled with a large educated bear for two years, at the close of which time I fed him with my left arm. I have sold glue to the vulgar herd, soap to the masses, and to the young dark red rubber balloons that collapsed in the gloaming. I have seen mankind in every light and shadow. I have tasted of life gingerly or gulped it down greedily until I see how hollow it is. Oh, so hollow, so flat, so transparent, so false!"

As he wrung my hand and went away at the Union depot, there was a little crystal tear trembling on his lashes, while the corners of his mouth drooped and his chin quivered. He went away with my deepest sympathy and a Waterbury watch which was presented to me by the government when I resigned my position as postmaster at Laramie City and allowed that corner of the great national fabric to fall on other shoulders. I did not value the watch, but how will I explain its absence to my wife.—Bill Nye in Sunday Mercury.

Solved at Last.

He stood for a long time looking into the display window of a gents' furnishing store, and by and by he gave himself a sort of kick and exclaimed:

"Humph! Just like me!"

"What is it?" asked a boy who came up.

"I'm a fule!"

"For why?"

"For because I've bin wonderin' for two years how a feller got into one of these button-behind shirts, and I've jist diskivered that he don't have to turn around in it to bring the busum to the front? Bub, you may kick me a nickel's wuth?"—Detroit Free Press.

Collins and the Captain.

Presence of mind, even in small matters, is a grand thing to possess. On one of the harbor boats the passengers had crowded all on one side, so much so that progress was impeded. It was almost impossible to move them, they were so numerous, so the captain sung out, "Collins, you must get the crowd on the other side." "Ay, ay, sir," and immediately on that side was heard the cry, "Man overboard!" The crowd rushed over to see, the boat righted, and the captain, with a laugh, said, "Well done, Collins!"—Boston Letter.

Lactated Food FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

The Most Successful PREPARED FOOD.
FOR NEW-BORN INFANTS.

It may be used with confidence, when the mother is unable to nurse the child, as a safe and natural substitute for mother's milk.

The BEST FOOD to be used in connection with PARTIAL NURSING.

No other food answers so perfectly in such cases It causes no disturbance of digestion and will be relished by the child.

A SURE PREVENTIVE and CURE for CHOLERA INFANTUM.

By the use of this predigestic and easily assimilated Food, fatal results in this dreaded disease can be surely prevented.

A Perfect Nutrient for INVALIDS in either Chronic or Acute Cases.

Hundreds of physicians testify to its great value It will be retained when even lime water and milk is rejected by the stomach. In dyspepsia, and in all wasting diseases it has proved the most nutritious and palatable, and the same time the most economical of Foods. For an infant may be made.

150 MEALS for $1.00.

Sold by Druggists—25c., 50c., $1.00.

☞A valuable pamphlet entitled "Medical Opinions on the Nutrition of Infants and Invalids" sent free on application.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt

OIL STOVES &
REFRIGERATORS.

Purchasers are invited to call and examine the GARLAND OIL STOVE, which is acknowledged to be the BEST OIL STOVE in the market. We have also several good patterns of Low Priced Oil Stoves.

Our stock of
REFRIGERATORS,
Uprights and Chests, is complete and of the BEST MAKES.
LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH.

☞ Easy Terms on Instalments.

WADLEIGH & MORSE.
81 North St..
SALEM

e 9—3m

CIGARS!
CIGARS!
CIGARS!

Those desiring to purchase a good Cigars, look at our assortment of Imported and Domestic.

Discount by box.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING
9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.
TRY OUR
JAMAICA GINGER.

THE
EARLIEST FRUIT,
And Best Native and Southern Vegetables, Berries and Fruit,
— AT —
Porter's Market,
3 & 5 Central St., Salem.

may 19—4m

DRS. KIMBALL & HOWARD
DENTISTS,
157 UNION STREET, LYNN.
(Spinney's Block near Central Station)

Make a specialty of administering the New Vegetable Vapor and extracting teeth. No charge for the Vapor when more than one tooth is extracted at a sitting.

Also are thorough masters of the profession Dentistry, in both mechanical and operative branches.

y 7—1y

LADIES & GENTLEMEN,
CALL AT
CYRUS C. TREVETT'S,
IF YOU WANT

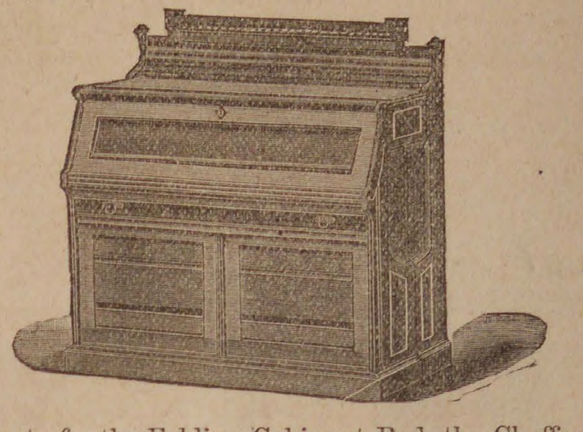
The most durable and stylish boots at bottom prices, be sure and bring the children.

110 UNION STREET.
LYNN, MASS.

jy 7—1 y

DR. LEON RIDEOUT,
DENTIST,
Has removed his office to his Residence,
NO. 8 JOHNSON STREET,
Third House from City Hall,
LYNN, MASS.
Hours, 8 to 12; 1 to 5.
Change, for better accommodation of my patrons.

HEAD-QUARTERS
— FOR —
PARLOR FOLDING BEDS.



We are agents for the Folding Cabinent Bed, the Cheffonier Bed, the Mantle Bed, also Sofa and Lounge Beds in great variety.

CARPETS.

Our new Carpet Hall is stocked with a complete line of Brussels, Tapestries, Velvets and Ingrain, Oil Cloths, Rugs and Matting. Special low prices. All new, fresh stock.

STOVES AND RANGES.

We carry a full line of the New Gleenwood B. Range, the Magee Mystic, the New Elmwood, Pilgrim, and other first class Ranges. Also Parlor Stoves all styles and prices. A good Range with all the ware complete for only $16.00.

You will save money by purchasing your Stoves or Ranges directly of us. Any of the above goods will be sold for Cash, or if you have not the ready money on Weekly or Monthly Payments.

W. C. PACKARD FURNITURE AND CARPET CO.,
Largest House Fusnishers in Eastern Massachusetts,
281 Essex & 1, 3, 5, 7 Crombie Streets,
NEXT TO MECHANICS HALL.

☞ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE.

ONCE MORE

TO SCHOOL!

See Reuben and Hal and little Jane
Merrily tripping down the lane;
They're bound for school, vacation is o'er;
They're ready for their books once more.
How pleased they look! and see how neat!
Yes! well they may, for on their feet
Are shoes from Osborne's, a guarantee
Of splendid fit and quality.

Shrewd folks who strive to make their dimes
Go farthest in these pinching times,
And yet not sacrifice a whit
Of style or wear, or perfect fit,
Flock to our stores in steady stream.
They seek to save; we give them cream;
They tell their friends and they believe,
And crowd our stores from morn till eve.

We Call the Attention of the People

To the GREATEST OPPORTUNITY to SHOE THEIR CHILDREN for School. We offer a stock of Boys' and Youths', Misses' and Children's Boots and Shoes, immense in quantity, superior in quality, and of great variety, and at PRICES that give our customers the Best End of the Bargain Every Time!

No such attractions in SCHOOL SHOES for Children of all ages have ever been offered, even by ourselves, and a visit to either our MUMROE ST. or WEST LYNN STORES will richly repay you.

Boys and Youths Bals and Button Shoes
Misses' and Children's Heeled
and Spring Heel Shoes!

DOWN! DOWN! DOWN!

To prices that give the poorest a chance to shoe their children in a satisfactory and becoming manner. REMEMBER! that every pair of Boots and Shoes in both stores, whose selling price has been 50 cents or upwards, has been MARKED DOWN. This is absolute and without any reserve whatever, and affects the LARGEST AND BEST STOCK OF BOOTS AND SHOES IN NEW ENGLAND!

Boys' Veal Calf, Tap Sole, Balmorals,		.65	.95	$1.10
Boys' Veal Calf, Nailed, Button Boots,				1.40
Youths' Veal Calf, Tap Sole, Balmorals,				.95
Youths' Veal Calf, Nailed,				1.20
Youths' Veal Calf, Nailed, Button Boots,				1.40
Misses' Grain Button Boots, Heeled—Sizes 11 to 2,			.69	1.05
Misses' Grain Button Boots, Spring Heeled—Sizes	11 to 2,			1.20
Misses' Kid Button Boots, " " "	11 to 2,		.85	1.85
Misses' Goat Button Boots, " " "	11 to 2,		.95	1.85
Misses' Kid Button Boots, Heeled, "	11 to 2,		1.33	1.85
Misses' Goat Button Boots, " "	11 to 2,		1.33	1.85
Child's Grain Button Boots, " "	9 to 10 1-2,		.90	1.15
Child's Grain Button Boots, " "	5 to 8,			.75
Child's Goat and Kid Button, Heeled, "	8 1-2 to 10 1-2,		1.05	1.40
Child's Goat and Kid Button, Spring Heeled, "	5 to 8,		.90	1.10
Child's Kid Button, " " "	5 to 8,			.37

AND HUNDREDS OF OTHER BARGAINS'

38 MUNROE STREET. 23 MARKET SQUARE.

WELLMAN OSBORNE.

Mrs. M. A. McNeil,

LADIES'

FANCY GOODS STORE

149 Essex St., Salem.

Special attention given to

Spinal Corsets, Shoulder Braces, Abdominal Supporters, etc,

Also keep constantly on hand the largest variety of Corsets and Children's Waists in Essex County.

And have just received a large line of

INFANTS' & CHILDREN'S DRESSES,

Up to Ten years of age. Please call and examine.

REMEMBER THE NUMBER,

149 ESSEX STREET

A few doors below the Museum.

mch 31—6m

E. W. GOULD

BAY STATE

Steam Dyeing and Cleansing

WORKS.

9 1-2 FRONT STREET.

SALEM, MASS.

Promptness is our Motto. Satisfaction Guaranteed. Goods called for and Delivered.

AGENTS:

J. W. Pitcher, Atlantic block, Beverly; I. S. Day, Oak St., near the depot, Beverly Farms; Beals & Abbott, cor. Maple & Locust Sts., Danvers; B. F. Stevens, 16 Main St., Peabody; T. W. Slade, Manchester-by-the-sea; Wm. S. Stanley, 4 Grader's block, Marblehead; Benj. P. Edwards, Main St., Topsfield.

MISS BASSETT, formerly of the Essex Dye House, will be at our Office, No. 91-2 Front Street

LEE HALL

CLASSICAL & COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

CITY HALL SQUARE,

LYNN.

Business studies, also preparation for College and for the Institute of Technology. For terms and other information send for circular.

FRANK O. BALDWIN

Principal.

je 30—3m

HALLOWELL & SMILEY.

We desire to remind the people of Peabody that our store is well stocked with the

BEST MEATS & PROVISIONS,

THE CHOICEST VEGETABLES,

and will be found always

A Good Place to Trade.

Our Prices are always the Lowest.

REMEMBER US.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

Jas. Lafreniere,

HAIR DRESSER,

Has taken the shop under Baldwin's Hotel, where all who favor him with their patronage will receive

Courteous and Prompt Attention.

Diseases of the Head and Hair treated. A share of patronage solicited.

BALDWIN'S HOTEL, FOSTER ST.,

PEABODY.

may 26—4t

HOTEL NAHANT.

NAHANT BEACH.

SAM'L SOULE & SON, PROPS.

Is now open to Guests.

Horse cars from Salem and Peabody direct to the house.

Fish dinners a specialty.

Connected by Telephone.

P. O. Address' LYNN, MASS.

ROYAL

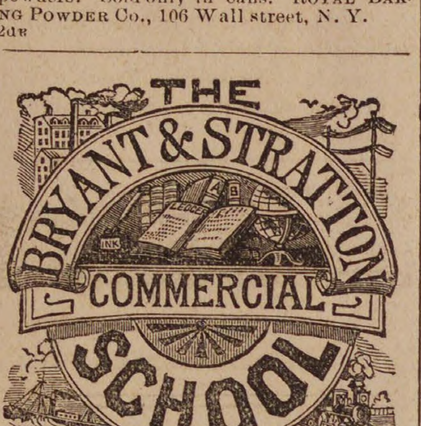
FULL WEIGHT
ROYAL POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, N. Y.

24tf



THE BRYANT & STRATTON COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

BOSTON.

Largest & Most Successful in the World,

Will Re-open Monday, Sept. 6th.

THE COURSE OF STUDY is thorough, complete and practical. Pupils are fitted for the duties and work of every-day life.

THE FACULTY embraces a list of twenty teachers and assistants, elected with special reference to proficiency in each department.

THE STUDENTS are young people of both sexes, full of diligence and zeal.

THE DISCIPLINE is of the highest order and includes valuable business lessons.

THE PATRONAGE is the largest of any Commercial School in the world.

THE REPUTATION of this school for originality and leadership and as the Standard Institution of its kind is generally acknowledged.

THE SCHOOL BUILDING is centrally located and purposely constructed.

SPECIAL COURSE. Shorthand, Type-Writing, Composition and Correspondence may be taken as a special course.

SITUATIONS in Business Houses furnished its pupils completes the varied inducements to attend this school.

On and after Aug. 23d, the Principal may be seen daily from 9 till 2 o'clock, at the School Building, 608 Washington St. Prospectus, containing full information concerning course of study, terms, etc., post free.

OVER WORKED Women

For "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated school teachers, milliners, seamstresses, housekeepers, and over-worked women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all restorative tonics. It is not a "Cure-all," but admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most potent Specific for all those Chronic Weaknesses and Diseases peculiar to women. It is a powerful, general as well as uterine, tonic and nervine, and imparts vigor and strength to the whole system. It promptly cures weakness of stomach, indigestion, bloating, weak back, nervous prostration, debility and sleeplessness, in either sex. Favorite Prescription is sold by druggists under our positive guarantee. See wrapper around bottle. Price $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

A large treatise on Diseases of Women, profusely illustrated with colored plates and numerous wood-cuts, sent for 10 cents in stamps. Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

SICK HEADACHE, Bilious Headache, and Constipation, promptly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pellets. 25c. a vial, by druggists.

DESIRABLE REAL ESTATE

IN PEABODY,

FOR SALE.

The estate owned and occupied by C. C. Farwell and situated on the corner of Grove and Walnut streets, is offered for sale at a low price and on easy terms.

The estate consists of a two story frame dwelling house, containing 12 rooms, with water and gas, a barn 28x35, and about three quarters of an acre of land.

For a manufactory, with dwellings for the owner and tenants, there is no better situation in the county.

Address, or apply to

F. E. FARNHAM,
8 Allen's Block,
Peabody Square

je 16

MASSACHUSETTS

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

AT WORCESTER.

For the Training of Teachers.

Fall Term begins Thursday, Sept. 9, 1886
Spring Term begins February 3, 1887.
Tuition and use of Text-Books FREE. For particulars address

E. H. RUSSELL, Principal.

M. N. BLACK,

Saratoga Waves made to order, a specialty, also old pieces redressed to look as well as new.

80 MARKET ST., LYNN.

je 30—3m

FOR SALE.

The Tanyard belonging to the Estate of Abel Story, situated at Essex Falls, near Railroad. Plenty of Water. A Rare chance.

Apply to B. F. RAYMOND,
ESSEX, MASS.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,

SALEM, MASS.

EXAMINATION of Candidates for admission on TUESDAY, September 7. Tuition and text books free. Pecuniary aid to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to

D. B. HAGAR, Principal.

jy 26—3w

Label and Use With Care.

One can scarcely be too careful in handling and placing strong or poisonous liquids. There are two or three volatile liquids used in families which are particularly dangerous, and must be employed, if at all, with special care. Benzine, ether, and strong ammonia constitute this class of agents. The two first-named liquids are employed in cleaning gloves and other wearing apparel, and in removing oil stains from carpets, curtains, etc. The liquids are highly volatile and flash into vapor as soon as the cork of the phial containing them is removed. Their vapors are very combustible, and will inflame at long distances from ignited candles or gas flames, and consequently they should never be used in the evening, when the house is lighted. Explosions of a very dangerous nature will occur if the vapor of these liquids is permitted to escape into the room in considerable quantity. In view of the great hazard in handling these liquids cautious housekeepers will not allow them to be brought into their dwellings, and this course is very commendable. As regards ammonia, or water of ammonia, it is a very powerful agent, especially the stronger kinds sold by druggists. An accident in its use has recently come under our notice, in which a young lady lost her life by taking a few drops through mistake. Breathing the gas, under certain circumstances, causes serious harm to the lungs and membranes of the mouth and nose. It is an agent much used at this time for cleansing purposes, and it is unobjectionable if proper care is used in its employment. The phials holding it should be kept apart from others containing the medicines, etc., and rubber stoppers to the phials should be used. Oxalic acid is considerably employed in families for cleansing brass and copper utensils. This substance is highly poisonous, and must be kept and used with great caution. In crystalline structure it closely resembles sulphate of magnesia, or Epsom salts, and, therefore, frequent mistakes are made and lives lost. Every agent that goes into families amongst inexperienced persons should be kept in a safe place, labelled properly, and used with great care.

* * *

Beautiful Bread-Winners.

There are all kinds of women in the Northwest. From the cultured dames of our best cities the grade runs all the way down to the female road agent. But, as a rule, the girls of Montana are made of the very best material to be had on the continent, says the San Francisco Chronicle. Scattered all over the broad prairies of Montana are refined and cultured women, bred in affluence and ease, proud, young and hopeful, called by the misfortunes of their husbands or led by their desires to enter and achieve in new fields the mission of life, to surrender society, the home and friends and scenes of their youth and march boldly to a far-off wilderness and endure privation, toil, labor and suffering.

But these women have grown brave, industrious, self-reliant, full of pluck and energy, and perfect horsewomen, healthy, hearty, active and independent, and in many cases about as pretty and as plump as the very best of climates can make them. Now, the typical Montana girl, if left alone, will succeed where an ordinary man would fail. With no vices, they stick closely to business, and if bent on tree claiming, homesteading, or pre-empting a quarter, half, or whole section of land, they generally stay by the claim to the end and prove up on time.

Many of these enterprising damsels wouldn't have a husband at any price. Again, many after laying the foundation of a comfortable fortune are taken in by some lazy bachelor who comes loafing along, sees the chance, marries the maiden, and settles down into a nice ready-made home. These girls are bread-winners, and no mistake. They are up to all kinds of schemes, such as ranching, herding of sheep or cattle, school superintendents, and even politics.

* * *

Taking Photographs of the Stars.

There has been introduced at the Paris observatory an apparatus specially designed for photographing the heavenly bodies, and M. Mouchez, director of the observatory, has presented to the French academy of sciences, a chart obtained by this wonderful method. This map contains a small section of the milky way and presents to view five thousand stars, ranging from the sixth to the fifteenth magnitude. In view of the fact that there are forty-one thousand superficial degrees in the firmament, it is estimated that a representation of the whole surface, completed in the same way, would require six thousand similar sections, forming one thousand five hundred ecliptical charts. It is further estimated—gigantic as such work appears—that, if it were undertaken by six or eight observatories, favorably situated in the two hemispheres, the work might be concluded in five or six years, and would contain photographs of 20,000,000 stars, down to the fifteenth magnitude.

* * *

Mr. Chas. F. Powell, postmaster, Terre Haute, O., writes that two of his very finest chickens were recently affected with roup. He saturated a piece of bread half an inch square with St. Jacobs Oil and fed it to them. Next day he examined them and there was no trace of the disease remaining.

A SHORT SUMMER SERMON.

Brother Gardner Gives Some Wholesome Advice to One Entering Matrimony.

Brudder Amibad Cantilever, it am reported dat you am about to take unto yerself a wife. Dat de report am true your recent ackshuns am proof. You has bin seen pricin' second-hand stoves, squintin' at fo' dollar bedroom sweets, an' rustlin' aroun' arter bric-a-brac. Marriage am nuffin' you need be ashamed of, an' I reckon you kin depend on dis club to warm up de house fer you an' leave behind some hard-bottomed cheers an' a few articles of tinware.

Brudder Cantilever, marriage am a lottery or a dead sure thing—jist as you make it. If you git stuck on sight—fall in luv wid a gal fur her small feet, taperin' waist, dimpled chin or warblin' mouf, an' marry her off-hand at about twelve weeks' notis, you needn't be astonished if dar am a dynamite 'sploshun afore you hev bin hitched a week. Small feet an' a good temper doan' allus go together. Slim waists an' kitchen economy may not work in de same harness. De gal who charms you by de way she drums de pianner may flatly refuse, as a wife, to run dem same fingers ober de washbo'd. Firstly, doan' git married until you know what you are bein' j'ined to. Study de gal. Let de feet go an' watch her temper. Let de bangs go an' watch her economy. Nebber you mind about de way she dimples her chin, but ax yerself if she'll make de bed wid de foot lower dan de head. You has got to do all de studyin'. Not one gal out of a thousand eber stops to size up a luver. If his Grecian nose or curly h'ar or droopin' mustache strikes her fancy, she'll nebber stop to study his natur' nor to worry ober his habits. She is marryin' dat nose, or head, or mustache. A month arter marriage, when he hauls her aroun' by de hair and slaps her dimpled jaw, she's perfectly astonished to think she made sich a mistake.

Secondly, Brudder Cantilever, arter de knot has bin tied make up yer mind dat de fucher won't be all plain sailin'. You are gwine to be tried an' tested an' trubbled, an' you hev got to call up all yer manhood. You will h'ar de sasser scrapin' de bottom of de flour bar'l when you heven't got a cent in yer pocket. De woodpile will run out in Jinuary, an' de sugar an' bacon will seem to be car'ied off by de rats. If yer wife am eber so good-natured she will hev her trials an' tribulashuns, an' dar may be times when she'll riz up an' claw fur you. In de y'ars gone by my ole woman has rushed upon me wid de rollin' pin, an' I has retorted in a way to make her ears ache, but all de time I knowed she was savin' an' good hearted, an' she knowed I'd empty my pockets of de las' shillin' to buy her a new set of false frizzes. If you am suited to each odder an occashunal row in de fam'ly will prove a stickin' plaster to hold ye de clusser together. If you ain't suited—if you diskiver dat you hev struck a patch of Canada thistles an' can't sot still, an' if de odder party diskivers dat she has taken a tumble off de monument of Romance an' brought up wid a thud in de mud hole of Reality, you jist absquatulate apart. Brudder Cantilever, my feelins an' de feelins of dis club am wid ye, an' our good wishes, together wid at least $2 wurth of tinware, kin be counted on whenever de fatal occashun arroves.

A Good Case.

A well dressed stranger walked into the office of a Dakota lawyer and real estate agent and said:

"Suppose a man made misrepresentations to me about a piece of land he sold me, what could I do about?"

"Have him arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses."

"If he said it was good land and it won't raise white beans?"

"He could be heavily fined."

"And that there wasn't a stone on it and I find you could build a stone Methodist church off of every acre?"

"Imprisonment, sir, he would be lucky to get off with five years."

"That's what I thought. Now, if he said there were good buildings, and there proves to be only the lattice-work off of a bale of hay?"

"Why, my dear sir, nothing short of fine and imprisonment, and plenty of it, too. It would be a clear case."

"Much obliged; I had about the same ideas myself."

"Well, hold on; don't you want me to take your case?"

"Oh, no, I guess not. You see it was a piece of land you wrote to me about, and finally sold me. I've been out looking over it, and have retained this other man across the street to handle my case. I just thought I'd step over and get your views on the subject, too. Well, good morning. I'll see you at the trial."—Estelline (D. T.) Bell.

Donkeys Were Always Fond of Thistles.

The latest fashionable freak in floriculture is the cultivation of the Scotch thistle. A Newport florist has a parterre of this picturesque plant which is greatly admired.

The other day a New York dude at Newport took a Boston dude to see this parterre of thistles, and the two stood for a while in an attitude of genuine admiration. Finally the Boston dude said:

"Aw, there's something so cheerful and—aw—fwagwant, about these thistles; something—aw—quite appetizing about them, don't you know."

"Weally, so there is," said the New York dude; "and, bah Jove, how cleverly you expwess it!"—Boston Record.

About Bathing Suits.

"Character in Bathing Suits" is a study by a sea shore correspondent. As a rule, the less bathing suit the less character there is in it.—Burdette.

When a Narragansett Pier bathing dress gets out of fashion its fair owner can always sell it for a doll's dolman.—Fall River Advance.

The bathing costumes at Narragansett Pier are exciting some criticism, but if they are anything like those worn at other resorts this season, they are mighty small things to quarrel about.—New Haven News.

A Remarkable Man.

"You say that you were in the Union army during the war?" "Yes, sir; I was at Gettysburg." "At Gettysburg? Well, I suppose you have written a magazine article about the mistakes of the battle?" "No, sir, I have not." "Why, my dear sir, you needn't beg. You are the only soldier living who has not written an article on the subject. Why, man alive, you are a freak. You can get $100 a week in a museum."—Texas Siftings.

How Women Have Never Suffered.

"Yes," said the lady lecturer, "women have been wronged for ages. They have suffered in thousands of ways."

"There's one way they never suffered in," said a henpecked man, rising.

"What is that?" demanded the lecturer.

"They have never 'suffered in silence.'"—Christian Observer.

He Said, and Her Answer.

Said he un 2 her, "U R my joy,
U suit me 2 a T."
She said, "U 0 E 0 T boy, Go way; U R N G."
—Detroit Free Press.

Peculiarities of the English Newspapers.

When it comes to "news," the London newspaper is nowhere. The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Evening Times publish more foreign news, even more London news, every day than appears in all the British newspapers combined. As to American news, the London papers, for the most part, ignore it. They report the American stock markets, with a line or two of mention if there happens to be a conflagration, an earthquake or a strike. This exclusion of the United States as a topic having any concern for Europeans is done on a system, which is shown conspicuously in cases of public disorder or scandal, which are daily chronicled, with all possible exaggeration.

News items in the London journals, like guests at the London dinner tables, take precedence according to rank and title. Russia, being an empire, comes first; then Austria, another empire; then Germany, another; then France, ex-empire and presumptive candidate for royalty; and then Turkey, Egypt and Spain. By the time the United States is reached there is no room left, and so we are given a stool in the corner and told to mind our manners. It is with us in England as it was with Rabelais when he went to Rome, and, seeing the princes of the church kissing the pope's toe, wondered, with some anxiety, what part of the pontifical body a poor monk would be required to salute. Indeed, the press of London, whatever else it may be, is a perfect transcript of London society; and, knowing a lord and loving a lord, it has nothing for the untitled American but a cold potato and a sneer, done up in an extra dirty napkin.—Henry Watterson in Courier-Journal.

Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

It is not long since Helen Hunt Jackson, talking to Miss Helen Bartlett, who has just had her new play accepted by Lawrence Barrett, said: "Ella Wheeler—who is Ella Wheeler? I never heard of her." Helen Hunt was then known only to the few—those who appreciated a scholarly and delicate style and subjects fit for the contemplation of a cultivated reader. Ella Wheeler was the recipient of more letters than she could find the time to answer from all manner of tired, harassed and unhappy people all over the United States to whom she had suggested some gleam of comfort or of hope.

But in spite of the warm cordiality which distinguishes her she can resent an insult quickly and wittily. For example:

Not long ago a lady presented a gentleman to the poetess, saying:

"Mrs. Wilcox, this gentleman has met you once before, when for some reason you made an unfortunate impression on his mind, which, I am sure, will be eradicated as soon as you know each other better."

Mrs. Wilcox surveyed the embarrassed young man unflinchingly, then she said:

"His experience has differed from mine. He left no impression upon my mind whatever" and the unfortunate man retreated, the victim of the blundering indiscretion of one woman and the sharp-edged wit of another.—Cor. Chicago Tribune.

KENTUCKY'S WEATHER PROPHET.

Goose Bone Predictions—One Mode of Forecasting the Weather.

The goose bone may be called "Kentucky's weather prophet." In many farmhouses it will be found hanging in the hall, and old men who have had had it for years say the genuine bones never fail. The real bone can only be obtained from a goose that was hatched out in the spring; the month of May is said to be the best. The goose must not be killed until Indian summer has passed away. After cooking, remove the breast bone, scrape it clean, and then wash it in warm water and let it dry for a day or two. When it has been thus prepared, hold it up to the sun, or in front of a lamp in a dark room is better, and discolorations can be easily deciphered, and, to one who knows the bone reading is as plain as a book.

A bone shown to a reporter was taken from a goose hatched out in May. A row of dots found along the keel of the bone indicates the temperature and the darker their discolorations the more rain or snow there will be. The marks dividing the bone indicate the three winter months, December commencing at the front. A careful reading of the bone indicates much more regular weather than was had last year, and not so severe. There will not be many days during which running water will freeze. The coldest weather will occur during the first half of January and along between the seventh and twelfth there will be severer days of freezing. It will be the severest part of the whole season. Near the point of the bone discoloration is a little heavy, thus showing that the first days of winter will give proof of the season's change. This will be followed by rising temperature and falling weather for Christmas.

January will be ushered in cold and the cold will strengthen as the days lengthen, the coldest days of winter falling falling about the 8th of the month. This severe weather will be brief, followed by rising temperature and heavy thaws, and the last half of the month will see many rains and snows. During February there will not be any very cold weather, but it will be a rather disagreeable month, with snow and rain. A few cold days is all that the month will contribute to the winter. An early and decided thaw is among the promises of the bone. The February thaw will overflow the mountain streams and disastrous floods may be looked for. Altogether, the winter will be what is known as an open season and a good wheat year.—Christian at Work.

100 Doses

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

One Dollar

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PEBLE, Salem, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass

100 Doses One Dollar.

FALL OF 1886.

BRIDAL SILVER.

Through the summer months we have been having made some new styles in

STERLING SILVER,

and have also ordered an immense stock of the best quality

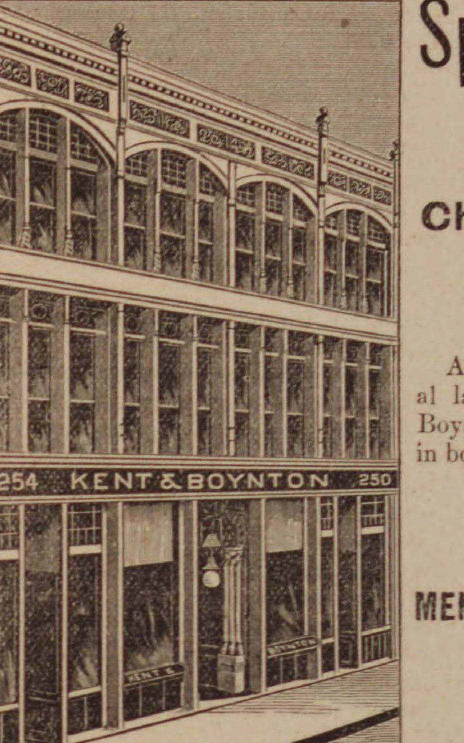
SILVER PLATED WARE.

These goods will be ready early in September, and we are confident we can offer the largest and finest stock of new goods in Essex County. No House in Boston can show a better line of medium price goods than we shall.

DANIEL LOW,

SALEM.

Wedding and Anniversary Presents a Specialty.



Special Sale

— OF —

Children's School Suits.

At this sale we shall offer several large lots of Children's and Boys Suits at extremely low prices in both fine and medium grades.

Also special bargains in

MEN'S SUITS AND PANTALOONS.

— AT —

KENT & BOYNTON'S,

250 & 254 Essex St., Salem.

LADIES OF SALEM AND VICINITY,

It affords us pleasure to call your attention to our celebrated

HAND-SEWED SHOES

For Comfort, Beauty and Durability, they are not equalled. They are crumbs of comfort by the wayside.

Beware of Imitations! None genuine without the name Grover on the Sole.

Please Call and Examine them at the Store of

L. CUNNINGHAM.

147 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Agent for Salem and vicinity.

mch 31—1y

Missey

CRAYON ARTIST & PHOTOGRAPHER,

252 Essex Street, Salem.

Having refitted and refurnished our gallery with new Lenses, Cameras, Backgrounds, Accessories, etc., etc., and having one of the largest and finest operating rooms and skylights in the country, we now have facilities second to none for doing first class work in all branches of Photography.

We have just purchased the finest instruments obtainable for making pictures from 8x10 to 24x24 (full life size) direct from the sitter, and make them either bust, half or full length, or groups. To introduce them we shall make them very low for three months.

We have special facilities for copying old and faded Photographs, Daguerreotypes, Ambrotypes, Tintypes, etc. Before giving your pictures to agents, come to us, and see our samples and get our prices. You can save money and at the same time get better work and not risk the breaking or losing of your pictures in the mails.

We make a specialty of Life Size Free Hand Crayons, made from any kind of picture or from life. One of the advantages, not to speak of the superior artistic qualities, of free hand work over the mechanically finished solars, is that any changes from the original, no matter how great, can be easily made, whereas in the finished solar but very slight changes can be made. We can furnish duplictaes from any negative ever taken by N. C. Bosuley.

Call and see what we are doing, all will be treated courtesy whether anythiug is desired ornot

CHOICE VERMONT BUTTER.

We have just received a car load of VERMONT BUTTER which we shall offer by the tub at prices which

— WE WILL NAME WHEN YOU CALL. —

IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE US

Meats and Vegetables of all kinds at the

LOWEST PRICES FOR SPOT CASH.

Ames & Edgerly's Cash Market

NEXT TO SAMUEL TRASK'S.

STARTLING NEWS

From the scene of excitement.

That arch-enemy of the people, HIGH PRICES, was caught and

ARRESTED

This summer, and to keep him from doing further mischief we have

HUNG

Him higher than Haman. We have considered the cost and are ready to abide by the consequence. Should there be any

EXPLANATION DEMANDED.

we will gladly devote the time to showing you how we did it. We feel confident that we can prove to your satisfaction that we have an immense

Harvest for the People

And we have determined "to leave no stone unturned" to sell our large and well selected stock of goods. Remember we have not

FAILED

To put down prices to the lowest notch, and now invite you to call and inspect goods and compare prices.

NUGENT BROS.,

Foster St., Peabody Mass.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers

THE LITTLE piece from the Newburyport Herald, which we publish in our notes, is interesting as showing the feeling in that strong democratic place, regarding the candidacy of Rev. Mr. Spaulding. It also comes from the other portion of the district—a portion, however, where Mr. Spaulding is known.

There is a disposition to make light of the nomination of Mr. Spaulding. Because the officials of the order say they do not endorse it, because the Knights of Labor is not a political organization, our local cotemporaries have said nothing will come of it. They mention that Knights will not vote for him. The democrats laugh at the idea of their party being asked to endorse him, and yet the Haverhill laborer asks that it be done. We think our democratic friends will find that such endorsement will be asked, and that a strong probability exists that it will be granted. The bulk of the supporters of Rev. Mr. Spaulding have been connected, in years past, with the democratic party. They would be considered good democrats in a caucus. Does anyone suppose that in this town, in Salem, in Haverhill, and we don't know how many other places, these men could not elect Spaulding delegates to the democratic convention?

Would the entire democratic party support him, in such an event? Probably not. Yet in a larger measure than would be the case in Peabody. Give him the democratic nomination, and the fight would be directly between him and the republican nominee. We think this is where it WILL COME. In the event of the nomination of Col. French, the labor element in the democratic party would vote for Spaulding. Col. French can count on no labor votes. The Haverhill laborer says this and we hear the same thing from the friends of Mr. Spaulding here. They would prefer Gen. Cogswell.

In case the democratic convention should nominate Spaulding, no man, whom the republicans could nominate, would receive more support from the "old line" democrats than Gen. Cogswell. And this, too, not because he has not been a republican, but because he has been liberal and charitable of the views of his opponents. If it comes to this, that a union must be made between a portion of the democrats and the republicans, in order to defeat Spaulding,—and we do not deem this by any means an impossible contingency—Gen. Cogswell would be the man, of all whose names have been mentioned, to bring about Spaulding's defeat. The latter's nomination assures the labor and prohibitory vote. This support he will obtain through the county. He claims to have been the only man who voted the prohibitory ticket in Peabody at the last election, and this ticket he had to write out.

We know well the opposition to Gen. Cogswell in some localities. Yet this loss of votes, if any, would be small in comparison with the votes he would gain from the other party. In all respects, he is the strongest man whom the republicans can put up. He received a large vote in this Senatorial district at the last election,—in a district which has been very close, and which had sent, for several years previous to the election of Gen. Cogswell, a democratic representative. He has served the district faithfully and well. No man, be he democrat or republican, dares say otherwise. The republicans of the Senatorial district which elected him should feel a pride in supporting him handsomely in the congressional convention. That convention will receive a cordial welcome in this town, and from none a more hearty greeting than the friends of Gen. William Cogswell.

WE REGRET very much to see any attempt made, on the part of the republicans, to place any man in nomination for the office of district attorney, save the present incumbent. Haverhill is not content with presenting a candidate for Congress, but wants to name a nominee for district attorney. Now, Mr. Moody of that city may be an able man. We have little doubt that he is. But an opportunity is presented to the republican party, just at this time, to take the office out of politics, by supporting a democrat who has proved himself the best district attorney the county has had for years.

We should be glad to see the republican party place Mr. Hurlburt directly in nomination. They can afford to do it, and it would be a handsome tribute, on their part, to the present incumbent. At all events, they should make no nomination, if they cannot be courageous enough to take Hurlburt.

It is not only the temperance people of the county, but the supporters of law and order, who wish to see impartiality in the enforcement of the laws, who desire to vote for Mr. Hurlburt. The insinuations, in some of the papers, that he is not the equal, in point of ability, to others in the district, is disproved by the complimentary manner in which he has been spoken of by the Court, the clearness with which he has presented his cases, and the manner in which he has cleared the docket. In the minds of the democratic party he would be nothing short of a hero, were it not that some unfortunate members of that party, convicted of liquor selling, have been allowed to receive, without interference on his part, the punishment which the law directs.

Independent of party, on account of the fearless ability which he has displayed, Mr. Hurlburt should be nominated and elected district attorney for this county. It may be, it very likely will be asked by the republican party that some member of their party, under similar circumstances, shall be voted for by the democrats. In taking up Mr. Hurlburt they will establish a precedent—one, too, worthy of being followed. Against Mr. Hurlburt, if he should be nominated by the democrats, no republican can be elected. If Mr. Moody of Haverhill has the true interests of his party at heart, he will take himself entirely out of the way.

THE HAVERHILL papers which have supported Mr. Blunt in his candidacy for the republican nomination, have made the claim that Haverhill was the only city which would send to the convention a solid delegation for their candidate. It is well that the city or town supporting a candidate should give him a unanimous vote in the convention, showing that his friends and neighbors with whom he has resided, are the best judges of his fitness for the position to which he is named.

If this is true of Mr. Blunt, as it very likely is, it is equally true of Gen. Cogswell. As we said, last week, the Salem delegation is a unit for Gen. Cogswell. His own city has rallied to his support—sending as delegates able and well known republicans—men who are above political scheming, men whose business relations in the city of Salem are such that no accusation can be brought against them of desiring any reward for their services. Gen. Cogswell is supported because he is considered to be the ablest man for the position, and because he will poll the largest vote against Mr. Spaulding, who stands a resonable show of casting a large vote in this district.

It becomes more and more evident that the contest for the congressional election is to be between Mr. Spaulding and the republican candidate. Those who do not realize it now, will be likely to come to a realization of that fact before the campaign progresses very far. Because we do not want to see Spaulding elected, because we believe that Gen. Cogswell will not only poll a strong republican vote, but receive the support of the many outside of the party, we support Gen. Cogswell for the nomination.

WE HAVE not asked the Salem Gazette for a reply to any question we were unwilling to answer ourselves. When that paper insinuated that our statement of Mr. Perkins' settlement was not the true one, we simply asked it to give what was the true statement or withdraw the insinuation. The Gazette does neither. But it is willing to take our statement regarding the alleged boycott on Mr. Perkins, and after having taken up, for the last month, as much space as we have regarding the labor troubles and the case of Mr. Perkins, it finally says it "don't know anything about the settlement and cares less." The Gazette evidently has got into a passion.

Newspapers placed over garden plants at night will save them from frost until the ground is about ready to freeze. Old papers can be bought at this office in packages of a hundred for twenty-five cents, and one package will cover an ordinary flower garden.

WE KNOW of no good reason why Newton P. Frye, of North Andover, should not be nominated by the Senatorial Convention in this district, as the republican candidate. Mr. Frye, as we understand, has served one year from the portion of the district where he resides, and now that the lines in the Senatorial district have been changed, it would seem to be appropriate and proper that he should be supported by the new towns in the district. Peabody can conscientiously support him, as we have no man to present to the convention. The Senator from the district to which we belonged has served his two terms, and if he had not, would not be in the district to which Peabody belongs. It will therefore be imperative upon us to give our support to a new man. Mr. Frye is a good republican, is very highly spoken of by his neighbors and friends in the upper portion of the district, and has the experience of one year in the Senate. We should think it very probable that Mr. Frye would go into the convention with a strong following, and that he would receive the nomination.

MUSICAL NOTES.

The annual festival of the Worcester Musical Association takes place this week in that city. The closing concert takes place Friday evening. The artists, who are some of the best in the profession, have already been noticed in this column. It is an event of much importance in the musical world, calling together representatives of the different branches of the art from all parts of the country. The advance sale of season tickets has been unusually large, assuring a financial success, beyond doubt.

We understand that an attempt will be made to place in the Peabody Institute some entertainments of a musical character, at the popular price of 10, 20 and 30 cents. There will be nothing in the character of the entertainments that the most fastidious cannot enjoy; at the same time an effort will be made to present popular and attractive selections, by artists who can be obtained at a price which will allow the admission to be such that all can afford to attend. It will be an experiment—one that has succeeded elsewhere, and ought to succeed here. The Institute is now a desirable and attractive hall—its acoustic properties are equal to any, its ventilation is good, its seats are excellent. For anything of this kind it is far ahead of the Town Hall, not only on account of the difference in price, but for convenience and accessibility. Probably the first entertainment will be given by the Hawthorne male quartette of Boston, with instrumental music and possibly a female vocalist or reader.

Mr. George Henschel and his wife have taken up their residence permanently in London. Mr. Henschel has been elected to the professorship in the Royal College of Music, Kensington, vacated by Mme. Jenny Lind-Goldschmidt.

The Southeastern Massachusetts Musical Association will hold its annual festival in Taunton, Oct. 20, 21 and 22. Carl Zerrahn will conduct.

Rudolf King's last song, "Recollection," specially composed for Avon D. Saxon, will be out early this week, published by Oliver Ditson & Co. It is suitable for a contralto voice as well. This song will be published in next Sunday's Globe.

Rev. Willard Spaulding has accepted formally the nomination tendered him by labor organizations in the Seventh Congressional District. He states that he believes in bimetallism and holds that free trade is not now and cannot be for a long time a practical question in America. He favors the immediate strengthening of the navy, the encouragement by the Government of the shipbuilding industry, and the protection of the fishermen by duties and by ships of war. The remaining lands, he maintains, should be divided into small areas and sold to citizens who intend to cultivate them. He opposes convict labor and the importation of contract-bound foreigners. Labor disputes should be settled by arbitration, he holds, and equal pay for equal work should be accorded to the sexes.

Mr. W. D. Brown, the well known music dealer of Lynn, is offering our readers a choice lot of pianos and organs to select from, including the Hallett & Davis, Cumston & Gile and numerous others. He also carries a large line of music and books. Examine his stock before purchasing.

Leather hand bags in all sizes for Tourists or Shoppers, Shawl Straps Brushes, Soaps, Perfumes, &c., at

This world is all a fleeting show,
A circus, quite complete;
And he who has the fattest purse,
Will have the finest seat.

The next meeting of the Essex County Universalist Sunday-School Association will occur at Lynn, on Wednesday, October 13.

Leather bags in tourist and shoppin styles, all sizes, a new stock at Peabody's

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Taking the bulk of the rank and file of the steady-going and reliable portion of the Republican party, we are inclined to think, from all that we hear and can gather, that Dr. Loring would be regarded certainly with as much favor as Gen. Cogswell. Our impression is that in that portion of the party we have named he would be held in more favor. Gen. Cogswell has working friends who are young and who also want something for themselves.—Salem Gazette.

The impression readily given by the above, is that the support given to Gen. Cogswell, in the Republican party, is not among the steady going and reliable portion of the party, but is from young men who want something for themselves. In other words, that the friends of Gen. Cogswell are not steady going and reliable republicans—and we presume the Gazette had particular reference to its own city—the home both of Cogswell and Loring. Such sentiments are an insult to the friends of Gen. Cogswell. The active workers for him, the men who have been elected delegates to the Congressional Convention in his favor—who are they? Such men as Merrill and Varney, Supt. Ferguson of the Naumkeag Street Railway, Anton M. Liebsch, the sail maker, Mr. Pickering, the well known coal dealer, and so through the list,—these men are not the steady going and reliable portion of the party in Salem, but young men who want something for themselves? They are the best blood of the party in Salem,—business men who would be insulted, and are insulted by an insinuation that they are office seekers,—men who have been in the ranks of the party for years and have worked hardest and best for its success. The delegates from Salem are men of whom any candidate should be proud. Not reliable republicans, indeed? And this from the man who received the support of Salem republicans, two years ago, in the convention.

Coming to our own representative district, a newspaper in a neighboring town, in advocating the nomination of Gen. Cogswell, took occasion to say he had the best "claim" to the office.—Salem Gazette.

Does the Gazette mean the PRESS? We have an idea it does, and yet we shall be obliged if the Gazette will quote from our article of last week, or what we said a few weeks ago, anything which bears the construction put upon it by the Gazette. We advocated and do advocate the nomination of Gen. Cogswell on the ground of superior fitness for the position over any man whose name has been or can be mentioned in the district. We don't remember or recall that we have said he had any "claim" to the office other than that of merit. The Gazette is the only paper that talks about "claims."

One of the country papers hopes Massachusetts will not "force Senator Dawes into involuntary retirement."

Well, Massachusetts has kept him in Washington for the past 30 years, and yet his friends deprecate any attempt to "force" him out of office. Why not amend the constitution, elect United States senators for life, and be done with it?—Springfield Homestead.

If employers and employes could suddenly change places, if those who are to-day the wage earners could to-morrow own the factories and make terms with those who had formerly employed them, how would such complete reversal of the order of things affect the great conflict between labor and capital? Not in the least. Human nature would still be in the ascendancy. The new capitalists would seek to secure labor on the most favorable terms to themselves, and the new laborers would probably strike in less than a week.—Milford Gazette.

The Haverhill Laborer, organ of the Knights of Labor, of course supports Rev. Willard Spaulding as the candidate for Congress for this district, and calls upon the Democratic party to ratify the nomination. The Laborer also appears to apprehend that the Democrats will do no such thing, but that they will make Colonel Jonas H. French their candidate, and it warns them that the labor men do not want anything to do with Colonel French. It is doubtless correct in the apprehension that the Democrats will not adopt Rev. Mr. Spaulding, who has not been identified with their party, as have other candidates supported by them who have been proposed by the Knights of Labor. This discussion developes the fact that the Knights are not entirely harmonious in their politics, and that though they have been drawn mostly from the Democratic party, there is a considerable element of their membership which is no more favorable to that party than it is to the Republican. The Democrats in this region do not talk as if the situation was encouraging, but appear to look upon the nomination of Mr. Spaulding as a give-away to the Republicans, and believe in the election of the Republican candidate for Congress for the district. And so it looks, if a good man is selected.—Newburyport Herald.

At the dinner given Chairman James F. Almy, of the Salem Republican committee, the remarks by Gen. Cogswell, alluding to the prospective election of James G. Blaine as the next President of the United States, were received with great applause. Gen. Cogswell is a solid republican, and evidently believes that Mr. Blaine is still the leading republican representative of this party in the country, and there are many who believe just as he does.

Should he (Gen. Cogswell) be nominated he will receive a heavy vote in this city.—Salem Observer.

Haverhill, with characteristic modesty, only asks this year for the member of Congress, district attorney and State senator, in addition to a county commissioner which she now holds. Haverhill usually wants the earth.—Newburyport Herald.

Someone asked us the other day why it was that all the non-union men in town were given permission or took permission to carry loaded revolvers. We could not answer it. It strikes us that it is dangerous business, if it is true.

There is no question but that large numbers of non-union men are daily arriving in town. It is also true that there are defections from the Knights, and that many of the manufacturers are apparently doing all the business they desire. We do not believe that the manufacturers are any better satisfied with the result; nor are the Knights of Labor. It may go on in this way indefinitely and the question is not settled. It is no nearer a settlement than at the outset.

It is understood that the manufacturers of Woburn propose posting a circular Oct. 1st., similar to the one in this town. It looks as if the movement in Woburn and Peabody, was an organized attempt to break up the organization of the Knights of Labor. We think the end will be that the manufacturing will be in the hands of a very few large concerns. Business of all kinds is tending towards centralization, and it is against this tendency that the Knights of Labor protest. Their war is against all forms of monopoly. Others besides the Knights of Labor sympathize with them in this respect.

The Worcester Telegram, in commenting upon the lockout at the Lee shops in Athol, pertinently remarks that "the Lees practically say that the people who work in their shops shall renounce manhood and independence when they enter their doors; the knights say they will not become simple machines. In this case, at least, the knights have a good cause." This is putting the whole case in a nutshell. —Milford Journal.

Haverhill has candidates enough to fill all the offices in Essex county, and every one of 'em thinks he ought to be elected in preference to a man from any of the little towns in the district.—Merrimac Budget.

Present indications lead us to infer that Newburyport not only wants the earth, but her politicians act as if they held a mortgage thereon.—Amesbury News.

This is one of the unfortunate occurrences which a town must experience before its real right can be realized; it is a great misfortune to the town, and never accomplishes a favorable result to those who are either directly or indirectly connected with it. Capital and labor can never be harmonized when brute force is used by either party, and an effort is made to extract too much from the other. Wisdom in every case is shown in insisting upon only that which is reasonable, for the side which makes such a demand is certain to receive the strong support of public opinion.—Clinton Courant.

The following correspondence has passed between the manufacturers and the Grand Executive board of the Knights of Labor.

Noble Order of the K. of L. of America.

Office of the Grand
Executive Board,
Phila., Penn., Sept. 18, '86.

Leather manufacturers' association of Salem and Peabody, Mass. Gentlemen:—Will you meet a member of the general executive board for the purpose of settling the difficulty existing between your association and their employes. Awaiting an early reply

I am very truly yours,
FREDERICK TURNER,
General Sec. and Treas.

The manufacturers at their meeting framed this reply:

Salem, Sept. 21, 1886.

Frederick Turner, Esq.,
General Secretary and Treasurer.

Replying to yours of the 10th we enclose our circular of July 12; our position remains unchanged.

Very truly yours,
Salem and Peabody Leather Manufacturers' Association.

The Bay State Works, 9 1-2 Front street, are supplied with first class apparatus for cleansing and dyeing all sorts of cloth fabrics and giving the appearance of new goods. Coats, pants, dresses, etc., are cleansed and dyed without ripping, unless the material be silk. Prices are low, too.

—GO TO—

MORRISON & TRASK,

SUCCESSORS TO

Samuel Trask & Son.

WALNUT STREET,

For Hardware, Paints, Oils, Cutlery, Tanners and Curriers Tools, Cordage, Farming Tools, Seeds, Dole's Tanners Shovels and Hooks.

—ALSO AGENTS FOR—

H. W. John's Asbestos Paint.

MORRISON & TRASK,

Walnut Street.

sep 8—1y

A driver of one of Moulton's Salem express teams while coming down Washington street last Friday, noticed a pocket book lying in the street. He jumped out and picked it up and learned from papers that it belonged to a young business man. He immediately returned it to the owner. There was a small sum of money and valuable papers in it.

IVERS & POND PIANOS.

For the best Pianos in Salem examine the Ivers & Pond if you want a good one. For sale only by W. J. Lefavour, 175 Essex St., Salem.

New Advertisements.

Fall Room Papers.

We offer many special bargains in Room Papers this fall, which parties in need will do well to examine, as they will not last long.

We offer an assortment of 10 and 12 ct. papers for 6 cts a roll.

15 ct. papers for 10 cts. a roll.
25 ct. papers for 15 cts. a roll.

GILT PAPERS 25 & 35 CTS. AND UPWARDS.

Merrill & Mackintire,

216 & 220 Essex St.,

SALEM.

NOTICE TO VOTERS.

NOTICE is hereby given that meetings of the Board of Registrars, for the purpose of receiving evidence of the qualifications of persons claiming a right to vote at the State election, to be held on TUESDAY, the second day of November, 1886, and for correcting and revising the Lists of Voters, will be held in the Selectmen's Rooms, Town House, as follows:—

On TUESDAYS, SEPT. 21st and 28th, and OCT. 26th, from 7 to 9 P. M.

On THURSDAYS, OCT. 7th, 14th and 21st, from 1 to 5 P. M.

On SATURDAYS, OCt. 9th, 16th and 23d, from 7 to 9 P. M.

On WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27, from 1 to 5 and from 7 to 10 P. M.

Registration will cease on WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27th, 1886, at 10 o'clock P. M.

The Lists of Voters will be posted Oct. 1st, after which time no name can be added thereto, unless the applicant for registration appears in person before the Registrars, and prove his claim to be registered.

All persons whose names were on the Lists of Voters of last year, and who fail to pay a tax of 1885 or 1886 prior to OCT. 1st, will thus be required to register in person.

All persons appearing for registration must exhibit a paid tax bill for 1885 or 1886, and if of foreign birth a certificate of naturalization.

AARON F. CLARK,
CHARLES H. GOULDING,
RICHARD LYONS,
NATHAN H. POOR,
Board of Registrars.

Peabody, Sept. 22, 1886. sept 22—6t

ALL ARTISTS CAN MAKE MONEY

By sending for our Reduced Price List before purchasing Art Materials of any description. Address, and mention this paper,

EDMANDS' ART SUPPLY STORE,

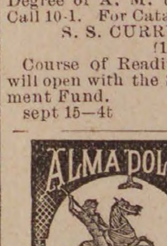
12 Bromfield Street, - Boston.

SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION Training for every need in Elocution, voice, body or mind. Courses for Speakers, Teachers, Professionals and members of Society. 48 hours a week. Work adapted in kind and amount to individual needs, aim and opportunity. Classes for those out of town, graduates of other schools, etc. Library; Loan Fund; Degree of A. M. to A. B.'s. Opens October 7. Call 10-1. For Catalogues, etc., address

S. S. CURRY, Ph. D., Freeman Place,
(15 1-2 Beacon Street), Bosto

Course of Readings by leading elocutionist will open with the School for benefit of Endowment Fund.

sept 15—4t



ALMA POLISH
M. S. CAHILL & CO.
BOSTON, MASS.

ALMA POLISH

For Ladies' and Children's shoes is the only Dressing ever made that will preserve the leather; for French Kid it has no equal. Alma Polish has received the highest reward ever given for a shoe polish and has the endorsement of all the leading shoe dealers in the United States. Ladies try it and we will guarantee you will never use any other. M. S. CAHILL & CO., Boston, Mass.

TO LET.

The factory recently vacated by the Vaughn Morocco Machine Company, situated on Walnut Street. The building is in thorough repair and suitable for manufacturing purposes.

Apply to
J. W. VAUGHN, Washington St., Peabody, or Peabody St., Salem.

sept 22—4t

NEW FALL GOODS

AT THE

BEE-HIVE,

A Special Display of

NEW FALL AND WINTER

UNDERWEAR,

HOSIERY,

GLOVES,

and BLANKETS.

☞See Window Show.☜

—AT—

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE.

SALEM.

RAYMOND'S VACATION EXCURSIONS.

All Travelling Expenses Included.

SEVEN GRAND TRIPS

—TO—

CALIFORNIA.

Leaving Boston November 4 and December 9, 1886; January 6, January 20, February 3, February 17, and March 10, 1887.

THE RAYMOND AT SOUTH PASADENA, the most beautiful and healthful situation in Southern California; at the elegant Hotel del Monte, at Monterey; the Palace Hotel, in San Francisco; Santa Cruz; the Napa Soda Springs; and many other leading hotels and health resorts. There will be nine returning parties from San Francisco in the Winter, Spring and early Summer months, with special trains and daylight rides over the most picturesque parts of the Mountain Route. The tickets are also good returning on any train independent of the travelling parties, with a choice of routes east of Ogden, Utah. All railway travel both ways in Palace Cars. Frequent halts for rest. All arrangements Strictly First-Class. Tickets to be had independently of hotel board in California if desired.

W. RAYMOND. I. A. WHITCOMB.

☞Send for descriptive circulars.
W. RAYMOND,
296 Washington St. (opposite School St.), Boston, Mass.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts,

ESSEX SS.

To the Heirs-at-Law, and others interested in the estate of PRESCOTT E. GRANT, late of Peabody, in said County, carpenter deceased, intestate, GREETING:

WHEREAS, Henry Wardwell, Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance the first account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Salem, in said County, on the first Monday of October next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed; And said Administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of September, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

sept 15—3t

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN

Ladies' Tailoring Department.

Our Rooms will be open for orders, MONDAY, Sept. 13th. The Department will still be under the supervision of MISS S. M. ALDEN, whose superior talent is well known to all our patrons and friends.

A. B. & W.

sept 8

DON'T MISS THIS!

Send for Reduced Price List of ARTIST'S MATERIALS. Please mention this paper and address

EDMANDS' Artist Supply Store,
12 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

sept 25—15t

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening Sept. 15, 1886,

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Thursday evening last was stormy, but a fair audience gathered in the hall of Peabody Institute to listen to Mrs. Mary A. Livermore. A quantity of gay flowers, tastefully arranged by the young ladies of the W. C. T. U., gave brightness to the desk and stand. Piano selections were very acceptably given by Mrs. Mary Jacobs, the organist of the Baptist Church. Mr. A. E. Wells presided with dignity, and very pleasantly introduced the speaker. Mrs. Livermore gave an account of the influence which Mrs. Warren, a sister of James Otis, exercised over the preparation of the declaration of independence. She enumerated what had been gained to women in laws, opportunities and privileges, through the agitation for woman suffrage, and effectively demonstrated that these benefits were only a modicum of those that must result from woman's enfranchisement. In a thrilling way she told of the young Union officer, who, stationed with reserves on a little eminene near the battle of Gettysburg, looked down on the march of other troops, he knew and loved, as they went right into the jaws of death, and most eloquently likened women to reserves who we needed in the political field of action. She spoke almost an hour and a half to an interested audience. Copies of a printed address by John D. Long, entitled "No distinction of sex in the right to vote," and a "Woman Suffrage Catechism" by Mrs. Lucy Stone were distributed by the Suffrage Club, under whose auspices the lecture was given.

A peculiar specimen of a man dropped into the office last Saturday, and after a short conversation said he was from New York, where he was known as "Ezra the King." He said his mission was to educate the people to the fact that Cleveland was the "First minister of the Empire" and that the country was to be divided into twelve districts according to population. Everything in future must be done in the name of the King, who will call around him court officers, including Jas. G. Blaine, David B. Hill, Jefferson Davis, R. H. Ingersoll and others whom we don't remember. For fifteen minutes he explained his mission and as suddenly dropped out as he dropped in. He seemed to be a harmless crank of the Daniel Pratt species.

D. B. H. Power & Co., of Marblehead, the well known house furnishers, who do a large business here on the installment plan, had 75 families who were paying them a dollar a week who were effected by the lockout. The firm instead of pushing them and demanding their pay, told the parties that they need not pay until they returned to work. This makes a difference of $75 a week to the firm but it has made them more than ever popular with the laboring people.

We found a postal card in our box last Thursday morning addressed as follows:

Peabody Post Office
Peabody, Mass.

On the reverse side was the following:

Lawrence, Sept. 16.
Dear Brother gim thell John to send home Danies bag for he is going away to-morrow. yours truly
Patrick—

We wonder if he has got the bag.

Mr. Roger R. Gill has the sympathy of the community in the death of his oldest son, John Gill, who died Sunday night after a short illness of typhoid fever. He was a young man respected by the whole community and was a trusted assistant about his father's business. He was 25 years old. His funeral took place yesterday and was largely attended.

Miss Nellie L. Stockwell is in New York City purchasing novelties in the line of millinery for her customers. She is never behind hand in new and choice goods—whether from New York or elsewhere. Her many friends will leave their orders early for the choicest goods in her line.

The following Peabody people started for Saratoga, Monday, to attend the Unitarian convention:—Rev. J. W. Hudson and wife, Mrs. R. G. Nelson, Mrs. P. T. Nelson, Mrs. Samuel Symonds, Mrs. M. S. Clark, Mrs. A. B. Merrill, Mrs. Thomas Brown, Mrs. I. B. Elliot, Mrs. J. B. Clement, Miss Mary Forness, Miss Lillie Poor and Miss Fannie Porter.

About forty men and boys were chasing a mink on Railroad Avenue Saturday morning and as the animal skipped in and out among the freight cars he made it lively for his pursuers. He was killed by John W. Byron.

Mr. Edward Trask exhibits a pumpkin with the words "Make of me a pumpkin pie." It was raised by Geo. H. Winchester.

The Board of Registrars added nine names last week.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

Daniel Donohue, living on Hancock street, fell from a nut tree in Brown's woods Wednesday and nearly severed an ear from his head.

Thomas O'Shea was bound over to the higher court last Thursday morning charged with indecent exposure.

A glassing machine at W. P. Clark's shop broke last Wednesday and did considerable damage, but fortunately no one was seriously injured.

Last Sunday forenoon the police made a raid on the Washington House, kept by Mrs. Ellen Hayes. In the bar room they found two barrels of ale besides a beer pump and other fixtures. They also visited John Holloran and captured a jug of whiskey, one of rum, and some liquor in a can.

Mr. Walter Lloyd took a header from his bicycle near Flax pond last Saturday and received some bruises over the left eye.

Geo. W. Burnham, employed at the B. & M. railroad station, in tearing down the cover to the platform, fell through the roof, last Saturday, and was considerably injured in his back and one ear was badly cut.

Ingalls K. McIntire of West Peabody had an attack of vertigo on Mill street, Saturday morning, and fell from his team. He was picked up badly bruised. Doctor Foster attended him.

Master Harry, a grand-son of Mr. Aaron F. Clark, fell from a lumber team Saturday morning on Boston street, and was considerably bruised about the face.

There has been a number of uncalled for assaults and combats between union and non-union men, and last Friday evening Officer Barnaby was seriously injured. About 7 o'clock sixteen non-union men left their boarding house on Main street and marched to W. A. Smith's barber shop. As was probably intended this parade attracted a crowd which rapidly increased and a large delegation of police were required to keep the street clear. Two men were arrested, Thomas McMann and Frank Potter, for obstructing the sidewalks. About 9 o'clock the police took the non-union men in charge and escorted them to their boarding house amid hoots and yells by the crowd. When near the house several stones were thrown at the police and Officer Barnaby was struck in the back of his head knocking him senseless. He was taken in Lee's drug store and Doctor Frost was sent for and dressed the wound. The crowd was then dispersed. In the police court Saturday morning McMann and Potter were on trial and the former was fined $5 and costs and the latter was discharged, as there was no reason for his arrest.

Last Saturday night a tall strapping fellow who had been "over the line" was standing on Walnut street in a disagreeable mood and just spoiling for a fight. Shortly after, along came a young fellow, and the tall man made some remarks which were resented and without bandying words the young fellow drew off and struck him a powerful blow under the eye and was almost out of sight before the victim had recovered. A night watchman who witnessed the assault came around and sympathized with the over grown fellow who had got over his desire for a fight.

Mr. John J. Cahill was assaulted by a horse car conductor while returning from Beverly last Thursday. The fellow struck Cahill in the face. Mr. Cahill's friends advised him to bring suit and a number of indignant passengers gave him their names and volunteered to appear as witnesses. He reported the case to superintendent Ferguson and the John L. Sullivan conductor was discharged from the roads. No suit will be brought.

A horse and carriage belonging to a Beverly stable keeper was left standing on Jacobs street Friday morning, when the horse started off on a run. The horse ran through Elm street and was stopped on Wallis street but not till one of the thills and forward wheel had been broken.

James Kelleher was arrested yesterday for assault with stones on the boarding house of S. K. Yeaton, on Main street. This morning he was fined $20 and costs. Appealed.

Last night a crowd gathered on Tremont street as Proctor's non union men were on their way home and the police at the same time arrested Ulick Burke for being drunk. While their attention was called to Burke, the mob seriously assaulted two men named Curtis and Osborne, belonging in Salem. Curtis was unable to return to his work to-day. In the police court this morning, Burke was fined $1 and costs for being drunk and $5 and costs for assaulting an unknown man.

Lewis Buxton, while handling ice Saturday, had one hand severely cut by a pick.

Chas. Steadman, while passing through Foster street was cowardly assaulted last Monday morning. His cheek was badly cut.

The Selectmen offer a reward of $100 for the conviction of the party who threw stones at the police last Friday night, and also the same reward for the conviction of any person engaged in similar assaults in the future, on law abiding citizens.

Some unknown person broke into A. P. Dodge's stable Sunday, but nothing was missed.

John Kennedy of this town was arrested in Salem yesterday, for stealing a boat belonging to Mr. Symonds of the oil works at North River.

David Brown of Peabody, while in the rear of the old post office in Salem, Monday night, was asked what time it was, and as he looked at his watch it was snatched from him and the man escaped.

Mr. G. L. Batchelder, the milkman, fell from his wagon on Main street yesterday morning and badly injured his back.

Mr. John Perkins treed a coon in Andover woods yesterday, and shot him. He weighed 25 pounds.

The police killed a dog belonging to Samuel Goldthwait on Endicott street, this morning. It had bitten a young daughter of Albert Trask.

Mrs. Ellen Hayes has put an attachment on her husband, Billy Hayes, property to the amount of $20,000 and also sued for divorce and the custody of her children.

An express team loaded with leather broke down on the square yesterday morning. The wheel collapsed.

SPARKS.

Engineer John H. Tibbetts is passing his vacation at Moosehead Lake.

Engineer H. A. Southwick has just recovered from a threatened attack of typhoid fever, and is out about his business.

The committees appointed by the various companies in the fire department, met at the Central Station, last Friday evening, to discuss the question of a parade of the department at some time this fall. As some of the committee had no authority to decide at that meeting whether there should be a parade or not, an informal vote was taken, which showed that it was the sense of the meeting that the department should hold such a parade some time in October, and that the committees not fully authorized to act refer the matter back to their companies, and to report at the adjournment of the meeting. Committees were appointed to solicit subscriptions toward defraying the expenses of the parade, and in the matter of entertaining the Provincetown firemen, it was decided that the expense would be too great and the accommodations of the town not sufficient for a large body of men. The meetings adjourned until Friday evening. The committee on subscriptions have begun their work, and the citizens of the town are making a liberal response, so much so, that the question of the parade is fully decided, and it only remains for the setting the date and making of necessary arrangements. There will be a parade, with possibly an exhibition of the efficiency of the department in getting to work. Supper and dance. Two bands of music will be in the procession. It is now thirteen years since the firemen of this town were out on parade with their apparatus. Too long a time altogether. There are many people in this town who have never seen the Peabody department together, and have no idea of what it is, and this occasion will give all a chance to see of what material it is composed. Once started the custom should be followed up every year.

The sound of the whistle on Woodbury Brothers' factory can be plainly heard in Peabody. The numbers of the boxes are blown out well as they can be readily understood in that town, so the chief engineer informs Chief Goodhue.—Beverly Citizen.

Two strokes were given by the fire alarm, at 5.05 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, and the Hook & Ladder truck and Steamer 2 were started out, although the indicator only showed two strokes. The apparatus was headed up Foster street, but found no fire or signs of fire, and it was a mystery as to how the blows were struck, until late in the evening when several others were struck, and then it was evident that the circuit was broken somewhere. When the first stroke in the evening, at 8.07, came in, the apparatus in the Central Station hitched up but did not turn out, as the indicator only displayed one. Supt. Smart immediately began to look for the trouble and soon found it in the battery room, where one of the jars had been disconnected, causing the alarm, as it will at any time there is anything the matter with the line or battery. Hose 3 turned out in the evening and came as far as the Square. The system was in good working order again as soon as the trouble was discovered.

In her latest poem, Lucy Larcom says, "I climb to rest." She evidently is not afraid for people to know that she sleeps in the attic.

HOSIERY CHEAP.

COTTON SOX, 10, 15, 17, 25, 35, 50.
MERINO SOX, 25 and 50.
CASHMERE SOCKS, 25, 50, and 65.
WOOL SOX, 10,

Our stock of Hosiery is unequalled. Our prices are as low as the lowest.

W. S. NEAL & CO..

228 & 230 Essex St., Salem.

F. D. TARLTON,

Dry Goods.

THE NEW CORSET.
THE TRICORA RELIEF
Having elastic side sections, adapts itself to the various positions of the body in stooping, sitting & reclining. It affords great relief and comfort to the many who find ordinary Corsets oppressive. The "TRICORA" stays used for boning are unequaled for durability & comfortable support, & are absolutely unbreakable.
Beware of Imitations.
Ask for it
The most Durable, Comfortable, and Healthful Corset ever sold for its price.
Every pair warranted to give satisfaction or money returned.
F. D. TARLTON.

FOR BARGAINS IN Cotton Hosiery, Light Prints
and Summer Underwear,
— CALL AT —
42 MAIN STREET.

BUSTLES,

FORMS

AND Watch Spring

SKIRTS.

THE NEWEST SHAPES.

— AT —

John P. Peabody,

227 & 229 ESSEX STREET.

The New Discovery.

A FEW RECENT CURES BY BATTIS' EXTRACT of DENICOTIZED TOBACCO.

Richard Cloutman of Wenham, Mass., had a bad cough for the past six years, and had been a confirmed invalid. He was completely restored to health by two applications of the extract to the throat and breast.

John R. Mansfield, No. 11 Nursery St., Salem; hand poisoned by a fish bone wound, hand and arm badly swollen, and pain in breast; bathed wound and arm with the extract twenty minutes; dressed same with cotton batting, wet with extract, and entirely cured with one application.

Daughter of William B. Farrington, No. 45 Charter Street Salem, age 7 yrs.; had diseased eyes, and loss of sight; was confined to a dark room for two months; was relieved with one application of the extract, and entirely cured in one week.

Ellis H. Porter, Kimball court, Salem, was cured of a bad attack of cholera morbus, by one application of the extract to the bowels.

John S. Davis, No. 5 Becket street, Salem; rheumatism in knees and feet; was unable to touch his feet to the floor for months; after using the extract one day was able to walk up stairs and entirely cured in one week.

John B. Clifford, No. 11 Becket street, Salem; had a severe attack of Diphtheria; was completely cured by using the extract for a gargle and binding a flannel wet with the same around the throat. He reports his wife as being cured of kidney complaint by bathing across the back with extract.

Wm. B. Farrington, Salem, Mass.; eczema on the head, finds the extract the only medicine that ever relieved him.

We would state to show the great confidence the public have in the curative power of Battis' Modified Extract of Denicotized Tobacco, that we have sold at retail the past year, over 3000 bottles at our store No. 30 Front street, Salem, Mass.

J. H. BATTIS,

Sole Proprietor and Manufacturer,
For sale by all druggists.

Fall and Winter Opening.

Having moved to the new and elegant Store in the

Old Hotel Building,

NEXT TO THE POST OFFICE,

And placed on our Counters an ENTIRE NEW STOCK of

FALL AND WINTER GOODS,

Embracing all the latest styles in Imported and Domestic Woolens. We are prepared to better accomodate our customers than ever before.

—PRICES THE LOWEST—
AND A PERFECT FIT GUARANTEED.

JAMES HOWLEY,

Merchant Tailor,

EXT TO THE POST OFFICE. PEABODY, MASS.

IMMENCE BARGAIN

THIS WEEK!
NOW IS YOUR TIME TO GET

Men's Canvas Bals. only 65 cents.
Boys' Canvas Bals only 75 cents.
Youths' Canvas Bals only 65 cents.

REGULAR $1.00 GOODS.

Men's and Boys' Tennis, 75 cents.
Men's Tennis Bals., $1.00.
Smith Hand Sewed Goat Button, $2.75.
Women's Comfort Button, $2.00.
Women's Mikado Slipper, 35c.
Men's Silk Embroidered Slipper, 65c.
Women's Fine Kid Oxfords, $1.00.
Women's House Slipper, 25c.

BIG BARGAINS IN SUMMER GOODS FOR THE NEXT TEN DAYS
— AT —
Geo. E. Pearson's.
206 ESSEX STREET.
SALEM.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

French Novelties.

We are now displaying an entirely new and extensive line of FRENCH NOVELTIES in

--DRESS GOODS,--

embracing the latest and choicest importations.

This line comprises a full assortment of combination suitings with Bayedere Plush and Grecian Stripe Skirts, etc., in Mahogany, Heliotrope, Cuban Brown, Princess Blue, and other choice new shades.

In this department we have exceeded all our former efforts and offer a line of goods that alone will repay a visit to our establishment.

OPENING
OF OUR Fall Importation
— OF
French Fancy Stripe Flannels.
JERSEY STRIPE,
FLANNELS
— AND —
EIDER DOWN CLOTH.

Comprising a magnificent assortment of the choicest patterns and newest colorings.

These goods are justly celebrated for style, quality and finish, and are specially adapted for Ladies' Dresses, Skirts, Wrappers and Jackets and for Children's wear.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,
Essex and Washington Street,
SALEM, MASS.

STRAWBERRIES,

POT GROWN.

Plants of Leading Varieties.

By setting in AUGUST will secure fruit the following season.

PLANTS ready now. Send for Circular, or call on

E. & C WOODMAN,
FLORIST AND GARDEN SUPPLIES,
DANVERS, MASS.

Greenhouses, Holten St., Tapleyville, on line of Horse R. R.

SOUTH DANVERS MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE CO'Y.

The members of this Company are hereby notified that their Anual Meeting for the Election of a Board of Directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may come before them, will be held at the Room of the South Danvers National Bank, in Peabody, on MONDAY, October 4th, 1886, at 7 o'clock, P. M.

G. M. FOSTER, Sec'y.
Peabody, Sept. 8, 1886.

BANKRUPT SALE

Of and Imported stock of

Human Hair Goods

The chance that comes but once in a life time.

The extensive stock of Mr. Leonard, the great importer and dealer of fine hair goods, was sold at auction last week in Boston. We were large purchasers of the same at merely nominal prices, and we propose to give our customers the benefit of the same. We have elegant waves at less than one quarter the original price. Crimps for 10c, 25c, 37c up. Warranted water curl ones for 50 and 75 cts.

Hair Switches for 25c, 50c, up. Gray Switches, a full line, from $2 up.

Polished Hair Crimping Irons 25c. Regular price $1.

Fluffy Fedore Curlers 15c, regular price 30c
Ornaments, Hair Pins, etc., etc.

COME & EXAMINE.

Mrs. J. H. Browne's
153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,
SALEM.

Also Remember all our Trimmed Hats and Bonnets will be closed out at Bargain prices. We have the largest stock to select from in the city

BROWNES
Next door to the Museum.

Coal Dealers.

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheaokin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal. Cumberland Coal.

All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere.

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telphone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville, and will be promptly attended to.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

vr T., Batchelder. neyS Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

—AT—

PICKERINGS

7 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

ECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, Jr & CO.,

Peabody Street

N. O. VERRY,

(Successor to L. B. Hatch.)

DEALER IN

WOOD AND COAL,

Hard and Soft Wood Kindlings, Bark, Slabs, Hay, etc.

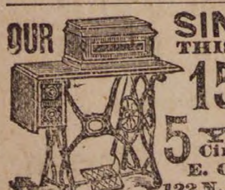
113 DERBY ST., SALEM.

AT THE HEAD OF DERBY WHARF,

P. O. Box 64. Telephone, 444

THE LANGUAGE OF FLOWERS AND FLIRTING

15 CENTS FOR SAMPLE COPY of THIS BEAUTIFUL BOOK. It gives the LANGUAGE and Sentiment of Every Flower and Shrub, 3000 different kinds. Also all the Known Rules of Flirtation with Glove, Parasol, Handkerchief and Fan. It is the most complete work of the kind ever published. Send Fifteen Cents in stamps for a sample copy, also our price to agents. Agents wanted everywhere. Ad. AMERICAN PUB. CO., 17 North Tenth Street, Philad'a, Pa.



OUR SINGER THIS STYLE $17 15 DAYS' TRIAL. A Full Set of Attachments. WARRANTED 5 Years. Send for Circular. E. C. HOWE & CO., 122 N. 6th St., Philo., Pa.

mch 24

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any $10 cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40.000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground. feb 11—3m

Happiness

results from that true contentment which indicates perfect health of body and mind. You may possess it, if you will purify and invigorate your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. E. M. Howard, Newport, N. H., writes: "I suffered for years with Scrofulous humors. After using two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I great relief. It has entirely restored me to health." James French, Atchison, Kans., writes: "To all persons suffering from Liver Complaint, I would strongly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with a disease of the liver for nearly two years, when a friend advised me to take this medicine. It gave prompt relief, and has cured me." Mrs. H. M. Kidder, 41 Dwight st., Boston, Mass., writes: "For several years I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family. I never feel safe, even without it. As a liver medicine and general purifier of the blood, it has no equal." Mrs. A. B. Allen, Winterpock, Va., writes: "My youngest child, two years of age, was taken with Bowel Complaint, which we could not cure. We tried many remedies, but he continued to grow worse, and finally became so reduced in flesh that we could only move him upon a pillow. It was suggested by one of the doctors that Scrofula might be the cause of the trouble. We procured a bottle of and commenced giving it to him. It surely worked wonders, for, in a short time, he was completely cured."

Found

At Home

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

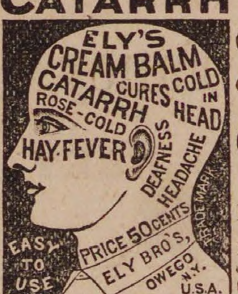
Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. TRADE MARK

Positively Cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00. CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

CATARRH ELY'S



Cream Balm

Gives Relief at once and Cures.

COLD in HEAD

CARTARRH

HAY FEVER

Not a Liquid, Snuff or Powder. Free from Injurious Drugs and Offensive odors.

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at druggists; by mail, registered, 60 cts. Circulars free. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1v

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS!

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS WILL Purify the Blood.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS BEGETS Sound, Refreshing Sleep.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS FOR That Tired, Weary Feeling.

Sick Headache.

GENTS:—I have been subject to Sick Headache for years, and have tried, in vain, many advertised remedies and several physicians, but all to no purpose. At last I tried your B. B. Bitters—without much faith, I admit—but to-day I can truly say, that after taking the third bottle, I have not suffered from it. I recommend it to all my friends; several have been cured by it. My little grandson was permanently cured of Biliousness and Sick Headache, which were so severe as to cause convulsions. They have all ceased since he commenced the use of B.B.B.

MRS. B. C. BODLE,
Orange, Luzerne County, Pa.

FRENCH'S HOTEL.

CITY HALL SQUARE. NEW YORK.

Opposite City Hall and the Post Office.

This Hotel is one of the most complete in its appointments and furniture of ANY HOUSE in New York City and is conducted on the

EUROPEAN PLAN.

Rooms only One Dollar per day. Half minute's walk from Brooklyn Bridge and Elevated R. R. All lines of cars pass the door. Most convenient Hotel in New York for Merchants to stop at. Dining Rooms, Cafes and Lunch Counter replete with all the luxuries at moderate prices.

Book Notices.

Two strong military articles will appear in the October HARPER'S, following the policy of that magazine in giving prominence to live topics of the present day in preference to old issues. "The National Soldier's Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers" is briefly sketched from its inception in 1865, and its immense organization, as now developed in the five great branches, is concisely shown. The equipments and operations of the gigantic provisions for the thousands of dependent veterans, which transcends everything of the kind in other countries, demonstrates the falseness of the charge that republics are ungrateful. We are introduced by many fine engravings, as well as by the text, to each of the sections, namely, the Eastern Branch, near Augusta, Me., the Southern Branch, Hampton Roads, Va., the Northern Branch, at Milwaukee, Wis., the Central Branch, near Dayton, O., and the new Western Branch, at Leavenworth, Kan.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for October brings before the reader several very interesting articles which will be found worthy of careful perusal. Mr. Powell's gossipy "Leaves from My Life" deals with Robert Browning and his wife in this number, illustrated with two portraits of Mr. and one of Mrs. Browning. The Rev. Edward A. Rand contributes an appreciative sketch of "Boston's Oldest Church"; and there is an elaborate article, amply illustrated, on "The Late King of Bavaria." The young are well looked after in "The Tapestry Room" by Mrs. Molesworth: "Molly and the Mandarin," a Chinese Fairy Story; and other short pieces. "Paulina" nears its conclusion, and the touching Irish story, "The Gems She Wore," continues with increasing interest. Altogether this is a fine number of this favorite family magazine.

* * *

Tired, languid, dull, exactly expresses the condition of thousands of people at this season. The depressive effects of warm weather, and the weak condition of the body, can only be corrected by the use of a reliable tonic and blood purifier like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Why suffer longer when a remedy is so close at hand? Take Hood's Sarsaparilla now. It will give you untold wealth in health, strength and energy.

A fellow was exhibiting a racoon on the street, yesterday.

Mr. E. R. Wilson, Grand Rapids, Mich., reports the case of Mr. H. T. Sheldon, of Lansing, Mich., who for several weeks suffered from a frightful cough and cold, which was cured by one bottle of Red Star Cough Cure,

When in Salem, remember that Curtis's confectionery store and dining room at No. 200 Essex street is the most complete in the city.

There has been so general a complaint from the bank cashiers all over the country, that they find it hard and annoying to sign their names to bank bills, owing to the silk fibre distributed on the surface of the paper, that the new distinctive paper now being made at the government mill at Coltsville, will only have a single silk thread running lengthwise through the center of each sheet.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

The Musical Herald (Boston, $1 a year) for September has two fine compositions: "Cast thy burden on the Lord," soprano solo and quartet, arranged by Irving Emerson, and "Tell me what the brook doth sing," part song for female voices, words by W. W. Caldwell, music by E. N. Anderson.

Those unhappy persons who suffer from nervousness and dyspepsia should use Carter's Little Nerve Pills, which are made expressly for sleepless, nervous, dyspeptic sufferers. Price 25 cents, all druggists.

The idea that bees will injure grapes is entirely erroneous. They will not touch grapes until they are burst, and when the skin is broke the bee may just as well have it, as the grape is of no account for eating, canning or preserving purposes.

HAY FEVER.—I have been a periodical sufferer from hay fever (a most annoying and loathsome affliction) since the summer of 1879, and until I used Ely's Cream Balm was never able to find any relief until cold weather. I can truthfully say that Cream Balm cured me. I regard it as of great value, and would not be without it during the hay fever season.—L. Georgia, Binghampton, N. Y.

NATURE'S NIGHTWORK.

An old Ruby Hill miner, who has had fifteen years' experience under ground, says he has observed one peculiar fact, that between twelve and two o'clock in the night, if there is a loose stone or bit of earth in the mine it is sure to fall. Says he: "About this time it seems that everything begins to stir, and immediately after twelve o'clock, although the mine has been as still as a tomb before, you will hear particles of rock and earth come tumbling down, and, if there is a caving piece of ground in the mines, it is sure to give way."—Carson City Appeal.

RED STAR TRADE MARK COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

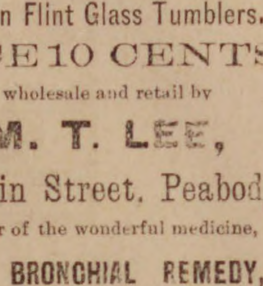
AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

ST JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK



THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain

Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc. PRICE, FIFTY CENTS. AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston.

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

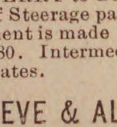
Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.



Boyden House,

128 1-2 & 132 UNION ST.

(NEAR CENTRAL STATION.)

H. FRENCH, - Prop.,

LYNN, MASS

je 9—1y

WANTED The owner of a Mining Claim which has "Ore in Sight" valued at $147,238, assays from which give $100 to $250 per ton in Gold, ask for Capital to further develop the same and put it upon a paying basis by the erection of suitable machinery, &c. Will sell an equal one-half interest for $50,000, the money so obtained to be placed in trust or otherwise secured to the purpose above mentioned. For full information, principals only address

WM. H. SPOONER,
Bristol, R. I.

FRAZER AXLE GREASE

BEST IN THE WORLD ☞ Get the Genuine. Sold Everywhere.

TO ADVERTISERS.—Lowest Rates for advertising in 1000 good newspapers sent free. Address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

Saving Institutions.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

WARREN

Five Cents Savings Bank

RUFUS H. BROWN, President.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treasurer.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Dividends are payable semi-annually, on the third Wednesday of May and November.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS

AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE

Arthur Elliott & Co.,

DEALERS IN

FRESH AND SALT FISH.

Lobster and Fancy Fish in their seasons.

A share of public patronage solicited.

Caller Street,

PEABODY.

CROSS,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY.

64 MARKET STREET, LYNN

Express.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody		at	9 47 A. M
Freight "	"	at	5 00 P. M
Express "	Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight "	"	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains. Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P.M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost s Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G. Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Aparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

Dr. F. G. Bates,

DENTIST,

218 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

OVER MERRILL & MACKINTIRE'S,

All Work Warranted.

mch 31—1y

$1

13 WEEKS.

The POLICE GAZETTE will be mailed, securely wrapped, to any address in the United States for 3 months on receipt of

ONE DOLLAR.

Liberal discount allowed to postmasters, agents and clubs. Sample copies mailed free. Address all orders to

RICHARD K. FOX,

FRANKLIN SQUARE, N. Y.

Bedding Plants and Coleus.

Fine lot of Fushias and other Plants.

WARD'S GREENHOUSES

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM
Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

PEABODY.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

EDWIN B. BALCOM,

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very best Tobacco in the market, we feel justified in saying he

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol Cuba brands

FOR A 5C SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO, 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

SHORTHAND Text-book and Instruction by mail to master it, given by the author of the system for $6. Most popular and easy method. Endorsed by 1000 graduates and professonl stenographers. Book alone $1. D. L. Scott Browne, 23 Clinton Place, New York, N. Y.

GOOD SALARIES

or Commission to Men and Women to act as local or traveling Agents. No experience needed. Steady work! JAMES E. WHITNEY, Nursery m Rochester, N. Y. (Mention this paper.)

je 8—3m

ESTABLISHED IN 1838.

LIGHT DRINKS FOR THE PEOPLE.

S. B. WINN & SON,

191 Washington St., Salem,

Near the Eastern Railroad Depot.

MANUFACTURERS OF ALL KINDS OF SUMMER DRINKS, INCLUDING

GINGER ALE,
TONIC,
GINGER,
HOP,
and other BEERS.

Our Ginger Ale will be found far superior to any now on the market. It is put up in half pint bottles, in a neat and convenient manner. We pride ourselves upon the purity and originality of the ingredients selected for the compounding of this harmless and at the same time beneficial summer beverage.

Charged Soda Fountains

All sizes, constantly on hand.

Soda Water in Syphons.

Our Iron Clad Fountains give universal satisfaction.

All the water used in our manufactured drinks is filtered in the best possible manner. The composition used in charging our Soda Fountains is the best and purest known, notwishstanding the superior claims made by others. We challenge a comparison.

MOXIE NERVE FOOD $1 per dozen

In addition to the above, we keep constantly in stock, all kinds of

PURE LIQUORS,

FOR FAMILY AND MEDICINAL PURPOSES.

Cigars of the best brands, can be had.

Our steam apparatus for charging Fountains and Bottling, has all the modern improvements suggested by mechanical appliances. This is the only steam charging apparatus of the kind in Essex County, and the public are invited to call and see it in operation.

Samples of goods shown with pleasure.

Goods delivered in all parts of the city, Beverly, Danvers and Peabody, free of charge

S. B. WINN, F. M. WINN.

Telephone, 222.

may 5—4m

Go TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,
ACCORDEONS
HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

OLD MAGAZINES

WANTED.

Will take old Harper's, Scribner's, St. Nicholas or Century Magazines of any date whatever in exchange for Book Binding, Card Albums or Cash.

H. A. BROOKS,

BOOK BINDER,

224 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE

BROKER & APPRAISER.

SALEM,

Offers for Sale at reasonable

THE SAUNDERS' ESTATE

MAIN ST., PEABODY.

HAY!
HAY!
HAY!

10 cars arrived to-day for sale cheap. Fancy White Middlings, Bran, Fine Feed, Oat Meal, Ground Oats, Cotton Seed Wheat, Screenings, Barley, Fancy le lip Barley, Oats, Mixed Oats, White Oats, Haxall and St. Louis Flour. Also other kind of feed for Horses and Cows in great variety. Please call and examine our stock and prices before buying elsewhere.

J. V. & J. HANSON

2 & 4 FRONT ST, SALEM,

ALSO AT

Peabody Square & Danvers Iron Works.

USE

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER.

It is a medicinal preparation, and, at the same time, an elegant and cleanly toilet article. Its action upon the scalp is healthful. It nourishes the glands which support the hair, and causes thin, dry hair to become thick, soft, and vigorous. It restores the color of youth to locks which have become faded with age or disease; and relieves and cures itching, caused by humors of the scalp. Dr. George Gray, Nashua, N. H., writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the wonderful effects produced by Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, as observed by me in very many cases. IT WILL CERTAINLY RESTORE THE HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR. It cleanses the head of dandruff, and leaves the hair soft, glossy, and beautiful." F. T. Sandhein, 1010 Spruce st., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "After unavailingly trying a number of preparations to prevent my hair from falling out, and, realizing that I was fast becoming bald, I tried, as a last resort, Hall's Hair Renewer. I have used only four bottles of the Renewer, and am perfectly satisfied that it is the best preparation in the market for checking the falling out of hair, invigorating the hair roots, and promoting a new growth."

Buckingham's Dye

FOR THE

WHISKERS

commends itself to all who have occasion to use a dye for the beard or mustache. It will change gray, faded, or sandy whiskers, to a beautiful brown or black, as desired. The colors produced are natural and lasting. It cannot be washed off, contains no destructive ingredients, is cheap, safe, convenient to use, and effectual.

PREPARED BY

R. P. HALL & CO., Nashua, N. H., U. S. A.

Sold by all dealers in medicines.

A VALUABLE COMPOUND

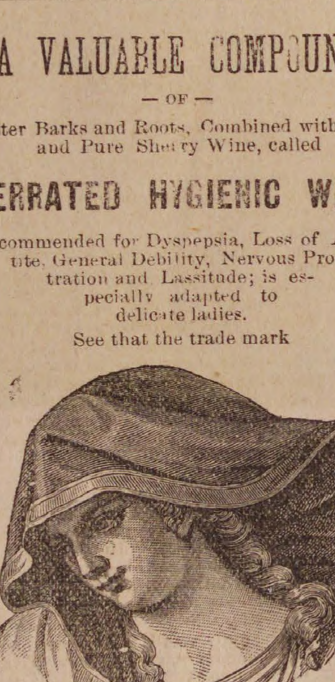
— OF —

Bitter Barks and Roots, Combined with Iron and Pure Sherry Wine, called

FERRATED HYGIENIC WINE.

Recommended for Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, General Debility, Nervous Prostration and Lassitude; is especially adapted to delicate ladies.

See that the trade mark



Is stamped on every label. Prepared by

C. H. & J. Price,

SALEM.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

Finest Pianos and Organs.

Pianos, $25 down, then $10 per month. Organs, $5 down, then $5 per month

EVERY INSTRUMENT WARRANTED.

☞ No charge for carting to Peabody.

W. D. BROWN,

76 MARKET STREET,

LYNN.

may 5—3m

LAWN OUTFITS,
HAMMOCK CHAIRS,

Canvas and Woven wire Cots, Spring Beds and Mattresses, Parlor Furniture, Loose Covers, Window Shades and Draperies.

WILSON & DUFFY

17 City Hall Square,

LYNN.

Old furniture re-upholstered in the latest styles; good work and moderate prices; satisfaction guaranteed.

ORDERS BY MAIL PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

je 30—3m

M. N. BLACK,

Hair Work and Hair Goods,

80 MARKET ST. LYNN.

Opposite W. B. Gifford's.

je 30—3m

AN OLD BOOK WORM.

WHAT HE FINDS IN A BOOK BESIDE THE LETTER PRESS.

Fortunes in Fine Books—Lavish Expenditures to Illustrate Modern Literature. What New York Publishers Pay for Engravings and Printing.

He was such a queer-looking old gentleman that the writer paused in his walk to examine him more closely. He was standing in the doorway of one of those dimly lighted book stores which line Nassau street, between Fulton and Ann, eagerly scanning the pages of a hoary volume through his old-fashioned gold spectacles. His wide-awake straw hat had drifted back to the apex of his crown, and had anchored itself permanently among the straggling strands of snowy hair which caressed the frayed collar of his alpaca coat. His white waistcoat was unbuttoned, and the ends of the black silk handkerchief which served him in lieu of a necktie bristled defiantly.

"I have just made an astounding discovery, sir," remarked the old gentleman. "Have the kindness to look at this book and tell me what you think of it."

It was one of a set of four volumes of the works of Pliny the Younger, published in Strasbourg in 1570. The type was good and the book was in fair condition. The binding was vellum, and four tiny strings of sheepskin hung from the corners, in order that the reader might tie the volume up securely when he was done with it. Thousands of just such books may be seen any day exposed for sale on the quays at Paris. They are the outscourings of the early French and German printing houses, and can be purchased for a few francs. The writer did not see anything extraordinary about the book, and he said so frankly.

BESIDE THE LETTER PRESS.

Then the old gentleman chuckled. "There is something in a book beside the letter press, the printer's name and the date," he said. "See here!" and with that he gingerly lifted up the edge of the vellum binding and exposed the fragments of two or three sentences inscribed upon it in black letter, with here and there an illuminated capital rich in arabesque and gilding.

"That," declared the old gentleman, with an air of triumph, after surveying the crabbed scrawl critically for a few moments, "was originally a missal transcribed with laborious care by some Twelfth century monk in the seclusion of the scriptorium of a mediæval cloister. The old fellow probably took four or five years to complete it.

"I tell you there was some chance of a man writing a book that was fit to read when he knew beforehand that it would take four or five months to complete every single copy that was exposed for sale.

"There have been great changes in the publishing business since I gave it up," he remarked with a quaver in his voice, "changes, to my mind, for the better. One of my chief objections to printing used to be that it did away with all that was beautiful in books. What can compare in beauty with the Tenth century missal? The gospels inscribed in silver and gold letters on purple vellum; every capital a flower garden, and the very margin glorious with parti-colored figures of men, birds, beasts and fishes. Still, this objection of mine is slowly melting away. You see, in my day the books we printed never had any illustrations to speak of. A few wood cuts perhaps, and more rarely a steel line engraving, and that was all."

CHANGE IN BOOKMAKING.

The old gentleman was right; thirty years has wrought a marvelous change in bookmaking. Photogravure and the wonderful Ives process, by which a fac-simile plate is produced directly from the object, have come to the publishers' aid. Etching has taken the place of the old steel line engraving to a certain extent, and probably there are not one-tenth as many steel engravings produced annually now as there were ten years ago. Only last year an art critic wrote that the people who prefer line engravings to etchings are the same people who prefer white marble mantels and horsehair furniture to carved oak and velvet plush. Fifty processes exist to-day where there were but one or two before, and if their development equals their promise the book of the future will indeed be a marvelous production.

One would naturally suppose that the increased facilities afforded by these multitudinous processes would minimize the cost of preparing a book for the market; but such is not the case. Each publisher vies with his competitors in making the work upon which he is for the moment engaged as elaborate as possible. Where formerly a few simple wood cuts were deemed all that were necessary he now presents the reader with half a dozen etchings or engravings, and thus he is called upon to expend an almost incredible sum before any return is obtained. George P. Putnam, the father of the present publisher, issued an artist's edition of Washington Irving's "Sketch Book" in 1867. It contained 132 illustrations, all wood cuts, and Mr. Putnam paid out $25,000 before he got back one cent. In those days this was considered a fabulous sum to invest in one work, and the number of engravings contained within the covers of the sketch book were the wonder and admiration of the other bookmakers.

The labor of preparing these volumes for publication extended over two entire years. It was begun in the latter part of 1864, and the first copies were not issued from the press until 1867. This work pales into insignificance before the princely fortunes invested each year in new books by the publishers of to-day.—New York Star.

City Mail Delivery in 1986.

"In 1986 such a thing as a postman or a carrier walking ten or fifteen hours a day delivering mail matter will never be heard of, for the simple reason there will be none in existence then," remarked a scientific man the other day to a reporter.

"How will the mail be delivered?"

"Everything will be reduced to a fine system, and a letter will be delivered in three seconds after its arrival at the postoffice. Each house in a big city will be connected with the general postoffice or branch station, as the case may be, with a pneumatic tube large enough to carry a good-sized package. At present such a system of delivery cannot be put into practice because it would be too expensive. A century hence civilization will rise to such a high and prosperous point that a system of quick delivery by means of pneumatic tubes will certainly be in vogue. It could be done now, only it would bankrupt a city. The tube from Twenty-third street to the Western Union building shows how nicely it works. A letter or telegraphic message takes just two seconds to go the two and a half miles. The quickest means of transit are sure to be adopted in the long run. It is the evolution of progress and nothing can stop it short of the universe. Not only will private houses have these tubes, but all of our large cities will be pneumatically connected. Chicago will be perhaps ten seconds by letter from New York and San Francisco a minute or so. It will change a great many things and do away with the steam cars as a mail carrier. The system is yet in its infancy.—New York Mail and Express.

GEMS AND IMITATIONS.

LONDON THE MARKET FOR THE SALE OF ROUGH DIAMONDS.

Sham Stones Manufactured Principally in Paris—False Diamonds and Patent Imitation Pearls—The Opal and Ill-Luck—The Moonstone—Tiger Eye.

"Yes, I can tell you a good deal that you would like to know about precious stones," said a Nassau street dealer, a few days ago. "To begin with diamonds, these are almost all found at the Cape diamond fields nowadays, in South Africa, though some, and a better grade, are still obtained from Brazil—'old mine' diamonds, as they are called. All, or nearly all, are taken to London, which is the one great general market for rough diamonds. There are dealers in various parts of that city, but the center of the trade there is Hatton garden, near Ludgate hill. From thence a great many are taken to Amsterdam to be cut; others are cut in Antwerp or in Paris, and they have lately begun to cut them extensively in Germany. From these places they are sold and shipped all over the world.

"Sham diamonds are manufactured principally in Paris. Some very fine ones, that by all but experts would be taken to be real, are manufactured there. The smaller the stone the more easy is the imitation. It is very seldom the sham diamonds are sold for true ones, as even pawnbrokers, who are not usually considered very scrupulous, do not care to run the risk. But regular swindlers go about who carry two or three in their pockets, and by various representations frequently induce easily-duped persons to purchase under the impression that they are making a wonderful bargain. People who lose a real stone from a cluster in a ring or other piece of jewelry will frequently have it replaced with a sham stone.

MAKING FALSE DIAMONDS.

"There is only one way of making false diamonds. A piece of crystal, or of the very clear kind of glass known as paste, is cut to resemble a diamond by experienced workmen and very finely finished off. By this means the requisite amount of brilliancy is obtained. The principal points to be observed are the polish and the due regularity of the facets. There is a very large trade in sham diamonds doing this year. I have sold many more than ever before, and everyone else in the trade says the same. People are so fascinated with diamonds now that they won't look at a piece of jewelry that hasn't one in it, either real or false. Diamonds are doubtless sometimes made by cutting a slip of diamond, a very thin one, and attaching it to a base of glass or crystal. Then they are exposed to a great heat, until the connecting surface of the glass is fused to the diamond. But this process is seldom used, as the diamond employed requires to be of very fine quality.

"Rhinestones are made of glass," continued the dealer, "and so is every other good-looking sham diamond, no matter by what name it may be called. You can hardly ever get a sham diamond of crystal to show the brilliance of one cut from glass, and the latter wears best, too.

"Of other imitation stones, some very poor colored ones are made of glass, but the majority are 'doublets.' That is to say, a very thin slab of garnet, the cheapest real stone we sell, is affixed to a backing of colored glass by the fusing process. Then they resemble one stone, and when set no one but a trained expert could recognize the difference. The test of a file to the glass, when they are removed from the setting, reveals the sham at once, as the steel 'bites' on glass, but runs smoothly over true stones. A trained eye tells the difference between true and false stones when set by the greater luster of the former. Most imitation stones sold in this and other countries are manufactured in Bohemia, where the work is done at a very low price.

"Real stones of color are many of them of great value. Rubies, good and large, are very scarce, and more costly, weight for weight, than diamonds. Those of a poorer class are, however, much cheaper. Next to them come sapphires, which, when of good quality, are priced nearly as high as diamonds, though not so high as rubies. Small and imperfect stones are cheap enough. The same applies to emeralds. Large pearls are still very costly, if of fine color and regular shape. The best pearls are found only in the Indian seas. Attempts have been made to cultivate the pearl oyster in Italian waters, but with little success so far. There are also American pearls, coming from Texas and from Panama, but these are not very valuable, as they lack the luster of the others.

PATENT IMITATION PEARLS.

"The last time I was in Paris I came across a man who claimed to have a patent upon a new method of making imitation half pearls. Pearls, as you may know, are frequently cut in half for setting. He showed me some of his make, and it was really an excellent imitation. I ordered some direct from Bohemia, where they were made, and they turned out just as good as the sample. But how they are made is a secret which I can't tell you, because I do not know.

"There is no difficulty in imitating any of the precious stones except the opal. The changing, the ever-varying colors in that stone, as the light upon it changes, have hitherto proved more than a match for the most skillful copyist. But opals, notwithstanding their beauty, are in small demand, the belief in the superstition that they bring ill-luck is so prevalent. You may scarcely believe it, but there are a good many people in this very city who would not accept an opal to-day if you would make them a present of it. I fancy the belief has its birth in the fact that opals are so brittle and liable to fracture. More than one-half are broken in course of setting.

"The new stone, the moonstone, which is obtained in India, is rather popular now and has become cheaper lately." He produced a small tray of moonstones, with cameos cut in high relief on their faces. A luster that certainly did resemble moonlight gleamed from the interior of these curious crystaline bodies. On the tray lay another stone, cut with a similar cameo. But this was a dark coffee colored opaque stone, of insignificant appearance. The reporter picked it up and a strange glow of golden light, that seemed to shine from its very center, glittered from the various surfaces as it was turned around in the light.

"That," said the diamond merchant, "is tiger eye, a stone that has a history as curious as its appearance. Ten years ago it was unknown. It is found on South African farms and hillsides. At first it was only picked up in minute fragments and was cut in small carbuncles and ovals, but now it has been found to be quite plentiful in certain districts."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

The Ancient Fenians.

Karl Blind, in an essay in The Neue Freie Presse, denies that the ancient "Fenier" were Irishmen in the present sense of the word. "The old Irish Fenian heroes," he says, "as we see them in the poems which have come down to us in Celtic language are evidently no Celts or Celt-Iberians. They are described as golden-haired, red-cheeked, blue-eyed and white-skinned. They drank beer out of drinking horns." The true "Fenians" were consequently Teutons.—Exchange.

SALEM SHOE STORE,

278 ESSEX STREET SALEM,

Invite their Peabody customers to inspect their elegant line of

CANVASS AND LAWN TENNIS GOODS

At Reasonable Prices. We are the Salem agents of the celebrated

Button Lace & Congress

W.L.DOUGLAS'
$3.00
SHOE
WARRANTED
SILK STITCHED
GLOVE KID
ELASTIC
WARRANTED
GLOVE KID
BEST TANNERY CALF
BOTTOM SEWED

HONEST GOODS at a small profit.

Our Men's and Children's Goods are made on the premises. Remember the number,

278 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

Opposite Packard's Furniture Store. T. A. CORSON, Agent.

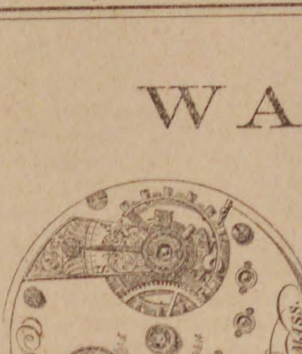
mch 13—1y

WATCHES!

BARGAINS

— IN —

American Watch Co., Waltham and Elgin Watches.



Appleton, Tracey & Co.
No 220408
WALTHAM, MASS.

Appleton, Tracey & Co.,

Full Jeweled, adjusted, chronometer balance, patent regulator and breguet hair spring A very fine timekeeper, at a great reduction from regular prices.

The reliable P. S. BARTLETT WATCH, in a 3-oz. coin silver Waltham case, $16; warranted perfect in every respect.

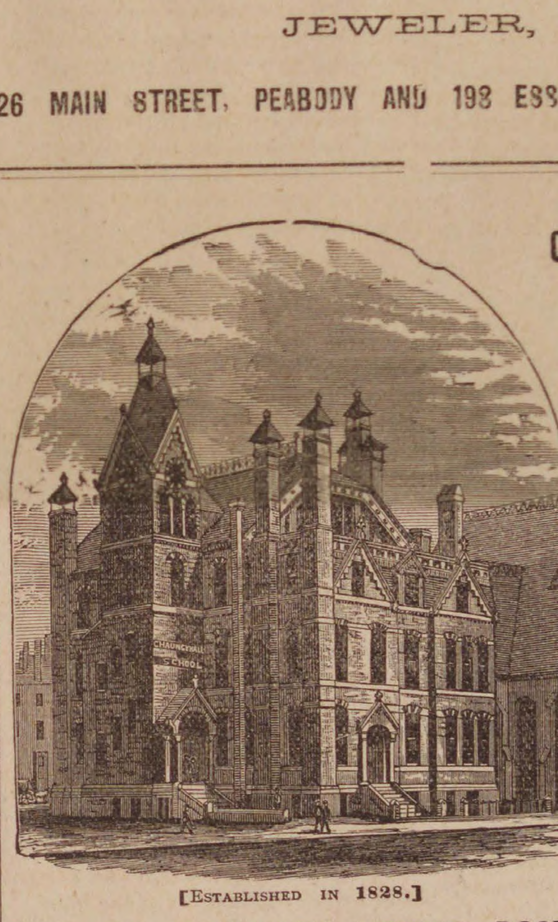
All grades of Watches at the lowest prices.

Watches, French Clocks, Jewelry, Eye Glasses, etc., repaired in pronot and superio manner. Especial attention given to cleaning and adjusting fine Watches.

Geo. A. Collins,

JEWELER,

26 MAIN STREET, PEABODY AND 198 ESSEX STREET, SALEM



Chauncy-Hall School.

PARENTS desiring for their boys and girls the personal attention of private schools and the discipline and varied associates of public schools, will find both combined here.

The New Catalogue gives a full account of the great Care for Health; the thorough preparation for College, for Business, and the Mass. Institute of Technology; the facilities for Special Students; and the unusual arrangements for Young Children.

Graduates of High Schools often take advantage of the opportunities offered by Chauncy Hall for elective studies, to do advanced work in languages or other branches. There is no more charge for several classes in any study than for one class.

The school building, Boylston Street, near Dartmouth, is in the most elegant part of Boston, and is easily accessible. Horse cars pass the door.

[ESTABLISHED IN 1828.]

259 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

(Opposite the Art Museum)

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

— CREAM HOME MADE BREAD —

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich ride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamenta work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty.

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

COMER'S

Commercial College,

BOSTON, MASS.

Best Equipped and Most Successful in America

Re-opens Sept. 1, 1886, for the 46th Year.

The course of study is elective and embraces the following subjects: Book-keeping; Penmanship; Commercial Arithmetic; Law and Correspondence; Short-Hand; Type-Writing; the English Branches. Students may begin at any time, receive INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION, and progress according to ability. Separate department for ladies.

Graduates Aided to Employment.

PUBLIC SCHOOL GRADUATES take our course as a finishing off for their other school work, before going into business.

Our Special Three Months' Course is taken by persons whose time and means are limited.

THE COLLEGE BULLETIN, (Illustrated) gives full particulars and will be mailed free upon application. For further particulars address or call upon

C. E. COMER, 666 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

All our work is guaranteed.

NOTICE OUR

REMOVAL.

P. Hartigan & Son,

HORSE SHOERS.

Have removed from the rear of Kinsman's Block to

184 BRIDGE ST.,

Nearly opp. St. Peter street, Salem.

OLD ESTABLISHED CONCERN,

P. Hartigan, Senior, has had 30 years' experience.

N. B. Personal attention given to Horses that interfere or over-reach.

☞ Treatment of CORNS and QUARTER CRACKS a specialty.

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD
On and after Monday, June 28. 1889 trains will run as follows,—

EASTERN DIVISION;

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, A. M, 1 55, 3 27, 5 08, 6 47 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 6 10, 8, 10 55 A. M., 12 M., 3, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M. Sunday, 9 27, A. M. Return 5 45 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6.30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48 7 51, 8 13, 8 34, does not stop at Lynn, 8 43, 8 58, 9 25, 9 55, 10.48 A M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 12, 3 35, 4 05. 4 21, 5 18, 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 8 55, 9, 9 53 P.M. Sundays, 5.37 8 45, 9 35, 10 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3 ,5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48. 7 51, 8 43, 8 58, 10 28 A. M.. 12 M, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 35, 4 21, 5 18. 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 9, 9 53, P. M. Sundays, 8 45. 9 35, 11 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3, 5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Beverly, 6 53, 8 13, 8 45, 10 44, 11 20 A. M., 12 02, 1 05, 2 27, 2 47, 3 56, 4 05, 5 12, 5 35, 5 57, 6 36, 7 05, 7 15, 7 45, 10 10, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M. 2 10, 7 17, 8 07 P. M

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—6 53, 8 45, 11 20 A. M., 2 47, 4 05, 5 35, 7 05, 7 45, 10 10 P. M Sunday, 7 17 P M.

Essex, 8 13 A. M.. 1 05, 3 56, 6 36 P. M.

Ipswich, 8 13, 9 35, 10 44 A. M., 1 05, 2 27, 3 57, 5 12 6 36, 7 15 P. M, Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M

Newburyport, 8 13, 9 35, 10 00, 10 44 A.M. 1 05, 2 02 2 27, 3 56. 5 12, 6 36, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Newburyport—4 45. 6 30, 7, 8, 8 13. 9 07, 11 40 A.M 2 35. 3 30, 3 35, 5 43, 7 20, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.

Ipswich—5 07, 6 48. 7 17, 8 15, 8 31, 9 25, A. M. 12 02 3 53, 6 06, 7 26, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A.M., 5 06 P. M.

Essex—7, A. M , 12 05 5 40 P. M.

Rockport -6 05, 7 20, 8 35, 10 A. M., 1 15, 4 55, 6 40 9 P. M. Sundays—7 50, 9 55 A. M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 29, 8 44, 10 08 A M, 1 25, 5 03 6 48, 9 09 P M. Sundays—8, 10 03A. M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 42, 8 56, 10 21 A. M., 1 39, 5 17, 7 01, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14, 10 16 A. M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05. 8 50. 9 16, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 21, 12 40. 1 58, 4 13, 5 35, 6 25, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 9 43 P. M. Sundays 8 35 10 35 A. M. 2 52, 5 30, 9 10 P. M.

Swampscott,—6 44, 8 50, 10 36, 11 26. 11 54 A. M., 12 36, 2 19, 3 28, 4 31, 6 20, 6 56, 8 32, 10. 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 12 A M., 2 02, 5 52, 6 27. 7 09, 7 59 10 12 P. M.

Lynn—6 40. 8 02 8 35, 8 46, 9 10, 9 25, 9 51, 10 32, 11 10, 11 23, 11 51, A M.. 12 33, 12 55. 1 52, 2 15, 3 25, 3 45 3 55, 4 28, 5 03, 5 24, 5 45 6 16, 6 25. 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 27, 9 57, 10 45, 11 45 P M. Sundays 8 52, 11 07 A, M , 1 57, 5 48, 6 24, 7 05, 7 54 10 07, P. M.

Boston—6 10, 7 30, 8, 8 10, 8 45, 9, 9 30. 10. 10 45. 10 55, 11 45. A. M. 12 M. 12 30, 1 30, 1 40, 2 15, 3, 3 20, 3 30. 4, 4 40, 5, 5 15. 5 40. 6, 6 20, 6 40. 7 10. 7 50, 9 20, 10 15. 11 15 P M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 30 A. M. 1 20. 5 10. 5 45. 6 25, 7, 7 15. 9 30 P.M

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 7 55, 8 40, 9 30 10 50 A M 1 05, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 5 55, 7 20 10 on Saturdays P M. Sundays, 9 10, A. M. 2 15, 7 20, 9 15 P. M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30. 8 15, 9 10, 10 15 A M, 12 45. 2 3 25, 4 55, 5 40, 6 20, 7 45 on Saturday, P M. Sundays, 8 30, A. M., 12 50, 5 25, 8 45 P. M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 35, 8 53, 10 15 A. M., 1 52. 4 48 P. M.

Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A M, 3 21, 4 15. 5 55 P. M

Wakefield for Salem—8 12 A M, 12 05, 3 55, 4 39, 6 09 P. M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 21 A M, 12 14, 4 05, 4 46, 6 18 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 28 A M, 12 22, 4 12, 4 53, 6 26 P. M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH

Salem for Lowell—7 A. M., 4 43, 6 P. M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 AM, 4 43, 6 P M, Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A M, 3 37, 4 43, 6 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 58, 11 35 A M 12 47, 3 37, 4 43, 5 20. 6, 6 42 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 35 A. M., 12 15, 5 10 P. M Sundays 8 A M

Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 10 12 A M, 1 02. 5 58 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M

Middleton for Salem—7. 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A M, 1 30, 4 45, 6 22, P M. Sundays 9 02 A M

Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 8 2, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A.M. 1 46, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 38, P M. Sundays 9 18 A M

Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02. 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A M, 1 55, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 47 P M. Sundays 9 27 A M

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston Je. 28. 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty-miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8.30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9.00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3.30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS for Hartford, New Haven, Jersey City, Trenton Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at, Office, 322 Washington St. or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON
A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE,

September 20, 1886.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, (Express) 4.30, (Express) 5 (Express), 5.30, 6, (Express) §6.30, 7.30, 8, 9.30, 10.20, 11.15 P. M

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7 (Express) 7.30 (Express), 8 (Express), 8.30 (Express) 9, 10, 11 A. M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.45, 7.15, 8.45, 9.15, 10.15 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P.M.

§ Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A.   C. A HAMMOND Supt

THE WASHINGTON LUNCH ROOM,

Post Office Building,

SALEM.

Sacks and Chops served in first-class style.

Oysters and Salads a specialty.

ALDEN THOMAS, - Prop.

je 9—3m

A RELIC.

As some of the papers are publishing the price list of the old strike, the following which was issued by the painters about that time, may be of interest, showing that a spirit of humor ran through the movement, and that no bitter feeling existed.

NOTICE

TO THE BOSS PAINTERS

AND THEIR EMPLOYES.

It having been currently reported that the Meeting which was held by the Journeymen Painters in this town, on the 18th instant, was a dark lantern affair; and that business was transacted to injure the Boss Painters, we therefore give you the doings of said meeting verbatim, to clear us of any such charges. The meeting was called to order by the senior Brown, while the junior Brown was entertaining a couple of pot sloppers on the rise of salt cod-fish. Philip, the greatest artist of the present age, was called to the chair amidst the most deafening cheers, and O. B. Joyful was chosen secretary. Here Phil. arose to address the audience, but was interrupted by Old Ned the cooper, who thought that to insure success, that the meeting should be opened with prayer, and Ned was called upon to address the throne; but he begged to be excused for the reason that he was an Episcopalian, and could not pray from the heart; but as Brother Josey is here, and as he is of the Methodist order, he will do so with pleasure. Here Josey assumed a ministerial look, and ground out the following

PRAYER.

O Father, we have met together this evening to consider the value of our services and the small compensation that we receive for them; teach our bosses, O Lord, to know that we are better than they, and without us they are mere nothing. Give us faith to hold out until our employers comply with our demands. Cause them to lose money on all the contracts they have taken or may take. Suffer their stock to dry into skins, and their benzine to evaporate into thin air. Guide them in the paths of wickedness during their pilgrimage on this earth, and finally bring them to everlasting damnation. Amen.

Here Phil. took the floor amidst the most tremendous cheering, and spoke as follows: Gentlemen, artists, painters, lumpers, loafers and pot sloppers, it is with unbounded pleasure that I accept the position of chairman of this meeting, and I would state to you all that the necessaries of this life are entirely out of the reach of all of us, with the paltry sum of two dollars per day, and I think, fellow-citizens, that three dollars is little enough for loafing around any man's premises ten long hours, separated from his dear wife and little ones, and worse than all, more than a mile from the nearest beer-barrel. (Here the speaker was interrupted by cries of That's so, bully for you, &c., when he resumed as follows:) I would also state, that government has put another tax on whiskey, which makes it more necessary that our pay should advance. Bucksport herrings that once sold for ten cents per dozen, now retail for the enormous sum of two cents each. Think of that, my hearers, and then think of two paltry dollars for a whole day's labor. Finally, let me give you my word, and that you all know is as good as my note (for everybody has got one of them), that I for one will stick out until our bosses give us our demands; and if any man in this room feels as though he could not afford to hold out during this strike, I will maintain him and his family. I will also furnish all the beer during this strike. (Here Ned again interrupted the speaker and offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously passed:)

Resolved, That our chairman is a perfect brick, and an artist far superior to Rubens.

Resolved, That we will not work for less than two fifty per day, with the privilege of picking up all loose articles about the premises on which we are working, the bosses to be held responsible for all things missing.

Resolved, That we procure a five-gallon keg of ale, to be drank immediately by this party, to be paid for by the chairman.

Resolved, That we have the right to examine our employers' books and papers once every month, to see how much they make.

Resolved, That any man that works during this strike is a villain of the deepest dye, and should be stoned to death as Stephen of old was.

Resolved, That any man can take a job on his own hook, providing he can borrow or steal the brushes of his former employer to do it with.

Resolved, That we drink as often as we are asked during this strike.

Resolved, That we give three cheers for the chairman, and adjourn to the Hotel.

THE DRAMA.

Changes of bill are announced at all the places of amusement in Boston this week, with the exception of the Museum, where "Harbor Lights" will be continued. There were no indications last week of waning strength in this piece, and, indeed, it seems to attract larger audiences than ever. Manager Field has secured "Held by the Enemy," which he will produce after the run of "Harbor Lights," but there is at present no likelihood that the new piece will be needed for some time.

At the Hollis Street Theatre, Mr. Bartley Campbell's "Clio" will be presented with new scenery, new costumes and new appointments, and all the great and intricate mechanical changes which made the piece so celebrated last season. Mr. Gaspard Maeder has painted many of the scenes, and his name is a guarantee of their excellence. An earthquake scene is one of the great effects of the production, and it is one of the most thrilling and startling ever placed upon the stage in this country. A new and artistically arranged ballet will be presented and will be led by the premiere ballerine assoluta, Mlle. Cornalba, whose dancing created such a sensation here a few years ago. The incidental and ballet music was composed for the production by Sig. G. Operti, whose work is well and favorably known in this city, and between the third and fourth acts, the overture to Sig. Operti's new opera, "The Baby Mascot" will be played.

The delegates of the sovereign grand lodge of Odd Fellows and their ladies have accepted the invitation extended by Manager Rich of the Hollis Street Theatre and Manager W. H. Brown of the "Clio" company to attend a performance of "Clio" at the above theatre on Thursday evening next.

At the Boston Theatre "Around the World in Eighty Days," the most popular, as it is the best, of all the great productions of the Kiralfy Bros., is being presented in an almost entirely new dress. Costumes, scenery, properties and appointments are all new, and many changes have been made in the company. In addition to the large and strong dramatic company, there is an unusually complete corps de ballet, and two new premieres, Mlle. Qualits and Mlle. Neuman, will make their first appearance in Boston.

At the Park Theatre, Annie Pixley is to begin her season, appearing in a new play, "The Deacon's Daughter," for the first time on any stage. Miss Pixley will sing new songs, and there will be a very strong cast.

Moulton & Baker's Black Crook Company begin a three nights' engagement at Mechanic Hall on Thursday evening next. As a spectacular show, the Black Crook has never been equalled, and Messrs. Moulton & Baker's company are presenting it in matchless form.

* * *

The following obituary from the Republican of Red Wing, Minn., has been given us for publication. "The funeral services over the remains of Wm. R. Putnam, who died at his home in this city the 8th inst., were held at the Presbyterian church, yesterday afternoon. Many friends were present to bid a last farewell to their most true and valued friend. Rev. J. W. Hancock conducted the services, and it is from his able address that we quote the following:

Mr. Putnam was born in Danvers, Mass., in the year 1811; had entered upon his seventy-sixth year in May last. His paternal grandfather was a brother of Gen. Israel Putnam, of revolutionary fame. He was a farmer from his youth up, and pursued that occupation in his native town until he came to this city in 1873, where he has since resided. Though laying aside practical farming, when he settled here, he did not forget his favorite occupation. His long experience made him a valuable adviser to the farmers in Minnesota, in respect to the various methods of cultivating the soil, and in stock raising, gardening, etc. He took a lively interest in everything that would tend to promote the welfare of all classes of laboring men. He was an active member of the Farmers' institute of this county from its very beginning; constant attendant at its meetings, and we may say, the very Nestor of that institution, contributing valuable papers upon the various topics discussed, as well as wholesome words in the debates. The farmers in Goodhue county will miss Mr. Putnam. At a meeting of the Minnesota Dairy association in this city, less than a year ago, he was awarded the highest prize for the best essay on "Handling a herd of dairy cows." Mr. Marvin, president of the association, thus remarked of his essay, "It is one of the most practical papers I ever heard read on this subject. It is good; it will be valuable in our report, and to the farmers of Minnesota." But Mr. Putnam was a remarkable man in every relation of life. Rarely do we find a man uniting so many sterling qualities. He was remarkably quiet and unobtrusive in his manners, generous and helpful towards all. In the Christian church, in his family and among his neighbors he was the same good man, always doing good as he had opportunity. His death leaves a sad vacancy in every circle where he moved. His usefulness extended beyond the "three score and ten." In fact it may be said that he died in the harness. The foundation of his noble character was his faith in God. He was a Christian not in name only, but in deed and truth.

PENTECOST'S VIEWS.

(Published by request.)

The following letter is a copy of one written by Dr. Geo. F. Pentecost, the well known pastor of Thompkins Ave. Congregational Church, Brooklyn:

My Dear Friend: I am not surprised that you are surprised. Nevertheless it is true. I have at last cut the bond that has bound me as with cords of love to the republican party. I came into political existence with that party. I cast my first vote for Abraham Lincoln and my last for James G. Blaine. I am not sorry for either vote. I have hitherto refused to believe that the G. O. P. had degenerated into a mere political corpse without further conscience or principle; but I am fain to believe it at last. It is a most sad spectacle to behold the party which for a quarter of a century has led the conscience and morals of the country's politics, now entered in the race with the rest of the spoils and place hunters to capture the vote and the support of the rumsellers. This is not the party that fought the Rebellion to the death, freed four millions of human slaves, reconstructed the Union and put its heel upon the neck of the would-be repudiators of the public debt. It is only the "living corpse" of that party. I have refused to believe that it would ever debase itself and bring dishonor and shame upon its hitherto fair record by the deliberate infamy of the Noony (Shook) act. I think it was Lord Bacon who said that the saddest sight in this world is that "of a man walking in the funeral procession of his own greatness." Well, this spectacle is presented to the astonished gaze of all honest men to-day. The republican party of New York is marching in procession at the funeral of its own greatness, carrying at its head a banner with this strange device: "An act for the protection of republican saloon keepers." I think I have strained my allegiance several times of late years; but not until I waked up the other day, and found myself in that procession, did I come to my senses. I have never been a rabid temperance reformer, though, of course, always on that side of the question. I have always hoped that, true to its genius, at the proper time the old party would grapple with this giant moral and political evil and strangle it to death as it did slavery and corrupt and dishonest money. But alas! half its leaders are on the side of the dishonest dollar; and now the standard of licensed and protected rum has been lifted in the Empire state and we are asked to march on to office and political power with dishonor. I do not wish to be found in that procession and I won't. Moreover, I think I see scores of honest men and liberty-loving members of that party on the eve of bolting ranks also, for they will not march unless they can do so with their face upward toward God and the right, and with that banner of "strange device" now floating at the head of the procession: "Protection for Republican Saloon-Keepers," they cannot look God in the face. I grieve over the moral downfall of the old party more than I can tell, but I would rather see it go down into a thousand graves, fathoms deep, than to live a day longer by the support of the most wicked, most corrupt, most devilish, most conscienceless and brutal monopoly and law defying combination that the world ever saw—the Rum Power.

I have never engaged in political controversy in all the years since the war, my ministerial duties having engrossed my time and all my energies; but if I am spared, and there is occasion for it, I propose to do what lies in my power to help on the flood which, I trust, will in the end sweep out of existence the rum power, in this state at least.

There is no doubt that the Christian voters in this state have the power, if they will combine, to overthrow the monster, and if not entirely destroy it, at least outlaw it.

Yours fraternally,

GEO. F. PENTECOST.

Brooklyn, June 20th.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

MESSRS. EDITORS: — Your readers have probably seen by the daily papers that at a conference held in Philadelphia it was decided to advance the price of coal $1 per ton. Who does this go to, the miners who dig it from the earth? No, this goes to the operators or the rich men who form the monopoly. Who pays this extra dollar, the consumer, of course, which includes the manufacturer and his employe. The former makes no protest against the coal operators, but combine against the latter when they ask an advance of pay to meet the advance prices of the necessaries of life. After the manufacturers have settled the labor question to their satisfaction, wouldn't it be a more equal contest to tackle some of these gigantic monopolies?

ANTI-MONOPOLY.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I want to protest against the way the news boys ply their trade about our streets. One can not go along the street or get off the cars with any comfort owing to the impertinence of some of these boys. I would not condemn all, nor do I object to their offering their papers in an enterprising or business like manner; but what I do object to is to being singled out an eighth of a mile away and have half a dozen start in a foot race and then try to out do each other in persistently pushing their papers into one's face and screaming and scrambling and blocking up the way until one buys or refuses to. What other class of peddlers would be allowed to make such a nuisance of themselves? Why should these?

A SUFFERER.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I see by your last issue that the more skilled laborers among the locked out men are returning to work and of course this means their withdrawal from the Knights of Labor. Well, Messrs. Editors, I believe now that only through organizations the laborer can secure his rights, but it must be through trade unions rather than so large a body as the Knights of Labor. Each branch of the leather industry has intelligence enough to present its own claims and settle any trouble that may arise. Can a man who has never done anything but the work of a street laborer, reason intelligently in adjusting a price list with a leather or morocco manufacturer? Can that man enter a machine shop and regulate the wages of a man who is working on a fine piece of steel work, as well as the man can himself? Don't such men know their wants vastly better than an outside party? The laboring men can help each other materially by unions of those of kindred interests, and this has been shown by the Knights of Labor organization. My advice would be to reorganize in trade unions and let each branch of industry, in cases where there is a grievance, select its wisest and most competent men to settle it.

LABOR.

* * *

Just at the present time the politicians are beginning to look over the field in earnest and as the day is named for the conventions the interest increases. In this town things are somewhat complicated. The entrance of Willard Spaulding into the campaign means more than at first supposed. It means that the democrats of the district will be invited to indorse him and the hint will probably be enforced at the caucuses, and it would not be surprising to see him go into the convention backed by a majority of the delegates. In that case the "old liners" will bolt, but the most of the party vote will go to the Reverend gentleman, which with a solid labor vote will carry him dangerously near an election.

There is little interest in the gubernatorial contest and the republicans will probably elect Ames delegates and the democrats Russell or Grennell. The prohibition republicans will insist on sending delegates that will favor the nomination of Hurlburt for District Attorney and if his nomination can be secured they would probably stand solidly by the rest of the republican nominations. Mr. D. N. Crowley of Danvers is spoken of as a rival to Mr. Hurlburt in the Democratic convention. There is some opposition to Gen. Cogswell for congress from those who have opposed him in the past for Senator, but this opposition can be counted on to support him if he receives the nomination.

The contest which is to wax the warmest will be for representative. Col. Batchelder is entitled to the republican nomination again this year, but there are some who want to see him defeated on account of the measures which he championed by his vote last winter, including the weekly payment, arbitration bill and numerous others which were passed. But it is not expected that this opposition will be sufficient to defeat his nomination. Those who are opposed to him do not seem to be united on anyone else but say that if the democrats would nominate Chairman Southwick they would like to vote for him. But, remarked one prominent democrat, "we are not going to ask the republicans to pick out our man for us, and as for Southwick he couldn't poll the strength of his own party." The labor element is disposed to look on without taking action at present and should an attempt be made to drop Batchelder by the republicans there is no doubt he could be elected as a third candidate. The democrats are looking over the field and Eugene T. McCarthy seems to be the favorite at this writing. It is a little early to speculate on the result, but the outlook at present is about as we have stated.

Marriages.

In Peabody, Sept. 15, by Rev. F. W. Sprague, Mr. Andrew J. Dow of Salem to Miss Jessie F. Beckett of P.

In Danvers, Sept. 9, in the Unity Chapel, by Rev. S. J. Barrows of Boston, Mr. B. A. Robinson of Hingham to Miss Helen M. Johnson of D.

In Salem, Sept. 15, by Rev. Fielder Israel, Mr. Fred G. Stetson of Boston Highlands to Miss Carrie P. Clark of S.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Sept. 14, Mary E. daughter of Patrick and Mary Sullivan, 2 mos. 7 days.

16th, Miss Catherine Roach, 24 years.

William, son of William and Ellen Halleran, 3 mos. 11 days.

17th, John H., son of John A. and Johanna Morton, 11 mos 17 days.

19th, Edward son of Hugh and Ann Noonan, 8 mos. 28 days.

John P. Gill, 25 yrs. 2 days.

20th, Ellen F., daughter of Thomas P. and Abbie F. Fallon, 1 year, 1 month, 1 day.

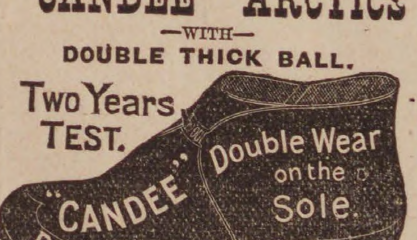
In Danvers, Sept. 11, Mrs. Lydia A., wife of Mr. Putnam Webb.

In Salem, Sept. 15th, Mr. Hugh Murray, 74 years; 17th, Mrs. Eliza G., widow of Mr. David Babcock, 78 yrs. 10 mos. 8 days; 18th, Mrs. Ann S., widow of Mr. William D. Thorndike, 73 yrs. 5 mos.

A CHICKERING,
W COWARD & BROWN.
— OR —
EMERSON PIANO
Will suit you. Call at
245 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Before purchasing.
I sell for cash or on Instalments.
Everything in the music line.
E. V. EMILIO,
245 ESSEX ST.,
SALEM.

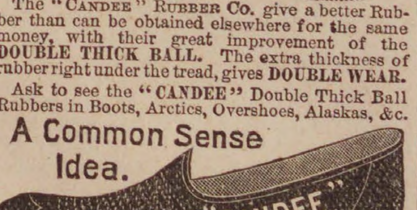
EVERY YOUNG MAN
Should have such a knowledge of the requirements of business as may be obtained at the
BURDETT Business COLLEGE
Removed to
592 WASHINGTON STREET,
Cor. Hayward Place,
BOSTON.
Owing to the unprecedented increase of the College patronage, central, commodious, light and elegant apartments have been secured at FIVE NINE-TWO WASHINGTON ST., cor. Hayward Place, a few doors above R. H. White & Co.'s, on same side of street.
Students can commence on and after Monday, Sept. 6. Prospectus mailed free. Principals may be seen at the College daily, between 9 and 4. Unequalled facilities for procuring situations for Students.
C. A. & F. H. BURDETT, Principals.
aug 11—8t

"CANDEE" ARCTICS
—WITH—
DOUBLE THICK BALL.



Two Years TEST.
"CANDEE"
Double Wear on the Sole.
Double Thick Ball.

The "CANDEE" RUBBER CO. give a better Rubber than can be obtained elsewhere for the same money, with their great improvement of the DOUBLE THICK BALL. The extra thickness of rubber right under the tread, gives DOUBLE WEAR.
Ask to see the "CANDEE" Double Thick Ball Rubbers in Boots, Arctics, Overshoes, Alaskas, &c.



A Common Sense Idea.
"CANDEE"
Double Thick Ball.

FOR SALE BY
NUGENT BROS.,
PEABODY, MASS.

PLATED WARES.
Rogers & Brothers' best plated wares. Knives, Forks, Spoons, Ladles, etc., at lower prices than any other house
AT PEABODY'S.

KILN DRIED WHITE MEAL.—Received to-day from mill, another car of kiln dried white meal, which is giving great satisfaction to all who use it, bringing us renewed orders. We can make a low price for ton lots from car much lower than on yellow meal.
CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
aug 18 41 to 47 Central St.

OLD OATS.—We have a full assortment of all grades of last years' crop of Oats, which being thoroughly seasoned, are for safer feed for horses than the crop just harvested. We invite your examination and early orders.
CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
aug 17 41 to 47 Central St.

CHAPTER 317, ACTS OF 1886.

An Act in Relation to the Inspection and Sale of Imitation Butter,

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:—

SECTION 1. Section seventeen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is hereby amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oil or grease not produced from milk or cream, shall have the words,—imitation butter,—or if such substitute is the compound known as—oleomargarine,—then the word—oleomargarine,—or if it is known as—butterine,—then the word—butterine,—stamped, labelled or marked in a straight line in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length, so that said words cannot be easily defaced, upon the top, side and bottom of every tub, firkin, box or package containing any of said article, substance or compound. The said stamp, label or mark shall contain no other words. And whoever, by himself or his agents, exposes or offers for sale any of the said article, substance or compound, not in the original package, shall attach to the said article, substance or compound, in a conspicuous place, a label bearing the words,—imitation butter—oleomargarine,—or—butterine, as the article may be, in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length. And in case of retail sales of any of said article, substance or compound not in the original packages, the seller shall, by himself or his agents, attach to each package so sold, and shall deliver therewith to the purchaser, a label or wrapper bearing in a conspicuous place upon the outside of the package the words,—imitation butter,—oleomargarine,—or butterine,—and no other words, in printed letters in a straight line of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length.

SECT. 2. Section nineteen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound made in imitation or semblance or butter or cheese, or a substitute for butter or cheese, except as provided in the two preceding sections, and whoever, with intent to deceive, defaces, or erases, cancels or removes any mark, stamp brand, label or wrapper provided for in said sections, or in any manner shall falsely label, stamp or mark any box, tub, article or package marked, stamped or labelled as aforesaid, shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 3. Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter, or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oils or grease not produced from milk or cream, contained in any box, tub, article or package, marked or labelled with the word—dairy,—or the word—creamery,—shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 4. Every person who conveys any imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine in carriages or otherwise, for the purpose of selling the same in any city or town, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, be licensed by the inspector or inspectors of milk of such city or town to sell the same within the limits thereof, and shall pay to such inspector or inspectors fifty cents to the use of the city or town. The inspector or inspectors shall pay over monthly to the treasurer of such city or town all sums collected by him or them. In towns in which there is no inspector of milk, licenses shall be issued by the town clerk. Licenses shall be issued only in the names of the owners of the carriages or other vehicles, and shall, for the purposes of this chapter, be conclusive evidence of ownership. No license shall be sold, assigned or transferred Each license shall record the name, residence, place of business, number of carriages or other vehicles used, the name and residence of every driver or other person engaged in carrying or selling imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine, and the number of the license Each licensee shall, before engaging in the sale of any of the articles as aforesaid, cause his name, the number of his license and his place of business to be legibly placed on each outer side of all carriages or vehicles used by him in the conveyance of the articles aforesaid, in Gothic letters not less than one inch in length, and he shall report to the inspector or inspectors any change of driver or other person employed by him which may occur during the term of his license. Whoever, without being first licensed under the provisions of this section, sells any of the articles as aforesaid, or exposes or offers them for sale from carriages or other vehicles, or has them in his custody or possession with intent to sell, and whoever violates any of the provisions of this section shall, for a first offence, be punished by a fine of not less than thirty nor more than one hundred dollars; for a second offence, by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars.

SECT. 5. Every person before selling or offering for sale any of the said articles in a store, booth, stand or market-place in a city or in a town in which an inspector or inspectors of milk are appointed, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually, on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, register in the books of such inspector or inspectors, or, if there be no inspector, then in the books of the town clerk, and shall pay to him or them fifty cents to the use of such city or town; and whoever neglects to so register shall be so punished for each offence by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars.

SECT. 9. This act shall take effect upon its passage. [APPROVED JUNE 23, 1886.]

THOMAS W. PEASLEY,
Inspector of Milk.

Peabody, August 6, 1886.

COLLINS BROS.,
DEALERS IN COAL, WOOD & BARK.
OFFICES:
248 Bridge Street,
— AND —
72 Noth Street.
SALEM.
Stove, Chestnut, Egg and Broken Coals at the Lowest Market Prices.
☞ All orders promptly attended to.
je 30—3m

J. H. ALLEN,
UNDERTAKER,
Removed to St. Peter street, Salem

Business Chance!
DANE BROTHERS,
(Successors to J. H. Trofatter.)
Horse & Carriage Exchange
101 Boston St., Salem.
Large stock of new and second-hand carriages for sale or exchange. Also horses, for sale or exchange.
je 8—6m

EDWARD P. MOULTON,
PLUMBING,
Water & Gas Fitting
Of every description. Ventilation of Closets, and Drainage a specialty.
All orders promptly attended to. First-class work and satisfaction guaranteed.
28 Norman Street,
SALEM.
je 8—4m

HOLLY TREE INN.
The Best Materials only are used in the preparation of Appetising Food,
AT THE
POPULAR HOLLY TREE DINING ROOMS,
9 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.
may 19—4m

M. MORIARTY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Soda, Ginger Ale and Tonic Beers.
Bottler of Cider, Lager Beer, Philadelphia Stock Ale and Porter.
Corner Market Sq. and Front St.
SALEM, MASS.

HORSES!
Arrived Friday, April 30th.
42 HORSES! 42
TWO CAR LOADS OF
HORSES
Purchased by Mr. Abbott for our trade,
NOW READY FOR SALE AT OUR
Sale Stable 52 Charter Street.
Abbott & Reynolds.

EXCURSION TICKETS
For the whole system of Railways in the White and Green Mountains
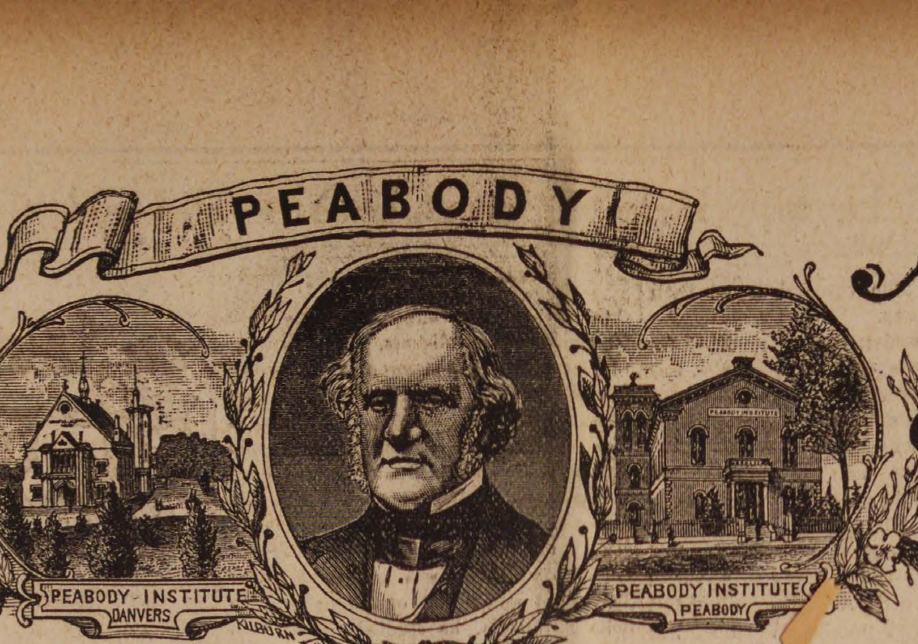
— SOLD BY —
D. P. GROSVENOR,
35 Main Street.
Authorized Agent for Peabody, Mass.
july 28—5w

D. P. GROSVENOR.
PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.
Compounder of
Physicians Prescriptions
and dealer in
RELIABLE DRUGS.
35 MAIN STREET
PEABODY, MASS.

Sagamore House,
133 UNION ST., LYNN,
(NEAR CENTRAL DEPOT.)
Special Rates to Commercial and Professional Travelers.
Renovated and Refurnished.
J. M. Batchelder & co., Props.
je 9—1y

W. S. OSBORNE,
TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER
Home, 96 Central St., Peabody.
Second Door west of Hay Scales.

The Peabody Press.



VOL. 27 PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 29, 1886. NO. 38

KENT & BOYNTON,

Great Clothing Retailers

OF ESSEX COUNTY.

Fall and Winter Opening,

1886---1887.

Largest Stock!
Latest Styles!
Lowest Prices!

ALL NEW GOODS.

NO OLD STOCK AT ANY PRICE.

Every garment in our entire stock new, and manufactured expressly for this Fall and Winter Trade. At this our opening we display without exception, the largest and most desirable line of Men's, Boys' and Children's Overcoats.

SUITS and PANTALOONS,

For Fall and Winter Wear ever found in Essex County. In selecting our stock we have used the utmost care not only to get garments that would be the most desirable and stylish, but also garments that would be perfect in fit and workmanship.

☞REMEMBER.—We sell only honest and reliable clothing at lowest prices. Strictly One Price. Money refunded on all goods returned within a reasonable time.

KENT & BOYNTON'S,

250 & 254 Essex St., Salem.

ALL ARTISTS CAN MAKE MONEY

By sending for our Reduced Price List before purchasing Art Materials of any description. Address, and mention this paper,

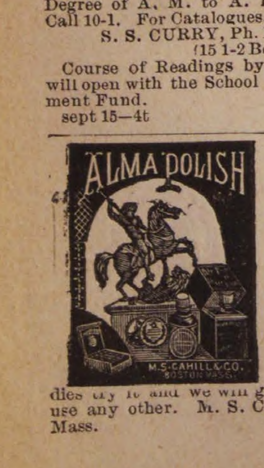
EDMANDS' ART SUPPLY STORE,
12 Bromfield Street, - Boston.
sept 22—15t

PIANOS Behning Pianos,
Harrington Pianos, ORGANS
—AT—
A. M. CRAIN'S
PIANO PARLORS,
52 Market St.,
LYNN.

Any make of Piano or Organ furnished to order.

je30—1y

SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION Training for every need in Elocution, voice, body or mind. Courses for Speakers, Teachers, Professionals and members of Society. 48 hours a week. Work adapted in kind and amount to individual needs, aim and opportunity. Classes for those out of town, graduates of other schools, etc. Library; Loan Fund; Degree of A. M. to A. B.'s, Opens October 7. Call 10-1. For Catalogues, etc., address
S. S. CURRY, Ph. D., Freeman Place,
(15 1-2 Beacon Street), Bosto
Course of Readings by leading elocutionist will open with the School for benefit of Endow-s ment Fund.
sept 15—4t



ALMA POLISH
M. S. CAHILL & CO.
BOSTON MASS.

ALMA POLISH

For Ladies' and Children's shoes is the only Dressing ever made that will preserve the leather; for French Kid it has no equal. Alma Polish has received the highest reward ever given for a shoe polish and has the endorsement of all the leading shoe dealers in the United States. Ladies try it and we will guarantee you will never use any other. M. S. CAHILL & CO., Boston, Mass.

The Swampscott Standard in speaking of the meeting of the W. C. T. U., recently held in that town says:—Miss Hattie Saunders of Peabody, county superintendent of Young Women's Work, opened the talk upon that theme, giving some interesting results of the recent meetings held at the Peabody tent, at Asbury Grove, by the W. C. T. U., during camp-meeting week, and related an incident showing the influence of wearing the white ribbon, which, it is hoped, may lead some who have been so extremely careful about showing their colors by wearing them, to be willing to do this much, thereby declaring on which side they desire to be counted. Her points were: 1st, entire consecration to the Lord; 2d, earnest desire for knowledge concerning the work; 3d, willingness to do it in the best way with the means at hand, using every opportunity and the weapons we were best fitted to use. She was followed by Miss M. J. Floyd.

The West Peabody "philosopher," in declining the election as a member, of the Republican town committee which he concluded to accept all the same, said he had been on the committee eight years and had done his level best for the interest and success of the Republican party, but there were others who could do as well as he had, perhaps, and so he would give them a chance to try. In fact, he said the woods were full of them. In referring to Rev. Willard Spaulding, he said that for years past the Rev. gentleman had been a free trader, but now he has written a letter in favor of protecting the fishermen. Look at him now, trying to stride two horses and expects to win by it. After being a saviour of souls for forty years, I don't see how he can stand up for the course he has taken.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

Sept. 29, 1886!

Slates get broken!

The fall of the year!

The measles are reported!

Which was the equinoctial?

The gas bill begins to enlarge!

Frosts have done no damage yet!

The nights have gained a minute!

Got all your big fruit at cattle show?

The hickory nut season is nearly here.

Barberry bushes hang pendant with fruit.

Cider mills are putting in extra work!

The nights and mornings are delightfully cool.

Mrs. C. J. Messer has gone to Berwick, Me.

To-day is St. Michael's and All Angel's day.

The state police are again seen on our streets.

Big bargains in all kinds of footwear at Nugent's. *

Re-opening of the rink next Wednesday evening.

A new moon last Monday with the "horns" reversed.

It is a foolish calf that don't know his own fodder.

There is some talk of organizing a drum corps in town.

Ladies Serge Slippers 25 cents at Nugent's Shoe store. *

The edgestones in front of Geo. W. Pepper's are being raised.

The onion juice is said to instantly cure the bite of a mosquito.

Mr. Albert W. Jones has been sick at his home on Tremont street.

Mr. Daniel F. Buxton on Lowell street, is quite sick with pneumonia.

Rev. Mr. Gracie of Salem, preached at the Methodist church last Sunday.

Who has charge of the storm signals now? People are enquiring for them.

A new pump has been put in at the corner of Central and Andover streets.

The edgestones on the southerly side of Mill street are a great improvement.

Freckles can be removed from the face with sand paper and elbow grease.

Verbum sat sapienti:—buy your boots and shoes at Nugent's shoe store.

The lecture committee of the Peabody Institute have not yet organized.

Fear not the anger of the wise to raise;
Those best can bear reproof who merit praise.

So. Danvers Nat'l Bank, has declared a dividend of 3 per cent., payable Oct. 1st.

Fire was started in the boiler at the town house last Thursday for the first time.

Rev. Mr. Voorhees, of Salem, preached at the Old South Church last Sunday.

Fat poultry of good weight and size are beginning to arrive in the local markets.

The Peabody Cycle Club have bought a pool table for their room over Heath's stove store.

Mr. Fred C. Blake, clerk at B. F. Hutchinson's, has gone on a trip to Nova Scotia.

Mr. Urban C. Roberts and wife will spend their vacation at Wolfboro, N. H., and vicinity.

Mr. John Fitzgibbons has gone to Chicago. He is a Fitzhenry scouring machine operator.

Conductor Williams of the Lynn & Boston road, has gone to New Hampshire on a vacation.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

The B. & M. railroad company will hereafter pay its help by checks, doing away with the pay car.

Mr. Moses E. Johnson, of Kansas City, is visiting in town. We enjoyed a pleasant call yesterday.

The sound of dropping nuts will soon be heard and the small boy is sure to be there or thereabouts.

The town will shortly rebuild the old bridge on Foster street, in front of the shop of L. B. Southwick & Co.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town—Nothing like it, Principee. Clarks Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo Stevens' *

The Young Atlantics defeated the Y. M. B's. in a game of base ball, at Salem, Saturday. Score 13 to 4.

Dr. Beardsley will probably give another course of lectures upon the human anatomy, the coming winter.

A number of the W. C. T. U. women of this town, are in attendance at the quarterly meeting at Methuen.

Rev. S. B. Stewart of Lynn preached in the Unitarian Church last Sunday. Rev. Mr. Hudson was in Montreal.

Sanger's Peabody Laundry has a reputation for good work. An agency has been established at Harvard College.

Last Sunday was Communion Sunday at the Methodist Church, and Mr. Neil Shaw was accepted as a member.

"Have you put up any termateses yet?" inquired a shrill-voiced woman of another on the street the other day.

Large pumpkins now show their golden or variagated countenances along the hillside and over the garden wall.

The Boston & Maine railroad is about to equip all its passenger cars with the Westinghouse automatic air brake.

The crop reports state that the potato crop will amount to only about one half. This means big prices for potatoes.

With man the proof of success is money; with God, virtue. One represents the cents of man, the other, the sense of God.

Miss Lizzie French is rusticating at Concord, N. H. She will re-enter the employ of Mr. Parker of Lynn when the new store opens.

If you wish to save from two to five dollars on the price of a set of teeth, call on Dr. Doyle; prices reduced on all kinds of dentistry. *

Wiggins predicted that to-day would be noted for a terrible wind. If it was half as windy as Wiggins himself, the prophecy would be correct.

Poll tax-payers who have not paid the tax of 1885, will "get left" on the voters' list of the coming state election, unless they pay immediately.

The fall and winter time table of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad went into effect on Monday, and will be found in another column.

Everybody is congratulating Mr. H. Grahame Wheeler on his success as Rudolph in the Black Crook. He was far ahead of the rest of the company.

Miss M. B. Wilson, the well-known milliner, was in New York making fall purchases last week. She was accompanied by her nephew, Arthur W. Foster.

There has been a large increase of primary pupils in our schools, and in some of the rooms there are a third more than at the beginning of the term.

The Selectmen offer a reward of $300 for the conviction of the parties who set fire to the house owned by Geo. J. Winchester, and used as a boarding house.

Mr. Frank B. Trask, formerly with Goulding, will occupy the Danvers store of Mr. George H. Jacobs as soon as it is vacated. Mr. Jacobs is to have an elegant new one.

A beautiful white hydarangee, which has been blooming all summer at G. Horace Merrill's on Washington street, still retains its freshness, and is a delicate shade of pink.

Mr. Thomas F. Horrigan of Peabody is now connected with the reportorial staff of the Salem Telegram. He is a graduate of Boston University, and has had considerable experience.

Rev. Mr. Phinney of the Methodist Church announced last Sunday that Tuesdays and Fridays would be reception days, or rather days on which he and his wife would be at home.

And even now some local patriots are dissatisfied, notwithstanding the country has been saved two nights in succession in town hall. How some men do long to bleed for Peabody.

A "three-year-old" discovered the neighbor's hens in her yard scratching. In a most indignant tone she reported to her mother that Mrs. Brown's hens were "wiping their feet in our grass."

Where is Mr. John A, Enos, is a question frequently heard. He has not been seen for some time and his friends are getting anxious about him. He had about $6,000 with him when last seen.

--- A GIGANTIC ---

CLOTHING HAT, CAP

—— AND ——

GENT'S FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT

—— FOR ——

SALEM.

David Conrad's entire block to be connected with the Naumkeag Clothing Store which will be when completed the largest retail Clothing, Hat, Cap and Gent's Furnishing Goods Establishment in New England, except the "Marlboro" in Boston, one of our own stores, and the largest in the U. S.

We desire to inform the citizens of Essex County that we have leased the Conrad estate, formerly occupied by him as a Dry Goods Store, and shall commence at once to connect it with the Naumkeag Clothing Store, making one enormous establishment.

BUYERS OF CLOTHING, HATS, CAPS AND FURNISHING GOODS REMEMBER! -

Our entire stock of Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing, Hats, Caps and Furnishing Goods, amounting to over ($65,000), sixty-five thousand dollars worth must be closed out at once. This will be the grandest opportunity for the citizens of Essex County to secure reliable clothing at figures lower than ever before heard of in New England.

This sale will include all our heavy Winter Overcoats, carried over from last season, numbering over (600) six hundred Men's, Boys' and Children's all warranted to be clean perfect goods, just as stylish as any made this year, and a saving of 30 to 40 per cent. to the buyer. Our object in offering this gigantic sale so early in the season, is on account of enlarging our store.

School commences now in a few days. Parents should not fail to call and examine our enormous stock of Boys' and Children's School Suits, in heavy and medium weight. We shall offer at this sale over (2000) two thousand Boys' and Children's School and Dress Suits, over 50 different patterns to make your selections from. In fact you will have a wholesale stock to select from, at prices that cannot fail to meet with the approval of every buyer. The goods must be closed out before the 20th of September.

We must unload a very large proportion of this stock before our alterations are completed.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

177 & 179 Essex St., Salem.

Z. A. GALLUP, - - - - - MANAGER

A boy named William Lane caught a great curiosity last Saturday in the woods near Buxton's hill. It was a white squirrel. While he was exhibiting it on Endicott street, the animal escaped.

The parishioners of Rev. Dr. Bolles of the Universalist Church, Salem, are arranging to give him a reception on his return from Europe, next month. Some of his numerous friends here will be present.

A reception was given in one of the turbulent portions of our town last Friday night. The occasion was the arrival of a young lady from Ireland. The festivities terminated in a row and several sore heads were the result.

Last Sunday morning a handsome plump partridge was seen to light in the rear of the house of a South Peabody resident. The law wasn't off, but the house owner could not resist the temptation, and killed the bird.

It is reported that most of the democratic delegates from this city to the Congressional Convention are in favor of a fusion with the knights of labor in the nomination of Willard Spaulding of Peabody.—Gloucester Advertiser.

While the Boston Herald and Globe are taking whole pages to discuss the question of which is the best and which has the largest circulation, the PRESS will appear each week chock full of local news, and take the premium every time.

A young man named Draper has applied for a patent for a new design for a sofa. It consists of a reversible back so the article of furniture can be placed in any position in a room. The same invention can be applied to car seats or lounges.

There has been an advance of about 25 per cent. in the wholesale price of ham, shoulders and bacon within the past few months, owing to the great demand for export shipments. Consumers do not seem to understand why retail dealers in these meats are demanding higher prices than formerly. The above explanation may enlighten them.

Straw hats and overcoats yesterday!

Blankets and Comforters at Tarlton's.

Friendship canes are the latest craze, and some pretty ones are being made by young ladies who have friends with bright ribbons to spare. They are made from a young tree and the branches are artistically arranged while they are green.

This is delightful September weather. In fact, nearly the whole summer has been of the glorious order. And as for an abundance of everything that tends to the comfort and happiness of man, the summer has never been excelled. Let all return thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Farrington were agreeably surprised upon their return from a wedding trip to find awaiting them an elegant French clock and handsome picture entitled "Watching and Waiting." They were from their friends in the Universalist Society.

Here is an item of interest to the ladies: If white clothing, say a dress, is put away in a dark closet or drawer, it will in time become yellow. But if it be placed in a box lined with dark blue cloth, it will come out as white as it ever was, no matter how long it lies.

Some one posted during the night, Friday, a lot of posters that read as follows: "ATTENTION! Do you want your name on this list? If so, scab it. List of scab splitters." Then follow the names and addresses of eight non-union men who are at work as splitters. At the bottom the circular says, "Look out for our next edition." The police removed most of the posters.

A young man hired a buggy of one of our citizens recently to go to Woburn. The day he had set to go was very stormy, but this did not dampen his ardor in the least. Returning at night he left the buggy in the shed, and as the owner went to remove the wet cushions, the persistency of the young man was explained by finding a marriage certificate, uniting the young man to a fascinating widow of Woburn. A rainy day had no effect on him.

The locked out men received their pay yesterday.

The face wall at the Danvers Bleachery was built by John Linehan.

The bridge along Caller street has been provided with a picket fence.

Forty-nine new names were added to the check list last night by the registrars.

Mr. John Keefe has purchased the Lawrence Goodrich estate on Spring street and will erect a tenement house.

If you want anything in the way of silver for presents or for the table, call on Daniel Low. Everything he will sell you is reliable and to be depended on.

Charles E. Verner and a strong company appear to-night in the Town Hall, in the drama, Shamus O'Brien. The advance agent, Mr. J. W. Carroll, was formerly with John S. Murphy, and we extend thanks to him for courtesies.

Kent & Boynton have a new announcement on our first page, which is worthy of attention. These gentlemen are doing a successful and satisfactory business, and are honorable and straightforward in all their dealings.

There seems to be a strange superstition among the laboring people concerning strange noises and sights at Dugan's currying shop in Salem. As some of the men tell it, the ghost of the non-union man who was killed there continues to ride up and down the elevator, and at night his cries of distress are plainly heard. Such faith is put in the report that already several men have resigned as watchmen.

The thirteenth annual convention of the Massachusetts W. C. T. U., will be held in the First M. E. church, North Common street, Lynn, October 5, 6 and 7. Exercises will consist of reports, addresses, and worker's conferences. Mrs. Mary T. Lathrop of Michigan, who is called the "Daniel Webster of Prohibition" will speak on the evening of the 6th. Mrs. Bent of Portland will lead the singing with her golden cornet of national fame. Sessions at 9, 2 and 7.30.

Poet's Corner.

A Provoking Fellow.

The roses he brought me have faded—perhaps
His love like the blossoms will fade;
How wearily then will the moments elapse,
While waiting I watch my attractions collapse,
And hear myself called an "old maid."

How provoking it seems, though one would suppose
He was dying to have me his own,
And he knows of me pa is prepared to dispose;
It seems that he would never think to propose,
Though hints have so often been thrown.

I've asked him when each of his sisters expect
To get married, and said that myself,
Were I in their place, should begin to suspect
That my prospects had all been most cruelly wrecked,
And consider myself on the shelf.

I've hinted—but, well, you may almost surmise
How I utilize every event;
But he does [illegible] but the slightest surprise,
And he looks [illegible] innocent [illegible] in his eyes,
Just as if he [illegible] what I meant.

At the Eleventh Hour.

The flowers he had sent her, the voluptuous spicery of the tuberose, the great passion-hearted red roses and glowing carnations, all whispering of love and clamoring with fragrant breath for grace to the sender; these threatened to vanquish her last scruple and complete the conquest. He understood too well her extreme sensitiveness to their influence. She had told him how in childhood she had pattered into the garden alone at twilight to hear the bluebells tinkle silvery and meet the dewy-lipped roses with kisses.

This sixth sense was peculiarly active now. It had grown with her growth. She lifted the bouquet from its bed of damp moss and held it against her cheek tenderly. It was charged with passion. It sent delicate vibrations along her nerves. The red roses bent their heads in responsive caress. The carnations wooed her. They were sentient, sympathetic, like the flowers of Tennyson's garden song.

She had had dreams like other girls, sweet maidenly anticipations of marriage, as the outcome of love. But Owen Richards, by slow, carefully worded presentations, had made her understand that for legitimate reasons he could not give her his name. This idea had taken possession of her so insidiously that now instead of shrinking from it she was almost ready to defy the fifty-headed Cerberus of society for his sake.

She had promised to decide that night. She placed the flowers in water and walked the room with sweet, tumultuous thoughts of her lover.

Gradually, a calla lily, rising tall and fair in the centre of the bouquet, commanded her attention. It stilled the clamor of the roses. It infused into her spirit some of its own passionless calm. It beckoned her warningly to leave the room. Had her lover by his zeal to symbolize her stately beauty and warm passionate heart in the combination of the flowers defeated his other purpose?

"Strange how sensitive I am," she thought as she dressed for the street, with trembling fingers. "The room is full of whispers and that calla is watching me."

Once on the street the fresh air restored her equilibrium in a measure. Her former misgivings returned in full force as she walked along thoughtfully, not heeding her direction. And yet could she give him up? There was agony in the question. She had put him off week after week, dallying with temptation until it seemed she must surely yield to-night with all these floating fragrances and seductive whisperings in her room seconding his passionate pleadings.

She found herself down-town and bethought her of an errand regarding her work—that of a copyist.

It was dusk when she decended the marble steps inside the tall building. The gaslight showed a woman crouching inside the street door.

Beatrice glanced at the frayed velvet cloak and feather in the hat of the forlorn creature and shrank from the dreadful wild eyes into an uneasy desire to be safely outside. She stifled a scream as the woman clutched her skirt, gasping: "I'm starving! starving! Give me money!" with the half-savage expression of hunger in her tone.

Beatrice drew back and scanned the face.

"It cannot be Rose Lawton," she said unwillingly.

"I had hoped you would not know me," the girl returned as she staggered weakly against the door with a hollow cough.

Beatrice was quick to act.

"Lean on me, Rose," she said bravely. "There is a restaurant next door."

She half dragged her along to the entrance and assisted her to a seat.

"You do not know what sort of a creature you are feeding," Rose said with a forced laugh when the chicken broth Beatrice had ordered had revived her a little. "You had better leave me before some of your fine friends—"

"Hush!" Beatrice implored with a white shocked face. "Drink your tea. It will give you courage. You are going with me to my room."

Rosa looked incredulous. "I'm not mean enough to disgrace you after you have fed me," she said.

"You are going," Beatrice repeated firmly, and partly from force of habit. Rose succumbed to the determination of her old friend and entered a street car with her.

The imprisoned breath of the flowers floated to meet them as Beatrice opened the door of her room and drew Rose inside. It touched the cheek and lip of the outcast tenderly and clung softly to her faded garments. "We will drown their voices," Beatrice thought grimly. The light from the street revealed the shadowy furniture and glinted on gilded picture frames. Rose shrank within herself in the atmosphere of purity. "Please don't light the gas just yet," she pleaded, shrinking into a corner. "What made you bring me here, anyway? I'm not fit to breathe the same air as you."

"Rose, you trust me," Beatrice spoke with a quick, sharp inflection that the other did not understand. She proceeded more gently. "Do you think me so forgetful, ungrateful? Was there any question about breathing the same air when your mother sent you with food and medicine when we were all down with the smallpox? I lie awake now sometimes thinkimg of those dreadful days and nights and father lying dead and not a soul outside your family who would venture near our lonesome house over the river.

Beatrice's voice faltered with the recollection of her childhood's misery in her Nova Scotia home.

"Oh, Rose! you have done nothing that can cancel your claim on me," she said earnestly.

She sat down beside the unhappy girl and removed her hat and cloak with sympathetic touch. Rose flung away her hand.

"I can't bear it!" she cried. "You bring back the past. I seem to be running again with you barefoot over the brown old pasture, after the cows at sundown with the wind blowing in our faces from the deep gully in the woods where the river hid itself. You make me feel the deep difference between us now, and that I can never get back those innocent days."

Beatrice's heart ached at the spectacle of abject dispair.

"What happened? Won't you tell me?" she said soothingly. She had heard strange whispers about Rose, but had given them little credit.

"I can't make you understand," Rose said, hopelessly. "You would have to go through the same experience. I met him when I came to New York three years ago." Her voice broke. "I loved him. I could have been true to him a lifetime. He grew tired of me. I began to fade with worrying. He complained that I was dull and spiritless. He left me entirely. I didn't care then what became of me. I have been getting lower and lower ever since, and now I'm dying."

Beatrice stroked the thin hands that clasped and unclasped nervously. "My poor sister," she whispered, with an undercurrent of meaning Rose did not perceive.

"I tell you you wouldn't touch me if you knew me as I am," Rose reiterated. "Think what it must be," she went on, rapidly, "to fall so low that a caress from one good and noble hurts worse than a blow."

Was it the still, small whisper within the soul of Beatrice, "Who maketh them to differ?" that filled her with overflowing tenderness for the wretched girl?

She sprang up at the sound of approaching footsteps. "I must light the gas," she said, in a tone that sounded strangely calm to herself in contrast with her inward tumult.

"Who's coming?" Rose whispered, glancing around fearfully, like some outlawed creature.

"A friend of mine. Just remain as you are," Beatrice made answer, feeling herself grow strong through the the other's weakness.

"No, no!" Rose remonstrated. "Let me go in there," and she darted behind a crimson drapery into a side room adjacent as Beatrice admitted Owen Richards.

The faint, sweet spices of the carnations, the voluptuous breath of the roses swept round and enfolded the two as their hands clasped in greeting. But Beatrice heard no whispers. They were stilled by the blighting breath of the crushed human flower in their midst. The calla overlooked the roses, tall, calm, observant. Owen glanced from it to Beatrice.

"My stately lilly, with the deep, passionate heart of the red rose," he said, in his soft, persuasive voice, "I have come for my answer, you know," and he extended his arms towards me.

Neither noticed that the crimson drapery trembled and parted slightly at the sound of his voice.

"I cannot talk with you to-night," Beatrice answered, mindful of her unseen auditor. "I will send you a note in the morning."

"But, Beatrice," he remonstrated, "you have put me off."

As she motioned him back the crimson drapery parted and Rose came out into the gaslight.

"So Owen Richards is your lover," she said, sharply, turning to Beatrice, unmindful of the startled expression in his eyes.

"Surely he was not yours," Beatrice exclaimed, with a still, icy feeling creeping over her.

"Ask him," Rose responded with that awful despair in her eyes.

Beatrice turned toward him with a face of deadly pallor. Even her lips were white. The passion of her heart seemed to have died in an instant. She shrank from the memory of his caresses as if his hand had been stained with blood. The roses drooped their heads as in tears.

It was an embarrassing position for Owen Richards, to say the least. But he met the eyes of Beatrice with the self-possession of the man of the world, knowing she was lost to him.

"Miss Lawton is an old acquaintance of mine," he said quietly. "I am sorry to see her looking so ill."

To do Richards justice, he was shocked at the sight of the moral and physical wreck of the girl for whom he had felt that short-lived passion, born of her delicate wild flower beauty, and tender, clinging affection. He had heard with something of remorse of her downward path, after his desertion, for he had soothed himself with the thought that she would marry some good fellow and forget him.

A faint ripple of the tide of chivalry that finds expression in the White Cross League was stirring in his breast as he glanced at Beatrice in her unsullied, statuesque beauty. She, at least, had not been compromised by him. The thought was balm to his conscience at the moment.

"If I can aid you in any way," he said slowly, doubtfully, glancing from one to the other. Beatrice made answer:

"I am her friend. I will see she is cared for. I owe her a debt for service rendered in the past, and more especially to-night."

Was this poor reparation to be denied him? He was already reaping of the bitterness he had sown.

* * * * *

"You are not sorry you found out the truth?" Rose questioned after he had gone. You would not want to marry—"

Beatrice started. "I should never have married him," she said ambiguously.

"Can it be possible he was offering her such a portion as mine?" Rose thought in silent wonder.

Beatrice had the side room fitted up for Rose. Every day a present of fruit and flowers and other luxury was sent to the house, the donor of which it was easy to guess.

On a sweet spring day the bruised life went out into the mystical beyond, and a little later Beatrice received a check to cover all expenses, with a note from Richards begging her not to refuse it.

"Why should I refuse?" Beatrice thought, wearily. "Have I not proved my own weakness? Is it for me to judge my neighbor?" * * But to Beatrice Rivers there comes always on the breath of passionate-hearted roses the memory of that brief love dream and the eleventh hour awakening, a memory which after years of wifehood and motherhood will never efface.

Horrors of Spanish Prisons.

I hear that there is a great deal of dirt, cruelty, misery and mismanagement in Spanish prisons. In nearly every provincial town there is prevencion or carcel, under the authority of the alcade, and in the hands of the civil guards and town police. This stone building, which you enter by an open-barred gate, against which some prisoners are idly leaning smoking their paper cigarettes, consists of two or three stone-flagged chambers above and the same number below stairs. The upper chambers are devoted to women, the tower to men, caught in flagrante delicto, who await there the mandate of the authorities, which shall either free or send them to the nearest prison or carcel proper, there to lie herded with a host of malefactors until their trials shall be concluded. The prisoners in these lock-ups fare badly indeed. In the summer with heat, eaten by vermin in the winter, sleeping without either bed or rug on the cold stones with but one meal a day of coarse rancho or pottage, they pass their time leaning against the bars, scoffing at passers-by in the street. They curse and swear, gamble away their clothes, and in the intervals between these pastimes call on God, on heaven and the Virgin to deliver them. They are kept there, it may be a few days and it may be for six or seven years. The conversation is made up of blasphemy and obscenity; the dirt is appalling, the allotted food wretched. Many are brought to these dens merely as suspected accomplices of some crime, and they are kept there and thus hardly treated until they have confessed all they know. With the women the hard treatment, the exposure, the absence of decency often brings about the desired effect and they confess and betray all. With the men flogging, coupled with this bad fare and all the rest of it, often extracts a confession.

French Sentiment and Rings.

In an article on engagement rings a French writer says: "Do not choose the ruby, as it is too showy, loud and indiscreet. Good taste inclines toward the sapphire and the diamond, of which the one does not go well without the other. Do not choose a large sapphire surrounded by diamonds, but ask your jeweler artist to interlace in happy combination the sapphire and the diamond. The turquoise is also a tasteful stone, but when it is constantly worn it has the immense disadvantage to change color, and to this change most women attach a sad and sentimental superstition."

Purify your blood, tone up the system, and regulate the digestive organs by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sold by all druggists.

THE ALDINE PRESS.

Of all the great printers, who were once Humanists and publishers, there is none who left so strong a stamp of individuality behind him as the man who loved to sign his exquisite volumes Aldus Pius Manutius Romanus et Philhellen. His original name was Teobaldo Mannucci, and he was born at Sermoneta in 1450. His early life was one of learned ease and retirement sufficiently unlike the restless and fatiguing labors to which he was afterward fated. The guest and friend of the noble Pico della Mirandola, he studied Greek with him in his palace under a Cretan Professor, Emmanuel Adramyttenos. Eventually he became the tutor of Pico's nephews; and one of these, Alberto Pico, to whom the great publisher afteward dedicated his magnificent edition of Aristotle, supplied him with funds to set up a printing press. In 1476 the first Greek book had been issued from a press at Milan, and 1480 a very uncritical Theocritus made its appearance. The first really excellent book published in Italy was Lorenzo Alpa's Florentine Homer in 1488. This was really all of any value that had been done to perpetuate Greek literature when Aldus, in 1490, settled in Venice, and collected scholars and compositors around him. His house became a nucleus of Greek learning, and indeed it would seem that the whole business was carried on in the Greek language, and by exiles from the ruins of the Eastern Empire. The directions to printers and binders are entirely in that language, and accordingly it is judged that Aldus, in order to succeed thoroughly in his great enterprise, steeped himself entirely in the language that he loved; his very prefaces were in Greek. The work, begun about 1493, went on almost without a pause for more thrn 20 years; during that time there were issued from the Aldine press no less than 33 first editions of all the greatest and most voluminous Greek authors. Of these, a few may be recorded here. The list began with Musæus in 1493, and Theocritus in 1495; Aristotle followed, a splendid edition in four volumes, which occupied the years 1495 to 1498, in the last mentioned year Aldus was assisted by Musurus in bringing out all that was then known of Aristophanes, the Lysistrata and the Thesmophoriazusæ being not yet discovered. Thucydides, Sophocles, and Herodotus followed in 1502, Zenophon and Euripides in 1503, and Demosthenes in 1504. The Greek orators occupied 1508, and Plutarch 1509; Plato appeared 1513, and Pindar in 1514. Thus, just 100 years after the first Professor of Greek arrived in Florence, bearing the precious secrets of literature with him, the greater part of antique letters was at the service of the humblest of Italian scholars. For nothing is more remarkable than the public spirit and munificence of the first and greatest of publishers. In spite of his manifold expenses, risks, and difficulties, he contrived to circulate his really luxurious editions at a price that seems nominal. The Musæus cost less than 1 shilling of our money, and the Theocritus less than 2; all five volumes of the vast edition of Aristotle could be purchased for £8. When we realize that everything had to be invented, and that Aldus inherited no experience from past workmen; that the very type had to be cut from handwriting, the italic type from that of Petrarch, the Greek from that of Musurus; that the publishing house had to become a sort of college of scholars, all dependent on the unwearied head, our wonder is excited at the greatness of this unique man, whose energies were constantly thwarted and his designs paralyzed by the waves of war that deluged Italy again and again. He persevered, and his disciples continued his labors; the monuments of ancient prose and verse were placed beyond the fear of destruction or loss. In 1515 Aldus Manutius died.—The Westminster Review.

THE CAUSE.

The seemingly incredible story that in Florida oysters are to be found growing on trees is explained as follows: The mangrove tree, which abounds in many places, sends its shoots from the limbs downward to the earth, when they take root frequently in considerable depth of water, and during high tide the oysters become attached to them, so that when the waters recede with the ebb tide the oysters are hanging to the limbs some distance above water. Usually there is no current in these lagoons and the water rises and falls with the winds, which, blowing steadily in one direction for days at a time, drive the waters before them from one part of the lagoon to another, leaving a section submerged which has for days or weeks been above water until a change of wind reverses the process.

A BAD PLAN.

Memoranda should not be made to take the place of memory. There can be very little doubt of the bad effects of habitually writing down these facts and events which we wish to remember; they are taken down for future consideration, and consequently receive very little present consideration. From a conviction that our knowledge can be thus easily recalled, it is never systematically arranged or deeply engraved; we atone for the passive indolence of the mind by the mechanical labor of the hands, and write a volume without remembering a line. The desirable and the useful thing is, that we should carry our knowledge about with us, as we carry our health about with us; that the one should be exhibited in the alacrity of our actions, and the other proved by the vigor of our thoughts.

The long heated term has probably closed for good.

Lactated Food
FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

The Most Successful PREPARED FOOD.
FOR NEW-BORN INFANTS.

It may be used with confidence, when the mother is unable to nurse the child, as a safe and natural substitute for mother's milk.

The BEST FOOD to be used in connection with PARTIAL NURSING.

No other food answers so perfectly in such cases It causes no disturbance of digestion and will be relished by the child.

A SURE PREVENTIVE and CURE for CHOLERA INFANTUM.

By the use of this predigestic and easily assimilated Food, fatal results in this dreded diseas can be surely prevented.

A Perfect Nutrient for INVALIDS in either Chronic or Acute Cases.

Hundreds of physicians testify to its great value It will be retained when even lime water and milk is rejected by the stomach. In dyspepsia, and in all wasting diseases it has proved the most nutritious and palatable, and the same time the most economical of Foods. For an infant may be made.

150 MEALS for $1.00.

Sold by Druggists—25c., 50c., $1.00.

☞A valuable pamphlet entitled "Medical Opinions on the Nutrition of Infants and Invalids" sent free on application.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt

CIGARS!

CIGARS!

CIGARS!

Those desiring to purchase a good Cigars, look at our assortment of Imported and Domestic.

Discount by box.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

TRY OUR

JAMAICA GINGER.

THE

EARLIEST FRUIT,

And Best Native and Southern Vegetables, Berries and Fruit,

— AT —

Porter's Market,

3 & 5 Central St., Salem.

may 1?—4m

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS.

To the Heirs-at-Law, and others interested in the estate of PRESCOTT E. GRANT, late of Peabody, in said County, carpenter deceased, intestate, GREETING:

WHEREAS, Henry Wardwell, Administrator of the estate of said deceased, has presented for allowance the first account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Salem, in said County, on the first Monday of October next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed; And said Administrator is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, three weeks successively, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of September, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

sept 15—3t

DRS. KIMBALL & HOWARD

DENTISTS,

107 UNION STREET, LYNN.

(Spinney's Block near Central Station)

Make a specialty of administering the New Vegetable Vapor and extracting teeth. No charge for the Vapor when more than one tooth is extracted at a sitting.

Also are thorough masters of the profession Dentistry, in both mechanical and operative branches. y 7—1y

LADIES & GENTLEMEN,

CALL AT

CYRUS C. TREVETT'S,

IF YOU WANT

The most durable and stylish boots at bottom prices, be sure and bring the children.

110 UNION STREET.

LYNN, MASS.

jy 7—1 y

DR. LEON RIDEOUT,

DENTIST,

Has removed his office to his Residence,

NO. 8 JOHNSON STREET,

Third House from City Hall,

LYNN, MASS.

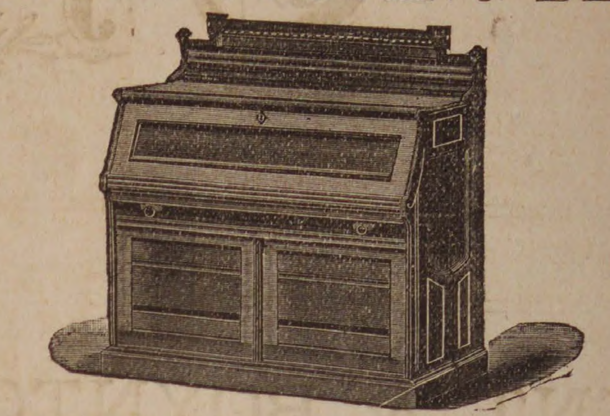
Hours, 8 to 12; 1 to 5.

Change, for better accommodation of my patrons.

HEAD-QUARTERS

FOR

PARLOR FOLDING BEDS.



We are agents for the Folding Cabinet Bed, the Cheffonier Bed, the Mantle Bed, also Sofa and Lounge Beds in great variety.

CARPETS.

Our new Carpet Hall is stocked with a complete line of Brussels, Tapestries, Velvets and Ingrain, Oil Cloths, Rugs and Matting. Special low prices. All new, fresh stock.

STOVES AND RANGES.

We carry a full line of the New Glenwood B. Range, the Magee Mystic, the New Elmwood, Pilgrim, and other first class Ranges. Also Parlor Stoves all styles and prices. A good Range with all the ware complete for only $16.00.

You will save money by purchasing your Stoves or Ranges directly of us. Any of the above goods will be sold for Cash, or if you have not the ready money on Weekly or Monthly Payments.

W. C. PACKARD FURNITURE AND CARPET CO.,

Largest House Fusnishers in Eastern Massachusetts,

281 Essex & 1, 3, 5, 7 Crombie Streets,

NEXT TO MECHANICS HALL.

☞ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE.

ONCE MORE

TO SCHOOL!

See Reuben and Hal and little Jane
Merrily tripping down the lane;
They're bound for school, vacation is o'er;
They're ready for their books once more.
How pleased they look! and see how neat!
Yes! well they may, for on their feet
Are shoes from Osborne's, a guarantee
Of splendid fit and quality.

Shrewd folks who strive to make their dimes
Go farthest in these pinching times,
And yet not sacrifice a whit
Of style or wear, or perfect fit,
Flock to our stores in steady stream.
They seek to save; we give them cream;
They tell their friends and they believe,
And crowd our stores from morn till eve.

We Call the Attention of the People

To the GREATEST OPPORTUNITY to SHOE THEIR CHILDREN for School. We offer a stock of Boys' and Youths', Misses' and Children's Boots and Shoes, immense in quantity, superior in quality, and of great variety, and at PRICES that give our customers the Best End of the Bargain Every Time!

No such attractions in SCHOOL SHOES for Children of all ages have ever been offered, even by ourselves, and a visit to either our MUMROE ST. or WEST LYNN STORES will richly repay you.

Boys and Youths Bals and Button Shoes
Misses' and Children's Heeled
and Spring Heel Shoes!

DOWN! DOWN! DOWN!

To prices that give the poorest a chance to shoe their children in a satisfactory and becoming manner. REMEMBER! that every pair of Boots and Shoes in both stores, whose selling price has been 50 cents or upwards, has been MARKED DOWN. This is absolute and without any reserve whatever, and affects the LARGEST AND BEST STOCK OF BOOTS AND SHOES IN NEW ENGLAND!

Boys' Veal Calf, Tap Sole, Balmorals,		.65	.95	$1.10
Boys' Veal Calf, Nailed, Button Boots,				1.40
Youths' Veal Calf, Tap Sole, Balmorals,				.95
Youths' Veal Calf, Nailed,				1.20
Youths' Veal Calf, Nailed, Button Boots,				1.40
Misses' Grain Button Boots, Heeled—Sizes 11 to 2,			.69	1.05
Misses' Grain Button Boots, Spring Heeled—Sizes	11 to 2,			1.20
Misses' Kid Button Boots, " " "	11 to 2,		.85	1.85
Misses' Goat Button Boots, " " "	11 to 2,		.95	1.85
Misses' Kid Button Boots, Heeled, "	11 to 2,		1 33	1.85
Misses' Goat Button Boots, " "	11 to 2,		1.33	1.85
Child's Grain Button Boots, " "	9 to 10 1-2,		.90	1.15
Child's Grain Button Boots, " "	5 to 8,			.7
Child's Goat and Kid Button, Heeled, "	8 1-2 to 10 1-2,		1.05	1.45
Child's Goat and Kid Button, Spring Heeled, "	5 to 8,		.90	1.15
Child's Kid Button, " " "	5 to 8,			.37

AND HUNDREDS OF OTHER BARGAINS,

38 MUNROE STREET. 23 MARKET SQUARE.

WELLMAN OSBORNE.

Mrs. M. A. McNeil,

LADIES'

FANCY GOODS STORE

149 Essex St., Salem.

Special attention given to

Spinal Corsets, Shoulder Braces, Abdominal Supporters, etc,

Also keep constantly on hand the largest variety of Corsets and Children's Waists in Essex County.

And have just received a large line of

INFANTS' & CHILDREN'S DRESSES,

Up to Ten years of age. Please call and examine.

REMEMBER THE NUMBER,

149 ESSEX STREET

A few doors below the Museum.

mch 31—6m

E. W. GOULD

BAY STATE

Steam Dyeing and Cleansing

WORKS.

9 1-2 FRONT STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

Promptness is our Motto.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Goods called for and Delivered,

AGENTS:

J. W. Pitcher, Atlantic block, Beverly; I. S. Day, Oak St., near the depot, Beverly Farms; Beals & Abbott, cor. Maple & Locust Sts., Danvers; B. F. Stevens, 16 Main St., Peabody; T. W. Slade, Manchester-by-the-sea; Wm. S. Stanley, 4 Grader's block, Marblehead; Benj. P. Edwards, Main St., Topsfield.

MISS BASSETT, formerly of the Essex Dye House, will be at our Office, No. 9 1-2 Front Street

LEE HALL

CLASSICAL & COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

CITY HALL SQUARE,

LYNN.

Business studies, also preparation for College and for the Institute of Technology. For terms and other information send for circular.

FRANK O. BALDWIN
Principal.

je 30—3m

HALLOWELL & SMILEY.

We desire to remind the people of Peabody that our store is well stocked with the

BEST MEATS & PROVISIONS,

THE CHOICEST VEGETABLES,

and will be found always

A Good Place to Trade.

Our Prices are always the Lowest.

REMEMBER US.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

Jas. Lafreniere,

HAIR DRESSER,

Has taken the shop under Baldwin's Hotel, where all who favor him with their patronage will receive

Courteous and Prompt Attention.

Diseases of the Head and Hair treated. A share of patronage solicited.

BALDWIN'S HOTEL, FOSTER ST.,

PEABODY.

may 26—4t

HOTEL NAHANT.

NAHANT BEACH.

SAM'L SOULE & SON, PROPS.

Is now open to Guests.

Horse cars from Salem and Peabody direct to the house.

Fish dinners a specialty.

Connected by Telephone.

P. O. Address' LYNN, MASS.

FULL WEIGHT
ROYAL
ABSOLUTELY PURE
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multituds of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., 106 Wall street, N. Y.

2aw

THE BRYANT & STRATTON
INK
COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

BOSTON.

Largest & Most Successful in the World,

Will Re-open Monday, Sept. 6th.

THE COURSE OF STUDY is thorough, complete and practical. Pupils are fitted for the duties and work of every-day life.
THE FACULTY embraces a list of twenty teachers and assistants, elected with special reference to proficiency in each department.
THE STUDENTS are young people of both sexes, full of diligence and zeal.
THE DISCIPLINE is of the highest order and includes valuable business lessons.
THE PATRONAGE is the largest of any Commercial School in the world.
THE REPUTATION of this school for originality and leadership and as the Standard Institution of its kind is generally acknowledged.
THE SCHOOL BUILDING is centrally located and purposely constructed.
SPECIAL COURSE. Shorthand, Type-Writing, Composition and Correspondence may be taken as a special course.
SITUATIONS in Business Houses furnished its pupils completes the varied inducements to attend this school.
On and after Aug. 23d, the Principal may be seen daily from 9 till 2 o'clock, at the School Building, 608 Washington St. Prospectus, containing full information concerning course of study, terms, etc., post free.

Golden Medical Discovery

Thoroughly cleanse the blood, which is the fountain of health, by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution will be established.

Golden Medical Discovery cures all humors, from the common pimple, blotch, or eruption, to the worst Scrofula, or blood-poison. Especially has it proven its efficacy in curing Salt-rheum or Tetter, Fever-sores, Hip-joint Disease, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Enlarged Glands, and Eating Ulcers.

Golden Medical Discovery cures Consumption (which is Scrofula of the Lungs), by its wonderful blood-purifying, invigorating, and nutritive properties. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Asthma, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. It promptly cures the severest Coughs.

For Torpid Liver, Biliousness, or "Liver Complaint," Dyspepsia, and Indigestion, it is an unequalled remedy. Sold by druggists.

DR. PIERCE'S PELLETS — Anti-Bilious and Cathartic.
25c. a vial, by druggists.

DESIRABLE REAL ESTATE

IN PEABODY,

FOR SALE.

The estate owned and occupied by C. C. Farwell and situated on the corner of Grove and Walnut streets, is offered for sale at a low price and on easy terms.

The estate consists of a two story frame dwelling house, containing 12 rooms, with water and gas, a barn 28x35, and about three quarters of an acre of land.

For a manufactory, with dwellings for the owner and tenants, there is no better situation in the county.

Address, or apply to

F. E. FARNHAM,
8 Allen's Block,
je 16 Peabody Square

MASSACHUSETTS

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

AT WORCESTER.

For the Training of Teachers.

Fall Term begins Thursday, Sept. 9, 1886
Spring Term begins February 3, 1887.
Tuition and use of Text-Books FREE. For particulars address
E. H. RUSSELL, Principal.

M. N. BLACK,

Saratoga Waves made to order, a specialty, also old pieces redressed to look as well as new.

80 MARKET ST,. LYNN.

je 30—3m

FOR SALE.

The Tanyard belonging to the Estate of Abel Story, situated at Essex Falls, near Railroad. Plenty of Water. A Rare chance.

Apply to B. F. RAYMOND,
ESSEX, MASS.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,

SALEM, MASS.

EXAMINATION of Candidates for admission on TUESDAY, September 7. Tuition and text books free. Pecuniary aid to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to
D. B. HAGAR, Principal.

jy 26—3w

LIFE IN FAR NORWAY.

A COUNTRY IN WHICH CIVILIZATION PROGRESSES SLOWLY.

Wealthy Classes are Unknown—Norwegian Peasants Compared With Those of England.

In a country like Norway, where there is no very wealthy class, bringing with them the most modern appliances of civilization; where railroads are few, inland communication very slow, and, above all, where the physical geography of the land divides it into sharply defined separate districts, there is little to connect the life of the peasant with the outer world. Thus he is ruled in all by what his father did before him, and advances only slowly step by step, content not to advance at all if he can remain sufficiently comfortable where he stands. In no one particular is the difference between peasant life in this country so marked as in the quantity and diversity of the home manufactures here. There is very little money even among the well-to-do farmers, and very little is required, for almost every article of food, clothing or use, is, or can be, made on the premises. This is one of the conditions of life, however, which is slowly giving way to increased communication with the towns. Common china and glass are beginning to supersede the old wooden bowls and earthenware basins of the local potteries. These modern basins are of rather flat shape, with great raised patterns of conventional flowers of a fine orange color on a background of pale cream or green, with a very highly polished surface, the owner's initials and the date of manufacture sometimes forming part of the border pattern. The old-fashioned wooden bowls have curiously turned rim and mottoes burned in round the outside (one such in my possession bears the date 1780 and the sage advice:—"Bear me to the cask where the beer is good, but make not therefore mock at water," laconically in rhyme); the inside is ornamented with a fine bold design in double black lines, painted between with red and green.

CONTENTED PEASANT.

Every peasant is a good carpenter, and some of those who devote their time especially to it turn out beautiful furniture—chairs, chests, bookshelves, writing bureaus, with pigeon holes and tiny drawers and sliding desk, all working smoothly and well, and sometimes curiously carved and inlaid, while the skilful polishing and blending of the woods make the common firs and birch used resemble more precious kinds unknown here, all done, too, with a scarcity of tools that would perplex the town workmen. For common jobs the "tolle kniv," a large, single-bladed knife, which every man and boy wears in a leather sheath at his side, is all that is required. It will turn a plank into an oar, or a stick into a spoon, a wedge, knitting needle or crochet hook, or, indeed, into anything your household needs that can be made of wood. This same "tolle kniv" is also used to cut his bacon and bread, and to spread the butter or trim the lamp—to do everything, in short, except the work for which scissors are absolutely required, such as shearing the sheep or cutting the baby's nails. Start not, ladies, there was only one pair, and it fulfilled both offices.

SHEEP AND WOOL.

Talking of sheep, the manufacture of every sort of woolen clothing direct from the raw material is one of the most important occupations of the women in winter, for it is not considered good to spin or weave in very hot weather. The sheep are a very small horned breed, and as they are sheared three times a year and are also terribly underfed during the long winter confinement, principally on birch leaves (cut on the branches and stacked in autumn), they have an unnaturally diminutive appearance.

Owing to the wool never being very long, it remains fairly clean, so that sheep washing is an unknown process. The shearing is simple work. The little flock being shut up in a barn or shed, the victim is chosen by one of the women, who proceeds to sit across it, holding it firmly with her knees, while she clips off the wool about its head and neck, then reversing herself she finishes the other end; finally she sits down on the ground, and laying the sheep first on one side and then on the other completes the job, when the shorn sheep rejoins its neighbors, still awaiting their turns. They are so tame that it is not usually a lengthy business. Only as many sheep as will furnish the amount of wool required are shorn at a time. On one occasion one of our party wanted some thick black wool for knitting. The landlady immediately captured the black sheep of her flock, and, regardless of the near approach of winter, sheared its fleecy coat. Next day the yarn was ready for the knitter, admirable enough for its purpose, though both to fingers and nose not altogether pleasing.

OLD METHODS OF MAKING CLOTHING.

But to return to our "muttons," or rather wools. Carding is the next operation, and, easy as it looks, it takes, in truth, some practice to acquire the use of the two square frames, with iron teeth like combs, to draw one over the other and then back exactly right, so as to separate the fleece and release it ready for spinning. To spin and weave at these arts and turn out yarn and material as smooth and even as the best machine made. The spinning wheels have no distaff, the fleece simply standing in a basket beside the worker. They are not very picturesque about here, though often of great age. Setting up the loom is the most difficult part of the whole business; once ready weaving is done wonderfully fast, considering that the shuttle has to be passed separately for every thread of the warp. An active woman, sitting steadily at the loom, can turn out as much as twenty yards in a long day. The pay is about three pence a day, with food, or about three farthings an alen (two feet) without food—wages out of all proportion small, for the coarsest flannel sells, even to the local storekeeper, for 5¼d. per alen. But outside labor is so rarely employed, and, even when employed, so rarely paid in money, that many of these payments date back for years, and are in accordance with prices of long ago.

CUSTOMS OF THE PEOPLE.

Formerly linen was much grown, prepared and woven on the farms, but since cotton has become cheap, calico has taken the place of linen, the people buying the yarns ready spun for weaving at home. They are very fond of checks and plaids and mixed colors with a painful disregard to artistic effect. The costume has long been a tale of the past, as far as this part of Norway is concerned. The only survival is the red shirt generally worn by the men, and a kind of loose jacket of the same color worn by women under the bodice, which is sometimes sleeveless as with the old costume. A hat or bonnet is never seen, every female, from the youngest baby, wearing a kerchief tied under her chin. An abundance of skirts is the real native idea of good dressing—one above another, all thick and full. One wonders how they bear the weight. In every district customs vary in small details. In this parish the dress for confirmation is black, and the material for the dress used must be bought, not made at home. Custom also lays down exactly what parts of the costume are provided by the mistress and what by the mother of the candidate, for everything she wears on that day, even including boots and stockings, must be new. Another strange local custom with regard to confirmation is that the girls must take off the kerchief and go up bare-headed for the "laying on of hands." After confirmation, which usually takes place at the age of fourteen, both boys and girls are considered grown up, and are engaged as servants on different terms

THE DOMESTIC.

An ungrown girl receives only her food, clothing, and a certain amount of payment in kind, and she continues to go to school; a boy receives low wages and his boots and various other things as arranged beforehand. With grown up servants the pay, which seems absurdly small, in money, about £3 10s. to £3 per annum, is increased by a sack of potatoes, one or two sheep and other payment in kind, differing at various forms, two pairs of boots being almost always included.

The servants in this part of the country, where none of the farms are very large, live with the family, sharing alike in everything, and addressing master and mistress by their Christian names, without title or prefix. Many of them are, in fact, the children of neighbors, and of exactly the same standing; but the rule holds good even where the servant is child to the houseman or farmer's tenant and of an avowedly lower class. But it is too late now to enter on the subtle subject of the social grades and their conventions.

◆

Frolicking Parrots in India.

A correspondent in India writes: We were completely fascinated by the crowds of green parrots we saw in the plains. It was a never-failing source of delight to me to see them flying in flocks, often hundreds at a time, with the rays of the descending sun glistening on their emerald green plumage; or to see a tree destitute of leaves made green by reason of the multitude of parrots that had settled on its branches; or again, at sunset to see the green parrots flying above the white marble minarets of the glorious Taj-Mehal, or darting about, frolicking in the expiring rays. To me they were the most lovely of India's birds. One scene connected with parrots is, from its perfect beauty, often present in my mind. At a certain residency, one of the finest in Northern India, there is a fountain constantly playing, and in the early morning the parrots gather together in vast numbers to drink and bathe in its running waters and basins. To see their graceful curves and upward flights before dashing through and just skimming the surface of the water, with their unbounded joy and delight in so doing, was a picture of ecstatic, ideal, living happiness difficult to surpass. The parrots at this residency are almost tame, for every morning four or five caged ones are let loose to be fed, and down come all the wild ones to share their feast. The early morning is the best time to see these birds at their brightest and best. At the first glimpse of the rising sun they forsake their night's resting places and fly shrieking forth in search of food, and on many a tree they may be seen pulling off the precious berries and fruits.

◆

A man has been doing a thriving business this week selling hand-cider presses.

HOW TO KEEP WIVES AT HOME.

Nye Answers a Correspondent on a Serious Subject.

SWEET HOME, Grand Island, Neb., asks: What shall I do to amuse and instruct my family of wife and four children evenings:

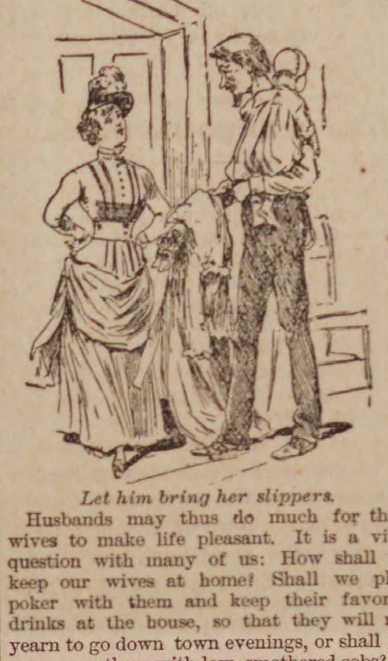
Answer: The younger children, no doubt, would be best pleased with some durable toy. A two-inch augur is a good plaything for a small boy. With this he can bore a hole into the bath tub or the piano, while you are engaged in entertaining the balance of your family. Still you must be your own judge. He may do better with a large drab hornet's nest. This instrument is soft and pliable, and will not mar your features in case the boy should swat you with it. In this respect it has a great advantage over the broad-ax as an indoor amusement.

The little girls might amuse themselves by putting corn, crab apples, or other small fruit up their noses, though they may have outgrown this. A good plan by which to amuse children is to apply paper overshoes to the feet of the family cat. This affords great amusement to the family and does not injure the cat. The cat, under these circumstances, will step high, like a blind horse, and when you laugh with great glee she will look at you in a reproachful way and move around into the corner like a late husband in his sock feet. It is very entertaining, and yet it is not very wrong.

How to entertain your wife, however, is quite another question, and yet it is a vital question. I believe that we do not devote time enough or thought enough to this question.

Many a wife has gone down into a narrow and disagreeable drunkard's grave because her husband did not keep her at home evenings by making it pleasant for her.

A wife goes down town where she meets gay companions in gorgeous club rooms, and under the gaslight she soon forgets her home; but let the husband throw around her joyous home influences instead of reproaching her when she comes home late; let him make the house cheerful; let him prepare pleasant little surprises for her, instead of trying to trip her up as she comes through the hall with her hat on wrong side before. Let him bring her slippers, and her wrapper, and a mouthful of hairpins, when she gets home weary and worn, instead of wailing over his hard lot.



Let him bring her slippers.

Husbands may thus do much for their wives to make life pleasant. It is a vital question with many of us: How shall we keep our wives at home? Shall we play poker with them and keep their favorite drinks at the house, so that they will not yearn to go down town evenings, or shall we weep over them with low, smothered sobs?

I sometimes think that it is not downright depravity on the part of a wife, so much as it is thoughtlessness, that leads her to forget her husband, and leave him alone through the long evenings. So let me say to you, Sweet Home, that whatever you do, you should make your home so attractive evenings that your wife will not feel that it is a bore to remain at your side.

Sing to her if you can, read to her, bring her the evening paper, smooth her soft hair gently as you did when she used to come to see you. Do not rudely tell her that you will smooth her hair if she will take it off and hand it to you. Be gentlemanly, unselfish and thoughtful. We must make our homes attractive if we would hope to keep our wives near us.

I once knew a husband who was cross and fretful when his wife came home from down town, and gave her "a picked up dinner," and in one short week she was sleeping in the church yard.

* * * * * * *

She slept there till supper time, when she arose and went home.—Bill Nye in Cincinnati Graphic.

Women with pale colorless faces who feel weak and discouraged, will receive both mental and bodily vigor by using Carter's Iron Pills, which are made for the blood, nerves and complexion.

The man who is not able to write a history of the war now is not of much account.

Mrs. F. W. Ingham, 472 W. Madison street, Chicago, Ill., recommends Red Star Cough Cure, a few doses of which gave her entire relief from a violent cold. Price, 25 cents,

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming 'smaller by degrees, and beautifully less.' I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar.

Fall and Winter Opening.

Having moved to the new and elegant Store in the

Old Hotel Building

NEXT TO THE POST OFFICE,

And placed on our Counters an ENTIRE NEW STOCK of

FALL AND WINTER GOODS,

Embracing all the latest styles in Imported and Domestic Woolens. We are prepared to better accomodate our customers than ever before.

—PRICES THE LOWEST—

AND A PERFECT FIT GUARANTEED.

JAMES HOWLEY,

Merchant Tailor,

NEXT TO THE POST OFFICE. PEABODY, MASS.

FALL OF 1886.

BRIDAL SILVER.

Through the summer months we have been having made some new styles in

STERLING SILVER,

and have also ordered an immense stock of the best quality

SILVER PLATED WARE.

These goods will be ready early in September, and we are confident we can offer the largest and finest stock of new goods in Essex County. No House in Boston can show a better line of medium price goods than we shall.

DANIEL LOW,

SALEM.

Wedding and Anniversary Presents a Specialty.

LADIES OF SALEM AND VICINITY,

It affords us pleasure to call your attention to our celebrated

HAND-SEWED SHOES

For Comfort, Beauty and Durability, they are not equalled. They are crumbs of comfort by the wayside.

Beware of Imitations! None genuine without the name Grover on the Sole.

Please Call and Examine them at the Store of

L. CUNNINGHAM.

147 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Agent for Salem and vicinity.

mch 31—1y

Mossey

CRAYON ARTIST & PHOTOGRAPHER,

252 Essex Street, Salem.

Having refitted and refurnished our gallery with new Lenses, Cameras, Backgrounds, Accessories, etc., etc., and having one of the largest and finest operating rooms and sky lights in the country, we now have facilities second to none for doing first class work in all branches of Photography.

We have just purchased the finest instruments obtainable for making pictures from 8x10 to 24x24 (full life size) direct from the sitter, and make them either bust, half or full length, or groups. To introduce them we shall make them very low for three months.

We have special facilities for copying old and faded Photographs, Daguerreotypes, Ambrotypes, Tintypes, etc. Before giving your pictures to agents, come to us, and see our samples and get our prices. You can save money and at the same time get better work and not risk the breaking or losing of your pictures in the mails.

We make a specialty of Life Size Free Hand Crayons, made from any kind of picture or from life. One of the advantages, not to speak of the superior artistic qualities, of free hand work over the mechanically finished solars, is that any changes from the original, no matter how great, can be easily made, whereas in the finished solar but very slight changes can be made. We can furnish duplictaes from any negative ever taken by N. C. Bosuley.

Call and see what we are doing, all will be treated courtesy whether anything is desired ornot

CHOICE VERMONT BUTTER.

We have just received a car load of VERMONT BUTTER which we shall offer by the tub at prices which

— WE WILL NAME WHEN YOU CALL. —

IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE US

Meats and Vegetables of all kinds at the

LOWEST PRICES FOR SPOT CASH.

Ames & Edgerly's Cash Market

NEXT TO SAMUEL TRASK'S

STARTLING NEWS

From the scene of excitement.

That arch-enemy of the people, HIGH PRICES, was caught and

ARRESTED

This summer, and to keep him from doing further mischief we have

HUNG

Him higher than Haman. We have considered the cost and are ready to abide by the consequence. Should there be any

EXPLANATION DEMANDED.

we will gladly devote the time to showing you how we did it. We feel confident that we can prove to your satisfaction that we have an immense

Harvest for the People

And we have determined "to leave no stone unturned" to sell our large and well selected stock of goods. Remember we have not

FAILED

To put down prices to the lowest notch, and now invite you to call and inspect goods and compare prices.

NUGENT BROS.,

Foster St., Peabody Mass.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers

WE ARE not surprised that the delegates chosen from this town to the Congressional Convention should be in favor of some other candidate than Gen. Cogswell. We had hoped otherwise, but understood well where the opposition to him among the Republicans originated. It is the same element that opposed Gen. Cogswell at the Senatorial Convention just two years ago, when he was put in nomination. It is the same element, and the same parties, who opposed the choice of Cogswell delegates at the caucus before the Senatorial Convention, and which succeeded in sending a part of the delegates in opposition to his nomination.

In our support of Gen. Cogswell we have done so fairly, honorably and above board. We have spoken no ill of any other man. In our judgment he was and is the ablest man to be presented to the Convention to-morrow. If we do not agree with the majority of the Republicans present at Thursday night's caucus, we have the assurance that our presentation of Gen. Cogswell's candidacy is sustained by a delegation of Republicans from Salem—men whose republicanism can not be disputed, men whom no republican in this town or in the convention dare assail. Gen. Cogswell is nothing if not a republican. He has a record in peace and in war of which no man need be ashamed. Least of all are we ashamed of being openly in his favor, as we consider it perfectly consistent with our posistion as a republican paper, even if the delegation chosen from Peabody does not sustain that candidacy.

The election of delegates here does not prove that Peabody is opposed to Gen. Cogswell. We should hope it did not indicate that the delegates themselves and their friends would decline to support him, if given the nomination. It is a fair fight. The best man is entitled to win, and is also entitled to the support of the convention. As we said last week, if any other man than Gen. Cogswell is nominated, he will receive our cordial support. The Haverhill Bulletin, the organ of Mr. Blunt, in a fairly written and courteous article, thanks us for this position, and assures us that Mr. Blunt's friends reciprocate the good feeling, and if Gen. Cogswell is nominated he will receive their support.

Neither does the caucus of last Thursday evening prove that Gen. Cogswell's friends are in a minority among the republicans of this town. We know that this is not true. The republicans who have been in the habit of running our caucuses for the last dozen years or more were out in full force. They represent the "Old Guard;" and its leaders in this town are not in favor of Gen. Cogswell. They are more persistent attendants at a caucus than the friends of Gen. Cogswell, and a variety of reasons prevented many of the latter from attending.

Despite all this, however, we think Gen. Cogswell is to be the nominee of the convention to-morrow, and this, too, because he is the most available man. It is beginning to be understood that the candidacy of Mr. Spaulding is no "boy's play." As we predicted, his delegates are the majority of those chosen at the democratic caucus in Peabody. The same is true of Salem, and the possibility of his capturing the remaining caucuses, and even the democratic Congressional Convention, is greater than last week. Should they fail to do so, his friends represent a large element in the democratic party who will not support Col. French. In either event Spaulding must poll a large vote, and it becomes a question of serious import to the republican party and the old line democrats, "what shall we do to be saved—from Spaulding?"

It is understood and expected that Mr. Spaulding will take the stump. It is agreed—it cannot be denied that he is an able and convincing speaker. It is hinted that he has the support of Gen. Butler, and that should certain contingences arise, Butler will come into his old stumping ground and make a fight for Spaulding. What this means or would mean in Essex Co., in this Congressional district, in the home of Butlerism, the republicans of this vicinity know to their cost. The man to defeat him must be an orator, a good stump speaker, a man with a good war record, and a man who can draw the votes not only of his own party but from the democrats as well. That man is not William E. Blunt, or Fitz. J. Babson, or Col. Eben F. Stone, or Nathaniel A. Horton. He is Gen William Cogswell.

The Boston Herald calls attention this week to the circumstances which elected William Gaston governor of this Commonwealth, and to the wisdom on the part of the democrats of putting a man in nomination who, while truly a democrat, was not obnoxious to the republicans, and who in the disaffection that existed in the republican ranks on account of the scandals of the Grant regime, could draw other than democratic votes. This because the democratic party was not in a majority in the State. Similarly, now, we think it wisdom on the part of the republicans to place in nomination a man who is not obnoxious to the democrats who will not vote for Spaulding. The republican party in the Seventh Congressional district is in a minority. Col Stone could never have been elected for the three terms during which he has served the district had it not been for the independent candidate of the greenback party. Now an attempt is made to fuse the labor element and the democrats. Disaffection exists among the democrats who do not wish to be the tail end of the kite of Rev. Mr. Spaulding. The contest will be lively and interesting, and we believe that the Convention to-morrow will serve the interests of the party and select the next Congressman from this district, if they nominate Gen. Cogswell.

WE HAD occasion to call attention, several weeks since, to the attitude which the Republican party, in their convention at Springfield, took upon the questions of interest to the labor party—particularly applying it to the principle of arbitration as the mode of settling all dispute between capital and labor. This method of settlement is not our method. It is the doctrine enunciated in the republican platform. Do the men who condemn us for favoring arbitration recall that they were ready to accept this platform? Do they remember taking the ground that something must be done by the republican party to conciliate and favor the labor party? Will not the republican platform to-day take the same or an equally advanced stand on the question of labor, and of arbitration? We believe it will.

We recall another local incident. After the election last fall in this town, when it was found that Col. Cyrus T. Batchelder had been elected, after a hard contest, and by the aid of labor votes, a jubilation meeting was held in Temperance Hall. Capt. W. F. Wiley, if we mistake not, presided, and he and the others did not forget to mention the assistance which had been rendered by the greenback labor party. Prominent members of that party, who are now and were then Knights of Labor, were invited to the hall and were called upon to speak. The feeling between the republicans of the town and the labor men was cordial and friendly. Why should not the same feeling exist to-day?

Other papers in the State of more prominence, with more influence than ourselves, whose opinions we should look up to and respect, have taken the same ground and in similar words with us, on the labor troubles here. Among them are the Brockton Gazette, the Boston Advertiser and Record, from whose columns we quote in another place, and the Lynn Item. We are not alone in favoring arbitration as a settlement of disputes between labor and capital. It is the expressed doctrine of the papers we have mentioned, some of them accepted as infallible, in years gone by, by members of the republican party. It is not the doctrine of the Knights of Labor. It is not a doctrine which takes from the manufacturer the control of his business. With any such thing we are not in sympathy. No organization of men has the right to dictate to an employer when or how he shall conduct his business, or whom he shall employ or not employ. But the doctrine of arbitration, as a method of settlement, is a part of the platform of the republican party, to which party we firmly hold allegiance.

The new and handsome "striker" at Pat Lyons' barber shop is named Shea. He served an apprenticeship in one of the best shops in this vicinity.

THE REMARKS which Rev. Father Masterson made last Sunday to his people at the St. John's church are timely and full of wisdom, and very likely will have the desired effect. He cautioned them against lawlessness, and advised them above all to be good citizens of the Commonwealth. He condemned class distinctions, and caste in every form, and told his hearers to remember that they were all American citizens, subject to the laws of the land and bound to obey them.

There can be no difference of opinion, on the part of law-abiding citizens of this town, as to the necessity of preserving order and putting down rioting and violence. The Selectmen and our police force are justified in taking any measures they may deem proper and wise, to have an orderly condition of things obtain. Acts of violence, by whomsoever committed, should be severely punished, and the offenders brought to justice, and the officers of the law should have, and we believe do have the support of all good citizens. No man can be a good citizen who is not on the side of law and order in this crisis

It behooves the Knights of Labor, as an organization, if they would preserve a reputation for peace and order, to make examples of any of their members who are found violators of the law. They should expel them from the Order. If they do not do this, or prevent their members from committing depredations, they must and will be held responsible. No sympathy can be extended to the laboring men, or expected by them, while they insist upon violating the obligation all good citizens owe to the laws of their country. Order must prevail; offenders must be punished. Stone throwing and rioting must be suppressed.

NOTES AND COMMMENTS.

If the present condition of things continues the temperance people will have no trouble in carrying this town for prohibition next spring. A licensed seller said to this reporter the other day that prohibition had got to come next year and the sellers would have themselves to blame for it. He says they violate the conditions of their licenses every day. "Things is workin'."—Woburn Journal.

It is just as easy for a good police force to enforce a license law as it is a prohibitory law. We thought the Chief of Police of the town of Woburn was a terror to the rumsellers, and that every violator of the law was brought up with a snap. But then we read in the same paper an item to the effect that Chief Nelson had been off fishing, which may account for it.

A gentleman from the West, who had travelled all over the country, called at our office the other day, and in the course of some conversation regarding the labor troubles he said that it was a sin and a shame that matters could not be settled here, and everything be moving on. He had been through the State of Connecticut recently, and the large manufacturing towns of Danbury, Meriden and other places. Everything was harmonious—the laboring men were prosperous and happy, and having plenty of employment. In his judgment arbitration was the only way to settle difficulties between the employer and the laboring man. Of course this is only the opinion of one man, but it was the judgment of a man who had travelled all over the country and given these things considerable attention—and we give it simply for what it is worth, and as showing how an outsider looked at it.

The threat to boycott any shoemaking firm that uses a recent invention, on the ground that the new device does the work of four men, is slightly behind the age. If it is grounded on good philosophy, the irresistible logic is that pretty much all the machinery in the country might better be abolished. Are we ready to advance backwards?—Milford Gazette.

We think there is no longer any doubt that Col. Jonas H. French will be the Democratic candidate for Congress, and he represents the Administration.—Valley Visitor.

If brother Colby had said that Col. French would be a Democratic candidate, he would have come nearer the truth. We think the prospect of Rev. Mr. Spaulding being the Democratic candidate is exceedingly good.

The fact that so many of the men who paraded in the Odd Fellows' parade last Wednesday showed by their bearing and appearance that they were of the rank and file of the business and social life of the country, gathered together from cities far and near, impressed favorably many who have hitherto been indifferent to the claims of Odd Fellowship. The appearance of the order when on exhibition, so to speak, was highly complimentary, and will tend to fill the membership roll.—Boston Sunday Times.

Rev. Mr. Haynes, of the Tremont Temple, Boston, preached a sermon last Sunday, on the subject, "Shall I join a fraternity." It was suggested by the Odd Fellows' Celebration in Boston, and the sermon was instructive and interesting. The following extract is a sample of his remarks:

"What effect will joining the fraternity have upon the domestic relations? Every married man's duty is, first, even before the church, to his home. I lift my voice against any club, regiment, organization, fraternity or church that makes any man's domestic circle less blessed or happy. The only danger of the secret society is that it may interfere with the duty to the Christian church. But true ideas of any fraternity will not antagonize true religion, but will form a bond of concert to make men true to their Christianity, and to their duty in the daily walks of life. If this be followed out in fraternities as well as in every-day life, the words of the holy book may be fulfilled: "To him that overcometh, I will give to eat of the hidden manna, and will give unto him a white soul.""

Who is Mr. Blunt of Haverhill, is the question often asked in the Southern part of the county. The blunt reply might be that we don't know. He seems to be a chap with great aspirations.—Salem Observer.

It is said that the Democratic caucuses of Lynn have unanimously instructed their delegations to vote for the renomination of district attorney Hurlburt. This is a healthy indication on the part of the Democracy. It shows that they are not entirely dominant by the rum element. Now the Republicans should instruct their delegates to unanimously indorse the choice of the Democrats. Let us show the district attorney that an able and faithful official is appreciated, irrespective of party affiliations. Why not make his nomination and his election unanimous?—Lynn Union.

Why not, indeed? We should if the politicians did not care so much for party nominations. At this time in Essex County, the endorsement of Mr. Hurlburt, if he receives the democratic nomination, by the republicans, would be the wisest thing they could do. The temperance and prohibitory voters would vote the entire republican ticket without question, and it would be elected by a rousing majority. We remember no instance where the press of the county, of all parties, with almost no exception, have spoken so decidedly in favor of a candidate as has been the case regarding Mr. Hurlburt. He will be elected though, if he receives the democratic nomination, whether the republicans make a nomination or otherwise.

All the candidates for the republican nomination to Congress have this in their favor that their neighbors who know them best are in their favor, and so declare that for ability and integrity they can be trusted. Gen. Cogswell has Salem solid; Mr. Babson, Gloucester; Col. Stone, Newburyport; and Mr. Blunt, Haverhill.—Valley Visitor.

It is certainly commendable, and shows that no unworthy candidate has been spoken of, or will be put in nomination. It remains to be decided by the Convention which man can poll the largest vote in the district—which man is the best to unite on and defeat Spaulding. Whoever that man is, let us all heartily support him.

A Boston paper alludes to Rev. Mr. Spaulding's candidacy in the Seventh District, and says "he is one of the most eloquent and effective speakers in the State, and the Republicans of Essex have not a man to match him in this capacity." It suggests W. E. Blunt of Haverhill, as a candidate, saying the Republicans "can hardly do better than to nominate" him. A gentleman who was in the House two years with Mr. Blunt says "he never opened his head" during that period. Surely not quite the candidate to put against one of the most eloquent and effective of speakers. Gen. Cogswell comes much nearer filling the bill than does the Haverhill postmaster.—Lynn Item.

To those who look at this controversy from the outside, it presents a peculiarly favorable opportunity for the use of arbitration as a means of settlement. The manufacturing tanners of Peabody and Salem are, with very few exceptions, men who have been workmen themselves, and who thus have an intelligent understanding of the requirements of those who in their turn they now employ. The strikers, to a very large extent, are men of family and long residence in the community where they have been employed, and, with the exception of the comparatively small number that took part in last week's demonstrations, they are good citizens and sensible men. A sentiment of hostility to labor organizations, as such, should not interfere to forbid amicable negotiations between the representatives of the workmen and their employers; for organized labor is a fact whose existence must be recognized and whose influence cannot be denied. The state board of arbitration, even unasked, might with advantage interpose its good offices to relieve a situation whose evils are so largely fictitious and whose results may be unhappy.—Boston Record.

The Woburn manufacturer who told his men last Saturday night that they must either leave the organization of the Knights of Labor or quit working for him, is to be commended for his frankness and directness in coming at the point on issue. There was no beating around the bush—no posting of a circular which the manufacturers say means one thing, and the men understand to mean another. It was "leave the Knights of Labor, or get out." That's business, and the outside public, the men and the manufacturers, know just where the issue is.

Haverhill makes an error when it scrambles for all the offices. If it would be contented to send a man to Congress and fill one or two of the county offices, besides sending all the representatives, the rest of the community would be satisfied.—Merrimac Budget.

SPARKS.

FIRE ON TREMONT STREET TO-DAY.

At eight minutes past 12 o'clock an alarm was sounded from box 19, situated on Tremont street, near the Endicott school. The department readily responded and it was found that the fire was on the premises of Daniel Haskell, who lives on Love Lane and Northend street. Thomas Brennan, the driver of a bakers team, was making his daily round and as he drove up to the premises saw that the barn had been set on fire and had gained considerable headway. He immediately gave the alarm and Hose 1 and 3 were the first to reach the fire and located at the hydrant on the corner of Love Lane and Northend street and the steamer took the hydrant below. Before the department got to work the barn was burning in every part. They set to work to save the house which was on fire on the roof and the end next the barn. The L of the house was badly burned but the house was saved. In the barn was about six ton of hay and a horse and wagon; all were consumed. The family of Josiah Clark have occupied the house until yesterday when they moved away. The value of the property is about $5,000 and the loss is estimated at $2,500. Inquiry at the local agencies shows there was no insurance by them. Mr. Haskell is out of town at this writing, although he was here at 11 o'clock. The H. and L. Truck and Hose 4 worked on the ruins till about 4 o'clock.

Mr. Geo. A. Lawrence while attempting to get on a stone wall sprained his ankle.

The Steamer returned about 2 o'clock.

The second alarm to-day was caused by the neglect of the engineer to release the key and close the door of the box and some enterprising hoodlum came along and rung in the alarm.

Last Thursday morning some fiend attempted to burn the boarding house on Main street, occupied by non-union men and owned by Geo. J. Winchester. It was set on fire near the cellar window and but for its timely discovery by a private watchman, the result can not be foretold.

Firemen in Salem brought their hose up here to wash.

There will be a meeting of the committee on parade at the engine house, Friday night.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

We call attention to the following communication from the Soldier's Home. We trust the suggestion will be acted upon.

Veteran Soldiers Home,
Chelsea, Mass., Sept. 26. 1886.

Gentlemen;—If you will inform your readers that we would like to have them send us a few eating Apples or Pears, if they have any to spare, we will be very much obliged to you and them. If they send any, please tell them to send to G. A. R. Headquarters, No. 1 Pemberton Square, Boston, and that our market man will take them from there. Truly your well wisher,

AN INMATE OF THE HOME.

The October Atlantic brings Henry James's notable serial, The Princess Casamassima, to an exciting close. Charles Egbert Craddock and William Henry Bishop continue their powerful narratives; Bradford Torrey and Mary Agnes Tincker contribute respectively a pretty out door sketch and an Italian idyl, while more solid articles are Professor N. S. Shaler's Race Prejudices, and Edward Hungerford's The Rise of Arabian Learning, the latter being a record of the brief civilization of the Mohammedans. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

IVERS & POND PIANOS.

For the best Pianos in Salem examine the Ivers & Pond if you want a good one. For sale only by W. J. Lefavour. 175 Essex St. Salem.

Marriages.

In Salem, Sept. 21, by Rev. Charles Arey, D. D., Mr. Henry M. Strout to Miss Catharine F. Murphy.

In Marblehead, Sept. 21st, by Rev. Mr. Applebee, Mr. Samuel S. Trefry to Miss Nancy D Giles.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Sept. 22, Emma daughter of James and Maria Murphy, 7 months, 7 days.

In Salem, Sept. 22d, Mrs. Elizabeth, wife of Mr. Dennis O'Connell, 65 yrs. 6 mos. 3 days.

In Marblehead, Sept. 22, at the Neck, E. W. Dennison of Boston, 66yrs. 10 mos

In Philadelphia, Sept. 25th, Edgar W., eldest son of W. H., and Elizabeth P. Wetherill.

NECK FIXINS.

All the new styles in

COLLARS AND NECKWEAR

For street or dress occasions.

LINEN COLLARS.

10 cts. $1.00 per dozen.
20 cts. $2.00 per dozen.

NECKWEAR.

25 cts. New patterns
50 cts. New patterns.

W. S. NEAL & CO.,

228 & 230 Essex St., Salem.

The Selectmen yesterday appointed Fred N. Carleton and John B. Fuller special police.

Republican Congressional Convention at town hall to morrow forenoon.

New Advertisements.

STOVES AND RANGES.

We have a large stock of Parlor Stoves for the fall of 1886, among which are the HARVEST, PALLAS, SOMERSET, and WELCOME PARLOR STOVES, making our line of these goods equal to any shown in this city.

FOR RANGES

We offer the GOOD NEWS and NEW HUB RANGES, everywhere acknowledged to have no equal, with a full line of medium priced Ranges.

Also a good stock of

LIBRARY VASE and STAND LAMPS, CROCKERY and HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS.

LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH.

☞ Easy Terms on Instalments.

WADLEIGH & MORSE.

81 North St.,

SALEM

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS. PROBATE COURT.

To the Heirs-at-Law, Next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of MALACHI F. BATCHELDER, late of Peabody, in said county, gardener, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Rosina C. Batchelder and Orlando A. Foster, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them the executors therein named.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the third Monday of October next, at nine o'clock, before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same. And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

sep 29—3t

HOWE & CO.

COMMISSION BROKERS,

13 Exchange Place, Boston.

New York and Boston Stocks bought and sold up cash or carried on a margin of 1 per cent, or forward.

Grain, provisions and oil also carried on small margin.

Correspondence solicited.

sept 29—3 mo

SPECIAL OPENING.

—OF—

FINE CUSTOM MILLINERY.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 5th, 6th and 7th.

Our Mrs. Washburn has arranged for the finest selection, the greatest variety, the largest collection of elegant novelties in Millinery ever shown in Salem.

Our display of French Pattern Bonnets and English Round Hats will be unrivalled.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

SHORT HAND. For full information about learning Shorthand, Typewriting and Business Correspondence, send stamp for large catalogue of the BOSTON SHORTHAND BUREAU, 180 and 186 Washington St., Boston, Mass., containing terms, samples of reporting, annual list of graduates, etc. Publishers of STENOGRAPHY, the best shorthand magazine, and the standard series of shorthand textbooks, dealers in typewriters, etc.

Sep 29—4t

MEDICAL PASSAGE MOVEMENTS AND MASSAGE.

Drs. Posse and Nordstrom,

Graduated at Stockholm, Sweden. Nervous Diseases, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, and all other chronic diseases, Sprains, etc., 72 Boylston street, office hours 12-1 and 5 to 6.

sept 29—3 mo

GROUND OATS.—We have on track a car of this popular feed, which we secured and are selling at an unusually low price. All who use it, pronounce it the richest, safest cow feed in the market, increasing and enriching the flow of milk.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central st.

sept 29—

FANCY BARLEY OATS.—We are receiving a lot of the above description, equal to any we have seen for a year past.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.
41 to 47 Central st.

ALL WOOL

TRICOTS.

The most desirable and most durable Dress Goods in the market, in

SEAL, NAVY, GARNET, MYRTLE BLACK, and BROWNS,

At only 50 cts. per yard—in double fold at PEABODY'S.

Jerseys.

Boucle Jersey for $2.00, $2.25 and $2.50. Very choice styles at way down prices.

Velvets.

All the choice colors in regular $1.50 Velvets, for only $1.00 per yard.

Ribbons.

Velvet faced Ribbons—Picot Ribbons—Satin and Gros Grain Ribbons, etc. A new stock now open.

Feathers,
Pompons,
Plumes,
Velvets,
Bonnets,
Hats,
&c., &c.

Waterbury watches.

Boys wont forget the price—every watch perfect—$2.50, $2.50, $2.50.

Finger Rings, Ear Jewels, Bracelets, Chains, &c., &c.

WEDDING PRESENTS A SPECIALTY.

John P. Peabody,

SALEM.

FRANK CONSINS'

Bee-Hive Opening,

FALL 1886.

One case Extra 11-4 all wool BLANKETS, for $4.50 per pair; best value in Salem.

10 pcs. CREAM DAMASK—colored border and plain—for 50 cts. yd. Value received 100 BED PUFFS, covered with fine Cretonnes and Chintz, for $1.50 and $2.00 each. These prices tell.

1000 lbs. BALL YARN, best quality, full 2 oz. balls; all colors for 10 cts a ball. Honest value.

— AT —

Frank Cousins

BEE-HIVE,

SALEM.

SALESMEN

WANTED

to canvas for the sale of Nursery Stock! Steady employment guaranteed. SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. Apply at once, stating age. (Refer to this paper.)

CHASE BROTHERS,

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

sep 29—2mo

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN

Ladies' Tailoring Department.

Our Rooms will be open for orders, MONDAY, Sept. 13th. The Department will still be under the supervision of MISS S. M. ALDEN, whose superior talent is well known to all our patrons and friends.

A. B. & W.

sept 8

TO LET.

The factory recently vacated by the Vaughn Morocco Machine Company, situated on Walnut Street. The building is in thorough repair and suitable for manufacturing purposes.

Apply to
J. W. VAUGHN, Washington St., Peabody, or Peabody St., Salem.

sept 22—4t

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening Sept. 29, 1886,

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Interesting services were held on Tuesday evening at the South Church, the occasion being the first anniversary of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of that church. The society was organized one year ago under the direction of Rev. S. W. Adriance of Lowell, who was then general secretary of the United Societies, and at the meeting last evening Mr. Adriance was one of the speakers. The societies in the vicinity were all invited and had the evening been pleasant, the attendance would have been large; as it was there were several delegations from other places, two car-loads coming from Salem. The meeting opened with a praise service led by the choir. Mr. Arthur F. Poole, president of the society, then gave a brief address of welcome to visiting societies, and the pastor, Rev. Geo. A. Hall, led in the opening prayer. After a response from the choir, Mr. Poole introduced Mr. Adriance, who gave a very interesting address upon Growth, founded upon the text in Isa. 54: 2, "Lengthen thy cords and strengthen thy stakes". The address was practical, giving encouragement not only for growth in numbers, but for growth in spiritual life and character, and in the principles of the society which are, as given by the speaker, constancy, power of expression, Christian fellowship, and capacity for more work. After the singing of a familiar hymn, Rev. Chas. P. Mills of Newburyport was introduced, who spoke for a half hour, showing, in an impressive and earnest manner, the important work to be done, not only by each society but by each individual member. The services closed with singing the familiar hymn "Work for the night is coming," and the benediction by the pastor. It is a matter of general interest in regard to this organization, that, though the first society was formed only five years ago, at the last annual conference held at Saratoga in July, societies were reported from twenty-eight states, four territories, the District of Columbia, the British Provinces, Ceylon, the Sandwich Islands, and two in China. Each of the three Congregational churches in Peabody has a society and it proves very helpful to the young people.

The Democrats held a caucus at town hall, Friday evening. Eugene T. McCarthy was elected chairman and John J. Cahill secretary, and delegates were elected as follows: — State and Senatorial Conventions—Thomas Carroll, William H. Brown, Thomas H. Jackman, Aaron F. Clark, Frank Winchester, Eugene T. McCarthy, Rufus H. Brown, John J. Bartlett. Congressional Convention — John J. Cahill, William J. Croughwell, Daniel P. McCarthy, Edward O'Rourke, John Murray, James J. McCann, William J. McCarthy, John J. Bartlett. District, County and Councillor Conventions—Eugene T. McCarthy, Charles A. Weare, Thomas H. Jackman, John Linehan, James B. Carbrey, John Shannahan, Thomas F. Lyons, and William J. McCarthy. The following town committees was also elected:—E. T. McCarthy, Thomas F. Lyons, T. H. Jackman, S S. Littlefield, John Linehan, Stephen Mills, W. J. McCarthy, Jeremiah Loftus, John B. Kelley, James H. Rodie, C. A. Weare (and Ezra H. Shannon. It is understood that the delegates favor Col. Sweeney of Lawrence for District Attorney and Rev. Willard Spaulding for Congress.

The Republicans held a caucus at town hall last Thursday evening. B. F. Southwick was elected chairman and Frank E. Farnham secretary. Delegates were elected as follows: — State Convention—C. T. Batchelder, Geo. S. Osborne, C. J. Messer and Frank C. Merrill. Congressional Convention—Elbridge Rust, Leverett Poor, William F. Wiley and Alex B. Merrill. An attempt was made to substitute other names for the above, but failed. The old town committee was re-elected as follows:—J. Fred Ingraham, J. F. Wiggin, C. T. Batchelder, Henry Wardwell, George M. Foster, O. B. Chadwick, J. Arthur Trask and E. W. Abbott.

Mr. Malachi F. Batchelder, a well known and respected citizen, died at his home on Central street, last Wednesday, after a long sickness of a cancerous nature. Mr. Batchelder was a farmer by occupation, and was considered one of the best market gardeners in this vicinity, always raising vegetables that commanded high prices in the market, and premiums at cattle shows. He was modest and retiring, a kind husband and good citizen. He was 74 years and 5 months old, and leaves a widow. The funeral took place Saturday from his late residence.

Mrs. Frank Mason, while shopping in Boston last Wednesday, had her pocket picked.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

The most serious out break among the workmen, since the trouble earlier in the season, occurred last Wednesday evening when a mob collected on Tremont street and assaulted the police who were escorting home a non-union man from Proctor's shop. Chief Peasley was struck in the back with a stone and John Welch who was seen to throw it was arrested. As the officers moved off with their prisoner an attempt at rescue was made when the officers drew their revolvers and fired into the crowd, but a second volley was required before the crowd understood that the police ment business. One shot only took effect, and a boy named Chas. Cassidy was struck in the side and the ball lodged in his suspender buckle. The efforts of the police are commended by all law abiding citizens and the community will uphold them in maintaining order even if cold lead is required to do it. In the police court the next morning Welch was held in $1200 bonds for the higher court and Patrick F. Sculley who had also taken part in the riot was put under similar bonds.

The rioting was resumed in the same location Thursday night and a squad of 13 officers was required to disperse the crowd. Several officers were struck with stones and the police discharged their revolvers before the crowd would fall back. The Selectmen have posted the riot act and will enforce it to the letter backed by the moral sentiment of the town.

A boy named Horrigan was painfully burndd about the eyes last Wednesday by powder.

John Tracy for being drnnk was fined $1 and cost Thursday; William Holloran charged with the larceny of a cheese from Joseph Nutter Thursday had his case continued till this morning when he was fined $10 and costs. Appealed.

Patrick J. Murphy, while running for a horse car on Essex street, Salem, Thursday, fell against the edge of the curbstone badly cutting his leg below the knee. He managed to get aboard the car and was assisted home, when he reached the square.

A runaway horse from John A. Lord's factory scattered leather along Wallis street, Saturday. He was captured between the freight on Mill street.

Mr. Charles Goodwin of West Peabody left his team standing in front of the well known shoe store of Wellman Osborne at Lynn last Saturday, while making a purchase inside. When he returned it was missing. The police were notified.

Mr. Jeremiah Murphy has resigned as constable, and Charles Carlin and Michael Phelan have resigned as specia officers.

John Welch was released on bail Thursday, John Motley and Patrick Mahoney being his secureties in the sum of $1700.

Mr. Joseph H. Poor's horse ran away from his new factory in Salem, last Thursday, and collided with a telegraph post, making a wreck of the buggy.

Mr. John F. Morland met with a painful accident to his lame hand last Sunday. He was turning into Elm street and fell over the large black dog, belonging to Mr. Geo. W. Pepper, which was asleep on the sidewalk. In the fall his wrist was sprained. John said it don't amount to anything, "don't put it in the paper." But then, John is an Item miser himself and wanted an exclusive.

One of our physicians were called Saturday to repair the anatomy of a boy on Central street, who fell from a tree. When he reached the lad's home he had recovered and was at play with his companions.

A former resident, Geo. H. West, cut his left hand severely with a knife recently at his home in Danvers.

John McNulty spoiled a new suit of clothes last Sunday by falling into the brook after it crossed Walnut street. Too much tanglewood.

In the police court, Saturday morning, Mrs. Ellen Hayes was called charged with keeping liquor with intent to sell and she was discharged, there not being sufficent evidence to hold her.

John Mullane for being drunk, second offence, was fined $5 and costs or two months in the house of correction and for breaking the kettle in his cell he was fined $5 and costs or one month.

Daniel O'Leary in the police court this morning was fined $1.00 and costs for being drunk.

William Campbell was before the court this morning, charged with assault on Walter Cunningham, a non-union man. Cunningham said he was coming out of a drug store on Main street, yesterday, between two and three o'clock, and had a conversation with Campbell, in which he told him he was working at Harrington's as a green shaver, and lived in the boarding house.. I started for home when Campbell struck me with something above the temple; it was not his fist. Two little boys testified that it was between 5 and 6 o'clock; that they did not see Campbell hit him, but heard a stone strike the bricks and saw Campbell running. The judge fined Campbell $20 and costs; appealed. Cunningham had the appearance of being "disguised" in liquor in the court this morning, and when he left the building he walked down the street with his revolver in his hand.

As there was no evidence on which to hold Mrs. William Hayes on the charge of keeping liquor with intent to sell, Jerry Bresnehan, Billy's old right bower, was brought in this morning to answer to a similar charge. The police testified to visiting the place and finding 21 schooners in use, 1 bucket with dipper, 1 pail, 1 silver pitcher, all with beer in them, 1 beer pump pipe leading to ice box and vault, containing two barrels of beer. There was also a tank for water rack with tumblers. They found the bar and beer pump in working order. The vault where the beer was found was in a shed covered with boards and there were several wagons on the boards. The officers had seen men about the premises, and doors led from the bar room into a back alley way. D. N. Crowley, Esq., testified that he had drawn a paper which was put in as evidence, giving Bresnahan the control of the Hayes property. Bresnahan testified that he collected part of the rents, but had nothing to do with the part of the premises known as the Washington House, although he said there were eight families living there and the place was all connected. Mrs. Hayes had the rent of three tenements, as her husband had instructed him to allow her $10 a week. He denied all knowledge of the liquor being in the house. Judge Merrill reserved his decision till 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. F. S. Evans for defendant and F. E. Farnham for the government.

The police visited the house of Daniel Colman on Sherman street, Sunday, but found no liquor.

Augustus Pratt and William Sargent rescued a Beverly party who were in a capsized yacht, last Sunday.

◆

Rev. M. J. Masterson addressed his parishioners last Sunday upon the duty they owed to themselves as law-abiding citizens, and the town in which they lived. He said: What I desire you to remember is this—and it is a part of your duty to always keep it before you —that the present difficulties between the manufacturers and labor have nothing to do with the law. They are simply a contest of principle on both sides. Both sides should know that the law will not interfere with them in fighting for principle, but it is the duty of the law to assert its majesty when anything detrimental to the peace of the town is committed. The officers must execute the law. Wherein would the victory lie for either side if murder and bloodshed would gain it? I sympathize with workmen as far as the attaining of justice goes, but I am opposed, totally opposed to any disturbance whatever. You have enough to do to try and treat with the manufacturers. Deal with them on principle, not by a breach of the laws. There are on the side of the laborer as intelligent, manly men as on that of the manufacturers. I would exhort you to finish this difficulty with the manufacturers as you began it, peacefully and calmly, and I have no doubt but that the leaders of your order desire the same thing. Don't say or do anything that would cause the finger of reproach to be pointed at your order. For these disturbances will surely be charged to it, and after all it is only by patience that matters can be settled. Exercise your citizenship as men, and put away petty grievances.

The Young People's society of Christian Endeavor of the South Church have elected officers as follows: —President, Arthur F. Poole; Vice President, Nathan Poor; Secretary, Annie S. Thorndike; Treasurer, Nellie T. Allen.

Lookout Committee—Martha K. Hutchinson, Peter J. Frye, Mary E. McDonnell, Anna R. Thacher, Alice M. Patterson.

Prayer Meeting Committee—J. K. Cole, Augusta S. Wilson, Emma S. Frye, Ella Ravel, Hattie S. Thacher.

Social committee—Fannie W. Osborn, Nancy P. Osborn, Helen E. Brown, Mary H. Poole, Helen P. Osborn.

Flower Committee—Annie W. Poole, Mary E Poole, Rena E. Raymond, Louise E. Osborne, Eliza E. Jacobs.

The Baptist Sunday School have elected officers as follows:—Supt., Ambrose Hatch; Ast. Supt., Alden P. Rowell; Librarian, Fred Upton; Treasurer, Miss Alice Hart.

F. D. Tarlton has taken the Agency for the Domestic Sewing Machine. One is on exhibition at his store 42 Main street.

Mr. S. S. Littlefield and Mr. C. A. Weare assisted in the institution of a tribe of Red Men at Haverhill last night.

Mr. R. F. Dodge is suffering from a poisoned hand caused by a fish bone.

1886.

FALL and WINTER GOODS.

1 Case each LADIES MERINO UNDERWEAR, 50, 75, $1.00.

LADIES' and MISSES' WOOLEN HOSE, 20, 25, 37, 50.

BLANKETS and COMFORTERS,

$1.00 to $6.00. 62 cents to $2.50.

F. D. TARLTON,

42 MAIN STREET.

IMMENSE BARGAIN

THIS WEEK!

NOW IS YOUR TIME TO GET

Men's Canvas Bals. only 65 cents.
Boys' Canvas Bals only 75 cents.
Youths' Canvas Bals only 65 cents.

REGULAR $1.00 GOODS.

Men's and Boys' Tennis, 75 cents.
Men's Tennis Bals., $1.00.
Smith Hand Sewed Goat Button, $2.75.
Women's Comfort Button, $2.00.
Women's Mikado Slipper, 35c.
Men's Silk Embroidered Slipper, 65c.
Women's Fine Kid Oxfords. $1.00.
Women's House Slipper, 25c.

BIG BARGAINS IN SUMMER GOODS FOR THE NEXT TEN DAYS

— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

SALEM.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

GRAND OPENING

— OF —

Trimmed Bonnets

AND

Round Hats.

Novelties in Every Department.

TUESDAY, OCT. 5th.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 6th.

THURSDAY, OCT. 7th.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

Essex and Washington Street,

SALEM, MASS.

— GO TO —

MORRISON & TRASK,

SUCCESSORS TO

Samuel Trask & Son.

WALNUT STREET,

For Hardware, Paints, Oils, Cutlery, Tanners and Curriers Tools, Cordage, Farming Tools, Seeds, Dole's Tanners Shovels and Hooks.

— ALSO AGENTS FOR —

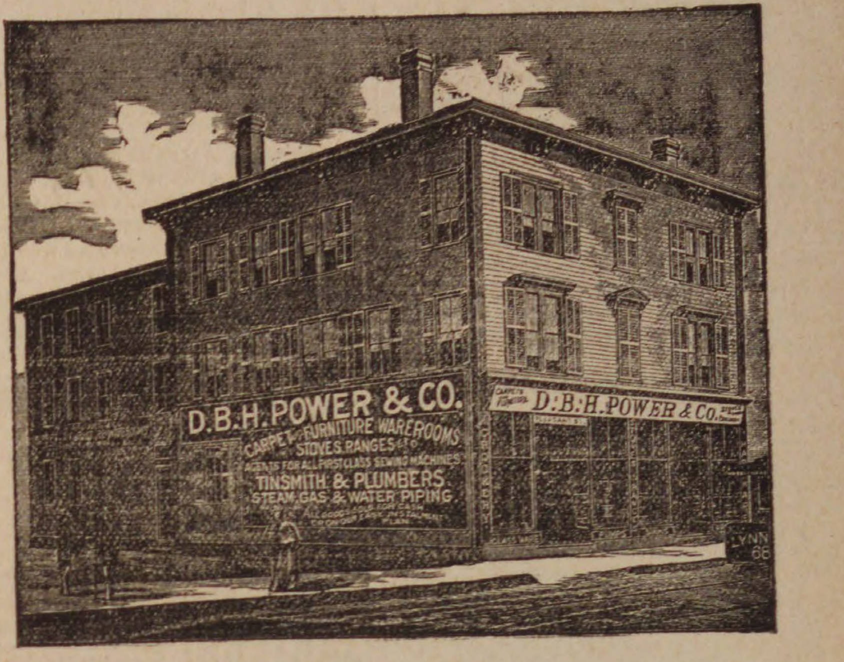
H. W. John's Asbestos Paint.

MORRISON & TRASK,

Walnut Street.

sep 8—1y



GRAND OPENING.

The extensive additions to our buildings are now completed. Our new fall stock has arrived and we most heartily invite the citizens of Essex County to call and inspect the Largest House Furnishing Store in New England, 32,700 square feet of floor room, all under one roof, with the largest and most Extensive Stock of House Furnishing goods ever seen in any one store. It is a museum worthy of inspection. You will be kindly received and shown all over our immense establishment by our clerks, whether you intend to purchase or not.

We have OIL CLOTHS all prices, styles and widths. INGRAIN, TAPESTRY and BRUSSELS CARPETS. RUGS, STRAW MATTING, STAIR CARPET, BORDERS, etc. We have the most elegant display of these goods ever seen, and our Carpet room is the model of perfection.

Furniture, Bedding, Stoves, Ranges, Tin and Wooden Ware, Hardware, Etc.

Remember we manufacture our own STOVES and we warrant every one that we sell. We deliver and set up our Stoves ready for a fire without extra charge. Carpets made and put down. All goods delivered free. We guarantee our prices the lowest and our terms the easiest. Goods sold for cash or on our own and original instalment plan, $1.00 down and $1.00 a week. We lead and others follow.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

123 & 125 PLEASANT, & 24 SCHOOL ST.,

MARBLEHEAD.

293 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

All Horse and Steam Cars stop at our Doors.

STRAWBERRIES,

POT GROWN.

Plants of Leading Varieties.

By setting in AUGUST will secure fruit the following season.

PLANTS ready now. Send for Circular, or call on

E. & C WOODMAN,

FLORIST AND GARDEN SUPPLIES,

DANVERS, MASS.

Greenhouses, Holten St., Tapleyville, on line of Horse R. R.

SOUTH DANVERS MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE CO'Y.

The members of this Company are hereby notified that their Annual Meeting for the Election of a Board of Directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may come before them, will be held at the Room of the South Danvers National Bank, in Peabody, on MONDAY, October 4th, 1886, at 7 o'clock, P. M.

G. M. FOSTER, Sec'y.

Peabody, Sept. 8, 1886.

BANKRUPT SALE

Of and Imported stock of

Human Hair Goods

The chance that comes but once in a life time.

The extensive stock of Mr. Leonard, the great importer and dealer of fine hair goods, was sold at auction last week in Boston. We were large purchasers of the same at merely nominal prices, and we propose to give our customers the benefit of the same. We have elegant waves at less than one quarter the original price. Crimps for 10c, 25c, 37c up. Warranted water curl ones for 50 and 75 cts.

Hair Switches for 25c, 50c, up. Gray Switches, a full line, from $2 up.

Polished Hair Crimping Irons 25c. Regular price $1.

Fluffy Fedore Curlers 15c, regular price 30c

Ornaments, Hair Pins, etc., etc.

COME & EXAMINE.

Mrs. J. H. Browne's

153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

Also Remember all our Trimmed Hats and Bonnets will be closed out at Bargain prices. We have the largest stock to select from in the city

BROWNE'S

Next door to the Museum.

Coal Dealers.

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheaokin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal. Cumberland Coal.

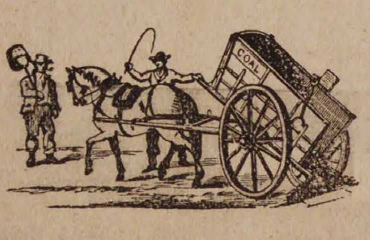
All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telphone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville, and will be promptly attended to.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN



WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

Wr. T. Batchelder. neys Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

—AT—

PICKERINGS

7 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

ECIALRATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, JR & CO.,

Peabody Stree

N. O. VERRY,

(Successor to L. B. Hatch.

DEALER IN

WOOD AND COAL,

Hard and Soft Wood Kindlings, Bark, Slabs, Hay, etc.

113 DERBY ST., SALEM.

AT THE HEAD OF DERBY WHARF.

P. O. Box 64. Telephone, 444

---

15 CENTS FOR SAMPLE COPY of THIS BEAUTIFUL BOOK. It gives the LANGUAGE and Sentiment of Every Flower and Shrub, 3000 different kinds. Also all the Known Rules of Flirtation with Glove, Parasol, Handkerchief and Fan. It is the most complete work of the kind ever published. Send Fifteen Cents in stamps for a sample copy, also our price to agents. Agents wanted everywhere. Ad. AMERICAN PUB. CO., 17 North Tenth Street, Philad'a, Pa.

OUR SINGER THIS STYLE $17 15 DAYS' TRIAL. A Full Set of Attachments. WARRANTED 5 Years. Send for Circular. E. C. HOWE & CO., 122 N. 6th St., Phila., Pa.

mch 24

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any $10 cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground feb 11—3m

YOUR HAIR

should be your crowning glory. Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the vitality and color of youth to hair that has become thin and faded; and, where the glands are not decayed or absorbed, will cause a new growth on bald heads.

MAY the youthful color and vigor of the hair be preserved to old age? Read the following, from Mrs. G. Norton, Somerville, Mass.: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the past 30 years, and, although I am upwards of 60, my hair is as abundant and glossy to-day as when I was 25."

BE assured, that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor will convince you of its powers. Mrs. M. E. Goff, Leadville, Col., writes: "Two years ago, my hair having almost entirely fallen out, I commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. To-day my hair is 29 inches long, fine, strong, and healthy."

RENEWED and strengthened by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair regains its youthful color and vitality. Rev. H. P. Williamson, Davidson College, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last ten years. It is an excellent preservative."

BY the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, Geo. A. Dadman, Waterloo, Mo., had his hair restored to its original healthy condition. He was nearly bald, and very gray. He writes: "Only four bottles of the Vigor were required to restore my hair to its youthful color and quantity."

USING Ayer's Hair Vigor cures diseases of the scalp. F. H. Foster, Princeton, Ind., writes: "I had been troubled for years with a disease of the scalp; my head was covered with dandruff, and the hair dry and harsh. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave me immediate relief, cleansed the scalp, and rendered the hair soft and pliable."

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

For sale by all Druggists.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively Cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00. CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

CATARRH ELY'S

ELY'S CREAM BALM
CURES COLD IN HEAD
CATARRH
ROSE-COLD
HAY-FEVER
DEAFNESS
HEADACHE
PRICE 50 CENTS
ELY BROS. OWEGO, N.Y. U.S.A.
EASY TO USE
TRADE MARK

Cream Balm

Gives Relief at once and Cures.

COLD in HEAD

CARTARRH

HAY FEVER

Not a Liquid, Snuff or Powder. Free from Injurious Drugs and Offensive odors.

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at druggists; by mail, registered, 60 cts. Circulars free. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS!

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS WILL Purify the Blood.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS BEGETS Sound. Refreshing Sleep.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS FOR That Tired. Weary Feeling.

Sick Headache.

GENTS:—I have been subject to Sick Headache for years, and have tried, in vain, many advertised remedies and several physicians, but all to no purpose. At last I tried your B. B. Bitters—without much faith, I admit—but to-day I can truly say, that after taking the third bottle, I have not suffered from it. I recommend it to all my friends; several have been cured by it. My little grandson was permanently cured of Biliousness and Sick Headache, which were so severe as to cause convulsions. They have all ceased since he commenced the use of B.B.B.

MRS. B. C. BODLE,
Orange, Luzerne County, Pa.

FRENCH'S HOTEL.

CITY HALL SQUARE. NEW YORK.

Opposite City Hall and the Post Office.

This Hotel is one of the most complete in its appointments and furniture of any HOUSE in New York City and is conducted on the

EUROPEAN PLAN.

Rooms only One Dollar per day. Half minute's walk from Brooklyn Bridge and Elevated R. R. All lines of cars pass the door. Most convenient Hotel in New York for Merchants to stop at. Dining Rooms, Cafes and Lunch Counter replete with all the luxuries at moderate prices.

THE DRAMA.

The great scenic drama, "The Harbor Lights," as presented at the Boston Museum, is the grandest spectacle ever produced at that house, and is meeting with unqualified success. This is its first production in America, and, since the opening night, audiences that have completely filled the theatre have testified, by the most enthusiastic plaudits, their appreciation and delight. It is just entering upon the second month of its triumphant run, and bids fair to rival the London term of its success, now nine months, with the prospect of many more. The cast includes nearly every member of the famous Museum Company, the new comers having been most warmly received, and the old favorites most gladly welcomed back. The scenery is most elaborate and beautiful, showing great ingenuity in stage mechanism, and extreme liberality on the part of the Management. The opening view of the Village of Redcliffe; the deck of the ship Britannic; the storm-beaten Cliff; and finally, the Bay at Night, with the Lighthouse and Life-Saving Station, are most beautiful pictures, doing great credit to the scenic artists' genius and the stage carpenters' skill. The forty-sixth season has opened most auspiciously at this the oldest established theatre in Boston, and a long and brilliant career for this strongly written and most effective play is certain. "Harbor Lights" will be presented every evening until further notice, and at the Wednesday and Saturday matinees. The curtain rises at 7.45 P. M., and 2 P. M., and, notwithstanding the great amount of scenery and the vast number of incidents in the play, the performances terminate at 10.45 and 4.45 o'clock respectively, thus giving the suburban patrons ample time to take their trains.

Admirably adapted as the basis of a spectacular production is Verne's romantic story, "Around the World in Eighty Days." The Kiralfys have made no offering that has better pleased the public, and this season's representation, with the new premieres to lead the great ballet, is the most effective yet seen here. This is the last week of the spectacular triumph at the Boston Theatre. "The Mikado" ballet alone is worth the price of the best seat in the theatre.

Were "Clio" remarkable only as giving opportunity to that most graceful dancer, Cornalba, it would well merit popular success. With its varied divertisements—the gondolier, the harlequin, the follies, the bacchanale, and so on—"Clio" proves one of the most elaborate ballet pieces of the time. More than a hundred people are engaged in the production, with John L. Burleigh in the leading part; and the stage mechanical effects, including the celebrated earthquake scene, are now given with smoothness and success. This is the last week of "Clio" at the Hollis.

Helen Dauvray in "One of Our Girls," which had a great success at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, is being played at the Park Theatre. The company is very strong and is the same as performed at New York.

"Behold the Lord High Executioner!" This stirring chorus, with other pleasantly-familiar airs of "The Mikado," will be heard once again at the Globe Theatre, this week only. Geraldine Ulmer will appear as Yum Yum, and this charming personation should prove potent to draw thronged audiences were the distribution of characters otherwise less notable. J. W. Herbert, is to be the droll Ko Ko, with Brocolini as the dignified Pooh Bah, Roy Stanton as the Wandering Minstrel, Alice Carle as the affianced of Nanki Poo, Agnes Stone as Pitti Sing and N. S. Burnham as the Mikado himself.

* * *

FACTS WORTH KNOWING--In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating. The medical profession has been slow to learn this. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with douches, snuffs, powders, syringes, astringents, or any similar application, because they are all irritating, do not thoroughly reach the affected surfaces and should be abandoned as worse than failures. A multitude of persons who had for years borne all the worry and pain that catarrh can inflict testify to radical and permanent cures wrought by Ely's Cream Balm.

To cure corns, put your foot through the window, and the pane will immediately be gone.

Mr. A. Fueger, 606 Walnut street, St. Louis, Mo., suffered for two years with lumbago, and was confined to his bed for several months. He was entirely cured by the use of St. Jacobs Oil, which he says is also the best cure for sprains and all other pains.

Garden truck and fruits are all so plentiful this season, that it would be wise not to try to eat all that you see around you. It is best to practice a little moderation, even if some of this stuff has to go to waste, for which there is no sale.

Carter's Little Liver Pills will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. To be had of all Druggists. See advertisement.

He who betrays another's secret because he has quarreled with him was never worthy of the sacred name of a friend. A breach of kindness on one side will not justify a breach of trust on the other.

RED STAR TRADE MARK.

COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

ST JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc. PRICE, FIFTY CENTS. AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston.

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

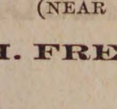
Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASGOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.



Boyden House,

128 1-2 & 132 UNION ST.

(NEAR CENTRAL STATION.)

H. FRENCH, - Prop.,

LYNN, MASS

je 9—1y

WANTED The owner of a Mining Claim which has "Ore in Sight" valued at $147,238, assays from which give $100 to $250 per ton in Gold, ask for Capital to further develop the same and put it upon a paying basis by the erection of suitable machinery, &c. Will sell an equal one-half interest for $50,000, the money so obtained to be placed in trust or otherwise secured to the purpose above mentioned. For full information, principals only address

WM. H. SPOONER,
Bristol, R. I.

FRAZER AXLE GREASE

BEST IN THE WORLD ☞ Get the Genuine. Sold Everywhere.

TO ADVERTISERS.—Lowest Rates for advertising in 1000 good newspapers sent free. Address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

Saving Institutions.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

WARREN

Five Cents Savings Bank

RUFUS H. BROWN, President.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treasurer.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Dividends are payable semi-annually, on the third Wednesday of May and November.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY, TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE

Arthur Elliott & Co.,

DEALERS IN

FRESH AND SALT FISH.

Lobster and Fancy Fish in their seasons.

A share of public patronage solicited.

Caller Street,

PEABODY.

CROSS,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY!

64 MARKET STREET, LYNN

Express.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody	at	9 47 A. M
Freight "	at	5 00 P. M
Express " Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight " "	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

Dr. F. G. Bates,

DENTIST,

218 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

OVER MERRILL & MACKINTIRE'S,

All Work Warranted.

mch 31—1y

$1

13 WEEKS.

The POLICE GAZETTE will be mailed, securely wrapped, to any address in the United States for 3 months on receipt of

ONE DOLLAR.

Liberal discount allowed to postmasters, agents and clubs. Sample copies mailed free. Address all orders to

RICHARD K. FOX,

FRANKLIN SQUARE, N. Y.

Bedding Plants

and Coleus.

Fine lot of Fushias and other Plants.

WARD'S GREENHOUSES.

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM
Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

PEABODY.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

EDWIN B. BALCOM,

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very best Tobacco in the market, we feel justified in saying he

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol Cuba brands

FOR A 5C SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one- The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store,

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO, 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

SHORTHAND Text-book and Instruction by mail to master it, given by the author of the system for $6. Most popular and easy method. Endorsed by 1000 graduates and professional stenographers. Book alone $1. D. L. Scott Browne, 23 Clinton Place, New York, N. Y.

GOOD SALARIES

or Commission to Men and Women to act as local or traveling Agents. No experience needed. Steady work! JAMES E. WHITNEY, Nurseryman Rochester, N. Y. (Mention this paper.)

je 8—3m

ESTABLISHED IN 1838.

LIGHT DRINKS FOR THE PEOPLE.

S. B. WINN & SON,

191 Washington St., Salem,

Near the Eastern Railroad Depot.

MANUFACTURERS OF ALL KINDS OF SUMMER DRINKS, INCLUDING

GINGER ALE,
TONIC,
GINGER,
HOP,
and other BEERS.

Our Ginger Ale will be found far superior to any now on the market. It is put up in half pint bottles, in a neat and convenient manner. We pride ourselves upon the purity and originality of the ingredients selected for the compounding of this harmless and at the same time beneficial summer beverage.

Charged Soda Fountains

All sizes, constantly on hand.

Soda Water in Syphons.

Our Iron Clad Fountains give universal satisfaction.

All the water used in our manufactured drinks is filtered in the best possible manner. The composition used in charging our Soda Fountains is the best and purest known, notwishstanding the superior claims made by others. We challenge a comparison.

MOXIE NERVE FOOD $1 per dozen

In addition to the above, we keep constantly in stock, all kinds of

PURE LIQUORS,

FOR FAMILY AND MEDICINAL PURPOSES.

Cigars of the best brands, can be had.

Our steam apparatus for charging Fountains and Bottling, has all the modern improvements suggested by mechanical appliances. This is the only steam charging apparatus of the kind in Essex County, and the public are invited to call and see it in operation.

Samples of goods shown with pleasure.

Goods delivered in all parts of the city, Beverly, Danvers and Peabody, free of charge

S. B. WINN, F. M. WINN.

Telephone, 222.

may 5—4m

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,
ACCORDEONS
HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

OLD MAGAZINES

WANTED.

Will take old Harper's, Scribner's, St. Nicholas or Century Magazines of any date whatever in exchange for Book Binding, Card Albums or Cash.

H. A. BROOKS,

BOOK BINDER,

224 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE BROKER & APPRAISER.

SALEM,

Offers for Sale at reasonable

THE SAUNDERS' ESTATE

MAIN ST., PEABODY.

HAY!
HAY!
HAY!

10 cars arrived to-day for sale cheap. Fancy White Middlings, Bran, Fine Feed, Oat Meal, Ground Oats, Cotton Seed Wheat, Screenings, Barley, Fancy le lip Barley, Oats, Mixed Oats, White Oats, Haxall and St. Louis Flour. Also other kind of feed for Horses and Cows in great variety. Please call and examine our stock and prices before buying elsewhere.

J. V. & J. HANSON

2 & 4 FRONT ST, SALEM,

ALSO AT

Peabody Square & Danvers Iron Works.

Be Warned

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

Prevented

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Sold by all Druggists.

Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

A VALUABLE COMPOUND

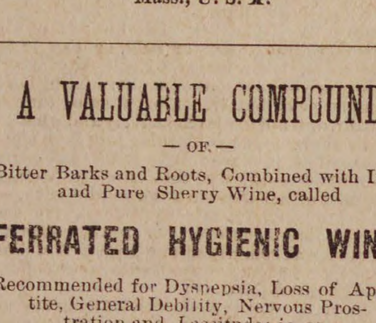
— OF —

Bitter Barks and Roots, Combined with Iron and Pure Sherry Wine, called

FERRATED HYGIENIC WINE.

Recommended for Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, General Debility, Nervous Prostration and Lassitude; is especially adapted to delicate ladies.

See that the trade mark



Is stamped on every label. Prepared by

C. H. & J. Price,

SALEM.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

Finest Pianos and Organs,

Pianos, $25 down, then $10 per month. Organs, $5 down, then $5 per month

EVERY INSTRUMENT WARRANTED.

☞ No charge for carting to Peabody.

W. D. BROWN,

76 MARKET STREET,

LYNN.

may 5—3m

LAWN OUTFITS, HAMMOCK CHAIRS,

Canvas and Woven wire Cots, Spring Beds and Mattresses, Parlor Furniture, Loose Covers, Window Shades and Draperies.

WILSON & DUFFY

17 City Hall Square,

LYNN.

Old furniture re-upholstered in the latest styles; good work and moderate prices; satisfaction guaranteed.

ORDERS BY MAIL PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

je 30—3m

M. N. BLACK,

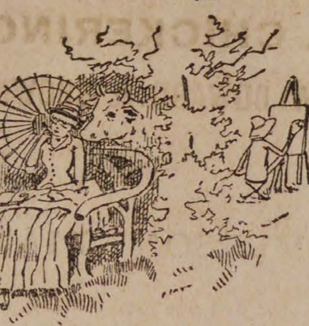
Hair Work and Hair Goods,

80 MARKET ST. LYNN.

Opposite W. B. Gifford's.

je 30—3m

A Prosaic Idyl.



Laura—Oh, Tom, how you made me jump! Don't blow on my neck—it tickles me so. Have you finished your sketch already.—The Judge.

A Plea for the Enemy.

To succeed in the Salvation Army, a man should have a voice with bristles down its back; a voice that would scare old Satan into St. Vitus' dance. While I do not indorse Satan or any of his acts, I believe that we should give him a chance. Satan has done a good many things that were essentially wrong, and there is a general feeling against him, and yet, badly as I hate him, and bitterly as I would fight him on a fair field, I would not ask him to wake up suddenly, out of a sound sleep, and find himself surrounded by a Salvation Army. To call an enemy out of doors and kill him according to Cushing's manual is one thing, and to scare him into hydrophobia is quite another.—Bill Nye.

Kind Advice to a Stranger.

A stranger arrived in a western Kansas town one day last week and inquired of the owner of a vacant store what the rent would be per month.

"For what purpose?" was asked.

"To open a private bank."

"Can't have it at any price, sir," said the owner. "I have rented it to three different parties for that business, and in every instance, after the depositors had run 'em down and brought 'em back to be lynched, a crowd attacked the building and damaged it $500 worth. My advice to you, sir, is to drop the private banking business and open a butcher shop."—Wall Street News.

Among the Innocent Grangers.

"Tell me, my good woman, have you only this one cow?"

"That is all."

"How much milk does she give a day?"

"Ten quarts."

"And how much of it do you sell?"

"Thirty every morning, monsieur."—French Joke.

Expecting a Good Deal.

Customer—Waiter, here's a button in the soup.

Waiter—Button, sah, yes sah, I guess dat's all right, sah.

Customer—It's all right, of course, but I thought perhaps a buttonhole went with it.—Life.

Poor Luck.

"That's a fine brood of chickens you have, Mrs. O'Brien," said Mrs. Merrit, looking through a hole in the back fence.

"Faith, mum," was the reply, "they're foine, to be shure; but Oi've no luck at all at all wid the burds. All the young hins is roosters.—The Judge.

A Shark's Mistake.

"Don't you do no foolin' with a shark," said a Barnegat fisherman as he crowded tobacco into his pipe for another smoke. "Sharks is an animal as knows more'n you think for. A couple of years ago I took a party out after weak fish in the yacht Mary. She belongs to Capt. Small, or did afore he died. We were anchored up in Bay No. 3, and the fish were biting like smoke, when all at once the school left us. I knowed that meant a shark, and I looked around for him. Purty soon he came alongside, and I up with a pole and gave him an awful jab in the back. You can't hurt a shark's body very well, but his feelings are as tender as a child's. This fellow ran off a bit and then cocked his eye at me and took a good long squint. Then he ran around under the stern to read the yacht's name, and when he went off he gave his tail a flirt which meant that he would call around and make it pleasant for me some other time.

"Well, in the course of three or four days Capt. Small got home and went out in the Mary for sheepshead. He went up to No. 3 and cast anchor, and then sot down in his usual position—his right leg hanging over the port quarter and his foot jist touching the water. He hadn't been there ten minutes before along came a shark and cut that leg off below the knee as slick as a chopper could have done it. The captain had skeercely realized his loss afore the fish came back with the leg, give himself a hist and a twist, and the bloody meat was flung back into the boat. For why? Because the shark had discovered that he had bit the wrong man. He was after me, and he had got Small. He had nothin' agin Small, and he cheerfully brought back the leg when he discovered his mistake. The captain he died of the bite, but not before I had explained things, and the last thing he said was that he forgive the shark."—Detroit Free Press.

Burdettes.

A Newark girl has eloped with a wild Indian. This remorseless, pitiless hatred with which the eastern people pursue the poor Indian is something incomprehensible to the people of the west. Out there they may, and occasionally do, shoot an Indian, but they don't believe in torturing him.

NO JOB FOR A SNAKE.

A big copperhead snake went wriggling into a house in Waynesburg, Pa., chased the woman and her five daughters shrieking out into the street, and held the fort till the man came home. There is nothing remarkable about that. We have known a little mouse not three inches long to chase a whole sewing society out into a snowdrift.

A LAWLESS LIFE.

Sometimes when I think what a lawless life mine has been I wonder that the respectable outlaws with whom I am most intimately associated in social, religious and political circles have not elected me chief of the band. I think nothing of defying those in authority; I "sass" the president, scoff at congress, bully the legislature and transgress the laws of the land daily. I drive across the bridge "faster than a walk," and openly sneer at the $5 fine with which the signboard threatens me. I have walked "on the grass" in Fairmount park; in Central park I have "plucked a leaf, flower or shrub." I have "stood on the front platform" for many miles, I have "talked to the man at the wheel," I have "got on and off the cars while in motion," I have "smoked abaft this shaft," I have refused to "keep moving" on Brooklyn bridge; I have neglected to clear the snow away from my sidewalk, I have dumped ashes into the alley at early dawn, I do not muzzle my dog, and last year he was not registered; I do not always "turn to the right" when I am driving, I do not always procure tickets before entering the cars, I have not worked out my road tax this year—why, I can't begin to tell one-half my lawless acts. But one virtue, even though it may be considered a negative one, I insert here as a saving clause. I have never overstated the value of my property to the assessor.—R. J. Burdette in Brooklyn Eagle.

THE YOSEMITE IN DANGER.

Influences Which Will Ultimately Result in Great Injury to the Noted Valley.

While all these changes are occurring within the valley, there are influences at work without its boundary line which, if not well directed, and in many cases checked, will in another score of years, if we may measure progress by the last score, run railroads to the valley from all sides, build hotels throughout this Alpine region of America and thoroughly open its heretofore inaccessible wonders. To accomplish this the heavily wooded slopes of the great watersheds above Yosemite will be rapidly denuded of their finest timber. The marts of our metropolis, impoverished by failing forests elsewhere, will seek their new region insatiate. The snow detaining growths will be swept away. The experience of older regions will be repeated in the floods of early spring.

All of this will affect Yosemite in a way none but those who have listened to the mighty roar of her stupendous waterfalls in May and have come again in October to see them falling in shreds can appreciate. These extremes intensified, the valley would be a lake in spring and a parched, dusty place in early autumn. But these dangers as resulting from the above causes are happily, as yet, in anticipation. The present and increasing danger is from the almost countless sheep that are annually driven from the plains of the San Joaquin to the mountain meadows, there to tramp and graze until every green spot is robbed of its carpet of beauty and beaten into dust. Too often the smouldering embers of the shepherds' deserted camp fires are fanned into conflagrations that destroy in a single day the growth of centuries. Throughout the ranges of every grazing region the charred columns that in life supported great roofs of protecting shade now stand dark monuments to man's wanton waste of the priceless heritage which, once lost, twenty generations of his puny descendants cannot restore. There are too few places like the Yosemite trust, and it is the common interest of mankind to preserve them in all ways. To this particular trust California is bound by solemn ties.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Sardines and a Sicilian Breakfast.

It is safe to say that the sardines of Messina are not to be surpassed, though they may possibly be equaled. Like Greenwich whitebait, they are rather a specialty of the place. The waiter breathes a shrill whisper through the speaking tube which communicates from the ground floor to the kitchen. A satisfactory response comes very promptly in the shape of a faint sound of frizzling. As the whitebait are merely immersed for some seconds in a wirework cage in boiling oil, so the sardines are sent up with startling celerity, considering the Italian habit of procrastination. The tiny fish, delicately browned, are served on a soft bed of frizzled parsley. By way of condiment, there are simply a couple of sliced lemons, and the result is so tempting, so fragrantly apetizing, that you scarcely take time to disengage the fish from the bones.

Should you have followed up the sardines by the veal cutlet the waiter will surely have recommended, or by what he is pleased to call a filet, you will have cause to repent it, though the man is not to be blamed for suggesting them, as both dishes are popular with the ordinary patrons. If you are wise you will have ordered green peas or asparagus, which seem to flourish in the Sicilian gardens all the year round. After these you can hardly do better than call for macaroni a la creme or with tomato sauce, having taken the precaution of warning the cook to boil the macaroni sufficiently. Should the quails chance to be in, they are sure to be plump and delicate; the chickens, which may be fried in sweet oil, are generally good and fat, though scarcely equal to the capons of Bresse; and for dessert, or, indeed, with the bourgeois soups, the grated Parmesan cheese is always delicious; while you may crown your repast in the early spring with a profusion of magnificent mountain strawberries. — Blackwood's Magazine.

Luck or Magnetism.

If you get into the confidence of any keeper of a large livery stable he will tell you that he has one "unlucky" vehicle. If it is taken out, the horse runs away, the wheel comes off, the driver meets with an accident, or the occupant comes back angry or dissatisfied. Every railroad has an engine or cab that is cranky. It is a notorious fact that a locomotive will have a sulky fit and won't make time for several weeks; then, having apparently recovered its good humor, come into the station on the second. Then you will hear of a locomotive which will always run too slow with one engineer, too fast with another, and just right with a third. I think this must be another case of animal magnetism, but how or why it plays these pranks neither you nor I can tell.—Philadelphia Call.

Presents From the Groceryman.

The system of giving little presents to children, every time they come in to make a purchase for the household, is a great nuisance, but so long as one grocer keeps it up we must all do it. It has ruined the candy and cheap toy trade. Children sent on errands will go to the place where the best gratuity is given, and the result is that we are so much at the mercy of the youngsters that we must rival each other in catering to this small despotism by introducing novelties. Formerly a little candy was sufficient, but now they expect marbles, tops, kites, whistles, balls, blow guns, colored chalk—in fact, toys of all kinds, and the item would be considerable in a month did we not make it out of the parents.—Grocer in Globe-Democrat.

English and American Drinking.

Ask an American to come and have a drink and the chances are that if he refuses he will do so on the grounds that he has just eaten. Ask an Englishman, and if he refuses it will be for the reason that he has not eaten. The former almost invariably drinks on an empty stomach, and the latter on a full one. Then an American, when he drinks spirits, takes the stuff "neat," without any water, while the Englishman invariably dilutes his with water. Then again, "cocktails," or compound drinks of any kind, except hot whisky and sugar, are quite unknown to the majority of drinkers on the other side, and every old toper will tell you that it is the mixture that kills.—Cor. Chicago Herald.

A Composition on Fishes.

A schoolma'm at the Chase house has the following juvenile composition among her school house manuscript: "A codfish is the only Annymal that ain't got no neck. There ain't but one kind of fish in the World that lives on the land and Flys round in the air, and that is a fish-hawk.

"A codfish has a large mouth, and my Sunday school Teachers got a large mouth too. Two kids got fiteing in the vestry one day and one of em pulled quite a lot of Hare out of the other kids Hed and the Superintending pounded one of his Eers with a book and so they quit.—Squirrel Island Squid.

Maryland's Oyster Industry.

According to a recent report of the Maryland oyster commission, the oyster industry in that state is rapidly approaching destruction. The decline is attributed to the too great strain on the production, the beds being greatly depleted every season.

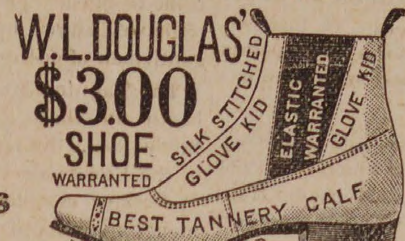
SALEM SHOE STORE,

278 ESSEX STREET SALEM,

Invite their Peabody customers to inspect their elegant line of

CANVASS AND LAWN TENNIS GOODS

At Reasonable Prices. We are the Salem agents for the celebarted



Button Lace & Congress

HONEST GOODS at a small profit.

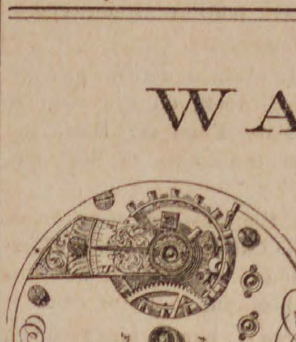
Our Men's and Children's Goods are made on the premises. Remember the number,

278 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

Opposite Packard's Furniture Store. T. A. CORSON, Agent.

mch 13—1y

WATCHES!



Appleton, Tracey & Co.
WALTHAM, MASS.
Nº220,498

BARGAINS

— IN —

American Watch Co., Waltham and Elgin Watches.

Appleton, Tracey & Co.,

Full Jeweled, adjusted, chronometer balance, patent regulator and breguet hair spring. A very fine timekeeper, at a great reduction from regular prices.

The reliable P. S. BARTLETT WATCH, in a 3-oz. coin silver Waltham case, $16; warranted perfect in every respect.

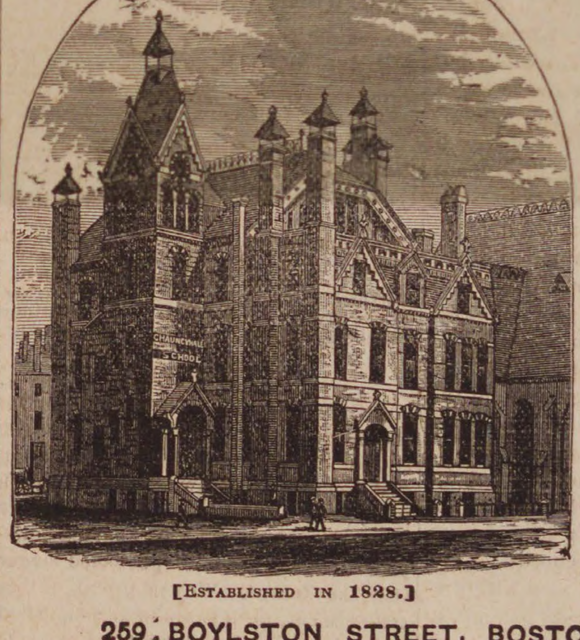
All grades of Watches at the lowest prices.

Watches, French Clocks, Jewelry, Eye Glasses, etc., repaired in prompt and superio manner. Especial attention given to cleaning and adjusting fine Watches.

Geo. A. Collins,

JEWELER,

26 MAIN STREET, PEABODY AND 198 ESSEX STREET, SALEM



Chauncy-Hall School.

PARENTS desiring for their boys and girls the personal attention of private schools and the discipline and varied associates of public schools, will find both combined here.

The New Catalogue gives a full account of the great Care for Health; the thorough preparation for College, for Business, and the Mass. Institute of Technology; the facilities for Special Students; and the unusual arrangements for Young Children.

Graduates of High Schools often take advantage of the opportunities offered by Chauncy Hall for elective studies, to do advanced work in languages or other branches. There is no more charge for several classes in any study than for one class.

The school building, Boylston Street, near Dartmouth, is in the most elegant part of Boston, and is easily accessible. Horse cars pass the door.

[ESTABLISHED IN 1828.]

259 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

(Opposite the Art Museum)

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

CREAM HOME MADE BREAD

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich ride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamenta work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

COMER'S Commercial College,

BOSTON, MASS.

Best Equipped and Most Successful in America

Re-opens Sept. 1, 1886, for the 46th Year.

The course of study is elective and embraces the following subjects: Book-keeping; Penmanship; Commercial Arithmetic; Law and Correspondence; Short-Hand; Type-Writing; the English Branches. Students may begin at any time, receive INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION, and progress according to ability. Separate department for ladies.

Graduates Aided to Employment.

PUBLIC SCHOOL GRADUATES take our course as a finishing off for their other school work, before going into business.

Our Special Three Months' Course

is taken by persons whose time and means are limited.

THE COLLEGE BULLETIN, (Illustrated) gives full particulars and will be mailed free upon application. For further particulars address or call upon

C. E. COMER, 666 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

All our work is guaranteed.

NOTICE OUR

REMOVAL.

P. Hartigan & Son,

HORSE SHOERS,

Have removed from the rear of Kinsman's Block to

184 BRIDGE ST.,

Nearly opp. St. Peter street, Salem.

OLD ESTABLISHED CONCERN,

P. Hartigan, Senior, has had 30 years' experience.

N. B. Personal attention given to Horses that interfere or over-reach.

☞ Treatment of CORNS and QUARER CRACKS a specialty.

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD

On and after Monday, June 28. 1889 trains will run as follows.—

EASTERN DIVISION.

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 5 44. 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, A. M., 1 55, 3 27, 5 08, 6 47 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 6 10, 8, 10 55 A. M., 12 M., 3, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M. Sunday, 9 27, A. M. Return 5 45 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6,30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48 7 51, 8 13, 8 34, does not stop at Lynn, 8 43, 8 58, 9 25, 9 55, 10.48 A M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 12, 3 35, 4 05. 4 21, 5 18, 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 8 55, 9, 9 53 P.M. Sundays, 5.37 8 45, 9 35, 10 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3, 5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48. 7 51, 8 43, 8 58, 10 48 A. M., 12 M, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 35, 4 21, 5 18. 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 9, 9 53, P. M. Sundays, 8 45, 9 35, 11 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3, 5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Beverly, 6 53, 8 13, 8 45, 10 44, 11 20 A. M., 12 02, 1 05, 2 27, 2 47, 3 56, 4 05, 5 12, 5 35. 5 57, 6 36, 7 05. 7 15, 7 45, 10 10, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M. 2 10, 7 17, 8 07 P. M.

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—6 53, 8 45, 11 20 A. M., 2 47, 4 05, 5 35, 7 05, 7 45, 10 10 P. M Sunday, 7 17 P.M.

Essex, 8 13 A. M., 1 05, 3 56, 6 36 P. M.

Ipswich, 8 13. 9 35, 10 44 A, M., 1 05, 2 27, 3 57, 5 12 6 36. 7 15 P. M, Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

Newburyport, 8 13, 9 35, 10 00, 10 44 A.M. 1 05, 2 02 2 27, 3 56, 5 12, 6 36, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M

And FOR SALEM—from

Newburyport—4 45. 6 30, 7, 8, 8 13, 9 07, 11 40 A.M 2 35, 3 30, 3 35, 5 43. 7 20, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.

Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 15, 8 31, 9 25, A. M. 12 02 3 53, 6 06, 7 26, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A.M., 5 06 P. M.

Essex—7, A. M., 12 05 5 40 P. M.

Rockport—6 05, 7 20, 8 35, 10 A. M., 1 15, 4 55, 6 40 9 P. M. Sundays—7 50, 9 55 A. M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 29, 8 44, 10 08 A M, 1 25, 5 03 6 48, 9 09 P M. Sundays—8, 10 03 A. M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 42, 8 56, 10 21 A. M., 1 39, 5 17, 7 01, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14, 10 16 A. M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 50, 9 16, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 21, 12 40, 1 58, 4 13, 5 35, 6 25, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 9 43 P, M. Sundays 8 35 10 35 A. M. 2 52, 5 30, 9 10 P. M.

Swampscott,—6 44, 8 50, 10 36, 11 26. 11 54 A. M., 12 36. 2 19, 3 28, 4 31, 6 20, 6 56, 8 32, 10. 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 12 A. M., 2 02, 5 52, 6 27. 7 09, 7 59 10 12 P. M.

Lynn—6 40. 8 02, 8 35, 8 46, 9 10, 9 25, 9 51, 10 32, 11 10, 11 23, 11 51, A. M., 12 33, 12 55. 1 52, 2 15, 3 25, 3 45, 3 55, 4 28, 5 03, 5 24, 5 45. 6 16, 6 25. 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 27, 9 57, 10 45, 11 45 P. M. Sundays 8 52, 11 07 A, M, 1 57, 5 48, 6 24, 7 05, 7 54 10 07, P. M.

Boston—6 10, 7 30, 8, 8 10, 8 45, 9, 9 30. 10. 10 45. 10 55, 11 35. A. M. 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 40, 2 15, 3, 3 20, 3 30. 4. 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40. 7 10. 7 50, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 30 A. M, 1 20, 5 10, 5 45, 6 25, 7. 7 15. 9 30 P.M.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 7 55, 8 40, 9 30 10 50 A M, 1 05, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 5 55, 7 20 10 on Saturdays P M. Sundays, 9 10, A. M. 2 15, 7 20, 9 15 P. M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15. 9 10, 10 15 A M, 12 45. 2 3 25, 4 55, 5 40, 6 20, 7 45 on Saturday, P M. Sundays, 8 30, A. M., 12 50, 5 25, 8 45 P. M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 35, 8 53, 10 15 A. M., 1 52, 4 48 P. M.

Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A M, 3 21, 4 15, 5 55 P. M

Wakefield for Salem—8 12 A M, 12 05, 3 55, 4 39, 6 09 P. M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 21 A M, 12 14, 4 05, 4 46, 6 18 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 28 A M, 12 22, 4 12, 4 53, 6 26 P. M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH

Salem for Lowell—7 A. M., 4 43, 6 P. M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 AM, 4 43, 6 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A M, 3 37, 4 43, 6 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 58, 11 35 A M 12 47, 3 37, 4 43, 5 20, 6, 6 42 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 35 A. M., 12 15, 5 10 P. M Sundays 8 A M

Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 10 12 A M, 1 02. 5 58 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M

Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A M, 1 30, 4 45, 6 22, P M. Sundays 9 02 A M

Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 8 2, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A. M. 1 46, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 38, P M. Sundays 9 18 A M

Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02. 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A M, 1 55, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 47 P M. Sundays 9 27 A M

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

Boston, Je. 28. 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8.30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9.00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3.30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS for Hartford, New Haven. Jersey City, Trenton Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York

* On week days.

† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St. or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON

A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE.

September 20, 1886.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, (Express) 4.30, (Express) 5 (Express), 5.30, 6, (Express) §6.30, 7.30, 8, 9.30, 10.20, 11.15 P. M

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7 (Express) 7.30 (Express), 8 (Express), 8.30 (Express) 9, 10, 11 A. M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.45, 7.15, 8.45, 9.15, 10.15 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A M.; 12 M.; 1. 2, 3, 4. 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P.M.

§ Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A.
C. A. HAMMOND Supt.

THE WASHINGTON LUNCH ROOM,

Post Office Building,

SALEM.

Sacks and Chops served in first-class style.

Oysters and Salads a specialty.

ALDEN THOMAS, - Prop.

je 9—3m

WEST PEABODY.

The fair of the Farmers' Club on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week was very successful, and largely attended. There were many visitors from out of town. About $70 was netted. Premiums were awarded as follows:

VEGETABLES—FIRST PREMIUMS.

Golden Waxed Beans, Horticultural Beans, Imported Horticultural Dwarf Beans, B. H. Taylor; Lima Beans, F. H. Appleton; Horticultural Polo Beans, D. H. Flint; Best Collection Beans, Eclipse Beets, T. C. Durkee; Dewing's Beets, J. E. Herrick; Fottler's Brunswick Cabbage, W. J. Freeman; Stone Mason Cabbage, American Savoy Cabbage, Red Dutch Cabbage, Collection Cabbages, Henderson's Early Cabbage, Snow Ball Cauliflower, Celery, T. C. Durkee; Early Crosby Sweet Corn, J. E. Herrick; Stowell's Evergreen Sweet Corn, B. H. Taylor; Mammoth Sweet Corn, Joel Southwick; Durkee's Sweet Corn, T. C. Durkee; Amber Cream Sweet Corn, T. O'Donnell; Potter's Excelsior Sweet Corn, F. H. Appleton; Field Corn, J. O. Goodale; Whitespine Cucumber, Joel Southwick; Nichols Medium Green Cucumber, J. H. Colcord; Cantelopes, G. H. Legro; Muskmelons, T. C. Durkee; Ice Cream, B. H. Taylor; Danvers Yellow Onions, J. O. Goodale; Red Onions, T. C. Durkee; Peppers, Red and Green, H. W. Skinner; Parsnips, Pumpkins, T. C. Durkee; Early Sunrise Potato, William E. Sheen; Beauty of Hebron Potato, John Horner; Early Rose Potato, Dakota Red Potato, William F. Sheen; Clark's No. One Potato, J. E. Herrick; Pearl of Savoy Potato, William P. Upham; White Star Potato, William E. Sheen; Early Maine Potato, G. H. Legro; Queen of the Valley Potato, Mayflower Potato, William E. Sheen; Bell Potato, B. H. Taylor; White Elephant Potato, Vicks' Potato, G. H. Legro; Pettigrow's Seedling Potato, D. H. Flint; Best Collection Potatoes, William E. Sheen; Boston Marrow Squash, Hubbard Squash, Turban Squash, Joel Southwick; Largest Squash, Livingston's Perfection Squash, T. C. Durkee; Tomato, D. H. Flint; Canada Visitor Tomato, T. C. Durkee; Acme Tomato, Best Collection, J. E. Herrick; Purple Top Turnip, T. C. Durkee; American Ruta Baga Turnip, J. O. Goodale; Globe Turnip, J. E. Herrick.

FRUITS—FIRST PREMIUMS.

Greening Apples, Porter Apples, William E. Sheen; Hubbardston Apples, Gravenstein Apples, Sweet Baldwin Apples, B. H. Taylor; Baldwin Apples, Joel Southwick; Danvers Sweet Apples, D. H. Flint; Best Collection, Joel Southwick; Bartlett Pears, Charles Flint; Late Pears, Joel Southwick; Best Collection of Pears, Quinces, Charles Flint; Best Collection of Grapes, B. H. Taylor; Crab Apples, William E. Sheen; Plums, H. N. Skinner.

POULTRY—FIRST PREMIUMS.

William E. Sheen, for Brown Leghorns; T. C. Durkee, Brahmas and Pekin Ducks; Frank Siner, Wyandottes.

PLOUGHING.

First premium, ploughing with Hussey plough, Edwin Durkee; second, Doe plough, J. O. Goodale.

A gratuity equal to second premium was awarded to J. E. Herrick for ploughing with National Plough.

First premium, ploughing with Yankee Swivel Plough, Albert G. Tedford; second, ploughing with Yankee Swivel Plough, B. H. Taylor.

LADIES' DEPARTMENT.

Dark Cake—first premium, Mrs. B. H. Taylor; second premium, Mrs. O. H. Whittier. Light Cake—first premium, Mrs J. O. Goodale; second premium, Mrs. O. H. Whittier. Washington Pie—first premium, Mrs. B. H. Taylor. Squash Pie—first premium, Mrs. J. O. Goodale. Mince Pie—first premium, Mrs. Bowman Viles; second premium, Mrs. B. H. Taylor. Apple Pie—first premium, Mrs. B. H. Taylor; second premium, Mrs. O. H. Whittier.

Quilts—first premium, Miss Hannah Marsh; second premium, Mrs. Fred Felt; third premium, Mrs. Fred Ingraham. Drawn-in Rugs—first premium, Mrs. Bowman Viles; second premium, Mrs. Fred Felt. Braided Rugs—first premium, Mrs. Phebe Cross; second premium, Mrs. Lucy Cross. Fancy Needle Work—first preminm, Mrs. Fred Felt; second premium, Miss H. O'Donnell; third premium, Mrs. B. H. Taylor. Crochet Work—first premium, Miss Annie Moulton; second premium, Mrs. Augusta Arvedson; third premium, Mrs. J. O. Goodale.

Bouquets—first premium, Miss Nellie Taylor; second premium, Mrs. B. H. Taylor; third premium, Mrs. Joel Southwick. Oil Paintings—first premium, Miss A. Wardwell; second premium, Mrs. Edward Plaisted. Scroll Work—first premium, Augustus Cross.

F. H. Appleton awarded a special premium of $3 to T. C. Durkee for the largest exhibit, and $2 to Wm. E. Sheen for the next largest exhibit.

* * *

Mrs. Frank Duffy died quite suddenly yesterday morning, after an illness extending only from Saturday. She was a widow and respected by those who knew her.

MUSICAL NOTES.

The Musical Festival which was held last week in Worcester, was another triumph for the Festival Association of that city. We have not space for an extended review of the exercises, which were full of interest, but can only refer to a few points which may interest those who were unable to attend.

The attendance and the audience demonstrated a success which could not be attained elsewhere. Mechanic Hall, where the Festival was held, will accommodate 2,400 people, and the tickets at $5 00 each for the four days work were all taken. For the Thursday and Friday evening concerts as high as $2.50 was offered for single seats, by people who were not fortunate enough to obtain them at the box office. We are informed that more season tickets could have been sold had there been room in the hall. Where, outside of Worcester, is there a city which could give such a series of performances? Boston could not, with all its suburban surroundings to draw from. The Handel and Haydn society of that city have tried it, and it has been a financial loss. Possibly in the latter case there may be other reasons for its failure, but certain it is that the Triennials, even, of this society, have been given up. It remains for Worcester to vigorously sustain such a Festival,—with its local enthusiasm and splendid audiences. The people of Worcester take pride in their Festival. The association committee work in harmony, and the Worcester audiences are appreciative, musical, and full of enthusiasm. The Bay State House is the headquarters of the artists, who receive their friends during the intervals of the sessions; musical people from Boston, New York and the We t are here, knowing that it is the key note to the musical season to follow. Artists who secure a success here are sure of a warm reception elsewhere. In fact an opportunity to be heard here is considered an honor by most artists who have not already a national reputation. Emma Juch made her first appearance here last year, and went from the Festival to newer and greater scenes of triumph. Jennie Sargent, a young pupil of Lyman W. Wheeler, reserved for Worcester her debut in this country after a success of five years in the operas of Europe.

The chorus of five hundred voices is a magnificent one. Here again is manifested the local interest which sustains and helps onward the Association. The Festival is the grand culmination of all their efforts and all their practice for the year. No sooner is the Festival over, than the work for the succeeding year is begun. The chorus show the effect of careful training, and in the chorals of the "Redemption" and the martial music of Handel's Maccabœus, they surpassed any chorus we have heard. The Handel and Haydn chorus must surely be given a second place beside the Worcester chorus. The voices are fresh and they sing with precision of attack and firmness of tone, to which it is a positive pleasure to listen.

The soloists were not equal in all respects to last year. Fursch-Madi and Emma Juch are two soloists whose places were not filled this year. Mlle. Louise Pyk, the Swedish singer, we presume was expected to maintain the position assigned to Fursch Madi last year. This she did not do, and we say this without in the least detracting from the merits of that singer. Mlle. Pyk did not score the success it was expected. Her voice is high and pure, but was not always equal to all demands made upon it. Jennie Sargent did not make good Emma Juch's place. Miss Sargent was a success at the Festival but she did not create the enthusiasm which Miss Juch did. Perhaps the audience expected too much. We heard disappointment manifested several times at the light quality of her voice. Yet it was all that had been claimed for it. We think the finest singing done by any male artist was the work of William Courtney, of New York, the closing night. Mr. Courtney's reputation as a teacher and singer of Oratorio music has been long known. His correct style and breadth of phrasing, with an enunciation which could be heard clearly and plainly all over the hall, was fully demonstrated and clearly appreciated. Miss Gertrude Edmands, of Boston, sang finely and was well mentioned by the local press, as was also Miss Elene Buffington Kehew. Frederick Archer, of New York, the well known organist, created much enthusiasm by a Fantasia on the Russian National Hymn, and Prof. Carl Baerman as pianist, gave a masterly rendition. No such piano music had been heard in Worcester for a long time.

Of so much interest is the Worcester Festival to the musical world, and so much do the readers of the journals all over the country demand a recognition of its merits, that musical critics from all the leading daily journals as well as the society and musical papers, were present. The New York Tribune, World, Springfield Republican, Providence Star, as well as all the Boston dailies had full accounts of the festival. The local press, of course, made much of it, some of the papers engaging special musical critics from Boston and New York to write up the concerts. The Worcester Gazette had the fullest, fairest and most critical reports,—of value to musical people, written by a critic well known in Boston circles as a gentleman of culture and ability.

The Taunton Musical Festival is to begin in that city, Oct. 20th. L. Soule, Esq., the secretary, and several of the Executive Committee, were at Worcester completing their arrangements. William Courtney and his quartette of soloists, are to do the solo work for Rossini's Stabat Mater, which is one of the works to be performed. They are to have for bass soloist Max Heinrich of New York, and their talent bids fair to eclipse anything they have had in former years. It is a growing society.

William J. Winch returned from Liverpool last week, on the steamer Parvonia. Mrs. Edna A. Hall, the vocal teacher, came also on the same steamer.

Charles A. Clark assisted at an organ concert in the Catholic Church in Beverly, last Sunday evening,—a new organ having been put in there.

Mrs. George C. Farrington resumed her place as organist of the Universalist Church, last Sunday, having returned the evening previous from her trip to New York.

Charles A. Clark, the well known organist of St. John's Church, is to give an organ recital at the Unitarian Church, next Monday evening, Oct. 4th. The program will consist of a varied selection of short organ pieces, and the public are cordially and freely invited to attend. He will be assisted by Grace F. Dalton, who is down for two numbers on the program. We hope the lovers of music will at least encourage Mr. Clark by their attendance. He is one of our best organists, and his friends, Miss Dalton's friends and the friends of the church and society where the recital is to be given, ought surely to come out in goodly numbers. The church ought to be filled. Why shouldn't it be? The following is the program to be performed:—

Minuet and Trio,		Culkin
Aria,		Bach
Postlude,		Rink
Cavatina,		Raff
Largo,		Handel
Song,	Miss Grace F. Dalton.
Communion,	A Minor A flat Major E Minor G Major	Batiste
Theme and variations,		Dr. Spark
Song,	Miss Grace F. Dalton
Vorspiel, (Lohengrin)		Wagner
Vesper Hymn,		Whitney
Marche Religieuse,		Guilmant.

* * *

A CLEAN RECORD—The circulation of the Record Saturday was over 50,000 copies. Fifty thousand is a circulation that comparatively few newspapers reach in a lifetime, and has, we believe, never been attained by any New England newspaper that has not been published longer than the Record. We are proud of this achievement, for it has been accomplished by hard work and an honest endeavor to make a newspaper that should meet the public demand. In these busy, bustling times, the public demand is for the nwes in a nutshell, in that condensed form that has always been a popular feature of the Record. We take this occasion to thank the many friends of the Record, and especially these in the hard-working field of journalism, who have always been ready with kind words and helpful encouragement. Proud and pleased to have sold 50,000 Records in a day, we hope and aim for still better things. Within the next two years we mean to have a hundred thousand circulation, and we sincerely hope that every newspaper in Boston will grow in proportion. There is nothing mean about us.

Mrs. Hattie, wife of George McCausland, a former resident of this town, died last Sunday at her home at Mount Pleasant, Boston Highlands. Mrs. McCausland had many friends in town who will be grieved to hear of her decease. She had been ill for many months with a trouble of cancerous nature, but only her intimate friends knew how serious was her sickness. She was a native of Augusta, Maine, a daughter of J. P. Wyman, Esq., of that city, whither her remains were taken Tuesday for burial. Her husband and two children survive her.

News has reached this town of the death of Edgar M., the eldest son of William H. and Elizabeth P. Wetherill of Philadelphia. Mrs. Wetherill is a daughter of the late Abel Proctor, and after her marriage to Mr. Wetherill resided for many years in the house now occupied by Rev. J. W. Hudson. Mr. and Mrs. Wetherill have the sympathy of their many friends in this hour of their affliction.

* * *

The credit of the United States has lately passed that of England, as it long since passed that of every other civilized country, and now stands at the head of the list. United States 4 per cents now command 1.375 1-2 in London, the highest point ever reached, putting them far above any bond in the world, as at this figure they only pay 2 1-2 per cent if held until maturity.

The New Discovery.

A FEW RECENT CURES BY BATTIS' EXTRACT of DENICOTIZED TOBACCO.

Richard Cloutman of Wenham, Mass., had a bad cough for the past six years, and had been a confirmed invalid. He was completely restored to health by two applications of the extract to the throat and breast.

John R. Mansfield, No. 11 Nursery St., Salem; hand poisoned by a fish bone wound, hand and arm badly swollen, and pain in breast; bathed wound and arm with the extract twenty minutes; dressed same with cotton batting, wet with extract, and entirely cured with one application.

Daughter of William B. Farrington, No. 45 Charter Street Salem, age 7 yrs.; had diseased eyes, and loss of sight; was confined to a dark room for two months; was relieved with one application of the extract, and entirely cured in one week.

Ellis H. Porter, Kimball court, Salem, was cured of a bad attack of cholera morbus, by one application of the extract to the bowels.

John S. Davis, No. 5 Becket street, Salem; rheumatism in knees and feet; was unable to touch his feet to the floor for months; after using the extract one day was able to walk up stairs and entirely cured in one week.

John B. Clifford, No. 11 Becket street, Salem; had a severe attack of Diphtheria; was completely cured by using the extract for a gargle and binding a flannel wet with the same around the throat. He reports his wife as being cured of kidney complaint by bathing across the back with extract.

Wm. B. Farrington, Salem, Mass.; eczema on the head, finds the extract the only medicine that ever relieved him.

We would state to show the great confidence the public have in the curative power of Battis' Modified Extract of Denicotized Tobacco, that we have sold at retail the past year, over 3000 bottles at our store No. 30 Front street, Salem, Mass.

J. H. BATTIS,

Sole Proprietor and Manufacturer.

For sale by all druggists.

CENTRAL FISH MARKET,

Is the place to buy your

OYSTERS

opened fresh every day at 30 and 40 cents per quart, also a nice line of Fancy Oysters at 75 cents per quart.

Ocean, Lake and River Fresh Fish,

LOBSTERS and CLAMS

IN THEIR SEASONS.

No. 6 Peabody Square.

R. F. DODGE, - Proprietor.

Fall Room Papers.

We offer many special bargains in Room Papers this fall, which parties in need will do well to examine, as they will not last long.

We offer an assortment of 10 and 12 ct. papers for 6 cts a roll.

15 ct. papers for 10 cts. a roll.
25 ct. papers for 15 cts. a roll.

GILT PAPERS 25 & 35 CTS. AND UPWARDS.

Merrill & Mackintire,

216 & 220 Essex St.,

SALEM.

NOTICE TO VOTERS.

NOTICE is hereby given that meetings of the Board of Registrars, for the purpose of receiving evidence of the qualifications of persons claiming a right to vote at the State election, to be held on TUESDAY, the second day of November, 1886, and for correcting and revising the Lists of Voters, will be held in the Selectmen's Rooms, Town House, as follows:—

On TUESDAYS, SEPT. 21st and 28th, and OCT. 26th, from 7 to 9 P. M.

On THURSDAYS, OCT. 7th, 14th and 21st, from 1 to 5 P. M.

On SATURDAYS, OCt. 9th, 16th and 23d, from 7 to 9 P. M.

On WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27, from 1 to 5 and from 7 to 10 P. M.

Registration will cease on WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27th, 1886, at 10 o'clock P. M.

The Lists of Voters will be posted Oct. 1st, after which time no name can be added thereto, unless the applicant for registration appears in person before the Registrars, and prove his claim to be registered.

All persons whose names were on the Lists of Voters of last year, and who fail to pay a tax of 1885 or 1886 prior to OCT. 1st, will thus be required to register in person.

All persons appearing for registration must exhibit a paid tax bill for 1885 or 1886, and if of foreign birth a certificate of naturalization.

AARON F. CLARK,
CHARLES H. GOULDING,
RICHARD LYONS,
NATHAN H. POOR,
Board of Registrars.
Peabody, Sept. 22, 1886.
sept 22—6t

M. N. BLACK

Combings made into Switches and Montagues. All work warranted.

80 MARKET ST. LYNN.

je 30—3m

DON'T MISS THIS!

Send for Reduced Price List of ARTIST'S MATERIALS. Please mention this paper and address

EDMANDS' Artist Supply Store,
12 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

sept 25—15t

A CHICKERING, WOODWARD & BROWN.

— OR —

EMERSON PIANO

Will suit you. Call at

245 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

Before purchasing.

I sell for cash or on Instalments.

Everything in the music line.

E. V. EMILIO,

245 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

EVERY YOUNG MAN

Should have such a knowledge of the requirements of business as may be obtained at the

BURDETT Business COLLEGE

Removed to

592 WASHINGTON STREET,

Cor. Hayward Place,

BOSTON.

Owing to the unprecedented increase of the College patronage, central, commodious, light and elegant apartments have been secured at FIVE NINE-TWO WASHINGTON ST., cor. Hayward Place, a few doors above R. H. White & Co.'s, on same side of street.

Students can commence and after Monday, Sept. 6. Prospectus mailed free. Principals may be seen at the College daily, between 9 and 4. Unequalled facilities for procuring situations for Students.

C. A. & F. H. BURDETT, Principals.

aug 11—8t

"CANDEE" ARCTICS

—WITH—

DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Two Years TEST.

"CANDEE" Double Wear on the Sole. Double Thick Ball.

The "CANDEE" RUBBER Co. give a better Rubber than can be obtained elsewhere for the same money, with their great improvement of the DOUBLE THICK BALL. The extra thickness of rubber right under the tread, gives DOUBLE WEAR.

Ask to see the "CANDEE" Double Thick Ball Rubbers in Boots, Arctics, Overshoes, Alaskas, &c.

A Common Sense Idea.

"CANDEE" Double Thick Ball.

FOR SALE BY

NUGENT BROS.,

PEABODY, MASS.

MASON'S

FRUIT JARS,

600 dozen,

— AT —

W. F. PERRY'S,

87 WASHINGTON STREET,

SALEM.

e 9—3m

PEABODY LAUNDRY

Goods called for and delivered free of charge.

C. A. SANGER

7 LOWELL STREET,

UP STAIRS.

KILN DRIED WHITE MEAL.—Received to-day from mill, another car of kiln dried white meal, which is giving great satisfaction to all who use it, bringing us renewed orders. We can make a low price for ton lots from car much lower than on yellow meal.

CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St.

aug 18

OLD OATS.—We have a full assortment of all grades of last years' crop of Oats, which being thoroughly seasoned, are for safer feed for horses than the crop just harvested. We invite your examination and early orders.

CHARLES A. ROPES & SON

CHAPTER 317, ACTS OF 1886.

An Act in Relation to the Inspection and Sale of Imitation Butter,

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:—

SECTION 1. Section seventeen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is hereby amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oil or grease not produced from milk or cream, shall have the words,—imitation butter,—or if such substitute is the compound known as—oleomargarine,—then the word—oleomargarine,—or if it is known as—butterine,—then the word—butterine,—stamped, labelled or marked in a straight line in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length, so that said words cannot be easily defaced, upon the top, side and bottom of every tub, firkin, box or package containing any of said article, substance or compound. The said stamp, label or mark shall contain no other words. And whoever, by himself or his agents, exposes or offers for sale any of the said article, substance or compound, not in the original package, shall attach to the said article, substance or compound, in a conspicuous place, a label bearing the words,—imitation butter—oleomargarine,—or—butterine, as the article may be, in printed letters of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length. And in case of retail sales of any of said article, substance or compound not in the original packages, the seller shall, by himself or his agents, attach to each package so sold, and shall deliver therewith to the purchaser, a label or wrapper bearing in a conspicuous place upon the outside of the package the words,—imitation butter,—oleomargarine,—or butterine,—and no other words, in printed letters in a straight line of plain, uncondensed Gothic type, not less than one-half inch in length.

SECT. 2. Section nineteen of chapter fifty-six of the Public Statutes is amended so as to read as follows:—Whoever sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound made in imitation or semblance or butter or cheese, or a substitute for butter or cheese, except as provided in the two preceding sections, and whoever, with intent to deceive, defaces, or erases, cancels or removes any mark, stamp, brand, label or wrapper provided for in said sections, or in any manner shall falsely label, stamp or mark any box, tub, article or package marked, stamped or labelled as aforesaid, shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 3. Whoever, by himself or his agents, sells, exposes for sale, or has in his possession with intent to sell, any article, substance or compound, made in imitation or semblance of butter, or as a substitute for butter, and not made exclusively and wholly of milk or cream, or containing any fats, oils or grease not produced from milk or cream, contained in any box, tub, article or package, marked or labelled with the word—dairy,—or the word—creamery,—shall for every such offence forfeit to the city or town where the offence was committed one hundred dollars, and for a second and each subsequent offence two hundred dollars.

SECT. 4. Every person who conveys any imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine in carriages or otherwise, for the purpose of selling the same in any city or town, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, be licensed by the inspector or inspectors of milk of such city or town to sell the same within the limits thereof, and shall pay to such inspector or inspectors fifty cents to the use of the city or town. The inspector or inspectors shall pay over monthly to the treasurer of such city or town all sums collected by him or them. In towns in which there is no inspector of milk, licenses shall be issued by the town clerk. Licenses shall be issued only in the names of the owners of the carriages or other vehicles, and shall, for the purposes of this chapter, be conclusive evidence of ownership. No license shall be sold, assigned or transferred. Each license shall record the name, residence, place of business, number of carriages or other vehicles used, the name and residence of every driver or other person engaged in carrying or selling imitation butter, oleomargarine or butterine, and the number of the license. Each licensee shall, before engaging in the sale of any of the articles as aforesaid, cause his name, the number of his license and his place of business to be legibly placed on each outer side of all carriages or vehicles used by him in the conveyance of the articles aforesaid, in Gothic letters not less than one inch in length, and he shall report to the inspector or inspectors any change of driver or other person employed by him which may occur during the term of his license. Whoever, without being first licensed under the provisions of this section, sells any of the articles as aforesaid, or exposes or offers them for sale from carriages or other vehicles, or has them in his custody or possession with intent to sell, and whoever violates any of the provisions of this section shall, for a first offence, be punished by a fine of not less than thirty nor more than one hundred dollars; for a second offence, by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars.

SECT. 5. Every person before selling or offering for sale any of the said articles in a store, booth, stand or market-place in a city or in a town in which an inspector or inspectors of milk are appointed, shall within thirty days of the passage of this act, and annually, on the first day of May, or within thirty days thereafter, register in the books of such inspector or inspectors, or, if there be no inspector, then in the books of the town clerk, and shall pay to him or them fifty cents to the use of such city or town; and whoever neglects to so register shall be so punished for each offence by a fine not exceeding twenty dollars.

SECT. 9. This act shall take effect upon its passage. [APPROVED JUNE 23, 1886.]

THOMAS W. PEASLEY,
Inspector of Milk.
Peabody, August 6, 1886.

COLLINS BROS.,

DEALERS IN

COAL, WOOD & BARK.

OFFICES:

248 Bridge Street,

— AND —

72 Noth Street.

SALEM.

Stove, Chestnut, Egg and Broken Coals at the Lowest Market Prices.

☞ All orders promptly attended to.

je 30—3m

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to St. Peter street, Salem

Business Chance!

DANE BROTHERS,

(Successors to J. H. Trofatter.)

Horse & Carriage Exchange

101 Boston St., Salem.

Large stock of new and second-hand carriages for sale or exchange. Also horses, for sale or exchange.

je 8—6m

EDWARD P. MOULTON,

PLUMBING,

Water & Gas Fitting

Of every description. Ventilation of Closets, and Drainage a specialty.

All orders promptly attended to. First-class work and satisfaction guaranteed.

28 Norman Street,

SALEM.

je 8—4m

HOLLY TREE INN.

The Best Materials only are used in the preparation of

Appetising Food,

AT THE

POPULAR HOLLY TREE DINING ROOMS,

9 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.

may 19—4m

M. MORIARTY,

MANUFACTURER OF

Soda, Ginger Ale and Tonic Beers.

Bottler of Cider, Lager Beer, Philadelphia Stock Ale and Porter.

Corner Market Sq. and Front St.

SALEM, MASS.

HORSES!

Arrived Friday, April 30th.

42 HORSES! 42

TWO CAR LOADS OF

HORSES

Purchased by Mr. Abbott for our trade,

NOW READY FOR SALE AT OUR

Sale Stable 52 Charter Street,

Abbott & Reynolds.

EXCURSION TICKETS

For the whole system of Railways in the

White and Green Mountains

— SOLD BY —

D. P. GROSVENOR,

35 Main Street.

Authorized Agent for Peabody, Mass

july 28—5w

D. P. GROSVENOR.

PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.

Compounder of

Physicians Prescriptions

and dealer in

RELIABLE DRUGS

35 MAIN STREET

PEABODY, MASS.

Sagamore House

133 UNION ST., LYN

(NEAR CENTRAL DEPOT.)

Special Rates to Commercial and Professio Travelers.

Renovated and Refurnished.

J. M. Batchelder & co., Pro

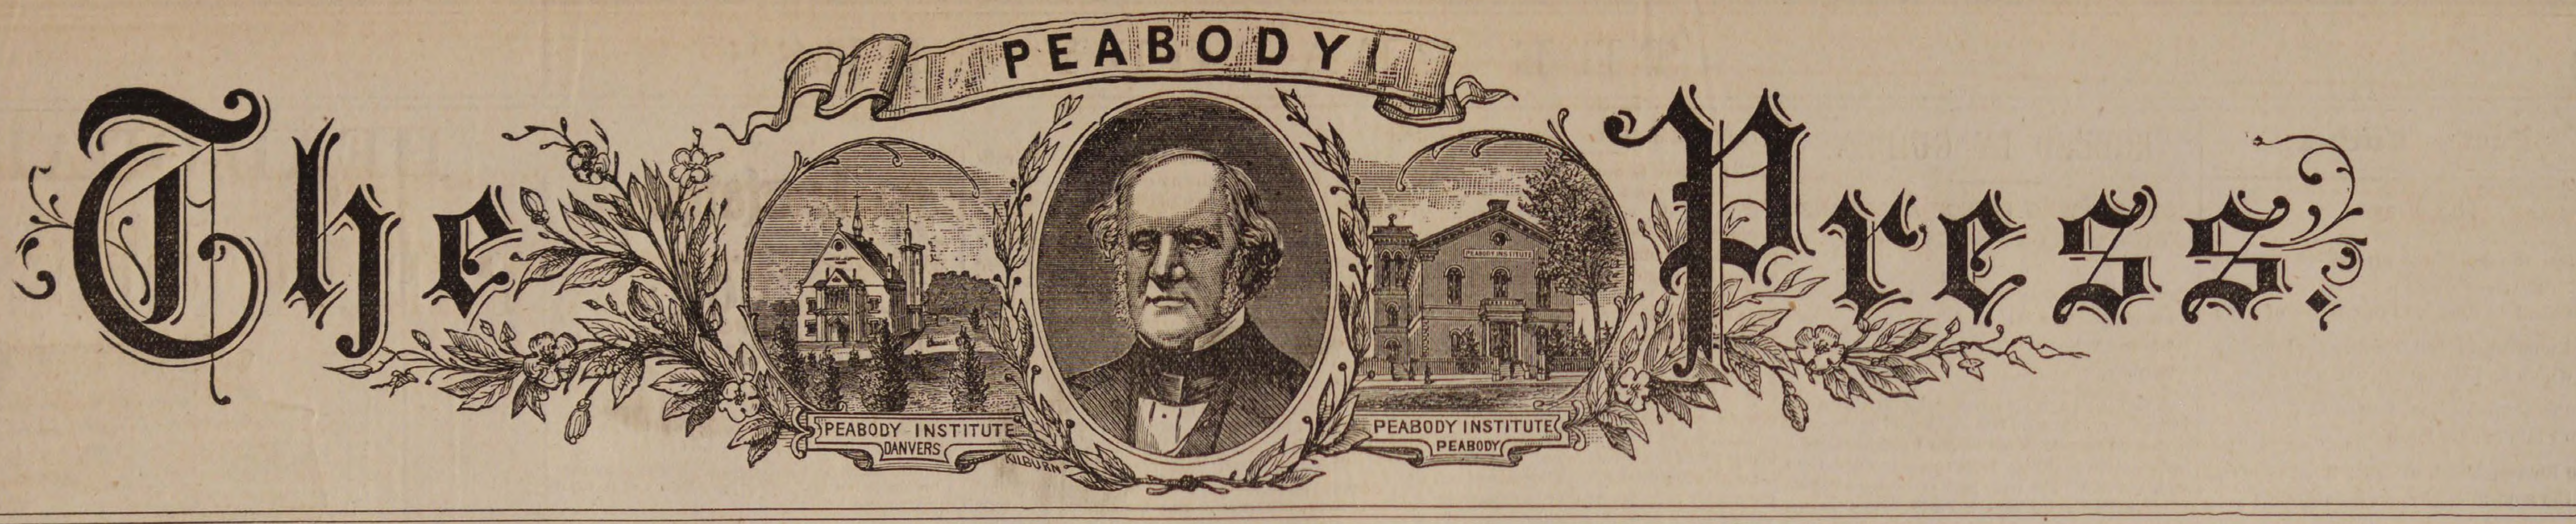
je 9—1y

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISH

Home, 96 Central St., Peabody.

Second Door west of Hay Scales.



PEABODY The Press.

VOL. 27 PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 6, 1886. NO. 340

KENT & BOYNTON,

Great Clothing Retailers

OF ESSEX COUNTY.

Fall and Winter Opening,

1886---1887.

Largest Stock!
Latest Styles!
Lowest Prices!

ALL NEW GOODS.

NO OLD STOCK AT ANY PRICE.

Every garment in our entire stock new, and manufactured expressly for this Fall and Winter Trade. At this our opening we display without exception, the largest and most desirable line of Men's, Boys' and Children's Overcoats.

SUITS and PANTALOONS,

For Fall and Winter Wear ever found in Essex County. In selecting our stock we have used the utmost care not only to get garments that would be the most desirable and stylish, but also garments that would be perfect in fit and workmanship.

☞REMEMBER.—We sell only honest and reliable clothing at lowest prices. Strictly One Price. Money refunded on all goods returned within a reasonable time.

KENT & BOYNTON'S,

250 & 254 Essex St., Salem.

ALL ARTISTS CAN MAKE MONEY

By sending for our Reduced Price List before purchasing Art Materials of any description. Address, and mention this paper,

EDMANDS' ART SUPPLY STORE,
12 Bromfield Street, - Boston.
sept 22—15t

PIANOS

Behning Pianos,
Harrington Pianos,
—AT—
A. M. CRAIN'S
PIANO PARLORS,
52 Market St.,
LYNN.

ORGANS

Any make of Piano or Organ furnished to order.

je30—1y

SALESMEN
WANTED

to canvas for the sale of Nursery Stock! Steady employment guaranteed. SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. Apply at once, stating age. (Refer to this paper.)

CHASE BROTHERS,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.
sep 29—2mo

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN

Ladies' Tailoring Department.

Our Rooms will be open for orders, MONDAY, Sept. 13th. The Department will still be under the supervision of MISS S. M. ALDEN, whose superior talent is well known to all our patrons and friends.

A. B. & W.

sept 8

NOTICE TO VOTERS.

NOTICE is hereby given that meetings of the Board of Registrars, for the purpose of receiving evidence of the qualifications of persons claiming a right to vote at the State election, to be held on TUESDAY, the second day of November, 1886, and for correcting and revising the Lists of Voters, will be held in the Selectmen's Rooms, Town House, as follows:—

On TUESDAYS, SEPT. 21st and 28th, and OCT. 26th, from 7 to 9 P. M.

On THURSDAYS, OCT. 7th, 14th and 21st, from 1 to 5 P. M.

On SATURDAYS, OCt. 9th, 16th and 23d, from 7 to 9 P. M.

On WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27, from 1 to 5 and from 7 to 10 P. M.

Registration will cease on WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27th, 1886, at 10 o'clock P. M.

The Lists of Voters will be posted Oct. 1st, after which time no name can be added thereto, unless the applicant for registration appears in person before the Registrars, and prove his claim to be registered.

All persons whose names were on the Lists of Voters of last year, and who fail to pay a tax of 1885 or 1886 prior to OCT. 1st, will thus be required to register in person.

All persons appearing for registration must exhibit a paid tax bill for 1885 or 1886, and if of foreign birth a certificate of naturalization.

AARON F. CLARK,
CHARLES H. GOULDING,
RICHARD LYONS,
NATHAN H. POOR,
} Board of Registrars.

Peabody, Sept. 22, 1886. sept 22—6t

CENTRAL FISH MARKET,

Is the place to buy your

OYSTERS

opened fresh every day at 30 and 40 cents per quart, also a nice line of Fancy Oysters at 75 cents per quart.

Ocean, Lake and River Fresh Fish,

LOBSTERS and CLAMS

IN THEIR SEASONS.

No. 6 Peabody Square.

R. F. DODGE, - Proprietor.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

Fall clothing is in demand!

The store dealers are busy!

The recent rain has helped the fall feed.

Miss Hattie C. Basford has gone on a western trip.

Amusements are not liberally patronized this year.

Even the late grapes are ripening well this year.

Loads of apples pass this office for the cider mills.

A lot of new books have been bought for the library.

Don't forget the Peabody Cycle Club this evening, at the rink.

Mr. John Gibson, assistant baggage master, is on the sick list.

Mr. John Perkins shot another coon at Andover, last Saturday.

Bank up your cellar walls and get ready for the sterner season.

Men's cloth over-gaiters only 75 cts. a pair at Nugent's Shoe Store. *

Mr. Warren Trask has had his provision store connected by telephone.

Great bargains in all kinds of ladies' slippers at Nugent's Shoe Store, this week. *

The South Danvers National Bank has declared a dividend of three per cent.

The Essex North Congregational Conference is being held at Newbury to-day.

Mr. Patrick Mahoney has purchased the Shinnick estate on Harris street for $1475.

Mrs. Eliza Sutton and Mrs. Annie Clement have returned from Centre Harbor.

A number of splitters have hired a cottage at Naugus Head and are camping out.

Large cathedral windows are to be put in the newly remodelled Methodist Church.

Twelve non-union men and three (non-union) women arrived in town yesterday.

Miss Luella Goodwin, daughter of Thomas Goodwin in Washington Place, is very low.

Rev. Geo. M. Harmon, formerly of the Universalist church, was in town last Friday.

Mr. N. M. Quint has been drawn as juror for the October term of the Superior Court.

The railroad commissioners are making their annual inspection of the B. & M. railroad.

Mr. James P. King has been re-elected a member of the Republican district committee.

Mr. Chas. B. Farley and family have returned from their summer house, at Clifton.

Rev. Mr. Bailey, of London, England, has been the guest of Mr. James Howley this week.

The Peabody day police are before the Grand Jury to-day and the night police are on duty.

Morrison & Trask are selling lamps and lanterns at a very low figure. Call and get their prices.

Mr. J. R. Reorden and Chas. Mitchel, barbers of this town, are going to Florida in a few weeks.

The Baptist Sunday School is preparing for a harvest concert on the last Sunday of the month.

The Baptist society will not change their hour of service from morning to afternoon till next month.

Mr. George Brimmer has returned to town and will accept a position as foreman for Winchester & Son.

Rev. F. W. Sprague exchanged with Rev. C. S. Nickerson of the Universalist Church, Beverly, last Sunday.

Squirrel hunting seems to be very popular. It is enjoyed more by the hunters than it is by the squirrels.

Mr. Rufus H. Brown was one of the vice presidents of the democratic convention at Worcester last Thursday.

Take care of your chrysanthemums and exhibit them at Plummer Hall Nov. 2d, 3d and 4th, and get a prize.

Mr. S. Edson Casino has been elected chairman of the lecture committee of the Peabody Institute free course.

Men's boots tapped and heeled, 75 cents; ladies' boots tapped and heeled, only 55 cents at Nugent's Shoe Store.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

Mr. Thomas W. Dudley, who has been on the road as "der drummer," is now resting on his laurels at Danvers.

The next meeting of the Essex County Universalist Sunday School Association will occur in Lynn next Wednesday.

Diptheria has appeared in several places and some of our physicians fear a general prevalence of the disease this winter.

Seven converts, who had been on probation at the Methodist church, were taken into full membership last Sunday.

The veteral stone cutter of South Peabody, Mr. Samuel Brown, cut the new stone steps for the old hotel building.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town —Nothing like it, Principee. Clarks Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo Stevens' *

The Republican County and Councillor Convention will be held in Lyceum Hall, Salem, on Wednesday, Oct. 13, at 10 A. M.

Geo. Plummer & Co., owing to increasing business, have been obliged to put in a new engine at their Danversport factory.

March of next year will surely come in like a lion, and some officers will go out like a lamb. The handwriting on the wall says so.

The Working Band, an association of young people connected with the Baptist church, had an oyster supper last Thursday night.

It is reported that Geo. M. Plaisted & Son will shortly start up the old Shea tannery, and that John O'Shea will conduct the business.

Mr. J. Arthur Trask is building a face wall underpining under the L of Mr. C. H. Simonds' residence on Washington street.

We are in receipt of Nos. 7-9, 10-12 of the Essex Institute. "Arrow Release" and "Indian Games" are treated at considerable length.

Do not be discouraged because you discover that you are a man of genius. An eminent scientist says that genius is a form of epilepsy.

Slight frosts were reported Saturday and Sunday nights. The recent change in the atmosphere gives promise of a severe "nip" ere long.

Mr. Irvin Besse, representing the Victor Hanger Company of Newburyport, has a fine exhibit at the Bay State fair in Boston this week.

Dole & Osgood, carriage manufacturers, have recently built a handsome new delivery wagon for the Pearson Baking Co., of New York.

Mr. Samuel L. Gibson, a former resident of this town, is putting a two story building 22 x 23 in Gloucester to be used for business purposes.

The extension of the special delivery system to parcels, which is now in operation, will enable people to send small packages at small cost.

Mr. J. K. Cole of the Center school has a handsome orange wood cane made by himself from material obtained while a resident of the South.

W. M. Ward and Geo. A. Lawrence attended the militia rifle shoot at Framingham, last Thursday, and the former scored 20 and the latter 28.

Mr. Charles Verner in Shamus O'Brien delighted a small audience at town hall Wednesday evening. He was supported by an excellent company.

Col. John P. Sweeney has been engaged as counsel for Walch the rioter, and Eugene T. McCarthy, Esq., for Patrick Crowley the wife murderer.

Instead of "Much obliged" "Thanks" etc., you should now say "Beholden" or "very much beholden to you." It's the latest and quite catching.

There is said to be quite a flutter among the Republicans over election expenses. Some who usually contributed liberally are refusing to be assessed.

The several horse railroads are shortly to try what is called the "spotter car." It is provided with a tank of colored fluid and when the wheels roll over a rough place in the track the fluid spills on the spot and an examination follows. The track can also be viewed while sitting inside.

--- A GIGANTIC ---

CLOTHING, HAT, CAP

—— AND ——

GENT'S FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT

—— FOR ——

SALEM.

David Conrad's entire block to be connected with the Naumkeag Clothing Store which will be when completed the largest retail Clothing, Hat, Cap and Gent's Furnishing Goods Establishment in New England, except the "Marlboro" in Boston, one of our own stores, and the largest in the U. S.

We desire to inform the citizens of Essex County that we have leased the Conrad estate, formerly occupied by him as a Dry Goods Store, and shall commence at once to connect it with the Naumkeag Clothing Store, making one enormous establishment.

BUYERS OF CLOTHING, HATS, CAPS AND FURNISHING GOODS REMEMBER! -

Our entire stock of Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing, Hats, Caps and Furnishing Goods, amounting to over ($65,000), sixty-five thousand dollars worth must be closed out at once. This will be the grandest opportunity for the citizens of Essex County to secure reliable clothing at figures lower than ever before heard of in New England.

This sale will include all our heavy Winter Overcoats, carried over from last season, numbering over (600) six hundred Men's, Boys' and Children's all warranted to be clean perfect goods, just as stylish as any made this year, and a saving of 30 to 40 per cent. to the buyer. Our object in offering this gigantic sale so early in the season, is on account of enlarging our store.

School commences now in a few days. Parents should not fail to call and examine our enormous stock of Boys' and Children's School Suits, in heavy and medium weight. We shall offer at this sale over (2000) two thousand Boys' and Children's School and Dress Suits, over 50 different patterns to make your selections from. In fact you will have a wholesale stock to select from, at prices that cannot fail to meet with the approval of every buyer. The goods must be closed out before the 20th of September.

We must unload a very large proportion of this stock before our alterations are completed.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

177 & 179 Essex St., Salem.

Z. A. GALLUP, - - - - - MANAGER

Miss Clara A. Merrill, the well known cashier at John P. Peabody's, will in company with her sister, Mrs. Dennett, spend her vacation in Philadelphia.

One of our gunners returned from Ipswich the other day and brought home a red sea bird known as "Mother Carey's Chicken." They are seldom seen inshore,

The Sunday Record sold well in town Sunday. Like the daily it was full of good things. It will make a record yet that will astonish some of its competitors.

Mr. Henry Newhall has the contract to build a substantial fence around the Rebecca Nourse monument at Danvers. It is to be made of granite from Mr. Newhall's quarry.

The Boston and Maine will change its time table the 25th inst., the Old Colony the 18th. The Boston and Lowell winter time table will take effect the 11th inst.

Legitimate and honorable competition in all lines of business is courted by business men generally, but when a scalper opens up for business he is despised by all men.

It is surprising how copious in advice our newspapers have become. Little sheets which are sold for a penny contain pounds' worth of advice upon all subjects.—Salem Observer.

Jordan Lodge F. & A. M. entertained R. W. C. H. Norris and suite last Wednesday evening. Supper was served at town hall. The catering was done by Killum of Beverly.

The Prohibition Congressional, County and Councillor Conventions will be held at 196 Essex street, Salem, to-morrow. It is said they will indorse Spaulding for Congress.

Mr. George R. Norton has been fitting out the non-union barracks on Mason street with cooking utensils. Judging by the size of the pans they require three square meals a day.

A delicate glue for mounting ferns and sea-weeds, is made of five parts of gum arabic, three parts white sugar, two parts starch, and a very little water. Boil until thick and white.

There is talk in state military circles of a regulation looking to an examination of militia officers regularly, with a view to weeding out inefficients. That would be a move in the right direction.

A market gardener from the suburbs had on his team Saturday morning a head of summer cabbage that measured twenty-two inches in diameter and weighed 23 pounds. It was a "buster."

At the Universalist Conference held at Gloucester last week, Rev. F. W. Sprague of the Universalist church in this town, very ably discussed the subject: "The Relation of Universalism to the Unchurched."

Major Lewis Allen is growing gradually weaker at his home, but his head is clear and his brain as active as ten years ago. He takes a deep interest in local affairs and has the PRESS read to him every week.

A few thoughtless marketmen and grocers have again fallen into the disagreeable habit of throwing overripe tomatoes and other half decayed fruit and vegetables into the street. Don't do it, gentlemen.

Capt. Fitz J. Babson of Gloucester, ex-commander of Company A., was recently presented with a handsome black-ebony gold handled cane by a number of his old comrades including Mr. Leverett Poor.

The work completed by the assessors gives the following statistics:—Total number of dwelling houses, 1452; horses, 757; cows, 568; sheep, 32; taxpayers, 3249; number of taxpayers on property, 1350; poll tax payers, 1899.

A more delicately expressed thought can hardly be conceived than that of a young girl who said to one who was sad over the falling leaves: "Just think how much more room it gives you to see the beautiful blue sky beyond."

To-morrow evening, Mrs. Gracie of Salem, wife of the pastor of the Methodist church, will address the ladies' missionary society of the Methodist church in this town. Mrs. Gracie is an interesting speaker. The public are invited.

A number of conductors and drivers on the Danvers road have been discharged owing to the taking off of extra trips.

The Exchange News Room Association has re-organized with a membership of 30. Stephen Blaney is president, C. H. Goulding vice president and A. M. Wilkinson secretary pro tem. They will remain in their present quarters.

We asked a horse can conductor why he didn't run closed horse cars the other day. He said the people preferred open ones and illustrated it by the fact that two cars were following each other on that day one an open and another a closed car. Most of the passengers preferred the open car including a woman with a baby in her arms.

The selectmen are having placed several lamp posts in the southern part of our town. A dozen or more have been located on Lynn street to the Lynn line. On Lynnfield street there are five or six between Samuel Browns and Davis the ice man's. Six have been placed on County street and on each on Brown and Lowe streets.

The posting of the check lists elsewhere than in the Post Office has caused some comment from people who have been accustomed to see them there. Postmaster Ward has notices put up in the office "Post no Bills," but we didn't for a moment suppose that would refer to a matter of so much interest to all the citizens of the town. Then the Postmaster is having a desk put in with illuminated cards, which is nothing but an advertising scheme. On enquiry we found that the Selectmen had been requested by Postmaster Ward not to put up the lists or bills of any kind. We suppose the postmaster has a right to refuse the posting of the voting lists, but it strikes us it is uncalled for, and the citizens have been in the habit for a long number of years of looking for the lists at the post office. It is the place for them, and they ought to be there.

Poet's Corner.

The V-a-s-e.

From the madding crowd they stand apart—
The maidens four, and the Work of Art;

And none might tell from sight alone
In which had Culture ripest grown—

The Gotham Million, fair to see,
The Philadelphia Pedigree,

The Boston Mind, of azure hue,
Or the soulful soul from Kalamazoo;

For all loved Art in a seemly way,
With an earnest soul and a capital A

* * * * * * * *

Long they worshipped; but no one broke
The sacred stillness, until they spoke.

The Western one, from the nameless place,
Then blushingly said, "What a lovely vase."

Over three faces a sad smile flew,
And they edged away from Kalamazoo.

But Gotham's haughty soul was stirred
To crush the stranger with one small word;

Deftly hiding reproof in praise,
She cries: "'Tis, indeed, a lovely vaze."

But brief her unworthy triumph, when
The lofty one from the home of Penn,

With the consciousness of two grand-papas,
Exclaims: "It is quite a lovely vahs;"

And glances 'round with an anxious thrill,
Awaiting the word of Beacon Hill.

But the Boston Maid smiles courteouslee,
And gently murmurs: "O, pardon me:

I did not catch your remark, because I was so entranced with that charming vaws."

Dies erit prægelida
Sinistra quum Bostonia.

The Little Quaker Laugh.

There's a maiden in our village,
With hair of sunny hue,
And eyes of woodland loveliness,
Like violets and dew.

Her face is sweet with roses
That blush against the gray
Of her little Quaker bonnet, Suggesting March and May.

She talks with quaint decision,
Which is music, I'll allow,
When she greets me, as she meets me,
With an earnest "How art thou?"

Though in manner she is charming,
There is nothing that is half
So perplexing and bewitching
As her pretty Quaker laugh.

Defying rules of discipline,
Its mirth is full and free
Whene'er I greet her in return,
"Friend, is it well with thee?"

She knows I am not of the fold,
Mayhap, she likes to chaff,
But 'tis certain that I love her
For her little Quaker laugh,

Philadelphia News.

Rupert, the Rope Maker.

Between my cot and the eastern sea,
Rupert, the rope maker, comes and stands,
And girds his waist with the shining bands
Of gold Manila, from which weaves he,
Down on the Denes by the eastern sea.

Between my cot and the eastern sea,
Spinning, he backward, still backward goes,
While o'er him, the fresh, fair cordage flows,
Teaching a lesson of life to me,
Whose hopes had ebbed with the eastern sea.

And this I learned by the eastern sea:
For such as meekly shall failure take,
The Lord of labor and love may make,
Their backward seeming true progress be,
As Rupert, the roper's, by the sea.

Katherine Saunders.

People in private life who come and go as they will, and whose sayings and doings are not blazoned in the press, ought to felicitate themselves. They enjoy a privacy and freedom which are far sweeter than the fruits of any notoriety. They are not expected to distinguish themselves in any conspicuous way. They can dress as they please. Their confidential communications are not reported. They can take a hack from a hotel and drive out without espionage or impertinent comment. Their rent roll is not a matter of gossip or expenses. They belong to the great noiseless majority which lives its life without ostentation, and which wears no conventional chains. The private station has been called the post of honor. It is also called the post of individual liberty and comfort. When the public appropriates a man or woman for any cause, that person may bid good-bye to unfettered action; he or she is fair game henceforth for every scribbler. This is an age of printed gossip, and those who escape by virtue of obscurity are the enviable ones.

The Victor Barn Door Hanger has been awarded highest diplomas of merit by the New England and Pennsylvania agricultural societies.

ROBBED BY GUIDES.

COURIERS WHO FLEECE AMERICANS TRAVELING ON THE CONTINENT.

Confession of One Who Has Done Much Stealing—How It Is Done—Advice to Those Who Wish to Make a Cheap Trip.

A few days ago I was speaking on the subject of Americans on the continent to an experienced courier, from whom I gleaned some information that may have some interest for your readers. He had just come here from Paris, after having escorted a St. Louis family through the chief towns and places of interest in France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy, and seemed very well pleased with the financial results of the journey.

"You make some money at this business of yours, I presume?" said I, with an air of affected indifference.

"I should think I do," said the clever courier, twisting his features into an expression of diabolical cunning. "I have a good pile at the Credit Foucier and in the Italian government stocks; and I do not care just telling you that every cent in the pile is American. I do not like the English—I hate and detest them! They are no good for us couriers. They are too sharp, and never let us bring them a long bill, as they settle their accounts sometimes twice in twenty-four hours and they never allow for divers or extras unless every item is specified. Well, if you did not know before, you know now, that 'divers' and 'extras' are some of the best pickings a courier has, and as I am not an idiot, I never go with the English. We couriers turn our backs on Milord This, and Milord That, if we see an American with his wife and daughters coming our way.

FLEECING THE AMERICAN.

"Ah! the American is a good, brave, generous soul. He seldom tots up the courier's bill, and flings his money about a droite et a qauche as mister the millionaire should. I made, for instance, some 2,000 francs per month—all expenses cleared—during my six months' trip with the St. Louis family. How did I make it? you say. I suppose there is no harm in telling you. You'll be mum on the matter? I know you will, although pressmen, as a rule, are slippery as lampreys, and are very dangerous fellows for us couriers to meet: but my grammar tells me there are exceptions to every rule. Well, sir, the average pay of a good courier—I mean his legitimate pay—is a louis a day, or something like 600 francs a month; pshaw, a mere nothing when you look at it as a gentleman should! It is the picking and not the salary that keeps the pot gloriously boiling!

"Now, I have here in my memorandum book a list of all my hotel keepers on the continent. There is hardly a town, city or interesting site in Italy, Austria, Germany, France, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland where I have not got my men. I always, of course, bring them my American families, and pocket 10 per cent. of the proprietors' charges, naturally with the proprietors' knowledge and consent. Then I 'tip' grooms, valets, waiters and general servants, and charge my patrons double the amount actually laid out. In every purchase made I secure a fair profit. What between fans and blue binocles, and fruit and ices, and field glasses and photographic views, and bouquets and illustrated newspapers, and eau de cologne bottles and pastry cake, and cabs and coaches, and handbags and cigars, I manage to have my purse so full that I ask leave of absence for an hour or so once a month and go to the nearest agent de change, where I buy fine, beautiful shares that swell my income."

NOT SO PROFITABLE NOW

"I'm mighty glad," he added, "that I made my hay while the sun was shining, for our profession (sic) is not now near so profitable as it used to be, because the number of American families that employ couriers is growing less and less every year. Americans of the new generation know more languages than their fathers used to know, and, therefore, they can paddle their own canoes better when they come over here. Besides, the modern New Yorker and Bostonian are not so easily taken in as those of the old school, and only a clever courier can squeeze them as he would a lemon; And as all couriers are not clever, sir, it follows that the man from Broadway and the man from New England sometimes get the better of the professionals they employ. Still, when a very clever courier gets hold of a respectable American family he is certain to make their dollars dance as never they danced before.

"You ask me if I were an American tourist how I should travel? Well, before leaving America I should pick up a fair knowledge of French and a mere smattering of German and Italian—say for a few hundred dollars—and then I would travel over all Europe at just precisely one-fourth the amount that it costs an American to-day. In the first place, I'd never employ a courier. Couriers are leeches, rogues and knaves, although 'tis a courier that says so—but never mind, I can be candid and sincere when I want to; and as for guides, I'd seldom tack them on to my coat tails; they are in the majority of cases quite unnecessary, when you have a Bradshaw or a Baedaker in your pocket."

Such is the substance of the remarks made by this courier—a faithful record of facts and opinions, any comment on which seems to be utterly useless.—Milan Cor. New York Mail and Express.

A Postal Curiosity.

The postal museum in Berlin was recently enriched by a letter cover, sent as a curiosity by Herr von Dargun, who had found it among the papers left by his great-grandfather, Lieut. Col. von Pressentein, deceased in 1789 at Sternburg, Mecklenburg. The letter it had contained was dated from Philadelphia, and bore the postmark of that city, together with those of London, Calais, Brussels, The Hague, Amsterdam and Hamburg, the respective post dues being marked in each instance, thereby furnishing a chance of comparing the then rates of postage with those of the present. Its weight, judging from the size of the cover, cannot have exceeded that of a modern "single" letter, for which the recipient paid the modest sum of 5 thalers 12 shillings, equal to 18 marks 60 pfennigs German money, present value, or $4.65 United States currency.—Paris American Register.

The First Feather Duster.

Mr. A. P. Torrence, of Chester, Pa., claims to have made the first feather duster used in the United States. This is his story: "When I was 13 years old I was working with my step-brother, George Steele, on Pearl street, New York, and one day I fastened some ostrich feathers on a stick and used the appliance for dusting. George watched the operation, and an idea struck him. He at once got to work, and soon had a pattern for a feather duster. He had it patented, and then entered into the manufacture and sale of the new wares." —Chicago Times.

The Road to Stage Success.

There is but one way of getting along honestly on the stage. It is by making yourself indispensable, and to do that requires both time and opportunity. The latter often never comes.—Mrs. Annie Yeamans in New York Sun.

WORKINGMEN OF PHILADELPHIA.

A City Where Laborers Own Their Homes. Moral and Social Influence.

Philadelphia, as the greatest workshop of America, furnishes a striking illustration in point. Its comparative exemption from strikes is due to the fact that, as a rule, the workingman there owns his home. Hence he is as conservative as the capitalist. You may find scores of squares with nice brick houses of workingmen, not one of which is a tenement house. Philadelphia now has double the number of dwelling houses of any other city of its size in the world.

This marvelous increase in its homesteads is due to its co-operative building associations —numbering over 400. They have been tried for nearly fifty years, and have proved such valuable forces in promoting industry, economy, sobriety, thrift and prosperity that the state encourages them by exempting all their stock and mortgages from taxation. Though the holdings of these associations exceed $50,000,000, they are managed by workingmen at little expense, and are always open to public scrutiny. Failures have been very rare, less than in any other class of financial associations. The worst of those closed during the panic of 1873 paid ninety-three cents on the dollar. These associations, so unique, tried so long and so successfully, are a model for the workingmen of the country, certainly in large manufacturing centers.

That I may speak authoritatively, I will epitomize certain statements kindly furnished by an eminent Philadelphian, especially conversant with this subject, who says: "The tenement house is unknown here. In the riots of 1877 the 20,000 members of building associations acted as an efficient counterpoise to the lawless throngs that crowded the streets. This instinct of self-preservation, of social order, was as strong with them as with the wealthier classes, and was even more effectual. It neutralized, in their own camp, the clamors of a vicious and riotous rabble, so that the presence of the mayor and the police was sufficient to quell all disorder without collision. These associations have been a potent factor in making our people prosperous and moral, encouraging sobriety and preventing dissipation. The absence of any socialistic tendencies can undoubtedly be traced to the general ownership of homes."—Age of Steel.

Mme. Barrios' Methods of Life.

Mme.— I suppose it to be more proper to style her "Senora"—Barrios attracted my attention on the drive to-day. She had her troup of children with her, tributes to her marriage with Senor Barrios, erstwhile fugitive president of the Colombian confederation. This lady has an interesting history. Her husband is said to have left her $2,000,000, which is very probably within the mark, and she is enjoying it in truly royal style. She has several of the most elegantly appointed apartments at the West End hotel, with music and attendants galore at her bidding.

I have often thought, when musing on her methods of life, what a difference there is between republicanism among the Latin races and with the Anglo-Saxons. There anything approaching power is autocratic and aristocratic; here ingratitude and neglect are oftenest the rewards of merit and service. Senora Barrios is the widow of a smart ex-president of an insignificant and poverty-stricken Central American travesty on a nation, and she may revel to her heart's content in all that wealth affords or an aspiration for swelldom desires. But Mrs. Grant, widow of the greatest general of the age and of an ex-president of the greatest republic and one of the richest nations on earth, is compelled to retirement and obscurity, and in her modest life is almost forgotten by the people of the United States her noble husband did so much as a soldier and statesman to save and advance. Mrs. Garfield, too, is hidden from the public gaze; in short, lack of ostentation is the admirable distinction of the truly estimable among our people. Among the petty republics of Central and South America the enrichment of the officeholders and the impoverishment of the people is the rule.—Cor. Philadelphia Times.

The Pied Piper of Atlanta.

Atlanta has a vermin exterminator, but, unlike the piper of Hamelin, he uses no magic. The Atlanta rat catcher trusts nothing short of "cold pizen," but his rats act very much like the rodents of Hamelin—they make for the water. When the Atlanta rat catcher starts in he sees that no water about the place is accessible to rats. He then puts out poison, and when the rats get hold of it they start for water and die by the wholesale wherever the first water is found. The Atlanta vermin exterminator also kills moths, roaches, bedbugs and the like. Once he was called on to clear a large northern brewery of vast quantities of flies. Millions of flies had collected in the beer hogsheads and the vermin exterminator was asked how much he would charge to clean out the lot. His figures were $400, but he offered to tell the brewery men how they could do the job for $250. The offer was accepted.

"Roll these barrels into the ice room," he said.

The barrels were rolled into the room where ice was made.

"Freeze 'em!" said the vermin exterminator.

The brewery men were surprised that they had not thought of that simple remedy.

They tried it and in a short time swept out a countless number of frozen flies. —Atlanta Constitution.

Old Time Sea Bathing

In ante-railroad days the young folk of the mainland, as now, came over to the ocean for some fun and a bath. According to the account of an old inhabitant they were the days of primitive simplicity.

They first came in boats, and as they rounded Rum point in the inlet they would hoist a flag for Aunt Judith Ryan to begin the preparation for dinner.

Later they came by wagon. On the beach at low tide they would dance the hornpipe to the music of a fiddle. It was romping such as one would see at a down-east corn husking. At high tide they bathed. There were no four miles of bathing houses then nor padded bathing robes. They went into the bushes and changed their apparel. The chief sport of the beach frolic was when the young men would tie the girls' feet together and roll them down the sand hills into the surf. The first bath house was constructed of brush and was of a rude character In this for several years the young folk for miles around the country put on their old clothes for their dip in the ocean.—Atlantic City Cor. Philadelphia News.

Novel Method of Detection.

Joseph Nathanson, the emigrant agent and interpreter of the Pennsylvania railroad, recently found on a west bound emigrant train a young girl who had been robbed of her money by a fellow passenger. Telling her he would find her money, Nathanson borrowed a carrier pigeon, closed the car windows so that the bird could not escape and addressed the passengers, telling them that the bird would alight on the head of the one who had committed the theft. He released the bird just as the train entered the Spruce creek tunnel, and on striking a match found a suspected woman crouching between two seats and waving her hands above her head to keep the bird away. She gave up the money.—Philadelphia Times.

A Lesson Lost.

H. M. Hoxie, of the Missouri Pacific railway, is noted in railway circles for his proneness to give his inferiors good, sound lectures on the slightest provocation. Hoxie is a hard worker, and all who have seen him know how round-shouldered he is. One day a brakeman called on him with a letter request for a pass in his pocket, leaving the door wide open as he entered the office, and wearing his hat on his head in true brakeman style. In a loud voice he called out:

"Is Hoxie in?"

At this stage the general manager looked up from his desk and replied:

"Yes, sir, Mr. Hoxie is in."

The brakeman took his letter out of his pocket, grabbed the corner of the envelope between his thumb and forefinger, and sent the missive spinning and whirling upon his superior's desk. Hoxie looked up in amazement, and said:

"Now, young man, would it not look better for you, when coming into a gentleman's office, and especially so when asking a favor, to remove your hat, wipe your feet, and inquire in a quiet voice: 'Is Mr. Hoxie in?'"

The brakeman looked at the general manager a moment, asked for his letter, got it, went out, closed the door, and in a moment marched in again, closed the door softly after, wiped his feet, put his hat under his arm, and in the most polite manner possible, inquired:

"Is Mr. Hoxie, the general manager, in?"

"I am Mr. Hoxie," replied the general manager; "what can I do for you?"

"You can go to h——, you round-shouldered son of a gun!" retorted the brakeman. "I don't want none of your favors—I'm from Texas."—Chicago Herald.

Bringing it Home.

He was an undersized man, with burning eyes and fierce goatee, and he danced around the saloon on one leg and cursed the Chicago jury which condemned the Anarchists, and danced around on the other and yelled about free speech and free press, and waltzed up and down and vowed that capitalists ought to be blown from the mouths of cannon.

"Shay!" said a big hulk of a chap who had his head on the table and was aroused by the racket, "free speech's all right, ain't she?"

"It is! Free speech or blood!"

"Shay, you're a liar! You're a thief! You're a scoundrel and swindler and robber! Shay, you're children are fools, and your wife don't know 'nuff 't pound sand!" You are the meanest, most contemptible looking cur I ever shaw! I wouldn't be found dead on your land!"

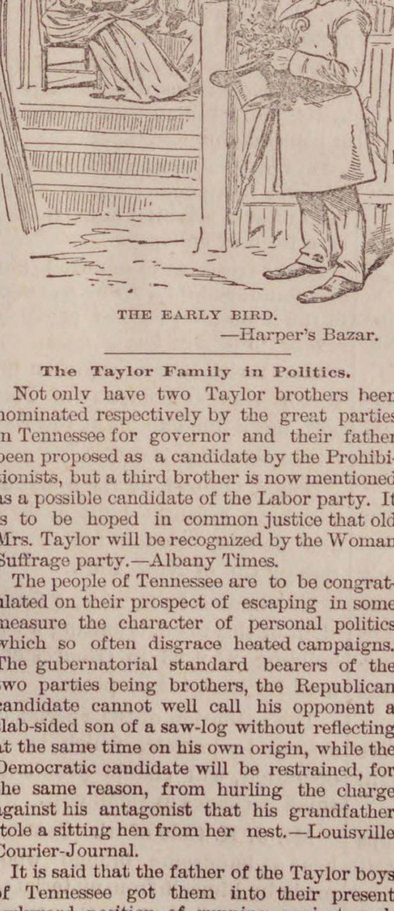
"I'll kill him!" howled the little one as he peeled off his coat.

"Shay, hold on! Don't go back on 'er cons'itushun, you know? I shee you've got s'money. I haven't got 'er red shent. You're one of 'em infernal capitalists, an' I'm going to blow you sky high!"

He rushed the little man over a beer table and jammed his head against the wall, and when four or five men pulled him off and hustled him out doors he turned and shook his fist and yelled:

"Shay! what sort of a crowd are you, any how? Minit I whoop 'er up on free speech and try to down monopoly you go back on me and fling me out! Rah! for 'er cons'itushun! Rah for 'er free speech! Free country for everybody—whoopee!" — Detroit Free Press.

Rivals.



THE EARLY BIRD.
—Harper's Bazar.

The Taylor Family in Politics.

Not only have two Taylor brothers been nominated respectively by the great parties in Tennessee for governor and their father been proposed as a candidate by the Prohibitionists, but a third brother is now mentioned as a possible candidate of the Labor party. It is to be hoped in common justice that old Mrs. Taylor will be recognized by the Woman Suffrage party.—Albany Times.

The people of Tennessee are to be congratulated on their prospect of escaping in some measure the character of personal politics which so often disgrace heated campaigns. The gubernatorial standard bearers of the two parties being brothers, the Republican candidate cannot well call his opponent a slab-sided son of a saw-log without reflecting at the same time on his own origin, while the Democratic candidate will be restrained, for the same reason, from hurling the charge against his antagonist that his grandfather stole a sitting hen from her nest.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

It is said that the father of the Taylor boys of Tennessee got them into their present awkward position of running against each other for the governorship of Tennessee by making them speak against each other when children. He kept them up till 11 o'clock at night on occasions, and often had to whip each one of them three times before the debate was closed.—Dallas News.

Two Ways of Courting.

"So you are paying attention to the handsome Miss Dashaway, George? You're lucky. I was making attempts in that direction myself, but my wooing was a failure."

"Ah! indeed; how did you proceed with your wooing?"

"I told her I loved her."

"Yes."

"And asked her if she would have me."

"Yes."

"'Twas no good. What did you do?"

"Nothing. I simply treated her to ice cream and strawberries. Never spoke a word of love."

"And you are solid with her now?"

"I am, you bet."—Boston Courier.

The United States Mail Delayed.

Summer resident—I've an important letter here. What time does the next New York mail go out?

Country postmaster—Wall, yer see my son Jerry, what kerris th' mail ter th' station, 's got a ston' bruise on his heel, 'n I told him he could favor it a leetle 'n stay ter home terday. Yer letter 'll go to-morrer or next day. —Tid Bits.

A Suggestion of Economy.

Lady (in dry goods store)—I will look at your material for towels.

Clerk (recently transferred from the dress goods department)—Yes, ma'am; something that won't show dirt?—Life.

Lactated Food FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS

The Most Successful PREPARED FOOD.
FOR NEW-BORN INFANTS.

It may be used with confidence, when the mother is unable to nurse the child, as a safe and natural substitute for mother's milk.

The BEST FOOD to be used in connection with PARTIAL NURSING.

No other food answers so perfectly in such cases It causes no disturbance of digestion and will be relished by the child.

A SURE PREVENTIVE and CURE for CHOLERA INFANTUM.

By the use of this predigestic and easily assimilated Food, fatal results in this dreded diseas can be surely prevented.

A Perfect Nutrient for INVALIDS in either Chronic or Acute Cases.

Hundreds of physicians testify to its great value It will be retained when even lime water and milk is rejected by the stomach. In dyspepsia, and in all wasting diseases it has proved the most nutritious and palatable, and the same time the most economical of Foods. For an infant may be made.

150 MEALS for $1.00.

Sold by Druggists—25c., 50c., $1.00.
☞A valuable pamphlet entitled "Medical Opinions on the Nutrition of Infants and Invalids" sent free on application.
WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Burlington, Vt

CIGARS!

CIGARS!

CIGARS!

Those desiring to purchase a good Cigars. look at our assortment of Imported and Domestic.

Discount by box.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

TRY OUR

JAMAICA GINGER.

THE

EARLIEST FRUIT,

And Best Native and Southern Vegetables, Berries and Fruit,

— AT —

Porter's Market,

3 & 5 Central St., Salem.
may 19—4m

SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION Training for every need in Elocution, voice, body or mind. Courses for Speakers, Teachers, Professionals and members of Society. 48 hours a week. Work adapted in kind and amount to individual needs, aim and opportunity. Classes for those out of town, graduates of other schools, etc. Library; Loan Fund; Degree of A. M. to A. B.'s, Opens October 7. Call 10-1. For Catalogues, etc., address
S. S. CURRY, Ph. D., Freeman Place,
(15 1-2 Beacon Street), Bosto
Course of Readings by leading elocutionist will open with the School for benefit of Endowment Fund.
sept 15—4t

ALMA POLISH
M.S. CAHILL & CO.

ALMA POLISH

For Ladies' and Children's shoes is the only Dressing ever made that will preserve the leather; for French Kid it has no equal. Alma Polish has received the highest reward ever given for a shoe polish and has the endorsement of all the leading shoe dealers in the United States. Ladies try it and we will guarantee you will never use any other. M. S. CAHILL & CO., Boston, Mass.

LADIES & GENTLEMEN,

CALL AT

CYRUS C. TREVETT'S,

IF YOU WANT

The most durable and stylish boots at bottom prices, be sure and bring the children.

110 UNION STREET.

LYNN, MASS.

jy 7—1 y

DR. LEON RIDEOUT,

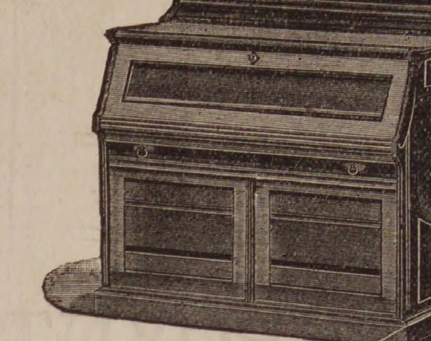
DENTIST,

Has removed his office to his Residence,
NO. 81 JOHNSON STREET,
Third House from City Hall,
LYNN, MASS.
Hours, 8 to 12; 1 to 5.
Change, for better accommodation of my patrons

MEDICAL PASSIVE MOVEMENTS AND MASSAGE.

Drs. Posse and Nordstrom,

Graduated at Stockholm, Sweden. Nervous Diseases, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, and all other chronic diseases, Sprains, etc., 72 Boylston street, Boston, office hours 12-1 and 5 to 6.
sept 29—3 mo



HEAD-QUARTERS

— FOR —

PARLOR FOLDING BEDS.

We are agents for the Folding Cabinent Bed, the Cheffonier Bed, the Mantle Bed, also Sofa and Lounge Beds in great variety.

CARPETS.

Our new Carpet Hall is stocked with a complete line of Brussels, Tapestries, Velvets and Ingrain, Oil Cloths, Rugs and Matting. Special low prices. All new, fresh stock.

STOVES AND RANGES.

We carry a full line of the New Gleenwood B. Range, the Magee Mystic, the New Elmwood, Pilgrim, and other first class Ranges. Also, Parlor Stoves all styles and prices. A good Range with all the ware complete for only $16.00.

You will save money by purchasing your Stoves or Ranges directly of us. Any of the above goods will be sold for Cash, or if you have not the ready money on Weekly or Monthly Payments.

W. C. PACKARD FURNITURE AND CARPET CO.,

Largest House Fusnishers in Eastern Massachusetts,

281 Essex & 1, 3, 5, 7 Crombie Streets,

NEXT TO MECHANICS HALL.

☞ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE.

ONCE MORE

TO SCHOOL!

See Reuben and Hal and little Jane
Merrily tripping down the lane;
They're bound for school, vacation is o'er;
They're ready for their books once more.
How pleased they look! and see how neat!
Yes! well they may, for on their feet
Are shoes from Osborne's, a guarantee
Of splendid fit and quality.

Shrewd folks who strive to make their dimes
Go farthest in these pinching times,
And yet not sacrifice a whit
Of style or wear, or perfect fit,
Flock to our stores in steady stream.
They seek to save; we give them cream;
They tell their friends and they believe,
And crowd our stores from morn till eve.

We Call the Attention of the People

To the GREATEST OPPORTUNITY to SHOE THEIR CHILDREN for School. We offer a stock of Boys' and Youths', Misses' and Children's Boots and Shoes, immense in quantity, superior in quality, and of great variety, and at PRICES that give our customers the Best End of the Bargain Every Time!

No such attractions in SCHOOL SHOES for Children of all ages have ever been offered, even by ourselves, and a visit to either our MUMROE ST. or WEST LYNN STORES will richly repay you.

Boys and Youths Bals and Button Shoes
Misses' and Children's Heeled
and Spring Heel Shoes

DOWN! DOWN! DOWN

To prices that give the poorest a chance to shoe their children in a satisfactory a becoming manner. REMEMBER! that every pair of Boots and Shoes in both store whose selling price has been 50 cents or upwards, has been MARKED DOWN. This absolute and without any reserve whatever, and affects the LARGEST AND BES STOCK OF BOOTS AND SHOES IN NEW ENGLAND!

Boys' Veal Calf, Tap Sole, Balmorals,		.65	.75	$1.10
Boys' Veal Calf, Nailed, Button Boots,				1.40
Youths' Veal Calf, Tap Sole, Balmorals,				.95
Youths' Veal Calf, Nailed,				1.20
Youths' Veal Calf, Nailed, Button Boots,				1.40
Misses' Grain Button Boots, Heeled—Sizes	11 to 2,		.69	1.05
Misses' Grain Button Boots, Spring Heeled—Sizes	11 to 2,			1.20
Misses' Kid Button Boots, " " "	11 to 2,		.85	1.85
Misses' Goat Button Boots, " " "	11 to 2,		.95	1.85
Misses' Kid Button Boots, Heeled, "	11 to 2,		1 33	1.85
Misses' Goat Button Boots, " "	11 to 2,		1.33	1.85
Child's Grain Button Boots, " "	9 to 10 1-2,		.90	1.15
Child's Grain Button Boots, " "	5 to 8,			.75
Child's Goat and Kid Button, Heeled, "	8 1-2 to 10 1-2,		1.05	1.40
Child's Goat and Kid Button, Spring Heeled, "	5 to 8,		.90	1.1
Child's Kid Button, " " "	5 to 8,			3

AND HUNDREDS OF OTHER BARGAINS,

38 MUNROE STREET. 23 MARKET SQUARE.

WELLMAN OSBORNE.

Mrs. M. A. McNeil,

LADIES'

FANCY GOODS STORE

149 Essex St., Salem.

Special attention given to

Spinal Corsets, Shoulder Braces, Abdominal Supporters, etc.

Also keep constantly on hand the largest variety of Corsets and Children's Waists in Essex County.

And have just received a large line of

INFANTS' & CHILDREN'S DRESSES,

Up to Ten years of age. Please call and examine.

REMEMBER THE NUMBER,

149 ESSEX STREET

A few doors below the Museum.

mch 31—6m

E. W. GOULD

BAY STATE

Steam Dyeing and Cleansing WORKS.

9 1-2 FRONT STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

Promptness is our Motto.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Goods called for and Delivered.

AGENTS:

J. W. Pitcher, Atlantic block, Beverly; I. S. Day, Oak St., near the depot, Beverly Farms; Beals & Abbott, cor. Maple & Locust Sts., Danvers; B. F. Stevens, 16 Main St., Peabody; T. W. Slade, Manchester-by-the-sea; Wm. S. Stanley, 4 Grader's block, Marblehead; Benj. P. Edwards, Main St., Topsfield.

MISS BASSETT, formerly of the Essex Dye House, will be at our Office, No. 91-2 Front Street

---

LEE HALL

CLASSICAL & COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

CITY HALL SQUARE,

LYNN.

Business studies, also preparation for College and for the Institute of Technology. For terms and other information send for circular.

FRANK O. BALDWIN
Principal.

je 30—3m

HALLOWELL & SMILEY.

We desire to remind the people of Peabody that our store is well stocked with the

BEST MEATS & PROVISIONS,

THE CHOICEST VEGETABLES,

and will be found always

A Good Place to Trade.

Our Prices are always the Lowest.

REMEMBER US.

Hallowell & Smiley

16 CALLER ST., PEABODY.

Jas. Lafreniere,

HAIR DRESSER,

Has taken the shop under Baldwin's Hotel, where all who favor him with their patronage will receive

Courteous and Prompt Attention.

Diseases of the Head and Hair treated. A share of patronage solicited.

BALDWIN'S HOTEL, FOSTER ST.,

PEABODY.

may 26—4t

HOTEL NAHANT.

NAHANT BEACH.

SAM'L SOULE & SON, PROPS.

Is now open to Guests.

Horse cars from Salem and Peabody direct to the house.

Fish dinners a specialty.

Connected by Telephone.

P. O. Address LYNN, MASS.

ROYAL

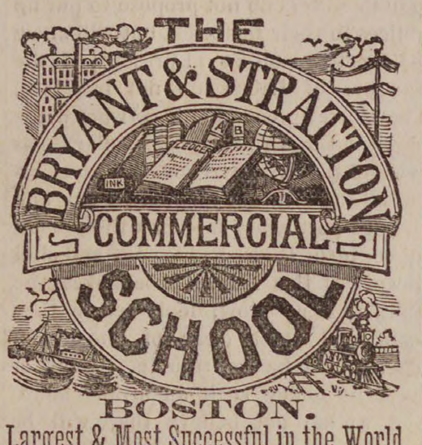
FULL WEIGHT
ROYAL BAKING
ABSOLUTELY PURE
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multituds of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, N. Y.

2ae



BOSTON.

Largest & Most Successful in the World,

Will Re-open Monday, Sept. 6th.

THE COURSE OF STUDY is thorough, complete and practical. Pupils are fitted for the duties and work of every-day life.

THE FACULTY embraces a list of twenty teachers and assistants, elected with special reference to proficiency in each department.

THE STUDENTS are young people of both sexes, full of diligence and zeal.

THE DISCIPLINE is of the highest order and includes valuable business lessons.

THE PATRONAGE is the largest of any Commercial School in the world.

THE REPUTATION of this school for originality and leadership and as the Standard Institution of its kind is generally acknowledged.

THE SCHOOL BUILDING is centrally located and purposely constructed.

SPECIAL COURSE. Shorthand, Type-Writing, Composition and Correspondence may be taken as a special course.

SITUATIONS in Business Houses furnished its pupils completes the varied inducements to attend this school.

On and after Aug. 23d, the Principal may be seen daily from 9 till 2 o'clock, at the School Building, 608 Washington St. Prospectus, containing full information concerning course of study, terms, etc., post free.

OVER WORKED Women

For "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated school teachers, milliners, seamstresses, housekeepers, and over-worked women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all restorative tonics. It is not a "Cure-all," but admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most potent Specific for all those Chronic Weaknesses and Diseases peculiar to women. It is a powerful, general as well as uterine, tonic and nervine, and imparts vigor and strength to the whole system. It promptly cures weakness of stomach, indigestion, bloating, weak back, nervous prostration, debility and sleeplessness, in either sex. Favorite Prescription is sold by druggists under our positive guarantee. See wrapper around bottle. Price $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

A large treatise on Diseases of Women, profusely illustrated with colored plates and numerous wood-cuts, sent for 10 cents in stamps. Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

SICK HEADACHE, Bilious Headache, and Constipation, promptly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pellets. 25c. a vial, by druggists.

DESIRABLE REAL ESTATE

IN PEABODY,

FOR SALE.

The estate owned and occupied by C. C. Farwell and situated on the corner of Grove and Walnut streets, is offered for sale at a low price and on easy terms.

The estate consists of a two story frame dwelling house, containing 12 rooms, with water and gas, a barn 28x35, and about three quarters of an acre of land.

For a manufactory, with dwellings for the owner and tenants, there is no better situation in the county.

Address, or apply to

F. E. FARNHAM,
8 Allen's Block,
Peabody Square

je 16

MASSACHUSETTS

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

AT WORCESTER.

For the Training of Teachers.

Fall Term begins Thursday, Sept. 9, 1886
Spring Term begins February 3, 1887.
Tuition and use of Text-Books FREE. For particulars address

E. H. RUSSELL, Principal.

M. N. BLACK,

Saratoga Waves made to order, a specialty, also old pieces redressed to look as well as new.

80 MARKET ST., LYNN.

je 30—3m

FOR SALE.

The Tanyard belonging to the Estate of Abel Story, situated at Essex Falls, near Railroad. Plenty of Water. A Rare chance.

Apply to B. F. RAYMOND,
ESSEX, MASS.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,

SALEM, MASS.

EXAMINATION of Candidates for admission on TUESDAY, September 7. Tuition and text books free. Pecuniary aid to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to

D. B. HAGAR, Principal.

jy 26—3w

Corkhill's Duel with the Briton.

Before the war, when Corkhill was a young attorney in an Iowa town, hardly fledged, a young man from England boarded at the same house. The Englishman made some reflections on the legal profession in the presence of the tableful of people, and Corkhill hotly resented it, and used some very objectionable language, which the Englishman resented by striking at Corkhill. There were half a dozen young fellows beside Corkhill in the party, with their heads full of mischief, and it did not take them long to arrange a plan to extract some fun from the quarrel. Some of them went to the Englishman and told him he never could rest under what Corkhill had said except in disgrace; that striking with the fists might do in England, but nothing short of a challenge would satisfy an American community. The young Briton was full of the pluck of his native country, and at once declared himself ready to fight. One of the practical jokers became his second, and the duel was arranged for seven o'clock that evening at a place selected near the town. Corkhill, the challenged party, chose pistols as the weapons. It was arranged that no bullets should be put in the pistols, and that at the second fire Corkhill was to fall as though dead. His opponent was then to be rushed off in a great hurry.

Everything worked satisfactorily. The parties came together; the seconds loaded the pistols in each other's presence. About this time Corkhill began to get pretty nervous. The seconds had evidently been indulging a little, and there was no telling what they would do. Corkhill meditated: "What if one of those idiots, full of beer, should happen to get into his noddle that it would be another joke to put in bullets? It is just like them." He wished he hadn't entered into the joke. In reply to his anxious and over polite inquries his second assured him that the charges were blank, and the parties faced each other, and at the word fired.

Nobody being hurt, the second proposed, as usual, a reconciliation. Corkhill, who knew the duel to be a joke, was willing and anxious to quit. It wasn't funny, especially with two tipsy seconds, but the Englishman, who was fighting a real duel, was game, and proposed to see it out. So another exchange of shots was had, and Corkhill fell as per programme. The Englishman was hustled into a carriage, assured with hearty congratulations that he had killed his man, and advised to go to a certain place and lay low until the next night, when they would come for him. But he kept going, left that part of the country and never returned. He and Corkhill met as soldiers in the Union army, and the Englishman, who had ascertained the truth, was very bitter at first, but finally melted under the geniality of Corkhill, and they became good friends.

Fitz John Porter's Balloon Ride.

"Fitz John Porter's Balloon Ride," said an old army officer, "was one of the most romantic events in the life of that gallant soldier. He was with McClellan in the Peninsular campaign, and was distinguished for his intelligent activity. Porter conceived the idea that balloons could be made very useful in reconnoitering, and at his request Gen. McClellan obtained the necessary equipment for this service. The balloons and the apparatus for the manufacture of the gas were procured without much difficulty, but an aeronaut was not so easy to obtain. Some of the officers of the Engineer Corps agreed to make the first trip in the balloon which was to afford a view of the Confederate operations. Porter watched their preparations with keen interest. Just as they had everything ready he stepped into the basket of the clumsy gas bag to see that everything had been properly prepared. While he was examining the machine it slipped from the grip of the men who held it and shot like an arrow up into the air, carrying Porter as its lone passenger. He had never been in a balloon before, and knew nothing about managing one.

"A stiff breeze was blowing, and the great bulb flew like a bird away from the astonished camp, until it became a mere speck in the sky and then faded completely from sight. Not a man who watched it disappear expected that he would ever see Porter alive again. He started on his wild flight at 7 o'clock in the morning. The day wore away with the camp in a great state of commotion over the probable death of its favorite officer. When night came and nothing had been seen of the balloon, it was the general conviction that Porter had either been killed by a fall from the balloon, or had been captured by the Confederates. About daybreak next morning a picket challenged a man coming toward the Federal line, and a moment later recognized Gen. Porter. His balloon had carried him clean over the Confederate army. He was fired at a dozen times by the Confederate artillery. At night the wind changed and brought him back, and when he saw that he was over his own army he let out the gas gradually and safely descended, after being twenty-four hours in the air with the vision of a horrible death before him. After this strange adventure no more experiments with balloons were made in McClellan's Army."

The old school bell sounds natural!

AMONG THE SHAKERS.

HABITS AND CUSTOMS OF A CURIOUS RELIGIOUS COMMUNITY.

Origin of the Term "Shaker"—Inventions and Industries—Their Simple Regimen—Their Theology in Brief—A Life of Celibacy.

There are societies now in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Maine, Ohio, Kentucky and other states. The first church was built at New Lebanon, in 1785. Prior to 1795 the society did not have any distinct title. But in that year it adopted "The United Society of Believers in Christ's Second Appearing." Of course, this was altogether too long and awkward for public use. The members were dubbed "Shakers" in derision by their enemies, because they shook themselves while at worship, and this apt name stuck. The Shakers themselves were finally forced to adopt it, and now it has lost its original significance. The Shakers have never been a slothful people. They have not only been patient and industrious, but they have also been inventive. More than half a century ago they originated the drying of sweet corn for food, and they were the first to paper and vend garden seeds in the present styles. The immense patent medicine trade of to-day sprung from their first methods of preparing medicinal roots and herbs for the market. They first began the broom corn business, and the first buzz saw was made by them at New Lebanon. The Shakers, at Watervliet, invented our metallic pens, the first being made of brass and silver. At New Lebanon were invented the machines for cutting and bending card teeth, and planing and matching and dressing flooring and ceiling lumber; also cut nails. At Watervliet the making of extracts was until recently an important business. At New Lebanon the manufacture of patent medicines is now a flourishing industry.

THEIR SIMPLE REGIMEN.

Now, as to their regimen, over sixty years ago the Shakers discontinued the use of distilled liquors as a beverage. About forty years ago they abandoned all pork "for health's sake." Tobacco and snuff are rarely used and meat and grease are reduced to the minimum quantity. The Shakers are not strictly vegetarians and the articles above mentioned are not prohibited by any society order. But the unwritten law prevails and is generally respected. To their "virgin celibate" life and to their simple regimen of food they attribute their longevity. When I was a child my idea of a Shaker was that of a person who lived forever. By some authority the average duration of human life is put at less than forty years. But here the Shakers claim an average as high as fifty-seven and one-third years in a population of 4,420. "Aunt Dolly," who died a few years ago at Lebanon, was aged 108.

But of course instances like this are not a proof of the average Shaker longevity; for old negresses, aged 150 or less, who nursed George Washington, are still to be found, and the number thereof is not visibly decreasing. But it seems probable that Shakers who never get drunk, or go into politics, or indulge in any physical excesses, and who live almost wholly in the open air—it is natural to suppose they should live longer than the same number of persons of an opposite mode of life. From what I have observed, they do not slave like farmers, especially that class of farm tillers who are always trying to add a "jining patch." True it is, they are always busy, but never unreasonably so.

Now, as to their theology. Let me make it plain to you if I can. The spiritual, and to a large degree the temporal, affairs are directed by a "board of ministry"—two males and two females. These are the recognized rulers of all Shakerdom. Elder Giles B. Avery, who spends most of his time at Watervliet and New Lebanon, is one of the four. From his answers to my queries I take the substance thereof as follows:

Ann Lee's appearance was the second coming of Christ, which occurs through the female. Her followers hold Christ and Saviour to be synonymous. Jesus was not Christ, but he represented Christ. He was simply the Christ of his day. When Christ next appears it will be again in the form of a woman, instead of that of a man. We say, "Our father who art in Heaven." There can be no father where there is no mother. Therefore there is a heavenly mother. Again, there never was a bridegroom without a bride. The scriptures speak of the bridegroom Christ. Ann Lee was the first to receive the brideship of Christ. In fact, she was the second appearing of Christ.

This, briefly, is the Shaker theology. To unbelievers it may seem a trifle vague, and also a little more than they can swallow. But to this belief Shakers cling tenaciously. Its conditions or penalties may keep out some would-be converts, and break the self-denial of others after they become converts. But the creed is a harmless one. Therefore, what good it does, great or small, is a clear gain to society at large.

A LIFE OF CELIBACY.

They believe in the Bible and in baptism. They are unlike other sects only in leading a life of virgin celibacy. The notion that all intercourse between the sexes is forbidden is an error. They spend evenings together; not in couples, but in groups and classes, and in conversation or reading or singing. They "say grace" before and after meals, but during the meal itself they utter no word not made necessary by the business on hand. The property is common, as it was in the Oneida community before the latter became a joint stock company.

Here all similarity ceases. In some remote quarters the notion prevails that the Shakers are in some degree like the Mormons. They are anti-Mormon and anti-Oneidan. They do not even condemn marriage, though of necessity they do not get married or recognize the married state among members. They often lose members, who withdraw and get married. Others are expelled for willful violations of the rules. Elder Avery admits that the numbers are not increasing, but he thinks the faith holds its own now, and that a grand revival will occur in the near future which will increase the membership rapidly. I infer that the Shakers are expectantly awaiting more revelations through some one like Ann Lee, who will give the faithful added zeal and enable the sect to weather another century.

I mentioned the fact that at the church family there were some children. These were adopted, or are being temporarily cared for. They were born outside, of course, of parents who have died or are worse than dead. New members are required to confess all sins to an elder or elderess and are accepted for a few months on probation. If they then conclude they should not like the life, or if the society is not wholly satisfied, they withdraw. If a new member has property, real or personal, he or she may give or "consecrate" it to the society: or may hold it and devote the income thereof to the society. But, of course, if a member does not add his wealth to the common fund the natural inference is that he is not wholly free of doubts, or that he intends to leave the society sooner or later.

Elder Avery tells me that the Shakers have sent out no missionaries during the past sixty years. They are awaiting, rather inertly, it seems to me, the new revelation and woman suffrage. They expect the latter to aid them materially, as most of their new members are apt to come from the ranks of women.—Cor. New York Star.

FAIR FOR HIS SAKE.

Fair for his sake who thinks me fair,
Fair for none other can I be,
Ah! what new change shall fairness wear
That his sweet eyes be pleased of me?
How vain in love I seem to grow!
No matter; love will have it so.

Fair but for him who finds me fair;
And fairer still these flowers shall make
I tangle round my brow and hair—
While southernwood their odors break.
How very, very vain I grow!
No matter; love will have it so.

Fair but for him who thinks me fair;
These golden arts I now amass
On throat and arm shall make more rare
The sight of me. O regal glass,
If words were thine, what words would flow!
No matter; love will have it so.

He comes. Ah! will he find me fair,
And shall I find him grown more fond?
"O sweet, you are not what you are;
Your simple smile is far beyond!"
O Jealousy! Well, there they go—
What matter; he will have it so!

Look Out for Him.

The season is now at hand when the pioneer 98 years of age gets up early in the morning, tightens his belt by two notches, and walks into the harvest field to show the boys how it used to be done in olden times. After gazing for a few minutes with contempt at the reaper and binder, he picks up his old fashioned cradle and sails in to cut seven acres before sundown. Seven acres is his lightest day's work. Take him the county over he'll average about nine, an' he won't sweat a hair until afternoon. It will be all that three binders can do to keep up with him, and now and then he'll stop to turn a back handspring and lay some young fellow on the broad of his back.

When the old pioneer has finished his nine acres he comes up smiling, leads the crowd to supper, and then challenges the best man to a boxing match or foot face.

He appears regularly every harvest, and this will be no exception. He is never less than 90, and seldom over 98, and the statement always follows that he has shaken hands with every president since Washington, and was a playmate of the Indian chief, Tecumseh.—Detroit Free Press.

Mottoes.

For a prizefighter: "He that is down need fear no fall."

For a seamstress: "Be what you seem to be."

For a Wall street speculator: "God tempers the wind to the shorn lamb."

For a messenger boy: "He who runs may read."

For a lover whose fiance has a glass eye: "With all thy false eye love thee still."

For a boy who wishes to hire out to a dime museum: "Two heads are better than one."—Life.

Enjoying Hotel Life.

A great summer hotel near New York is tenanted by a solitary watchman. Once in a while the watchman goes up to the desk, asks if there are any letters, snubs himself, follows an imaginary bell boy up eight flights of stairs, brings himself a very small pitcher of icewater and gives himself a dollar bill, sits down to a large plate with an oyster cracker on it, and feels that he is really away for the summer.—Boston Transcript.

He Might Have Passed Her Also.

An Albany lady wants a divorce because her husband couldn't pass a civil service examination. Apparently, she doesn't know when she is well off. If he had passed the examination he would have been so stuck up that he would have wanted a divorce from her. —The [illegible]

Force Exerted by Growing Plants.

The great force exerted by growing plants may be demonstrated by direct measurement. By an arrangement of harness and levers, President Clarke of the Amherst Agricultural college, made a growing squash register a pressure equal to thousands of pounds, when finally the harness broke. A tree in a graveyard at Hanover, Germany, has lifted more than five inches a block of stone containing twenty cubic feet.—Arkansaw Traveler.

A Chunk of Wisdom.

As everyone who has tried it knows, conciseness means work. It is twice as hard, for example, to compress a story into three thousand words as to allow its natural girth of five or six thousand. But this extra work, so far from receiving pecuniary acknowledgment, actually brings in less money than if it had not been performed.—New York World.

Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia, and too hearty eating is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

CREAM PIE.—One cup of flour, one cup of sugar, one tea-spoonful of yeast powder, three eggs. Stir the yeast powder into the flour, then stir in the sugar; afterwards the eggs, and a little salt. The cream:—Half a pint of milk, half a cup of sugar, one egg, quarter of a cup of flour, butter as large as a nutmeg, salt.

The small boy who plays circus with the "trick-goat" in his back yard should see that the St. Jacobs Oil bottle is not empty.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

Fall and Winter Opening.

Having moved to the new and elegant Store in the

Old Hotel Building

NEXT TO THE POST OFFICE,

And placed on our Counters an ENTIRE NEW STOCK of

FALL AND WINTER GOODS,

Embracing all the latest styles in Imported and Domestic Woolens. We are prepared to better accomodate our customers than ever before.

—PRICES THE LOWEST—

AND A PERFECT FIT GUARANTEED.

JAMES HOWLEY,

Merchant Tailor,

EXT TO THE POST OFFICE. PEABODY, MASS.

FALL OF 1886.

BRIDAL SILVER.

Through the summer months we have been having made some new styles in

STERLING SILVER,

and have also ordered an immense stock of the best quality

SILVER PLATED WARE.

These goods will be ready early in September, and we are confident we can offer the largest and finest stock of new goods in Essex County. No House in Boston can show a better line of medium price goods than we shall.

DANIEL LOW,

SALEM.

Wedding and Anniversary Presents a Specialty.

LADIES OF SALEM AND VICINITY,

It affords us pleasure to call your attention to our celebrated

HAND-SEWED SHOES

For Comfort, Beauty and Durability, they are not equalled. They are crumbs of comfort by the wayside.

Beware of Imitations! None genuine without the name Grover on the Sole.

Please Call and Examine them at the Store of

L. CUNNINGHAM.

147 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Agent for Salem and vicinity.

mch 31—1y

Bosuley

CRAYON ARTIST & PHOTOGRAPHER,

252 Essex Street, Salem.

Having refitted and refurnished our gallery with new Lenses, Cameras, Backgrounds-Accessories, etc., etc., and having one of the largest and finest operating rooms and sky lights in the country, we now have facilities second to none for doing first class work in all branches of Photography.

We have just purchased the finest instruments obtainable for making pictures from 8x10 to 24x24 (full life size) direct from the sitter, and make them either bust, half or full length, or groups. To introduce them we shall make them very low for three months.

We have special facilities for copying old and faded Photographs, Daguerreotypes, Ambrotypes, Tintypes, etc. Before giving your pictures to agents, come to us, and see our samples and get our prices. You can save money and at the same time get better work and not risk the breaking or losing of your pictures in the mails.

We make a specialty of Life Size Free Hand Crayons, made from any kind of picture or from life. One of the advantages, not to speak of the superior artistic qualities, of free hand work over the mechanically finished solars, is that any changes from the original, no matter how great, can be easily made, whereas in the finished solar but very slight changes can be made. We can furnish duplictaes from any negative ever taken by N. C. Bosuley.

Call and see what we are doing, all will be treated courtesy whether anything is desired or not.

CHOICE VERMONT BUTTER.

We have just received a car load of VERMONT BUTTER which we shall offer by the tub at prices which

— WE WILL NAME WHEN YOU CALL. —

IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE US

Meats and Vegetables of all kinds at the

LOWEST PRICES FOR SPOT CASH.

Ames & Edgerly's Cash Market

NEXT TO SAMUEL TRASK'S

STATLING NEWS

From the scene of excitement.

That arch-enemy of the people, HIGH PRICES, was caught and

ARRESTED

This summer, and to keep him from doing further mischief we have

HUNG

Him higher than Haman. We have considered the cost and are ready to abide by the consequence. Should there be any

EXPLANATION DEMANDED.

we will gladly devote the time to showing you how we did it. We feel confident that we can prove to your satisfaction that we have an immense

Harvest for the People

And we have determined "to leave no stone unturned" to sell our large and well selected stock of goods. Remember we have not

FAILED

To put down prices to the lowest notch, and now invite you to call and inspect goods and compare prices.

NUGENT BROS.,

oster St., Peabody Mass.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers

The Gazette will not hereafter fold into its editions, or into any part of its editions, any more business handbills of any sort under the guise of "supplements" to the paper. If any business firm wishes to make use of this paper for legitimate advertising at our regular rates our columns are open. If we have more advertising than our regular space can well accommodate, we may issue a legitimate supplement such as is authorized by the post office laws. But no more handbills of any kind will be circulated through the medium of the Gazette and Mercury.—Salem Gazette.

The above, from the Gazette, expresses our sentiments exactly, and we hereby announce that we shall follow the example set by our cotemporary, and shall fold no more handbills in the PRESS under the guise of supplements.

WE DO not deny that we are pleased with the result of the Congressional Convention which nominated Gen. Cogswell from this district. Apart from the fact that the PRESS was the first and almost the only paper in the district to openly advocate his nomination, we rejoice that the party is to have so good a representative,—a man who will actively and boldly represent the interests of old Essex County.

Gen. Cogswell was fairly and honorably nominated by the convention. His friends have nothing but respect for the gentleman from the northern portion of the district and the delegates who so nobly stood by him in the Convention. The contest was conducted legitimately and in a manner worthy of the delegates supporting the candidates. The quiet, firm and business-like manner in which the balloting was conducted from the beginning to the end was the theme of many a remark from citizens who were in attendance. Only at the closing ballots, when it was evident that a few votes, either way, would give the nomination to Mr. Blunt or Gen. Cogswell, did there appear anything of excitement. When the result of the closing ballot was announced, it was but natural that the friends of the nominee should give vent to their long pent up enthusiasm for the candidate of their choice.

It certainly is creditable to the friends of Mr. Blunt that they gave him their votes to the last ballot, and the handsome and manly acceptance of the result, on the part of the gentleman who presented Mr. Blunt's name at the opening of the convention, was equally creditable to the delegates from Haverhill. It was what we had been led to expect from the editorials of the Bulletin, which assured us that they should cordially accept the result whether Mr. Blunt or Gen. Cogswell received the nomination.

We know of no reason why any republican voter should refuse to ratify the nomination of Gen. Cogswell at the polls. At no time has he been other than loyal to the party, and has at all times been ready to defend its principles before the public. No loyal soldier can forget his valiant service for his country, nor would he feel that in voting for him he is electing a man who could neglect the claims of the boys in blue. His record in the legislative halls of the State has been equally creditable—an assurance that the needs of the constituency of the district will be ably remembered in the halls of the Congress of the Nation.

The candidacy of Mr. Spaulding is already assuming formidable proportions. No republican can fail to see that in the democratic nomination, which he is likely to obtain, this gentleman will secure a large constituency. Mr. Spaulding is not as well known in all parts of the district as here. A democratic nomination usually carries with it democratic votes. Independence is not a characteristic of that party, and with the labor vote, which is surely Spaulding's, the republican candidate will not have a walk over. Yet we are assured that a certain element in the democratic party will never vote for Spaulding, and now that the nominations of their party for the head of the ticket place before them other than true democrats, it will be very easy for many of them to support the republican ticket in its entirety. These votes will go to Gen. Cogswell.

The election in the district will be an exciting one. Besides the Congressional election, there will be other interests to call out a full vote. If the republicans do their duty, the result will be an election of the county ticket by a good majority. We believe they will do their duty, and in its performance they will elect a congressman worthy of the district and of Essex County.

THE SALEM GAZETTE, editorially, in announcing the nomination of Gen. Cogswell, says that "he received the support of Chas. H. Litchman," and in another place says that "among the ardent workers was D. M. W. Charles H. Litchman of District No. 30 K. of L." Whether the Gazette, in making these assertions, in the connection in which they are made, does so with the intention of injuring Gen. Cogswell, by making it appear that he is a candidate supported by the Knights of Labor, and thus antagonize those republicans whose sympathies are entirely at variance with that organization at this time, we know not. But it certainly looks like it. We presume it may be true that Mr. Litchman, personally, prefers Gen. Cogswell to Mr. Spaulding. But he can not be called a supporter of the General in the sense which would be inferred by the ordinary reader in perusing the Salem Gazette. Mr. Litchman sat in the rear of the hall during the forenoon and a portion of the afternoon just as hundreds of other spectators did. He was not a delegate, and we did not see him even conversing with the Cogswell men. Not that he would not have a perfect right to do so, if he desired, just as we or any other citizen of the district would have that right. But as a matter of fact he appeared simply as an interested spectator of the convention. There were present, also, several other gentlemen prominent in political circles outside of the republican party. Why don't the Gazette say that they, also, supported Gen. Cogswell?

We have no doubt that some of the prominent Knights of Labor of this district—men like Charles H. Litchman—are not in sympathy with the nomination of Spaulding. And they probably will not vote for him. But, because of this, and because, maybe, Gen. Cogswell will receive some democratic support, it does not make this gentleman any the less a republican, or any the less entitled to the suffrage of the party. The Knights of Labor, officially, are not in politics, although we think the bulk of them will vote for Spaulding. Yet, as we said, men like Mr. Litchman will undoubtedly vote for Gen. Cogswell; they will, undoubtedly, also, vote the republican ticket in other respects. They have not voted the democratic ticket for years, and are not likely to do so this year. It is no discredit to them or the republican party that some of them—that many of them are returning to the republican fold. The party was glad to welcome their aid and votes last year. Why should they not be equally so to-day?

The position of the Gazette, regarding the candidacy and nomination of one of its own townsmen, with its dirty flings about the want of respectability of Gen. Cogswell's supporters, is anything but complimentary to the delegates who stood by him to the last. Is Editor Horton so sore because of his failure to secure the nomination at the convention, that he must needs taunt the same men who rallied to his own support with want of respectability? They were certainly respectable enough, and steady going republicans enough, two years ago, when they supported the editor of the Gazette. What has happened to change their status now?

There is no need, on the part of the friends of any candidate, to deride the personnel of the Congressional Convention. It was composed of men whose support would do honor to any man. It is true regarding the supporters of Gen. Cogswell—it is equally true of the supporters of Mr. Blunt and Mr. Babson. They were all honorable men and true republicans. They differed as to choice of the nominee, as they had a right to do. They rallied to the support of their candidate, as was their right and duty under the circumstances. They were each and all working for what they considered the best interests of the party, and it would ill become us or any of the friends of Gen. Cogswell to say otherwise. We respect them for their manly support of Mr. Blunt. It does credit to them and is honorable to that gentleman. But Gen. Cogswell was the nominee of the convention, and there is no reason why he should not receive the support of the party, as we believe he will.

WE REGRET to see a feeling of discontent manifest in the Haverhill papers, at the result of the congressional convention. The Bulletin in its issue of Sept. 18, quoted from the PRESS as follows:—"The PRESS says of W. E. Blunt, 'We do not deny that he is a good republican, and that if nominated he will faithfully represent the district. If nominated by the convention he will receive our cordial and hearty support.' That is sound doctrine, and we take pleasure in making a reciprocal declaration as to Gen. Cogswell." Will the Bulletin go back on its assertion as quoted above? Will the people of Haverhill repudiate the words of Mr. Blunt's organ, and the assurance given in the convention that they would work heartily for the nominee of that convention? We do not believe it—we cannot believe it.

What reason could there be for such action? The contest in the district between the friends of Mr. Blunt and Gen. Cogswell was a fair and open one Both men had a right to the support of their friends. Neither of them, however, had any rights beyond ratification by the convention. There were no frauds attempted or perpetrated. Never, in the PRESS, have we said aught that could be construed into an injustice towards Mr. Blunt. We have considered him and his friends as honorable men—entitled to as much consideration in their support of Mr. Blunt as we claimed for ourselves in the presentation of the name of Gen. Cogswell. We are glad, too, to be able to say that we have seen nothing in the Haverhill papers which dealt unjustly with Gen. Cogswell. It was an honorable ambition on the part of the friends of both gentlemen—it was an honorable ambition on the part of the gentlemen themselves. If Mr. Blunt had been the nominee, would not his friends have asked and expected the support of Gen. Cogswell's friends at the polls? Would they not have obtained it? Is it not equally right that they should support Gen. Cogswell at the polls?

THE DEMOCRATIC party have never gained victories by taking up members of the republican party who have become disgruntled over the acts of that party. They found that out when they voted for Horace Greeley for President They will come to the same conclusion in Massachusetts when the votes are counted for John F. Andrew for governor. When they elected William Gaston governor they nominated a democrat. He was not, it is true, obnoxious to the republicans, but he was not, in any sense, a republican.

In nominating John F. Andrew, the democratic party acknowledge their weakness. He is so much a republican that the democratic party will not vote for him as a unit. If they are going to vote for a republican, as has been well said, they would prefer to vote for a man who professes to be one, not for a man who masquerades under the guise of democracy.

In the nomination for Lieut. Governor, they have taken a man who has no sympathy with the democratic party. They have taken a man who said at Athol only two years ago, "Let us bury the democratic party." It is a bid for the labor vote, and while they may secure it to a considerable extent, there is no disaffection in the republican party, caused by the nomination of Ames, which will secure the changing of Massachusetts from a republican state to the election of a member of the Knights of Labor.

The republican ticket will secure the votes of the party in Massachusetts to its full extent, and that means the election of Ames and Brackett. Many who voted for Cleveland will vote for Ames. No man who voted for James G. Blaine will vote for John F. Andrew. While there is nothing objectionable, personally, in the gentleman, who is the son of the great war governor of the state, except that he ought to be found in better company, there is no need for any republican to do otherwise than vote for Oliver Ames. Such voting means his election.

The democratic party in this state is utterly demoralized. The men whom President Cleveland has called to his councils, the men who have been recognized by the administration, with a few exceptions, are not the men whom the democratic party would have chosen for such recognition. They are not the men who have held the front ranks, and born the brunt of the battle for the past twenty-five years. The democratic party, again, cannot command the allegiance of the labor vote. There is no harmony between its platform and the democratic platform. The drifting towards independent nominations, on the part of that party, for several years, shows this conclusively. It is beyond salvation either by the nomination of a mugwump candidate for governor, or a Knights of Labor candidate for lieutenant governor. The ticket for the people is Ames and Brackett.

THE PLATFORM of the Republican party lacks the terse and sharply pointed sentences of last year. Its position on the questions of the day, and the attitude of the party are well enough, but they do not have the ring to them which Mr. Lodge's platform of last year had. The address of the latter gentleman, however, before the convention, makes up for it and there can be no mistaking the position of the party.

The plank in the platform in favor of the submission of the question of constitutional prohibition to the people is in accordance with the principles of the party in times past. All questions of such moment should be submitted to the people for their acceptance or rejection. The ground which has been taken by the party on biennial elections has been that the decision should be left with the people, and in order to get it before them it is necessary that a form of constitutional amendment shall be presented for their suffrages. On this ground and with this argument, the friends of biennials have plead for the submission of the question to the people. The friends of the abolition of the poll tax, as a prerequisite for voting, have made a similar plea. So now the friends of constitutional prohibition ask that the people shall be allowed to vote on this question. It is but right and consistent with the principles of the republican party, that an opportunity should be given for the decision of all these questions by popular vote.

As far as the question itself is concerned, our judgment is that the present liquor law, properly enforced, will close up as many dram shops as would be closed under constitutional prohibition. Still if the people of the State are ready for such prohibition, will vote for it and sustain it, the friends of temperance will have reason to rejoice. Time will tell how much confidence is to be placed on the popular vote in this respect.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Frank K. Foster is running for Lieut. Governor on the Democratic ticket and Treasurer and Receiver General on the Greenback ticket. Can't he be given a local nomination on the Republican ticket?

The nomination of Andrew by the Democrats falls flat in this town and he will probably run behind here. A member of the Democratic town committee was heard to remark that if he had got to vote for a Republican anyway he preferred Ames, and as to Spaulding, who was never a democrat, if his party indorsed him it was plainly his duty to vote for General Cogswell. The woods are full of them and election day will show it.

The Salem Observer says:—That Gen. Cogswell will be chosen, we see no reason to doubt. He has elements of popularity possessed by none of the other candidates. Many democrats will vote for him and he will receive the full republican strength. The little opposition in Peabody and Danvers is mainly personal and will quickly die away.

It is said that Mr. Charles H. Litchman of Marblehead is seeking the Republican Senatorial nomination in the new district, which includes Salem, Beverly and Marblehead. Mr. Sam. Roads, the present representative of Marblehead, it is understood will be the nominee of the Democrats.

The Democratic Congressional Convention has been called at Salem, Oct. 11, and everything points to the nomination of Rev. Willard Spaulding after a little fight. Already he has secured the delegates from Peabody, Gloucester, Rockport, Amesbury and two-thirds of the Salem delegation, besides numerous smaller places. Mr. Spaulding has gone before the laboring men and told them he had no money to put into the campaign, but would stump the district speaking as often and wherever the committee might indicate. His friends are confident that there will be money enough forthcoming to put the usual complement of names on the voting lists. Should Breen be nominated for sheriff or Col. Sweeney for District Attorney, large sums are already pledged.

MILLIONS IN ESSEX JOURNALISM.—Prospective Journalist—In what Massachusetts county are editors the richest?

Veteran Newspaper Man—In old Essex.

P. J.—I am astonished to hear that. What proof is there of that fascinating fact?

Veteran—Editor Vittum of the Peabody Press fed a whole congressional convention with codfish yesterday.

P. J.—Enough said. I take the next train for old Essex.—Boston Record.

That codfish was supposed to start a Blunt boom right off but he lost two votes on the next ballot. Perhaps it was because that fish had been previously inspected by Cogswell.

It is understood that the delegates to the Congressional Convention from this town representing the Democratic party will support Rev. Willard Spaulding, the K. of L. candidate. Should there be unity of action thereon, Brother Spaulding will go to Congress.—Amesbury News.

There seems to be a feeling of disappointment that Hon. W. M. Hill of Salem refused to allow his name used as a candidate for sheriff. But this can be readily explained when it is reported that the friends of District Attorney Hurlburt of Lynn, and the friends of ex-mayor Breen, the old political boss of Lawrence, and the friends of County Commissioner Colby of Newburyport, have made a deal that will control the convention. The delegates from these three cities by combining, expect to nominate Hurlburt for District Attorney, Breen for Sheriff and Colby for County Commissioner. Perhaps they will, and then again.

A petition has at last been presented to the Selectmen, desiring them to request the Horse R. R. Cos. to move their stations to places where no sales are made on Sundays. No action was taken on it by the Board, and it is not likely there will be. If there is, it is not likely that the R. R. will take any notice of it. Neither they, nor the travelling public want the stations in any such places. Nor do they desire that their patrons should wait on the sidewalks, especially during the cold weather. The petition also asks that the druggists be requested to sell nothing but medicines on Sundays. Mayor Johnson, of Waltham, made an attempt to prevent the druggists in that city from selling soda and cigars on Sundays, but the courts sustained the druggists and the scheme failed. It is too late in the day to revive the blue laws in Massachusetts or in Peabody. Public sentiment will not uphold it. It may be law, in its literal acceptance, but it is not reason or common sense.

Apropos to the proposed nomination of Mr. Hurlburt in this county as district attorney, a comparison of his method of dealing with liquor cases with that of other attorneys, district attorney Stevens for instance, is at point. A correspondent in the Woburn Journal gives this instance, and well illustrates the need of a faithful and impartial attorney like Mr. Hurlburt:

One notable case in point is that of a prominent rumseller who for twenty-five years has been a seller, license or no license, and who has before been convicted and served one or more terms in the House of Correction. He was convicted in our District Court from which he appealed to the Superior Court where judgment was affirmed. Mr. Stevens carried this case in his pocket for months and when called upon privately to call the case up for sentence failed to do so for weeks. When at last the patience of the citizens of our town was exhausted, a petition, signed by a large number of prominent citizens of our town, was presented asking him to bring the case up without delay, he finally did so, but instead of doing his duty as an officer should, he invited the signers of the petition to go down to Cambridge and state to the court their views. After asking a few questions and then turning them over to the opposing Counsel, he stepped up and was introduced to the prisoner at the bar, shaking hands as if with an old friend, thus saying in effect that he thought it a case for leniency. We submit this is not the manner of an unbiassed prosecuting officer. We may add that in their interviews, he told the committee he had been "seen" by the other side.

Col. Cyrus T. Batchelder, of this town, will be the nominee of the republican party for re-election to the General court from this town, AND HE WILL BE ELECTED.

If Gould of Portland had speculated in stocks and come out thousands of dollars ahead, would he have forfeited his standing in society or church? But he lost. That's the crime.—Milford Gazette.

At present we hear but little about the boycott in this city. The sober second thought of the workingmen of Lynn, made them aware of the impractical and barbarous nature of this imported nuisance. It flourished as a kind of temporary spasm for a short time but now a man who has the hardihood to defend such an indefensible method of warfare is unpopular. The day of the boycott in Lynn is in the past and cannot be revived.—Lynn Union.

We wonder if the lady operator at the Central telephone station is subject to the same annoyance as the Clinton one is, so that the publication of the following item in the Courant of that place was deemed necessary:—The lady operator at the central telephone office would consider it a great favor if parties who are "called up" would avoid ringing in reply; speaking is sufficient, as the operator's ear is at the telephone, and the buzz is very annoying. The night operator (who is desirous of giving the best service possible) would say that hereafter the "funny people" who call him up at night to ask the "time o' day" cannot be accommodated.

The Woburn Journal of last Saturday has this to say of the labor trouble in that town. Despite this, we learn that many of the factories have closed. They have posted no circular, however, and it does not look as if they would. They will have no difficulty in making terms with the men, individually, or hiring them at satisfactory terms, if they leave this paper down. George F. Putnam of Salem did not post the circular, and he can hire all the old men he wishes, and at his own terms. They are Knights of Labor, too.

"Rumors are rife that the leather manufacturers do not propose to put up notices in their factories, but will allow matters to go on as at present, if the Knights of Labor do not interfere. They have agreed that if a workman's pay is cut down in any particular factory and the Executive Committee order all the men out for that reason and they go out, every factory will immediately turn their hands out and shut down. If this is true it behooves the Knights to go slow, look before they leap, and steer clear of the reefs. There need be no trouble, strikes or lockouts under such an arrangement, and we do not believe there will be any. Cold winter is approaching—let us all look out for our bread and butter."

Lieut. Henn of the Galatea is a good fellow, but he is a little too particular. He should have been told before he went wind-hunting to Marblehead that the kind of wind he wants doesn't grow on this side of the sea. They keep almost every known variety of wind at Marblehead, but not the wind that can make the Galatea beat the Mayflower. Lieut. Henn must bring over some winds from England the next time he comes over here. All winds that blow along the stern and rockbound coast are Mayflower winds.—New York Sun.

Mark Allen, of the Woburn Advertiser, a democrat of long standing speaks his mind thus regarding John F. Hurley's letter to Postmaster Vilas:

John F. Hurley of Salem, Mass., wants the Salem Post Office; he wants it bad; he wants it because he claims that he is a Democrat; he wants it because to the victors belong the spoils; and has written a letter to Post Master General Vilas, giving that official a severe lecture on the subject, in which John makes himself supremely ridiculous. That letter was published in last Saturday's Salem News, and doesn't do much credit to the patriotism or democracy of John F., and after reading that foolish letter, we sincerely hope that John F., will not get the Salem Post Office, and we don't think he will.

We learn that Andrew E. Story, of Beverly, is put forward as a candidate for representative of that district. Should he receive the requisite support in the convention and at the polls, the district will never have reason to regret its choice. As a republican he has been well tried, and as an advocate of the labor interests, he will be found fully equal to the demands.

NECK FIXINS.

All the new styles in

COLLARS AND NECKWEAR

For street or dress occasions.

LINEN COLLARS.
10 cts. $1.00 per dozen.
20 cts. $2.00 per dozen.

NECKWEAR.
25 cts. New patterns
50 cts. New patterns.

W. S. NEAL & CO.,

228 & 230 Essex St., Salem.

IVERS & POND PIANOS.

For the best Pianos in Salem examine the Ivers & Pond if you want a good one. For sale only by W. J. Lefavour. 175 Essex St. Salem.

New Advertisements.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX ss. PROBATE COURT

To the Heirs-at-law, Next of Kin, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of MALACHI F. BATCHELDER, late of Peabody, in said county, gardener, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Rosina C. Batchelder and Orlando A. Foster, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them the executors therein named.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the third Monday of October next at nine o'clock, before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same. And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

sep 29—3t

M. N. BLACK

Combings made into Switches and Montagues. All work warranted.

80 MARKET ST. LYNN.

FRANK CONSINS'

BEE-HIVE.

This is not Our Week to Buy Horse Cars,

But the prices on our goods will tel a wonderful story.

At Linen department we offer 200 dozen all Linen HUCK TOWELS, good size, 2 for 5 cents. Just the price of a car ticket.

Also TURKISH and large DAMASK TOWELS, 2 for 25 cents.

Not more than one pair of either of the above Towels to one customer.

Come ye the millions and buy

— AT —

Frank Cousins

BEE-HIVE.

SALEM.

THE "OLD RELIABLE"
Family and Agricultural Newspaper, THE

New England Farmer

Under New Management, preserves all its Old and Well-known Excellencies, and introduces
Many new and valuable featues,
Including a Woman's Department.
All of its Editors are Practical Persons.
$2.00 per Year in Advance. Samples free.
Address
NEW ENGLAND FARMER,
34 Merchants Row, Boston, Mass.

Rose Bvds

and Pinks.

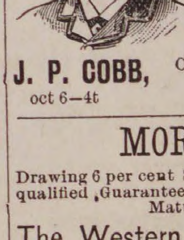
WEDDING and FUNERAL FLOWERS.

PEABODY GREENHOUSES

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

J. P. COBB,

BARITONE & HUMOROUS VOCALIST.



Churches, Societies, Lodges, etc., intending to give entertainments this season, will do well to send for Circular and Terms.

PRIVATE GATHERINGS
A SPECIALTY.
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.
ADDRESS,

J. P. COBB, CARE O. DITSON & CO.,
Boston, Mass.

oct 6—4t

MORTGAGES

Drawing 6 per cent Semi-Annual Interest. Unqualified Guarantee of Principal and Interest at Maturity, by

The Western Security Company.

Organized in 1874. CAPITAL paid in cash, 100,000. We offer for sale and recommend these securities to lenders of money.

The Eastern Banking Company.

43 Milk Street, Boston.

FRANCIS A. OSBORN, President.
EDWARD T. MERRIHEW. Treasurer.

oct 6—3 mos.

TO LET.

The factory recently vacated by the Vaughn Morocco Machine Company, situated on Walnut Street. The building is in thorough repair and suitable for manufacturing purposes.

Apply to
J. W. VAUGHN, Washington St., Peabody, or Peabody St., Salem.

sept 22—4t

OATMEAL FOR POULTRY.

WE have to offer a small lot of fine Oatmeal for poultry and calves. Is sweet but not fresh for grocers trade. Price very low.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central st.

oct 6

WHITE CORN MEAL.

JUST RECEIVED, another car of kiln dried White Meal. This is made from the best of sound corn, and by analysis shows more nutriment than yellow corn meal. The price is $2 ton less.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.
41 to 47 Central st.

oct 6.

MITCHELL'S BELLADONNA PLASTERS. For pains in the breast, side or back, and for weak lungs. Sure remedy for that cold spot between the shoulders. This is the oldest and most reliable Belladonna Plaster made, and contains an extra quantity of Belladonna, Sold by all Druggists. oct 6—6 mos.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening Oct. 6, 1886,

HOME HAPPENINGS.

"Upon the woods once more descends the autumn hush,
Upon the leaves again appears the autumn blush,
Upon the hills and vales again appears the autumn glory,
Upon the ladies' hats is built another story.'

Several newly married people in this town have been considerably amused by the collosal cheeck of a Philadelphia firm called the Co-Operative Publishing Co., who take their names from the newspaper, and place them on a card about the size of a cabinet photograph, then a bronze border and the words "What God hath joined together let no man put asunder" and the date of the marriage is all there is to it. This card could be manufactured at 10 cents a piece, the firm expect a half a dollar. They say, "We take the liberty of submitting to you for inspection the enclosed Wedding Announcement Card, etc. Should you desire to retain the enclosed copy the price is 50 cents, which barely pays the cost of printing, mailing, etc., and we trust you will enclose the amount and mail to us within five days." It is safe to say that very few are found gullible enough to send the fifty cents and those who have received the card need not waste the postage in returning them.

The first annual cattle show and fair of the Bay State agricultural society opened Tuesday at the building of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanics' Association on Huntington avenue, Boston. The managers of the fair expect to be able to show 1500 head of cattle, famous horses, a dairy in full operation, agricultural implements and domestic manufactures. Day and evening concerts will be given by Baldwin's and the Salem Cadet bands and Reeves' American band. The premiums aggregate $12,500 and gold medals, and extra money prizes are promised. Mr. Francis H. Appleton is one of the executive committee.

The midnight cars from Salem, for Peabody, will run only Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. This is a mistake. The object for which these cars was established is for the accomodation of people who desired to attend the theatres in Boston. This accommodation would be appreciated more in the winter than in the summer time. If the Danvers cars would run the other three nights in the week, we should be accommodated. It is not to be expected that these trips pay. But the roads pay, and the people ought to have the accommodation. But the Company have it all their own way.

The Essex County Women's Suffrage Convention will be held at the Universalist Church, Salem, Oct. 7 at 7.30 P. M., and Oct. 8 at 2.30 and 7.30 P. M. Addresses by Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, Rev. E. C. Bolles, D. D., Rev. Fielder Israel, Dr. Sarah E. Sherman, Rev. Annie H. Shaw, Miss Cora Scott Pond, Rev. Louis A. Banks, Mrs. M. O. Stevens, and others. A basket lunch will be served in the church for the delegates at 12.30 and 5 30 P. M. A business meeting of the leagues, viz: Salem, Peabody, Haverhill, and Lynn, and other delegates, will be held immediately after the noon lunch.

Bank checks, drafts and similar printed forms, such as deeds, insurance policies, etc., will hereafter go through the mails as third-class matter at the rate of one cent for two ounces. This will include check-books or books of blank drafts, but not ordinary blank books which are fourth-class matter, one cent an ounce. Checks, drafts, policies and other such papers filled up with writing, will be charged letter postage.

The Methodist people hold their meetings in the vestry during the alterations which are being made in the audience room above, which will not be completed before the first of next month. Monday the interior was thoroughly washed and prepared for the painters and frescoers. About $1800 will be spent before the work is completed.

The directors of the Odd Fellows Mutual Benefit association of Essex North, met recently to consider the condition of the association. Vice President and Secretary were appointed a committee to consider the advisability of changing the present method of conducting the association, and to report as soon as possible.

The engineer's report of the pumping station for the month of September is as follows:—Number of gallons pumped 15,505,640; average per day, 516,854; pounds of coal used, 39,392; average per day, 1313; gallons of water pumped per one pound of coal, 393 6-10; average running time per day, 6h. 24m.

Mr. Thomas Brown, a green shaver, had a fall last Saturday and sustained internal injuries and it is not expected he will recover.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

Mr. J. Shedd Needham was around town last week with his hand in a sling. One of his fingers was badly crushed in the engine at his cider mill. Dr. Worcester attended him.

In the police court, last Thursday morning, Walter Cunningham, a non-union man who was assaulted by one Campbell, was arraigned charged with assault with a pistol on James H. Richardson. The testimony was that he shook the pistol in Richardson's face and threatened to blow his brains out. He acknowledged the handling of the pistol but said he did not intend to shoot. He was held in the sum of $500 for the higher court.

Judge Merrill rendered his decision in the liquor case of Jeremiah Bresnehan Thursday. The prisoner was discharged, the judge thinking there was not sufficient evidence to hold him.

A boy named Arthur Wilson had his eye badly injured last Sunday. He was driving a nail when it flew out and struck him in the eye. It was very painful but the doctor thought the sight was not injured.

One day last week a stranger visited each of our druggists and in each store asked for liquor. This seemed rather strange. Could it be that he was a "spotter?"

A non-union driver of a loaded tip cart fell from the shaft on which he was standing on Wallis street, Friday, and the wheel passed over him. He limped badly in his hurry to catch up with the team.

Two non-union men were fined $1 and costs each for being drunk last Thursday.

Hoodlums have smashed nearly every light of glass in the vacant tenement house on the corner of Midway and Tremont streets.

Mr. Patrick Callahan cemplains that a man named Finn assaulted him at the Salem market last Thursday afternoon.

Chief of Police Peasley reports for September:—Number of arrests, 39; drunkenness, 15; assaults, 9; using profane language, 2; keeping liquor with intent to sell, 2; breaking glass, 2; obstructing the sidewalk, 2; riotous proceedings, 2; trespass, 1; common rioter and brawler, 1; indecent exposure, 1; malicious mischief 1; larceny, 1; number of lodgers, 26.

A non-union man, so it is reported, skipped town last week, owing $35 for board besides $5 borrowed from a room mate and the latter's meerschaum pipe.

Daniel Coughlin and William Prescott were in the police court, Saturday morning, charged with the larceny of six tickets from a conductor of the Salem & Danvers car. Prescott claimed he received the tickets from Coughlin and didn't know they were stolen. The judge fined them $5 and one half the costs each.

Among the grand jury cases from this town are Patrick Crowley, wife murder; Patrick McNamara, mayhem; Thomas A. Griffin, interfering with an officer; Thomas Gannon and William Murphy, burglary; Hugh Flaherty and Jeremiah Bresnahan, engaging in a riot. Thomas O'Shea, indecent exposure; Patrick Scully and John Welch, riotous proceedings; John Welch, assaulting an officer; Walter Cunningham, threatening with a loaded pistol; besides a score of liquor cases. Is there another town of its size in the state that can show such a record of crime?

John Carr, a PRESS carrier boy, met with a painful accident recently. While stooping over to pick tomatoes his head came in contact with a grape vine, and a dead branch left a cut under the eye.

Last week a woman who had had trouble with a neighbor and was about to vacate a tenement in the same house, greased the two upper steps in hopes her neighbor would fall and injure herself. The woman has figured conspicuously in the police court.

Yesterday afternoon, at the pastoral residence of St. James' parish, Salem, Mr. Thomas E. Eagan, son of Edward Eagan of the firm of Eagan & Kelly of this town, was united in marriage to Miss Frances Hayes of Salem. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. D. J. Collins, the bridesmaid being Miss Jennie Eagan (sister of the groom), and the groomsman Mr. Thomas Moore, of Peabody. After the ceremony a reception was held at the future residence of the wedded couple, 64 Mason St., Salem, the wedding feast being served in Caterer Cassel's best style. The numerous wedding gifts were costly and appropriate. Mr. and Mrs. Eagan have gone on a bridal tour to New York. The Press extends congratulations, and joins their many friends in wishing them a long and happy married life. May their days lapse serenely away like the musical glide of summer brooks, and may life be a scene of sweet and varied pleasures, until they shall join "The grand bridal of God with the good above.„

Mr. A. P. Basford is preparing to erect a new stable on Lowell street.

ALL WOOL

TRICOTS.

The most desirable and most durable Dress Goods in the market, in

SEAL, NAVY, GARNET, MYRTLE, BLACK, and BROWNS,

At only 50 cts. per yard—in double fold at PEABODY'S.

Jerseys.

Boucle Jersey for $2.00, $2.25 and $2.50. Very choice styles at way down prices.

Velvets.

All the choice colors in regular $1.50 Velvets, for only $1.00 per yard.

Ribbons.

Velvet faced Ribbons—Picot Ribbons—Satin and Gros Grain Ribbons, etc. A new stock now open.

Feathers,
Pompons,
Plumes,
Velvets,
Bonnets,
Hats,
&c., &c.

Waterbury watches.

Boys wont forget the price—every watch perfect—$2.50, $2.50, $2.50.

Finger Rings, Ear Jewels, Bracelets, Chains, &c., &c.

WEDDING PRESENTS A SPECIALTY.

John P. Peabody,

SALEM.

STOVES AND RANGES.

We have a large stock of Parlor Stoves for the fall of 1886, among which are the HARVEST, PALLAS, SOMERSET, and WELCOME PARLOR STOVES, making our line of these goods equal to any shown in this city.

FOR RANGES

We offer the GOOD NEWS and NEW HUB RANGES, everywhere acknowledged to have no equal, with a full line of medium priced Ranges.

Also a good stock of

LIBRARY VASE and STAND LAMPS, CROCKERY and HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS.

LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH.

☞ Easy Terms on Instalments.

WADLEIGH & MORSE.

81 North St..

SALEM

BANKRUPT SALE

Of and Imported stock of

Human Hair Goods

The chance that comes but once in a life time.

The extensive stock of Mr. Leonard, the great importer and dealer of fine hair goods, was sold at auction last week in Boston. We were large purchasers of the same at merely nominal prices, and we propose to give our customers the benefit of the same. We have elegant waves at less than one quarter the original price. Crimps for 10c, 25c, 37c up. Warranted water curl ones for 50 and 75 cts.

Hair Switches for 25c, 50c, up. Gray Switches, a full line, from $2 up.

Polished Hair Crimping Irons 25c. Regular price $1.

Fluffy Fedore Curlers 15c, regular price 30c Ornaments, Hair Pins, etc., etc.

COME & EXAMINE.

Mrs. J. H. Browne's

153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

Also Remember all our Trimmed Hats and Bonnets will be closed out at Bargain prices. We have the largest stock to select from in the city

BROWNE'S

Next door to the Museum.

STRAWBERRIES,

POT GROWN.

Plants of Leading Varieties.

By setting in AUGUST will secure fruit the following season.

PLANTS ready now. Send for Circular, or call on

E. & C WOODMAN,

FLORIST AND GARDEN SUPPLIES,

DANVERS, MASS.

Greenhouses, Holten St., Tapleyville, on line of Horse R. R.

1886.

FALL and WINTER GOODS.

1 Case each LADIES MERINO UNDERWEAR, 50, 75, $1.00.

LADIES' and MISSES' WOOLEN HOSE, 20, 25, 37, 50.

BLANKETS and COMFORTERS,

$1.00 to $6.00. 62 cents to $2.50.

F. D. TARLTON,

42 MAIN STREET.

IMMENSE BARGAINS

THIS WEEK!

NOW IS YOUR TIME TO GET

Men's Canvas Bals. only 65 cents.
Boys' Canvas Bals only 75 cents.
Youths' Canvas Bals only 65 cents.

REGULAR $1.00 GOODS.

Men's and Boys' Tennis, 75 cents.
Men's Tennis Bals., $1.00.
Smith Hand Sewed Goat Button, $2.75.
Women's Comfort Button, $2.00.
Women's Mikado Slipper, 35c.
Men's Silk Embroidered Slipper, 65c.
Women's Fine Kid Oxfords, $1.00.
Women's House Slipper, 25c.

BIG BARGAINS IN SUMMER GOODS FOR THE NEXT TEN DAYS

— AT —

Geo. E. Pearson's.

206 ESSEX STREET.

SALEM.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

GRAND OPENING

— OF —

Trimmed Bonnets

AND

Round Hats.

Novelties in Every Department.

TUESDAY, OCT. 5th.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 6th.

THURSDAY, OCT. 7th.

THURSDAY Oct. 7th Ladies Excursion from Peabody via Naumkeag Horse R. R. Get coupons from conductors which can be exchanged at our office for return tickets by ladies visiting our stores on the above named dates, whether purchasers or not.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

Essex and Washington Street,

SALEM. MASS.

☞ STORE NOT OPEN EVENINGS.

NOW FOR BARGAINS !

Just received from factory an article that everybody should have. This lamp is safe and sells at a price that everybody can afford. Call for the Wide Awake Lamp Only 65c Each.

We have also taken agency for the COMBINED WRINGER AND FOLDING WASH BENCH, and shall offer this useful article at the price agents are offering common wringers for.

FULL STOCK OF LAMP GOODS!

Save labor by buying the Patent Barrel Coal Sifters and Patent Vary Clothes Dryers.

Good Wood Horse for 50c; Saw Horse 25c.

We are offering at low figures stock of Fruit Pickers and Porcelain Kettles. Large variety and numerous bargains on our

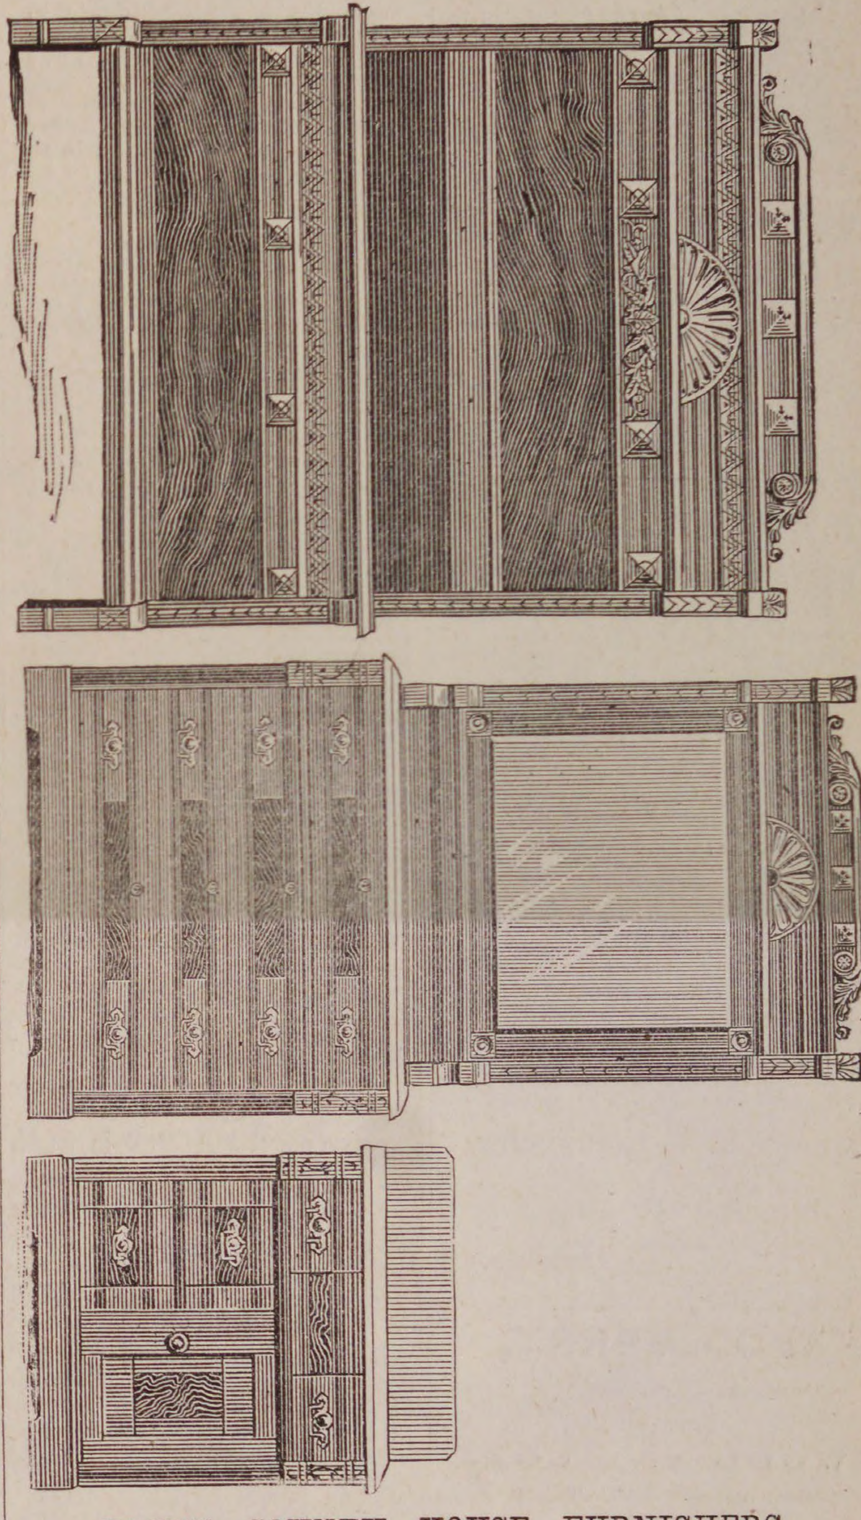
5c, 10c AND 25c BARGAIN COUNTERS,

— AT —

MORRISON & TRASK'S,

Walnut Street.

sep 8—1y



ESSEX COUNTY HOUSE FURNISHERS.

Largest Stock, Lowest Prices for Cash, and easiest terms on instalments, $1.00 down and $1.00 a week. Nearly an acre of flour room all under one roof, OWNED and OCCUPIED by US alone, which is one of the reasons why we can and do sell cheaper than our competitors. We have the largest and best assortment of PARLOR STOVES and RANGES ever exhibited.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

123 & 125 PLEASANT & 24 SCHOOL ST., MARBLEHEAD.

293 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

All Horse and Steam Cars stop at our Doors.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List. Please bring the height of your chimney hole so that we may be enabled to make pipe and set up stove without delay.

HOWE & CO.

COMMISSION BROKERS,

13 Exchange Place, Boston.

New York and Boston Stocks bought and sold up cash or carried on a margin of 1 per cent, or forward.

Grain, provisions and oil also carried on small margin.

Correspondence solicited.

sept 29—3 mo

SPECIAL OPENING.

—OF—

FINE CUSTOM MILLINERY.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 5th, 6th and 7th.

Our Mrs. Washburn has arranged for the finest selection, the greatest variety, the largest collection of elegant novelties in Millinery ever shown in Salem.

Our display of French Pattern Bonnets and English Round Hats will be unrivalled.

Almy, Bigelow & Washburn.

For full information about learning Shorthand, Typewriting and Business Correspondence, send stamp for large catalogue of the BOSTON SHORTHAND BUREAU, 180 and 186 Washington St., Boston, Mass., containing terms, samples of reporting, annual list of graduates, etc. Publishers of STENOGRAPHY, the best shorthand magazine, and the standard series of shorthand textbooks, dealers in typewriters, etc.

Sep 29—4t

Fall Room Papers.

We offer many special bargains in Room Papers this fall, which parties in need will do well to examine, as they will not last long.

We offer an assortment of 10 and 12 ct. papers for 6 cts a roll.

15 ct. papers for 10 cts. a roll.
25 ct. papers for 15 cts. a roll.

GILT PAPERS 25 & 35 CTS. AND UPWARDS.

Merrill & Mackintire,

216 & 220 Essex St.,

SALEM.

DON'T MISS THIS!

Send for Reduced Price List of ARTIST'S MATERIALS. Please mention this paper and address

EDMANDS' Artist Supply Store,

12 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

sept 25—15t

Coal Dealers.

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheaokin Coal, Genuine Franklin Coal. Cumberland Coal.

All the best qualitv. Trv them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telphone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville, and will be promptly attended to.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

Vr 1. Batchelder. neyS Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

— AT —

PICKERINGS

7 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

ECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, JR & CO.,

Peabody Street

N. O. VERRY,

(Successor to L. B. Hatch.

DEALER IN

WOOD AND COAL,

Hard and Soft Wood Kindlings, Bark, Slabs, Hay, etc

113 DERBY ST., SALEM.

AT THE HEAD OF DERBY WHARF.

P. O. Box 64. Telephone, 444

---

15 CENTS FOR SAMPLE COPY of THIS BEAUTIFUL BOOK. It gives the LANGUAGE and Sentiment of Every Flower and Shrub, 3000 different kinds. Also all the Known Rules of Flirtation with Glove, Parasol, Handkerchief and Fan. It is the most complete work of the kind ever published. Send Fifteen Cents in stamps for a sample copy, also our price to agents. Agents wanted everywhere. Ad. AMERICAN PUB. CO., 17 North Tenth Street, Philad'a, Pa.

OUR SINGER THIS STYLE $17 15 DAYS' TRIAL. A Full Set of Attachments. WARRANTED 5 Years. Send for Circular. E. C. HOWE & CO., 122 N. 6th St., Phila., Pa.

mch 24

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any $10 cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground feb 11—3m

THE BEST

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, 34 Arlington st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrofulous or consumptive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Laconia, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with Scrofulous complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best blood of the day." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken several bottles, am greatly benefited, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers." R. Harris, Creel City, Ramsey Co., Dakota, writes: "I have been an intense sufferer, with Dyspepsia, for the past three years. Six months ago I began to use

Blood

Purifier

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

It has effected an entire cure, and I am now as well as ever."

Sold by all Druggists.

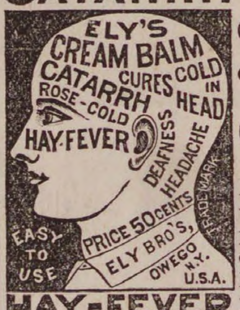
Price $1; Six bottles, $5.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively Cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00. CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York. Sold by all Druggists.



CATARRH ELY'S Cream Balm

Gives Relief at once and Cures.

COLD in HEAD

CARTARRH

HAY FEVER

Not a Liquid, Snuff or Powder. Free from Injurious Drugs and Offensive odors.

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at druggists; by mail, registered, 60 cts. Circulars free. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS!

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS WILL Purify the Blood.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS BEGETS Sound. Refreshing Sleep.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS FOR That Tired. Weary Feeling.

Sick Headache.

GENTS:—I have been subject to Sick Headache for years, and have tried, in vain, many advertised remedies and several physicians, but all to no purpose. At last I tried your B. B. Bitters—without much faith, I admit—but to-day I can truly say, that after taking the third bottle, I have not suffered from it. I recommend it to all my friends; several have been cured by it. My little grandson was permanently cured of Biliousness and Sick Headache, which were so severe as to cause convulsions. They have all ceased since he commenced the use of B.B.B.

MRS. B. C. BODLE,
Orange, Luzerne County, Pa.

FRENCH'S HOTEL.

CITY HALL SQUARE. NEW YORK.

Opposite City Hall and the Post Office.

This Hotel is one of the most complete in its appointments and furniture of ANY HOUSE in New York City and is conducted on the

EUROPEAN PLAN.

Rooms only One Dollar per day. Half minute's walk from Brooklyn Bridge and Elevated R. R. All lines of cars pass the door. Most convenient Hotel in New York for Merchants to stop at. Dining Rooms, Cafes and Lunch Counter replete with all the luxuries at moderate prices.

Book Notices.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for October opens with an interesting article, The Tragic Close of a Strange Reign, the story of Louis II of Bavaria well told and illustrated. Trout Fishing in Maine Lakes savors more of our land, and is a more cheery subject; and the picture of a three days catch will send many to such prolific waters. The picturesque career of Herman Cortes lends itself to attractive picturing. Summer Saunterings About Lake George makes us feel that we have in our land all that is grand and romantic and interesting. Altogether, the number is one that, in variety of topics, charm of writing fineness of illustration, is unmistakably a hit. The plate, in gold and colors, is exquisite.

The September Wide Awake is enriched with a very strong and interesting Frontispiece by sandham which illustrates a Mexican poem by F. L. Sealey, entitled Los Companeros. The opening story, a spirited piece of work, by G. Hamlen, When Book Meets Book, is a salutary tale to be read by both children and their parents. Hon S. S. Cox, U. S. Minister to Turkey, contributes a long and racy article upon L'Enfant Terrible Turk, which is fully illustrated from Turkish photographs. There is much other interesting matter, notably the three serials, The Crew of the Casabianca, by C. R. Talbot, Mrs Lillie's Pamela's Fortune, and Margaret Sidney's Peggy and her Family; also E. S Brooks' historical story, The Little Lord Keeper's Goose, and there are poems by Esther B. Tiffany, Kate Putnam Osgood, Mrs. Bisbee and others. Wide Awake is $3.00 a year. D. Lothrop & Co., Publishers, Boston.

The Experience Meetings in Lippincott's Magazine have proved among the most popular of recent innovations in magazine literature. Few articles have been more widely read and more freely quoted than the literary confessions of Julian Hawthorne, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Joel Chandler Harris, Edgar Fawcett, Joaquin Miller, etc., and the experiences of Mrs. James Brown Potter, John M. Ward, L. E. Myers, and other professional or amateur celebrities. Encouraged by this success, the editor has determined, by dropping the fiction of an Experience Meeting and placing the articles in the body of the periodical, to give each author the privilege of elaborating at his pleasure, instead of confining himself within the limits of a special department. A Bachelor's Blunder, by W. E. Norris, is continued and is as charming as ever. J. S. of Dale has an exquisite story, entitled Our Consul at Carlsruhe. W. H. Babcock, in Carols and Child-Lore at the Capital, continues his studies in juvenile folk-lore. There are poems by Edgar Fawcett, Louise Chandler Moulton, and Clinton Scollard. In the Monthly Gossip, a Lady from Philadelphia argues with a great deal of wit and cleverness that woman was created the superior of man.

An interesting paper by John Dimitry, entitled A King's Gift, is one of the prominent features of the beautiful October Magazine of American History. It is the pleasant story of events in Louisiana about the time of the gift of that province to Spain, by Louis XV., of France, who it seems was heartily tired of his American domain. The Hon. Charles K. Tuckerman follows with fresh information on the subject of President Lincoln and Colonization, together with an estimate of the losses sustained by the experiment at Hayti, shortly before Lincoln's death. An Earthquake in Kentucky, by John James Audubon, a graphic description of what the great naturalist experienced in 1825, will attract notable attention at this juncture; and an excellent portrait of Audubon is the frontispiece to the magazine. Mr. Galloway's Confederacy Within a Confederacy is a singular record but intensely interesting. This magazine is grandly sustained and elicits the warmest commendation in every quarter. Published at 30 Lafayette Place, New York City.

---

100 Doses One Dollar is inseparably connected with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and is true of no other medicine. It is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy, while thousands testify to its superior blood-purifying and strengthening qualities. A bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will last a month, while others will average to last a week. Hence, for economy, buy Hood's Sarsaparilla.

BLANC-MANGE.—One cup of moss, soak in cold water one hour, then tie it up in a muslin bag, and put in a tin pail with three quarts of milk, and boil thirty minutes. Stir in a tea-spoonful of salt, half a cup of sugar, and flavor.

Smart Weed and Belladonna combined with the other ingredients used in the best porous plasters make Carter's S. W. & B. Backache Plasters the best in the market. Price 25 cents.

CORN OYSTERS.—To one pint of grated sweet corn, add one egg, one cup of flour, one-half gill of cream; mix well, and drop a tea-spoonful into hot fat.

MICHAEL STROGOFF—Mr. G. C. Staley, while playing the leading part in Michael Strogoff, at Oakland, Cal., became so hoarse from a severe cold that he despaired of being able to continue his part. Two bottles of Red Star Cough Cure entirely cured him. Does not nauseate.

The Victor Hanger is the only absolutely non-friction hanger that is secure to the rail.

RED STAR TRADE MARK. COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

ST JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc. PRICE, FIFTY CENTS. AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston,

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

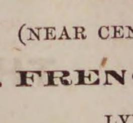
Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.



Boyden House,

128 1-2 & 132 UNION ST.

(NEAR CENTRAL STATION.)

H. FRENCH, - Prop.,

LYNN, MASS

je 9—1y

WANTED The owner of a Mining Claim which has "Ore in Sight" valued at $147,238, assays from which give $100 to $250 per ton in Gold, ask for Capital to further develop the same and put it upon a paying basis by the erection of suitable machinery, &c. Will sell an equal one-half interest for $50,000, the money so obtained to be placed in trust or otherwise secured to the purpose above mentioned. For full information, principals only address

WM. H. SPOONER,
Bristol, R. I.

FRAZER AXLE GREASE

BEST IN THE WORLD ☞ Get the Genuine. Sold Everywhere.

TO ADVERTISERS.—Lowest Rates for advertising in 1000 good newspapers sent free. Address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

Saving Institutions.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

WARREN

Five Cents Savings Bank

RUFUS H. BROWN, President.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treasurer.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Dividends are payable semi-annually, on the third Wednesday of May and November.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY

AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS

AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE

Arthur Elliott & Co.,

DEALERS IN

FRESH AND SALT FISH.

Lobster and Fancy Fish in their seasons.

A share of public patronage solicited.

Caller Street,

PEABODY.

CROSS,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

P. J. LYONS,

HAIRDRESSER,

8 LOWELL STREET,

PEABODY.

Particular attention paid to cutting Ladies and Children's Hair.

Ladies Shampooed at their residence if so desired.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY!

64 MARKET STREET, LYNN

Express.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody		at	9 47 A. M
Freight "	"	at	5 00 P. M
Express "	Boston	at	3 30 P. M
Freight "	"	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P.M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES.

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Aparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the owest rates.

Dr. F. G. Bates,

DENTIST,

218 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

OVER MERRILL & MACKINTIRE'S,

All Work Warranted.

mch 31—1y

$1

13 WEEKS,

The POLICE GAZETTE will be mailed, securely wrapped, to any address in the United States for 3 months on receipt of ONE DOLLAR.

Liberal discount allowed to postmasters, agents and clubs. Sample copies mailed free. Address all orders to

RICHARD K. FOX,
FRANKLIN SQUARE, N. Y.

To Advertisers.

A list of 1000 newspapers divided into STATEs and SECTIONS will be sent on application—FREE. To those who want their advertising to pay, we can offer no better medium for thorough and effective work than the various sections of our Select Local List.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.
Newspaper Advertising Bureau,
10 Spruce Street, New York.

SHORTHAND Text-book and Instruction by mail to master it, given by the author of the system for $6. Most popular and easy method. Endorsed by 1000 graduates and professonl stenographers. Book alone $1. D. L. Scott Browne, 28 Clinton Place, New York, N. Y.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM
Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

PEABODY.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

EDWIN B. BALCOM,

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very best Tobacco in the market, we feel justified in saying he

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol Cuba brands

FOR A 5C SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store,

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO, 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

DRS. KIMBALL & HOWARD

DENTISTS,

357 UNION STREET, LYNN.

(Spinney's Block near Central Station).

Make a specialty of administering the New Vegetable Vapor and extracting teeth. No charge for the Vapor when more than one tooth is extracted at a sitting.

Also are thorough masters of the profession Dentistry, in both mechanical and operative branches. jy 7—1y

ESTABLISHED IN 1838.

LIGHT DRINKS FOR THE PEOPLE.

S. B. WINN & SON,

191 Washington St., Salem,

Near the Eastern Railroad Depot.

MANUFACTURERS OF ALL KINDS OF SUMMER DRINKS, INCLUDING

GINGER ALE,
TONIC,
GINGER,
HOP,
and other BEERS.

Our Ginger Ale will be found far superior to any now on the market. It is put up in half pint bottles, in a neat and convenient manner. We pride ourselves upon the purity and originality of the ingredients selected for the compounding of this harmless and at the same time beneficial summer beverage.

Charged Soda Fountains

All sizes, constantly on hand.

Soda Water in Syphons.

Our Iron Clad Fountains give universal satisfaction.

All the water used in our manufactured drinks is filtered in the best possible manner. The composition used in charging our Soda Fountains is the best and purest known, notwishstanding the superior claims made by others. We challenge a comparison.

MOXIE NERVE FOOD $1 per dozen

In addition to the above, we keep constantly in stock, all kinds of

PURE LIQUORS,

FOR FAMILY AND MEDICINAL PURPOSES.

Cigars of the best brands, can be had.

Our steam apparatus for charging Fountains and Bottling, has all the modern improvements suggested by mechanical appliances. This is the only steam charging apparatus of the kind in Essex County, and the public are invited to call and see it in operation.

Samples of goods shown with pleasure.

Goods delivered in all parts of the city, Beverly, Danvers and Peabody, free of charge

S. B. WINN, F. M. WINN.

Telephone, 222.

may 5—4m

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,

ACCORDEONS

HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

OLD MAGAZINES

WANTED.

Will take old Harper's, Scribner's, St. Nicholas or Century Magazines of any date whatever in exchange for Book Binding, Card Albums or Cash.

H. A. BROOKS,

BOOK BINDER,

224 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE

BROKER & APPRAISER.

SALEM,

Offers for Sale at reasonable terms

THE SAUNDERS' ESTATE

MAIN ST., PEABODY.

HAY!
HAY!
HAY!

10 cars arrived to-day for sale cheap. Fancy White Middlings, Bran, Fine Feed, Oat Meal, Ground Oats, Cotton Seed Wheat, Screenings, Barley, Fancy le lip Barley, Oats, Mixed Oats, White Oats, Haxall and St. Louis Flour. Also other kind of feed for Horses and Cows in great variety. Please call and examine our stock and prices before buying elsewhere.

J. V. & J. HANSON

2 & 4 FRONT ST, SALEM,

ALSO AT

Peabody Square & Danvers Iron Works.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Should be kept constantly at hand, for use in emergencies of the household. Many a mother, startled in the night by the ominous sounds of Croup, finds the little sufferer, with red and swollen face, gasping for air. In such cases Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. Emma Gedney, 159 West 128 st., New York, writes: "While in the country, last winter, my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with Croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral was tried in small and frequent doses, and, in less than half an hour, the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the Pectoral saved my darling's life." Mrs. Chas. B. Landon, Guilford, Conn., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Saved My Life,

and also the life of my little son. As he is troubled with Croup, I dare not be without this remedy in the house." Mrs. J. Gregg, Lowell, Mass., writes: "My children have repeatedly taken Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for Coughs and Croup. It gives immediate relief, followed by cure." Mrs. Mary E. Evans, Scranton, Pa., writes: "I have two little boys, both of whom have been, from infancy, subject to violent attacks of Croup. About six months ago we began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and it acts like a charm. In a few minutes after the child takes it, he breathes easily and rests well. Every mother ought to know what a blessing I have found in Ayer's Cherry Pectoral." Mrs. Wm. C. Reid, Freehold, N. J., writes: "In our family, Ayer's medicines have been blessings for many years. In cases of Colds and Coughs, we take

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

and the inconvenience is soon forgotten."

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

A VALUABLE COMPOUND

— OF —

Bitter Barks and Roots, Combined with Iron and Pure Sherry Wine, called

FERRATED HYGIENIC WINE.

Recommended for Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, General Debility, Nervous Prostration and Lassitude; is especially adapted to delicate ladies.

See that the trade mark

Is stamped on every label. Prepared by

C. H. & J. Price,

SALEM.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

Finest Pianos
and Organs.

Pianos, $25 down, then $10 per month. Organs, $5 down, then $5 per month

EVERY INSTRUMENT WARRANTED.

☞ No charge for carting to Peabody.

W. D. BROWN,

76 MARKET STREET,

LYNN.

may 5—3m

LAWN OUTFITS,
HAMMOCK CHAIRS,

Canvas and Woven wire Cots, Spring Beds and Mattresses, Parlor Furniture, Loose Covers, Window Shades and Draperies.

WILSON & DUFFY

17 City Hall Square,

LYNN.

Old furniture re-upholstered in the latest styles; good work and moderate prices; satisfaction guaranteed.

ORDERS BY MAIL PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

je 30—3m

M. N. BLACK,

Hair Work and
Hair Goods,

80 MARKET ST. LYNN.

Opposite W. B. Gifford's.

je 30—3m

JOHN GODFREY SAXE.

AN EMACIATED FORM, TOTTERING STEPS AND SHRUNKEN CHEEK.

The Old Poet a Mere Shadow of His Former Self—He Seldom Goes Beyond the Confines of His Rooms—Reads but Little.

In a large and luxuriously furnished apartment in a four-story brown stone house on State street, in the city of Albany, and almost within a stone's throw of the great capitol, sits or walks or reclines throughout the day a man of 70 years of age. With hair that is silvery white, a full beard that is gray white, a form that is bent and emaciated, a step that is slow and tottering, and a cheek that is pallid and shrunken—his blue eyes, yet full and lustrous, alone indicate the strength and pride of other days. This man is John Godfrey Saxe, the poet.

The old poet is now much changed in form and feature, being merely a shadow of his former self. During the first three years of his residence in Albany he spent some hours each pleasant day in strolling about the beautiful park near by, or tranquilly sitting there in a shady arbor, watching the children at their play. But during the past two years no public eye has seen him, for in that long interval he has of his own choice been carefully secluded in his room. He neither rides nor walks abroad. The apartment in which he spends his melancholy days consists of a suite of three rooms, located in the rear end of the house, on the third floor, and overlooking the noble Hudson to the south.

WATCHING THE RIVER CRAFT.

Here by the window he whiles away much of his time in watching the busy river craft and in contemplating the picturesque landscape. Of street attire he no longer has a need; in dressing gown and slippers he paces the floor with slow and trembling steps, seldom or never going beyond the confines of his own rooms. He prefers to have perfect quiet about him, and oftentimes dislikes to be disturbed even by a member of his own family.

It is a long time since he last consented to receive a stranger, or even a friend, or an acquaintance of former days.

"I cannot bear," he said, with pathos, "to be forcibly reminded of what I once was—of the days of my hope and strength, when the world had charms that now are dead to me; before sickness had deprived me of my health and death had robbed me of my loved ones."

In 1881, on his first coming to Albany, the eminent physicians whom his family consulted in his behalf predicted that he would not survive two years longer.

He goes to bed between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening, and rises at about 6:30 in the morning. He complains much of insomnia, and during the day is often very restless, suffering from neuralgia in the head. When not sitting in an easy chair or moving leisurely about his room, he reclines upon a couch. He eats often but very sparingly, and partakes of the plainest of food, indigestion being one of his principal bodily ills. Of his valet, a middle-aged colored man (who by reason of prior service with eminent people at Washington and other places is more than ordinarily intelligent and entertaining), the poet is very fond, chatting with him now and again with a more than usual degree of interest and animation.

READS COMPARATIVELY LITTLE.

Until quite recently he devoted a good share of his time to a perusal of the standard poets and the leading magazines, those of the latter to whose pages he was once a valued contributor being still sent him regularly and unsolicited by the publishers thereof, in kindly remembrance of past services. For some years he has not read the daily papers, and evinces little or no interest in current events.

"It pains me," he said, "to meet with the details of so much crime and so many casualties."

Indeed, he reads comparatively little of any kind now—occasionally a page or two, may be, of one of his favorite prose authors, that mainly consist of Hawthorne, Dickens and Thackeray, judiciously selecting therefrom matter of cheerful tone and subject. When undisturbed he is much given to musing; but at times will converse willingly and fluently, displaying thereby a power of memory that, in view of his feeble physical condition, is quite unlooked for, recently surprising his son not a little by reciting verbatim one of Charles Lamb's longest essays.

His thoughts often revert to his irreparable loss of wife and children, speaking of each tenderly and regretfully, and manifesting a keen interest in the proper care of their graves—ever dwelling on the domestic afflictions which have broken his heart, and enveloped his once brilliant intellect in a brooding and incurable melancholy.—Brooklyn Magazine.

Young Ladies on the Beach.

Away out on the Pacific coast a poor, weak man sought to disprove the allegation that women by choice always sit down on the floor or ground to put on or off shoes and stockings. He placed some benches on the beach, where a number of young ladies were in the habit of occasionally going to wade in the water. They came and gleefully took possession of the benches, but when they made up their minds that they wanted to wade down they all sat on the ground to unlace their shoes. Next day this poor, weak man had his servant spread broken glass, oyster shells, etc., on the beach and then waited, only to see the girls at wading time industriously clear away the stuff until they had room enough to sit down. Then he went away and marveled.—Chicago Herald.

Wheat on the Sage Brush Land.

In the spring of 1883 the land department of the Central Pacific railroad decided to make a faithful experiment of wheat growing on the sage brush land of Nevada without irrigation. At first the experiment was a partial failure, but this year has proved a most gratifying success, the land yielding fifteen bushels to the acre, and the quality of wheat being good. The result of this experiment would seem to indicate that the sage brush land of Nevada is worth something after all, in which case the state may become something more than a pocket borough.—New York Tribune.

Cutting Into a Grape Shot.

Southern saw mills are occasionally cutting into a grape shot imbedded in trees during the late war, and a firm that makes saws publishes as an advertisement a statement of a saw mill owner that the finely tempered saw he bought of the said firm had sawed clear through one of them, one and one-fourth inches in diameter, without hurting the saw, and that he cut two more logs into lumber before stopping, and then needed only thirty-five minutes for filing before going on as good as new.—Chicago Times.

To Avoid Drowning.

Persons who wish to avoid drowning are advised by an eastern physician to lock the hands behind the back, fully inflate the lungs and close the mouth.

To women a headache is a good friend that never contradicts them.—Balzac.

STORY OF A SKULL.

HOW THE ELDER BOOTH CAME IN POSSESSION OF THE RELIC.

A Curious Gift From a River Pirate. Saved by the Chief of a Lawless Gang. Visit to a Convict—Scared Servant Girls.

One Sunday night in Louisville a number of people called on Edwin Booth, and among them a doctor who had considerable local celebrity. He wanted to see Mr Booth because he had known the tragedian's father, and he sent word to our room that he wished to place in his hands a valuable relic that belonged to the elder Booth. He was shown up stairs by a little darkey, who carried something wrapped in a newspaper. It proved to be a well preserved skull, thoroughly cleaned and the parts joined by springs and hooks. On seeing it the nigger lad's eyes stuck out with fright and he hastened away, declaring, foh God, sah, he'd nebber touched dat ting ef he'd a knowed it was a dead un's head. Then the doctor related the history of the skull, and it proved mighty interesting and romantic.

"Years before, Junius Brutus Booth played an engagement in Natchez. After the closing performance he was taken down in a cart with his trunk to the river landing, to wait for the upcoming steamboat. He found in the saloon at the wharf a rough-looking set of men, whom by their talk he concluded were thieves and desperadoes. There were lawless gangs along the big river in those days. Booth had $1,000 in money in a belt, and from motives of policy he invited the ruffians to take several drinks. As this only served to increase their peculiar looks in his direction, he thought it would be better to make a deal for fear of losing his life. There was no help near and escape was out of the question—he would probably have been followed and murdered. Selecting the roughest, toughest, ugliest looking man in the crowd, Booth called him outside to say a few words. 'Look here,' said he, 'my name is Booth. I am an actor; you may have heard of me. I've got $1,000 in here in a belt and I'm afraid of being robbed. I want you to take it and keep it safe for me until the boat comes along.' The fellow looked earnestly at the old man and then reached out for the belt. Booth never expected to see a dollar of the money again, but he was glad to insure his personal safety. He slept on a table in the saloon. Next morning he was awakened by the custodian of his treasure. 'Get up,' said he; 'the boat's in sight. Here's your money!' Booth was thoroughly surprised, but of course delighted. 'What's your name?' he asked; 'I always like to remember an honest man's name.' The fellow hesitated, lowered his voice and answered: 'It's Morrill. Folks hereabout call me the chief of the river pirates. You trusted me, and I appreciate the trust.'

IN REMEMBRANCE.

"A year later Morrill was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. I believe Ned Buntline wrote a highly colored history of his crimes for one of the story papers. When old Booth returned to Natchez he visited the convict, took him money and delicacies. A strange friendship sprung up between these singularly different men, and every time the actor went to Natchez he repeated his visits to the prison. On the last he found Morrill dying of consumption. "Booth," said he, "I've not long to live. I should die happy if I had something to leave you to remember me by. You have been good to me, and I can repay you not at all. I have nothing." "Cheer up, old chap," answered Booth. "If you're set on leaving me a legacy let it be your head." He spoke in jest, of course, but the pirate took it in earnest, and on his death shortly after it was found that he had willed the tragedian his skull. Booth gave it to the doctor in Louisville to put in order, but dying himself soon after the request was forgotten until the physician brought it to Edwin. We used it for Yorick's skull in 'Hamlet,' and it was one of our most precious relics. It was a nice clean skull, and lighted up splendidly at night in the graveyard scene.

"One time at a hotel it was put on a shelf in the wardrobe, and I mounted it with a Macbeth wig and big bejeweled, gilt gown. Some prying servant girls happened to see it. A couple of 'em fainted, and the rest were frightened most to death. Morrill's skull didn't remain long in Edwin's possession, though. One time he went home to visit his mother, who lived on High street, in Baltimore. Unpacking his trunk while he was out, she came upon that skull. Not knowing what it was used for or the history attached to it, she decided to get rid of it along with some other rubbish. So when Edwin came in she told him how she had thrown that nasty skull out of the window, and that a coal cart passing by had a minute later crushed it into a hundred pieces.—New York Star."

Patti and the Calvanist.

Mme. Patti-Nicolini now advanced and bewitched the audience with "Coming Thro' the Rye." Had the author of the words, Robert Burns, heard her rendering of them he would have thrown up his Highland bonnet with delight.

Near me sat one of the chief dignitaries of the Welsh Calvinistic Methodists in New South Wales, and therefore of the modified Puritanism of the present day. He was convulsed with laughter, but kept one hand over one eye, while with the other he watched the charming lady singing "If a body kiss a body need a body cry." Patti and Burns seemed too much for religious austerity, and the son of dear Shon Gorph reveled in the general hilarity.—Cardiff Mail.

The Latest Fashionable Gait.

The Saratoga walk is said to be the latest fashionable gait for women. One who describes it says that "the first requisite is to throw your shoulders back, the chest forward, chin up, and stomach in, and then walk—wriggling head, limbs, body, and especially bustle. The aim is to secure a series of revolutions which shall be simultaneous, but opposite. In simple brevity, if your head moves right your body must move to the left, and before your foot reaches ground you must describe a circle with the entire limb. The gait is practiced in a night dress before the mirror. The part of the business most difficult to master is the proper position of the stomach."—New York Sun.

Thought New England an Island.

A dozen years after Henry Hudson had satisfied his Dutch employers that the river which bears his name was not a strait or arm of the sea, the impression prevailed in England among educated people that it really was so, and that in consequence New England was an island.—Boston Budget.

Nearest Relatives of Washington.

Harriet and Virginia Washington, of Berryville, Clarke county, Va., said to be the nearest surviving relatives of George Washington bearing his name, are in delicate health and in pressing need.—Chicago Herald.

Needed by an Auctioneer.

What is requisite for a good auctioneer is strong lungs, nerve, a liberal share of judgment, some politeness and no conscience.—Auctioneer in Globe-Democrat.

SALEM SHOE STORE,

278 ESSEX STREET SALEM,

Invite their Peabody customers to inspect their elegant line of

CANVASS AND LAWN TENNIS GOODS

At Reasonable Prices. We are the Salem agents for the celebarted

Button Lace & Congress

W.L.DOUGLAS'
$3.00
SHOE
WARRANTED
SILK STITCHED
GLOVE KID
ELASTIC WARRANTED
GLOVE KID
BEST TANNERY CALF
BOTTOM SEWED

HONEST GOODS at a small profit.

Our Men's and Children's Goods are made on the premises. Remember the number,

278 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

Opposite Packard's Furniture Store. T. A. CORSON, Agent.

mch 13—1y

WATCHES!

Appleton, Tracy & Co.
No 220,198
WALTHAM, MASS.

BARGAINS

— IN —

American Watch Co., Waltham and Elgin Watches.

Appleton, Tracey & Co.,

Full Jeweled, adjusted, chronometer balance, patent regulator and breguet hair spring. A very fine timekeeper, at a great reduction from regular prices.

The reliable P. S. BARTLETT WATCH, in a 3-oz. coin silver Waltham case, $16; warranted perfect in every respect.

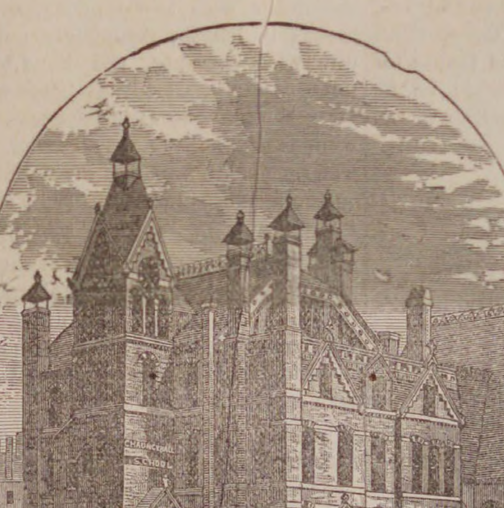
All grades of Watches at the lowest prices.

Watches, French Clocks, Jewelry, Eye Glasses, etc., repaired in prompt and superior manner. Especial attention given to cleaning and adjusting fine Watches.

Geo. A. Collins,

JEWELER,

26 MAIN STREET, PEABODY AND 198 ESSEX STREET, SALEM



[ESTABLISHED IN 1828.]

Chauncy-Hall School.

PARENTS desiring for their boys and girls the personal attention of private schools and the discipline and varied associates of public schools, will find both combined here.

The New Catalogue gives a full account of the great Care for Health; the thorough preparation for College, for Business, and the Mass. Institute of Technology; the facilities for Special Students; and the unusual arrangements for Young Children.

Graduates of High Schools often take advantage of the opportunities offered by Chauncy Hall for elective studies, to do advanced work in languages or other branches. There is no more charge for several classes in any study than for one class.

The school building, Boylston Street, near Dartmouth, is in the most elegant part of Boston, and is easily accessible. Horse cars pass the door.

259 BOYLSTON STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

(Opposite the Art Museum)

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

— CREAM HOME MADE BREAD —

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich ride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamenta work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

COMER'S

Commercial College,

BOSTON, MASS.

Best Equipped and Most Successful in America

Re-opens Sept. 1, 1886, for the 46th Year.

The course of study is elective and embraces the following subjects: Book-keeping; Penmanship; Commercial Arithmetic; Law and Correspondence; Short-Hand; Type-Writing; the English Branches. Students may begin at any time, receive INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION, and progress according to ability. Separate department for ladies.

Graduates Aided to Employment.

PUBLIC SCHOOL GRADUATES take our course as a finishing off for their other school work, before going into business.

Our Special Three Months' Course

is taken by persons whose time and means are limited.

THE COLLEGE BULLETIN, (Illustrated) gives full particulars and will be mailed free upon application. For further particulars address or call upon

C. E. COMER, 666 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

All our work is guaranteed.

NOTICE OUR

REMOVAL.

P. Hartigan & Son,

HORSE SHOERS,

Have removed from the rear of Kinsman's Block to

184 BRIDGE ST.,

Nearly opp. St. Peter street, Salem.

OLD ESTABLISHED CONCERN,

P. Hartigan, Senior, has had 30 years' experience.

N. B. Personal attention given to Horses that interfere or over-reach.

☞ Treatment of CORNS and QUARTER CRACKS a specialty.

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD On and after Monday, June 28, 1889 trains will run as follows,—

EASTERN DIVISION,

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, A. M., 1 55, 3 27, 5 08, 6 47 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 6 10, 8, 10 55 A. M., 12 M., 3, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M. Sunday, 9 27, A. M. Return 5 45 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6,30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48 7 51, 8 13, 8 34, does not stop at Lynn, 8 43, 8 58, 9 25, 9 55, 10.48 A M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 12, 3 35, 4 05, 4 21, 5 18, 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 8 55, 9, 9 53 P. M. Sundays, 5.37 8 45, 9 35, 10 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3, 5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48, 7 51, 8 43, 8 58, 10 48 A. M., 12 M, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 35, 4 21, 5 18, 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 9, 9 53, P. M. Sundays, 8 45, 9 35, 11 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3, 5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Beverly, 6 53, 8 13, 8 45, 10 44, 11 20 A. M., 12 02, 1 05, 2 27, 2 47, 3 56, 4 05, 5 12, 5 35, 5 57, 6 36, 7 05, 7 15, 7 45, 10 10, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M. 2 19, 7 17, 8 07 P. M

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—6 53, 8 45, 11 20 A. M., 2 47, 4 05, 5 35, 7 05, 7 45, 10 10 P. M Sunday, 7 17 P. M.

Essex, 8 13 A. M., 1 05, 3 56, 6 36 P. M.

Ipswich, 8 13, 9 35, 10 44 A. M., 1 05, 2 27, 3 57, 5 12 6 36, 7 15 P. M., Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

Newburyport, 8 13, 9 35, 10 00, 10 44 A. M. 1 05, 2 02 2 27, 3 56, 5 12, 6 36, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M

AND FOR SALEM—from

Newburyport—4 45, 6 30, 7, 8, 8 13, 9 07, 11 40 A. M 2 35, 3 30, 3 35, 5 43, 7 20, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.

Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 15, 8 31, 9 25, A. M. 12 02 3 53, 6 06, 7 26, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A. M., 5 06 P. M.

Essex—7, A. M., 12 05 5 40 P. M.

Rockport—6 05, 7 20, 8 35, 10 A. M., 1 15, 4 55, 6 40 9 P. M. Sundays—7 50, 9 55 A. M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 29, 8 44, 10 08 A. M, 1 25, 5 03 6 48, 9 09 P. M. Sundays—8, 10 03 A. M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 42, 8 56, 10 21 A. M., 1 39, 5 17, 7 01, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14, 10 16 A. M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 50, 9 16, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 21, 12 40, 1 58, 4 13, 5 35, 6 25, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 9 43 P. M. Sundays 8 35 10 35 A. M. 2 52, 5 30, 9 10 P. M.

Swampscott,—6 44, 8 50, 10 36, 11 26, 11 54 A. M., 12 36, 2 19, 3 28, 4 31, 6 20, 6 56, 8 32, 10. 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 12 A. M., 2 02, 5 52, 6 27, 7 09, 7 59 10 12 P. M.

Lynn—6 40, 8 02 8 35, 8 46, 9 10, 9 25, 9 51, 10 32, 11 10, 11 23, 11 51, A. M., 12 33, 12 55, 1 52, 2 15, 3 25, 3 45, 3 55, 4 28, 5 03, 5 24, 5 45, 6 16, 6 25, 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 27, 9 57, 10 45, 11 45 P. M. Sundays 8 52, 11 07 A. M, 1 57, 5 48, 6 24, 7 05, 7 54 10 07, P. M.

Boston—6 10, 7 30, 8, 8 10, 8 45, 9, 9 30, 10, 10 45, 10 55, 11 15, A. M. 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 40, 2 15, 3, 3 20, 3 30, 4 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40, 7 10, 7 50, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P. M. Sundays, 8 20, 10 30 A. M, 1 20, 5 10, 5 45, 6 25, 7, 7 15, 9 30 P. M

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 7 55, 8 40, 9 30 10 50 A. M 1 05, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 5 55, 7 20 10 on Saturday P. M. Sundays, 9 10, A. M. 2 15, 7 20, 9 15 P. M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15, 9 10, 10 15 A. M, 12 45, 2 3 25, 4 55, 5 40, 6 20, 7 45 on Saturday, P. M. Sundays, 8 30, A. M., 12 50, 5 25, 8 45 P. M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 35, 8 53, 10 15 A. M., 1 52, 4 48 P. M.

Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A. M, 3 21, 4 15, 5 35 P. M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 12 A. M, 12 05, 3 55, 4 39, 6 09 P. M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 21 A. M, 12 14, 4 05, 4 46, 6 18 P. M.

Peabody for Salem—8 28 A. M, 12 22, 4 12, 4 53, 6 26 P. M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH

Salem for Lowell—7 A. M., 4 43, 6 P. M. Sundays 6 35 P. M

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 A. M, 4 43, 6 P. M. Sundays 6 35 P. M

Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A. M, 3 37, 4 43, 6 P. M. Sundays 6 35 P. M

Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 58, 11 35 A. M 12 47, 3 37, 4 43, 5 29, 6, 6 42 P. M. Sundays 6 35 P. M

Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 35 A. M., 12 15, 5 10 P. M Sundays 8 A. M

Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 10 12 A. M, 1 02, 5 58 P. M. Sundays 8 32 A. M

Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A. M, 1 30, 4 45, 6 22, P. M. Sundays 9 02 A. M

Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 8 2, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A. M. 1 46, 3 29, 5, 5 50, 6 38, P. M. Sundays 9 18 A. M

Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A. M, 1 55, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 47 P. M. Sundays 9 27 A. M

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston, Je. 28, 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND

RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8.30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9.00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3.30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS for Hartford, New Haven, Jersey City, Trenton Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St. or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON
A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE,

September 20, 1886.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A. M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, (Express) 4.30, (Express) 5 (Express), 5.30, 6, (Express) §6.30, 7.30, 8, 9.30, 10.20, 11.15 P. M

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7 (Express) 7.30 (Express), 8 (Express), 8.30 (Express) 9, 10, 11 A. M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.45, 7.15, 8.45, 9.15, 10.15 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P. M.

§ Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A.
C. A. HAMMOND Supt

THE

WASHINGTON LUNCH ROOM,

Post Office Building,

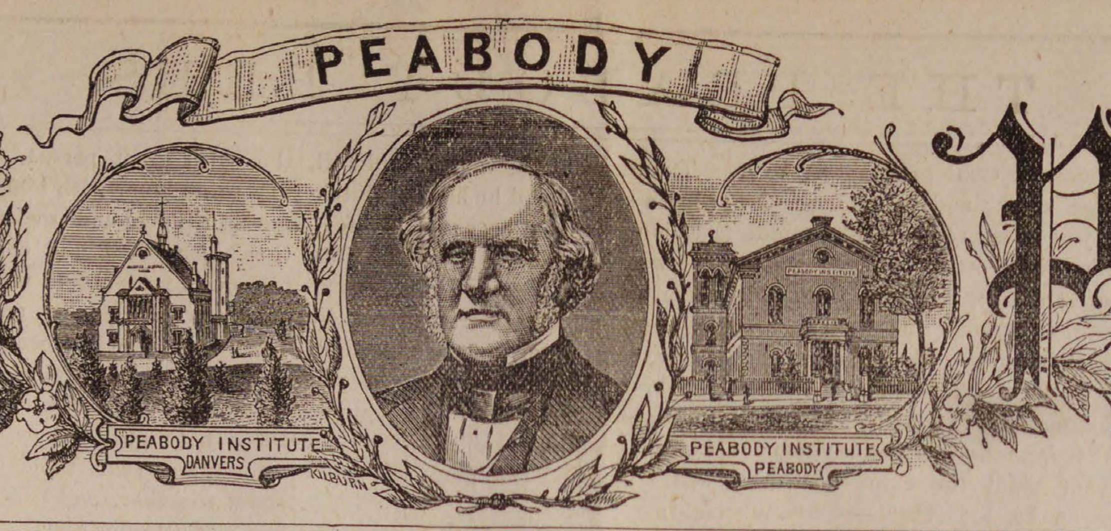
SALEM.

Sacks and Chops served in first-class style.

Oysters and Salads a specialty.

ALDEN THOMAS, - Prop.

je 9—3m



PEABODY
The Press.

VOL. 27 PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING. OCTOBER 13, 1886. NO. 40.

KENT & BOYNTON,

Great Clothing Retailers

OF ESSEX COUNTY.

Fall and Winter Opening,

1886---1887.

Largest Stock!
Latest Styles!
Lowest Prices!

ALL NEW GOODS.

NO OLD STOCK AT ANY PRICE.

Every garment in our entire stock new, and manufactured expressly for this Fall and Winter Trade. At this our opening we display without exception, the largest and most desirable line of Men's, Boys' and Children's Overcoats.

SUITS and PANTALOONS,

For Fall and Winter Wear ever found in Essex County. In selecting our stock we have used the utmost care not only to get garments that would be the most desirable and stylish, but also garments that would be perfect in fit and workmanship.

☞REMEMBER.—We sell only honest and reliable clothing at lowest prices. Strictly One Price. Money refunded on all goods returned within a reasonable time.

KENT & BOYNTON'S,

250 & 254 Essex St., Salem.

ALL ARTISTS CAN MAKE MONEY

By sending for our Reduced Price List before purchasing Art Materials of any description. Address, and mention this paper,

EDMANDS' ART SUPPLY STORE,
12 Bromfield Street, - Boston.
sept 22—15t

PIANOS ORGANS

Behning Pianos,
Harrington Pianos,
—AT—
A. M. CRAIN'S
PIANO PARLORS,
52 Market St.,
LYNN.

Any make of Piano or Organ furnished to order.
je30—1y

SALESMEN WANTED

to canvas for the sale of Nursery Stock! Steady employment guaranteed. SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. Apply at once, stating age. (Refer to this paper.)

CHASE BROTHERS,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.
sep 29—2mo

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN

Ladies' Tailoring Department.

Our Rooms will be open for orders, MONDAY, Sept. 13th. The Department will still be under the supervision of Miss S. M. Alden, whose superior talent is well known to all our patrons and friends.

A. B. & W.
sept 8

NOTICE TO VOTERS.

NOTICE is hereby given that meetings of the Board of Registrars, for the purpose of receiving evidence of the qualifications of persons claiming a right to vote at the State election, to be held on TUESDAY, the second day of November, 1886, and for correcting and revising the Lists of Voters, will be held in the Selectmen's Rooms, Town House, as follows:—

On TUESDAYS, SEPT. 21st and 28th, and OCT. 26th, from 7 to 9 P. M.

On THURSDAYS, OCT. 7th, 14th and 21st, from 1 to 5 P. M.

On SATURDAYS, OCt. 9th, 16th and 23d, from 7 to 9 P. M.

On WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27, from 1 to 5 and from 7 to 10 P. M.

Registration will cease on WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27th, 1886, at 10 o'clock P. M.

The Lists of Voters will be posted Oct. 1st, after which time no name can be added thereto, unless the applicant for registration appears in person before the Registrars, and prove his claim to be registered.

All persons whose names were on the Lists of Voters of last year, and who fail to pay a tax of 1885 or 1886 prior to OCT. 1st, will thus be required to register in person.

All persons appearing for registration must exhibit a paid tax bill for 1885 or 1886, and if of foreign birth a certificate of naturalization.

AARON F. CLARK,
CHARLES H. GOULDING,
RICHARD LYONS,
NATHAN H. POOR,
} Board of Registrars.
Peabody, Sept. 22, 1886.
sept 22—6t

CENTRAL FISH MARKET,

Is the place to buy your

OYSTERS

opened fresh every day at 30 and 40 cents per quart, also a nice line of Fancy Oysters at 75 cents per quart.

Ocean, Lake and River Fresh Fish,
LOBSTERS and CLAMS
IN THEIR SEASONS.

No. 6 Peabody Square.

R. F. DODGE, - Proprietor.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

Full moon last night!

Mountain travel is about over!

The leaves are leaving the trees!

This must be the Indian summer!

This is a good time to set out trees!

About time for foot-ball to start up?

Autumn leaves and clematis are in demand.

Blankets and comforters at Tarlton's, 42 Main street. *

Another attraction at the town hall Saturday night.

The schools should close the day of the firemen's parade.

Ladies' and misses' woolen hose, all prices, at Tarlton's. *

An attractive new sign has been put up by the W. C. T. U.

The open horse cars will soon be packed away in camphor.

Mr A. L. Ames is putting a steam heating apparatus into his house.

The turkey is beginning to fatten for the Thanksgiving festivities.

Gen. Robert E. Lee died sixteen years ago yesterday.

At Nugent's you'll find, at prices way down,
The best and largest stock in town.

F. D. Tarleton is agent for the Domestic Sewing Machine.

Mr. G. Horace Merrill is having his carriage house and barn shingled.

Long walks about town are occupying the attention of some of the ladies.

The Weather on Sunday was lovely. A sweet dream of summer time.

Mr. Geo. D. Hill recently shot a fine gray squirrel while gunning in Maine.

Large numbers from this town attended the Bay State fair last week daily.

Rev. Mr. Williams, of Danvers, preached at the Unitarian church last Sunday.

A notice of the republican senatorial convention is published in another column.

Rev. J. M. Shipman, of the Baptist church, preached at Marblehead last Sunday.

High linen collars are now worn by ladies to the almost entire exclusion of ruchings.

Eastern railroad stock has reached par and passed it. It is worth 102. Sell now.

Mr. J. O. Whitten had a fine three year old colt on exhibition at the Bay State fair.

Mrs. W. G. Sperry and child, of Manchester, N. H., have been visiting in Danvers.

For household utensils at bottom prices, go to Morrison & Trask's, Walnut street.

A number of whist clubs have been formed and several progressive parties have been held.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

Arthur Shapleigh, brakeman on the Lawrence branch, spends his vacation at Shapleigh, Me.

Mr. Chas. M. Poor and wife, on Central street, observed their wooden wedding last week.

The Democratic County and Councillor Conventions are being held in town hall, Beverly, to-day.

Mr. George Dean, recently a driver for the Danvers road, has accepted a similar position in Lowell.

Mr. J. J. Cahill has been elected one of the district committee for this democratic congressional district.

A. Wendell is to do the plumbing and gas piping in Jesse F. Smith's new residence on Lowell street.

Now is the time to replace the broken window glass with new. Morrison & Trask carry a large stock.

Mr. N. M. Quint is building the foundation for a new barn for George Basford on Lowell street.

It is reported that Rev. Willard Spaulding and Frank K. Foster will stump the district together.

Agree with the girl's father in politics and the mother in religion, is the advice given by an exchange.

Mr. Francis H. Appleton was awarded first prize, $10, in ponies under 13 hands high, at the Bay State fair.

Mr. William Sutton is preparing to increase his business by putting down a lot of new pits at his wool shop.

Arthur Elliot & Co., of the Caller street fish market, have put a newly painted delivery wagon on the road.

Mrs. Albert Boynton, who has been visiting in town for several weeks, has returned to her home in Yankton, Pa.

Hon Justin McCarthy, when he visits Salem next Friday, will be the guest of Rev Father Masterson, of this town.

Mr. S. S. Littlefield and Ezra Shannon attended the Red Men's meeting at Newburyport last Friday night.

The Boston & Maine railroad are building a shelter for passengers at Newhall's crossing. It will be appreciated.

Miss Libbie Smith, daughter of Rev. C. N. Smith, a former pastor of the Methodist church, has been visiting in Ipswich.

Now let the hens out for a vacation in the garden. They can't hurt anything and should be taught to work for a living.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town—Nothing like it, Principee. Clarks Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo Stevens' *

The children are around with their jugs for the benefit of the Methodist church. The breaking will take place January 20th.

The fancy hair pin craze is at its height. They are seen in shell, jet, silver and gilt, and are of all shapes and devices.

Mr. E. Pope Barrett has been carting some fine looking squashes through our streets. Mr. Barrett is one of our most successful farmers.

"Be sure your right then go ahead,"
At Nugent's is the place to trade.

At the Prohibitory Congressional Convention at Salem, last Thursday, Rev. Willard Spaulding, K. of L. candidate was endorsed.

Many lawns at night were occupied by impromptu ghosts, because the householders, fearful of frosts, protect their flowers with sheets.

It is understood that Maj. Daniel N Low, of Gloucester, secretary of the Essex Agricultural society, would like to be County Commissioner.

The prohibition convention for the 5th Essex Senatorial district will meet in Franklin Hall, this town, to-morrow (Thursday) afternoon at 2 P. M.

When you hear a man continually talking about himself, you can make up your mind that his brain is not large enough to grasp any outside facts.

The School Committee last Thursday voted to engage an assistant teacher for the Rockville school and to adopt a new primer in the primary schools.

A party of enthusiastic young republicans overhauled the old campaign flag the other day. This ancient article is now a notable piece of patchwork.

Mrs. Jacob Calvin, mother-in-law of a Mr. Graham of this town, died at her home in Great Falls, N. H., last week, and he was called out of town in consequence.

Mr. Fred Titcomb, formerly assistant at Pat Lyons' barber shop, but now advance agent for the Lucier family, will shortly arrange a date for this town.

Since the lockout a number of our most industrious young men and law abiding citizens have left town for new fields of labor and families are constantly moving.

It is expected that hereafter the annual fair of the Essex Agricultural society will be held three days, instead of two as heretofore, and it will probably be held in Peabody next year.

A gentleman found a driving glove on Main street yesterday. He hung it on the fence with the remark that the owner could have it as he didn't think the owner would send him the mate.

The new postal letter sheet is to be abandoned as impracticable, it is said. The perforated and gummed ends of the sealed sheet break off in the mail and leave the letter practically open.

Mr. Frank E. Farnham will sell at public auction a large amount of personal property at the Edward Jacobs farm on Lowell street, to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Miss Alice M. Cushing, the pleasing book keeper, recently in the employ of Samuel Trask & Son, has accepted a position as matron at the Boston Little Wanderers Home.

--- A GIGANTIC ---

COTHING, HAT, CAP

— AND —

GENT'S FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT

— FOR —

SALEM.

NAUMKEAG

David Conrad's entire block to be connected with the Naumkeag Clothing Store which will be when completed the largest retail Clothing, Hat, Cap and Gent's Furnishing Goods Establishment in New England, except the "Marlboro" in Boston, one of our own stores, and the largest in the U. S.

We desire to inform the citizens of Essex County that we have leased the Conrad estate, formerly occupied by him as a Dry Goods Store, and shall commence at once to connect it with the Naumkeag Clothing Store, making one enormous establishment.

BUYERS OF CLOTHING, HATS, CAPS AND FURNISHING GOODS REMEMBER! -

Our entire stock of Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing, Hats, Caps and Furnishing Goods, amounting to over ($65,000), sixty-five thousand dollars worth must be closed out at once. This will be the grandest opportunity for the citizens of Essex County to secure reliable clothing at figures lower than ever before heard of in New England.

This sale will include all our heavy Winter Overcoats, carried over from last season, numbering over (600) six hundred Men's, Boys' and Children's all warranted to be clean perfect goods, just as stylish as any made this year, and a saving of 30 to 40 per cent. to the buyer. Our object in offering this gigantic sale so early in the season, is on account of enlarging our store.

School commences now in a few days. Parents should not fail to call and examine our enormous stock of Boys' and Children's School Suits, in heavy and medium weight. We shall offer at this sale over (2000) two thousand Boys' and Children's School and Dress Suits, over 50 different patterns to make your selections from. In fact you will have a wholesale stock to select from, at prices that cannot fail to meet with the approval of every buyer. The goods must be closed out before the 20th of September.

We must unload a very large proportion of this stock before our alterations are completed.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

177 & 179 Essex St., Salem.

Z. A. GALLUP, - - - - - MANAGER

Mr. Geo. C. Farrington has been remembered by his former office companion, Mr. Henry C. Hills, who sends a present and congratulations from far away San Francisco.

The Peabody Press alludes to Nat'l Banks of So. Danvers as paying 3 per cent. Any connection with Gen. Nat'l Banks of Waltham?—Chelsea Telegreph.

No, brother, but like Gen. Banks, it has an excellent record.

The chestnut bell has a rival for public favor and is already quite popular. It consists of passing to the one who is telling a far-fetched story a printed inscription, "I am somewhat of a liar myself"

Mr Geo H Carter, of Beverly, and Miss Mary E Ward, of this town, will be united in marriage to-day, at the home of the bride's grand parents on Liberty street. Rev F W Sprague, of the Universalist church, will perform the ceremony.

Don't be surprised if you notice an expression of increased happiness on the usually pleasant face of Mr. Albert Trask. A little one arrived at his house last week that will claim his attention for years to come.

A young father in this town was somewhat taken aback the other day by the remark of his little one. The father had appeared for the first time with a new silk hat, when the three year old exclaimed "Papa has got an old man's hat."

Masconomo Tribe of Red Men met Thursday evening and considerable "new business" was introduced. At some of the future meetings there will be an exemplification of the degree work, and an attractive programme from the entertainment committee.

A scientific note is to the effect that "Havana flavoring," so called, for cigars, is made from the tonka bean, which contains a deadly poison called millolotis, seven grains of which are sufficient to kill a dog. This doesn't apply to the excellent Havana filled cigars sold by Mr. Ezra Shannon. His are made on the premises from the genuine article.

Mr. Charles A. Thomas has had a canvas made for the rink floor, which, when put down and waxed, makes one of the best of floors for dancing. Those wishing to engage the rink for this purpose should make application to him.

The ladies of the Baptist Society are making preparations for a fair. Mr. J. B. Thomas has generously agreed to give them the free use of his new hall for the fair, when completed, and they will dedicate it with an entertainment and sale.

We return thanks for an invitation to be present at the lecture, next Friday evening, by Hon. Justin McCarthy, Member of Parliament, who will speak at Mechanic Hall, Salem, on the "Cause of Ireland." Mr. McCarthy has been received enthusiastically in this country and it is hoped a full house will greet him next Friday night.

Rev. William P. Alcott, congregational pastor at Boxford, and who is a member of the prohibition party state central committee, will give an address in Franklin Hall to-morrow evening at 7 30 o'clock. His subject will be "Uzzah's Sin in Politics." All are invited. After its completion a caucus will be held to nominate a representative from this town.

It is reported that the officers of District Assembly 77, K. of L., Saturday, sent telegrams to all district officers of the Knights of Labor in New England, to hold themselves in readiness to order all shoemakers to cease work on all leather manufactured in Salem or Peabody. It would be a God send to the town if our labor troubles could be settled before they go any farther.

Edwin R. Lang and a comedy company are to appear Saturday evening in the Town hall. The company and the play are well spoken of by the press. The actors and actresses each have their specialties interspersed with the latest songs of the day. It is similar to the "Parlor Match," and is full of fun from the rising of the curtain to the end of the performance. Tickets at popular prices are now on sale at Spaulding's.

A good photograph is a gift that friends always appreciate and cherish. To obtain a true likeness and an elegantly finished photo' there is no better place to go than to the studio of Hussey the artist photographer, in Salem.

B. F. Atkinson & Co., the largest house furnishers in New England, are selling all kinds of furniture, carpets, bedding, stoves and ranges at prices that defy competition. The particular attention of Housekeepers is called to their system of doing business on the instalment plan. Goods delivered free to any railroad freight station in Massachusetts. Particulars of some remarkable bargains will be found in another column.

Conductor Chas. Basford sent a lot of his carrier pigeons to Centre Harbor recently by a fellow Conductor. As it was not very pleasant they were not let out the next morning, but during the absence of the party having them in charge, a boy let them out. They started for home and reached here, as near as can be learned, in about three hours. He sent another pair to Concord, N. H. yesterday. Mr. Basford is having several silver tags made to put on his pigeons, containing his address, so they can be returned if they get lost.

The opening of the skating rink last Wednesday evening by the Peabody Cycle Club was a success, and fully 500 people were present. The first part of the evening was devoted to skating, which was followed by a sack race, which was won by George Hargrave. Walter Lloyd on a bicycle and Carroll Hardy on roller skates then had a race and the former won by four laps. After the entertainment a dance followed till 12.30

In the Superior Court in Lowell, on Friday, the jury rendered a verdict of $6247 in favor of the Shaw Stocking Company against the city of Lowell for diverting a natural stream of water from which the plaintiffs obtained a supply of water, by the construction of a sewer. Mr. B. F. Shaw, the leading light in this enterprise, has seen better days since he moved away from Peabody.

Poet's Corner.

The Last Hymn.

The Sabbath day was ending at a village by the sea,
The uttered benediction touched the people tenderly;
And they rose to face the sunlight in the glowing, lighted West,
And then hastened to their dwellings for God's blessed boon of rest.

But they looked across the waters, and a storm was raging there:
A fierce spirit moved above them—the wild spirit of the air;
And it lashed and shook and tore them till they thundered, groaned and boomed;
And alas! for any vessel in their yawning gulfs entombed.

Very anxious were the people on that rocky coast of Wales,
Lest the dawns of coming morrows should be telling awful tales;
When the sea had spent its passion, and should cast upon the shore
Bits of wreck and swollen victims, as it had done heretofore.

With the rough winds blowing round her, a brave woman strained her eyes,
And she saw along the billows the large vessel fall and rise.
Oh! it did not need a prophet to tell what the end must be,
For no ship could ride in safety near that shore in such a sea.

Then the pitying people hurried from their homes and thronged the beach:
Oh! for power to cross the waters and the perishing to reach!
Helpless hands were wrung for sorrow, tender hearts grew cold with dread,
And, the ship, urged by the tempest, to the fatal rock-shore sped.

"She has parted in the middle! Oh the half of her goes down!
God have mercy! Is heaven far to seek for those who drown?"
Lo! when next the white, shocked faces looked with terror on the sea,
Only one last clinging figure on the spar was seen to be.

Nearer the trembling watchers came the wreck, tossed by the wave,
And the man still clung and floated, though no power on earth could save.
"Could we send him a short message? Here's a trumpet—shout away!"
'Twas the preacher's hand that took it, and he wondered what to say.

Any memory of his sermon? Firstly? Secondly? Ah, no!
There was but one thing to utter, in the awful hour of woe;
So he shouted through the trumpet, "Look to Jesus! Can you hear?"
And "Ay, ay, sir," rang the answer o'er the waters loud and clear.

Then they listened: He is singing, "Jesus, lover of my soul!"
And the winds brought back the echo "While the nearer waters roll."
Strange, indeed, it was to hear him—"Till the storm of life was past"—
Singing bravely from the waters, "Oh, receive my soul at last."

He could have no other refuge—"Hangs my helpless soul on Thee?"
"Leave, oh leave me not"—the singer dropped at last into the sea
And the watchers looking homeward, thro' their eyes with tears made dim,
Said: "He passed to be with Jesus, in the singing of that hymn."

—Marianne Farmingham.

The Fields Supremely Fair.

Breathe soft and low, O whispering wind,
Above the tangled grasses deep,
Where those who loved me long ago
Forgot the world and fell asleep;
No towering shaft or sculptured urn,
Or mausoleum's empty pride,
Tells to the curious passer-by
Their virtues or the time they died.

I count the old familiar names,
O'ergrown with moss and lichen gray,
Where tangled briers and creeping vine
Across the crumbled tablets stray.
The summer sky is softly blue;
The birds still sing the sweet, old strain;
But something from the summer-time
Is gone that will not come again.

So many voices have been hushed,
So many songs have ceased for aye,
So many hands I used to touch
Are folded over hearts of clay!
The noisy world recedes from me;
I chafe to hear its praise or blame;
The mossy marbles echo back
No hollow sound of empty fame.

I only know that calm and still
They sleep beyond life's woe and wail,
Beyond the fleet of sailing clouds,
Beyond the shadow of the vale.
I only feel that, tired and worn,
I halt upon the highway bare,
And gaze with yearning eyes beyond
On fields that shine supremely fair.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing, nauseous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cures of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely' Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preperation has been most gratifying and surprising.

Selected Story

Bill and the Widow.

Wife, said Ed Wilbur, one morning, as he sat stirring his coffee with one hand, and holding a plum cake on his knee with the other, and looking across the table into the bright eyes of his little wife; wouldn't it be a good joke to get bachelor Bill Smiley to take Widow Watson to Barnum's show, next week?

You can't do it, Ed; he won't ask her; he's so awful shy. Why, he came by here the other morning when I was hanging out the clothes, and he looked over the fence and spoke, but when I shook out a night gown he blushed like a girl and went away.

I think I can manage it, said Ed; but I'll have to lie just a little. But then it wouldn't be much harm under the circumstances, for I know she likes him and he doesn't dislike her; but just as you say, he's shy. I'll just go over to his place to borrow some bags of him, and if I don't bag him before I come back, don't kiss me for a week, Nelly.

So saying he started, and while he is mowing the fields, we will take a look at Bill Smiley. He was rather a good looking fellow though his hair and whiskers showed some gray hairs and he had got in a set of artificial teeth. But everyone said he was a good soul, and so he was. He had as good as any in Norwich, with a new house and everything comfortable, and if he wanted a wife, many a girl would have jumped at the chance like a rooster on a grasshopper. But Bill was so bashful—always so—and when Susan Berrybottle, whom he was so awful on, though he never said "boo" to her, got married to old Watson, he just drew in his head like a mud-turtle into his shell, and there was no getting out again, though it had been noticed that since Susan had become a widow he had paid more attention to his clothes, and had been very regular in attendance at the church the fair widow attended.

But here comes Ed Wilbur.

Good morning, Mr. Smiley.

Good morning, Mr. Wilbur, what's the news your way?

Oh, nothing particular that I know of, said Ed, only Barnum's show that everybody is talking about, and everybody and his girl is going to. I was over to old Sockrider's last night and I see his son Gus has got a new buggy, and was scrubbing up his harness, and he's got that white faced colt of his as slick as a seal. I understand that he thinks of taking widow Watson to the show. He's been hanging around there a good deal of late, but I'd just like to cut him out, I would. Susan is a nice little woman, and deserves a better man than that young pup of a fellow, though I wouldn't blame her much either if she takes him, for she must be dreadfully lonesome, and then she has to let her farm out on shares, and it isn't half worked, and no one else seems to have the spunk to speak to her. By jingo! if I were only a single man, I'd show you a trick or two!

So saying Ed borrowed some bags and started around the corner of the barn, where he had left Bill sweeping, and put his ear to a knot hole and listened, knowing the bachelor had a habit of talking to himself when anything worried him.

Confound that bagrider! Bill, what business has he there. I'd like to know? Got a new buggy, has he? Well, so have I, and a new harness, too! and his can't get in sight of mine; and I declare, I've half a mind to—yes, I will! I will go this very night and ask her to go to that show with me. I'll show Ed Wilbur that I ain't such a calf as he thinks I am, if I did let Watson get the start of me in the first place?

Ed could scarcely keep himself from laughing outright, but he hastily hitched the bags on his shoulder, and with a low chuckle at his success, started home to tell the news to Nelly. About five o'clock that evening they saw Bill go by with his horse and buggy on his way to the widow's. He joggled along quietly, thinking of the old singing school days—and what a pretty girl Susan was then, and wondering inwardly if he would have more courage now to talk up to her, until at about a mile from her house he came to a bridge, over a large creek; and it so happened that just as he reached the middle of the bridge he gave a tremendous sneeze and blew his teeth out of his mouth, clear over the dash board, and striking on the planks they rolled over the side of the bridge, and dropped into four feet of water.

Words cannot do justice to poor Bill or paint the expression of his face as he sat there—completely dumbfounded at his startling piece of ill luck. After a while he stepped out of his buggy, and getting down on his hands and knees looked over into the water. Yes, there they were, at the bottom, with a crowd of little fishes rubbing their noses against them, and Bill wished that his nose was as close for a second. His beautiful teeth that had cost him so much, and the show coming on, and no time to get another set, and the widow and young Sockrider. Well he must get them somehow—and no time to lose, for some one might come along and ask him what he was fooling there for. He had no notion of spoiling his good clothes by wading in with them on, and besides, if he did that he could not go to the widow's that night, as he took a look up and down the road to see that no one was in sight, and then quickly undressed himself, laying his clothes in the buggy to keep them clean. Then he ran around the bank and waded into the almost ice cold water, but his teeth did not chatter in his head—he only wished they could. Quietly he waded along so as not to stir up the mud, and when he got to the right spot he dropped under the water and came up with his teeth in his hand, and replaced them in his mouth. But hark! What noise is that? A wagon and a little dog barking with all his might, and his own is starting. Whoa! whoa? stop, you brute! But he would not, and he went off at a spanking pace, with the unfortunate bachelor after him, and the little dog yelping after the bachelor. Bill was certainly in running costume, but though he strained every nerve he could not touch the buggy or reach the lines that were dragging on the ground.

After a while his plug hat shook off the seat and the hind wheel ran over it, making it as flat as a pancake. But he snatched it as he ran, and after jamming his fist into it, stuck it, all dusty and dimpled, on his head. And now he saw the widow's house on the hill and what, what will he do! Then his coat fell out, he slipped it on, and then making a desperate spurt he clutched the back of his seat and scrambled in, and pulling the buffalo robe over his legs stuffed the other things beneath. Now the horse happened to be the one that he got from Squire Moore, and he got it from the widow, and he took it in his head to stop at her gate, which Bill had no power to prevent, as he had no possession of the reins, besides he was too busy buttoning his coat up to his chin to think of doing much else. The widow heard the rattle of the wheels and looked out, and seeing that it was Smiley, and he didn't offer to get out, she went out to the gate to see what he wanted, and there she stood chatting with her white arms on the top of the gate, and her face right toward him, while the cold chills ran down his shirtless back clear to his bare feet beneath the buffalo robe, and the water from his hair and the dust from his hat had combined to make some nice streams of mud that came trickling down his face. She asked him to come in. No, he was in a hurry he said. Still he did not offer to go. He did not like to ask her to pick up his reins for him, because he did not know what excuse to make for not doing it himself. Then he looked down the road behind and saw a white faced horse coming, and at once surmised that it was that of Gus Sockrider. He resolved to do or die, and hurriedly told his errand. The widow would be delighted to go, of course she would, but wouldn't he come in. —No, he was in a hurry, he said, had to go on to Mr. Green's place.

Oh, said the widow, you're going to Mr. Green's, are you? Why I was just going there myself to get one of the girls to help me quilt more. Just wait a second while I get my bonnet and shawl, and I'll ride with you. And away she skipped.

Thunder and lightning! said Bill, what a scrape! and he hastily clutched his pants from between his feet, and was preparing to wiggle into them, when a light wagon, drawn by the white faced horse, driven by a boy, came along and stopped beside him. The boy held up a pair of boots in one hand, and a pair of socks in the other, and just as the widow reached the gate again, he said:

Here's your boots and socks, Mr. Smiley, that you left on the bridge when you was in swimming.

You're mistaken, said Bill, they're not mine.

Why, said the boy, ain't you the man that had the race after the horse just now?

No, sir, I am not. You had better go about your business.

Bill sighed at the loss of his Sunday boots, and turning to the widow, said:

Just pick up those lines, will you, please, this brute of a horse, is forever switching them out of my hands. The widow complied, and then he pulled one corner of the robe cautiously down and she got in.

What a lovely evening, said she, and so warm, I don't think we need the robe over us, do we?

(You see she had on a nice dress, and a pair of new gaiters and she wanted to show them.)

Oh, my! said Bill earnestly, you'll find it chilly riding, and I wouldn't have you catch cold for the world.

She seemed pleased at this tender care for her health, and contented herself with sticking one of her little feet out with a long silk necktie over the end of it.

What is that Mr. Smiley, a necktie?

Yes, said he, I bought it the other day, and I must have left it in the buggy. Never mind it.

But, said she, it was so careless, and stooping over she picked it up, and made a motion to stuff it in between them.

Bill felt her hand going down, and making a dive after it, clutched it in his and held it fast.

Then they went quite a distance, he still holding her hand in his and wondering what he would do when they got to Mr. Green's, and she wondering why he did not say something nice to her as well as squeeze her hand, and why his coat was buttoned up so tightly on such a warm evening, and what made his hat and face so dirty, until they were going down a little hill and one of the traces became unhitched and they had to stop.

Oh, murder! exclaimed Bill, what next?

What's the matter, Mr. Smiley? said the widow, with a start which came near jerking the robe off his knees.

One of the traces is off, answered he.

Well, why don't you get out and put it on?

I can't, said Bill; I've got—that is, I haven't got—oh, dear, I'm so sick! what shall I do

Why, Willie, said she tenderly, what is the matter? do tell me. She gave his hand a little squeeze, and looking into his face she thought he was going to faint, so she got her smelling bottle with her left hand, and pulling the stopper out with her teeth, she stuck it to his nose.

Bill was just taking in breath for a mighty sigh, and the pungent odor made him throw his head so far back that he lost his balance and went over the low backed buggy. The woman gave a scream as his bare feet flew past her head; and covering her face with her hands she gave way to tears or smiles—it is hard to tell which. But Bill was "right side up" in a moment, and was leaning over the back of the seat humbly apologizing and explaining, when Ed Wilbur and his wife and baby drove up behind and stopped. Poor Bill felt that he would rather have been shot than have Ed Wilbur catch him in such a scrape, but there was no help for it now, so he called Ed to him and whispered in his ear. Ed was like to burst with suppressed laughter, but he beckoned to his wife to draw up, and after saying something to her, he helped the widow out of Bill's buggy into his, and the two women went on, leaving the two men behind. Bill lost no time in arranging his toilet as well as he could, and then with great persuasion Ed got him to go home with him, and hunting up slippers and socks and getting him washed and combed, had him quite presentable when the ladies arrived. I need not tell how the story was all wormed out of bashful Bill, and how they all laughed as they sat around the tea table that night, but will conclude by saying that they went to the show together, and Bill has no fear of Gus Sockrider now.

This is the story of Bill and the widow just as I had it from Ed Wilbur, and if there is anything unsatisfactory about it, ask him.

Dairy Dots.

Bran cools the blood of the cow.

Running the cows may make bloody milk.

A little milk and meal will keep the calf growing.

Resting and talking should be done between milkings.

If you want to raise "stunts" keep the calves in the patch with the pigs.

A cow is a milk-producing machine and an exceedingly complicated and sensitive one at that.

Heating curd too suddenly causes the pores to contract so that the whey and gas are not sufficiently liberated.

A tablespoonful of clear lime water, or a raw egg put in the milk at every feed will cure scours in calves.

You cannot make good butter from poor food any more than you can make a silk purse out of a sow's ear.

Make your butter and cheese as good as possible, and then make the same effort to sell them to the best advantage.

Souring cream too much before churning, causes a separation of the butter fats and does not add to the quality of the butter.

All profit from a dairy cow comes from the food over and above that which is necessary to sustain the mere functions of life.

Grass is of the first importance in dairying operations. The quality and quantity of butter and cheese is largely traceable to the pasture.

An inferior animal will make an inferior use of the food she eats. A good animal will make a more profitable use of the same or even a greater quantity of food.

Muddy corrals will cause the milk to fall off. When cows are compelled to stand knee-deep in mud, with their bodies plastered over with it, dirt will find its way into the pail, while additional food will be necessary to supply that lost from cold and exposure.

The United States could not do better than copy France in dealing with butter adulteration. If a dealer is convicted of this offense he is not only put in durance vile, but his shop is closed, the sentence of the court nailed there on as a warning and his trading patent forever withdrawn.

"There is no money in dairying," often means that the business does not yield a fortune in a certain time, or that it doesn't come up to the wild expectations of the man who made the remark. The same thing can be said of any and every business by those who have not succeeded in it.

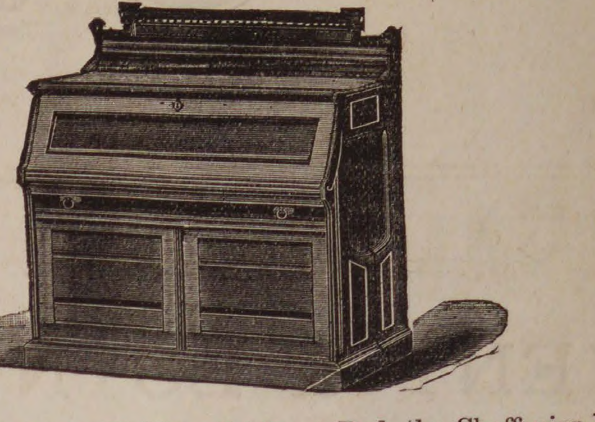
It is a good cow that will pay her cost in a year's sale of butter besides furnishing milk for family use. But it is only such cows that a farmer keeping but one animal can afford to own. Usually poor families keeping only one cow, have that of superior merit. In large herds owned by slow farmers there will be a number of culls, which, like the lean kine in Pharaoh's dream, eat up the profits from the others.

We have, and can again, submit to a man coming into the office and ask us where he can get his oxen shod and various other jobs pertaining to blacksmithing without a murmur, but when a man comes in, as did one this morning, and asks us if we keep nails for sale, we kick.

Dyspepsia in its worst form will yield to the use of Carter's Little Nerve Pills aided by Carter's Little Liver Pills. They not only relieve present distress but strengthen the stomach and digestive apparatus.

Two young ladies in Baltimore, says an exchange, who entertain their friends on the front "stoop," are known as the step-sisters.

HEAD-QUARTERS
FOR
PARLOR FOLDING BEDS.



We are agents for the Folding Cabinent Bed, the Cheffonier Bed, the Mantle Bed, also Sofa and Lounge Beds in great variety.

CARPETS.

Our new Carpet Hall is stocked with a complete line of Brussels, Tapestries, Velvets and Ingrain, Oil Cloths, Rugs and Matting. Special low prices. All new, fresh stock.

STOVES AND RANGES.

We carry a full line of the New Gleenwood B. Range, the Magee Mystic, the New Elmwood, Pilgrim, and other first class Ranges. Also Parlor Stoves all styles and prices. A good Range with all the ware complete for only $16.00.

You will save money by purchasing your Stoves or Ranges directly of us. Any of the above goods will be sold for Cash, or if you have not the ready money on Weekly or Monthly Payments.

W. C. PACKARD FURNITURE AND CARPET CO.,

Largest House Fusnishers in Eastern Massachusetts,

281 Essex & 1, 3, 5, 7 Crombie Streets,
NEXT TO MECHANICS HALL.

☞ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE.

ONCE MORE

TO SCHOOL!

See Reuben and Hal and little Jane
Merrily tripping down the lane;
They're bound for school, vacation is o'er;
They're ready for their books once more.
How pleased they look! and see how neat!
Yes! well they may, for on their feet
Are shoes from Osborne's, a guarantee
Of splendid fit and quality.

Shrewd folks who strive to make their dimes
Go farthest in these pinching times,
And yet not sacrifice a whit
Of style or wear, or perfect fit,
Flock to our stores in steady stream.
They seek to save; we give them cream;
They tell their friends and they believe,
And crowd our stores from morn till eve.

We Call the Attention of the People

To the GREATEST OPPORTUNITY to SHOE THEIR CHILDREN for School. We offer a stock of Boys' and Youths', Misses' and Children's Boots and Shoes, immense in quantity, superior in quality, and of great variety, and at PRICES that give our customers the Best End of the Bargain Every Time!

No such attractions in SCHOOL SHOES for Children of all ages have ever been offered, even by ourselves, and a visit to either our MUMROE ST. or WEST LYNN STORES will richly repay you.

Boys and Youths Bals and Button Shoes
Misses' and Children's Heeled
and Spring Heel Shoes!

DOWN! DOWN! DOWN!

To prices that give the poorest a chance to shoe their children in a satisfactory and becoming manner. REMEMBER! that every pair of Boots and Shoes in both stores, whose selling price has been 50 cents or upwards, has been MARKED DOWN. This is absolute and without any reserve whatever, and affects the LARGEST AND BEST STOCK OF BOOTS AND SHOES IN NEW ENGLAND!

Boys' Veal Calf, Tap Sole, Balmorals,		.65	.95	$1.10
Boys' Veal Calf, Nailed, Button Boots,				1.40
Youths' Veal Calf, Tap Sole, Balmorals,				.95
Youths' Veal Calf, Nailed,				1.20
Youths' Veal Calf, Nailed, Button Boots,				1.40
Misses' Grain Button Boots, Heeled—Sizes 11 to 2,			.69	1.05
Misses' Grain Button Boots, Spring Heeled—Sizes	11 to 2,			1.2
Misses' Kid Button Boots, " " "	11 to 2,		.85	1.8
Misses' Goat Button Boots, " " "	11 to 2,		.95	1.8
Misses' Kid Button Boots, Heeled, "	11 to 2,		1 33	1.8
Misses' Goat Button Boots, " "	11 to 2,		1.33	1.8
Child's Grain Button Boots, " "	9 to 10 1-2,		.90	1.1
Child's Grain Button Boots, " "	5 to 8,			.7
Child's Goat and Kid Button, Heeled, "	8 1-2 to 10 1-2,		1.05	1.4
Child's Goat and Kid Button, Spring Heeled, "	5 to 8,		.90	1.1
Child's Kid Button, " " "	5 to 8,			3

AND HUNDREDS OF OTHER BARGAINS

38 MUNROE STREET. 23 MARKET SQUARE.

WELLMAN OSBORNE.

FULL WEIGHT
ROYAL POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multituds of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, N. Y.
2d8

E. W. GOULD

BAY STATE

Steam Dyeing and Cleansing

WORKS.

9 1-2 FRONT STREET.

SALEM, MASS.

Promptness our Motto.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Goods called for and Delivered.

AGENTS:

J. W. Pitcher, Atlantic block, Beverly; I. S. Day, Oak St., near the depot, Beverly Farms; Beals & Abbott, cor. Maple & Locust Sts., Danvers; B. F. Stevens, 16 Main St., Peabody; T. W. Slade, Manchester-by-the-sea; Wm. S. Stanley, 4 Grader's block, Marblehead; Benj. P. Edwards, Main St., Topsfield.

MISS BASSETT, formerly of the Essex Dye House, will be at our Office, No. 91-2 Front Street

Jas. Lafreniere,

HAIR DRESSER,

Has taken the shop under Baldwin's Hotel, where all who favor him with their patronage will receive

Courteous and Prompt Attention.

Diseases of the Head and Hair treated. A share of patronage solicited.

BALDWIN'S HOTEL, FOSTER ST.,
PEABODY.

may 26—4t

DESIRABLE REAL ESTATE

IN PEABODY,

FOR SALE.

The estate owned and occupied by C. C. Farwell and situated on the corner of Grove and Walnut streets, is offered for sale at a low price and on easy terms.

The estate consists of a two story frame dwelling house, containing 12 rooms, with water and gas, a barn 28x35, and about three quarters of an acre of land.

For a manufactory, with dwellings for the owner and tenants, there is no better situation in the county.

Address, or apply to

F. E. FARNHAM,
8 Allen's Block,
je 16 Peabody Square

NOTICE OUR

REMOVAL.

P. Hartigan & Son,

HORSE SHOERS,

Have removed from the rear of Kinsman's Block to

184 BRIDGE ST.,

Nearly opp. St. Peter street, Salem.

OLD ESTABLISHED CONCERN,

P. Hartigan, Senior, has had 30 years' experience.

N. B. Personal attention given to Horses that interfere or over-reach.

☞ Treatment of CORNS and QUARTER CRACKS a specialty.

LADIES & GENTLEMEN,

CALL AT

CYRUS C. TREVETT'S,

IF YOU WANT

The most durable and stylish boots at bottom prices, be sure and bring the children.

110 UNION STREET.

LYNN, MASS.

jy 7—1 y

Thro' the Mist.

Thro' the misty meadows,
  Trespassers we stole;
Round us there were shadows,
  Shadows in my soul.

Clasp's your hand more tightly
  Thro' the mist I led;
Then, at first, and lightly.
  As we walked I said:—

Said with sudden candor
  Ere I could resist,
"Would that we could wander
  Always thro' the mist,

You replied long after Pond'ring gravely, "Why?"
Sadness turned to laugter
  As I made reply.

From the misty meadows
  Silently we stole.
And there were no shadows
  Resting in my soul.

—H. Egerton Clamp.

What Rules the World.

They say that man is mighty,
  He governs land and sea,
He wields a mighty sceptre
  O'er lesser powers that be:
But a mightier power, and stronger,
  Man from his throne has hurled,
"For the hand that rocks the cradle
  Is the hand that rules the world"

In deep, mysterious conclave,
  'Mid philosophic minds,
Unraveling knotty problems,
  His native sphere man finds;
Yet all his "ics" and "isms"
  To heaven's four winds are hurled,
"For the hand that rocks the cradle
  Is the hand that rules the world."

Behold the brave commander
  Stanch 'mid the carnage stand,
Behold the guidon dying
  With the colors in his hand;
Brave men they be, yet craven
  When this banner is unfurled:
"The hand that rocks the cradle
  Is the hand that rules the world."

Great statesmen govern nations,
  Kings mold a people's fate;
But the unseen hands of velvet
  These giants regulate.
The iron arm of fortune
  With woman's charm is purled,
"For the hand that rocks the cradle
  Is the hand that rules the world."

From the American Israelite.

At the Gate.

Enter not here if ye have aught to say
Of what is left behind you, joy or pain;
The past is like a volume laid away
Wherein these people never look again.
Enter not here if any wish remain
For wealth or earthly splendor or renown;
These things to many were an endless bane;
But, if ye enter, lay your troubles down Here at the gate, for Peace is mistress of the town.

—Samuel V. Cole in the critic.

Everybody admires determination Who does not applaud the pluck and persistence of the little wheel of the bicycle in its pursuit of its big brother?

"Spell 'love,'" said a young man to his sweetheart. "Y-o-u," she timidly essayed. The courtship had been a protracted one, but they are married now.

"What did your father die of?" asked a tender-hearted lady of an "orphan" who was soliciting alms. "Cholera infantum, mum," the orphan promptly replied.

"That prisioner has a very smooth countenance," said the judge to the sheriff. "Yes," responded the sheriff; "he was ironed just before he was brought in."

St. Jacobs Oil is pronounced a most extraordinary cure for rheumatism by Hon. James Harlan, ex-Vice Chancellor, Louisville, Ky.

"I think, dear, the dew has commenced falling," he said, in his softest accents. "Yes," she yawned, "I've been hoping to hear adieu for some time." He didn't call the next evening.

Brigham Young acquired the title of General from having been called "Briggy dear" so often by his numerous wives.

In gathering wild flowers, autumn leaves, or picnicking in the woods, we are more or less exposed to danger from poisoning by ivy or other wild vines or shrubs. The poison is under certain circumstances readily absorbed by the blood, and painful swellings or eruptions are caused. Such affections Hood's Sarsaparilla readily cures, as it expels all impurities from the blood. Even in cases of poisoning by Paris green, Hood's Sarsaparilla has been remarkably successful. It should be kept constantly in the house for all blood disorders. Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared by C. I. Hood & co.' Lowell, Mass., and is sold by all druggists. 100 Doses $1.

One hug, says a cautious suitor, is worth a dozen love-letters, and it canot be introduced in a breach-of-promise suit.

If you are tired taking the large old-fashioned griping pills, try Carter's Little Liver Pills and take some comfort. A man can't stand everything. One pill a dose.

A Plea for the Press.

Lately indiscriminate abuse of the press has become the fashion, says the Chicago Tribune. Those who have fallen into the habit are, like near sighted people, deliberately breaking their own glasses. A newspaper requires the expenditure of more money and more brains than any other enterprise, and none receives fewer thanks. It is easy enough for the would-be critic, lolling by day in his comfortable armchair in his club, to condemn, without regard to facts, the result of a night's mental toil of many bright men.

How many merchants or professional men could correctly review in the space of a few hours the politics of two continents, the intricate questions of European diplomacy, the debates of Congress and legislative bodies at home and abroad, and all that transpires in the courts, in society, and in the churches, on the railways and the seas? Traffic, the weather, science, explorations, wars, local affairs in endless variety, all comes within the scope of a well-equipped paper. Its managers are also obliged to consider business details and expediency, and to superintend the reportorial and typographical departments. To accomplish all this without committing errors would be superhuman—impossible.

Champions of charities, laborers of love, unceasingly exposing shams and encouraging enterprise, the better part of newspaper men are the most constant in teaching right.

Reporters have the lion's share of abuse. Their lot is often a hard one. Few people take into consideration the temptations that beset those gatherers of news and the difficulties that they must encounter. Poorly-paid, over-worked night toilers, these beginners in journalism as a rule have to pass through a bitter apprenticeship. Boys of all work, the strain put upon them is tremendous.

Their range reaches from the palace to the slums, from hell to heaven; they are everywhere looked upon with suspicion. Is it so strange then, that with so many obstacles in their way they sometimes make mistakes? It is wonderful that they commit so few. Despite all these disadvantages, despite all the condemnation that is heaped upon them, reporters are a band of talented, sprightly, generous men of spirit, mostly straightforward, quick to resent insult and grateful for kindness. No profession embraces so large a proportion of tyros with intellectual grasp.

The political position of newspapers is also apt to be misjudged. If strongly partisan, the edtiors are charged with interested motives; if non-partisan, with lack of conviction. Why should you be less fair to them than to your neighbors, whose opinions you are ready to respect, and whose motives you do not impugn?

Demands for an ideal newspaper are perpetually dinned in editor's ears. Their appreciation of the need of improvement is keener than that of the public, but they are powerless. They have experience, and know that this need must await a civil millenium. When civilization shall have reached the highest perfection, then the ideal daily newspaper, as still the true reflex of life, will become both profitable and possible. Attempt after attempt has thus far failed, mainly for lack of pecuniary assistance and moral support of the moneyed classes, who are prompt to criticise.

The grandest mission conceivable belongs to the newspaper. With inadequate financial or moral encouragement the press keeps apace with the times, in fact, keeps ahead of them. Always a grade better than its surroundings, the best type of American newspaper will surely fulfil its high mission, the enlightenment of mankind, and the realizations of the brightest dreams of all true disciples of progress.

Teacher: "Suppose that you have two sticks of candy, and your big brother gives you two more, how many have you got then?" Little boy (shaking his head): "You don't know him; he ain't that sort of a boy."

"100 Doses One Dollar" is true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy.

HUMOROUS.

Why is a political agitator like a steady mechanic? Because he sticks to his trade.

A case of domestic scandal was under discussion at a tea-table. "Well, let us think the best we can," said an elderly spinster. "Yes," said another; "and say the worst—that's the fashion."

In giving an account of an inquest, the printer chose to state, "The deceased bore an accidental character, and the jury returned a verdict of excellent death."

"My lovey-dovey," he said, "I positively cannot give you a diamond for an engagement ring." "Why, my own popsy-wopsy?" "Because," he wickedly replied, "everybody will say I'm stony-hearted."

Mr. Johnson, in response to a friend who urged him to marry so as to have a helpmate, said he didn't want anybody to help him eat.

"Have you cologne?" she asked "No, ma'am" replied the apothecary "I have no scents at all." She said he didn't look as if he had.

A noted actress declares that she cannot live on $20,000 a year. Lots of people are in the same predicament, but it is because they cannot get the $20,000.

Mr. J. Howard James, manager Stuckert's Livery, 619 N, 5th. street. Philadelphia, Pa., says: After trying all other remedies without relief, for a heavy cold on the chest, accompanied by a severe cough, I used Red Star Cough Cure, and in a very short time was entirely well.

When a woman gets on the shady side of forty, there are two things of which she is positively certain: That she knows more than all Christendom, and that if it wasn't for her gray hairs, people wouldn't take her to be over forty.

A poor, emaciated Irishman, having, in a forlorn hope, called in a physician, the latter spread a large mustard-plaster, and put it on the poor fellows lean chest. Pat, when he with tearful eyes looked down on the plaster, said, "Docther, it strikes me it's a dale of mustard for so little mate!"

Miss Jones was about to marry a military officer, much to her mother's displeasure. "Why, my child," said the latter, "don't you know war may be declared at any moment, and take him away for ever?" "Very well,' was the answer; "a widow of seventeen —what could be more poetic?"

A farmer was invited to a party at a country squire's one evening, where there was music, both vocal and instrumental. On the following morning he met one of the guests, who said, "Well, farmer, how did you enjoy yourself last night? Were not the quarters excellent?" "Why, really, sir, I can't say," said he, "for I didn't taste 'em. But the pork chops were the finest I ever did eat!"

Tom Moore observing himself to be eyed by two handsome young ladies, inquired of a friend who was near enough to hear their remarks, what it was they said of him. "Why, the taller one observed that she was delighted to have had the pleasure of seeing so distinguished a personage." "Indeed!" said the gratified poet. "Anything more?" Yes; she said she was the more pleased, because she had taken in your celebrated 'Almanac' for the last five or six years.

A man who wanted to buy a horse, asked a friend how to tell the horse's age. "By his teeth," was the reply. The next day, the man went to the horse-dealer, who showed him a splendid black horse. The horse-hunter opened the animals mouth and gave one glance, and turned on his heel. "I don't want him," said he; "he's thirty-two years old." He had counted his teeth!"

When the Queen paid her first visit to Scotland, many years ago, the following conversation took place between two countrymen: Sandy: "Well, Jock, hae ye seen the Queen?" Jock: "Ou, ay, I hae seen the Queen. But I wadna gang the length o' the street to see her again. She's just made like ony ither woman, an' they tell't me her arms were a lion an' a unicorn!"

A lady, wishing to illustrate the judgment of Paris, presented to a little girl an apple. "My dear, give this apple to the one of us three whom you consider to be the prettiest." The little girl looked for a moment at the three ladies, and—ate the apple.

Don't put me in the river bank, among the fragrant flowers; nor where the grass is watered by the early Summer showers. But put me in the kitchen range, and open wide the damper, and then my vaporous remains can up the chimney scamper.

"What earthly use is it," exclaimed a languid Washington swell the other morning, "our twying to be awistocwatic; monarchical, and that sort of thing, when a Senator of the United States eats peanuts while widing in the stweet car? We're nothing but a howid wepublic, after all!"

RESCUING A DROWNING MAN.

The Lack of Prompt and Intelligent Action—The Sad Results.

In perhaps twenty or twenty-five minutes from the time when the philosophical observer had noticed the sinking Mr. Leicht's body was brought to the surface and taken ashore. Perhaps fifty persons surrounded it and at least twenty shouted their instructions as loudly as possible, while three or four energetic and inexperienced persons tried hard to follow out every instruction given.

"Roll him on a barrel," cried one. A barrel was handy, and he was placed on it.

"That no good," said another. "Lay him on his back." In a moment he was off the barrel and on his back.

"That'll kill him," cried a third. "Put him on his stomach." "He was turned on his stomach.

"Turn him over on his side," said another, and over he went on his side. "Now" said the last director, "put one arm under his head and pull the other one up." This was done.

"Put salt on his nose," was the next shouted, and while the salt was coming others called to work his arms. Accordingly a man at each arm and each leg jerked his limbs back and forth. As if worried out, the dying man gasped two or three times, but only so many.

Amid the rejoicing this occasioned the salt arrived. Some was crowded into his nose.

"That's no good. Put it in his mouth," somebody else ordered, and some was put in his mouth.

"Here's some brandy. Give him this," said somebody else, and the brandy followed the salt.

A physician had been sent for, but it was half an hour before he came. Meanwhile the crowd had become discouraged, and Leicht was really dead.

"Send for an electric battery," somebody suggested, and in some wonderful way one was found and brought in a few minutes. When it came, however, nobody knew how to use it, and there was no further experimenting on the corpse.

"That's the way many lives are sacrificed," said a physician to whom the reporter told these facts. "Prompt and intelligent action would have saved him and hundreds of others who have been similarly lost. How do I know it would have saved him? Because he breathed after he came out."

"What should have been done?" asked the reporter.

"First, of course, he should have been brought out sooner. Then, when he was out, the water should have been run out of him. This can be done by putting a man on his face with something under his stomach to raise it enough for the water to run out of his mouth. You can easily tell when it is about all out. Rolling on a barrel, if it is not overdone, is not a bad way to do this. When the water is out lay the man on his back. Keep his tongue well forward so that it won't choke up his throat. Tie it with a string and fasten the string to his teeth. That's a good way, and quite easy. Then make him breathe by raising and lowering his arms. Carry them from his side to the top of his head, not too fast—just about fast enough to give him long breaths—and be careful to hold them well back all the time.

"In the meantime a little brandy and rubbing are good, but the two things to do are to get the water out and to make him breathe. If everybody knew enough to do these two things, there'd be less drowning accidents."—New York Herald.

A Quick Insanity Cure.

"I saw a man—an insane one—cured of his insanity in the twinkling of an eye," said a successful looking guest at the Ryan. It was after a late dinner, and he, with a few companions, were seated in the rotunda of that hotel.

"At the time I was an attendant at the Insane asylum at Kalamazoo, Mich. A patient was brought in who had been suffering from a severe case of typhoid fever. He had recovered his health, but his mind was not in the normal condition. He imagined that a watch had got into his head, and that he was bothered by hearing the ticking of the timepiece.

"At the asylum that day was a sleight-of-hand visitor who was to appear in a performance at the asylum that evening, as such little entertainments were frequently given for the amusement of the patients. The sleight-of-hand man asked permission to practice on the new patient. A consultation with the house physician followed, and the visitor was given permission to take the imaginary watch from the head of the new patient. He went up to the patient and asked all sorts of questions about his idea of the watch, and found that the patient represented it as a gold hunting case affair. With this information he made a slight incision in the scalp of the patient's head and apparently drew therefrom a gold hunting case watch.

"The patient appeared relieved at once. He said that he no longer heard the noise and the watch was gone. He was cured then and there, although they kept him for a month or so to make sure of it. At the end of that time some one told him of the trick played upon him, and immediately afterward the mania reappeared and the imaginary watch troubled him. His insanity was incurable and he is still there."—St. Paul Globe.

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

Unknown to Others

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared with the greatest skill and care, by pharmacists of education and long experience. Hence it is a medicine worthy of entire confidence. If you suffer from scrofula, salt rheum, or any disease of the blood, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, or kidney and liver complaints, catarrh or rheumatism, do not fail to try

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all my friends as the best blood purifier on earth." WM. GAFF, druggist, Hamilton, O.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me of scrofulous humor, and done me worlds of good otherwise." C. A. ARNOLD, Arnold, Me.

A book containing many additional statements of cures will be sent to all who desire.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

FALL OF 1886.

BRIDAL SILVER.

Through the summer months we have been having made some new styles in

STERLING SILVER,

and have also ordered an immense stock of the best quality

SILVER PLATED WARE.

These goods will be ready early in September, and we are confident we can offer the largest and finest stock of new goods in Essex County. No House in Boston can show a better line of medium price goods than we shall.

DANIEL LOW,

SALEM.

Wedding and Anniversary Presents a Specialty.

LADIES OF SALEM AND VICINITY,

It affords us pleasure to call your attention to our celebrated

HAND-SEWED SHOES

For Comfort, Beauty and Durability, they are not equalled. They are crumbs of comfort by the wayside.

Beware of Imitations! None genuine without the name Grover on the Sole.

Please Call and Examine them at the Store of

L. CUNNINGHAM.

147 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Agent for Salem and vicinity.

mch 31—1y

Missey

CRAYON ARTIST & PHOTOGRAPHER,

252 Essex Street, Salem,

Having refitted and refurnished our gallery with new Lenses, Cameras, Backgrounds-Accessories, etc., etc., and having one of the largest and finest operating rooms and sky lights in the country, we now have facilities second to none for doing first class work in all branches of Photography.

We have just purchased the finest instruments obtainable for making pictures from 8x10 to 24x24 (full life size) direct from the sitter, and make them either bust, half or full length, or groups. To introduce them we shall make them very low for three months.

We have special facilities for copying old and faded Photographs, Daguerreotypes, Ambrotypes, Tintypes, etc. Before giving your pictures to agents, come to us, and see our samples and get our prices. You can save money and at the same time get better work and not risk the breaking or losing of your pictures in the mails.

We make a specialty of Life Size Free Hand Crayons, made from any kind of picture or from life. One of the advantages, not to speak of the superior artistic qualities, of free hand work over the mechanically finished solars, is that any changes from the original, no matter how great, can be easily made, whereas in the finished solar but very slight changes can be made. We can furnish duplictaes from any negative ever taken by N. C. Bosuley.

Call and see what we are doing, all will be treated courtesy whether anything is desired ornot

SALEM SHOE STORE,

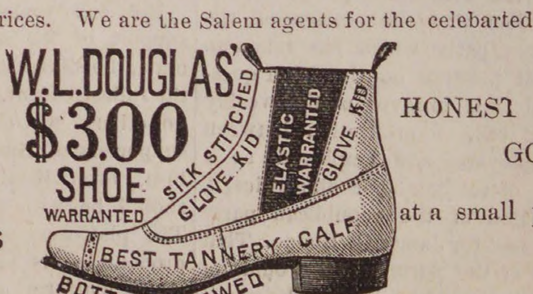
278 ESSEX STREET SALEM

Invite their Peabody customers to inspect their elegant line of

CANVASS AND LAWN TENNIS GOODS

At Reasonable Prices. We are the Salem agents for the celebarted

Button Lace & Congress



HONEST GOODS at a small profit.

Our Men's and Children's Goods are made on the premises. Remember the number,

278 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

Opposite Packard's Furniture Store. T. A. CORSON, Agent.

mch 13—1y

CHOICE VERMONT BUTTER.

We have just received a car load of VERMONT BUTTER which we shall offer by the tub at prices which

— WE WILL NAME WHEN YOU CALL. —

IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE US

Meats and Vegetables of all kinds at the

LOWEST PRICES FOR SPOT CASH.

Ames & Edgerly's Cash Market

NEXT TO SAMUEL TRASK'S

SAVE MONEY

BY TRADING AT

Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store.

Read this array of bargains.

Ladies' Kid Pointed Slippers, hand sewed, only 50 cents. We have about 100 pairs of these slippers, all sizes. Some dealers advertise them as bargains at 75 cts. We have marked them, regardless of cost, at 50 cts.

24 pairs of Ladies' Fine Congress, hand-sewed reduced to 75 cents.

60 pairs of Ladies' Leather Buskins, hand sewed, all sizes, only 50 cts.

101 pairs Misses' New York Button, reduced to $2.25. This is the price asked for a common grain school boot; but we will sell them at this ridiculously low price. We have these strong, durable and stylish school boots on all sizes and half sizes, widths, B, C, D and E.

One lot of Children's Grain School Boot only $1.00. This is a genuine bargain. They are made by the East New York Shoe Co., and have always been recognized as the most durable and stylish school shoe made. We have a large stock of them on two widths, sizes and half sizes.

72 pairs of Children's Kid Spring-Heel Button only 50 cents.

48 pairs of Men's Sewed Veal Calf Bals and Congress reduced to $1.50.

REPAIRING DEPARTMENT. Men's boots tapped and heeled, 75 cents. The best stock and satisfaction guaranteed.

NUGENT BROS.,

Foster St., Peabody Mass.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers

THE NOMINATION of John F. Andrew, by the Democrats of the State, shows a curious interchange of politics in the party which has taken him up. He has no more affiliation with the democratic party as it has existed for the last twenty-five years than hundreds of good republicans whom we could name. His single and only opposition to that party to which he has belonged was the nomination of James G. Blaine. Like many other disappointed politicians, who have failed to see the object of their ambition accomplished, he flies for refuge to the opposite party—which party has put him forward, not as a representative of their own ideas, but with the hope of drawing votes from the element in the republican party which voted for Cleveland instead of Blaine.

If the democratic party had any expectation of electing a democrat they never would have nominated Mr. Andrew. Mr. Cleveland was not elected President by the democrats—nor does the party expect success in this State save by the accession of voters who do not belong to the old democratic party. The labor vote began to drift from the democratic party two years ago when Gen. Butler was nominated for the presidency. It was to conciliate them and to bring them back, if possible, to the support of their candidates, that Foster was nominated. Both men have been bitter opponents of the party which has now accepted them as standard bearers; neither men are in sympathy with the party, its record or its promises.

The nominations of the republican party, on the other hand, are put forward as representatives of the party as it exists to-day. Both men are republicans—and have filled positions of honor within the gift of the republican party. Both men are in sympathy with the advanced platform of the republican party—and should commend themselves to the suffrages of the common people, to the laboring men of Massachusetts, far more than the nominees of the democratic party. It is a curious fact that the portion of the republican party which has taken an advanced position on the labor question, which is in favor of the weekly payment bill, of arbitration between the employers and employed as a method of settling labor difficulties, is the portion of the republican party which voted for James G. Blaine. That portion of the party which would not accept Blaine, which bolted the nomination and voted for Cleveland, because of the purity of his character in comparison with that of Blaine, that portion which is now expected to vote for John F. Andrew, is the portion of the republican party which stands aloof from the position which the party and the platform has taken in regard to the measures to which we have referred. Mr. Andrew, with his record, is a fair representative of these men, and could reasonably commend himself to their suffrages. But with the bulk of the republican party, and the portion of the democratic party who are expected to vote for Foster, he is entirely at variance.

A vote for Andrew and Foster in this State is a vote for a combination which is gotten up for the sole purpose of trading in votes, to defeat the republican party. It means nothing—it represents nothing. President Cleveland does not represent the party in Massachusetts. His course and entire administration has been a bitter pill to them, and if it was sustained by the party, its course regarding Massachusetts fisheries has been such as to call for the condemnation of every true lover of the prosperity of the industry of his State. So far as Mr. Andrew represents the Cleveland democracy, he deserves nothing at the hands of the Massachusetts voters.

WE CANNOT see that our position regarding the strength of Gen. Cogswell, in this congressional district, is at all weakened by what we said last week regarding Litchman, and the comments of the Salem Gazette, that he was one of the ardent workers for Cogswell. We did not intimate that Gen. Cogswell would have any support outside of his own party because of any affiliations with the democratic or labor party. It is usually a strong point with a candidate that his popularity is such that he will run ahead of his party ticket. If the editor of the Gazette were a candidate we think he would be very glad to have it said that his personal popularity was such that he would run ahead of his ticket, in other words, that he would draw votes from the other party. But it is one thing to do this, and be a republican through and through, as Gen. Cogswell is, and another thing to do it because of alliances with other parties. The manner in which reference was made to Litchman, by the Gazette, would give the inference that because of the support of Litchman as a Knight of Labor, Gen. Cogswell was unworthy the suffrages of the republican voters. This is what we objected to, not that he had Litchman's support, for we plainly stated that the republican party were glad of the labor support last year, and why should they not be so this year?

The inference, by this allusion, coupled with the manner in which reference was made to it, that the Gazette meant to throw cold water on the candidacy of Gen. Cogswell, is made stronger by the Gazette's silence in commending the nominee of the convention to the voters. This silence is the more noticeable because of the usual plain speaking of the Gazette, and because of the residence of the nominee. If Gen. Cogswell has not the support of the Gazette, he has the support and will have the votes of the Gazette's constituency, and perhaps as that paper itself says, "we do not know that newspaper influence counts very much for or against any man. We do know that the nomination of Gen. Cogswell is favorably received by the republicans of this part of the district, even by those who opposed his nomination at the caucuses and in the convention, and believe that he will receive the full party vote in this vicinity. More than this, we believe he will receive other support, and largely from the labor element, the old greenback labor party, so-called, who will not and cannot vote for Col. Jonas H. French.

THE NOMINATION of Col. Jonas H. French, in this congressional district, was as much a surprise to the old line democrats as to the supporters of Mr. Spaulding. Many of the regular democrats in this vicinity last week had conceded the nomination of Spaulding, but it began to be developed on the day of the convention that the supporters of Spaulding were not as strong as either they or their opponents anticipated. Col. French is perfectly satisfactory to the democrats of long standing in the district. In fact his nomination has been the cherished wish of their heart. He is a democrat of democrats—a supporter of the administration and a believer, according to his speech of acceptance, in civil service reform.

He will undoubtedly receive the support of the administration democrats, the silver tops of the party, to the fullest extent. For that reason, if no other, we cannot see how the supporters of Spaulding could vote for him, even if the latter gentleman should be withdrawn from the field. The platform which Spaulding has propounded is as far from the democratic platform as the two poles of a magnet. Spaulding never was a democrat—and never will be. If he had been nominated, it would have been as great a piece of inconsistency as the nomination of Andrew. Still it looked probable last week that it would be done.

No Essex County man, recognizing the claims of the people of Gloucester on the fishery question, realizing that Col. French is a supporter of that democratic administration which has entirely ignored those claims, can consistently vote for Col. French—be he democrat or not. The course of the administration on this question ought to elect a clean republican ticket in this county this fall, and we believe such will be the case.

No labor man, supporting Mr. Spaulding in the convention, can consistently vote for Col. French. Despite the speech of acceptance, in which he went down on his knees and begged for the support of the Knights of Labor, he has nothing in common with the laboring man. He was the last man in the city of Gloucester to accept the ten hour law, and the laboring men know it, despite his denial of the fact at the convention. With much greater consistency could the laboring man support Gen. Cogswell. The record of the latter has been shown during the last two years—in the Massachusetts Senate—in favor of the measures which have been asked by the labor party of the State. It is during this period that the republican party has incorporated into its platform some of the measures asked for by this party,—and in the advocacy of these measures in the legislature the laboring man has had no warmer or truer friend than Gen. William Cogswell.

We do not say that Gen. Cogswell or the republican party is in sympathy with the Knights of Labor, or in favor of their platform. Far from it. But we do say that some of the doctrines of the labor party are true, and have been accepted by the republican party. And we affirm that the labor party, in voting for Gen. Cogswell, would vote more consistently than to vote for Col. Jonas H. French. But we anticipate the large proportion of them will vote for Spaulding. Undoubtedly an attempt will be made to take him from the field, but it cannot be successful. Mr. Spaulding is not a man so easily retired or so readily disposed of. He has been sustained by the nominations, already, of two parties, and a fusion between his friends and the friends of Col. French, while not impossible, is a thing which is very unlikely to happen.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The rumor about District-Attorney Hurlburt being in league with liquor dealers of Lawrence, which has been published in some of the Boston papers, is too silly to be believed. Mr. Hurlburt's past record is a sufficient guarantee against all such acts as this. The facts of the case are that the liquor dealers of the county are determined upon defeating him, and do not scruple to employ scandal or any other similar weapon at their disposal.—Lynn Union.

We hope the above from the Union is true. We confess that we have been considerably annoyed at some of the rumors which have been in circulation regarding Mr. Hurlburt, and can readily understand that his enemies in the democratic party are working against his nomination. There is no going back of his record during the three years in which he has served the county, and that record ought to counteract and does counteract much that is said against him in these times. That record, in comparison with the work of other district attorneys both in this county and elsewhere in the State, is a luminous one. Not only in the prosecution of liquor cases, but in the lucid presentation of other criminal cases, he has received the commendation, in a public manner, of the judges who have presided in our Criminal Courts. If he is nominated by the democrats, we hope the republicans will use wisdom in their nomination for this office. If he receives the support of the rum element of the democratic party, both in the nomination and afterwards, we certainly cannot advise the republicans to bolt the nomination of Mr. Moody, of Haverhill, should he be the choice of the republican convention.

Ex-Postmaster Blunt has announced his intention to support Gen. Cogswell, which he is bound to do as an honorable man, but he does more than this, he urges his friends to do likewise, and this does him credit.—Salem Observer.

It certainly does do him credit, and is just what we had reason to expect from the honorable man which we have always believed Mr. Blunt to be. The Haverhill Gazette says the republicans of this district are always promising Haverhill something, and political promises often don't count for much. But we do believe that the friends of Gen. Cogswell will not forget the manly action of Mr. Blunt at this time. We could not believe that the Haverhill Gazette, in its refusal to abide by the results of the convention, represented the republican votes of the city of Haverhill. We are glad to know that in such action the Gazette has not the commendation of Mr. Blunt himself. Such a policy would be suicidal to all aspirations which Mr. Blunt and the Haverhill people have in the future from the republican conventions of the district. The Newburyport Herald voices the sentiment of the republicans of this part of the county exactly: "The Gazette intimates in another column that the republicans of Haverhill will bolt the nomination. They can do so, but with what hope can they look to the support in the future of any whom they shall present for its suffrages, especially if it should be Mr. Blunt, if they should bolt because they were angry at defeat? General Cogswell has been in public life, and has a reputation for ability far superior to that of the candidate the Haverhill delegation presented, and it is a baby cry to threaten to vote against a candidate who was fairly nominated in one of the fairest conventions ever held in this district, or to refuse to vote for the successful candidate. Suppose Mr. Blunt had been nominated, and those who did not vote for him should have threatened his defeat, how would Haverhill have liked that?"

Gen. Cogswell has more to fear to-day from the kind of support the Peabody Press is giving him than from any republican opposition he is likely to get from any part of our district.—Salem Gazette.

We cannot help wondering what is to be the effect of the kind of support the Gazette is giving Gen. Cogswell. We have looked carefully at the columns of the Gazette both before and after his nomination, and fail to find a single word or a single line from the Gazette itself, editorially, commending him to the voters of the county. It has spoken its mind freely regarding the gubernatorial nominees; it has taken a column to explain why Dawes should be re-elected to the U. S. Senate and John D. Long should not; but it is and has been entirely silent regarding the Congressional nominee, save to give the fact of his nomination, a bit of his history, carefully credited to the Boston Advertiser, and to claim that he has the support of Charles H. Litchman. We think it is a fair question to ask the Gazette whether or not it proposes to advocate the election of Gen. Cogswell.

The Gazette mistook our reference to its editor "because of his failure to secure the nomination." We meant two years ago, not this year, and thought that the connection between our statement and the succeeding sentence was sufficiently plain to make it clear. We did not suppose Editor Horton was a candidate this year; in fact the Gazette plainly intimated, if it did not distinctly affirm, that he was not. But we have not been able to explain, and cannot now explain, the failure of the Gazette to support Gen. Cogswell, or say any thing in his favor, and that, too, when the nominee is supported solidly by his party in Salem, save from the fact that Editor Horton did not receive the nomination himself two years ago. That may not be the reason, but we don't know of any other.

Before there is much more said regarding the support or refusal to support the Republican candidate for Congress in this district by the Gazette, we submit that his merits and claims for the nomination be expressed by some republican paper of his own city. There was a marked absence of this before the nomination; the same thing is apparent now.—Haverhill Gazette.

The Salem Evening Telegram, which claims to be a republican paper, both before and after the nomination has actively supported Gen. Cogswell. The Salem Observer, also, has supported him. The above remark certainly does not apply to these two republican papers.

When the attempt was made in the Democratic Congressional Convention to make Col. French's nomination unanimous, it was opposed by the delegates from his own people of Gloucester. That shows what they think of him at home.

The editorial in the Haverhill Laborer, regarding the Chicago anarchists, will not commend Foster, the democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor, to the people of this State. If it represents the views of Foster, he should not receive a vote from the law-abiding citizens of this State.

It is not foreigners who are to be most dreaded and against whom organization is in order, but the class of politicians, whether foreign born or native born, who have a wrong and dangerous notion of the responsibilities of public office and an imperfect apprehension of the nature of our free institutions, and the privileges of American citizenship. The clannish, the ignorant, the base, the incompetent, the corrupt are always with us and always to be opposed, but they cannot be segrated by a line of race or color or nativity. Experience, already abundant, shows that we cannot make sure of having capable and honest officials by limiting the range of selection to native Americans, or white men, or to Protestants, or to educated men, or to men of property—and this will soon be discovered by the people of California. Patriotism is a virtue, but it is a great mistake to assume that all native Americans are safely patriotic and all others are not to be trusted.—Boston Advertiser.

That was a good letter of Mr. Andrew's on the money matter, and a manly one. It looks rather queer, however, to see such hearty commendation of it in the Globe's editorial columns, and also the notice in italics for the democrats of Boston to come up and register.—Boston Record.

The New York Sun, in a double leaded editorial in the Democratic nominations in Massachusetts thus speaks: Mr. Andrew grew up in the most intolerant Republicanism afforded by this country, that of Boston, and we believe that his first vote was cast in 1876, and we risk nothing in saying that he voted for Rutherford B. Hayes. In 1884 he was a delegate to the Republican National Convention, and we suppose he was in favor of Mr Edmunds for President. At any rate, failing to beat Blaine in that Convention, he turned to Cleveland, and now he has been chosen as the figurehead of the Bay State Democrats. What a fortuitous chain of circumstances! Since 1861 the Democracy have maintained one of the most tireless, indomitable, and glorious struggles ever known in party politics, to regain what they had lost. There have been times when no hopeful end to the contest was in sight. If the Democratic leaders who have died within the last twenty-five years could have foreseen such results of their labors as this, they would probably have given the thing up. And yet the result is, as illustrated by this nomination in Massachusetts, that they were not fighting for the benefit of themselves or of their sons, but for the benefit of the son of an old antagonist, and who, nearly up to the present time, has walked dutifully in the respectable procession of Massachusetts Republicans, abetting as he could the party's efforts to perpetuate its power either by the ballot or by fraud. When the great Democrat, Samuel J. Tilden, was solemnly looking upon the progress of the fatal conspiracy by which the Presidency was kept out of his hands and the fruits of his administration of that office from the Democracy, Mr. John Forrester Andrew was probably chattering in fashionable Boston of the glories of the Republicans and of his detestation of the party that had beaten them. Mr. Andrew, if he voted, gave his vote to defeat Hancock in 1880, and would have done the same by the Democrats in 1884 if the Republicans had nominated his candidate, or if the Democrats had nominated Mr. Thurman or Mr. Randall. Such an event as this, however, cannot have been wholly unexpected. Democratic organizations that have carried on their contest for a quarter of a century have been forced, in a great measure, since the election of 1884, to stand aside and see another will than their own and other ideas than those for which they had contended prevail. Since the election of 1884 the discussion has been continual as to whether it actually was a victory or not, whether the Democracy, in electing their ticket, had really achieved a triumph. The election in New York in 1885 indicated that the triumph had been genuine, but this does not appear to have been the case in New England; for no Democrat can look upon the nomination of Mr. Andrew without being forced to the conclusion that the Democracy has been whipped in Massachusetts.

Mr Spaulding was unable to meet with the assessors this afternoon. He had been summoned to Beverly to the democratic convention, and after consultation it was decided to nominate him for Councillor from this district on the condition that he should retire from the representative contest. Mr Spaulding declined to consummate the arrangement, and would not withdraw. The Haverhill Laborer says "there can be no union on Jonas H French, and calls upons the labor men to rally and elect Mr Spaulding.

Nugent Bros have a new awning in front of their boot & shoe store.

Every one is happy made,
Who at Nugent's Shoe Store trade.

New Advertisements.

M. B. WILSON

announces to the Ladies of Salem and vicinity, that having returned from New York with a large stock of

NEW AND ELEGANT GOODS,

— FOR THE —

Fall and Winter of 1886,

She is prepared to show

TRIMMED

BONNETS AND ROUND HATS,

— IN THE —

VERY LATEST STYLES,

AND AT THE

LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES.

All are cordially invited to call and examine at

262 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS.

To all persons who are or may become interested in the estate given in trust for the benefit of SALLY SPRAGUE NOYES and others, in the last will and testament of Eben S. Upton, late of Peabody, in said county, gentleman, deceased, and to all persons whose issue not now in being may become interested in said estate.

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Frank C. Merrill, the trustee of said estate, has presented to said court his petition praying that he may be authorized to sell certain real estate situate on Franklin street, in said Peabody, either at public auction or at private sale, discharged of said trust.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of November next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have against the same. And said trustee is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, for three successive weeks, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of October, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

oct 13—3t

TOWN HALL,

ONE NIGHT ONLY.

Saturday, Oct. 16.

The Laughing Attraction

LANGS COMEDY COMIQUES.

In three act Musical Comedy entitled

SCHEMING.

A First-class Company of COMEDIANS & VOCALISTS.

DON'T MISS IT.

POPULAR PRICES, 25, 35 and 50.

Reserved Seats at Spaulding's drug store.

REPORT

Of the condition of the SOUTH DANVERS NATIONAL BANK, at Peabody, in the State of, Massachusetts, at the close of business, Oct. 7 1886:

RESOURCES.
Loans and Discounts	$243,553.71
Overdrafts	42.05
U. S. Bonds to secure Circulation	150,000.00
Due from approved reserved agents	5,911.88
Due from other National Banks	512.73
Real estate, furniture and fixtures	3,000.00
Premiums paid	5,962.50
Checks and other cash items	2,791 09
Bills of other Banks	3,144.00
Fractional paper currency, nickels and cents	71.60
Specie	5,572.95
Legal-tender notes	3,500.00
Redemption Fund with U. S. Treasurer, (5 per cent of circulation,)	6,750.00
Total	$433,811.91
LIABILITIES.
Capital stock paid in	$150,000.00
Surplus fund	75,000.00
Undivided profits	4,705 16
National Bank notes outstanding	135,000.00
Dividends unpaid	2,699.00
Individual deposits subject to check	65,359.87
Due to other National Banks	1,047.88
Total	$433,811.91

STATE OF MASSACHUSETTS, } ss.
COUNTY OF ESSEX, }

I, G. M. FOSTER, Cashier of the above-named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

G. M. FOSTER, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 12th day of October, 1886.

GEORGE HOLMAN,
Notary Public.

Correct—Attest:
W. P. CLARK,
WARREN SHAW, } Directors.
EDGAR W. UPTON,

Peabody, October 12, 1886.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS.

To all persons interested in the estate of PRESCOTT E. GRANT, late of Peabody, in said County, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, Henry Wardwell, the Administrator of said estate, has presented to said Court his petition praying that he may be authorized to compromise a claim in favor of said estate against Dennis J. Mullea and a claim against James Remmick upon the terms set forth in said petition, said claims being promissory notes secured by mortgages on real estate

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Salem, in said County of Essex, on the first Monday of November next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same. And said petioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week for three successive weeks in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of October, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

oct 13—3t

SALEM ORATORIO SOCIETY.

The first rehearsal will be held at

ACADEMY HALL,

(rear of East India Marine Museum,)

Wednesday Evening, Oct. 27, '86,

At 7.30 o'clock. Succeeding rehearsals held as usual on Thursday evenings.

GOUNOD'S REDEMPTION will be given for the first work and Handel's JUDAS MACCABÆUS the second work.

Books and Membership tickets can be obtained at E. V. Emilio's music store, 245 Essex street, excepting on rehearsal evenings when they will be found at the hall.

Applicants for membership can leave their names at E. V. Emilio's store or with any member of the Board of Directors.

GEO. A. SHEPARD, Sec'y.

Republican Senatorial Convention.

The Republicans of the Fifth Essex Senatorial District are requested to send delegates to a Convention to be held in Town Hall, Danvers, on Thursday, Oct. 21, at 9.30 o'clock in the forenoon, to nominate a candidate for Senator and also to elect a member of the Republican State Central Committee for the year 1887. The basis of representation is one delegate from each ward in a city or each town and one additional delegate for each fifty Republican votes or majority fraction cast for President at the last election thereof.

J. OTIS WARDWELL,
Member of Republican State Central Committee for Fifth Essex District.

The Massachusetts

TITLE INSURANCE COMPANY

23 Milk St., Boston,

EXAMINES TITLES TO REAL ESTATE.

Insures its search and opinion, and undertakes work usually confided to conveyances. Charges moderate and known before work is begun.

NATHANIEL J. BRADLEY, Pres't.
ARNOLD A. RAND, Vice Pres't. and Man'r,

oct 13—1 mo

GUILD PIANO CO.

Offer Bargains in Square & Uprights,
Special style Upright, $205.

217 Tremont St., Boston.

oct 13—1t

THE NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

Boston Sunday Record.

BRIGHT, CRISP & ORIGINAL.

THE REPUBLICAN SUNDAY PAPER.

BUY IT.

Sold by all Newsdealers.

oct 13—1 mo

VISIT

CURTIS' CANDY STORE

ICE CREAM DINING ROOMS,

— AND —

BAKERY,

No. 200 Essex Street, Salem.

Goods made fresh every day on the premises.

GOOD GOODS.

LOW PRICES.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS. PROBATE COURT

To the Heirs-at-law, Next of Kin, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of MALACHI F. BATCHELDER, late of Peabody, in said county, gardener, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Rosina C. Batchelder and Orlando A. Foster, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them the executors therein named.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the third Monday of October next at nine o'clock, before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same. And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

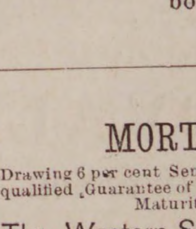
Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

sep 29—3t

J. P. COBB,

BARITONE & HUMOROUS VOCALIST.



Churches, Societies, Lodges, etc., intending to give entertainments this season, will do well to send for Circular and Terms.

PRIVATE GATHERINGS

A SPECIALTY.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.

ADDRESS,

J. P. COBB, CARE O. DITSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

oct 6—4t

Rose Buds and Pinks.

WEDDING and FUNERAL FLOWERS.

PEABODY GREENHOUSES

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

MORTGAGES

Drawing 6 per cent Semi-Annual Interest. Unqualified Guarantee of Principal and Interest at Maturity, by

The Western Security Company.

Organized in 1874. CAPITAL paid in cash, 100,000. We offer for sale and recommend these securities to lenders of money.

The Eastern Banking Company.

43 Milk Street, Boston.

FRANCIS A. OSBORN, President.
EDWARD T. MERRIHEW. Treasurer.

oct 6—3 mos.

ECONOMY!

YOU CAN SAVE FROM $20.00 to $40.00 per quarter by purchasing an ÆOLIAN ORGAN, on which all classes of music are perfectly rendered, without practice or instruction from expensive teachers. Call and examine our full line ranging in price from $5.00 to $250.00. Send for illustrated catalogue.

H. C. HALL & CO.,

578 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

oct 13—4t

TO LET.

The factory recently vacated by the Vaughn Morocco Machine Company, situated on Walnut Street. The building is in thorough repair and suitable for manufacturing purposes.

Apply to
J. W. VAUGHN, Washington St., Peabody, or Peabody St., Salem.

sept 22—4t

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening Oct. 13, 1886,

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

A sermon in memory of Mrs. George Montreuil, a member of the Methodist Church of this town, and who deceased last week, was preached last Sundav by Rev. Geo. A. Phinney, pastor of that church. There was a large congregation present, and Mr. Phinney took for his text John XII:3, "And the house was filled with the odor of the ointment.'' The preacher said substantially:

"A captain sailing down the Wareham river one day felt his way along that narrow channel with deep anxiety lest he should run aground. But at last, when reaching the mouth of the river where a broad expanse of sapphire sea was opened to him, he cried with a sense of relief and freedom: 'Let her go.' In eulogizing this child of God to-day, my pen is not confined to any narrow channel. I hear God whispering to me, 'Preacher, let your pen sweep its full arc! You are out on the ocean; boundless opportunity is afforded, you!' Wendell Phillips' improved translation of one of Cicero's maxims was: 'Of the dead say nothing, unless you can say something good.' I want to speak this afternoon upon this subject, on the fragrance of a holy life!

Life is experimental. All its experiences are made effective in the growth of character. We are capable of producing something more than works of invention, art, philosophy and science. Man's highest efficiency and grandeur is seen, not in the handling of electric forces, nor in the consummation of great schemes in architecture, but in his development of character. The generous impulses of a kind heart, the pure thought of a well-balanced brain, the holy aspirations of a sincere soul, the steady nerve of an unyielding, invincible faith, are the wires on which messages are borne to men of the life we live. This is the way we make men feel us. They feel us when they do not hear us.

God made the deceased in one of His finest moulds. I have been impressed with her natural, sublime serenity of soul. She was as calm as a summer's evening. Through all her sickness she seemed to lie, like a placid lake, unruffled in the arms of God. She had a heart of broad sympathy. Her affability was worth our possession. Her moral texture was of the finer sort. She had less of that unfortunate propensity of the race, she was unselfish. How lamentable it is to see a soul warped out of the symmetry and beauty of a well-developed womanhood, by this Satanic tendency. God's power broadens the soul. One stroke of Damascus fire led Paul to take the Gentile world upon his heart. A Christ-like soul has come to the city out of sight. Its pearly gates swing apart until they strike hard against the topaz and the amethyst of the New Jerusalem's walls. Our sister was large in her charity to the church. Women are sometimes unconsciously great stumbling-stones by their ceaseless day and night plannings and connivances to limit their husband's charity. If we do not want to give to God 'tis no less a sin to try to shut off the spontaneousness of another soul's generosity.

The deceased was a spiritual woman. She talked freely on the subject of religion. She led the life which Jesus spoke about to the Woman of Samaria, 'A well of water springing up into everlasting life.' Her most absorbing thought was destiny, her most constant prayer for the church that 'it might grow in grace and in the knowledge of God, and gather many souls into the kingdom.' There was a sublime comprehensiveness in this prayer. There was a music not heard on any of the instruments of men; a music superior to an angel's touch, coming from her life, for it vibrated the experiences of redeeming, sanctifying love. At times our sister stood as the ancients used to paint St. Cecilia, with an instrument of music and her fingers on the notes, as though she thought she heard the angels singing and was trying to repeat the song on earth. Oh, what a melody from her heart I have heard! I have thought sometimes her fingers were playing on the strings of David's harp, when, to use an Italian phrase, dolce mente, her soul responded, 'For in time of trouble He shall hide me in His pavilion,' and then with a crescendor she seemed to pour out her soul's rejoicings, "And now shall my head be lifted up above mine enemies round about me; therefore will I offer in His tabernacle sacrifices of joy; I will sing, yea, I will sing praises unto the Lord.' God be praised for such a music-making life.

The final thought to be woven as a most precious flower into the garland laid on the bower of the departed is the heroic element in her life. Circumstances are a mighty stimulus to action. Our heroines are not conspicuous figures in the foreground of recorded history, but, like the greatest suns, are buried in obscurity in the blue secrets of the heavens. Our sister knew the end of the fatal beginning. With her own mortal eye she saw the last picture on the unrolled panorama of her life. She came down to the grave with the heart of a heroine. With patience she stood on the brink of her bitter Marah singing the angel's song, 'Glory to God in the Highest.' She has now joined the galaxy of faith heroes, who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained the promises, out of weakness were made strong, endured torturing, not accepting deliverance, that they might obtain a better resurrection.

Hark, for a moment! I feel the hush of approaching death. I see a light in the darkness. God is enwreathing the stars of heaven into a crown of life for her. Some one is on the river! I hear the delicate dip of the muffled oar! O, boatman! Would'st thou not tell us before thou takest thy precious freight, is it a long and weary passage to that city? Tell us what death is! And the angels only whispered "Step, step up, thou child of God." "Enter thou into the joy of thy Lord!"

"God doth not bid thee wait
To disappoint at last;
A golden promise fair and great
In precept mould is cast.
Soon shall the morning gild
The dark horizon rim,
Thy heart's desire shall be fulfilled,
Wait patiently for Him.

The weary waiting hours
Are but the muffled peels,
Low, preluding, celestial chimes,
That hail His chariot wheels.
Trust Him to tune thy voice,
To blend with seraphim;
His 'wait' shall issue in 'rejoice,'
Wait patiently for Him!"

The republicans met in caucus last evening to choose delegates to the County, Councilor and Senatorial conventions. There was the usual attendance. Hon B C Perkins was elected chairman and Frank C Merrill secretary. Committees were appointed to retire and nominate a list of delegates and they reported as follows and they were accepted. County and Councillor: James P King, Dr C C Pike, Frank T Arnold, Ed W Abbott, Cyrus T Batchelder, Reuben G Nelson, Dr George S Osborne. Senatorial: James P King, O B Chadwick, Dr George S Osborne, Warren Shaw, Fred G Preston, C K Hutchinson, Frank E Farnham, Albert H Merrill, John P Fernald, George F Sanger, Henry W Morgan, Charles H Goulding, C T Batchelder. The delegates to the County convention will vote for H F Hurlburt and the majority of the Senatorial delegates for Newton P Frye.

The following resolution was offered and accepted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that we, the republican voters of Peabody, here assembled, express our hearty approval of the manly and fearless manner in which Henry F Hurlburt, Esq., our present District Attorney, has filled the office in the past and we urge upon the republican convention his nomination.

Last Friday a gang of prisoners were taken from Salem jail to Lawrence. Among them as they passed through town, was Crowley, the wife murderer; Cunningham, the non union man who used his revolver too freely and the boy, Cannon, another of Peabody's criminals. Crowley was the object of considerable curiosity on the train. He has greatly improved in looks since his commitment and was laughing and joking with his companions.

Last Thursday night, about thirty of the friends of Miss Lizzie, daughter of Peter Langley, the well-known baggage master at the station, assembled at the house, it being the occasion of her twelfth birthday. She was the recipient of a pair of gold bracelets from her parents, and other presents from friends. Refreshments were served, and it was a pleasant time for all concerned.

The Ladies Social Circle of the Universalist church elected the following officers last Wednesday evening: President, Mrs. Charles H. Brooks; Vice Presidents, Mrs. William P. Clark, Mrs. Alonzo Raddin, Mrs. R. G. Nelson, Mrs. Warren Shaw; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Frank C. Merrill. They will hold their annual fair early in December.

The social dancing party of the St. John's C. T. A. Society at Town hall, last Monday evening, was well attended, and mnch enjoyed by all present. The young men who had the arrangements in charge attended to every detail in a faithful manner.

The boys in one of our school rooms, by a preconcerted arrangement, managed to jar the room so that the windows rattled and the teacher was considerably frightened, thinking there was an earthquake.

The semi-annual meeting of the Essex South Conference will meet in the Congregational church, Lynnfield Centre, tomorrow.

Hemmenway & Caller have dissolved partnership, and the business will be conducted by Caller & Ferrin.

ALL WOOL

TRICOTS.

The most desirable aud most durable Dress Goods in the market, in

SEAL, NAVY, GARNET, MYRTLE, BLACK, and BROWNS,

At only 50 cts. per yard—in double fold at PEABODY'S.

Jerseys.

Boucle Jersey for $2.00, $2.25 and $2.50. Very choice styles at way down prices.

Velvets.

All the choice colors in regular $1.50 Velvets, for only $1.00 per yard.

Ribbons.

Velvet faced Ribbons—Picot Ribbons—Satin and Gros Grain Ribbons, etc. A new stock now open.

Feathers,
Pompons,
Plumes,
Velvets,
Bonnets,
Hats,
&c., &c.

Waterbury watches.

Boys wont forget the price—every watch perfect—$2.50, $2.50, $2.50.

Finger Rings, Ear Jewels, Bracelets, Chains, &c., &c.

WEDDING PRESENTS A SPECIALTY.

John P. Peabody,

SALEM.

STOVES AND RANGES.

We have a large stock of Parlor Stoves for the fall of 1886, among which are the HARVEST, PALLAS, SOMERSET, and WELCOME PARLOR STOVES, making our line of these goods equal to any shown in this city.

FOR RANGES

We offer the GOOD NEWS and NEW HUB RANGES, everywhere acknowledged to have no equal, with a full line of medium priced Ranges.

Also a good stock of

LIBRARY VASE and STAND LAMPS, CROCKERY and HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS.

LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH.

☞ Easy Terms on Instalments.

WADLEIGH & MORSE.

81 North St.,

SALEM

BANKRUPT SALE

Of and Imported stock of

Human Hair Goods

The chance that comes but once in a life time.

The extensive stock of Mr. Leonard, the great importer and dealer of fine hair goods, was sold at auction last week in Boston. We were large purchasers of the same at merely nominal prices, and we propose to give our customers the benefit of the same. We have elegant waves at less than one quarter the original price. Crimps for 10c, 25c, 37c up. Warranted water curl ones for 50 and 75 cts.

Hair Switches for 25c, 50c, up. Gray Switches, a full line, from $2 up.

Polished Hair Crimping Irons 25c. Regular price $1.

Fluffy Fedore Curlers 15c, regular price 30c Ornaments, Hair Pins, etc., etc.

COME & EXAMINE.

Mrs. J. H. Browne's

153 & 155 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

Also Remember all our Trimmed Hats and Bonnets will be closed out at Bargain prices. We have the largest stock to select from in the city

BROWNE'S

Next door to the Museum.

STRAWBERRIES,

POT GROWN.

Plants of Leading Varieties.

By setting in AUGUST will secure fruit the following season.

PLANTS ready now. Send for Circular, or call on

E. & C WOODMAN,

FLORIST AND GARDEN SUPPLIES,

DANVERS, MASS.

Greenhouses, Holten St., Tapleyville, on line of Horse R. R.

HAVE YOU SEEN OUR

NEW NECKWEAR?

OUR STYLES ARE
OUR PRICES ARE {CORRECT.

LINEN COLLARS.

Over twenty different styles to select from. Finest grade 20 cts. each

$2.00 a dozen. Also the best 4 Ply Linen Collar on the market.

W. S. NEAL & CO.,

228 & 230 Essex St., Salem.

1886.

FALL and WINTER GOODS.

1 Case each LADIES MERINO UNDERWEAR, 50, 75, $1.00.

LADIES' and MISSES' WOOLEN HOSE, 20, 25, 37, 50.

BLANKETS and COMFORTERS,

$1.00 to $6.00. 62 cents to $2.50.

F. D. TARLTON,

42 MAIN STREET.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

LADIES'

Third and Fourth Grand Excursions to Salem.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 13th,

(Via Salem & Danvers Horse Cars.)

FRIDAY, OCT. 15th,

(Via Naumkeag Street R. R.)

FROM PEABODY.

☞ Notice the dates and different lines of Horse Cars, WEDNESDAY, Salem & Danvers. FRIDAY, Naumkeag.

The success of our first railroad excursions ever inaugurated in this vicinity has been such that we have now made arrangements with the Naumkeag Street R. R. and the Salem & Danvers Horse Railroad to make half fares for the ladies on the above dates, and in order that the ladies may not be made to feel the least delicacy in asking for a ticket, coupons will be furnished by the conductors which will entitle any lady to a free return ticket at our office, whether purchaser or not. Please visit all of the three floors of our establishment, which is not only the lightest but contains the largest stock and assortment of new goods in the city. Special Bargains will be offered on the days the RAILROADS MAKE HALF FARES.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

Essex and Washington Street,

SALEM, MASS.

☞ STORE NOT OPEN EVENINGS.

THE "OLD RELIABLE"
Family and Agricultural Newspaper, THE

New England Farmer

Under New Management, preserves all its Old and Well-known Excellencies, and introduces

Many new and valuable featues,
Including a Woman's Department.

All of its Editors are Practical Persons.

$2.00 per Year in Advance. Samples free.
Address

NEW ENGLAND FARMER,
34 Merchants Row, Boston, Mass.

OATMEAL FOR POULTRY.

We have to offer a small lot of fine Oatmeal for poultry and calves. Is sweet but not fresh for grocers trade. Price very low.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central st.

oct 6

HOWE & CO.

COMMISSION BROKERS,

13 Exchange Place, Boston.

New York and Boston Stocks bought and sold up cash or carried on a margin of 1 per cent, or forward.

Grain, provisions and oil also carried on small margin.

Correspondence solicited.

sept 29—3 mo

SHORT HAND. For full information about learning Shorthand, Typewriting and Business Correspondence, send stamp for large catalogue of the BOSTON SHORTHAND BUREAU, 180 and 186 Washington St., Boston, Mass., containing terms, samples of reporting, annual list of graduates, etc. Publishers of STENOGRAPHY, the best shorthand magazine, and the standard series of shorthand textbooks, dealers in typewriters, etc.

Sep 29—4t

NOW FOR BARGAINS !

Just received irom factory an article that everybody should have. This lamp is safe and sells at a price that everybody can afford. Call for the Wide Awake Lamp Only 65c Each.

We have also taken agency for the COMBINED WRINGER AND FOLDING WASH BENCH, and shall offer this useful article at the price agents are offering common wringers for.

FULL STOCK OF LAMP GOODS!

Save labor by buying the Patent Barrel Coal Sifters and Patent Vary Clothes Dryers.

Good Wood Horse for 50c; Saw Horse 25c.

We are offering at low figures stock of Fruit Pickers and Porcelain Kettles. Large variety and numerous bargains on our

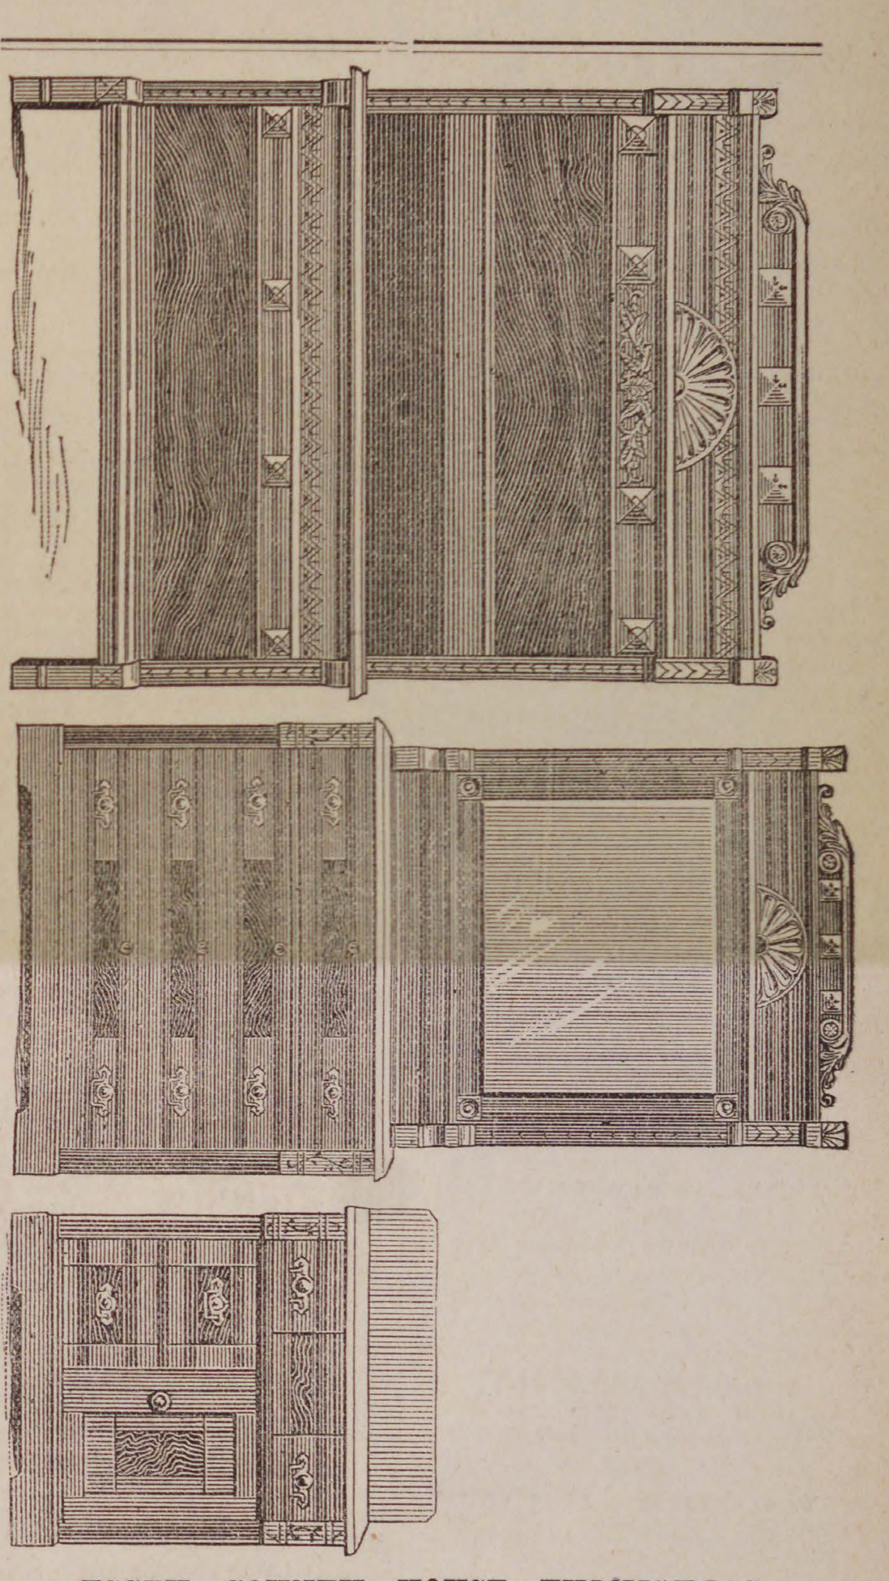
5c, 10c AND 25c BARGAIN COUNTERS,

— AT —

MORRISON & TRASK'S,

Walnut Street.

sep 8—1y



ESSEX COUNTY HOUSE FURNISHERS.

Largest Stock, Lowest Prices for Cash, and easiest terms on instalments, $1.00 down and $1.00 a week. Nearly an acre of flour room all under one roof, OWNED and OCCUPIED by US alone, which is one of the reasons why we can and do sell cheaper than our competitors. We have the largest and best assortment of PARLOR STOVES and RANGES ever exhibited.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

123 & 125 PLEASANT & 24 SCHOOL ST., MARBLEHEAD.

293 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

All Horse and Steam Cars stop at our Doors.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List. Please bring the height of your chimney hole so that we may be enabled to make pipe and set up stove without delay.

Mrs. M. A. McNeil,

LADIES'

FANCY GOODS STORE

149 Essex St., Salem.

Special attention given to

Spinal Corsets, Shoulder Braces,
Abdominal Supporters, etc.

Also keep constantly on hand the largest variety of Corsets and Children's Waists in Essex County.

And have just received a large line of

INFANTS' & CHILDREN'S DRESSES,

Up to Ten years of age. Please call and examine.

REMEMBER THE NUMBER,

149 ESSEX STREET

A few doors below the Museum.

mch 31—6m

Fall Room Papers.

We offer many special bargains in Room Papers this fall, which parties in need will do well to examine, as they will not last long.

We offer an assortment of 10 and 12 ct. papers for 6 cts a roll.

15 ct. papers for 10 cts. a roll.
25 ct. papers for 15 cts. a roll.

GILT PAPERS 25 & 35 CTS. AND UPWARDS.

Merrill & Mackintire,

216 & 220 Essex St.,

SALEM.

DON'T MISS THIS!

Send for Reduced Price List of ARTIST'S MATERIALS. Please mention this paper and address

EDMANDS' Artist Supply Store,
12 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

t 25—15t

Coal Dealers.

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheacskin Coal. Genuine Franklin Coal. Cumberland Coal.

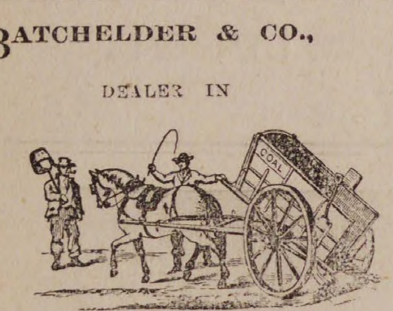
All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telphone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville, and will be promptly attended to.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN



WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

vr T. Batchelder. noyS Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

— AT —

PICKERINGS

7 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

ECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, Jr & CO.,

Peabody Street

N. O. VERRY,

(Successor to L. B. Hatch.

DEALER IN

WOOD AND COAL,

Hard and Soft Wood Kindlings, Bark, Slabs, Hay, etc.

113 DERBY ST., SALEM.

AT THE HEAD OF DERBY WHARF.

P. O. Box 64. Telephone, 444.

---

15 CENTS FOR SAMPLE COPY of THIS BEAUTIFUL BOOK. It gives the LANGUAGE and Sentiment of Every Flower and Shrub, 3000 different kinds. Also all the Known Rules of Flirtation with Glove, Parasol, Handkerchief and Fan. It is the most complete work of the kind ever published. Send Fifteen Cents in stamps for a sample copy, also our price to agents. Agents wanted everywhere. Ad. AMERICAN PUB. CO., 17 North Tenth Street, Philad'a, Pa.

THE LANGUAGE OF FLOWERS AND FLIRTING

OUR SINGER THIS STYLE $17

15 DAYS' TRIAL. A Full Set of Attachments. WARRANTED 5 Years. Send for Circular. E. C. HOWE & CO., 122 N. 6th St., Phila., Pa.

mch 24

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any $10 cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground feb 11—3m

CIGARS!

CIGARS!

CIGARS!

Those desiring to purchase a good Cigars, look at our assortment of Imported and Domestic.

Discount by box.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

TRY OUR

JAMAICA GINGER.

THE

EARLIEST FRUIT.

And Best Native and Southern Vegetables, Berries and Fruit,

— AT —

Porter's Market,

3 & 5 Central St., Salem.

may 19—4m

Golden Medical Discovery

Thoroughly cleanse the blood, which is the fountain of health, by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution will be established. Golden Medical Discovery cures all humors, from the common pimple, blotch, or eruption, to the worst Scrofula, or blood-poison. Especially has it proven its efficacy in curing Salt-rheum or Tetter, Fever-sores, Hip-joint Disease, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Enlarged Glands, and Eating Ulcers.

Golden Medical Discovery cures Consumption (which is Scrofula of the Lungs), by its wonderful blood-purifying, invigorating, and nutritive properties. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Asthma, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. It promptly cures the severest Coughs.

For Torpid Liver, Biliousness, or "Liver Complaint," Dyspepsia, and Indigestion, it is an unequalled remedy. Sold by druggists.

DR. PIERCE'S PELLETS — Anti-Bilious and Cathartic. 25c. a vial, by druggists.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively Cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial, Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00. CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

CATARRH
ELY'S CREAM BALM
CURES COLD IN HEAD
CATARRH
ROSE-COLD
HAY-FEVER
DEAFNESS
HEADACHE
PRICE 50 CENTS
ELY BROS. OWEGO N.Y. U.S.A.
EASY TO USE
HAY-FEVER

ELY'S Cream Balm

Gives Relief at once and Cures.

COLD in HEAD

CARTARRH

HAY FEVER

Not a Liquid, Snuff or Powder. Free from Injurious Drugs and Offensive odors.

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at druggists; by mail, registered, 60 cts. Circulars free. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

MEDICAL PASSIVE MOVEMENTS AND MASSAGE.

Drs. Posse and Nordstrom,

Graduated at Stockholm, Sweden. Nervous Diseases, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism and all other chronic diseases, Sprains, etc. 72 Boylston street, Boston, office hours 12 1 and 5 to 6.

sept 2?—3 mo

FRENCH'S HOTEL.

CITY HALL SQUARE. NEW YORK.

Opposite City Hall and the Post Office.

This Hotel is one of the most complete in its appointments and furniture of ANY HOUSE in New York City and is conducted on the

EUROPEAN PLAN.

Rooms only One Dollar per day. Half minute's walk from Brooklyn Bridge and Elevated R. R. A lines of cars pass the door. Most convenient Ho in New York for Merchants to stop at. Din Rooms, Cafes and Lunch Counter replete with the luxuries at moderate prices jilngalelj Stanton, Lincoln and Grant.

Prof. Goldwin Smith, in Macmillan's Magazine, writes:—Stanton, I see, toiling without remission at his overwhelming task. This man was in labor a giant, and perhaps a country never was served with a sterner sense of duty. In the field the mules, in the office Stanton pulled the war through with dogged tenacity and with little reward or praise. For Stanton seemed not to be popular. In his position it was hardly possible to avoid making enemies, and he was probably rendered irritable by the malady which he had contracted by sitting without intermission at his desk. If monuments were always proportioned to services Stanton's monument would be grand.

I was almost ashamed to take advantage of Mr. Seward's introduction to President Lincoln, who had something to do in those tremendous days besides receiving idle visitors, though I am afraid he had a good many idle visitors, and, what was worse, a good many office-seekers to receive. But I yielded to the temptation, and found the President most kind and courteous. A glance was sufficient to dissipate the impression of Lincoln's unseemly levity amidst scenes of horror which had been produced in England by the repetition of his jokes and apothegms. Care and anxiety never sat more visibly on any mortal brow. His love of mournful poetry was a proof that the natural temperament of the man was melancholy, and his face showed that he felt the full responsibility of his terrible position. I know not whether there was any particle of truth in the story that after Chancellorsville he meditated suicide; but I can well believe that Chancellorsville went to his heart. The little stories, one or two of which he told in the interview which I had with him, were simply his habitual mode of expression, and perhaps at the same time a relief for his surcharged mind—a pinch as it were of mental snuff.

Grant I saw in Stanton's office, and he struck me as a most quiet and unpretending thunderbolt of war. In the camp I saw his tent, which was as plainly equipped as that of any subaltern, and it was well known that he hated military parade. Of his strategy I am no judge, nor can I pretend to decide whether any good purpose was served by all the carnage of the last campaign; but beyond question the victor of Fort Donelson was felt to be the military pillar of the North. Grant was thoroughly loyal both to the cause and to his colleagues. I suppose it must be said that he was ruthless. He certainly was, if it be true that he refused to exchange prisoners when his soldiers were perishing by thousands in the murderous prison camp at Andersonville. But if he shed blood without stint, he brought the slaughter to a close.

A Tramp's Novel Expedient.

"Beating one's way on the passenger trains is not an easy thing to do on the Pacific roads," said a traveler from the West, "but during my last trip I saw a most novel expedient employed by a tramp. Early one morning when we were pretty well up in the mountains, I got up and dressed myself and took a chair out on the platform for a breath of fresh air. Presently the train stopped at a water tank, and I jumped to the ground to stretch my legs a moment. As I walked up ahead I was surprised to hear a snore. Could it be possible, I thought, that there was anybody who could snore loud enough to be heard through the double floor of a sleeping car?

"The snoring seemed to come from under the coach, and so I resolved on a closer look. Bending down, I glanced under the body of the car and saw there a scene which struck me as being about the oddest I had ever witnessed. In a hammock, which he had evidently stolen from some door-yard in California, lay a tramp sleeping soundly and snoring noisily. The hammock was swung under the car, close to the floor, and one leg of its occupant hung out and trailed rather close to the ground. In that queer bed his trampship had been riding all night without ticket or birth check, and with no fear of being compelled to join in two-dollars-all-around for the benefit of the porter at the end of his journey. He rode some fifty miles further before he was discovered and bounced, and then strode off in search of food, and to wait until night before resuming his journey under another palace car.

Where They Insult Politely.

It has long been considered that a person can be more politely insulted in Paris than in any city in the world. A gentleman who undertook to speak in public there recently expressed himself in such a low tone of voice that the audience were unable to hear him. He was lecturing upon a geographical subject, and copies of a map about three feet square had been generally distributed. Presently one of the audience rolled up his map in the form of a very long and attenuated lamp-lighter, inserted the small end in his ear, and turned the other end toward the speaker. It was a rather ludicrous performance, but not a laugh was heard among the polite assemblage. In two minutes, however, every map in the house was turned into an ear-trumpet, and the speaker saw himself confronted with a sort of mammoth porcupine, whose nearest quills almost touched his lectern. He at once spoke louder.

Try the PRESS job office!

RED STAR TRADE MARK COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

At Druggists and Dealers. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

ST. JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain

Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc. PRICE, FIFTY CENTS. AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Sours, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

126 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston.

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASCOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.

Boyden House,

128 1-2 & 132 UNION ST.

(NEAR CENTRAL STATION.)

H. FRENCH, - Prop.,

LYNN, MASS

je 9—1y

ALMA POLISH
M. S. CAHILL & CO.

ALMA POLISH

For Ladies' and Children's shoes is the only Dressing ever made that will preserve the leather; for French Kid it has no equal. Alma Polish has received the highest reward ever given for a shoe polish and has the endorsement of all the leading shoe dealers in the United States. Ladies try it and we will guarantee you will never use any other. M. S. CAHILL & CO., Boston, Mass.

Saving Institutions.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

WARREN

Five Cents Savings Bank

RUFUS H. BROWN, President.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treasurer.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Dividends are payable semi-annually, on the third Wednesday of May and November.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY

AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS

AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE

Arthur Elliott & Co.,

DEALERS IN

FRESH AND

SALT FISH.

Lobster and Fancy Fish in their seasons.

A share of public patronage solicited.

Caller Street,

PEABODY.

CROSS,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY.

64 MARKET STREET, LYNN

DR. LEON RIDEOUT,

DENTIST,

Has removed his office to his Residence,

NO. 8 JOHNSON STREET,

Third House from City Hall,

LYNN, MASS.

Hours, 8 to 12; 1 to 5.

Change, for better accommodation of my patron

FOR SALE.

The Tanyard belonging to the Estate of Abel Story, situated at Essex Falls, near Railroad. Plenty of Water. A Rare chance.

Apply to B. F. RAYMOND,
ESSEX, MASS.

Express.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at	9 47 A. M
Freight " " at	5 00 P. M
Express " Boston at	3 30 P. M
Freight " " at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost s Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's, Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES.

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON

EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Aparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

Dr. F. G. Bates,

DENTIST,

218 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

OVER MERRILL & MACKINTIRE'S,

All Work Warranted.

mch 31—1y

$1

13 WEEKS.

The POLICE GAZETTE will be mailed, securely wrapped, to any address in the United States for 3 months on receipt of

ONE DOLLAR.

Liberal discount allowed to postmasters, agents and clubs. Sample copies mailed free. Address all orders to

RICHARD K. FOX,

FRANKLIN SQUARE, N. Y.

To Advertisers.

A list of 1000 newspapers divided into STATES and SECTIONS will be sent on application—FREE. To those who want their advertising to pay, we can offer no better medium for thorough and effective work than the various sections of our Select Local List.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.
Newspaper Advertising Bureau,
10 Spruce Street, New York.

SHORTHAND Text-book and Instruction by mail to master it, given by the author of the system for $6. Most popular and easy method. Endorsed by 1000 graduates and professsonl stenographers. Book alone $1. D. L. Scot Browne, 23 Clinton Place, New York, N. Y.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM
Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

PEABODY.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

EDWIN B. BALCOM,

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very best Tobacco in the market, we feel justified in saying he

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol Cuba brands

FOR A 5C SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one- The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store,

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO, 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

DRS. KIMBALL & HOWARD

DENTISTS,

157 UNION STREET, LYNN.

(Spinney's Block near Central Station)

Make a specialty of administering the New Vegetable Vapor and extracting teeth. No charge for the Vapor when more than one tooth is extracted at a sitting.

Also are thorough masters of the profession Dentistry, in both mechanical and operative branches.

y 7—1y

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,

ACCORDEONS,

HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

A VALUABLE COMPOUND

— OF —

Bitter Barks and Roots, Combined with Iron and Pure Sherry Wine, called

FERRATED HYGIENIC WINE.

Recommended for Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, General Debility, Nervous Prostration and Lassitude; is especially adapted to delicate ladies.

See that the trade mark

HYGEIA

Is stamped on every label. Prepared by

C. H. & J. Price,

SALEM.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

Finest Pianos and Organs.

Pianos, $25 down, then $10 per month. Organs, $5 down, then $5 per month

EVERY INSTRUMENT WARRANTED.

☞ No charge for carting to Peabody.

W. D. BROWN,

76 MARKET STREET,

LYNN.

may 5—3m

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE

BROKER & APPRAISER.

SALEM,

Offers for Sale at reasonable terms

THE SAUNDERS' ESTATE

MAIN ST., PEABODY.

HAY!

HAY!

HAY!

10 cars arrived to-day for sale cheap. Fancy White Middlings, Bran, Fine Feed, Oat Meal, Ground Oats, Cotton Seed Wheat, Screenings, Barley, Fancy le lip Barley, Oats, Mixed Oats, White Oats, Haxall and St. Louis Flour. Also other kind of feed for Horses and Cows in great variety. Please call and examine our stock and prices before buying elsewhere.

J. V. & J. HANSON

2 & 4 FRONT ST, SALEM,

ALSO AT

Peabody Square & Danvers Iron Works.

Fall and Winter Opening.

Having moved to the new and elegant Store in the

Old Hotel Building

NEXT TO THE POST OFFICE,

And placed on our Counters an ENTIRE NEW STOCK of

FALL AND WINTER GOODS

Embracing all the latest styles in Imported and Domestic Woolens. We are prepared to better accomodate our customers than ever before.

—PRICES THE LOWEST—

AND A PERFECT FIT GUARANTEED.

JAMES HOWLEY,

Merchant Tailor

EXT TO THE POST OFFICE. PEABODY, MA SS.

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

CREAM HOME MADE BREAD

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich ride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamenta work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

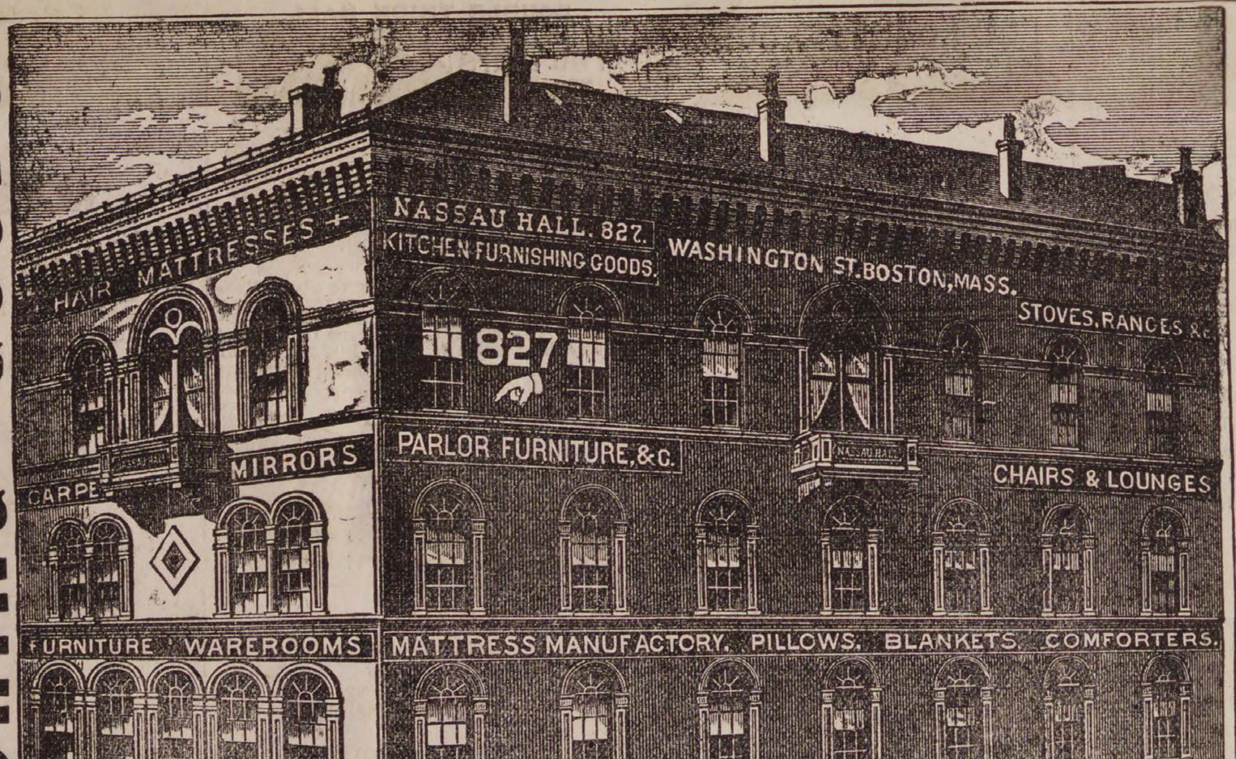
HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS



NASSAU HALL. 827.
KITCHEN FURNISHING GOODS.
WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON, MASS.
STOVES, RANGES &c.
827
HAIR MATTRESSES
MIRRORS
CARPE
PARLOR FURNITURE, &C.
CHAIRS & LOUNGES
FURNITURE WAREROOMS
MATTRESS MANUFACTORY. PILLOWS. BLANKETS. COMFORTERS.
B. A. ATKINSON & CO. CARPETS
UPHOLSTERY
INTERIOR DECORATIONS
NASSAU HALL
GOODS SOLD FOR CASH OR ON INSTALMENTS.

Parlor, Chamber and Kitchen Furniture; MATTRESSES & PILLOWS, STOVES & RANGES, CARPETS, CROCKERY, GLASS WARE, &C., IN ENDLESS VARIETY.

B. A. ATKINSON & CO.,

ARE OFFERING

UNHEARD-OF BARGAINS in all kinds of Useful HOUSEHOLD GOODS.

Sold for CASH or on INSTALMENTS. GOODS DELIVERED FREE to all DEPOTS in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Parlor, Chamber and Kitchen Furniture.

OUR FIRST BARGAIN IS A HAIR CLOTH PARLOR SUITE of seven pieces complete, consisting of two-part back sofa, Large Gents arm chair, Ladies patent noiseless rocker and four large reception chairs. This suite is covered in prime quality of hair cloth, solid black walnut frames, and, one of the greatest bargains in this city at the price, and with this suite we also include a nice marble top black walnut centre table, we sell the whole thing for only $35.00.

We have seventy-five parlor suites covered in best Pawtucket Hair Cloth, consisting of seven pieces complete, with four springs in each parlor chair, a first-class suite for only $45.00.

A beautiful seven piece embossed plush parlor suite. Seven pieces complete in one color or in a combination of colors, only $45.00,

also a full line of parlor suites, covered in all kind of goods at prices that will astonish you.

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE AND PRICE LISTS.

A splendid solid black walnut chamber suite with best Italian marble tops ten pieces complete, french bureau, landscape glass, combination commode, square, solid brass handles and well worth $50 — this suite we will sell for only $35.00.

A solid ash set ten pieces complete for only

$17.00,

also chamber suites in great variety from a pine set at $10 to a mahogany or walnut at $400.

SEND FOR CATALOGUES AND PRICE LISTS.

CARPETS.

The Largest and most complete assortment of any house furnishing Establishment in this city. Our line embraces all kinds and styles of floor covers, from a 14ct. Ingrain Carpet to the best of Velvet.

Ingrains......14c. 15c. 20c. 25c. up.

All Wools......60c. 62 1-2c. 65c. 75c. up.

Tapestries......60c. 65c. 70c. 75c. up.

Body Brussels......95c. $1.00, $1.10, $1.25 up.

Velvets......95c. up.

Rugs, Mats, Art Squares, &c.

SEND FOR SAMPLES AND PRICES.

STOVES AND RANGES.

In these we can show the best and largest line in Boston. We sell a single oven range with all the ware and pipe complete for only $14.00, and a hot closet range all ware and pipe complete for only $20.00.

We have a most complete assortment of parlor stoves at rock bottom prices, nearly all of most popular makes in the market at prices from $3.50 to $50.00.

SEND FOR CUTS AND PRICES.

A full line of Crockery comprising dinner and tea-sets, chamber crockery, &c., standing and hanging lamps, clocks, wooden and willow ware &c., shades and draperies in artistic designs and made to order.

☞ We are the Largest House Furnishing establishment in New England, embracing, as we do, each and every article that goes to furnish a well-equipped house, all under one roof, the Great Nassau Hall Building. All kinds of Goods sold for Cash or on our Special Contract system. All Goods Delivered Free to any Depot in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

B. A. ATKINSON & CO., 827 Washington Street.

COR. COMMON ST., two Squares South of Kneeland and Eliot Sts., BOSTON, MASS.

COR. PEARL AND MIDDLE STS., PORTLAND, ME.

Settling a Case in Gautemala.

Some Germans owned a coffee estate in the north of the country, and wished to plant some new ground. Immediately beyond their estate was a large tract of unoccupied land which they supposed to be waste and unowned, and they occupied and planted it, after the usual formalities required for taking up waste lands in the country. The tract they had taken, however, had been part of the property of the church, and on the sequestration of church lands had been granted to a man who had no especial use for it, and had left it idle for many years. He had the right then of giving notice of his ownership, and of claiming the land within a certain time from the moment of their occupation. In this case the owner let the required time slip, and gave notice a month or two too late, so that by strict law the Germans had the right to retain the land. However, as it had been clearly his, they did not like to take what they considered to be unfair advantage of a technical point of law, so, as usual, they went to Barrios and laid the case before him. He asked a few pertinent questions, so as to thoroughly master the details of the case, and gave his decision at once. "You have planted the land in question with coffee trees which are now old enough to be of great value?" "Yes." "Is there any more waste land in the neighborhood?" "Yes, there is plenty just beyond the land we have taken." "Then," said Barrios, "you shall keep the land you have planted, and the former owner shall have assigned to him a tract of equal area from the other unoccupied and unowned lands." And so a matter was settled in a few minutes, and without expense which might have dragged on through the law courts for months or years. Barrios saw clearly that the owner cared nothing for his land until it had been improved and planted at some one else's expense, and only brought forward his claim in order to get the results of others' labor for nothing.

Characteristics of the Mule.

It is said that a mule cannot bray if you tie a weight to his tail and hold it down. This was touchingly illustrated in the cavalry movements that preceded the second battle of Manassas. Gen. Stuart, with a large force of cavalry manœuvering around the retreating army of Pope, got caught between two columns of the Union troops, and was obliged to conceal himself in a dense wood between two parallel roads along which the enemy were retreating. He had to lie low all night until the columns passed by. Messengers that the Union generals sent to each other through the woods were captured and held with as little noise as possible. One great difficulty was to keep the mules in the ordinance and commissary wagons from braying, and thus calling the attention of the foe. For this purpose Stuart ordered a man to be detailed to stand by each mule and whack him with a stick as soon as he offered to bray; for a mule, like an orator, requires a certain preparation before beginning his neat and appropriate vocal exercises. There is a preliminary protest made with the ears, and certain solemnities of the nostrils, an expression of sorrow overspreads the countenance, and then the tail is lifted. A bray does not break forth from the lips of the mule. It begings way back in the abdominal viscera and comes gradually up. Now, as soon as the cavalry mules began to prepare for a bray, whack! whack! would go the sticks, and the bray would be suppressed—and thus all night. It was said that this was needless severity, for it would have sufficed to tie a brickbat to the tail of each mule.

He Scorned the Double D.

One of Lincoln's most esteemed friends was old ex-Governor Tod of Ohio. He was a quaint old character, and Lincoln loved him for his honesty, ability and native shrewdness. One evening when Tod was in town Lincoln invited him over to the White House. They had a long chat together, when Lincoln finally said: "Look here, Tod, how is it that you spell your name with only one d? I married a Todd, but she spelled her name with two ds. All of her relatives do the same. You are the first Tod I ever met who spelled his name with so few letters." Old Tod looked at Lincoln for a moment in his peculiarly quizzing manner, and then replied: "Mr. President, God spells His name with only one d, and what is good enough for God is good enough for me." Lincoln used to repeat this story to his most intimate friends, and every time he did so he would laugh until the tears ran down over that furrowed but grand face.

Unlucky May Marriages.

The prejudice against May marriages descends to us from Roman times, when every month was under the tutelage of some god or goddess. May being dedicated to the spinster Minerva, it was unlucky to be married in her month, and the influence of Rome sufficed to make this for centuries a period during which marriages were unusual. The prejudice has been prevented from dying out by the curious fact that some of the most unfortunate marriages in history have taken place in May—as, for instance, those of Lady Jane Grey, Mary Queen of Scots, Marie Antoinette and Queen Caroline.

Job printing at this office!

Dancing and Music in Persia.

Two girls come forward slowly—for the true Oriental is never in a hurry—remove their chagats, or head covering, and bow to the assembled guests. For some seconds they stand quite motionless, then the eyelids begin to move, and by degrees each muscle commences to quiver until every limb is affected. Although all present, with the exception of myself, had seen this a thousand times before, no sooner had the dancers advanced than the attention of every one was engrossed. The performers then bent their heads gradually back until they almost touched the ground, then they raised themselves, and leaned forward until they sank down upon their knees, still quivering in every muscle, until at length they lay prone on the ground. For some seconds they remained there quite motionless, as though animation were entirely suspended. The first sign of returning life was to move the heads from side to side, the quivering motion recommences, and the dancers assume their upright position and break into a sort of badly danced polka. This native dancing might almost be called a song illustrated by gestures and posturing rather than dancing in our acceptation of the word. These song dances are usually accompanied by a din of tom-toms, or a squeaking sort of violin, but played by the fingers only; the sounds produced are monotonous, and not pleasing to European ears; the movements of the dancers are marked by castanets. Persian music and singing are very different to our Western ideas of hominy, and the rendering of a song so ridiculous, being more a series of grimaces and contortions than melodious intonation. Yet Persians rave about their music just as they do about the sweetness of their fruits, the beauty of their women, the fertility of their country, and I have no doubt that our music is just as discordant to their ears as theirs is to ours. Night after night they will sit up at these and similar entertainments, which to us would be insupportably tedious, and this music and singing will hold them breathless and unwearied. The tambourine is a very favorite instrument. It is held upon the lap and is played by striking the tightly stretched skin with the second and third fingers of the right hand and the four fingers of the left hand.

King Ludwig's Bedchamber.

It is divided into two parts by means of a golden balustrade, the back part being rounded. Here the king's bed stands on a raised dias, up to which lead five broad steps covered with ruby velvet, on which are embroidered large golden suns. The bed is of gilt bronze, a work of art we meet with once in a lifetime. It is covered with a counterpane of gold cloth, embroidered in colors, the centre representing King Louis XIV., without his wig, a large emerald on his breast, a sapphire in his hair. The bed is surmounted by a canopy of gold, with a high crown of gold in the centre and four enormous bunches of white plumes at the four corners; from the canopy descend the cartains, to examine which a lover of art will devote several weeks. The outside is ruby velvet embroidered in gold, so that of the ground color scarcely anything is seen; the inside is covered from top to bottom by pictures from the Bible—at first sight the produce of the miniature painter's brush, but on close inspection the triumph of the needlewoman's skill. The centre of the background is occupied by a sun embroidered in diamonds and pearls. The walls of the room are entirely hung with red velvet embroidered in gold, the children holding garlands of flowers being so solid that a real baby held to the wall cannot stand out from it more boldly than do these works of the needle. On one side of the bed, within the space confined by the golden balustrade, is the washing stand, a tall mirror in gold arabesques, the table of marble supported by gilt bronze figures—the basin, ewer and ten vases in gilt bronze of a size that would astonish even a giant, and of a beauty that is impossible to describe. The other side of the bed is taken up by a prayer stool in ruby gold-embroidered velvet, the background filled by a St. Michael in colors, of such splendid workmanship that the original by the miniature painter, upon which the stitches were worked, must be less beautiful. Above the prayer stool there is a tiny altar with a copy of Raphael's "Annunziata," which, with the prayer book it adorned, was sold by the Perugian family that had owned it since Raphael's time to the Empress of Russia, who in her turn lent it to King Louis, one of her great favorites in former years.

Making Sea Weed Useful.

An English chemist has found a way for turning to account the practically illimitable quantity of sea weed that the ocean supplies, or at least as much of it as may be desired. He boils the weed with carbonate of soda and treats the filtered solution with sulphuric acid, obtaining from it in this manner a substance that has more viscosity than starch, or even gum arabic, and that can be profitably employed in stiffening various textile fabrics. It is also said to be excellently adapted for the making of syrups, and for certain culinary uses. From the cellular and fibrous matter left after the extraction of that material, a very good quality of writing paper can be cheaply made.

Subscribe for the PRESS!

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD
On and after Monday, June 28. 1889 trains will run as follows,—

EASTERN DIVISION.

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 6 44. 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, A. M, 1 55, 5 27, 5 08, 6 47 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 6 10, 8, 10 55 A. M., 12 M., 3, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M. Sunday, 9 27, A. M. Return 5 45 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6,30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48 7 51, 8 13, 8 34, does not stop at Lynn, 8 43, 8 58, 9 25, 9 55, 10.48 A M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 12, 3 35, 4 05 4 21, 5 18, 5 43,6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 8 55, 9, 9 53 P.M. Sundays, 5.37 8 45, 9 35, 10 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3 ,5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48, 7 51, 8 43, 8 58, 10 48 A. M., 12 M, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 35, 4 21, 5 18, 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 9, 9 53, P. M. Sundays, 8 45, 9 35, 11 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3, 5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Beverly, 6 53, 8 13, 8 45, 10 44, 11 20 A. M., 12 02, 1 05, 2 27, 2 47, 3 56, 4 05, 5 12, 5 35, 5 57, 6 36, 7 05, 7 15, 7 45, 10 10, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M. 2 19, 7 17, 8 07 P. M

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—6 53. 8 45,11 20 A. M., 2 47, 4 05, 5 35, 7 05, 7 45, 10 10 P. M Sunday, 7 17 P.M.

Essex, 8 13 A. M., 1 05, 3 56, 6 36 P. M.

Ipswich, 8 13, 9 35, 10 44 A, M., 1 05, 2 27, 3 57, 5 12 6 36. 7 15 P. M, Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

Newburyport, 8 13, 9 35, 10 00, 10 44 A.M. 1 05, 2 02 2 27, 3 56, 5 12, 6 36, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M

And FOR SALEM—from

Newburyport—4 45. 6 30, 7, 8, 8 13, 9 07, 11 40 A.M 2 35, 3 30, 3 35, 5 43, 7 20, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.

Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17, 8 15, 8 31, 9 25, A. M. 12 02 3 53, 6 06, 7 26, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A.M., 5 06 P. M.

Essex—7, A. M., 12 05 5 40 P. M.

Rockport -6 05, 7 20, 8 35, 10 A. M., 1 15, 4 55, 6 40 9. P. M. Sundays—7 50, 9 55 A. M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 29, 8 44, 10 08 A M, 1 25, 5 03 6 48, 9 09 P M. Sundays—8, 10 03A. M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 42, 8 56, 10 21 A. M., 1 39, 5 17, 7 01, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14, 10 16 A. M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05, 8 50, 9 16, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 21, 12 40, 1 58, 4 13, 5 35, 6 25, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 9 43 P, M. Sundays 8 35 10 35 A. M. 2 52, 5 30, 9 10 P. M.

Swampscott,—6 44, 8 50, 10 36, 11 26, 11 54 A. M., 12 36, 2 19, 3 28, 4 31, 6 20, 6 56, 8 32, 10. 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 12 A.M., 2 02, 5 52, 6 27, 7 09, 7 59 10 12 P. M.

Lynn—6 40. 8 02 8 35, 8 46, 9 10, 9 25, 9 51, 10 32, 11 10, 11 23, 11 51, A. M., 12 33, 12 55. 1 52, 2 15, 3 25, 3 45, 3 55, 4 28, 5 03, 5 24, 5 45. 6 16, 6 25. 6 52, 7 05, 7 35, 8 27, 9 57, 10 45, 11 45 P.M. Sundays 8 52, 11 07 A, M, 1 57, 5 48, 6 24, 7 05, 7 54 10 07, P. M.

Boston—6 10, 7 30, 8, 8 10, 8 45, 9, 9 30, 10, 10 45 10 55, 11 15 A. M. 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 40, 2 15 2, 3 20, 3 30, 4 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40, 7 10, 7 50, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays, 8 20 10 30 A. M, 1 20, 5 10, 5 45, 6 25, 7, 7 15, 9 30 P.M

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 7 55, 8 40, 9 30, 10 50 A M. 1 05, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 5 55, 7 20, 10 on Saturdays P M. Sundays, 9 10, A. M. 2 15, 7 20, 9 15 P. M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15, 9 10, 10 15 A M, 12 45, 2 3 25, 4 55, 5 40, 6 20, 7 45 on Saturday, P M. Sundays, 8 30, A. M., 12 50, 5 25, 8 45 P. M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 35, 8 53, 10 15 A. M., 1 52, 4 48 P. M.

Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A M, 3 21, 4 15, 5 85 P. M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 12 A M, 12 05, 3 55, 4 39, 6 09 P. M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 21 A M, 12 14, 4 05, 4 46, 6 18 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 28 A M, 12 22, 4 12, 4 53, 6 26 P. M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH

Salem for Lowell—7 A. M., 4 43, 6 P.M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 AM, 4 43, 6 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Middleton—6 15. 7, 8 58, 11 35 A M, 3 37, 4 43,6 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7. 7 28, 8 58, 11 35 A M 12 47, 3 37, 4 43, 5 20, 6, 6 42 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 35 A. M., 12 15, 5 10 P M Sundays 8 A M

Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 10 12 A M, 1 02. 5 58 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M

Middleton for Salem—7. 8 09, 10 10,10 45 A M, 1 30, 4 45, 6 22, P M. Sundays 9 02½A M

Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 8 2, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A.M. 1 46, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 38, P M. Sundays 9 18 A M

Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02. 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A M, 1 55, 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 47 P M. Sundays 9 27 A M

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston, Je. 28. 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND

RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8.30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9.00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3 30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS to Hartford, New Haven. Jersey City, Trenton Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York.

* On week days.

† Week days and Sundays.

☞ Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St. or Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON
A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE,

September 20, 1886.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M., §12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, (Express) 4.30, (Express) 5 (Express), 5.30, 6, (Express) §6.30, 7.30, 8, 9.30, 10.20, 11.15 P. M

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7 (Express) 7.30 (Express), 8 (Express), 8.30 (Express) 9, 10, 11 A. M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.45, 7.15, 8.45, 9.15, 10.15 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9 10, 11 A M.; 12 M.; 1. 2, 3, 4. 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P.M.

§ Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. C. A. HAMMOND Supt

OLD MAGAZINES WANTED.

Will take old Harper's, Scribner's, St. Nicholas or Century Magazines of any date whatever in exchange for Book Binding, Card Albums or Cash.

H. A. BROOKS,

BOOK BINDER,

224 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

MUSICAL NOTES.

The notice of the rehearsals of the Salem Oratorio Society is given in another column. They are to be given at the Acacemy Hall—instead of Lyceum Hall, as formerly. This change is a good one, and will be a much pleasanter place for the meetings of the Society. Membership tickets and books are for sale at the store of E. V. Emilio, and we hope that a goodly representation of Peabody people will be noticed in its membership. It is announced that Gounod's Redemption and Handel's Judas Maccabæus will be given this year by the Society. Both of these were given at the Worcester Festival with good success. The latter is one of the most pleasing—although the least difficult, for choruses, of the works of Handel. The work of the soloists is of considerable importance, that of the tenor being especially fine. We should be glad to see it entrusted to the soloist of the Worcester Festival, Mr. Wm. Courtney of New York. His rendition of "Sound an Alarm," one of the grandest solos of the work, at Worcester, was by far the best piece of oratorio work we have heard for a long time.

The Musical Festival of the Southeastern Msssachusetts Association begins at Taunton Oct. 20, lasting three days. The solo talent engaged is among the best in the country, and the selection is certainly judicious. The sopranos are Mrs. Humphrey Allen, Mme. Blanche-Stone Barton and Miss Jessamine Hallenback. Contraltos: Miss Hattie J. Clapper, Miss Emily Winant, Miss Jennie L. Fish. Tenors: William Courtney and Whitney Mockridge. Bassos: Max Heinrich and John H. Wilson. Among the works to be performed are the Stabat Mater and the Oratorio of Elijah. Carl Zerrahn will conduct and Blaisdell's Orchestra of Concord, N. H., will assist.

A course of three entertainments is to be given in Academy Hall, Salem, Oct. 20. Nov. 1, and Nov. 15, called the Young People's Course. The second one is to be a piano recital by Mr. J. Phippen, Jr., assisted by Miss Louise Elliot, soprano. Miss Elliot is a San Francisco lady, who studied for many years at the N. E. Conservatory of Music and who has relatives living in Essex County. It is Miss Elliot's first appearance in Salem. She is a singer of much merit, and the concert which is to be made up, principally, of of the compositions of Liszt, will be worthy of patronage.

The Boston Home Journal criticises Rev. Mr. Spaulding's remarks at the Unitarian Conference at Saratoga regarding music in the churches. The objections of Mr. Spaulding were to paid singers, and because they do not, as a rule, respect the service. After replying to the first part of Mr. Spaulding's argument, the Home Journal "speaks right out in meeting" regarding the latter in a manner which we are glad to see. We have been surprised that musical people, ladies and gentlemen, many of them, of fine instincts and sensitive natures, should have borne in patience so long the insults and indignities which have been put upon them by so-called musical committees, and arrogant choir leaders as well. Clothe one of these personages in a little brief authority and their knowledge, or want of it, is shown in a manner which is as ridiculous as it is amusing. The Home Journal will receive the thanks of all singers whose experience in the direction named has been in any way extensive. By way of reply to the argument that the church singers do not respect the service, the Home Journal says: No person who pretends to any knowledge of the management of the musical branch of church service can be ignorant of the un-christian acts of which music committees, who know nothing of music, and ministers who regard only their own supremacy, are often guilty. It is difficult for anyone, professional musician, or professional astronomer, to manifest a deep respect for the teachings of christian men who have in business dealings displayed a spirit of utter worldliness and contemptible meanness. It is asking a little too much of human nature. The Rev. Howard G. Spaulding shows little knowledge of men and women when he denounces paid singers because they are paid singers, and deplores their attitude toward a ritual which has never commended itself to their respect. It may be set down as a pretty universal truth that where clergymen and committees have done their best to aid the musicians in their flock, proper respect for the place and the observance of worship has not been wanting on the part of quartette or choir. There is a golden rule which should be applied to this matter—clergymen and committees would find little to complain of if they would do as they would be done by.

Miss Helen M. Boyce, of Lynn, will sing Bach-Gounod's Ave Maria at the Vesper service of St. John's church next Sunday.

The concert at Lynn this evening, in Edward K. Hood's course, will be one of the finest ever heard in Lynn. The Music Hall Orchestra of Boston, under the leadership of John C. Mullaly, with Januschowsky, Fritz Giese and Shuebruk, the cornet soloist, will constitute the attraction. Mr. Hood's course was auspiciously opened last week, but a few choice seats can be had.

SPARKS.

A new electric button was put into George A. Collins' jewelry store last Thursday, the old one having got out of order. Engineer H. A. Southwick has had a Stevens' fire alarm tapper put into his house on Lowell street.

Hose 5's wagon arrived from Concord, N. H., yesterday noon.

At the meeting of the Board of Engineers last Wednesday evening, it was voted to take out 5 old hydrants and replace them with new, and also to put a new lot of forks and hooks on the H & L truck. The firemen were granted permission to remove the apparatus from the houses on the day of the parade.

Steamer company No. 1 will turn out with a new regulation suit of blue on the day of the parade, and George H. Jacobs has been given the contract to furnish them. Hose 1 will also parade in the regulation suit. Steamer 2 and Hose 3 have purchased through the same firm new uniform caps. Hose 4 have ordered a new set of belts. Steamer 2, H & L 1, Hose 2, 3. 4 and 5 will turn out with the red uniforms. James Howley has a line of nickel fire department buttons and covers at his store next to the Post office.

The boys have been filling the key holes of the fire alarm boxes with mud and gravel. They had better look out or they may suffer the consequences.

The members of Hose 3 with their wives, paid a wedding visit to their foreman, Charles H. Hooper, and wife, at his residence on Andover street, last Friday evening, and in the course of the evening Assistant-Foreman Berry, in behalf of the company, presented them with a handsome black walnut parlor desk and patent inkstand. A bountiful oyster supper, with fruits, ice cream, etc., was furnished about 9 o'clock, which all partook of with a relish. The evening was passed with vocal and instrumental music, C. M. Mason presiding at the piano. The party broke up at 11.30, wishing Mr. Hooper and bride continued happiness and prosperity.

Quite a large crowd of firemen and others from Peabody attended the firemen's muster in Lawrence to-day. Steamers from Salem, Beverly and Marblehead were present.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

A driver of a vegetable team had a fainting fit on Washington street, yesterday, and fell from his wagon to the ground, cutting his eye and making a painful bruise on his head.

The horse attached to Munroe & Arnold's light express ran away from the depot yesterday morning and dashed down Main street, narrowly escaping several teams. A man named Collins jumped into the wagon as the horse turned into Caller street and taking the reins stopped the animal.

The grand jury found indictments against the following Peabody people: Patrick Crowley, manslaughter; Thos R Gannon and William Murphy, breaking and entering; Walter Cunningham, assault with dangerous weapon; John Clark and John Halloran, riot; Charles A Griffin, assault on officer; Patrick McNamara, assault; John Welsh and Patrick Sculley, riot. No bills were found against Bresnehan and Flaherty for riot, Thomas O'Shea, for indecent exposure and Othernial Ferrin, charged with setting fire to building. The friends of Mr Ferrin congratulate him on the throwing out of a case, which, from the first, has looked like persecution.

A crowd was attracted to the railroad station last Saturday night by the report that a man was dead. It proved to be only one of John A Lord's men who had fallen in a fit. He was somewhat bruised by the fall.

Charles Dullea was found lying near Stephen Blaney's house by Warren Trask last Saturday evening and was turned over to the officers. A deep cut was found on the top of his head and several stitches were taken in it. Dullea claimed that he had been assaulted. He was held for drunkenness.

Yesterday afternoon John Sparks, a non-union man employed at the tannery of Charles Harrington & Co, met with a fatal accident. He fell into a drench pit and as the wheel was in motion it carried him under and he was badly bruised, and shortly died from his injuries. Doctor Pike was called but his services were not required. The man was abont 30 years of age, and leaves a wife and two children at Taylor village, N. B.

Early last evening a Naumkeag & Danvers horse car collided on Main street but didno serious damage. The harness of the Naumkeag horses was broken.

Last Friday evening as one of Bushby & Co's teams was driving into the lane leading to the rear of their store, a horse and buggy that had been standing in the shed of Mr B S Wheeler dashed out and collided with the grocery team wrecking the top. The horse was shortly afterwards captured on Washington street. It was the property of a Mr Butler of Lynn. It is probable that an attempt was being made to steal, as an examination showed that the horse had been untied and that a buggy had been moved out of the way of the runaway team.

Considerable malicious mischief was done to the pool and billiard tables at the Exchange News Rooms last Wednesday night by some unknown person.

Officer Ruth arrested three boys last Thursday for breaking glass in an unoccupied house on Aborn street. They pay half the costs each.

A number of employes of Mr J B Thomas were stoned by a crowd of hoodlums near the Washington house last Thursday.

The police quelled a disturbance near the Washington house, Friday night. The woman living over the store had previously treated the crowd to the contents of a bucket of slops.

Joseph Duffy, a young nut gatherer, fell from a tree and injured his back last Thursday.

A lady fell on the new curb stones on Tremont street last Thursday, and cut her lip.

Walter Cunningham retracted his plea and pleaded guilty to assaulting James Richardson with a dangerous weapon and was given eight months in the house of correction.

Judge Safford has given the result of his inquest on the death of James E. Galway, who tried to jump upon a car loaded with bricks, April 17. He finds that he came to his death by his own carelessness.

Last Thursday a family named Gleason, including one son and two daughters, were taken suddenly sick with nausea and vomiting, and a physician was called and prescribed. It is supposed that some meat which they had eaten had been poisoned by remaining in a cheap tin pan, purchased at a ten cent counter.

Mr John Cleary received a severe wound in the back of his head, Saturday, by his team colliding with a team from Middleton, and throwing him from his seat.

In the police court this morning, Thomas Kenney and Thomas Murphy of Peabody, and Fred Clark and Hugh Phaup of Lynnfield were fined $1 and costs for being drunk.

COUNTY AND COUNCILLOR CONVENTION.

The Democratic County Covention met this morning in Beverly and organized by the choice of James H Sisk of Lynn as chairman and John J Cahill of this town as secretary. 35 cities and towns were represented by 225 delegates. The contesting delegations from Danvers and Newburypor were both admitted with a half vote each. On proceeding to nominate a candidate for district attorney, Mr D N Crowley of Danvers withdrew the name of Col John P Sweeney and Mr H F Hurlburt was nominated by acclamation. Mr Hurlburt came into the convention and accepted the nomination, after which Ex-Mayor Breen of Lawrence was nominated by acclamation for sheriff.

The convention then proceeded to nominate a candidate for County Commissioner. The result of the informal ballot was as follows:

Whole number of ballots,	208
George J. L. Colby of Newburyport,	88
George H. Blinn of Salem,	77
Thomas F. Tucker of Lawrence,	36
Henry Hobbs of Wenham,	6

The formal ballot was as follows:

Colby,	118
Blinn,	87
Tucker,	6

And Mr Colby was declared the nominee.

A committee of seven was chosen to select the nominees for the balance of the ticket. Thos. F. Lyons of this town is one of that committee.

After the adjournment of the County Convention, the Councillor Convention convened, and organized by the choice of Lorenzo Flint of Haverhill as chairman, and William Sullivan of Salem, secretary. The result of the ballot for councillor was as follows:

Whole number	85
Dr. N. R. Morse of Salem,	59
D. D. Saunders of Gloucester,	26

And Dr. Morse is declared the nominee.

J B Thomas had 200 sheep arrive last week, and he had them weighed and turned into a field to feed for 12 hours. They were again weighed and were 900 pounds heavier.—Boston Record.

Rural Voter—That Peabody flock of 200 sheep that gained 900 pounds in 12 hours feeding must have struck good grass.

City Visitor—That's nothing to the gain in weight the democratic war-horses are making.

Rural Voter—Where are they feeding?

City Visitor—They're staying around home and swallowing their emotions.

—Boston Record.

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Mr. George C Prescott, of Saratoga, N. Y., is in town.

Mr Daniel Holland has gone to Charleston, S C, for his health.

Mr. Phil A. Putnam, a former employe, gave us a call last Saturday.

Mr Jas F Foye has removed his office to Batchelder & Co's coal office.

The farmers are harvesting their apples. The crop is above the average.

District Attorney Hurlburt, of Lynn, was in town, Sunday, in company with a Salem lawyer.

There will be a special meeting of Union Post 50, G A R, next Monday evening.

The change of running time on the Boston & Lowell road will be found in another column.

The town has commenced to lay a drain pipe on Washington street near Stephen Blaney's.

Mr. W. P. Clark and family have removed from their summer home to their Main street residence.

The South Danvers Mutual Fire Insurance Company have re-elected the old officers for the ensuing year.

Mr Geo C Peirce, who was in a fair way for recovery, had another relapse yesterday, and is dangerously sick today.

A large closet for the use of the secret societies meeting in Masonic Hall, has been built out over the stairs leading to the hall.

The agent of the board of State aid is making his periodical visit of inquiry. Sometimes these visits cut off some of the claimants.

Rev Willard Spaulding informs the public, in this morning's Journal, that he will not withdraw from the Congressional contest.

A Prohibition caucus will be held in Franklin hall, Monday evening, Oct. 18, at 7.30 p. m. A full attendance of all interested is requested.

Post 50, G A R, have been invited to attend a camp fire at Wakefield, Oct. 20. They will probably accept and take the Salem Brass Band along.

Holten Lodge, I. O. O. F., initiated two candidates last evening, using their new paraphernalia. The first degree will be conferred next Tuesday evening.

Another grand skating and dancing party will be given at the skating rink next Friday evening, by the Merry Four. A sack race for the championship and a good time generally is the programme.

Miss Annie J. Fairchild, of the Peabody High School, obtained leave of absence on Monday to attend the wedding of her brother, who is a young physician practising in the vicinity of New Bedford.

The Sunday Record has come to stay. It contains the news of the day served up in a terse, crisp and condensed form, and its columns are clean and free from sensational articles. It is just the paper a man wishes to read with his family on Sundays.

The Ladies' Society will hold an entertainment and supper in West Peabody hall next Tuesday evening, Oct. 19. There will be vocal and instrumental music, and two dialogues—"Taking a Photograph" and "The Base Ball Enthusiast."

E. E. Kent of the firm of Kent & Boynton, formerly of this city, was married Tuesday afternoon to Miss Jennie Hooper of Bridgewater. The marriage took place at the bride's residence, and the newly wedded couple will reside in Salem, Mr. Kent's present place of business.—Brockton Gazette

At a meeting of the school committee held yesterday, the salary of Miss Taylor of the Rockville school was increased to $400. They also voted to put additional seats in the grammar rooms of the Wallis and Centre schools. Miss Lena McPherson was appointed first-assistant in the Rockville school. Mrs. M. O. Stevens appeared before the board and urged that the study of physiology and hygiene be extended to the higher grades.

Mr. Jacob C. Rogers and family, have returned from Europe.

Mr. Cornelius O'Connell died quite suddenly at his home on Swampscott Avenue, last Monday night, of heart trouble. He was about 25 years of age.

Marriages.

In Peabody, Oct. 7, by Rev. Mr. Cole. Mr. Jos. W. Bolster to Miss Georgie A. Cook.

Oct. 6, by Rev. Mr. Phinney, Mr. Albert A. Carleton to Teresa R. Hickey.

In Salem, Out. 7, by Rev. Mr. Sederguist, Mr. James B. Jones of Salem, to Miss Emma Litchfield of Beverly.

Sept. 13, by Rev. C. A. Towne, Mr. Jas. J. Gallagher to Miss Margaret J. Teeley, both of Salem.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Oct. 4, Mrs. Eliza M,, widow of Mr. Daniel Frye of Salem, aged 84 yrs. 21 days.

Sept. 27, Mrs. Alice Duffy, 47 yrs. 1 mo.

In Salem, Oct. 2, Mr. Abraham Anthony, 52 yrs. 8 mos. 9 days.

Oct. 6, Mrs. Letitia P., widow of Mr. Joseph Vincent, 86 yrs. 11 mos. 24 days.

THREE IMPORTANT BARGAINS.

LADIES' HOSIERY

— AND —

UNDERWEAR.

200 dozen Ladies' Wool Hose, 25 cents per pair. Well worth 33 1-2 cents.

100 dozen Misses' Wool Hose, 37 1-2 cents per pair. Would be cheap at 50 cents.

100 dozen Ladies' Merino Vests, Cat stitch neck, Pearl Button, for only 37 1-2 cents each. Never sold for less than 50 cents,

— AT —

Frank Cousins'

BEE-HIVE.

SALEM.

SPURR'S DRIVE TOBACCO.

FOUR OUNCE PLUGS,

BLACK & RED FOR CHEWING. BRIGHT FOR SMOKING.

HOWARD W. SPURR & CO. PROP'S BOSTON.

COLLINS BROS.,

DEALERS IN

COAL, WOOD & BARK.

OFFICES:

248 Bridge Street,

— AND —

72 Noth Street.

SALEM.

Stove, Chestnut, Egg and Broken Coals at the Lowest Market Prices.

☞ All orders promptly attended to.

je 30—3m

SOAP AND SOAP POWDERS.

Kendall's French Laundry,
Fisk's Japanese,
Jones's Perfect,
Reardon's Pale Family,

IVORINE, SOAPINE AND STANDARD WASHING POWDERS.

Supplied to Grocers at manufacturers' prices, with the usual discount on five box lots.

Abbott & Reynolds,

WHOLESALE PRODUCE DEALERS,

14 Front St., Salem.

BOSTON & LOWELL R. R.

OCT. 11, 1886.

PASSENGER SERVICE FROM SALEM:

Leave Salem for Lowell and Lawrence at 7 20 A. M., 1 45, 5 50 P. M.
Leave Lowell for Salem at 7.35, 11 A. M., 6 P. M.
Leave Lawrence for Salem at 7 35, 11 A. M. 6 P. M.
Leave Wilmington Junction for Salem at 8 04, 11 28 A. M., 6 28 P. M.
Leave North Reading for Salem at 8 18, 11 39 A. M., 6 38 P. M.
Leave West Peabody for Salem at 8 10, 11 51 A. M., 6 50 P. M.

All trains from Salem connect at Lowell for Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H.

The 7 20 A. M. train connects at Lowell for Peterboro, Keene and intermediate stations.

C. S. MELLEN, Gen'l Supt.
LUCIUS TUTTLE. Gen'l. Pass Agt.

BARLEY.—We are now discharging a car of Barley which reached destination too late in the season to be used for seed, but we shall sell it at a price low enough to make it desirable for hen food. Please examine it at store.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St.

COW FEEDS.—We would offer the largest variety in the city of ground feeds for milk producing purposes, including yellow and White Corn Meal, Barley Meal, Ground Oats, Chop Feed, Oat Dust, Bran, Fine Feed and Middlings, etc., and can offer extra low prices from cars now on track.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.
41 to 47 Central st.

A CHICKERING,

WOODWARD & BROWN.

— OR —

EMERSON PIANO

Will suit you. Call at

245 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

Before purchasing.

I sell for cash or on Instalments.

Everything in the music line.

E. V. EMILIO,

245 ESSEX ST.,

SALEM.

EVERY YOUNG MAN

Should have such a knowledge of the requirements of business as may be obtained at the

BURDETT Business COLLEGE

Removed to

592 WASHINGTON STREET,

Cor. Hayward Place,

BOSTON.

Owing to the unprecedented increase of the College patronage, central, commodious, light and elegant apartments have been secured at FIVE NINE-TWO WASHINGTON ST., cor. Hayward Place, a few doors above R. H. White & Co's, on same side of street.

Students can commence on and after Monday, Sept. 6. Prospectus mailed free. Principals may be seen at the College daily, between 9 and 4. Unequalled facilities for procuring situations for Students.

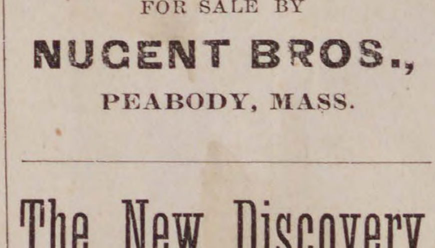
C. A. & F. H. BURDETT, Principals.

aug 11—8t

"CANDEE" ARCTICS

—WITH—

DOUBLE THICK BALL.

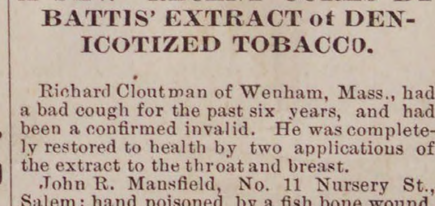


Two Years TEST.

"CANDEE" Double Wear on the Sole. Double Thick Ball.

The "CANDEE" RUBBER CO. give a better Rubber than can be obtained elsewhere for the same money, with their great improvement of the DOUBLE THICK BALL. The extra thickness of rubber right under the tread, gives DOUBLE WEAR.

Ask to see the "CANDEE" Double Thick Ball Rubbers in Boots, Arctics, Overshoes, Alaskas, &c.



A Common Sense Idea.

"CANDEE" Double Thick Ball.

FOR SALE BY

NUGENT BROS.,

PEABODY, MASS.

The New Discovery.

A FEW RECENT CURES BY BATTIS' EXTRACT of DENICOTIZED TOBACCO.

Richard Cloutman of Wenham, Mass., had a bad cough for the past six years, and had been a confirmed invalid. He was completely restored to health by two applications of the extract to the throat and breast.

John R. Mansfield, No. 11 Nursery St., Salem; hand poisoned by a fish bone wound, hand and arm badly swollen, and pain in breast; bathed wound and arm with the extract twenty minutes; dressed same with cotton batting, wet with extract, and entirely cured with one application.

Daughter of William B. Farrington, No. 45 Charter Street Salem, age 7 yrs.; had diseased eyes, and loss of sight; was confined to a dark room for two months; was relieved with one application of the extract, and entirely cured in one week.

Ellis H. Porter, Kimball court, Salem, was cured of a bad attack of cholera morbus, by one application of the extract to the bowels.

John S. Davis, No. 5 Becket street, Salem; rheumatism in knees and feet; was unable to touch his feet to the floor for months; after using the extract one day was able to walk up stairs and entirely cured in one week.

John B. Clifford, No. 11 Becket street, Salem; had a severe attack of Diphtheria; was completely cured by using the extract for a gargle and binding a flannel wet with the same around the throat. He reports his wife as being cured of kidney complaint by bathing across the back with extract.

Wm. B. Farrington, Salem, Mass.; eczema on the head, finds the extract the only medicine that ever relieved him.

We would state to show the great confidence the public have in the curative power of Battis' Modified Extract of Denicotized Tobacco, that we have sold at retail the past year, over 3000 bottles at our store No. 30 Front street, Salem, Mass.

J. H. BATTIS,

Sole Proprietor and Manufacturer,

For sale by all druggists.

WANTED. A tenement of five rooms located in the vicinity of Aborn street. Inquire at

THE PRESS OFFICE.

Business Chance!

DANE BROTHERS,

(Successors to J. H. Trofatter.)

Horse & Carriage Exchange

101 Boston St., Salem.

Large stock of new and second-hand carriages for sale or exchange. Also horses, for sale or exchange.

je 8—6m

EDWARD P. MOULTON,

PLUMBING,

Water & Gas Fitting

Of every description. Ventilation of Closets, and Drainage a specialty.

All orders promptly attended to. First-class work and satisfaction guaranteed.

28 Norman Street,

SALEM.

je 8—4m

HOLLY TREE INN.

The Best Materials only are used in the preparation of

Appetising Food,

AT THE

POPULAR HOLLY TREE DINING ROOMS,

9 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.

may 19—4m

M. MORIARTY,

MANUFACTURER OF

Soda, Ginger Ale and Tonic Beers.

Bottler of Cider, Lager Beer, Philadelphia Stock Ale and Porter.

Corner Market Sq. and Front St.

SALEM, MASS.

MASON'S

FRUIT JARS,

600 dozen,

— AT —

W. F. PERRY'S,

87 WASHINGTON STREET,

SALEM.

e 9—3m

D. P. GROSVENOR.

PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.

Compounder of

Physicians Prescriptions

and dealer in

RELIABLE DRUGS.

35 MAIN STREET

PEABODY, MASS.

Sagamore House,

133 UNION ST., LYNN,

(NEAR CENTRAL DEPOT.)

Special Rates to Commercial and Professional Travelers.

Renovated and Refurnished.

J. M. Batchelder & co., Props.

je 9—1y

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER

Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Office Second Door west of Hay Scales

J. H. ALLEN,

UNDERTAKER,

Removed to St. Peter street, Salem

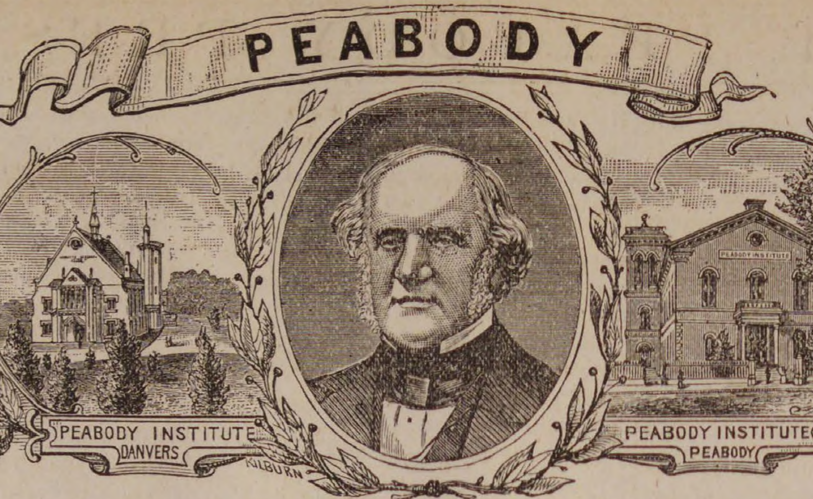
KILN DRIED WHITE MEAL.—Received to-day from mill, another car of kiln dried white meal, which is giving great satisfaction to all who use it, bringing us renewed orders. We can make a low price for ton lots from car much lower than on yellow meal.

CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
aug 18 41 to 47 Central St.

OLD OATS.—We have a full assortment of all grades of last years' crop of Oats, which being thoroughly seasoned, are for safer feed for horses than the crop just harvested. We invite your examination and early orders.

CHARLES A ROPES & SON

PEABODY
The Press.



VOL. 27 PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 20, 1886. NO. 42

KENT & BOYNTON,

Great Clothing Retailers

OF ESSEX COUNTY.

Fall and Winter Opening,

1886---1887.

Largest Stock!
Latest Styles!
Lowest Prices!

ALL NEW GOODS.

NO OLD STOCK AT ANY PRICE.

Every garment in our entire stock new, and manufactured expressly for this Fall and Winter Trade. At this our opening we display without exception, the largest and most desirable line of Men's, Boys' and Children's Overcoats.

SUITS and PANTALOONS,

For Fall and Winter Wear ever found in Essex County. In selecting our stock we have used the utmost care not only to get garments that would be the most desirable and stylish, but also garments that would be perfect in fit and workmanship.

☞REMEMBER.—We sell only honest and reliable clothing at lowest prices. Strictly One Price. Money refunded on all goods returned within a reasonable time.

KENT & BOYNTON'S,

250 & 254 Essex St., Salem.

ALL ARTISTS CAN MAKE MONEY

By sending for our Reduced Price List before purchasing Art Materials of any description. Address, and mention this paper,

EDMANDS' ART SUPPLY STORE,
12 Bromfield Street, - Boston.
sept 22—15t

PIANOS ORGANS

Behning Pianos,
Harrington Pianos,
—AT—
A. M. CRAIN'S
PIANO PARLORS,
52 Market St.,
LYNN.

Any make of Piano or Organ furnished to order.

je 30—1y

SALESMEN WANTED

to canvas for the sale of Nursery Stock! Steady employment guaranteed. SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. Apply at once, stating age. (Refer to this paper.)

CHASE BROTHERS,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.
sep 29—2mo

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN

Ladies' Tailoring Department.

Our Rooms will be open for orders, MONDAY, Sept. 13th. The Department will still be under the supervision of MISS S. M. ALDEN, whose superior talent is well known to all our patrons and friends.

A. B. & W.

sept 8

NOTICE TO VOTERS.

NOTICE is hereby given that meetings of the Board of Registrars, for the purpose of receiving evidence of the qualifications of persons claiming a right to vote at the State election, to be held on TUESDAY, the second day of November, 1886, and for correcting and revising the Lists of Voters, will be held in the Selectmen's Rooms, Town House, as follows:—

On TUESDAYS, SEPT. 21st and 28th, and OCT. 26th, from 7 to 9 P. M.

On THURSDAYS, OCT. 7th, 14th and 21st, from 1 to 5 P. M.

On SATURDAYS, OCt. 9th, 16th and 23d, from 7 to 9 P. M.

On WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27, from 1 to 5 and from 7 to 10 P. M.

Registration will cease on WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27th, 1886, at 10 o'clock P. M.

The Lists of Voters will be posted Oct. 1st, after which time no name can be added thereto, unless the applicant for registration appears in person before the Registrars, and prove his claim to be registered.

All persons whose names were on the Lists of Voters of last year, and who fail to pay a tax of 1885 or 1886 prior to OCT. 1st, will thus be required to register in person.

All persons appearing for registration must exhibit a paid tax bill for 1885 or 1886, and if of foreign birth a certificate of naturalization.

AARON F. CLARK,
CHARLES H. GOULDING, } Board of Registrars.
RICHARD LYONS,
NATHAN H. POOR,
Peabody, Sept. 22, 1886. sept 22—6t

CENTRAL FISH MARKET,

Is the place to buy your

OYSTERS

opened fresh every day at 30 and 40 cents per quart, also a nice line of Fancy Oysters at 75 cents per quart.

Ocean, Lake and River Fresh Fish,
LOBSTERS and CLAMS
IN THEIR SEASONS.

No. 6 Peabody Square.

R. F. DODGE, - Proprietor.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

A dry storm!

Politics are waxing warmer!

The breath of winter is felt!

Eggs are marching on in price!

The price of flour is advancing!

Gunners are taking to the woods!

Last Monday was St. Luke's day!

The autumnal equinox has howled its howl.

There is a growing demand for bed covers.

Smelt catching is among the pastimes just now.

Meats and groceries at Hallowell & Smiley's.

The town gutters are receiving their fall scraping.

Shift the straw hat for one of your old "cadies."

Heavy overcoats are taking the place of light ones.

The musical voice of the dying porker is daily heard.

Nutting excursions to the woods is a favorite pastime.

The milliners are getting out those showy fall bonnets.

Wonder if our town dads are exceeding appropriations.

Look at the voting list and see if your name is there.

Thomas E. Wilson is spending a short season in Maine.

A little fire in the sitting-room doesn't feel bad these evenings.

Gather in your garden vegetables and bank up your cellar walls.

Now the stump speaker tells us how the country may be saved.

The newly seeded grain fields are assuming a tint of verdancy.

F. Osborne, Jr., & Co. have put in a new green shaving machine.

The curbstone sentinels are beginning to look up winter quarters.

The cactus is beginning to displace orchids as a fashionable craze.

These autumn days should be improved in preparing for winter.

The boiling of many preserves emits a fragrance that is truly appetizing.

The sunny south says she will not have many oranges for us this year.

Mr. Jesse Smith will build his new house for one family instead of two.

Union Post 50 G. A. R. will attend a camp fire in Wakefield this evening.

Children's glove calf button boots only 40 cents at Nugent's shoe store.

Yesterday was the anniversary of the discovery of America (old style) 395.

The sentence "no it is opposition" reads the same backward as forward.

A great many stoves "went up" the past week. Others are following suit.

Bread is the staff of the human life, and advertising is the staff of business.

The frost line is creeping this way faster than some coal bins will admit of.

Miss Floyd took the three Jones boys to the Baldwin Place Home Monday.

There are between 11,000 and 12,000 volumes in the Peabody Library at Danvers.

Children's straight goat spring heel button, 6 to 8, only 50 cts. at Nugent's shoe store.

Mrs. H. S. Robbins and Mrs. L. W. Thacher spent last Sunday in Manchester, N. H.

Women's serge buskins 75 cents and $1.00 goods, only 25 cents a pair at Nugent's.

Dole & Osgood have just completed a handsome new delivery wagon for J. B. Thomas.

Raw oysters are highly recommended for hoarseness. An easy remedy to swallow anyhow.

A new sidewalk is being built in front of Chas. A. Thomas' market. A much needed improvement.

L. & G. H. Poor are putting in an electric watchman's clock at their factory on Wallis street.

Don't be gulled by sharpers. The reliable dealers always invite you through the PRESS.

Now the sportsman is principally engaged in shooting himself or wounding his companion.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town—Nothing like it, Principee. Clarks Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo Stevens' *

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight at George Stevens'. *

A flock of wild geese passed over town Monday with fire in their eye and frost in their throats.

The Republican Convention for this (5th) Senatorial District will be held in Danvers to-morrow.

Brown & Stanley are erecting some new poles and building a picket fence around their factory.

A large number of orders for shade and fruit trees have been given to be delivered in the spring.

The old tannery buildings on Hardy street are being repaired, and are to be used by J. A. Lord, Jr.

Gardner M. Fassett has been succeeded, in Wenham, by the former station master of that place.

Charles McCarthy, who has been West for several years, has returned to his home on Endicott street.

One of our leather dealers has been looking for a location outside of Peabody to continue his business.

Rev. W. G. Sperry has been in town, and participated in the last meeting of the Essex Congregational Club.

Parents should not forget to visit the schools occasionally. It is encouraging to both teachers and scholars.

Curbstones are being set on the corner of Holten and Pleasant streets, and in front of the Methodist church.

According to a recent order, no freight train on the Boston and Maine railroad shall consist of more than 35 cars.

Dr. F. S. Worcester has gone to Bridgewater to attend a double wedding. He will give away one of the brides.

Election is coming. Ballots printed for anybody and everybody, and no questions asked or answered at this office.

Some one has discovered that it never hurts a town for its own people to help it along. Are all our readers doing that?

About now the "boys" begin to make the acquaintance of their "uncles" and have their last years' ulsters rejuvenated.

Candidate Spaulding was circulating among his friends on Monday. But he won't get there unless he "plays .in—luck."

Now is the time to put stables and other out-buildings in good shape for winter, and thus keep cattle from suffering.

Mr. Moses E. Johnson has returned from his visit to New Hampshire and will leave town for his western home to-morrow.

It is stated that Walter Potter has purchased a lot on Jerusalem road, North Cobasset, and will erect thereon a residence.

In spite of the strike Tarlton informs us that his business is ahead of last year at this time. A good showing certainly.

It is understood that E. W. Jacobs and family will occupy the old house on Main street, lately vacated by Edmund A. Poole.

C. W. Osborn and Henry Saltonstall, stockholders of the Atlantic Mills, were present at the annual meeting last Wednesday.

Several from this town are in attendance to-day at the reunion of the Mass. Asso. of Union pensioners of War, at Tremont temple.

Surveyors have been about town during the week in the employ of the government making plans for a new map of the state.

The advance of sixty-five cents per ton on coal has levied $19,500,000 on consumers. The people pay and the coal barons declare a divvy.

Mr. L. R. Power, who formerly kept a shoe store on Main street, has gone to San Francisco, Cal., via Isthmus of Panama. He is in poor health.

Mr. C. A. Thomas has decided not to remodel the rink for dramatic entertainments. Only a temporary stage will be used for such attractions as he may book.

Mr. John Boyle, the machinist, has the contract to fit up an extensive glue factory at Gloucester for a Mr. LaPage, the manufacturer of a celebrated liquid glue.

FALL AND WINTER

OPENING!

1886. 1887.

Grand Exposition of Fall and Winter Clothing, Hats and Caps, Furnishing Goods, Robes, Blankets, Trunks and Valises, and Ladies' and Misses' Furs,

BY THE

LARGEST RETAIL CLOTHIERS IN NEW ENGLAND.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 22,

We shall inaugurate our 9th ANNUAL FALL AND WINTER SALE of Men's, Boys' and Children's fine and medium Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Trunks, Valises, Carriage Robes and Blankets, and Ladies' and Misses' Furs. Remember our salesroom now covers nearly half an acre. Such a display has never before been seen east of New York City. Having connected Conrad's entire block with our own store, we can now say that we have the largest Retail Clothing, Hat, Cap, and Furnishing Goods Store in the United States, except the Marlboro in Boston, one of our own stores. We would call the attention of the public to the fact that this is the fourth time that we have been obliged to enlarge our store since commencing business in Salem. We will guarantee to show more Clothing, Hats and Caps, and Furnishing Goods, than all the dealers in Salem, Peabody, Beverly and Marblehead combined.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

177, 179, 181 & 183 Essex Street, Salem.

Z. A. GALLUP, - - - - - MANAGER.

Headquarters, Manufactory and Wholesale Rooms, 315, 317, 395, 497, 399, 401 and 403, Washington Street, Boston.

Mrs. Mary Coughlin has recently bought the house on Harris street formerly owned by John McCarthy, who is to remove to Lynn. $1500 was the price paid.

The National Executive Board of the Knights of Labor have voted to allow $5000 to the locked-out men in Salem and Peabody, and promised further aid if necessary.

Mr. George C. Knight of Salem gave "spirit tests" at the home of a lady on Jacobs street last Thursday night. Mr. Knight has established a reputation as an honest man.

George C., Henry and Daniel Buxton dined together at Gloucester the other day. Their ages are respectively 83, 79 and 76 years. The oldest and youngest belong in Peabody.

The woods are in all their royal beauty now, and the variegated tints of the autumn leaves form a picture which brings pleasure to the many who enjoy the beautiful drives here.

Some of the old seats of the Peabody Institute were sold to Mr. Bemis, who represented the firm manufacturing the new seats now in use there, and they have been sent to Rhode Island.

Invitations are out to the marriage ceremony of Miss Susie W. Fellows to Charles A. Upum, which takes place Thursday, Oct. 27, at the home of the bride on Berry street, Peabody.

Capt. Robert Tarr, of Gloucester, has been nominated by the labor people as sheriff for this county, and says that he shall run. This only makes the election of Herrick doubly sure.

A novel begging scheme was on the street yesterday. A man with crutches who had lost one leg was asking for pennies and exhibiting his leg that had been cut off preserved in alcohol.

Now is the time to apply the printing-ink to the apple trees to ensure a good supply of fruit for the coming season. A full stock of Morrill's preventive always on hand at Morrison & Trask's.

It is understood that both the democratic and republican candidates for Congress will speak in this town during the campaign. We have not heard of any arrangements for Mr. Spaulding to speak.

The Unity Club elected the following officers Monday night: President, H. F. Walker; Vice-President, Miss Fannie Kittredge; Secretary, Miss Mary A. Southwick; Treasurer, Miss Mary E. Forniss.

Mr. Milo McNeil, a former resident, but now in the retail shoe business at Hastings, Minn., has just moved into an elegant new store 25x80 feet. He has prospered wonderfully since leaving Peabody.

The latest improvement over the chestnut bell is, when the story teller becomes too enthusiastic to have every person in the room get up and pass over and very solemnly shake him by the hand.

We regret to learn of the illness of the father of Rev. Geo. Walker, who is at the residence of his son on Main street. He is 84 years old and has been rector of a church in New Brunswick.

Warfield & Lignum have gained a hold upon the fancy of the masses. Those who saw them with the Indians will be more than pleased to see them with thier own company. They come the first of December.

Several of our citizens have sent fruit to the veteran soldiers of the Soldiers' home at Chelsea. When you send your vegetables to Boston put on an extra barrel for the home and leave it at Pemberton square.

A cordial invitation is extended to the ladies of Peabody to attend and inspect the fine line of millinery at M. B. Wilson's 262 Essex street, Salem. Having had years of experience, she chooses the most fashionable goods and her taste in trimming is par excellence, while prices are the lowest. Call and see the latest shapes and most recent whims in trimmings.

The pool and billiard tables belonging to the Exchange News Room have been sold to a member of the old Association. It is rumored that a new club room will be formed with headquarters in Thomas' new building.

At the council called to dismiss Rev. Mr. Crawford, of Topsfield, who intends going to Turkey as a Missionary, the South church of this town will be represented by the pastor and delegate Deacon Richard Smith.

Several young misses have received presents from their friends recently. Miss Annie Campbell, on Shillaber street, has been presented with a gold ring, and Miss Mabel Goldthwait, on Berry street, with a plush album.

Unquestionably some of the shops in town are doing a larger business than some weeks ago. More hides are being put in and more bark is arriving on the cars. We hear of some, however, who are unable to hire the help they desire.

The interior of the Methodist church when completed will be the finest in town. The memorial windows to be put in are all provided for. The church and society are prospering under the spiritual ministrations of Rev. Mr. Phinney.

The dancing and skating party of the Merry Four, last Friday night, was a success. These parties seem to be what is wanted by both skaters and dancers. At a sack race, "Dutchee Lane," a newsboy, came in first. The newsboy, always gets there.

The Prohibitionists nominated Rev. W. P. Alcott, of Topsfield, for Senator from this district last Thursday afternoon. The convention was addressed by Rev. Mr. Spaulding in the afternoon and Rev. Mr. Alcott, the nominee, addressed them in the evening.

A conductor on the South Reading branch remarked recently: "I had a large number of those religious people on my train to-day as far as Lynnfield and not one of them went into the smoking car." They probably didn't mix their religion with tobacco.

Poet's Corner.

Little Margery.

Kneeling, white-robed, sleepy eyes,
  Peeping through the tangled hair,
"Now I lay me—I'm so tired—
  Aunty, God knows all my prayer;
    He'll keep little Margery."

Watching by the little bed,
  Dreaming of the coming years.
Much I wonder what they'll bring,
  Most of smiles or most of tears,
    To my little Margery.

Will the simple, trusting faith
  Shining in the childish breast
Always be so clear and bright?
  Will God always know the rest,
    Loving little Margery?

As the weary years go on,
  And you are a child no more,
But a woman trouble-worn,
  Will it come—this faith of yours—
    Blessing you, dear Margery?

If your sweetest love shall fail,
  And your idol turn to dust,
Will you bow to meet the blow,
  Owning all God's ways are just?
    Can you, sorrowing Margery?

Should your life-path grow so dark
  You can see no step ahead,
Will you lay your hand in his,
  Trusting by him to be led
    To the light, my Margery?

Will the woman, folding down
  Peaceful hands across her breast,
Whisper with her old belief,
  "God, my father, knows the rest,
    He'll take tired Margery."

True, my darling, life is long,
  And its ways are dark and dim;
But God knows the path you tread:
  I can leave you safe with Him,
    Always, little Margery.

The Two Villages.

Over the river, on the hill,
Lieth a village white and still;
All around it the forest trees
Shiver and whisper in the breeze;
Over it sailing shadows go
Of soaring hawk and screaming crow,
And mountain grasses, low and sweet,
Grow in the middle of every street.

Over the river, under the hill,
Another village lieth still;
There I see in the cloudy night
Twinkling stars of household light,
Fires that gleam from the smithy door,
Mists that curl on the river's shore,
And in the roads no grasses grow
For the wheels that hasten to and fro.

In that village on the hill
Never is sound of smithy or mill;
The houses are thatched with grass and flowers;
Never a clock to tell the hours;
The marble doors are always shut,
You cannot enter in hall or hut;
All the village lies asleep,
Never a grain to sow or reap,
Never in dreams to moan or sigh,
Silent and idle and low they lie.

In that village under the hill,
When the night is starry and still,
Many a weary soul in prayer
Looks to the other village there,
And weeping and sighing longs to go
Up to that house from this below;
Longs to sleep by the forest wild
Whither have vanished wife and child;
And heareth, praying, this answer fall—
"Patience! that village shall hold you all."

The Two Brides.

I saw two maids at the kirk,
  And both were fair and sweet—
One in her wedding robe
  And one in her winding sheet.

The chorister sang the hymn,
  The sacred rites were read;
And one for Life to Life
  And one to Death was wed.

They were borne to their bridal beds
  In their sweetness and their bloom,
One in a merry castle
  The other a lonely tomb.

One on the morrow woke
  In a world of sin and pain,
But the other was happier far,
  And never woke again.

—Richard Henry Stoddard.

Catarrh is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Made by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said a Tecumseh (Neb.) lawyer last week, "there were just 36 hogs in the drove. Please remember the fact—just three times as many as in the jury box, gentlemen."

The family of Hon. W. B. Hoke, Judge of the Jefferson County, Ky., Court, used St. Jacobs Oil with signal success.

Bobby (at the dinner table)—Will you tell us about your escape after dinner, Mr. Featherly?

Young Mr. Featherly (a guest)—About what escape, Bobby? I have had no escape.

Bobby—Yes, you have. The fool killer, you know. Pa told sister yesterday that he wondered how you had escaped him so long.—New York Times.

Selected Story.

An Eventful Day.

There had been a thunder shower in the night. All the pink, shell-like petals were beaten off the apple blooms; the high grass in the orchard lay in long, flat waves close to the ground; the very daffodils and tulips in the borders were crushed into the rich, black mold, and Janie Barr was trying to tie them up again with as tender a sympathy as if they had been little children fallen down.

When suddenly Mrs. Barr came out with a perturbed face.

There! said she, I knew there would be tronble.

What is it, mother? said Janie, cheerily.

It's those worn-out shingles on the roof, said Mrs. Barr in the melancholy half-whine which was habitual to her. The rain leaked in on the boarder's bureau all night long; and she says she won't stay here if she isn't to be properly protected against the elements.

Jane tied the last puce-colored tulip to its stake, and straightened herself up.

We must have the roof mended, said she.

Who is to do it? sighed Mrs. Barr. There ain't a carpenter to be had since Squire Follet began the new cottage; and even Crazy Jim won't go on that steep roof. And if Mrs. Lepell goes away what shall we do about the interest on your father's old note?

She won't go away, mother, never fear, said Janie brightly. Don't fret. You'll see that things will come right.

But the shingles must be fixed right away, said Mrs. Barr.

They shall be fixed, mother, said Jane.

Who will do it? impatiently repeated the widow.

I will, said Janie.

That's all nonsense! groaned Mrs Barr.

Why shouldn't I, mother? said Janie, merrily. Of course I have not been brought up to a carpenter's trade, but anyone could manage a few shingles and a handful of nails. You shall see, little mother! Only wait.

Jane, if you think of such a thing, I shall be very angry, said Mrs. Barr.

Then I'll leave off thinking of it, said Janie. Where's the basket and the claspknife, mother? I am going to cut some dandelion greens for dinner.

Of course she's only joking, said Mrs. Barr to herself, as she returned slowly to the house.

But Janie had never been more seriously in earnest in all her life.

Mrs. Barr went to the Parish Sewing society that afternoon.

Colonel Addison, from the Valley hotel, who was paying his addresses to Mrs. Lepell, the boarder, came with a spirited horse and a buggy to take her to the sea beach, where a merry bathing party were to take advantage of the tide, and practice the noble art of swimming.

Now is my time, said Janie exultantly to herself.

But Mrs. Lepell came back before she had got 20 yards away from the house.

Janie, she said, I forgot to tell you that I left my three diamond rings in the little left hand drawer of the bureau. I might lose them in the water. I thought I would tell you, in case of fire, you know, or any other accident.

Yes, said Janie; but there won't be any accident.

Mrs. Lepell laughed, and ran back to the carriage and the impatient colonel.

And not till then did Janie perceive that a tall, half-grown lad, lurking behind the porch rails, was waiting to speak with her.

Who are you? said Jane briskly. What do you want? No; we haven't any old clothes. If you really want work you had better go on to the new buildings a mile up the road. I dare say they can find something for you to do there.

The lad numbled out something, whether thanks or otherwise Janie was unable to discriminate, and shuffled away.

And our heroine, slipping on her hat, and bolting the front door, ran across the back meadows to Ralph Parson's carpenter shop, some quarter of a mile by the woodpath.

I want a few shingles, said she, and a pound of shingle nails.

What for? said Ralph.

No matter, calmly retorted Jane. How much will they cost?

They'll cost about a quarter, said Ralph. Is it a hen coop you're going to build? Because if you'll wait until Saturday, I could do it for you.

It isn't a hen coop, and I can't wait until Saturday, said Janie shaking the bright brown curl out of her eyes. Here's the quarter. And you needn't think, Ralph Parsons, that we are going to call upon you again until we've paid something on the bill we owe you already.

She nodded good-bye, and hurried away under the canopy of pink apple blossoms.

Ralph looked admiringly after her.

She's a regular clipper of a girl, that Janie Barr! said he. If ever I'm able to support a wife, that will be the one I'd choose.

Light as a thistledown, Janie hurried back with her precious burdle of shingles, and the pound of nails in her pocket.

Now I'll show him whether I can mend the roof or not, said she, as with a hammer added to her stock in trade, she ascended to the garret and climbed an odd little ladder that led out through a rusty trap door to the steep roof.

The slant was abrupt, the old shingles were wet with the recent rain, and slippery with green moss incrustations; but Janie Barr was not one lightly to be discouraged: and presently she found herself neatly balanced, with her feet braced against the broad gutter, one elbow leaning on the roof, and the other hand busily tearing away the old shingles and replacing them deftly with overlapping rows of new, fragrant wood.

The click of the hammer, the ring of the nails was like music in her ears. It meant that she had saved her mother a bill of several dollars, to say nothing of mental tribulations, which could not be estimated; that Mrs. Lepell would remain with them, and that she, Janie, had proved herself of some use in the world.

I've always wished I had been born a boy instead of a girl, mused Janie. But now, with an exultant glance at the neat row of shingles, I am not so dissatisfied with my lot in life.

Suddenly, however, as she sat perched like a squirrel on the slanting roof, the sound of voices struck on her ear. She paused to listen.

Three diamond rings! I heard her say so herself. In the left hand drawer of some bureau, said the same accents which half an hour ago had asked her for charity. And no one but a woman in the house.

Sure of that? said a deeper voice.

Yes; plumb sure, was the answer. And I wouldn't wonder if there were other things for the picking up.

Come on, then, said the other one; and step lively. We can't stand here jawing all day. The door is bolted, is it? Wait a minute; I've got a little joker here as would start any staples this side of Denver.

Janie had listened in breathless horror. In an instant, as it were, she comprehended the full danger that menaced Mrs. Lepell's treasured gems—the three diamond rings that the boarder had once told her were worth thousands of dollars. And here she was alone and helpless!

Hurriedly she turned over the crisis in her mind. If she were to re-enter the house by the same way in which she left it, she must certainly meet the ruffians, and any resistance which she could offer would be speedily overpowered. But—

Janie Barr was not one to hesitate long. While the thoughts yet careered through her brain, she sprang from the eaves into the blooming boughs of the great cherry tree which grew so close to the house that its branches scraped the roof on windy March days.

It was a hazardous thing for anyone to do, who was not swift of limb and accurate of eye; but Janie alighted, like a cat, in the fork of the tree, climbed lightly down until she reached its lower bough, and thence leaped breathlessly to the ground, springing swiftly across the meadows to Ralph Parsons' carpenter shop.

If he is not there, she thought, some of his men will be.

Janie, what is it?

Ralph Parsons himself rose up out of the green hedges, directly across her path.

I was drinking at the ice cold spring, he said, when I heard your footsteps. What is it?

She told him as well as she could for excitement and breathlessness.

Come! she said. Oh do make haste!

He paused only to blow a small willow whistle which hung on his steel watch guard.

That will bring my workmen, he said. It's a signal we have agreed upon, among ourselves, for just such an emergency as this. You and Jones, Janie, shall go around to the back door. Hall and Robbins will watch the front, and I'll go up and settle the fellows.

The little campaign was skilfully conducted. The two thieves were taken red-handed, the diamond rings were delivered into Janie Barr's keeping, and the ruffians were dragged to the nearest jail.

Oh, Ralph, said Janie, when all the little crowd was gone, how can I ever thank you?

He smiled.

By letting me put on those shingles for you, said he.

I can't! said Janie, laughing and blushing. They are put on already. But I'll promise you my next job of carpentering.

Will you let me be your carpenter always, Janie? he asked. Will you promise one day to be my wife?

The words had risen almost involuntarily to his lips as he held her hand in his—the words he so longed yet dreaded to speak.

And Janie hung her head and colored like a carnation, and said "she would see."

And Ralph Parsons knew that he had won the day.

Mrs. Barr and the boarder were alike amazed when they returned home.

Our Janie to circumvent a gang of burglars! said the proud mother.

To save my three diamond rings! hysterically cried Mrs. Lepell.

But that isn't all I have done, mother, said Janie, laughing, I have shingled the roof. And—I have promised to marry Ralph Parsons next spring. Upon the whole, I think it has been rather an eventful day, mother, don't you?

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

BY A LABORING MAN.

Are the Knights of Labor true friends of the working man? "By their fruits ye shall know them." Whatever their aim, their methods are abominable; unjust alike to employer and employe. The leading agitators will not work themselves, and their mission seems to be to hinder others from working who do not want to be hindered. Thousands of men and women, during the past six or eight months, have been peremptorily ordered to quit work, a majority of whom had no grievance, and did not want to stop. Many of them will acknowledge to-day that they were fools to do so. It has been all loss and no gain. Their mistake will be still more apparent before the winter is past. The loss in money is a fearful amount already. If wages should be generally advanced, an advance in the cost of living must of necessity follow, so that the loss already incurred can never be made up.

Now, the fact is, that labor was better paid in this country previous to the strikes than ever before.

It is also a fact that labor is better paid in this country than anywhere else on the globe. It is a fact that, while wages have increased during the last decade, the rate of interest has decreased. Capitalists who were receiving seven and eight per cent. interest ten years ago, are fortunate if they average four and a-half per cent. to-day. The hardships are not all on the side of labor. The manufacturers and contractors who get the lion's share nowadays are few and far between. They often have burdens to bear that their employes know not of. Not infrequently manufacturers have actually run at a loss in order that their help might not suffer.

In view of such facts, what is it that the Knights of Labor propose to do? Do they know themselves? They do not agree among themselves. They seem to hold indefinite and impracticable theories which lead, thus far, only to mischievous results.

They assume the right to enter a great manufactory and in the most offensively dictatorial manner order the proprietors to discharge one of their most faithful men. Why? The real reason is because he refuses to join their organization. Or the order may be the reverse: "You must employ certain men, no matter how obnoxious they are to you, and you must pay them the amount of wages that we tell you to. If you refuse we will boycott you, or we will order a strike and stop your manufactory at once." What for? The only proper answer is: "Because these men belong to our order." They say to a certain grocer: You must close your store at six o'clock, or we will close it for you.

How long do they suppose the business men of this country will tamely submit to such nonsense? They will find that employers can combine as well as employes.

Already some of the leather manufacturers of Massachusetts who have run, as they say, at a loss for the last six months, under the dictation of the Knights of Labor, have been actually forced into combined resistance. They declare that they will have no further dealings with the Knights of Labor, and that they close their factories unless they are allowed to run their own business and not be dictated to by outside parties. Labor difficulties cannot be settled in any such arbitrary way, though in some cases they may be properly settled by arbitration.

Another impracticable scheme of the Knights of Labor is the eight-hour movement. There are a few lines of business where it might do very well; but for general business the theory will not work. These eight-hour fellows do not object to having their wives work from twelve to sixteen hours; rather demand it of them; yet the wife has full as good a right to limit her work to eight hours as the husband. Try it, good woman. "It is a poor rule that won't work both ways."

The fact is, a man who has to work only ten hours a day has no cause of complaint. There are men and women who have grievances, and there always will be such; but they are not the ten-hour workers.

The Knights of Labor have attempted the impossible. They have a perfect right to strike and refuse to work, but the instant they undertake to say that I shall not work they exceed their authority and will be resisted. Many of their members are already leaving the order in disgust—over a hundred in one day at Brockton, Mass. They find that they have been fooled long enough. Reason and common sense will take the helm again.

After all has been said and done, this stubborn fact will remain—viz., that the time will never come when the great majority of human beings will not be poor. "The poor ye have always with you," said one who spake with authority, and who saw the end from the beginning. The Old Testament tells us that "The poor shall never cease out of the land." This old world would be in a bad predicament if everybody could be rich. The world's work must inevitably be done by the toiling millions. Abraham Lincoln's homely illustration, "root hog or die," will always be applicable to most of us. Nobody need be miserable on that account, however, unless they choose to be. The workers are tne happiest, after all. One great trouble is that most men do not know when they are well off, and are not willing to let well enough alone. A satisfactory conclusion will be reached only when every man in this country shall have the right to join labor organizations or to refuse to join as he chooses; the right to work for whom he likes, under what conditions he likes, for whatever price he likes, and as many hours as he likes, without coercion or interference from anybody.

If it were possible for the Knights of Labor to carry out their wild schemes, our sorrowful refrain would be, farewell, "sweet land of liberty." We should be laboring under a tyranny of the worst kind. They will not succeed. Better counsels will prevail.—N. Y. Independent.

A REVEREND K. OF L.—We have been watching to see if any where a pastor of any denomination would appear in the order of the Knights of Labor, and we have looked in vain, until the following struck our eye. The place referred to is Peabody, and the morning last week Thursday.

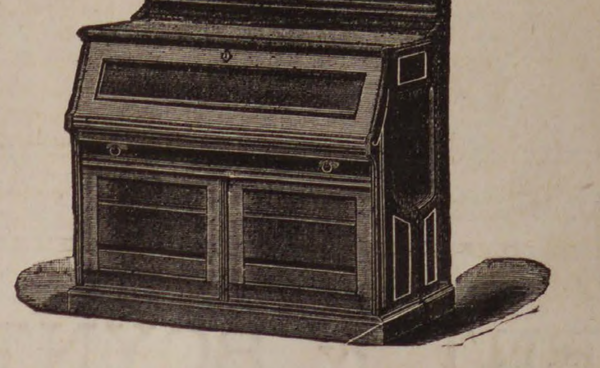
"This morning Rev. Willard Spaulding was early in the Square, moving from group to group of his brother knights, and after a few words from him they would disperse. At 6.50 Osborne's men drove through the Square without a police guard and there was no demonstration made against them. The influence of Mr. Spaulding is something wonderful with the knights, and unless they break over it, no more trouble is anticipated, although an outbreak may occur at any moment, as there is a large element that is ready for any disorder, especially when excited with drink."

We heartily extend the right hand of fellowship to this double brother, a brother in the ministry, and a brother in the K. of L. In our view he is doing pre-eminently the especial work of a true Christian minister for this time. Were the master on earth now, we doubt not that he would be a Knight of Labor, unless indeed his work was so large that a new order sprang up containing all that, and all the rest that he would do besides. We are particularly gratified that while this brother is the champion of the working people, he is using all his strength in favor of peaceful measures and orderly conduct. Clearly that is the way to win our lasting victories.

The Christianity that is needed to-day is that which will establish righteousness in the earth, and will work to effect by peaceful means those changes in the structure of society through which that righteousness is to be established. "The Kingdom of God is righteousness and peace;" and that Kingdom brother Spaulding, by being a Knight of Labor, and by working to get justice in peaceful ways, is doing far more to establish, than if he was only a minister. Could the ministers of our various churches only understand the signs of the times, and know what the work of the Master in the present state of affairs called for from them, they would all join the Knights of Labor, would work in that order with the same devotion as in the church, striving to perform that work by serving right here their fellowmen. Were this to take place the great Labor Reform-movement would go forward rapidly, and without strikes and boycotts, to the final and complete success. —Rockland Standard.

A senior, after vainly trying to explain some scientific theory to his fair inamorata, said: "The question is difficult, and I don't see what I can do to make it clearer." "Suppose you pop it?" whispered the blushing damsel.

HEAD-QUARTERS
FOR
PARLOR FOLDING BEDS.



We are agents for the Folding Cabinent Bed, the Cheffonier Bed, the Mantle Bed, also Sofa and Lounge Beds in great variety.

CARPETS.

Our new Carpet Hall is stocked with a complete line of Brussels, Tapestries, Velvets and Ingrain, Oil Cloths, Rugs and Matting. Special low prices. All new, fresh stock.

STOVES AND RANGES.

We carry a full line of the New Gleenwood B. Range, the Magee Mystic, the New Elmwood, Pilgrim, and other first class Ranges. Also Parlor Stoves all styles and prices. A good Range with all the ware complete for only $16.00.

You will save money by purchasing your Stoves or Ranges directly of us. Any of the above goods will be sold for Cash, or if you have not the ready money on Weekly or Monthly Payments.

W. C. PACKARD FURNITURE AND CARPET CO.,

Largest House Fusnishers in Eastern Massachusetts,

281 Essex & 1, 3, 5, 7 Crombie Streets,

NEXT TO MECHANICS HALL.

☞ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE.

ONCE MORE

TO SCHOOL!

See Reuben and Hal and little Jane
Merrily tripping down the lane;
They're bound for school, vacation is o'er;
They're ready for their books once more.
How pleased they look! and see how neat!
Yes! well they may, for on their feet
Are shoes from Osborne's, a guarantee
Of splendid fit and quality.

Shrewd folks who strive to make their dimes
Go farthest in these pinching times,
And yet not sacrifice a whit
Of style or wear, or perfect fit,
Flock to our stores in steady stream.
They seek to save; we give them cream;
They tell their friends and they believe,
And crowd our stores from morn till eve.

We Call the Attention of the People

To the GREATEST OPPORTUNITY to SHOE THEIR CHILDREN for School. We offer a stock of Boys' and Youths', Misses' and Children's Boots and Shoes, immense in quantity, superior in quality, and of great variety, and at PRICES that give our customers the Best End of the Bargain Every Time!

No such attractions in SCHOOL SHOES for Children of all ages have ever been offered, even by ourselves, and a visit to either our MUMROE ST. or WEST LYNN STORES will richly repay you.

Boys and Youths Bals and Button Shoes
Misses' and Children's Heeled
and Spring Heel Shoes!

DOWN! DOWN! DOWN!

To prices that give the poorest a chance to shoe their children in a satisfactory and becoming manner. REMEMBER! that every pair of Boots and Shoes in both stores, whose selling price has been 50 cents or upwards, has been MARKED DOWN. This is absolute and without any reserve whatever, and affects the LARGEST AND BEST STOCK OF BOOTS AND SHOES IN NEW ENGLAND!

Boys' Veal Calf, Tap Sole, Balmorals,		.65	.85	$1.10
Boys' Veal Calf, Nailed, Button Boots,				1.40
Youths' Veal Calf, Tap Sole, Balmorals,				.95
Youths' Veal Calf, Nailed,				1.20
Youths' Veal Calf, Nailed, Button Boots,				1.40
Misses' Grain Button Boots, Heeled—Sizes 11 to 2,			.69	1.05
Misses' Grain Button Boots, Spring Heeled—Sizes	11 to 2,			1.20
Misses' Kid Button Boots, " " "	11 to 2,		.85	1.85
Misses' Goat Button Boots. " " "	11 to 2,		.95	1.85
Misses' Kid Button Boots, Heeled, "	11 to 2,		1 33	1.85
Misses' Goat Button Boots, " "	11 to 2,		1.33	1.85
Child's Grain Button Boots, " "	9 to 10 1-2,		.90	1.15
Child's Grain Button Boots, " "	5 to 8,			.75
Child's Goat and Kid Button, Heeled, "	8 1-2 to 10 1-2,		1.05	1.40
Child's Goat and Kid Button, Spring Heeled, "	5 to 8,		.90	1.1
Child's Kid Button, " " "	5 to 8,			37

AND HUNDREDS OF OTHER BARGAINS,

38 MUNROE STREET. 23 MARKET SQUARE.

WELLMAN OSBORNE.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall street, N. Y.
2ae

E. W. GOULD

BAY STATE

Steam Dyeing and Cleansing

WORKS.

9 1-2 FRONT STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

Pmptne : : ' : ı ı Motto.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Goods called for and Delivered.

AGENTS:

J. W. Pitcher, Atlantic block, Beverly; I. S. Day, Oak St., near the depot, Beverly Farms; Beals & Abbott, cor. Maple & Locust Sts., Danvers; B. F. Stevens, 16 Main St., Peabody; T. W. Slade, Manchester-by-the-sea; Wm. S. Stanley, 4 Grader's block, Marblehead; Benj. P. Edwards, Main St., Topsfield.

MISS BASSETT, formerly of the Essex Dye House, will be at our Office, No. 91-2 Front Street

Jas. Lafreniere,

HAIR DRESSER,

Has taken the shop under Baldwin's Hotel, where all who favor him with their patronage will receive

Courteous and Prompt Attention.

Diseases of the Head and Hair treated. A share of patronage solicited.

BALDWIN'S HOTEL, FOSTER ST.,
PEABODY.

may 26—4t

DESIRABLE REAL ESTATE
IN PEABODY,
FOR SALE.

The estate owned and occupied by C. C. Farwell and situated on the corner of Grove and Walnut streets, is offered for sale at a low price and on easy terms.

The estate consists of a two story frame dwelling house, containing 12 rooms, with water and gas, a barn 28x35, and about three quarters of an acre of land.

For a manufactory, with dwellings for the owner and tenants, there is no better situation in the county.

Address, or apply to

F. E. FARNHAM,
8 Allen's Block,
je 16 Peabody Square

NOTICE OUR

REMOVAL.

P. Hartigan & Son,

HORSE SHOERS,

Have removed from the rear of Kinsman's Block to

184 BRIDGE ST.,

Nearly opp. St. Peter street, Salem.

OLD ESTABLISHED CONCERN,

P. Hartigan, Senior, has had 30 years' experience.

N. B. Personal attention given to Horses that interfere or over-reach.

☞ Treatment of CORNS and QUARTER CRACKS a specialty.

LADIES & GENTLEMEN,

CALL AT

CYRUS C. TREVETT'S,

IF YOU WANT

The most durable and stylish boots at bottom prices, be sure and bring the children.

110 UNION STREET.

LYNN, MASS.

jy 7—1 y

THE DRAMA.

If ever there was a man of magnetic presence on the stage, his name is Henry E. Dixey. The performance given by the famous young comedian, as the central figure in "Adonis," has won the sincerest admiration from the brilliant assemblies that the week has chronicled at the Hollis Street Theatre. Nor is Mr. Dixey alone popular. Amelia Somerville, Lillie Grubb and the pretty chorus win favor, and deservedly so. "Adonis" is one of the greatest of popular successes.

Steadily onward to its 100th performance, and perhaps onward still after that red-letter night has been reached, "Harbor Lights" continues to delight, at the Boston Museum, very numerous assemblages. No indorsement of the management's judgment in opening with this great London melodramatic success could possibly be more emphatic than the popular verdict regarding the new play, as well as the new company at the Museum

"Held by the Enemy" will soon be put into rehearsal at the Museum, to be ready at any time after the month more that "Harbor Lights" is sure to run. Miss Evesson is to play the ingenue role, Susan McCreery, in which Miss Louise Dillon has made such a hit in New York. Miss May Davenport will appear for the first time this season as the heroine, Rachel McCreery, which Katheryn Kidder plays in New York. Mr. Vanderfelt will take the role of the northern officer, Col. Charles Prescott, which George Park is playing, and Frank Burbeck will be assigned that of Lieut. Gordon Hayne, the southern officer. Frazer Coulter will play Surgeon Fielding, George Wilson the newspaper reporter, Thomas Henry Bean, and Kate Ryan will be the Euphemia. Miss Craigin and Mr. Arthur Falkland will be out of the cast.

"Fritz, Our Cousin German," was the piece which first gained for J. K. Emmet public favor as a German "dialect" comedian star. None of the variously localized versions of this "Fritz" play have been nearly so good as the original, to which the actor has wisely determined to return this season, and this public will now see Emmet to better advantage decidedly than ever before. This week at the Boston Theatre, will occur the first representation in this city of the earliest and best of Mr. Emmet's stage productions, made more attractive than ever by new features. "Fritz" is announced for a week's season, which should establish Mr. Emmet more firmly than ever in the regard of Boston's play-going people.

The last week of Miss Mitchell's engagement at the Park Theatre is to present the ever-popular actress in three of her best liked impersonations. No doubt the lady's friends and admirers will be well represented at all the performances announced. "Little Barefoot" is announced for Thursday and Friday, presenting the star as Amry, Mr. McClannin as Farmer Peace, Charles Abbot as William and James T. Galloway as Jemmy. Maggie Mitchell is to say good-by to Boston for another season in two performances of "Fanchon, the Cricket,' to be given Saturday afternoon and evening.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for November opens with the fourth of Mr. Powell's Leaves from My Life, dealing with the poet banker Samuel Rogers and the witty Douglas Jerrold. Among the elaborately illustrated articles is one entitled The Still-vex'd Bermoothes, in which a bright description of the Bermudas is accompanied by twelve scenes from the islands. Salem, Past and Present, shows us some scenes from the old town of witches in Massachusetts. There is a sketch, with portrait, of Charles Villiers Stanford, a representative British composer; and many other interesting articles and fine illustrations. The number is up to the high standard of excellence attained by the magazine.

Besides its usual array of designs for house and street costumes, the Season gives in its November number a variety of styles for hunting, riding and yachting suits, for both ladies and gentlemen. Its suggestions in the embroidery and needlework departments are always practical, and will be found a great assistance in the manufacture of articles for home decoration. International News Co., 31 Beekman St., New York City.

She Was Painfully Well-Bred.

The polite child is the latest thing in the juvenile world. She was strolling around the neighborhood on a tour of observation, when she came across a colored man sitting on a doorstep. She stood with her finger in her mouth watching him. Finally she said:

"You're a colored man, ain't you?"

"You're very polite, little girl," he said. "Yes, I am a colored man."

"O, yes, I'm very polite. I call every nigger I see a colored man."

He Didn't Like Picnics.

"Where'm I goin' this vacation, pop?" inquired Jimmy Tuffboy of his paternal.

"Well, you are going to behave yourself for one thing."

"That's a tough one, pop. Where then?"

"I guess if you go to one picnic that will do you."

"One picnic! No picnic for me. I'm going to tramp these woods 'round here for six straight weeks. Picnics are no use. Who wants to row a boat-load o' girls all over a pond, an' not have 'em speak to you on the street?"

THE LIME KILN CLUB.

Election for Local Officers—Brother Gardner Instructs the Committee.

After Brother Gardner instructed the Lime Kiln club in their position on international questions, on motion of Sir Isaac Walpole the meeting then opened on the thirty-third degree, and proceeded to the election of local officers. There has been a great deal of wire pulling during the summer in regard to these offices, and it was felt that the election would prove an exciting contest. An informal ballot for secretary brought out thirteen candidates, five of whom could neither read nor write. When this fact came to be whispered about, Brother Gardner arose and said;

"I want to say to you five gem'len dat dis am not a pollytical 'leckshun. If it was you'd be all right. A man kin leave de fool asylum to-day an' run fur alderman in any city in de land to-morrer, but we do bizness on a different basis in dis club. De five of you purceed to absquatulate, or you'll h'ar sunthin' drap!"

A formal ballot was then taken, and Waydown Bebee was re-elected by a majority of 28. He returned his thanks in a few well selected words, in which he rung in Nero, Plato, the great Sahara desert and the Mormon question. An informal ballot for treasurer brought out twenty-eight candidates, and the feeling promised to be so high that the president again arose and said:

"My frens, I doan' want to keep interruptin' de purceedin's, but I mus' remind you agin dat dis club doan' hold its 'leckshuns on a polytical basis. Dar's a heap of you who doan' know 'nuff to add five to seben, or to subtract two from six, an' dar' are some others who couldn't get a bond of $50 signed to save deir necks. Dar' mus' be more absquatulashun."

His brief speech produced a wonderful effect. A formal ballot brought out only three candidates, and of those Trustee Pullback received a majority of the votes and was declared elected. He expressed his thanks in broken remarks, which were about equally divided between the glacial period and the latest improvements in corn shellers, and sat down amid the heartiest applause. The president then made the following appointments:

Librarian—Professor De Hoe.

Janitor—Whalebone Howker.

Keeper of the sacred relics—Sir Isaac Walpole.

Inner guard—Col. Cahoots.

Outer guard—Deacon Smith.

Grand bouncer of unruly members or imposters—Giveadam Jones.

Chaplain, when there is anything for a chaplain to do—Rev. Penstock.

The following committees were also appointed:

On judiciary—Lawful Davis, Assumpsit Smith and Subpœna Harper.

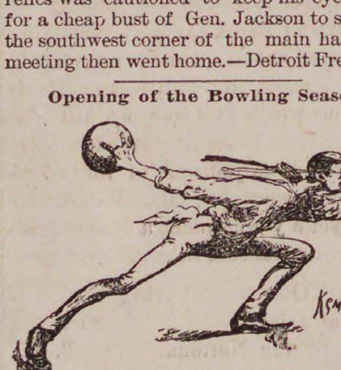
On finance—Currency Jones, Specie Taylor and Credit Coleman.

On foreign affairs—Professor Hawkins, Col. Snaffles and Judge Burns.

On general harmony—Peaceful Johnson and Emblem Green.

Brother Gardner said that other committees of less importance might be named later on. Such persons as had been named were expected to enter into committee work with energy and enthusiasm, and seek to make a success of whatever they might be asked to do. It was announced that the library would open at 7 and close at 10 o'clock through the fall and winter months, and frequenters of the place were cautioned about indulging in either political or religious debates in the room. The janitor was instructed to secure the services of a civil engineer to make a survey of the hall stove and estimate the amount of money which would put it in safe condition for the winter, and the keeper of the sacred relics was cautioned to keep his eyes peeled for a cheap bust of Gen. Jackson to stand in the southwest corner of the main hall. The meeting then went home.—Detroit Free Press.

Opening of the Bowling Season.



A TEN STRIKE. —Life.

Every-Day Rules for Barbers.

1. "First catch your hair."
2. Place him in the chair and manipulate the tiller wheel until he is screwed down into a position at once uncomfortable and barbarous.
3. Remark about the weather.
4. If the patient wants a shave, lather him.
5. Having lathered the subject, rush to the hydrant and wash your hands.
6. Lather the patient again.
7. Seize your razor and sharpen it.
8. Rub patient's jaw for five minutes. This sends the soap inside the pores and produces a tranquility of the flesh that even a fine tooth razor cannot disturb.
9. More lather.
10. If the patient's pores are not thoroughly stuccoed with soap by this time, read your morning paper until the required stuccodity is attained.
11. Seize your razor once more and flourish it three times on the strop, and then inquire if the patient is particularly tender in any particular spot.
12. If he is scrape that spot until the subject shows signs of dissolution, then soothe him with lather.
13. Scrape both jaws with the razor, and if musically inclined whistle in the patient's ear during the ceremony.
14. After he is entirely flayed ask if the razor hurts.
15. If he says yes, continue the process until he swears that it does not hurt.
16. Inform patient that a little shampoo might not hurt him.
17. Soak his face with bay rum, putting an especially large quantity on all raw spots.
18. Comb patient's hair on wrong side, scrape magnesia over his black tie, let a drop of lather fall on his boots, hand him his hat, give him the address of a convenient undertaker, and
19. Yell "Next!"—Life.

Some Pretty Hard Pills.

He went home a few nights ago and not feeling well took what he supposed to be four pills, and then slept the sleep of the just. When his wife awoke in the morning she began a search for four shoe buttons which she intended to sew on baby's shoes before the little one awoke. She could not find them, and the husband joined in the search. Finally he remembered where he had found the pills and said:

"Good heavens! I swallowed them buttons."—Detroit Advertiser.

Amusing the Baby.

A carpet trade paper tells a story of a perspiring salesman who seemed to be unable to suit a lady after unrolling miles of his stock. When the lady remarked to her companion, "Baby likes to see him roll them out, and its not time to take the train yet," he gave it up. Boston [illegible].

Jottings From Life.

Bridget (who has been sent to crack some nuts in preparation for Mrs. Blank's little dinner party to be held during the evening, enters with a few badly cracked upon a plate) —An', indade, Missus Blank, Oi'll lose me place befor' Oi break me tathe a-crackin' any more of thim nuts. Me jaw's all lame now, as it is, so it is.

AN INTERESTING CONVERSATION.

Husband—What were you and old Mrs. Smith talking so earnestly about? Wife—Oh, nothing in particular; simply one thing and another. Husband—I see. She talked about one thing and you talked about another.

MORE LIKELY TO FIT.

Fat old lady (in dry goods store)—I will look at your dress goods. Clerk—Yes, ma'am. Something in double width?

A PLEASURE IN STORE FOR HIM.

She (at a musicale)—Are you an admirer of Beethoven, Mr. Hobson? He—Well—er—yes. I admire his music very much, but I have never met Beethoven himself.

NOT TO BE DESPISED.

Boston hostess (to young man visiting from the west)—We Boston people, Mr. Breezy, are laughed at a good deal for being so partial to beans, but we don't mind it. Western young man (gallantly)—No, indeed, I wouldn't if I were you, Mrs. Waldo. Beans are a very valuable product. Father, who knows as much about such matters as anybody in southern Illinois, says they are even better than corn to fatten hogs with.—Life.

So "M Quad" Says.

They tell a story in Washington on Congressman Laird, of Nebraska. He is one of the members who can, but does not, keep his own carriage. He patronizes the street cars. On the line on which he rode most frequently one of the panels was ornamented with the legend "Go to Moses," the name of a dealer in furniture, etc., at Washington. This sign annoyed Laird for some unaccountable reason. The annoyance ripened into irritation and the irritation into intolerableness. He took his revenge by having his confidential clerk rent the space directly beneath the sign in each car. Then he had an artist print in his own space, "And be D——d." This brought the other advertiser down on the company, and the company came down on Laird. But he had them both and continued to sit on them until, by a compromise, the objectionable sign was remodeled.

WHY HE WANTED SO MANY.

Customer—Will you please show me your engagement rings? I would like to get about a dozen.

Jeweler—What on earth do you want with a dozen engagement rings?

Customer—I am a West Point cadet——

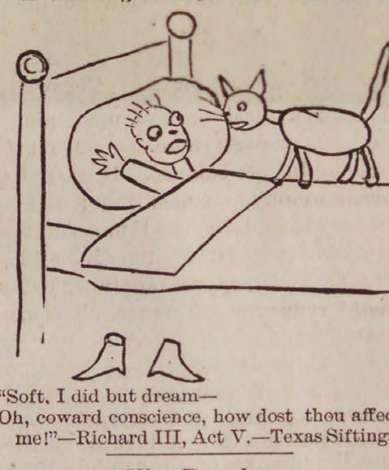
Jeweler—Ah, certainly. Excuse me.

HARMONY.

A guest—What kind of a tombstone would you like for your husband? We have some handsome red granite.

Weeping widow—I don't want a red one. My poor husband was a blonde and red would not harmonize with his complexion.—Detroit Free Press.

A Warning to Boys Who Kill Cats.



"Soft, I did but dream—
Oh, coward conscience, how dost thou affect me!"—Richard III, Act V.—Texas Siftings.

Olive Branches.

Johnny has been in the habit of calling on the groceryman and being supplied with specked apples from the barrel, which, although not very salable, are appreciated by his boyish appetite. Last week his yellow head came up to the counter and he inquired: "Dot any spect apples?" "No, Johnny; the apples are all gone." "Dot any spect oranges?" "No, not to-day." His face was downcast, his spirit sad, his mouth watering. A new idea came into his little mind, and his face brightened as he asked: "Dot any spect cakes?" The cake was at once produced.—Wilmington Home Weekly.

JOHNNY'S AMBITION.

"Do you go to school, Johnny?" inquired a lady. "Yes'm." "And do you study hard?" "Yes'm." "I suppose you want to be a great man when you grow up?" "Yes'm." "And what do you think you'll be?" "I know what I'm goin' to be." "What is it, Johnny? Tell me." "I'm goin' to be the man that wears the big fur hat and throws the stick around in front of the band."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A little girl who is just at the age when her table manners are beginning to be looked after, called out at supper one night recently: "Give me some cake." "How do you ask?" said mamma, correctively. "Please give me some cake," returned the little miss, and added, unabashed: "I didn't forget. I was saving it up."—Springfield Republican.

No Use.

Backwoods school teacher (to boy)—How far have you gone?

Boy—Ain't never been very fur, 'bout ten mile frum home, I reckon.

Teacher—I mean how far have you advanced in your book?

Boy—Over ter this here pictur.

Teacher—W'y, that's where the first lesson begins. You can't spell, can you?

Boy—Ken spell dog an' dam', but I ain't no great shakes on bird an' hossfly.

Teacher—You little rascal, you must not talk that way. Did your father ever hear you talk that way?

Boy—Nome.

Teacher—Then I'm glad that there's some one whom you respect.

Boy—No use'n talkin' that way befo' dad, fur he's deef. Ef er hoss wuster fling dad he couldn't hear hise'f hit the ground.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Groundless Fears.

Some of our esteemed contemporaries seem to think that because there are a few anarchists in Chicago that the country is going to come unglued, and that the streets will become impassable with gore.

This style of editor reminds us very much of that old lady whose teeth were undergoing repairs at the hands of a dentist, and who groaned dreadfully.

"Do I hurt you much, madam?" he asked.

"Oh, no," she replied; "but I do so love to groan."—Texas Siftings.

Kentucky Bric-a-Brac.

Omaha Man—I suppose the habit of carrying pistols is about abandoned in Kentucky by this time, isn't it?

Kentucky Man—Yes; the rage for the antique has struck old Kaintucky same as the other states, and revolvers are not carried much now.

"I am glad to hear that."

"Well, I'm not. I never did like bowies."—Omaha World.

Colorado's Peculiar Winds.

"Well, no," said the Coloradan, "we don't have any winds to amount to anything, but it blows a few minutes there now and then. The winds are peculiar, too; I never saw anything like them anywhere else. They are what you might call discriminating breezes. I've seen a man go along the street, and it would be blowing a hurricane on one side of him; and on the other side it would be a dead calm. I've seen a mule stand braced against the wind blowing behind her, with her tail blown right up straight, and one ear put away ahead of her nose, while the ear on the other side would be in a natural, calm position, and that side of the beast would be sweating! It will take the skin off one side of your face and not touch the other. I saw a man with whiskers get one side of his face shaved by a wind like that, as clean as any barber could do it. A small boy and a dog were walking up the street with him at the time, and they each lost one ear. I've seen a man lose one leg of his pants and a coat tail, and get his hat knocked all over on one side. They don't do any particular damage, those winds, but they are as peculiar as can be!"—Descendant of S. W. in Salt Lake Tribune.

The Wolf and the Peasant—A Fable.

A peasant who was on watch while his flock of goats were feeding discovered a wolf prowling about and fired upon him. The wolf, who narrowly escaped being hit, advanced in great indignation and demanded:

"By what right do you fire upon me without having seen me commit some overt act?"

"My dear sir," replied the peasant as he proceeded to reload his gun, "the best time to fire at a wolf is before he has killed your goats."

MORAL.

Arrest your burglar before he burgles.—Detroit Free Press.

Art in Chicago.

Two gaudily attired ladies were observed recently inspecting the colossal statue of Schiller, of which Chicago is pardonably proud.

"What a remarkably large man he must have been," said one, craning her neck and gazing up at the flowing locks and prominent nose of the figure.

"Yes," replied the other, with the condescending air of one imparting knowledge, "The Scotch are always large men."—Detroit Free Press.

Examples of Tenderness.

Fogg—I really beg a thousand pardons. I fear I stepped on your dog. Little Miss Marigold—Oh, it doesn't matter! the dog isn't mine; he belongs to the other little girl.

TOUCHING DEVOTION.

Estelle—And are you going to leave me so soon, Augustus? Augustus—My love, I would willingly give ten years of my life if I could stay longer. But if I don't go I shall be fined for being late at a card party.—Chicago Rambler.

He Was From Minneapolis.

"Have you heard of that interesting case down east of a woman who was cured of paralysis by the miraculous power of a relic of St. Paul?"

"Yes, I have; but I'm from Minneapolis, and I wouldn't touch a relic of St. Paul with a ten foot pole."—Chicago Rambler.

A Bad Habit.

The habit of abbreviating everything one writes is a bad one. The Woburn Advertiser tells of seeing a communication which spoke of a lady appearing at the theatre in eve. costume.—Lynn Item.

Brevities.

Inconvenience is the father of invention.—Whitehall Times.

A hit in time saves the nine on many a ball field.—Newark Call.

Tobacco chewing is so popular in Illinois that a movement has been inaugurated to change the name of the lake city to Chewcago.—Life.

The superintendent of a county fair in Ohio economized time, space and paint, by putting up the sign, "Gr& St&." That's good ,n sense.—Burdette.

It is a sight to make angels snicker to see a fisherman pull out of the water a two-inch sucker with an outfit that costs him $25 or $30.—Boston Transcript.

"Garments without buttons" are advertised. Evidently the cast-off clothing of bachelors who don't know how to handle thread and needle.—Norristown Herald.

If the genius who informs you now that the days are growing shorter is not careful he will stumble over the equally valuable fact that the nights are growing longer.—New York Graphic.

Boston Girl—What do you think of Emerson, Mr. Wayoff? Mr. W. (from Cincinnati) —Well, Billy used to sing pretty well, but he never was as funny to me as Billy Rice or Charley Backus.—Chicago Rambler.

Someone is said to have invented a substance that can be seen through more clearly than glass. We don't know what it can be unless it is a man's excuse to his wife for not returning home before 2 a. m.—New Haven News.

100 Doses

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

"For economy and comfort we use Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. C. BREWSTER, Buffalo.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla takes less time and quantity to show its effect than any other preparation I ever heard of. I would not be without it in the house." MRS. C. A. M. HUBBARD, North Chili, N. Y. 100 Doses

One Dollar

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PEBLE, Salem, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass

100 Doses One Dollar.

FALL OF 1886.

BRIDAL SILVER.

Through the summer months we have been having made some new styles in

STERLING SILVER,

and have also ordered an immense stock of the best quality

SILVER PLATED WARE.

These goods will be ready early in September, and we are confident we can offer the largest and finest stock of new goods in Essex County. No House in Boston can show a better line of medium price goods than we shall.

DANIEL LOW,

SALEM.

Wedding and Anniversary Presents a Specialty.

LADIES OF SALEM AND VICINITY,

It affords us pleasure to call your attention to our celebrated

HAND-SEWED SHOES

For Comfort, Beauty and Durability, they are not equalled. They are crumbs of comfort by the wayside.

Beware of Imitations! None genuine without the name Grover on the Sole.

Please Call and Examine them at the Store of

L. CUNNINGHAM.

147 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Agent for Salem and vicinity.

mch 31—1y

Missey

CRAYON ARTIST & PHOTOGRAPHER,
252 Essex Street, Salem.

Having refitted and refurnished our gallery with new Lenses, Cameras, Backgrounds, Accessories, etc., etc., and having one of the largest and finest operating rooms and sky lights in the country, we now have facilities second to none for doing first class work in all branches of Photography.

We have just purchased the finest instruments obtainable for making pictures from 8x10 to 24x24 (full life size) direct from the sitter, and make them either bust, half or full length, or groups. To introduce them we shall make them very low for three months.

We have special facilities for copying old and faded Photographs, Daguerreotypes, Ambrotypes, Tintypes, etc. Before giving your pictures to agents, come to us, and see our samples and get our prices. You can save money and at the same time get better work and not risk the breaking or losing of your pictures in the mails.

We make a specialty of Life Size Free Hand Crayons, made from any kind of picture or from life. One of the advantages, not to speak of the superior artistic qualities, of free hand work over the mechanically finished solars, is that any changes from the original, no matter how great, can be easily made, whereas in the finished solar but very slight changes can be made. We can furnish duplictaes from any negative ever taken by N. C. Bosuley.

Call and see what we are doing, all will be treated courtesy whether anything is desired or not.

STOVES AND RANGES.

We have a large stock of Parlor Stoves for the fall of 1886, among which are the HARVEST, PALLAS, SOMERSET, and WELCOME PARLOR STOVES, making our line of these goods equal to any shown in this city.

FOR RANGES

We offer the GOOD NEWS and NEW HUB RANGES, everywhere acknowledged to have no equal, with a full line of medium priced Ranges.

Also a good stock of

LIBRARY VASE and STAND LAMPS, CROCKERY and HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS.

LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH.

☞ Easy Terms on Instalments.

WADLEIGH & MORSE.

81 North St.,

SALEM

STRAWBERRIES,

POT GROWN.

Plants of Leading Varieties.

By setting in AUGUST will secure fruit the following season.

PLANTS ready now. Send for Circular, or call on

E. & C WOODMAN,

FLORIST AND GARDEN SUPPLIES,

DANVERS, MASS.

Greenhouses, Holten St., Tapleyville, on line of Horse R. R.

CHOICE VERMONT BUTTER.

We have just received a car load of VERMONT BUTTER which we shall offer by the tub at prices which

— WE WILL NAME WHEN YOU CALL. —

IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE US

Meats and Vegetables of all kinds at the

LOWEST PRICES FOR SPOT CASH.

Ames & Edgerly's Cash Market

NEXT TO SAMUEL TRASKS.

SAVE MONEY

BY TRADING AT

Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store.

Read this array of bargains.

Ladies' Kid Pointed Slippers, hand sewed, only 50 cents. We have about 100 pairs of these slippers, all sizes. Some dealers advertise them as bargains at 75 cts. We have marked them, regardless of cost, at 50 cts.

24 pairs of Ladies' Fine Congress, hand-sewed reduced to 75 cents.

60 pairs of Ladies' Leather Buskins, hand sewed, all sizes, only 50 cts.

101 pairs Misses' New York Button, reduced to $2.25. This is the price asked for a common grain school boot; but we will sell them at this ridiculously low price. We have these strong, durable and stylish school boots on all sizes and half sizes, widths, B, C, D and E.

One lot of Children's Grain School Boot only $1.00. This is a genuine bargain. They are made by the East New York Shoe Co., and have always been recognized as the most durable and stylish school shoe made. We have a large stock of them on two widths, sizes and half sizes.

72 pairs of Children's Kid Spring-Heel Button only 50 cents.

48 pairs of Men's Sewed Veal Calf Bals and Congress reduced to $1.50.

REPAIRING DEPARTMENT. Men's boots tapped and heeled, 75 cents. The best stock and satisfaction guaranteed.

NUGENT BROS.,

Foster St., Peabody, Mass.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers

WE HAVE made arrangements, at considerable expense, to publish each week a full report of the sermons of Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, delivered on the Sabbath preceding the day of our publication. We shall begin their insertion in our columns next week. We shall also publish Dr. John Hall's notes on the International Sunday School lessons for the Sabbath following each insertion of the PRESS. We trust that these two additions to our columns will prove interesting and instructive to our readers, and feel sure that they alone will be worth more than the price of this paper.

We desire also to say that now is a good time to subscribe for the PRESS, and new subscribers, by the payment in advance of $2.00, will be furnished the PRESS free the remainder of the year.

* * *

THE COUNTY Nominations have all been made by both parties, and those of the republican party will commend themselves favorably to the voters of the party. Of course the chief interest, to our citizens, centered in the nomination for district-attorney. It is understood that our delegation voted for Mr. Hurlburt at the convention, and he received other votes. This was not from a desire to underrate the ability of Mr. Moody, of Haverhill, whose qualifications for the position we doubt not are first rate; but because of the past record of Mr. Hurlburt, and because of a desire on the part of those delegates to remove this office from politics, and place it with the offices of Clerk of Courts and Registrar of Deeds. In this desire, and with this intention, we have been and are now in sympathy. We respect and commend Mr. Hurlburt for what he has done, without regard to his party affiliations.

We did not expect that the feeling in favor of this step would lead to his nomination at the hands of the republican convention. But seventeen votes is a beginning. It is the leaven which will in time leaven the whole lump. Unless the Legislature votes to have the district attorneys appointed by the Governor, which is not unlikely to happen, we shall expect to see before many years the office placed beyond the strife of party scheming. No man can faithfully administer this office, and be under obligations to any party or interest. It is needful that the laws shall be enforced, and criminals brought to judgment, whether this or that party be in power.

Mr. Hurlburt has been a faithful officer of the county, and deserves re-election, without reference to his party connections. We advocate his election, not because he is a democrat, but because the cause of justice and right has not suffered at his hands, and because of a desire to see a man chosen to the office, not because of the larger numerical strength of the party which elects him, but because of his service to the county in the enforcement of its laws.

While saying this we cast no reflection upon Mr. Moody, the republican candidate. Mr. Hurlburt will run ahead of his ticket here. The same will very likely be true in Danvers, in Salem, and in Lynn. In Marblehead and Gloucester, also, he has the warm support of many republicans who desire that to him shall be intrusted the criminal prosecutions for another term. At the same time we are not ignorant of the fact that in some parts of the county Mr. Hurlburt will not poll his own party vote. We thinkhe may not do so here. For the reason that he is strong with the law and order people, for that reason he will lose the votes of some in his own party who do not wish the liquor law to be so faithfully enforced. The vote will be divided, yet we think the prospect is reasonably sure that Mr. Hurlburt will be elected.

For sheriff there is no reason why Mr. Herrick, the present incumbent, should fail of a re-election. He has administered the office with dignity and a proper respect for the duties of the office. His deputies are careful and reliable men, and we know that the people of this portion of the county would regret to see the election result in the removal of the genial deputy of this district, Mr. Samuel A. Johnson. We know of but one man in the county who would have been likely, if nominated by the democrats, to defeat Mr. Herrick. That man, Ex-Mayor Hill of Salem, declined to be a candidate. Of the democratic nominee, the Lawrence American, of his own city, thus speaks:

"He possesses not the first qualification for the position which he now desires; his course during his incumbency of the office of mayor, was such as to disgust the better portion of his party, humiliate the city, and elicit the most vigorous condemnation of the tax-payers generally. When he became a candidate for postmaster, all of the leading corporations of Lawrence, and with a single exception, every bank and savings bank in the city, filed with the President a most emphatic protest, declaring that his selection would be utterly distasteful to the business sentiment of the community. Of all the places he has sought, there is not one for which he is so absolutely unfitted as that of the care and management of our reformatory institutions, and we misjudge the people of Essex county if Mr. Breen does not find himself fairly overwhelmed at the polls."

The Eagle, the leading democratic paper of Lawrence, repudiates the nomination, and we doubt not this feeling exists in a large measure in that portion of the county—sufficient, we feel sure, to cause the triumphant re-election of Sheriff Herrick.

The republicans have placed in nomination for County Commissioner, Mr. Low of Gloucester, the well-known Secretary of the Essex Agricultural Society. No man better understands the needs of the county, or will make a better officer in this capacity, than Mr. Low. Mr. Colby has the advantage of possession in office, with the probable support of the labor party as well as the democracy. But Mr. Colby has had the office long enough—if there were no other reason why he should vacate. We certainly hope Mr. Low will be elected.

The enthusiasm for the republican ticket in Massachusetts this fall grows on apace. Philadelphia, with her splendid welcome to James G. Blaine, sends cheer and greeting to Massachusetts as well as the rest of the country. If the republicans of Essex County do their duty, this county will be no exception to the reaction in favor of the republican party, which will elect Blaine to the Presidency in 1888.

* * *

IT SEEMS remarkable to learn that charges are preferred against the professors at Andover Theological Seminary, that seminary which has been supposed. to turn out graduates of the severest theological belief.

The new theology of the Congregational church seems to have disturbed the believers in the old Westminister catechism, and to be taken to very kindly by the more progressive leaders of that principal New England body of Christians. It is not many years since Charles W. Park, a nephew of old Prof. Park, of Andover, who left Amherst College, at graduation, to become a missionary to foreign lands, was refused ordination over a church in New Haven, because he was in doubt as to whether probation ended with this life. Very shortly after, however, a pastor of a powerful church in Boston, having the same doubts, was installed, and Mr. Park continued to preach in New Haven, for the church which had called him to be their pastor. Now a member of a New Haven Church is refused ordination as a missionary to the heathen, for a similar belief or lack of belief. The protest from the New Haven Church which came promptly to the American Board caused them to modify their decision, and it is found that the views of the young missionary are shared by a large number of both clergy and laity in the fold of Congregationalism.

It is found that the professors of the staid old Andover seminary are teaching the same. It is not denied that the teachers are earnest, faithful Christian men. It is not claimed, it cannot be claimed, that the Church of Christ does not profit by their example and life. It is the awakening from the old dogmas which have ceased to have a hold upon the flock, and the end is not yet.

In regard to the Andover controversy we presume the Congregationalist is authority on the matter, and so append its statement regarding the charges against the professors of that seminary:

In regard to the current report that charges against certain Andover professors have been made, to the board of visitors of that seminary, the facts are these: A complaint has been lodged with this board to the effect that Professor Smyth, Tucker, Harris, Hincks and Churchill, the editors of the Andover Review, have been and are advocating through its columns and elsewhere a theology which, in important particulars, radically contradicts that which their avowed acceptance of the creed of the institution requires them to teach. The board of visitors has entire power in the matter. But there may be an appeal from the decision of the board to the supreme court on alleged grounds of error in procedure, although, if the decision were reversed the matter merely would go back to the board for another consideration. In the present case the board of visitors has received the complaint and notified the professors to appear at a preliminary hearing on Oct. 25th; and the latter have denied the power of the visitors to entertain such a complaint, but will probably be represented at the hearing. The complainants are a number of well-known graduates of the seminary, including one of its present trustees. We may add that this complaint is not in any sense an outgrowth of the discussion at Des Moines last week as some are alleging, but has been in the hands of the visitors for some weeks.

* * *

THE ENTHUSIASM, in our congressional convention, at the mere mention of the name of James G. Blaine, followed by the same tremendous applause at the speech of Dr. Loring, at the county convention, indicates that he has a place in the hearts of the republican party which is not easily stamped out. The same enthusiasm, we have been told, is manifest everywhere in this country. No speaker at any public gathering can mention the name of James G. Blaine, and it be allowed to pass in silence. We can easily understand this to be true, when we read of the remarkable manifestations at Philadelphia on his arrival in that city last week.

The Boston Sunday Globe, which cannot be accused of any undue excitement in his behalf, says the serenade to him by the young republican club of Philadelphia was a sight that would not soon be forgotten. The streets were black with people and the horse cars were completely blocked for nearly an hour. Special trains on all the railroads brought 4000 strangers to the city, who belonged within a radius of fifty miles. These people could not all have expected to hear Blaine speak—but they hoped to get sight of the man whom they so nearly elected to the Presidency.

Blaine is to-day the most popular man in this country. His presence is welcomed by thousands who have never regretted so much as during the past year the failure of the party to elect him. In no place is that regret more manifest than in Essex County—whose people feel and have a right to feel that the leading interest of a prominent portion of the county has been almost trampled under foot. They recognize Blaine as the great advocate of protection to American industries—that protection which has given this country its prosperity to-day.

The election this fall, as was truly said by Gen. Cogswell in his acceptance of the republican nomination for Congress, is of more than ordinary significance. It is in no sense an off year. It is fitting that the republican party should rally in this State, and send to Congress a stronger delegation than before. It should send the news to Washington of an increased republican majority and a larger delegation of republicans to Congress. Essex County should do and will do its share. It will elect to Congress a man who is an advocate of the policy which is in no sense Blaine's policy, but the policy of the republican party. It will pave the way for the majority by which we believe James G. Blaine will be elected to the White House in the year 1888.

* * *

Very few newspapers in this country can boast an existence of 100 years; and none that we know of can claim that in all this period, with the exception of a few years, two persons have been identified with its management. This, however, is the state of affairs regarding the Salem Gazette. The paper was established by Cushing & Foote, the latter the present senior proprietor. He became proprietor and editor in 1825; and Mr. N. A. Horton, its present junior editor and proprietor, after duly serving an apprenticeship, became associated in its management Jan. 1st, 1854. We congratulate the Gazette upon the attainment of such a ripe old age; and its proprietors are duly entitled to all the pleasant things which are being said about them by their brethren of the press. The Gazette is beyond doubt the ablest conducted paper in Essex County: its news is reliable, and its editorials are outspoken, frank and liberal. We have not always agreed with it in matters of public policy, but our differences have been in friendly spirit, with no feeling other than that of charity, we are constrained to believe, on either side. In entering upon its second hundred years of existence, we wish it abundant success; and trust its present proprietors may have many years of usefulness before them in the journalistic field.

The Naumkeag Clothing Co.'s opening Friday night will be a grand affair—band concert, steriopticon and all the extras. Don't forget it.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Newburyport Herald calls the nomination of Breen, Colby and Hurlburt, by the democrats, the carrying out of the "tripartite agreement."

The small number of votes cast for Mr. Hurlburt in the republican County Convention, showed that the feeling in favor of making a nomination outside of party limits was confined to certain localities only. This is probably true. Yet the strength of the temperance republican vote in these localities will be found enough, if rightly exercised, to elect him.

There has been a statement to the effect that Capt. Fitz J. Babson, of Gloucester, is to stump the Congressional district with and for Gen. Cogswell. Good for Babson. It is just what might be expected from the big hearted fellow that he is.

Col. Jonas H. French is not even a friend to the laboring men in his own employ. How can it be expected that he shall be a friend to those in this district?

This county, we think, will be found to be republican at the coming election. The administration is no more popular with its own party than with the republicans, especially in Essex County, and to elect a man to Congress whom the administration has selected would be an indorsement of its policy regarding the fishery question. No true son of Essex should hesitate to rebuke the administration in plain terms, by helping elect a republican to the next Congress.

This terrible pun is perpetrated by the Newburyport Herald: Tobey is toby no longer postmaster of Boston. Of corse his successor is General Corse.

Col. Jonas H. French is in favor of free trade. He is one of the most ardent supporters of the Morrison tariff bill. Is Essex County ready to declare for this measure, by sending to Congress a man who will vote for it, in opposition to the views even of Randall and other conservative men of his own party? We do not believe it. The hope of the workingmen in this country lies in the protection of American industries. Such protection will not be given, if the views of men like French prevail. For this one reason, the workingmen of Essex County should vote for Gen. Cogswell.

There is a good deal of uncertainty as to labor matters here. Things are trembling in the balance. It may be peace, harmony and good time; and it may be a long, bitter and unprofitable fight. We understand the K. of L. will put up with almost anything but a general reduction of wages.—Woburn Journal.

It is said that the labor resolution and the temperance resolution in the state platform of the Republicans were inserted through the influence of the Lynn Republicans on the committee on resolutions. Lynn is a progressive city. —Lynn Union.

If this is true regarding the latter, would it not be a good idea for the Republicans of Lynn to make a determined effort to carry that city against license at the next municipal election? The power of the rum element in Lynn is a disgrace to that city, and can only be overcome by a vigorous and determined campaign.

We have quite frequently taken occasion to unqualifiedly condemn some of the methods of the Knights of Labor as subversive of American liberty, and will say, in passing, that we have nothing whatever in that line to retract, as we consider our points to have been well taken. But we are broad enough, we trust, to recognize a brave and manly act wherever performed; and we wish to place upon record the admirable action of the delegates to the Richmond Convention in standing by their colored brother to a man, in opposition to the narrowness and bigotry of the hotel-keepers of that city. It was a noble course, and should be embalmed in the newspapers of the country to the everlasting credit of the Knights of Labor.—Lynn Transcript.

At a dinner of the Bay State Club, an organization of Massachusetts Democrats, in Boston last Wednesday, Col. Charles R. Codman, the Boss Mugwump, said that he intends to act henceforth with the Democratic party.

Has the Democratic party changed its principles or has Col. Codman changed his?

He has not changed his, but he has good reason to suppose that the Democrats of Massachusetts have changed theirs. They have put up a Mugwump for Governor, and the Mugwumps flock to his support. The Mugwumps have not become Democrats, but the Massachusetts Democrats are striving to appear as Mugwumps.

When Col. Codman says that he is going to act with the Democratic party he means that he hopes the Democratic party will act with him. He remains a Mugwump, and expects to be in Mugwump company still. He is more consistent than the Massachusetts Democrats.—New York Sun.

At the Unitarian club meeting in Boston on Wednesday evening, Rev. S. R. Calthrop said he believed the other churches and denominations to be better than their creeds, and the Unitarians not to be so good as their creed.

It is reported that the locked out men did not receive their pay yesterday.

Charles Mitchell, formerly with P. Joseph Lyons, has hired the horse car station at South Peabody for a barber shop.

Mr. John Hemmenway has bought O'Brien's currying shop in East Boston, and will open Monday with his old Peabody hands.

The Shoe and Leather Reporter has just canvassed this town and Salem and found 1487 men at work in the tanning and currying shops.

Mr. John Perkins has just returned from a gunning excursion to Acton, N. H., where he shot seven raccoon. He brought three of them home with him.

The cases of Hoag vs. Winter and Winter vs. Hoag have been continued to the December term, on account of the inability of Mr. Winter to appear for trial.

The American Express Company have opened an office in this town. There is no room for them here. The express business is in competent hands at the present time.

Mr. Stephen Blaney has had the open space in the rear of his residence on Washington street graded and a handsome lawn laid out. The work was done by Mr. Richard Hurley, the well known gardener.

The Social Circle of the Universalist church will meet this afternoon and evening in their vestry. Supper at 6 o'clock to which the friends of the society are invited.

Mr. Frank E. Chase, of Manchester, N. H., a former resident, is visiting in town. He is the Eastern representative of the Chicago lumber firm of A. & E. P. Kelley, one of the largest in the world.

Get a trial bottle of Mrs. S. P. Wilson's Cough Syrup at Spaulding's, and cure that cough. Mrs. Wilson is having trial bottles on sale at 10 cents each, and is receiving large orders for her medicine, which is very highly spoken of by those who have used it.

As an encouragement to the schoolma'ms of the town to enter with interest into the work of the proposed teachers' association, the fact was mentioned that in a list of members of the old society, including the names of only ten lady teachers, seven are already married; and the list was made only about five years ago.

The Salem News, last Saturday. issued a double number, commemorative of its sixth anniversary. The growth of this paper has been something unprecedented in the history of journalism in Essex County. Starting with a small sheet, printed on an old fashioned press, and with two compositors, it has worked its way up till it is now worthy of being accounted among the metropolitan journals of the country. Its proprietor, Mr. Robin Damon, is yet a young man, and is deserving of all the success in store for him

Sunday, Oct. 17th, having been appointed as a day for special temperance services by the National W. C. T. U., a union meeting was held in the vestry of the South Church in the evening. There were present, besides Rev. G. A. Hall, pastor of the South Church, Revs. J. W. Hudson, G. A. Phinney and J. N. Shipman. The meeting was opened with a fifteen minutes' service of song led by Mr. J. K. Cole, Miss Sadie G. Woodbury presided at the piano. After the singing Deacon Richard Smith offered prayer. Mr. Hall then called upon Mr. Hudson who, in a brief address, set forth very clearly the idea that in the great temperance cause the worker is himself helped and strengthened by the efforts he puts forth; and, referring in closing to the coming election, he said that he believed it would be for the best interests of the great cause to retain in his office the present District Attorney. Mr. Phinney in responding set forth in a word picture a temperance woman. He brought out the many good points in such a woman's character, the last one being that such a woman is hopeful, and he believed that the beacon lights burning all along the line proved that her hopefulness is soon to be rewarded by a fulfilment of her long cherished hope. Mr. Shipman said he was tired of talking on the subject but proposed to keep at it so long as there was need of talk and work. He believed that license is wrong in principle, and under no circumstances can it be right to compromise with evil. He gave a few statistics comparing the immense sum spent for liquor, some nine hundred million dollars annually, with the small amount spent for various benevolent, and Christian enterprises. Mr. Hall in rising to speak congratulated himself that the other speakers had filled out out the time, as he was not in the habit of making temperance speeches, in fact, never had made one; but he showed by his earnest words in referring to the work already done in this community, and in bringing out the thoughts that the cause is both non-sectarian and non-partisan, that he is capable of making one when the occasion demands. A collection was taken in aid of the W. C. T. U. of the town, after which the services closed with singing Coronation and the benediction, pronounced by Rev. Mr. Hudson. The meeting was in all respects a success, and was very well attended, not only the large vestry but both small ones being well filled.

BARGAINS FOR PEABODY PEOPLE.

The Salem Shoe Store, 278 Essex Street, Salem, are offering extra fine bargains to their customers, including a JOB LOT of genuine $3.00 shoes which we have marked at $2.50. A LARGE LOT OF OLD LADIES' FELT BOTTOM FLANNEL LINE GOODS which are bargains. Our MIKADO $2.00 shoe sells at sight. The horse cars from Peabody stop at our door.

W.L.DOUGLAS'
$3.00
SHOE
WARRANTED
SILK STITCHED
GLOVE KID
ELASTIC WARRANTED
GLOVE KID
BEST TANNERY CALF
BOTTOM SEWED

We are Salem Agents for the CELEBRATED W. L. DOUGLAS $3.00 Shoe.

Our motto, to sell the BEST SHOES, at a small profit for cash.

Our Men's and Children's Goods are made on the premises. Remember the number.

278 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

Opposite Packard's Furniture Store. T. A. CORSON, Agent.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The Salem News of Oct. 19th gives to the public an article which I feel calls for some explanation from me. Sunday afternoon my attention was called to a young couple occupying seats in the rear of the vestry, who wished to interview me. I found out immediately that they wanted to be married at the close of the service, and suggested that they then withdraw to the parsonage. In due time I performed the ceremony. Before, however, pronouncing them married, I closely questioned them, getting in reply satisfactory answers. Their certificates were clear and their own certifications of the propriety of their marriage were given me.

I regretted very much to read the article in the News this evening which unveils the mystery enwrapping this couple's appearance. I questioned them, I cannot tell why, beyond my usual custom. I can now see through their much desired secrecy and privacy in this matter.

I have tried to interview the sorrowing parents but succeeded in seeing a son whose heart was also saddened by this occurrence. Upon reflection and examination I am of the opinion that the parents have cause for deep anxiety, and, though innocently, I have helped this young couple in their escapade. I extend my sympathy.

I wish finally to vindicate myself to the public. I do not approve of such procedure. I can get notoriety much more satisfactorily than by being identified with such cases. I do not propose to make the Methodist parsonage a rendezvous for the miscreants of suburban towns and cities. So highly do I appreciate the sanctity of the marriage relationship and keenly feel my obligation to my church and friends to help maintain it before the public, I desire to keep the altar of matrimony as a minister of God unstained by the foul touch of unchastity, hypocrisy and dishonesty.

GEORGE ALCOTT PHINNEY.

[The above refers to the Simpson—Ford marriage, an account of which was given in last evening's News. Ed.]

* * *

Following the good example of teachers in some of the adjoining towns, the teachers in our public schools are about to form a local teachers' association. The first meeting was held in the School Committee's room, Town Hall, Monday evening at half past four o'clock. Thirty teachers were present. Geo. F. Barnes was chosen temporary chairman and Miss Georgie S. Hart, secretary. A committee of three was appointed to prepare and present at the next meeting a constitution and by laws. Sarah E. Towne, Carrie E. Gee, and Adelaide S. Hill were appointed. The subject of methods in Primary schools was suggested as a good starting point and that was adopted as the first topic for discussion. J. K. Cole was appointed to prepare a paper upon the subject, and the meeting adjourned for two weeks. An organization among the teachers of the town known as the "Pestalozzie Club" once flourished, but for some reason it was allowed to die. It is very desirable that the present organization should become permanent and be sustained by every teacher in town. It is not proposed, we understand, to limit the speakers to members, but it is expected that eminent educators will from time to time be invited to deliver addresses upon matters pertaining to practical school work. Prof. Hagar, of Salem, and several members of the State Board of Education have expressed a willingness to help on the good cause. The next meeting will be held in the same place at 4.15 P. M., Monday, Nov. 1st.

Mr. Edward Stone, son of Chas. O. Stone, of Tremont street, will be united in marriage to-day to Miss Alice Maud Perkins, daughter of William Perkins, the hair manufacturer on Franklin street. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. G. A. Hall. They will reside on Franklin street in this town.

The Oxford League connected with the Methodist Church met at Mrs. Newman Perkins' last Thursday night. There was a large attendance. Mrs. Isaac Knowlton read an article on John Wesley, Miss Sadie Warner presented a paper on Charles Wesley, and Rev. G. A. Phinney spoke on the subject, "What has Wesley done for Theology."

An Evening With

W. H. H. MURRAY,

—AT THE—

Peabody Institute,

TUESDAY EVENING, OCT. 26, 1886.

Arrangements have been made by which Mr. Murray will give one of his Literary Entertainments which have created such a furore in Boston, at the above place. Mr. Murray's reappearance upon the platform has been greeted with the LARGEST AUDIENCES given to any platform orator for years. In Manchester, N. H., people were turned away from the doors of the hall—so great was the crowd. Mr. Murray will read FOUR SELECTIONS from his own works—all differing from each other.

Tickets with Reserved Seats 35c.
Admission - - - 25c.

☞ Seats on sale at Grosvenor's drug store Friday morning. Secure them early.

OPEN!

A FINE STOCK OF

FALL AND WINTER

MILLINERY

NOW OPEN AT

REITH'S,

204 Essex St., Salem.

OPENING OF

Trimmed Bonnets and Hats

—AT—

MRS. J. H. BROWNE'S,

153 & 155 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

On WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, Oct. 27 and 28.

This assortment will be found more varied both in style and material than in any former season. Prices ranging from $3.00 to $25.00. At this OPENING we will have a special show room devoted exclusively to the sale of our FIVE DOLLAR Trimmed Velvet, Jet and Felt Bonnets and Hats. A complete assortment in all the desirable shapes and shades to match any or every suit. These Bonnets are made from the BEST MATERIALS. We shall give our patrons the benefit, believing that such GENUINE BARGAINS on our OPENING DAYS will be appreciated by all who wish a stylish BONNET or HAT. This Bargain Sale in trimmed goods will be confined to these special days.

In Misses' and Children's Hats we have a fine assortment both trimmed and untrimmed

BROWNE'S

Next door to the Museum.
SALEM.

ECONOMY!

YOU CAN SAVE FROM $30.00 to $40.00 per quarter by purchasing an ÆOLIAN ORGAN, on which all classes of music are perfectly rendered, without practice or instruction from expensive teachers. Call and examine our full line ranging in price from $5.00 to $250.00. Send for illustrated catalogue.

H. C. HALL & CO.,
578 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.
oct 13—4t

TO LET.

The factory recently vacated by the Vaughn Morocco Machine Company, situated on Walnut Street. The building is in thorough repair and suitable for manufacturing purposes.

Apply to
J. W. VAUGHN, Washington St., Peabody, or Peabody St., Salem.
sept 22—4t

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening Oct. 20, 1886,

HOME HAPPENINGS.

The show that was advertised as Lang's Comedy Comiques got stranded at Peabody last Saturday night. The sales at the box office were not large enough to warrant going on with the play, and the audience were requested to step to the box office and get their money. This they did as did also the holders of several complimentary tickets—and the cash drawn out in this manner not holding out, some of the boys got left. After stopping at the hotel over night, the manager obtained his trunks from the town hall Sunday morning and with the aid of T. H. O'Keefe, who took the educated pig as security, they departed a sadder and wiser crowd. They had similar luck in Marblehead the preceding night. The manager took his misfortune as best he could, and he had the sympathy of many who were unable to collect their bills from him. The company had a reputation of giving a good entertainment, but had "hard luck." Peabody is a great town for "shows." What with poor houses, and the high price of the hall, the town is not likely to realize much income from the lease of the hall in this direction. Mr. Lang was in town yesterday and paid Mr. Baldwin, we are informed.

An unusual stir and movement around a brightly lighted house near the head of Central street, last Wednesday evening, indicated some eventful occasion in a staid and quiet neighborhood. Such it was, and fortunately, one of festivity and joy, and not of sorrow, being the matrimonial union of Mr. George H. Carter of Beverly to Miss Mary A. Ward of this town, granddaughter of Mr. Alfred Ward. A party of about fifty kinsfolk and friends gathered in the tastefully decorated room to witness the nuptial ceremony which was performed by Rev. F. W. Sprague. The visitors came bountifully laden with costly, elegant and admirably chosen presents, pictures, China vases, lamps, repousse work, glass ware, a solid silver service from the father of the groom, a fine engraving from the Sunday School class of the bride, and many other beautiful articles of taste which modern art affords. The bride being a favorite in the neighborhood had many friends, and both parties numerous and particularly friendly relatives to contribute to the happiness of the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Carter will make a short wedding trip and will then return and reside in Beverly, where they will be at home to friends for two Wednesdays, the 10th and 17th of November, at No. 14 Washington street.

Edge stones have been laid in front of the Methodist Church preparatory to the laying of a new sidewalk. The work of frescoing has progressed finely and work on the vestry will shortly be commenced. It has been decided that memorial windows will be placed in the church by the relatives and friends of the following deceased persons: Father John Bagley, by his daughters; Lauriston Stiles, by his wife; Timothy Walton, by his family; James Smith, by his sons; Dora B. McCausland, by her family and friends; and J. S. Paul, by Holten Lodge of Odd Fellows. The large center windows in the front of the church will be dedicated to the four deceased former pastors: Rev. Mosely Dwight, Rev. Daniel Waite, Rev. Mr. Collier and Rev. Mr. Howe.

The next Annual Meeting of the American Missionary Association is being held in New Haven, Conn., Oct. 19-21. The annual sermon will be preached by Rev. Alexander McKenzie D. D., of Cambridge, Mass. The sessions will be held in the First Congregational Church. Some of the most prominent men in the Congregational denomination are announced to be present and to take part. The Association is a national benevolent society. Its work is educational, religious and industrial, among the people of the South, white and colored, and among the Indians and Chinese in the west. Rev. W. G. Sperry, formerly of this town, is in attendance there.

The Murray Club held its first meeting Monday evening, and elected the following officers: President, A. H. Merrill; Vice Pres., Miss Mabel F. Pierce; Secretary, James E. Walstenholme; Treasurer, Elmer C. Drown; Directors, Rev. F. W. Sprague, Mrs. A. H. Merrill, Chas. S. Goldthwait; Literary Committee, F. C. Merrill; Musical Committee, Mrs. Geo. C. Farrington; Dramatic Committee, Charles S. Goldthwait; Social Committee, Mrs. Charles E. Teague.

Mr. Gardner A. Viles was united in marriage last Wednesday evening, at the residence of the bride's father, to Miss Hattie C. Brine. Rev. J. N. Shipman performed the ceremony. On their return from a short trip the newly wedded couple will reside in Bowditch court, where they will receive the congratulations of their friends.

Bargains in the stores of our advertisers.

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

Mrs. Hanorah Cuddire was convicted of keeping liquor for sale, at the Superior Court in Lawrence last Wednesday. Thursday, William H. Murphy plead guilty to the charge of breaking and entering, at the Court in Lawrence, and was placed on probation.

N. R. Welch, the milkman, while cutting cabbage in his farm in West Peabody, cut the forefinger of his left hand quite severely.

David W. Osborne has been discharged from the Lynn Hospital, and is able to get around on crutches.

David T. Winter is having still further trouble with his arm, and has been confined to the house for several days.

Friday at the superior court, Thomas Gannon was sentenced to nine months in the House of Correction for breaking into the house of Richard Barry.

A Sullivan boy residing in Dublin, fell from a tip cart last week and injured one of his legs.

William Tracy, on Harris street, had a valuable harness stolen last Friday night.

Some of the non-union men in the barracks at Wallis street got into an altercation among themselves last Saturday night, and the police had to interfere.

Batchelder & Co. lost a valuable horse last Friday, by spinal meningitis.

One of Abbot & Reynolds' horses ran away on Washington street yesterday morning. The team was slightly damaged and the concrete walk in the vicinity of the accident badly cut up.

Patrick Crowley, of this town, has plead guilty to the charge of manslaughter. He will be sentenced later in the term, and it is probable that his sentence will be lighter than if he had stood trial.

An old gentleman named Brennan fell on Wallis street last Friday afternoon and his head struck against the new edgestones, cutting a gash several inches long on the back of his head.

Some vandal threw a stone and broke a light of glass in a house on Tremont street last Saturday, two hours after the family moved out. It is about time some one was severely punished for such destructiveness. If a house is vacant a few days, lawless boys break some of the windows. The first one caught may be treated to all the law allows.

Our towns people would do well to see that their back windows and doors are fastened these nights as there are several suspicious looking men lurking around town.

An old man named Gowen, with gray hair, was in town last Wednesday searching for a wayward daughter, whom he had learned was in Peabody. The girl was only 18 years of age and left her home in August, taking with her $18 belonging to her father. She lived in Lyme, N. H. and is supposed to have left with a girl whose acquaintance she made during the summer.

An ambitious partridge flew against a window on Andover street last Thursday with force sufficient to break the glass. The bird escaped.

A resident not far from the square recently had a baby carriage stolen from the front of her residence. It was recovered the next day.

Thursday morning, Michael Donovan, Daniel Donovan, John Barry, William Daly, John Alley, Joseph Cody, Edward Costello and John Magner were before Judge Merrill for throwing stones at the house of Thomas Yeaton, in Caller street. The stone throwing was seen by several witnesses who testified thereto in court. The defendants were represented by E. T. McCarthy. They were convicted and fined $1 and a proportionate part of the costs each. They appealed, and were held in $100 each.

Patrick Keefe thought $1 and costs too severe a punishment for imbibing a little of the ardent, and appealed.

John Connell paid $1.00 and costs Thursday morning, for the privilege of getting gloriously drunk.

William C. Beckett and John Daly, non-union men in the employ of Brown & Stanley, were stoned while returning from their work last Saturday noon, by a crowd of hoodlums.

An escort is being furnished by the Knights for several non-union men. Some say it is to annoy them and others to prevent violence.

Deputy Sheriff Johnson has served a copy of Mrs. William Hayes' libel for divorce on her husband in Charlestown State prison.

Mr. John F. Morland amused himself one day last week by running a needle into his foot, but outside of a little lameness for a day or two no serious damage was done.

The Essex Conference of Liberal Christian Churches will be held with the Unitarian Church, Peabody, on Wednesday, Oct. 27th. In the forenoon there will be a discourse by Rev. James Kay Applebee of Marblehead, and an essay by Rev. C. F. Bradley of Sandwich on "The Relation of the Life that now is to the Spencerian Law of the Life Eternal." In the afternoon, Rev. E. C. Butler of Beverly will read an essay entitled "Concerning Labor."

THE NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

Boston Sunday Record.

BRIGHT, CRISP & ORIGINAL

THE REPUBLICAN SUNDAY PAPER,

BUY IT.

Sold by all Newsdealers.

oct 13—1 mo

VISIT

CURTIS' CANDY STORE,

ICE CREAM DINING ROOMS,

— AND —

BAKERY,

No. 200 Essex Street, Salem.

Goods made fresh every day on the premises.

GOOD GOODS.

LOW PRICES.

M. B. WILSON

announces to the Ladies of Salem and vicinity, that having returned from New York with a large stock of

NEW AND ELEGANT GOODS,

— FOR THE —

Fall and Winter of 1886,

She is prepared to show

TRIMMED

BONNETS AND ROUND HATS,

— IN THE —

VERY LATEST STYLES,

AND AT THE

LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES.

All are cordially invited to call and examine at

262 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

SALEM ORATORIO SOCIETY.

The first rehearsal will be held at

ACADEMY HALL,

(rear of East India Marine Museum,)

Wednesday Evening, Oct. 27, '86,

At 7.30 o'clock. Succeeding rehearsals held as usual on Thursday evenings.

GOUNOD'S REDEMPTION will be given for the first work and Handel's JUDAS MACCABÆUS the second work.

Books and Membership tickets can be obtained at E. V. Emilio's music store, 245 Essex street, excepting on rehearsal evenings when they will be found at the hall.

Applicants for membership can leave their names at E. V. Emilio's store or with any member of the Board of Directors.

GEO. A. SHEPARD, Sec'y.

Rose Buds

and Pinks.

WEDDING and FUNERAL FLOWERS.

PEABODY GREENHOUSES

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

MORTGAGES

Drawing 6 per cent Semi-Annual Interest. Unqualified Guarantee of Principal and Interest at Maturity, by

The Western Security Company.

Organized in 1874. CAPITAL paid in cash, 100,000. We offer for sale and recommend these securities to lenders of money.

The Eastern Banking Company.

43 Milk Street, Boston.

FRANCIS A. OSBORN, President.

EDWARD T. MERRIHEW. Treasurer.

oct 6—3 mos.

Republican Senatorial Convention.

The Republicans of the Fifth Essex Senatorial District are requested to send delegates to a Convention to be held in Town Hall, Danvers, on Thursday, Oct. 21, at 9.30 o'clock in the forenoon, to nominate a candidate for Senator and also to elect a member of the Republican State Central Committee for the year 1887. The basis of representation is one delegate from each ward in a city or each town and one additional delegate for each fifty Republican votes or majority fraction cast for President at the last election thereof.

J. OTIS WARDWELL,

Member of Republican State Central Committee for Fifth Essex District.

GUILD PIANO CO.

Offer Bargains in Square & Uprights, Special style Upright, $205.

217 Tremont St., Boston,

oct 13—1t

HAVE YOU SEEN OUR

NEW NECKWEAR?

OUR STYLES ARE
OUR PRICES ARE {CORRECT.

LINEN COLLARS.

Over twenty different styles to select from. Finest grade 20 cts. each $2.00 a dozen. Also the best 4 Ply Linen Collar on the market.

W. S. NEAL & CO.,

228 & 230 Essex St., Salem.

1886.

FALL and WINTER GOODS.

1 Case each LADIES MERINO UNDERWEAR, 50, 75, $1.00.

LADIES' and MISSES' WOOLEN HOSE, 20, 25, 37, 50.

BLANKETS and COMFORTERS,

$1.00 to $6.00. 62 cents to $2.50.

F. D. TARLTON,

42 MAIN STREET.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.

LADIES'

Third and Fourth Grand Excursions to Salem.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 13th,

(Via Salem & Danvers Horse Cars.)

FRIDAY, OCT. 15th,

(Via Naumkeag Street R. R.)

FROM PEABODY.

☞Notice the dates and different lines of Horse Cars. WEDNESDAY, Salem & Danvers. FRIDAY, Naumkeag.

The success of our first railroad excursions ever inaugurated in this vicinity has been such that we have now made arrangements with the Naumkeag Street R. R. and the Salem & Danvers Horse Railroad to make half fares for the ladies on the above dates, and in order that the ladies may not be made to feel the least delicacy in asking for a ticket, coupons will be furnished by the conductors which will entitle any lady to a free return ticket at our office, whether purchaser or not. Please visit all of the three floors of our establishment, which is not only the lightest but contains the largest stock and assortment of new goods in the city. Special Bargains will be offered on the days the RAILROADS MAKE HALF FARES.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

Essex and Washington Street,

SALEM, MASS.

☞STORE NOT OPEN EVENINGS.

THE "OLD RELIABLE"

Family and Agricultural Newspaper, THE

New England Farmer

Under New Management, preserves all its Old and Well-known Excellencies, and introduces

Many new and valuable featues,

Including a Woman's Department.

All of its Editors are Practical Persons.

$2.00 per Year in Advance. Samples free.

Address

NEW ENGLAND FARMER,

34 Merchants Row, Boston, Mass.

OATMEAL FOR POULTRY.

WE have to offer a small lot of fine Oatmeal for poultry and calves. Is sweet but not fresh for grocers trade. Price very low.

CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,

41 to 47 Central st.

oct 6

HOWE & CO.

COMMISSION BROKERS,

13 Exchange Place, Boston.

New York and Boston Stocks bought and sold up cash or carried on a margin of 1 per cent, or forward.

Grain, provisions and oil also carried on small margin.

Correspondence solicited.

sept 29—3 mo

SHORT HAND.

For full information about learning Shorthand, Typewriting and Business Correspondence, send stamp for large catalogue of the BOSTON SHORTHAND BUREAU, 180 and 186 Washington St., Boston, Mass., containing terms, samples of reporting, annual list of graduates, etc.

Publishers of STENOGRAPHY, the best shorthand magazine, and the standard series of shorthand textbooks, dealers in typewriters, etc.

sep 29—4t

NOW FOR BARGAINS!

Just received from factory an article that everybody should have. This lamp is safe and sells at a price that everybody can afford. Call for the Wide Awake Lamp Only 65c Each.

We have also taken agency for the COMBINED WRINGER AND FOLDING WASH BENCH, and shall offer this useful article at the price agents are offering common wringers for.

FULL STOCK OF LAMP GOODS!

Save labor by buying the Patent Barrel Coal Sifters and Patent Vary Clothes Dryers.

Good Saw Horse for 50c; Saw Horse 25c.

We are offering at low figures stock of Fruit Pickers and Porcelain Kettles. Large variety and numerous bargains on our

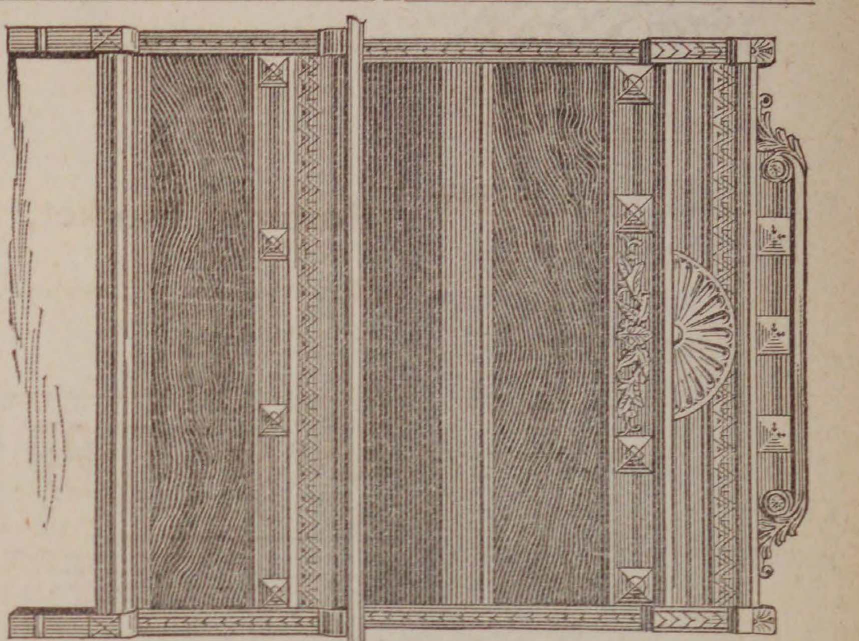
5c, 10c AND 25c BARGAIN COUNTERS,

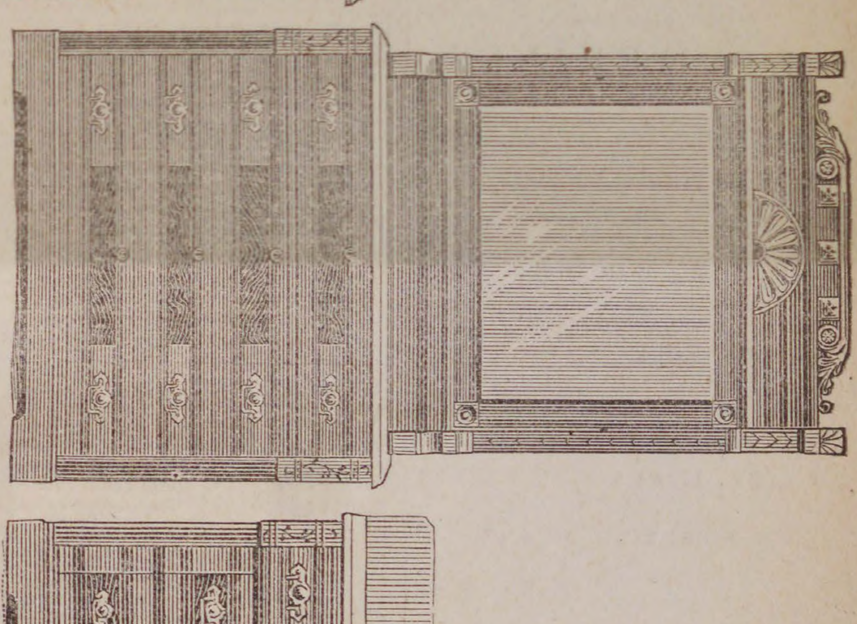
— AT —

MORRISON & TRASK'S,

Walnut Street.

sep 8—1y





ESSEX COUNTY HOUSE FURNISHERS

Largest Stock, Lowest Prices for Cash, and easiest terms on instalments. $1.00 down and $1.00 a week. Nearly an acre of floor room all under one roof, OWNED and OCCUPIED by US alone, which is one of the reasons why we can and do sell cheaper than our competitors. We have the largest and best assortment of PARLOR STOVES and RANGES ever exhibited.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,

123 & 125 PLEASANT & 24 SCHOOL ST., MARBLEHEAD.

293 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

All Horse and Steam Cars stop at our Doors.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List. Please bring the height of your chimney hole so that we may be enabled to make pipe and set up stove without delay.

Mrs. M. A. McNeil,

LADIES'

FANCY GOODS STORE

149 Essex St., Salem.

Special attention given to

Spinal Corsets, Shoulder Braces, Abdominal Supporters, etc.

Also keep constantly on hand the largest variety of Corsets and Children's Waists in Essex County.

And have just received a large line of

INFANTS' & CHILDREN'S DRESSES,

Up to Ten years of age. Please call and examine.

REMEMBER THE NUMBER,

149 ESSEX STREET

A few doors below the Museum.

mch 31—6m

Fall Room Papers.

We offer many special bargains in Room Papers this fall, which parties in need will do well to examine, as they will not last long.

We offer an assortment of 10 and 12 ct. papers for 6 cts a roll.

15 ct. papers for 10 cts. a roll.
25 ct. papers for 15 cts. a roll.

GILT PAPERS 25 & 35 CTS. AND UPWARDS.

Merrill & Mackintire,

216 & 220 Essex St.,

SALEM.

DON'T MISS THIS!

Send for Reduced Price List of ARTIST'S MATERIALS. Please mention this paper and address

EDMANDS' Artist Supply Store,

12 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

t 25—15t

Coal Dealers.

MERRIAM & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD AND COAL

Danversport, Mass.

Kohinoor Coal, Bear Ridge Coal, Sheaokin Coal. Genuine Franklin Coal. Cumberland Coal.

All the best quality. Try them.

For Cash lower than can be bought elsewhere

Orders can be left with B. F. Stevens, Peabody, or by telephone to N. P. Merriam, Tapleyville, and will be promptly attended to.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

WOOD COAL HAY & STRAW

Danversport and Peabody.

Wm. T. Batchelder. Amos Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK. SQUARE.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL

— AT —

PICKERINGS

7 Peabody St., Salem, Mass

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET

WM. PICKERING, JR. & CO.,

Peabody Street

N. O. VERRY,

(Successor to L. B. Hatch.

DEALER IN

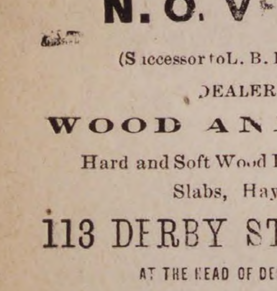
WOOD AND COAL,

Hard and Soft Wood Kindlings, Bark, Slabs, Hay, etc.

113 DERBY ST., SALEM.

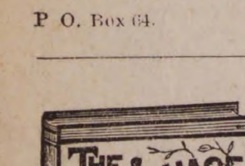
AT THE HEAD OF DERBY WHARF.

P. O. Box 64. Telephone, 444.



THE LANGUAGE OF FLOWERS AND FLIRTING

15 CENTS FOR SAMPLE COPY of THIS BEAUTIFUL BOOK. It gives the LANGUAGE and Sentiment of Every Flower and Shrub, 3000 different kinds. Also all the Known Rules of Flirtation with Glove, Parasol, Handkerchief and Fan. It is the most complete work of the kind ever published. Send Fifteen Cents in stamps for a sample copy, also our price to agents. Agents wanted everywhere. Ad. AMERICAN PUB. CO., 17 North Tenth Street, Philad'a, Pa.



OUR SINGER THIS STYLE $17 15 DAYS' TRIAL. A Full Set of Attachments. WARRANTED 5 Years. Send for Circular. E. C. HOWE & CO., 122 N. 6th St., Phila., Pa.

mch 24

BUSHBY & MACURDY'S

CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS

At $3.00 per dozen are 100 per cent. better than any club-check photographs; and are guaranteed fully equal in

Posing, Lighting, Finish and Permanency

to any $10 cabinets made in Boston or New York.

The largest and best constructed operating studio in New England. 40,000 negatives preserved.

521 Washington St.,

BOSTON.

Elevator from the ground. feb 11—3m

CIGARS!

CIGARS!

CIGARS!

Those desiring to purchase a good Cigars, look at our assortment of Imported and Domestic.

Discount by box.

HAZEN A. SPAULDING

9 ALLEN'S BLOCK.

TRY OUR

JAMAICA GINGER.

THE

EARLIEST FRUIT,

And Best Native and Southern Vegetables, Berries and Fruit,

— AT —

Porter's Market,

3 & 5 Central St., Salem.

may 19—4m

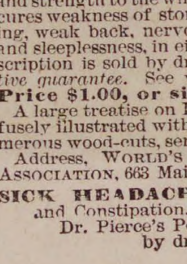
OVER WORKED Women

For "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated school teachers, milliners, seamstresses, housekeepers, and over-worked women generally. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all restorative tonics. It is not a "Cure-all," but admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most potent Specific for all those Chronic Weaknesses and Diseases peculiar to women. It is a powerful, general as well as uterine, tonic and nervine, and imparts vigor and strength to the whole system. It promptly cures weakness of stomach, indigestion, bloating, weak back, nervous prostration, debility and sleeplessness, in either sex. Favorite Prescription is sold by druggists under our positive guarantee. See wrapper around bottle. Price $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

A large treatise on Diseases of Women, profusely illustrated with colored plates and numerous wood-cuts, sent for 10 cents in stamps. Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

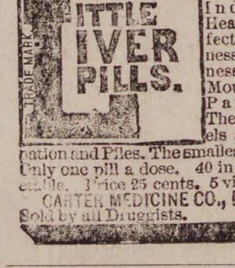
SICK HEADACHE, Bilious Headache, and Constipation, promptly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pellets. 25c. a vial, by druggists.

SICK HEADACHE



Positively Cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. 40 in a vial. Purely Vegetable. Price 25 cents. 5 vials by mail for $1.00. CARTER MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

CATARRH ELY'S



Cream Balm

Gives Relief at once and Cures.

COLD in HEAD

CARTARRH

HAY FEVER

Not a Liquid, Snuff or Powder. Free from Injurious Drugs and Offensive odors.

HAY-FEVER

A particle is applied into each nostril and is agreeable. Price 50 cents at druggists; by mail, registered, 60 cts. Circulars free. ELY BROTHERS, Druggists, Oswego, N. Y.

GRAEFENBERG CATHOLICON

Cures Female Complaints. A Great Kidney Remedy. ☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

feb 3—1y

MEDICAL PASSIVE MOVEMENTS AND MASSAGE.

Drs. Posse and Nordstrom,

Graduated at Stockholm, Sweden. Nervous Diseases, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism and all other chronic diseases, Sprains, etc. 72 Boylston street, Boston, office hours 12-1 and 5 to 6.

sept 29—3 mo

FRENCH'S HOTEL.

CITY HALL SQUARE. NEW YORK.

Opposite City Hall and the Post Office.

This Hotel is one of the most complete in its appointments and furniture of ANY HOUSE in New York City and is conducted on the

EUROPEAN PLAN.

Rooms only One Dollar per day. Half minute's walk from Brooklyn Bridge and Elevated R. R. All lines of cars pass the door. Most convenient H in New York for Merchants to stop at. Do Rooms, Cafes and Lunch Counter replete with the luxuries at moderate prices

---

ONE WILDCAT BY POST.

A Plot by Humorous Citizens of Guntown to Get Rid of a Postmaster.

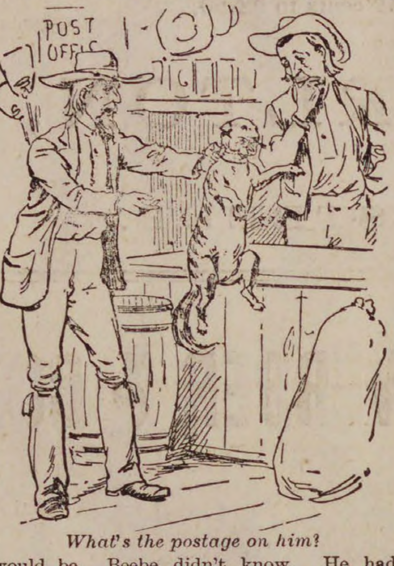
GUNTOWN, N. M., Oct. 8.—The postmaster here died about a year ago, and considerable trouble has been experienced in finding a new one who would be satisfactory and competent. For a long time there was no appointment, the diminutive weekly mail being opened on arrival by the first man who happened to get it. At length the people concluded to petition for the appointment of Sim Duff, who keeps a saloon here. He was a Jackson Democrat, and his standing in the community was good. The only other men in town who had the facilities for keeping the office were another saloon keeper named Fritz and a grocer, who also kept liquor, named Beebe. As the request for Duff's appointment was almost unanimous it was supposed that he would get the place, but after a while Beebe was appointed, as the special agent at Santa Fe explained, because Duff kept a saloon, and it was against the policy of the administration to appoint saloon keepers. That made everybody mad. Beebe had never been popular, was unable to read or write, and was, moreover, a very stupid fellow, not more than half witted, as some people said.

To get even with all hands the citizens held a meeting and put up a job, which was some time in coming to a head. Beebe, in the meantime, had received his commission and was doing his best with the mails. One day last week old Herrick Price, who used to live in Tennessee, drove up in front of Beebe's place, hitched his horses, and yanked a young wildcat out of his wagon. The beast was frisky and ugly, but apparently not dangerous. On his collar was a card bearing the address:

To the President of the United States, from the grateful Democratic citizens of Guntown, N. M.:

A natural curiosity. Democratic from tip to tip. Feed him and treat him gently. He is used to luxury.

Pulling the beast into the postoffice, old man Price asked what the postage on him would be. Beebe didn't know. He had never handled any wildcats before. Well, Price had. He had mailed one to Mr. Arthur, and before his day the boys had sent a bear to Gen. Grant. He wanted to know what the tax would be. Beebe opened a book and pretended to read. Then he looked at the wildcat, and next at Price. At length he stammered out something to the effect that it would probably be about ten stamps. Price bought the stamps, stuck them on the cat's collar, and turned him over to the postmaster, with an injunction to be careful of him.



What's the postage on him?

That afternoon when the mail carrier came along he refused to take the animal. Beebe swore that he should, because the postage had been paid. The driver said he would lick Beebe first, whereupon the postmaster, who was a man of high temper, struck the driver in the face. A fight ensued, and while it was in progress the wildcat got mad and ran into the grocery, where he crawled under a counter. When Beebe and the mail carrier had settled their differences, the former went after the cat, but was soon warned by the animal's demeanor that intimacy with him was not safe. By this time the town was on the outside watching the fun.

The driver and Beebe tried various experiments in the hope of getting the beast out, but without success, until at length they hit upon the plan of putting a big leather mail bag near him with a piece of meat in it, the idea being that he would dash into the bag for the meat and they could then close it quickly and thus have him securely done up for his long journey. The plan worked to perfection, and a few minutes later the crowd in front had the pleasure of seeing the driver and Beebe emerge, carrying the bag containing the compliments of the citizens of Guntown. To simplify matters Beebe had attached to the bag a card on which the mail carrier had written:

1 WILLD CATT INCIDE.
POAST PADE.

When the bag had been deposited in the wagon and the driver had whipped up his horses and vanished, the citizens called on Beebe and congratulated him on his success in his new place. Then all hands went away and awaited developments.

These came to-day, when a special agent arrived, deposed Beebe, and commissioned Duff as postmaster. He said it was a choice of evils, but that in a town like this it was necessary to have a man who knew the difference between fourth class matter and live stock. When the wildcat in the bag reached Santa Fe nobody would touch the beast, and at length, on the advice of citizens, the mail carrier threw the whole outfit into a cistern, from which the bag and the defunct wildcat were fished the next morning. Duff is now doing the honors here for the United States government, and everybody is happy except Beebe.—New York Sun.

The Servant Had Taken the Hint.

At a house in Ohio where a minister was boarding, the servant girl was anxious to anticipate everything in her work that any one wished her to do. She had always "just done it" or was "just doing it" when any order was given. This amused the young divine greatly, and on one occasion he thought to nonplus the girl by a ruse.

"I don't think Eliza has washed my Bible since I have been here," he said to the mistress, in a low tone, but designed to be overheard by the girl.

A few minutes later the mistress said to her in the presence of the clergyman, "Eliza, have you washed Mr. Blank's Bible?"

"No, ma'am; but I've got it asoak."—Harper's Bazar.

Knights of the Bath.

Now, just note the proportion. In Philadelphia, a city of 1,500,000 inhabitants, between June and September 583,000 people patronized the free public baths, and of this number 481,000 were boys. Cleanliness would be next to godliness, indeed, in exceeding rarity in this grimy old world were it not for the boys. (Private to editors—There are not quite 1,500,000 people in Philadelphia, but let it stand; the Philadelphians won't mind it.)—R. J. Burdette.

RED STAR TRADE RED STAR MARK. COUGH CURE

Absolutely Free from Opiates, Emetics and Poison.

SAFE. SURE. PROMPT. 25 Cts.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

ST. JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY For Pain Cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Backache, Headache, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises, etc., etc. PRICE, FIFTY CENTS. AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS. THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

TO CLEAN AND WHITEN THE HANDS USE

INDIAN PASTE.

Contains no Acid or Poisonous Ingredients.

Takes the place of all Soaps, Vitriol, Potash, Soda Ash, and other injurious articles.

Will remove all Grease, Oils, Paints, Inks, Dyes, and every kind of Fruit and Vegetable Stain from the hands.

Put up in Flint Glass Tumblers.

PRICE 10 CENTS.

Sold wholesale and retail by

WM. T. LEE,

26 Main Street, Peabody,

Proprietor of the wonderful medicine,

KENT'S BRONCHIAL REMEDY,

For Throat and Lung Troubles.

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opposite Kilby Boston,

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patents furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE, late Com. of Patents.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: you procured for me, in 1870, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, re-issues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

Boston, January 1, 1886.—1 y

ALLAN LINE

ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIPS

Sailing from Quebec every Saturday for Liverpool.

SHORTEST OCEAN VOYAGE

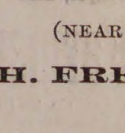
Only five days from land to land.

Extra services from GLASGOW, GALWAY, QUEENSTOWN and LONDONDERRY to Boston direct for the convenience of Steerage passengers, to whom kind treatment is made a Specialty. Cabin, $70 and $80. Intermediate, $40. Steerage at Low Rates.

LEVE & ALDEN, Gen'l Pass. Agts.

15 State Street, Boston.

JOHN LINEHAN, Agt. for Peabody.



Boyden House,

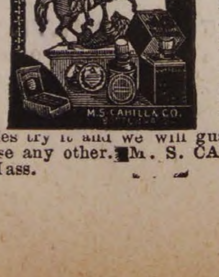
128 1-2 & 132 UNION ST.

(NEAR CENTRAL STATION.)

H. FRENCH, - Prop.,

LYNN, MASS

je 9—1y



ALMA POLISH

For Ladies' and Children's shoes is the only Dressing ever made that will preserve the leather; for French Kid it has no equal. Alma Polish has received the highest reward ever given for a shoe polish and has the endorsement of all the leading shoe dealers in the United States. Ladies try it and we will guarantee you will never use any other. M. S. CAHILL & CO., Boston, Mass.

Saving Institutions.

SALEM

FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS

BANK.

Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,

WILLIAM H. JELLY, President.

CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

WARREN

Five Cents Savings Bank

RUFUS H. BROWN, President.

ALBERT H. MERRILL, Treasurer.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Dividends are payable semi-annually, on the third Wednesday of May and November.

GEORGE STEVENS,

DEALER IN

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY AND CHOICE CIGARS.

STATIONERY TOYS AND FANCY GOODS.

Station of the Lynn and Boston, and Danvers Horse Railroad.

Agent for the Naumkeag Laundry.

THE BEST GOODS AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

Connected by Telephone.

GEO. STEVENS',

CORNER FOSTER & MAIN STS.,

PEABODY SQUARE

Arthur Elliott & Co.,

DEALERS IN

FRESH AND SALT FISH.

Lobster and Fancy Fish in their seasons.

A share of public patronage solicited.

Caller Street,

PEABODY.

CROSS,

PHOTOGRAPHER.

☞ There having been demand or more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

IRA P. NADOR,

DEALER IN

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY.

64 MARKET STREET, LYNN

DR. LEON RIDEOUT,

DENTIST,

Has removed his office to his Residence,

NO. 8 JOHNSON STREET,

Third House from City Hall,

LYNN, MASS.

Hours, 8 to 12; 1 to 5.

Change, for better accommodation of my patron

FOR SALE.

The Tanyard belonging to the Estate of Abel Story, situated at Essex Falls, near Railroad. Plenty of Water. A Rare chance.

Apply to B. F. RAYMOND, ESSEX, MASS.

Express.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at		9 47 A. M
Freight " " at		5 00 P. M
Express " Boston at		3 30 P. M
Freight " " at		4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts &c., Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses

---

ESTES'

SALEM AND PEABODY EXPRESS.

Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., 1.30 P. M.
Leaves Salem at 10.30 A. M., 4.30 P. M.

Order Slates in Peabody, at G. Stevens', G. H. Jacobs', L. Pratt's, B. B. Humphrey's, W. O. Batchelder's.

In Salem at J. V. & J. Hanson & Co's. Roberts Fruit Store, Henry Hale's, E. Heffernan's, J. J. Mullin, F. C. Radford's, C. A. Ropes & Son, Geo A. Wells & Co's., C. M. Buffum's.

Connects with Eastern Express. Also connects with No. Conway, and the Beverly, Ipswich and Marblehead Expresses.

All orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

CHAS. H. ESTES,

FOYE'S

PEABODY & BOSTON EXPRESS.

SUCCESSOR TO TOWNSEND'S.

Boston, Montrose, Lynnfield, So. Peabody, Peabody.

Leave B. & M. Depot, Haymarket Square, at 3.10 P. M.

Leave Depot in Peabody at 9.11 A.M.

Offices in Boston: 32 Court Square and 155 Congress, corner of Franklin street.

THOMAS H. O'KEEFE.

JOBBING AND EXPRESSING

of all kinds promptly attended to.

Persons desiring the removal of furnitue or ashes, rubbish, you can have such work satisfactorily done by leaving orders at G., Stevens', Batchelder's, or addressing Box 545, Peabody.

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Aparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

Dr. F. G. Bates,

DENTIST,

218 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

OVER MERRILL & MACKINTIRE'S,

All Work Warranted.

mch 31—1y

$1

13 WEEKS.

The POLICE GAZETTE will be mailed, securely wrapped, to any address in the United States for 3 months on receipt of

ONE DOLLAR.

Liberal discount allowed to postmasters, agents and clubs. Sample copies mailed free. Address all orders to

RICHARD K. FOX,

FRANKLIN SQUARE, N. Y.

To Advertisers.

A list of 1000 newspapers divided into STATEs and SECTIONS will be sent on application—FREE. To those who want their advertising to pay, we can offer no better medium for thorough and effective work than the various sections of our Select Local List.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.
Newspaper Advertising Bureau,
10 Spruce Street, New York.

SHORTHAND Text-book and Instruction by mail to master it, given by the author of the system for $6. Most popular and easy method. Endorsed by 1000 graduates and professsonl stenographers. Book alone $1. D. L. Scot Browne, 23 Clinton Place, New York, N. Y.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law

194 ESSEX STREET SALEM
Residence 15 Main Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

PEABODY,

And 35 Court St., Boston

FRANK E. FARNHAM,

Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,

ALLEN'S BLOCK Peabody Square

REMOVAL.

B. C. PERKINS,

Counselor at Law,

Has removed to Kinsman's Block,

81 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM

Evening consultations at residence, Peabody.

EUGENE T. McCARTHY,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY.

oct 29—1y

FREDERIC G. PRESTON,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BLOCK.

PEABODY.

CHARLES A. WEARE,

Attorney and Counselor at Law.

ALLEN'S BUILDING,

PEABODY, MASS.

EDWIN B. BALCOM,

Architect and Builder.

Plans, Specifications and Estimates furnished at Short Notice. Contracts Made and Faithfully executed.

Shop on Walnut St. Residence, 78 Washington St.

PEABODY, MASS.

SMOKERS

Having secured a large lot of the very best Tobacco in the market, we feel justified in saying he

MON AMI AND PLANTER

are the Best Havana Cigars in the town of Peabody. We have also the Electric, Harvard and El Sol Cuba brands

FOR A 5C SMOKE

Try the Brunette, it is a good one. The Heart's Ease, Sociable, Purity, Gun Club and E. H. S., are fine goods.

Collins' Cigar Store,

4 Allen's Block.

TOBACCO WHOLESALE & RETAIL.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c., constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

REMOVED TO

No. 241 Essex St.,

PRICE BLOCK,

DANIEL T. SMITH,

Watchmaker.

DRS. KIMBALL & HOWARD

DENTISTS,

157 UNION STREET, LYNN.

(Spinney's Block near Central Station)

Make a specialty of administering the New Vegetable Vapor and extracting teeth. No charge for the Vapor when more than one tooth is extracted at a sitting.

Also are thorough masters of the profession Dentistry, in both mechanical and operative branches. y 7—1y

GO TO

B. F. STEVENS

— FOR —

BANJOS,

ACCORDEONS

HARMONICAS,

And all kinds of musical goods,

The best Violin and Banjo Strings.

AGENT FOR

E. V. EMILIO.

A VALUABLE COMPOUND

— OF —

Bitter Barks and Roots, Combined with Iron and Pure Sherry Wine, called

FERRATED HYGIENIC WINE.

Recommended for Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, General Debility, Nervous Prostration and Lassitude; is especially adapted to delicate ladies.

See that the trade mark

Is stamped on every label. Prepared by

C. H. & J. Price,

SALEM.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

Finest Pianos and Organs.

Pianos, $25 down, then $10 per month. Organs, $5 down, then $5 per month

EVERY INSTRUMENT WARRANTED.

☞ No charge for carting to Peabody.

W. D. BROWN,

76 MARKET STREET,

LYNN.

may 5–3m

WM. M. HILL.

AUCTIONEER, REAL ESTATE

BROKER & APPRAISER.

SALEM,

Offers for Sale at reasonable terms

THE SAUNDERS' ESTATE

MAIN ST., PEABODY.

HAY!

HAY!

HAY!

10 cars arrived to-day for sale cheap. Fancy White Middlings, Bran, Fine Feed, Oat Meal, Ground Oats, Cotton Seed Wheat, Screenings, Barley, Fancy le lin Barley, Oats, Mixed Oats, White Oats, Haxall and St. Louis Flour. Also other kind of feed for Horses and Cows in great variety. Please call and examine our stock and prices before buying elsewhere.

J. V. & J. HANSON

2 & 4 FRONT ST, SALEM.

ALSO AT

Peabody Square & Danvers Iron Works.

Fall and Winter Opening.

Having moved to the new and elegant Store in the

Old Hotel Building

NEXT TO THE POST OFFICE,

And placed on our Counters an ENTIRE NEW STOCK of

FALL AND WINTER GOODS

Embracing all the latest styles in Imported and Domestic Woolens. We are prepared to better accomodate our customers than ever before.

—PRICES THE LOWEST—

AND A PERFECT FIT GUARANTEED.

JAMES HOWLEY,

Merchant Tailor

EXT TO THE POST OFFICE. PEABODY, MASS.

TWICE A DAY

HATHAWAY'S ORIGINAL

—CREAM HOME MADE BREAD—

Hot Morning and Afternoon. Best of goods in our line comprising

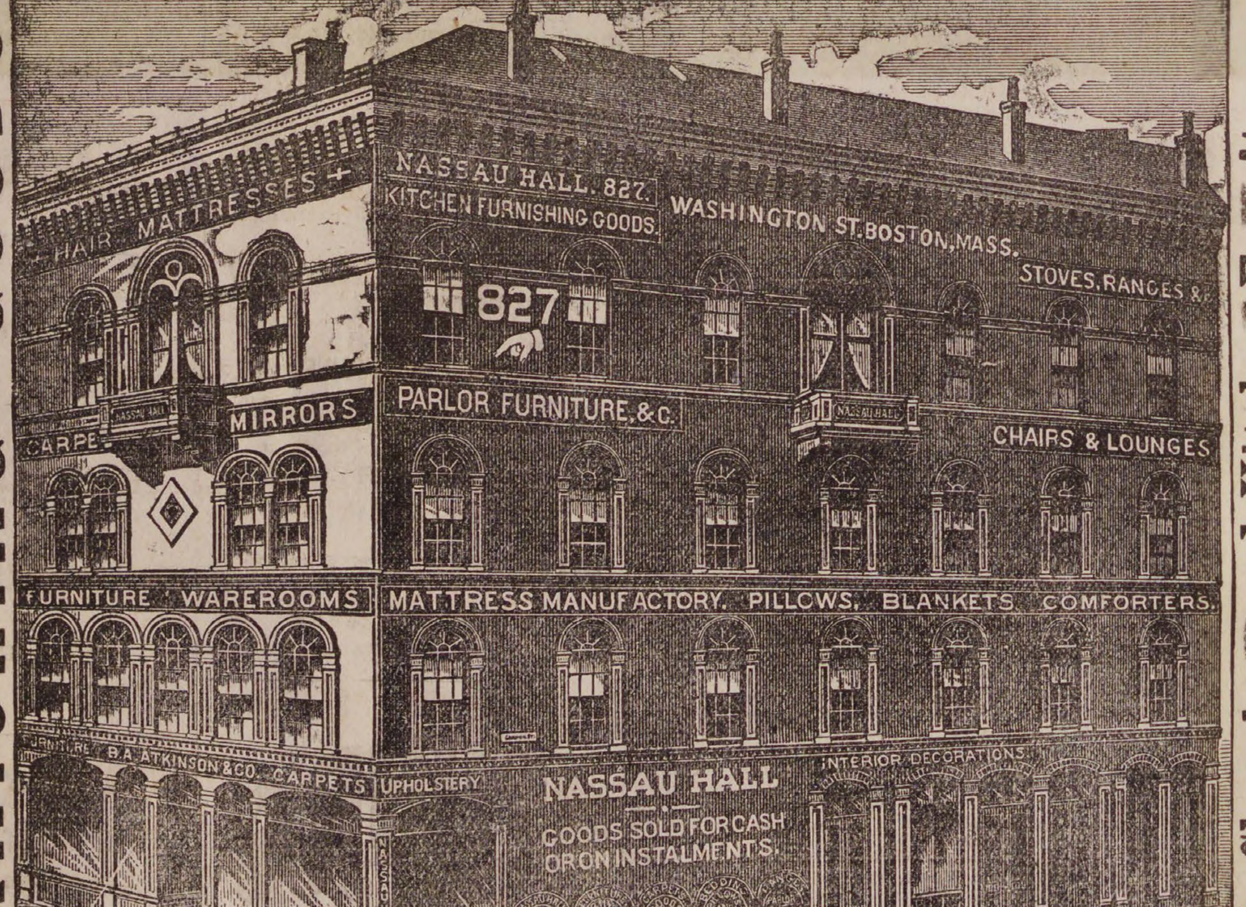
Crackers, Bread, Cake and Pastry,

Also rich ride, Angel and Wedding Cake to order. Fine ornamenta work for Wedding, Birthday and Party Cake a specialty

C. F. Hathaway,

50 LOWELL ST., PEABODY.

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS



HAIR MATTRESSES
NASSAU HALL. 827.
KITCHEN FURNISHING GOODS.
WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON, MASS.
STOVES, RANGES &
827
PARLOR FURNITURE, &c.
MIRRORS
CARPE
CHAIRS & LOUNGES
FURNITURE WAREROOMS
MATTRESS MANUFACTORY. PILLOWS, BLANKETS, COMFORTERS.
B. A. ATKINSON & CO. CARPETS
UPHOLSTERY
INTERIOR DECORATIONS
NASSAU HALL
GOODS SOLD FOR CASH OR ON INSTALMENTS.

Parlor, Chamber and Kitchen Furniture;
MATTRESSES & PILLOWS, STOVES & RANGES,
CARPETS, CROCKERY, GLASS WARE, &C., IN ENDLESS VARIETY.

B. A. ATKINSON & CO.,

ARE OFFERING

UNHEARD-OF BARGAINS in all kinds of Useful HOUSEHOLD GOODS.

Sold for CASH or on INSTALMENTS. GOODS DELIVERED FREE to all DEPOTS in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Parlor, Chamber and Kitchen Furniture.

OUR FIRST BARGAIN IS A

HAIR CLOTH PARLOR SUITE

of seven pieces complete, consisting of two-part back sofa, Large Gents arm chair, Ladies patent noiseless rocker and four large reception chairs. This suite is covered in prime quality of hair cloth, solid black walnut frames, and, one of the greatest bargains in this city at the price, and with this suite we also include a nice marble top black walnut centre table, we sell the whole thing for only $35.00.

We have seventy-five parlor suites covered in best Pawtucket Hair Cloth, consisting of seven pieces complete, with four springs in each parlor chair, a first-class suite for only $45.00.

A beautiful seven piece embossed plush parlor suite. Seven pieces complete in one color or in a combination of colors, only $45.00,

also a full line of parlor suites, covered in all kind of goods at prices that will astonish you.

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE AND PRICE LISTS.

A splendid solid black walnut chamber suite with best Italian marble tops ten pieces complete, french bureau, landscape glass, combination commode, square, solid brass handles and well worth $50 — this suite we will sell for only $35.00.

A solid ash set ten pieces complete for only

$17.00,

also chamber suites in great variety from a pine set at $10 to a mahogany or walnut at $400.

SEND FOR CATALOGUES AND PRICE LISTS.

CARPETS.

The Largest and most complete assortment of any house furnishing Establishment in this city. Our line embraces all kinds and styles of floor covers, from a 14ct. Ingrain Carpet to the best of Velvet.

Ingrains..........................14c. 15c. 20c. 25c. up.
All Wools..................60c. 62 1-2c. 65c. 75c. up.
Tapestries........................60c. 65c. 70c. 75c. up.
Body Brussels..........95c. $1.00, $1.10, $1.25 up.
Velvets...95c. up.

Rugs, Mats, Art Squares, &c.

SEND FOR SAMPLES AND PRICES.

STOVES AND RANGES.

In these we can show the best and largest line in Boston. We sell a single oven range with all the ware and pipe complete for only $14.00, and a hot closet range all ware and pipe complete for only $20.00.

We have a most complete assortment of parlor stoves at rock bottom prices, nearly all of most popular makes in the market at prices from $3.50 to $50.00.

SEND FOR CUTS AND PRICES.

A full line of Crockery comprising dinner and tea-sets, chamber crockery, &c., standing and hanging lamps, clocks, wooden and willow ware &c., shades and draperies in artistic designs and made to order.

☞ We are the Largest House Furnishing establishment in New England, embracing, as we do, each and every article that goes to furnish a well-equipped house, all under one roof, the Great Nassau Hall Building. All kinds of Goods sold for Cash or on our Special Contract system. All Goods Delivered Free to any Depot in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

B. A. ATKINSON & CO., 827 Washington Street.

COR. COMMON ST., two Squares South of Kneeland and Eliot Sts., BOSTON, MASS.

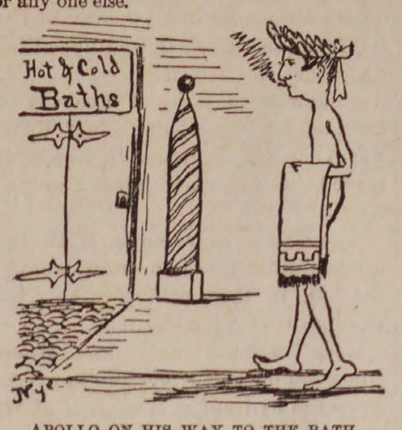
COR. PEARL AND MIDDLE STS., PORTLAND, ME.

APPOLLO BELVIDERE.

Bill Nye Attempts Classic Art—A Towel That Was an Inspiration.

I have taken the liberty to present herewith a marine view of Apollo on his way to the bath rooms at Belvidere. He is accompanied by a crash towel. When he took his bath, he had nothing to do but to remove his laurel wreath and hang it on a nail.

I hope that the art critic will not criticise this picture too closely. It is not prepared for a close scrutiny on the part of the student or any one else.



APOLLO ON HIS WAY TO THE BATH.

I think, however, that the towel was an inspiration on my part, and those who have seen the picture say they are very glad I thought about it.

Apollo was the god of light, also of poetry, music, archery and lawn tennis. He was greatly loved by the Greeks for his poetry, his violin solos and his economy and simplicity in dress. A good, durable laurel wreath would last him the year round.

But it mortified him to be driven from his apartments by the shrill cry of "fire," and to find when he reached the street that he had forgotten his wreath.

Apollo was also recognized as the author of the healing art and the god of prophetic inspiration, as especially manifested in the oracle at Delphi, Ind.

He was greatly beloved by everybody but the clothing men. Many of them came and offered him Waterbury watches of great value if he would come and trade with them, but he said "No."

"If I wear clothes," said he, "other poets will get above their business and want clothes. It is better as it is."

He then twanged his lyre and burst forth into song.—Bill Nye in Chicago Rambler.

It Altered the Case.

"Made an arrest, did you?" inquired a citizen, as he halted beside an officer on Howard street who was watching the patrol wagon on its way up the street.

"Yes, sir."

"Serious charge?"

"He was disturbing the peace."

"Ah! good thing you took him in. There's altogether too many rowdies around. Did he bite your hand?"

"Yes, sir."

"You ought to have used your club on him in return. I have often asserted that you policemen don't defend yourselves as you should. If I was an officer and a ruffian bit me I'd break his head for him. Did you learn his name?"

"He gave it as James Blank."

"No! Young man with a check suit and dark hat?"

"Yes."

"He is my son! So you arrested him, did you? Officer, I'll take your number and if I don't get you off the force within a month my name is mud! You police have taken altogether too many privileges to yourselves and it's high time some one came to the front and sat down on you. Arrested my son, eh? You prepare yourself to hear something drop."—Detroit Free Press.

Dividing the Estate.

"Ah, good morning Mr. Skineur," remarked Lawyer Fleecem as he met his fellow lawyer on the street. "I hear old Richfield died last night."

"Yes," responded the other; "I am the attorney for his daughter, and I'm just going up to see her."

"Indeed! Well, I'm the attorney for his son. Can't we make a little something out of this?"

Lawyer Skineur stroked his chin reflectively.

"I think we might," he said. "I'll advise Miss Richfield to contest the will. I'll tell her that her brother has no right to half the estate, and that if she will only go to court she might as well have it all."

"Um—yes; and I'll defend it for her brother. But suppose I am defeated?"

"Then appeal it."

"And if you're defeated?"

"Why, I'll appeal it."

"But when it gets to the highest court?"

"Oh, well; we'll have the estate ourselves, then, and we'll divide it."—Chicago Rambler.

Selected Morsels.

Grocer—I've called with that little bill, Mrs. Short. Mrs. Short—Oh, I'm so sorry; my husband has gone to Coney Island, and won't return for a week— (Hoarse whisper from the next room)—Make it a month, Sarah, make it a month.

A little boy wanted to stay home from school, and knew his mother wouldn't let him unless he was sick. So his mother said, "Why, my little man, are you sick this morning?" The little man not knowing a whole vocabulary of ailments to select one from, on the spur of the moment said, "Yes, ma'am; my teeth itch."—Accident News.

Clairvoyant—You will marry a coachman and get your name in all the papers. Visitor—Humph. Clairvoyant—Well, that's the best I can do for a quarter. Make it forty cents and you will be the happy wife of a rich congressman. I'm giving you the same rates I give regular customers.—Tid Bits.

A Lesson in Table Manners.

It was a country Sunday school picnic, where great quantities of the regulation eatables, chiefly apple pies, had been brought for the children to eat. Little Mary Jane, from away back in the hills, was there, and with her mother, who kept an eye on the child constantly to see that her behavior was perfect. Presently Mary Jane was observed digging into an apple pie with her knife; whereupon her mother spoke up: "Mary Jane Beals!" "What, ma'am?" "What be you a-doing?" "Eatin' pie, ma'am." "What be you a-eatin' it with?" "Knife!" "So you be! Now what have I told you about eatin' pie with your knife, Mary Jane? Take that pie up in your hand and eat it as you'd ought to!"—Boston Record.

Joys and Sorrows of Journalism.

The Aurora (Ills.) Blade boasts over the fact that while only five years ago it started with three regular subscribers and one fellow who said he would talk with his wife about it, now the subscription book is running over with names, and the editor is compelled to chalk the balance down on the back of the stove pipe.

A Terrible Warning.

It has been predicted that tight lacing will in time produce a red nose.—Town Topics.

Facetiæ.

"I have ventured," he said, "to buy this diamond ring, fondly hoping that you would allow me to slip it on your finger as a token of our engagement."

"I am very sorry, Mr. Smith, but you are too late—I am already engaged; but if you will have it altered to fit my little finger, I will shower upon you the wealth of a sister's affection."

NO TIME TO BE LOST.

Telegraph operator (reading message)—What's this? "Will marry you whenever you wish?"

Aged spinster—Yes, do you think it too forward? It's my first offer, and I'm afraid he'll get away.

A GENTLEMAN BY COMPARISON.

Irate Mrs. Murphy (who has just fallen, to sympathetic lady)—Bless yer dear kind sowl, mum, yer more av a gintleman than thim felleys, wid all ther foine clothes, fur shure they niver so much as offered to help me up.

SUSCEPTIBLE TO PROOF.

Brown—Deacon Smith is reporting about town, Robinson, that you were out gunning last Sunday.

Robinson—Well Deacon Smith will get himself in trouble if he doesn't look out. It's a mistake.

Brown—I'm glad to hear you say so, Robinson. I didn't think you were a man to go gunning on Sunday.

Robinson (emphatically)—No, sir, I did not go gunning last Sunday, and, if necessary, I've got the fish to prove it."

A GOOD SCHEME.

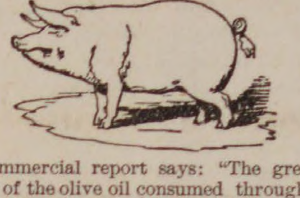
Brown—Did you go for a vacation this summer, Smith?

Smith—Oh, yes.

Brown—How did you manage your business affairs?

Smith—I took my advertisement out of the papers until I returned, so there wasn't any business to manage. Great scheme, eh?—Harper's Bazar.

The American Olive.



A commercial report says: "The greater portion of the olive oil consumed throughout the world is manufactured out of Cincinnati lard."—Life.

Queer Wrinkles.

Mother—Are you going to take Bobby to the circus this afternoon?

Father—No, these circuses are all nonsense. He will be better off for not going.

Mother—The poor little fellow will be disappointed. But what makes you so late to dinner, dear?

Father—I have been down at the depot watching them take the elephants off the train.

RENEWED INTEREST.

Husband—You know that pretty Mrs. F.

Wife—For goodness sake, John, don't talk about that pretty Mrs. F. I can't go anywhere without hearing her praises sounded, until I am sick to death at the sound of her name.

Husband—I was only going to tell you of a rumor I heard about her to-day.

Wife—A rumor? Oh, John, tell me all about it; that's a good soul.

FAMILIAR WITH HUMAN NATURE.

"I suppose," said Dumley, after he had registered, to the hotel clerk, "that when a guest has no baggage his personal appearance has more or less to do with making him pay in advance."

"Oh, yes," replied the clerk. "In this business we soon learn to size a man up. Will you have your trunk sent to your room, Mr.—er—Dumley?"

"No, I haven't any baggage. I only expect to be in town a day or so."

"Four dollars, please."—New York Sun.

Select Morsels.

College Student—You saw the Apennines, I hear, when you were abroad, Miss Modern. Miss Modern—Oh, yes! it was a treat, too. College Student—Did they play better than the Detroits, Miss Modern?

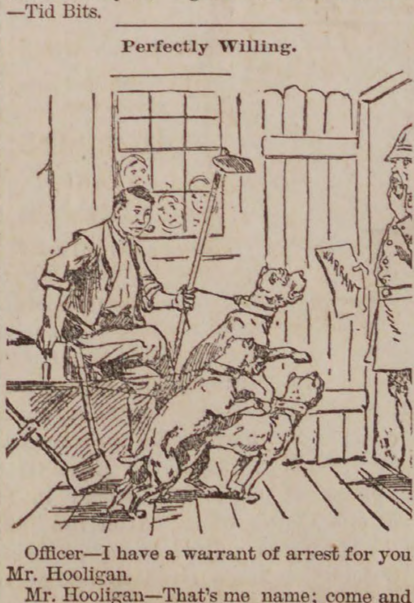
IN DEMAND IN CHARLESTON.

"Gimme four Bibles and a couple of prayer books in a hurry," said a customer in a Charleston book store. "Can't do it; all sold out since the first shock."

WHAT SHE WAS COMING TO.

Spriggs—How much older is your sister than you, Johnny? Johnny—I dunno. Maud uster be 25 years, then she was 20, and now she ain't only 18. I guess we'll soon be twins.—Tid Bits.

Perfectly Willing.



Officer—I have a warrant of arrest for you Mr. Hooligan.

Mr. Hooligan—That's me name; come and take me. The saints forbid that I should interfere wid the coorse of justice.—The Judge.

Conclusive Evidence.

"You needn't talk prohybition to me," said old Uncle Abele Bimley with an oracular shake of his head; "I know better. There I hed as four of the likeliest girls as the Corners ever see, an' all the fellers for miles around a-hookin' up to 'em. Wot did I do? W'y, yelled an' prohibited an' kicked an' prohibited an' chased fellers all over my forty-acre lot, and wot's the result? W'y ev'ry one o' them girls is married and bringin' up the likeliest fam'lies in these parts. Does prohybition prohibit! Not by a jugful."—Rockland Courier-Gazette.

Not Worth Much.

During the recent election in Pulaski county, Arkansaw, one of the township ballot boxes, when brought to the county clerk's office, was found to be empty.

"How is this?" asked the clerk.

"How's what?" the man who had brought the box replied.

"Why, there are no ballots in the box."

"They told me to bring the box," the fellow replied. "Didn't say nothin' about the tickets."—Arkansaw Traveler.

An Envious Editor.

Mary Anderson is going to Killarney to kiss the blarney stone. Happy blarney stone.—Burlington Free Press.

Conveyances.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD On and after Monday, June 28. 1889 trains will run as follows,—

EASTERN DIVISION,

TRAINS LEAVE PEABODY FOR BOSTON AT 3 44. 7 25, 8 02, 8 33, 10 33, A. M , 1 55, 3 2., 5 08, 6 47 P. M.

BOSTON FOR PEABODY, 6 10, 8, 10 55 A. M., 12 M., 3, 4, 4 40, 5 15, 6 P. M. Sunday, 9 27, A. M. Return 5 45 P. M.

LEAVE SALEM FOR

Lynn and Boston at 5 37, 6, 6.30, 7, 7 14, 7 35, 7 48 7 51, 8 13, 8 34, does not stop at Lynn, 8 43, 8 58, 9 25, 9 55, 10.48 A M., 12 M., 12 30, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 12, 3 35, 4 05 4 21, 5 18, 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 8 55, 9, 9 53 P.M. Sundays, 5.37 8 45, 9 35, 10 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3 ,5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Swampscott, 6, 6 30, 7 14, 7.48. 7 51, 8 43, 8 58, 10 48 A. M.. 12 M, 12 46, 1 15, 2 06, 3 35, 4 21, 5 18. 5 43, 6 33, 7 02, 7 27, 7 57, 9, 9 53, P. M. Sundays, 8 45. 9 35, 11 45, 11 35 A. M., 1 05, 3, 5 40, 8 05, 9 17 P. M.

Beverly, 6 53, 8 13, 8 45, 10 44, 11 20 A. M., 12 02, 1 05, 2 27, 2 47, 3 56. 4 05, 5 12, 5 35. 5 57, 6 36, 7 05, 7 15, 7 45, 10 10, P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M. 2 10, 7 17, 8 07 P. M

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—6 53. 8 45, 11 20 A. M., 2 47, 4 05, 5 35, 7 05, 7 45, 10 10 P. M Sunday, 7 17 P.M.

Essex, 8 13 A. M.. 1 05, 3 56, 6 36 P. M.

Ipswich, 8 13. 9 35, 10 44 A, M., 1 05, 2 27, 3 57, 5 12 6 36. 7 15 P. M, Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30P. M

Newburyport, 8 13, 9 35, 10 00, 10 44 A.M. 1 05, 2 02 2 27, 3 56. 5 12, 6 36, 7 15 P. M. Sundays 9 05 A. M., 7 30 P. M.

AndFOR SALEM—from

Newburyport—4 45. 6 30, 7, 8, 8 13. 9 07, 11 40 A.M 2 35. 3 30, 3 35, 5 43. 7 20, 8 15 P. M. Sundays, 4 45 A. M., 4 45 P. M.

Ipswich—5 07, 6 48, 7 17. 8 15, 8 31, 9 25, A. M. 12 02 3 53, 6 06, 7 26, 8 32 P. M. Sundays 5 07 A.M.. 5 06 P. M.

Essex—7, A. M., 12 05 5 40 P. M.

Rockport -6 05, 7 20, 8 35, 10 A. M., 1 15, 4 55, 6 40 9 P.M. Sundays—7 50, 9 55 A. M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 29, 8 44, 10 08 A M, 1 25, 5 03 6 48, 9 09 P M. Sundays—8, 10 03A. M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 42, 8 56, 10 21 A. M., 1 39, 5 17, 7 01, 9 23 P. M. Sundays, 8 14, 10 16 A. M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 05, 7 40, 8 05. 8 50. 9 16, 9 45, 10 40 A. M., 12 21, 12 40, 1 58. 4 13, 5 35, 6 25, 6 50, 7 20, 7 50, 9 43 P, M. Sundays 8 35 10 35 A. M. 2 52, 5 30, 9 10 P. M.

Swampscott,—6 44, 8 50, 10 36, 11 26, 11 54 A. M., 12 36. 2 19, 3 28. 4 31, 6 20, 6 56, 8 32, 10. 10 49, 11 49 P. M. Sundays 8 56, 11 12 A.M., 2 02, 5 52, 6 27, 7 09, 7 59 10 12 P. M.

Lynn—6 40. 8 02. 8 35, 8 46, 9 10, 9 25, 9 51, 10 32, 11 10, 11 23, 11 51, A. M,. 12 33, 12 55. 1 52, 2 15, 3 25, 3 45, 3 55, 4 28, 5 03, 5 24, 5 45. 6 16, 6 25. 6 52. 7 05, 7 35. 8 27, 9 57, 10 45, 11 45 P.M. Sundays 8 52. 11 07 A, M , 1 57, 5 48, 6 24, 7 05, 7 54 10 07, P. M.

Boston—6 10, 7 30, 8, 8 10, 8 45, 9, 9 30, 10. 10 45 10 55, 11 15. A. M, 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 40, 2 15 3, 3 20, 3 30, 4 4 40, 5, 5 15, 5 40, 6, 6 20, 6 40 7 10, 7 50, 9 20, 10 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays, 8 20 10 30 A. M, 1 20. 5 10, 5 45, 6 25, 7, 7 15.9 30 P.M

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH

Salem for Marblehead—6 50, 7 55, 8 40, 9 30 10 50 A M. 1 05, 2 30, 4 20, 5 15, 5 55, 7 20 10 on Saturdays P M. Sundays, 9 10, A. M. 2 15, 7 20, 9 15 P. M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 30, 8 15. 9 10, 10 15 A M, 12 45. 2 3 25, 4 55, 5 40, 6 20, 7 45 on Saturday, P M. Sundays, 8 30, A. M., 12 50, 5 25, 8 45 P. M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH

Trains leave the South Reading Depot in Salem for Boston, 7 35, 8 53, 10 15 A. M., 1 52, 4 48 P. M.

Boston for Salem—7 40, 11 30 A M, 3 21, 4 15, 5 55 P. M

Wakefield for Salem—8 12 A M, 12 05, 3 55, 4 39, 6 09 P. M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 21 A M, 12 14, 4 05, 4 46, 6 18 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 28 A M, 12 22, 4 12, 4 53, 6 26 P. M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH

Salem for Lowell—7 A. M., 4 43, 6 P. M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Lawrence—7 09, 11 35 AM, 4 43, 6 P M, Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Middleton—6 15, 7, 8 58, 11 35 A M, 3 37, 4 43, 6 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Salem for Danvers—6 15, 7, 7 28, 8 58, 11 35 A M 12 47, 3 37, 4 43, 5 20, 6, 6 42 P M. Sundays 6 35 P M

Lowell for Salem—7 10, 9 35 A. M., 12 15, 5 10 P. M Sundays 8 A M

Lawrence for Salem—7 40, 10 12 A M, 1 02. 5 58 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M

Middleton for Salem—7, 8 09, 10 10, 10 45 A M, 1 30, 4 45, 6 22, P M. Sundays 9 02 A M

Danvers for Salem—6 37, 7 15, 8 2, 8 23, 10 25, 11 A. M. 1 46, 3 20, 5, 5 50, 6 38, P M. Sundays 9 18 A M

Peabody for Salem—6 44, 7 25, 8 02. 8 33, 10 33, 11 07 A M, 1 55. 3 27, 5 08, 5 58, 6 47 P M. Sundays 9 27 A M

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.
Boston Je. 28. 1885.

NEW YORK & NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD.

Shorter by twenty miles than any other Line between Boston and New York.

Now a Double Track Road to a Connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, West of Willimantic.

LEAVE BOSTON.

8.30 A. M. *DAY EXPRESS TRAIN for New York (via Middletown and New Haven); Pullman Cars Boston to New York. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain Waterbury, Danbury and Fishkill landing.

3.00 P. M. †NEW ENGLAND LIMITED for New York (via Air Line Route) running 86 miles without a stop. Due Grand Central Depot, New York, at 9.00 P. M. Connects week days at Willimantic with train for Hartford, New Britain and Waterbury.

3.30 P. M. *AFTERNOON MAIL for New York, (via Middletown and New Haven), due New York 11.35 P. M. A part of this train runs through to Hartford, New Britain and Bristol.

6.30 P. M. †PHILADELPHIA EXPRESS for Hartford, New Haven. Jersey City, Trenton Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, connecting for Richmond and points South. Through Pullman cars to Washington.

6.30 P. M. *NORWICH LINE EXPRESS for New York, New London, Norwich, Danielsonville and Putnam. Train connects at New London with Steamer City of Worcester, or City of New York.

* On week days.
† Week days and Sundays.

Seats in Parlor Cars, Berths in Pullman Cars, State-rooms on Steamers, Tickets and information obtained at Office, 322 Washington St. for Depot, foot of Summer St.

BOSTON,
A. C. KENDALL, Gen' Pass. Agt.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH & LYNN R.R. FALL & WINTER TIME-TABLE,

September 20, 1886.

Leave Boston at 6.50, 7.30, 8, 8.30, 9, 10, 11 A.M 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 3.30, 4, (Express) 4.30, (Express) 5 (Express), 5.30, 6, (Express) §6.30, 7.30, 8, 9.30, 10.20, 11.15 P. M

Leave Lynn at §6.10, 6.50, 7 (Express) 7.30 (Express), 8 (Express), 8.30 (Express) 9, 10, 11 A. M. 12 M.; 1, 2, 2.45, 3.15, 3.45, 4.15, 4.45, 5.15, 5.45, 6.45, 7.15, 8.45, 9.15, 10.15 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9, 10, 11 A. M.; 12 M.; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.15 P. M.

§ Workingmen's train.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. C. A. HAMMOND Supt

OLD MAGAZINES WANTED.

Will take old Harper's, Scribner's, St. Nicholas or Century Magazines of any date whatever in exchange for Book Binding, Card Albums or Cash.

H. A. BROOKS,

BOOK BINDER,

224 Essex St., Salem, Mass.

MUSICAL NOTES.

We are glad to note the encouraging and timely words of the press in Beverly, Danvers and Marblehead in favor of the Salem Oratorio Society for the coming winter. The Society deserves all such encouraging words. It deserves more. It deserves the support, by membership, of a large number of musical people in the towns surrounding Salem. All who are qualified to become members must receive gain and help in musical education by the study of such works as are to be given by the Society this winter. The lines of horse-cars now surrounding Salem leave no reason for declining to participate in the benefits of this organization. In all human probability, the opportunities for the study of Oratorio under the leadership of the veteran Carl Zerrahn are growing less year by year. Who will succeed him, is a question which cannot help suggesting itself to those who mark carefully the note of time. We hope it will be many years before that question will have to be answered.

Membership tickets and books for the Oratorio are to be obtained of E. V. Emilio, and it is also worthy of mention that Mr. Emilio's line of musical merchandise is carefully selected, and can be obtained promptly and reasonably at his store. He is also one of the best, if not the best, piano tuner in this vicinity, which our readers will do well to remember when their pianos need his services.

The gospel praise services at the South Church in Salem, Sunday evenings, are a grand success, as was to be expected. The singing is mostly congregational, with now and then a solo selection. Last Sunday Mrs. E. R. Bigelow rendered " My Ain Countree." Gen. John L. Swift is expected to speak next Sunday evening.

Prof. D. B. Hagar, of Salem, was on Saturday elected President of the New England Public School Music Teachers' Association.

A Normal Music School is advertised in Boston, of which J. B. Sharland is director. Among the instructors are mentioned Dr. Luther W. Mason and Prof. C. R. Bill.

Mrs. Norman McLeod gave a charming musicale at her residence, West Newton street, on Friday evening, in honor of her guest, Miss Eliot, of San Francisco. Songs by Mr. McLeod, Mr. A. T. Arnold and Miss Charlotte Osgood were finely rendered, the artists being gracefully accompanied by Mr. Leon Keach. A duet by Miss Eliot and Mr. McLeod from the "Flying Dutchman" won great applause from the critical company assembled. Miss Eliot has added to her rich and powerful voice a good deal of dramatic ability which makes her singing specially attractive. —Boston Globe.

Miss Eliot is to be heard in Salem next month in Academy Hall.

The musical Herald (Boston, $1 a year) for October has the usual full complement of entertaining and instructive reading matter, and for music "Listen to the Harvest Song," by A. G.; "Gipsies' Woodland Home," words by Mrs. Dodds, music by J. Young; and "I heard the Voice of Jesus," arranged by David Roberts and dedicated to Marie Louise Bigelow Tyler.

An entertainment by Danvers Lodge A. O. U. W. is to be given in Peabody Institute of that place, next Wednesday evening, when the Mendelssohn Ladies Quartette and Miss Holmes, reader, will appear.

The press of the different localities where the Salem Cadet Band appears are very complimentary in their notices of that organization. We learn that a series of orchestral concerts, similar to those of last year, will be given in Academy Hall, by the Band, during the coming winter.

The Southeastern Mass. Musical Convention is being held in Taunton, Mass., beginning to-day. The Stabat Mater of Rossini is to be given to-morrow and the Elijah Friday evening. The Old Colony R. R. are selling excursion tickets at half fare.

The Salem Schubert Club will begin its rehearsals for the season Wednesday evening, Nov. 3d, in Plummer Hall. The Club has returned to its first love and will be under the direction of William J. Winch. It is understood that the concerts will be given in Academy Hall, which will certainly be a great improvement. It will accommodate more people, and more conveniently. Its acoustic properties, also, are better.

During the absence of Prof. Bill Dr. Luther W. Mason has been filling his place as instructor of Music in our public schools. The committee has been fortunate in securing his services which we understand were offered to the committee, to help Mr. Bill, and with the additional incentive of the possible introduction of his new charts into the schools. Dr. Mason has now received an offer from Louisville, Ky., to take charge of the music in the schools there, where he had been formerly engaged. He is, therefore, no stranger to the Louisville people, and furthermore it was his intention on account of his health to visit the South this winter. He will enter upon his new duties at once, and our schools will be without an instructor of music. Dr. Mason has been doing some excellent work during his short stay here. It was due to his efforts that the teaching of music in the schools of Boston was extended from the two higher classes to the lowest grades. He is an enthusiast upon the singing of children, and very young children, in the public schools, and with the assistance of his violin he is able to make the younger classes do almost anything he wills. It is a matter of regret that we cannot always have a teacher like him in our schools.

At the opening of the new hall in Thomas' block by the Baptist Society, an Old Folks' Concert is to be given under the direction of Eri Littlefield.

SPARKS.

Tomorrow is the day that the firemen of Peabody have been looking forward to for the last 12 or 13 years, and if nothing occurs to prevent, the first annual parade of the Peabody Fire Department since its reorganization in 1882 will take place. The committees having the matter in charge have worked hard during the time since the matter of a parade was first agitated, and receiving a liberal response from the citizens on the subject of funds to carry out the parade, the affair will be put through, successfully it is hoped. The arrangements are now all complete and at 12 o'clock Thursday noon the companies with their apparatus will report on Chestnut street, where the line will be formed with the right resting on Lowell street, ready to march promptly at 1 o'clock, when a single stroke of the fire alarm will be given. The line will form as follows:

Platoon of Police under Chief Peasley.
Chief Engineer Buxton and Assistants.
Salem Brass Band, 25 pieces—R L Reinewald, Leader.
Gen Sutton S F E Co No 1, 16 men—Foreman William H Joll.
Gen. Sutton Steam Fire Engine.
Excelsior S F E Co No 2, 16 men—Foreman John F Morland.
Excelsior Steam Fire Engine.
Abel Proctor H & L Co No 1, 17 men—Foreman Joseph H Miller.
Abel Proctor H & L Truck.
Eagle Hose Co No 1, 14 men—Foreman Fred B Thomas.
Eagle Hose Carriage No 1.
Lynn Brass Band, 26 pieces—C H Ward, Leader.
Gen Foster Hose Co No 2, 14 men—Foreman George O Pierce.
Gen Foster Hose Carriage No 2.
Torrent Hose Co No 3, 13 men—Foreman Charles H Hooper.
Torrent Hose Carriage No 3.
Volunteer Hose Co No 4, 13 men—Foreman John H. Moreland.
Volunteer Hose Carriage No 4.
Amesbury Drum Corps, 12 men.
Fearless Hose Co No 3, Amesbury, 20 men.
Fearless Hose Carriage No 3.
S C Bancroft Hose Co No 5, 13 men—Foreman Walter Curtis.
S C Bancroft Hose Wagon No 5.
Supply Wagon.

Chief Buxton and Assistants will inspect the companies and apparatus, after which the line of march will be taken up over the following route: Up Lowell to Forrest street, countermarch Lowell to Endicott street, through Endicott, Central, Tremont, Wallis, Elm, Central, Main, Pierpont, Sewall, Holten, Aborn, Washington to house of Hose 5, countermarch Washington to Main to the Central Station on Lowell street and dismiss for the trials which will take place on Foster street. A band concert will be given by the consolidated bands on the Square directly after the parade. The H. & L. will start from Oak street at the tap of the fire alarm, and run to Blaney's block, put up a ladder and put a man on the roof. The next in order will be Steamer 2, which will start from Oak street, lighting fires at the signal to start, run to the fountain in front of T. E. Wilson's machine shop, set and get up steam, lay 150 feet of hose, put men with pipe on roof of Blaney's block, and force water through the hose. Hose 1, 3, 5, 2 and 4 will then make the start from Oak street, run to the hydrant in front of the old police station, lay 150 feet of hose, attach to hydrant, put on pipe and a man on the roof of Blaney's building and let the water through the hose. Not less than three men besides the driver will ride on the carriages. Steamer No. 1 will make the same trial as Steamer 2, after the Hose trials. Competent judges will attend to the details of the trials. After the trials the apparatus will be housed, and at 6 o'clock the firemen and invited guests will march to the Town Hall, where Harvey Blunt of Boston will supply the inner man. Invited guests will meet at the Central Station on Lowell street at 5.30 o'clock.

Abel Proctor H. & L. Company will hold a skating and dancing party at the skating rink in the evening after the parade. Skating from 7.30 to 10; dancing from 10 to 12.30 o'clock. Tickets 25 cents, for sale by members, and at the door.

The members of Abel Proctor H. & L. No. 1, visited their brother member Albert A. Carleton and his bride at their home on Endicott street last Wednesday evening, and in the course of the evening Foreman J. H. Miller presented the young couple with a very handsome French plate glass mirror and half a dozen solid silver teaspoons. The evening was pleasantly passed. Mr. and Mrs. Carleton were also the recipients of a fine parlor stove and a black walnut umbrella stand and hat rack, the same evening, the donors being the employes of the Salem and Danvers road who came down in a special car about midnight.

The hose carriage of Hose 2 has just been converted from a hand carriage to a horse carriage. It has been in Dole & Osgood's works for the past week and has had shafts, seat and footboard added, and makes one of the best carriages in the service now.

Fearless Hose 3 of Amesbury, with 20 men and a drum corps, will take part in the parade to-morrow, as guests of Hose 4. Their carriage will be shipped from Amesbury this afternoon.

Quite a large party of Peabody firemen, among them being Chief Buxton and Assistant Engineer Southwick, attended the firemen's muster in Lawrence.

Last Wednesday some of the boys stopped until the late train, taking in the ball in the evening in City Hall. They all report a good time.

Hose 1 was out for a drill Monday afternoon on Oak street and in shutting down the hydrant at the corner of Winter and Oak streets the main near Washington street was burst. The H. & L. put up the Bangor Ladder on Blaney's block on Foster street the same afternoon, and in taking it down one of the supporting poles was broken.

Ira A. Burnham, a well-known ex-fireman of Peabody, got up the score cards in Lawrence last Wednesday and sold several hundred.

* * *

Sixteen years ago, or thereabouts, W. H. H. Murray lectured in Peabody Institute, in the free course. His theme was the "Adirondacks" and his thrilling and vivid descriptions have not passed from the memory of those who heard him. Many of our readers are familiar—in fact there are few who are not familiar with the varying vicissitudes of his life since that time. His reappearance on the lecture platform in this vicinity a few weeks ago, in Boston, was watched with interest. That interest became enthusiasm after the first night. His power of description is none the less vivid after these many years. He appears not as a preacher, but simply as a reader from his own works. But those readings are a sermon in themselves. Arrangements have been made, at considerable expense, for his appearance in the Peabody Institute next Tuesday evening. He will read 1st, "Climbing Whiteface," which is the closing passage of his old Adirondack lecture, which was delivered by him over five hundred times, and which won for him the nom de plume of Adirondack Murray. 2d, 'The Ball," in which occurs the famous description of the Lad's Violin and which caused Old Bull to exclaim, "here is the man who has written the best description of violin playing ever written, although he cannot play a note on one himself." 3d, "The Burning Steamer." Of this selection a prominent journal has said: "The terrible scene of the Burning Steamer and the grand heroism of the lad, the old trapper's companion, who willingly gave his own life to save the hundreds on board from an awful death, with the final touching and pathetic scene at his deathbed, made subjects for a composition and rendering that were inimitably effective." 4th, " How Deacon Tubman and Parson Whitney celebrated New Year." All lovers of fast horses will be interested in Mr. Murray's description of the good deacon's horse "Old Jack," and his race with the "Cracks" of the village. Tickets for this entertainment will be on sale at Grosvenor's Friday morning. The entire floor of the Institute will be reserved at 35 cents, and if the attendance equals that in all other places in which he has appeared, every seat will be sold. We advise an early application for seats.

* * *

The Essex County republican Convention was held last Thursday in Salem, at Lyceum Hall. Dr. Geo. B. Loring was elected chairman and a long list of vice presidents, including Dr. C. C. Pike from this town. Sheriff H. G. Herrick and Clerk of Courts Dean Peabody, were renominated by acclamation. For District Attorney the ballot was as follows: Whole number, 238; W. H. Moody, 144; C. A. Sayward, 77; Henry F. Hurlburt, 17. Mr. Moody was declared the nominee. For County Commissioner several ballots were taken. The candidates were David W. Low, of Gloucester, Zachariah Graves, of Lynn, Calvin Rea, of No. Andover, W. H. Coates, of Marblehead, and C. C. Dame, of Newburyport. Mr. Graves led on the first ballot but Mr. Low seemed to be the preference of the delegates and the result of the last ballot which nominated Mr. Low was as follows: David W. Low, 152; Zachariah Graves, 70; Calvin Rea, 10; W. H. Coates, 6.

The Republican Councillor Convention for this district have nominated Hon. Frank D. Allen, of Lynn, and the Democrats Dr. N. R. Morse, of Salem.

It is said that Henry C. Torr posted the circular for the first time Monday, and it is also said that the non-union men have an agreement among themselves to leave town in a body at Christmas time. It is also rumored that the Knights have been advised to return to work under the circular. Plenty of rumors. Our readers can take their choice.

ASTHMA.

No one need undergo the extreme suffering caused by this dreadful disease any longer. The constriction of the air passages that impedes respiration is very soon relaxed by the application of

Battis' Modified Extract of

DENICOTIZED TOBACCO.

First by sponging the throat with it. Then by applying a bandage wet with Extract, renewing it as often as required, and covering the wet with several thicknesses of dry cloth to create warmth. If applied in anticipation of a recurring attack or spasm it can't come on. By continued use of the Extract, the attacks may occur just as regular but less intense, and in time will cease altogether. With this protection one can lie down and enjoy the quiet sleep that it promotes, and without any fear that disagreeable symptoms may follow.

This is my experience with the latest and greatest revelation of nature, of its sympathy with human suffering.

J. H. BATTIS,
Sole Proprietor and Manufacturer.

For sale by all druggists.

SPECIAL.

We shall offer on Saturday, one case of fine Cashmere Hose—Ladies—full finished seams, extra long, Cashmere heel and toe, perfectly seamless, at only 25 cents per pair; worth 38 cents, and sold for that on Essex street. Our price for Saturday, 25 cents.

They are perfect goods in the best fall and winter colors, and are sold for 25 cents, just to introduce our Hosiery Department at the beginning of the season.

John P. Peabody,
227 & 229 ESSEX ST.

WHO IS

FRANK

COUSINS?

The Massachusetts
TITLE INSURANCE COMPANY
23 Milk St., Boston,
EXAMINES TITLES TO REAL ESTATE.

Insures its search and opinion, and undertakes work usually confided to conveyances. Charges moderate and known before work is begun.
NATHANIEL J. BRADLEY, Pres't.
ARNOLD A. RAND, Vice Pres't. and Man'r,
oct 13—1 mo

Marriages.

In Danvers, Oct 13, by Rev Mr Cole, Mr Charles A Gentlee, formerly of Beverly, to Mrs Mary A Swasey, both of Danvers.

14th, by Rev. Mr. Ewing, Mr. Joseph Averill to Mrs. Mary J Perkins.

In Marblehead, Oct. 7, by Rev. Mr. Pomeroy, Mr Samuel D Watson of Lynn to Miss Sarah J Hiller of M.

Oct. 7th, by Rev Mr Shinnick, Mr John Quigley to Miss Bridget F Hurney.

In Lynn, Oct 12, at North Church parsonage, by Rev George Alcott Phinney of Peabody, Homer J Mills, of Georgia, Vt, and Miss Alice G. Maudant of Lynn.

Deaths.

Salem, Oct 18, Mrs Clara Philbrick, widow of Joseph Philbrick of Seabrook, N H, and daughter of the late Judge Joseph Philbrick of Weare, N H, 83 yrs 5 mos.

In Danvers, Oct 11, Grace, daughter of Cyrus H and Mary E Delors, 8 mos 23 days.

COLLINS BROS.
DEALERS IN COAL, WOOD & BARK.
OFFICES:
248 Bridge Street,
— AND —
72 Noth Street.
SALEM.

Stove, Chestnut, Egg and Broken Coals at the Lowest Market Prices.

☞ All orders promptly attended to.
je 30—3m

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth, of Massachusetts.

ESSEX, SS.

To all persons who are or may become interested in the estate given in trust for the benefit of SALLY SPRAGUE NOYES and others, in the last will and testament of Eben S. Upton, late of Peabody, in said county, gentleman, deceased, and to all persons whose issue not now in being may become interested in said estate.

GREETING:

WHEREAS, Frank C. Merrill, the trustee of said estate, has presented to said court his petition praying that he may be authorized to sell certain real estate situate on Franklin street, in said Peabody, either at public auction or at private sale, discharged of said trust.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be holden at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of November next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have against the same. And said trustee is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week, for three successive weeks, in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of October, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.
oct 13—3t

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS.

To all persons interested in the estate of PRESCOTT E. GRANT, late of Peabody, in said County, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, Henry Wardwell, the Administrator of said estate, has presented to said Court his petition praying that he may be authorized to compromise a claim in favor of said estate against Dennis J. Cullea and a claim against James Remmick upon the terms set forth in said petition, said claims being promissory notes secured by mortgages on real estate.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be holden at Salem, in said County of Essex, on the first Monday of November next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same. And said petioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once a week for three successive weeks in the Peabody Press, a newspaper printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of October, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.
oct 13—3t

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ESSEX SS. PROBATE COURT

To the Heirs-at-law, Next of Kin, and all other Persons interested in the Estate of MALACHI F. BATCHELDER, late of Peabody, in said county, gardener, deceased,

GREETING:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Rosina C. Batchelder and Orlando A. Foster, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them the executors therein named.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the third Monday of October next at nine o'clock, before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same. And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Choate, Esq., Judge of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six.

J. T. MAHONEY, Register.
sep 29—3t

BOSTON & LOWELL R. R.

OCT. 11, 1886.
PASSENGER SERVICE FROM SALEM:

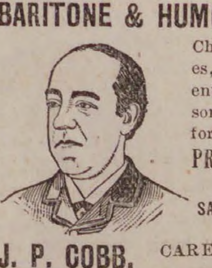
Leave Salem for Lowell and Lawrence at 7 20 A. M., 1 45, 5 50 P. M.
Leave Lowell for Salem at 7.35, 11 A. M., 6 P. M.
Leave Lawrence for Salem at 7 35, 11 A. M. 6 P. M.
Leave Wilmington Junction for Salem at 8 04, 11 28 A. M., 6 28 P. M.
Leave North Reading for Salem at 8 18, 11 39 A. M., 6 38 P. M.
Leave West Peabody for Salem at 8 10, 11 51 A. M., 6 50 P. M.

All trains from Salem connect at Lowell for Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H.

The 7 20 A. M. train connects at Lowell for Peterboro, Keene and intermediate stations.

C. S. MELLEN, Gen'l Supt.
LUCIUS TUTTLE, Gen'l. Pass Agt.

J. P. COBB,
BARITONE & HUMOROUS VOCALIST.



Churches, Societies, Lodges, etc., intending to give entertainments this season, will do well to send for Circular and Terms.

PRIVATE GATHERINGS
A SPECIALTY.
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.
ADDRESS,
J. P. COBB, CARE O. DITSON & CO., Boston, Mass.
oct 6—4t

BARLEY.—We are now discharging a car of Barley which reached destination too late in the season to be used for seed, but we shall sell it at a price low enough to make it desirable for hen food. Please examine it at store.
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central St.

COW FEEDS.—We would offer the largest variety in the city of ground feeds for milk producing purposes, including yellow and White Corn Meal, Barley Meal, Ground Oats, Chop Feed, Oat Dust, Bran, Fine Feed and Middlings, etc., and can offer extra low prices from cars now on track.
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON.
41 to 47 Central st.

A CHICKERING,
WOODWARD & BROWN.
— OR —
EMERSON PIANO
Will suit you. Call at
245 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Before purchasing.

I sell for cash or on Instalments.

Everything in the music line.

E. V. EMILIO,
245 ESSEX ST.,
SALEM.

EVERY YOUNG MAN

Should have such a knowledge of the requirements of business as may be obtained at the

BURDETT
Business COLLEGE

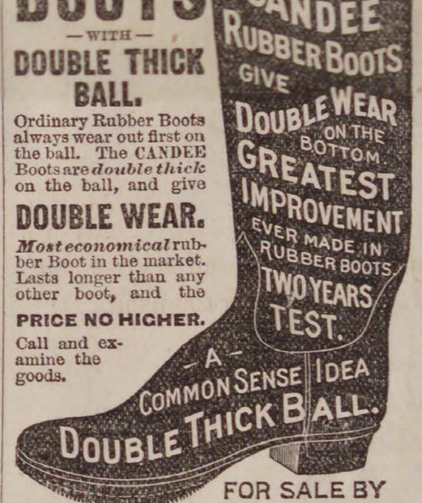
Removed to
592 WASHINGTON STREET,
Cor. Hayward Place,
BOSTON.

Owing to the unprecedented increase of the College patronage, central, commodious, light and elegant apartments have been secured at FIVE NINE-TWO WASHINGTON ST., cor. Hayward Place, a few doors above R. H. White & Co's, on same side of street.

Students can commence now and after Monday, Sept. 6. Prospectus mailed free. Principals may be seen at the College daily, between 9 and 4. Unequalled facilities for procuring situations for Students.

C. A. & F. H. BURDETT, Principals.
aug 11—8t



Rubber
BOOTS
— WITH —
DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Ordinary Rubber Boots always wear out first on the ball. The CANDEE Boots are double thick on the ball, and give

DOUBLE WEAR.

Most economical rubber Boot in the market. Lasts longer than any other boot, and the PRICE NO HIGHER.

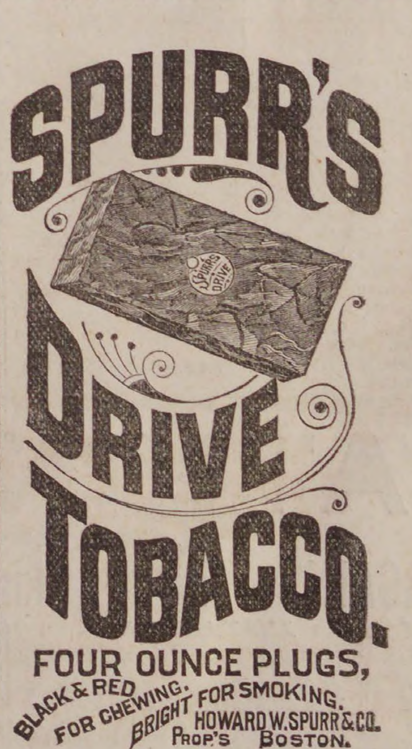
Call and examine the goods.

"CANDEE" RUBBER BOOTS GIVE DOUBLE WEAR ON THE BOTTOM.
GREATEST IMPROVEMENT EVER MADE IN RUBBER BOOTS.
TWO YEARS TEST.
A COMMON SENSE IDEA
DOUBLE THICK BALL.
FOR SALE BY

FOR SALE BY
NUGENT BROS.,
PEABODY, MASS.



SOAP AND SOAP POWDERS.

Kendall's French Laundry,
Fisk's Japanese,
Jones's Perfect,
Reardon's Pale Family,
IVORINE, SOAPINE AND STANDARD WASHING POWDERS.

Supplied to Grocers at manufacturers' prices, with the usual discount on five box lots.

Abbott & Reynolds,
WHOLESALE PRODUCE DEALERS,
14 Front St., Salem.

WANTED. A tenement of five rooms located in the vicinity of Aborn street. Inquire at
THE PRESS OFFICE.

Business Chance!
DANE BROTHERS,
(Successors to J. H. Trofatter.)
Horse & Carriage Exchange
101 Boston St., Salem.

Large stock of new and second-hand carriages for sale or exchange. Also horses, for sale or exchange.
je 8—6m

EDWARD P. MOULTON,
PLUMBING,
Water & Gas Fitting

Of every description. Ventilation of Closets, and Drainage a specialty.
All orders promptly attended to. First-class work and satisfaction guaranteed.

28 Norman Street,
SALEM.
je 8—4m

HOLLY TREE INN.
The Best Materials only are used in the preparation of Appetising Food,
AT THE
POPULAR HOLLY TREE DINING ROOMS,
9 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.
may 19—4m

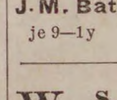
M. MORIARTY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Soda, Ginger Ale and Tonic Beers.

Bottler of Cider, Lager Beer, Philadelphia Stock Ale and Porter.

Corner Market Sq. and Front St.
SALEM, MASS.

MASON'S
FRUIT JARS,
600 dozen,
— AT —
W. F. PERRY'S,
87 WASHINGTON STREET,
SALEM.
e 9—3m

D. P. GROSVENOR.
PHARMACIST AND DRUGGIST.
Compounder of
Physicians Prescriptions
and dealer in
RELIABLE DRUGS.
35 MAIN STREET
PEABODY, MASS.



Sagamoe House,
133 UNION ST., LYNN,
(NEAR CENTRAL DEPOT.)
Special Rates to Commercial and Professional Travelers.
Renovated and Refurnished.
J. M. Batchelder & co., Props.
je 9—1y

W. S. OSBORNE,
TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER
Home, 96 Central St., Peabody. Office Second Door west of Hay Scales

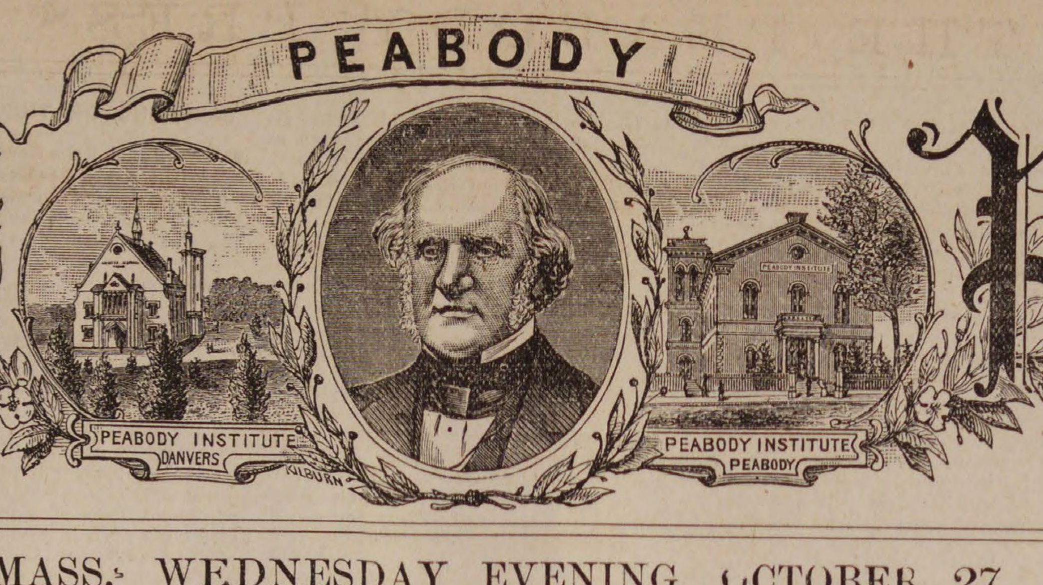
J. H. ALLEN,
UNDERTAKER,
Removed to St. Peter street, Salem

KILN DRIED WHITE MEAL.—Received to-day from mill, another car of kiln dried white meal, which is giving great satisfaction to all who use it, bringing us renewed orders. We can make a low price for ton lots from car much lower than on yellow meal.
CHARLES A. ROPES & SON,
aug 18 41 to 47 Central St.

OLD OATS.—We have a full assortment of all grades of last years' crop of Oats, which being thoroughly seasoned, are for safer feed for horses than the crop just harvested. We invite your examination and early orders.
CHARLES A ROPES & SON

PEABODY

The Press.



VOL. 27 PEABODY, MASS. WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 27, 1886. NO. 42

TRIUMPHANT OPENING.

BARGAIN SALE.

All New Goods this Season, no Old Goods at any Price, which we offer at Lower Prices than ever named before on same grade of goods.

Read Carefully,

And note the Prices we name on strictly First Class Reliable Clothing of which our monster stock consists solely of.

—FIRST OF ALL—

We call attention to our unequalled stock of MEN'S OVERCOATS, all new and just received from the workroom.

MAKE A MINUTE OF A FEW PRICES WE NAME.

150 MEN'S BLUE BEAVER OVERCOATS, INDIGO DYE, and warranted not to fade. Size 34 to 44. Cut S. B. Fly Front. Lined with fine Serge, extra fine Velvet, in fact these Coats are made throughout in the best manner; and for a dress coat are just the thing, and we guarantee they cannot be equalled in this City for less than $15, but we offer them without limit to one and all for $10. Remember these Overcoats are made in the best manner, and fit as only KENT & BOYNTON guarantee fit. REMEMBER THE PRICE.

$10.00. $10.00. $10.00.

—NEXT—

100 MEN'S HEAVY ALL WOOL DIAGONAL OVERCOATS, made from the celebrated Victory Mills Overcoating and are not surpassed by any fabric made for durability and warmth. These coats are extra length and Double Breasted have fine velvet collars and are lined in the most durable manner. The prices that these Coats are sold at are usually $12, but we offer the entire lot at $8. Just think of it only $8, for a heavy all wool Overcoat, bran new, (not last year's stock.) AND THE PRICE ONLY $8.00. $8.00. $8.00.

—AND ANOTHER—

125 MEN'S HEAVY BLUE CHINCHILLA OVERCOATS, the handsomest and most stylish Overcoats ever shown in Salem for the price we name, This Coat is cut S. B. fiy front, has a fine velvet collar and is lined in good shape, and our price is only $10. It is a king of bargains and you have only to see once to always remember it as a bargain of bargains. REMEMBER THE PRICE.

$10.00. $10.00. $10.00.

OUR FINE OVERCOATS are the most perfect in style, fit and workmanship, and it is on fine goods that our stock is far ahead of any dealer in Essex County. PRICES, $18, 20, 22.50, 25, 27, 28, 30.

Big Stock of Men's, Boys' and Children's Suits. Special Sale of Winter Underwear, Hats and Caps.

KENT & BOYNTON'S,

250 & 254 Essex St., Salem.

PIANOS

Behning Pianos,
Harrington Pianos,
—AT—
A. M. CRAIN'S
PIANO PARLORS,
52 Market St.,
LYNN.

ORGANS

Any make of Piano or Organ furnished to order.

je 30—1y

SALESMEN
WANTED

to canvas for the sale of Nursery Stock! Steady employment guaranteed. SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. Apply at once, stating age. (Refer to this paper.)

CHASE BROTHERS,
ROCHESTER, N. Y.

sep 29—2mo

ALMY, BIGELOW & WASHBURN

Ladies' Tailoring Department.

Our Rooms will be open for orders, MONDAY, Sept. 13th. The Department will still be under the supervision of Miss S. M. Alden, whose superior talent is well known to all our patrons and friends.

A. B. & W.

sept 8

The Massachusetts
TITLE INSURANCE COMPANY
23 Milk St., Boston,
EXAMINES TITLES TO REAL ESTATE.

Insures its search and opinion, and undertakes work usually confided to conveyances. Charges moderate and known before work is begun.

NATHANIEL J. BRADLEY, Pres't.
ARNOLD A. RAND, Vice Pres't. and Man'r,
oct 13—1 mo

NOTICE TO VOTERS.

NOTICE is hereby given that meetings of the Board of Registrars, for the purpose of receiving evidence of the qualifications of persons claiming a right to vote at the State election, to be held on TUESDAY, the second day of November, 1886, and for correcting and revising the Lists of Voters, will be held in the Selectmen's Rooms, Town House, as follows:—

On TUESDAYS, SEPT. 21st and 28th, and OCT. 26th, from 7 to 9 P. M.

On THURSDAYS, OCT. 7th, 14th and 21st, from 1 to 5 P. M.

On SATURDAYS, OCt. 9th, 16th and 23d, from 7 to 9 P. M.

On WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27, from 1 to 5 and from 7 to 10 P. M.

Registration will cease on WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27th, 1886, at 10 o'clock P. M.

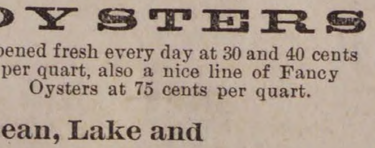
The Lists of Voters will be posted Oct. 1st, after which time no name can be added thereto, unless the applicant for registration appears in person before the Registrars, and prove his claim to be registered.

All persons whose names were on the Lists of Voters of last year, and who fail to pay a tax of 1885 or 1886 prior to OCT. 1st, will thus be required to register in person.

All persons appearing for registration must exhibit a paid tax bill for 1885 or 1886, and if of foreign birth a certificate of naturalization.

AARON F. CLARK,
CHARLES H. GOULDING,
RICHARD LYONS,
NATHAN H. POOR,
Board of Registrars.

Peabody, Sept. 22, 1886. sept 22—6t



CENTRAL FISH MARKET,

Is the place to buy your

OYSTERS

opened fresh every day at 30 and 40 cents per quart, also a nice line of Fancy Oysters at 75 cents per quart.

Ocean, Lake and River Fresh Fish,
LOBSTERS and CLAMS
IN THEIR SEASONS.

No. 6 Peabody Square.

R. F. DODGE, - Proprietor.

LOCAL CONDENSATIONS.

Plumbers are busy!

Who is Frank Cousins?

Election next Tuesday!

Hallow E'en Oct. 30th!

Read the advertisements!

Quiet time in town just now!

Monday was St. Crispin's day!

Give your vote to the best man!

Jack frost is having his say now!

Bicycling days will soon be over!

Gather in the turnips and p'snips!

News is not very rushing this week!

Now you require an overcoat every day.

Jordan Lodge of Masons have a new safe.

The wedding bells will soon ring again.

Political printing a specialty at this office.

Now is a good time to subscribe for the year.

Not a very exciting political campaign this fall.

To-morrow is St. Simon's and St. Jude's day.

The white hats have been called in for the last time.

Mr. John Dorgan has returned from his trip to Ireland.

This is the last day to get your name on the voting list.

Rev. J. N. Shipman preached at Danversport last Sunday.

Read the excellent sermon by Rev. Talmage on another page.

L. & G. H. Poor have put an electric alarm clock in their factory.

That comical Brown will shortly appear at the Peabody Institute.

Mrs. E. W. Upton has purchased the Poole estate on Prospect street.

The annual assessment is being collected for the Ladies' Benevolent society.

At this season the meeting of the straw hat and overcoat is not a great novelty.

Thirty-nine names were added to the voting list last night, making a total of over 1500.

The republican town committee don't seem to be losing much sleep over the check list.

The Boston & Maine are rebuilding the canal through the Walnut street freight yard.

The "boodle" for divided taxes arrived and they are being looked after by the faithful.

The ladies' circle of the Universalist church meet this evening for action on the coming fair.

Mr. Charles A. Weare was nominated Commissioner of Insolvency on the democratic ticket.

The republican representative caucus of this town, will be held at town hall to-morrow evening.

The more cheerfully the crow is eaten before, the more vigorous may be the crow after election.

Brianza Cigars—the best ten cent cigars in the world,—ten cents straight, at George Stevens'. *

The last rain that we have had in this vicinity was on the 28th of September, till to-day.

Mr. Charles McCarthy announces by poster his readiness to clip horses at his place on Wallis street.

The weather yesterday was not quite so mild as the day before but was enjoyable for the most part.

Rev. G. A. Hall of the South church exchanged with Rev. E. S. Atwood of Salem last Sunday.

Dr. W. O. Gray, Orrin R. Evans and Edward H. Porter have been on a gunning expedition to Connecticut.

The Democrats put out their campaign flag last Thursday. It was used to decorate some of the fire engines.

Mr Clarence Hammond and wife, (Minnie Pierce) of Everett, are the happy parents of an eight pound girl.

The father and mother of Rev. Father Masterson have arrived from Ireland and will spend a season here.

The Mass. Teachers' Association will hold its 42d annual meeting at the Girls High school, Boston, Nov. 26 and 27.

Shoes are now made of papier-mache in England, and they are said to answer the purpose of leather in all respects.

Mr James Pike, of the firm of Pike & Whipple, has been nominated by the Danvers democrats for representative.

Governor Robinson with the advice and consent of the council has appointed Thursday, Nov. 25th, as Thanksgiving day.

An elder brother of Mr. Charles A. Williams enjoyed a silver wedding at his home in Newton Center last Thursday.

Next Saturday being the "Vigil of the Feast of All Saints," it will be appropriately observed by the Catholic church.

St. John's Catholic Church is preparing for a mission by the Dominican fathers, which will open in about three weeks.

Best line of Five Cent Cigars in town—Nothing like it, Principee. Clark Best Five, and a dozen others at Geo Stevens' *

Chief Police Peasley has placed Officer Ferrin on the police force, and he will take the place of John H. Tibbetts, resigned.

By an oversight the winter arrangement of the Boston & Maine Railroad was not changed. It will be found correct next week.

Mr. Charles S. Goldthwait has been appointed degree master of Masconomo Tribe of Red Men, and the degree staff will be reorganized.

The bankrupt stock of Safford & Sargent, consisting of 6,000 dozen sheep skins, has been sold to Flanders & Martin of Haverhill.

The cool weather of Sunday kept several prominent citizens looking over their papers to see where their overcoats are deposited.

Mr. S. P. Messer is home from his business trip to Chicago, where he has had charge of the exhibit of the Enos Electric Railway model.

The town clerk has received a copy of the Labor Independent ticket, bearing the names of Ames and Foster for a local copyright thereof.

Rev. J. W. Colwell has been elected a member of the Executive Committee for two years, of the Essex South Conference of Cong. churches.

Mrs. S. Dick, test medium of Boston, will be at 23 Jacobs street Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week to receive calls professionally.

J. S. Crehore & Co. will shortly remove their calfskin business to Ossipee, N. H. A part of their old employes will go with them.

Mr. George O. Nimblett on Aborn place entertained a party of about 30 of his friends last Wednesday night. Music and supper occupied the time.

The reason that no carpeting has been put in the aisles at Peabody Institute hall is that none comes narrow enough. A lot is being made to order.

Mr. George H. Jacobs, the clothing dealer, was in business at Farmington, Me., which was destroyed by fire last Saturday, previous to coming to Peabody.

Mr. Luther Oliver, a shoemaker by trade and a respectable resident of South Peabody, died of Bright's disease last Thursday at the age of 60 years.

We neither brag nor blow about it, but there is no paper in the vicinity with a larger circulation or that is as good an advertising medium as the Press.

Mrs. Ruth Clarridge, who resides with her grandson, C. S. Goldthwait, reaches her 87th birthday to-day. She received the congratulations of her friends.

There is a young fellow who has or will present himself to the board of registrars, who is without a country. He was born on the ocean and has never voted.

Mr. Thomas H. O'Keefe has sold his celebrated educated inoculated, over rated pig, that was willed him by a stranded show recently, to Austin & Stone's dime museum.

The non-union men at Harrington's tannery objected to going to work at 12.40 last Monday, and were given the alternative to go to work at that time or leave. They went to work.

There will be a meeting of the Peabody Woman Suffrage Club next Monday evening at 7.30 o'clock, at the rooms of the W. C. T. U. in Allen's Block. All interested are invited to attend.

About 50 members of Union Post G. A. R., with drum and fife, participated in the grand camp fire at Wakefield last Wednesday night. They went by special train over the B. & M.

According to a new law the several town clerks of each representative district are required to meet and canvass votes on the 10th day after election, instead of the 1st, as heretofore.

The elm trees in front of the residence of Mr. G. Horace Merrill were nearly bare a week ago, while many of the others have lost but a few. Mr. Merrill says he has noticed this peculiarity in years past as well as this year.

A certain stove dealer who has kept house for a dozen years has this fall allowed himself the extravagance of a new stove for the first time. Hitherto the family have put up with ranges that other folks couldn't make work.

Essex Assemby of the Knights of Labor will hold a skating and dancing party at the rink for the benefit of the locked-out men. A polo game between the Crescents of Peabody and the Father Matthew team will be played.

The young people of the Baptist church will hold a harvest concert next Sunday evening. There will be a display of autumn leaves, sheaves of grain, shocks of corn, and innumerable specimens of garden truck tastefully arrayed.

A number of young men from this town are talking of going to Charleston, S. C., in hopes to get work in rebuilding the city. C. R. Hendes who went there two weeks ago writes home that good masons can earn $5 a day, and board for from $3.50 to $5 a week.

The selectmen have voted David W. Osborne a state aid. They also voted to place Patrick Cashman and Jeremiah Murphy on the police force at such time as Chief Peasley saw fit. Messrs. Relihan and Herrick were appointed to examine Gwinn and Fuller as to their qualifications as police officers.

Mr. Eben U. King has placed in the house he is remodeling two beautiful side lights and a transom over the front door. They were designed and made by the Wells Glass Co., 84 Devonshire street, Boston, and are the handsomest windows of the kind in New England.

A small boy surprised his teacher at one of the grammar schools yesterday by asking her how far a procession of the presidents of the United States would reach, if they were placed in a row. On her expressing her ignorance he calmly announced, "From Washington to Cleveland."

Another letter from the Executive Board of District 77 has been sent to the Manufacturers Association, receiving a reply that there is no difficulty between the manufacturers and their employes at present, and none to be adjusted. Such correspondence is certainly a waste of time. There is no prospect of any different position being taken by the manufacturers than they have adhered to during the trouble.

The marriage of Charles Edward Stone, only son of Charles O. Stone, and Alice Maud Perkins, only daughter of William Perkins, 2nd, took place at the residence of the latter, on Franklin St., Wednesday Oct. 20 at 5 P. M., Rev. Geo. A. Hall, of the Congregational church, officiating. Between forty and fifty people were present, all being near relatives of the bride and groom. The bride looked surpassingly lovely being attired in white lace and pearl trimmings with the conventional veil and orange blossoms. A large floral anchor, composed of tea roses and smilax, was suspended from above, under which the happy couple stood attended by four bride a maids all dressed in white. Flowers and music added their full charms to the occasion, and presents both useful and ornamental were liberally displayed. A bountiful supper was served precisely at 7 P. M. after which Mr. and Mrs. Stone left for a short trip through the eastern cities and upon their return they will reside at 43 Franklin street.

If you seek the best goods at the lowest prices, call at Nugent's Bargain Shoe Store, Foster St.

A Lowell street shoemaker wants to know who this Mr. Boodle is so many people are talking about.

The W. C. T. U. will sell refreshments at the Town Hall next Tuesday. All donations for the table will be gratefully received.

The W. C. T. U. will take charge of the service next Sabbath morning at the almshouse, leaving the South church at 9:30. The Band of Hope will assist in the services.

The Victor Manufacturing Co., of Newburyport, of which Irvin Besse is manager, received diplomas of merit for their exhibit of door hangers at the Bay State fair in Boston, and the Franklin County fair at Malone, N, Y.

One of our school teachers was explaining to her class the other day what an adverb was. She told them that it told how, when and where, and then walked quickly across the floor and then turned to her pupils and asked them how she walked. "On two feet" came from the big boy in the back seat.

At this writing, no nomination has been made for representative. We question not that it wil be Col. Cyrus T. Batchelder, and he should be elected He has done nothing to forfeit the respect and esteem in which he has been held by the republican party in this town. He deserves and should receive every republican vote.

The quarterly meeting of Essex County Good Templars' Lodge will be held in Mechanics Hall, Beverly, on Thursday, Oct. 28th. The session in the forenoon is for members of the order. At 2 p. m. the public will probably be invited to be present. An Essay will be delivered by M. L. Barton, Esq., of Lawrence. A grand mass temperance meeting will probably be held in the evening.

FALL AND WINTER
—OPENING!—

1886. 1887.

Grand Exposition of Fall and Winter Clothing, Hats and Caps, Furnishing Goods, Robes, Blankets, Trunks and Valises, and Ladies' and Misses' Furs,

—BY THE—

LARGEST RETAIL CLOTHIERS IN NEW ENGLAND.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 22,

We shall inaugurate our 9th Annual Fall and Winter Sale of Men's, Boys' and Children's fine and medium Clothing, Hats, Caps, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Trunks, Valises, Carriage Robes and Blankets, and Ladies' and Misses' Furs. Remember our salesroom now covers nearly half an acre. Such a display has never before been seen east of New York City. Having connected Conrad's entire block with our own store, we can now say that we have the largest Retail Clothing, Hat, Cap, and Furnishing Goods Store in the United States, except the Marlboro in Boston, one of our own stores. We would call the attention of the public to the fact that this is the fourth time that we have been obliged to enlarge our store since commencing business in Salem. We will guarantee to show more Clothing, Hats and Caps, and Furnishing Goods, than all the dealers in Salem, Peabody, Beverly and Marblehead combined.

STRICTLY ONE PRICE.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

177, 179, 181 & 183 Essex Street, Salem.

Z. A. GALLUP, - - - - - MANAGER.

Headquarters, Manufactory and Wholesale Rooms, 315, 317, 395, 497, 399, 401 and 403, Washington Street, Boston.

Poet's Corner.

At Last.

BY LYDIA DAVIS THOMSON.

For the Favorite.

Better than love or sordid wealth, untold,
Is loyal friendship, pure and sweet and deep.
For treacherous Fate may take the glittering gold,
And love forget its promised pledge to keep.

Long had I searched to find a faithful heart,
Amid the varied scenes of every day,
'Mid ranks of wealth and poesy and art,
And year by year I saw bright hope decay.

Till of the search I had long-wearied grown,
And prayed that death than life might kinder be,
Then o'er my path, undimmed, a pure light shone,
That I divined would faithful shine for me.

I look into thy clear and truthful eyes,
And need not words to tell me what thou art
That in thy soul no vain deception lies,
That loyal friendship lives within thy heart.

Whose rays shone out across the way for me,
Methinks reflected from bright heaven above,
That, like the eternal rocks, will changeless be Till changes friendship to Immortal Love.

THE DRAMA.

Messrs. Robson and Crane will present their revival of Shakespeare's "Merry Wives of Windsor" at the Boston Theatre this week. The company has been selected with a view to give proper effect to all the characters in the comedy. Adequate scenery has been prepared for the production, and the costumes are elegant and appropriate. The cast is an unusually strong one, and will be put on the stage in the usual elaborate manner of this theatre.

Lots of fun is promised at the Park Theatre during the engagement of the popular comedians, Evans and Hoey, which begins this week. They will appear in their latest success "Old Hoss and Me," in "A Parlor Match." New music, new songs and new dances have been introduced since it was last seen here.

"Harbor Lights" continues on its course towards the hundreth successful performance at the Boston Museum. There is not the slightest hint of any falling off in the great public interest in play, company or performance. The play that is to take its place has long been ready, but there seems little prospect of its being presented this season.

The new one dollar certificates, bearing the head of Martha Washington, are said to be the handsomest notes ever made. They are being printed at the rate of 20,000 a day, and will be sent in large quantities over the country. There is also a great demand for the new two dollar certificates, bearing the head of General Hancock. The new five dollar certificates, bearing the head of General Grant, will not be ready for three months.

Mr. F. Rentschler, San Francisco, Cal., contracted a severe cold, and became so hoarse he could not speak. He tried a number of remedies without benefit, and even the efforts of two physicians failed to give the slightest relief. He was induced to try Red Star Cough Cure, one bottle of which entirely cured him.

"The last time I saw Miss O'Neil," said a nobleman once to a well-known dramatist, was at a morning performance, and she had grown so stout that she almost filled the box." "Oh, that's nothing," said the ready playright. "There was a time when she nearly filled the theatre!"

Autumn's earliest frost had given
To the woods below
Lines of beauty such as heaven
Lendeth to its bow;
And the soft breezes from the west
Scarcely broke their dreamy rest.

Instead of throwing away garments which are soiled or faded you can have them made as good as new and save a large amount of money by taking them to the Bay State Dye Works, Front street, Salem.

The following vote of the Congressional district, at last election, is interesting at this time:

Eben F. Stone of Newburyport (R)	12,475
R. S. Spofford of Salisbury (D)	9,623
John I. Baker of Beverly (Butler)	3,948
Scattering	38

After a long-winded and tedious address of a minister at a recent Sunday School meeting in Chicago, the leader gave out to be sung, "Hallelujah! it is finished."

It ought to be more generally known that wheat flour is probably the best possible article to throw over a fire caused by the spilling and igniting of kerosene. It ought to be known because flour is always within convenient reach.

A shrewd old gentleman once said to his daughter: "Be sure, my dear, you never marry a poor man; but remember the poorest man in the world is he who has money and nothing else."

"Often a part worn dress will 'make over' for a younger member of the family," suggests Good Housekeeping, "but don't compel a child to wear one that her friends and mates will know as one of her mother's made over. Though the child love her mother dearly, she has a certain pride which is nothing to be ashamed of, and should be respected."

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

"CHRIST'S FINISHED WORK," IS HIS SUBJECT.

Immense Throngs to Hear the Famous Preacher—Christ's Wonderful Progress on Earth when Wealth, Education and Power were Arrayed Against Him.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 24.—The throngs in and around the Brooklyn Tabernacle on Sabbath mornings and evenings, are larger than at any time during the 17 years of Dr. Talmage's pastorate. This morning the opening hymn was that beginning:

Oh, could I speak the matchless worth,
Oh, could I sound the glories forth
That in my Saviour shine!

The text was John, xvii., 4: "I have finished the work which Thou gavest me to do." The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D., said:

There is a profound satisfaction in the completion of anything we have undertaken. We lift the capstone with exultation, while, on the other hand, there is nothing more disappointing than, after having toiled in a certain direction, to find that our time is wasted and our investment profitless. Christ came to throw up a highway on which the whole world might, if it chose, mount into heaven. He did it. The foul mouthed crew who attempted to tread on him could not extinguish the sublime satisfaction which he expressed when he said, "I have finished the work which Thou gavest me to do."

Alexander the Great was wounded, and the doctors could not medicate his wounds, and he seemed to be dying, and in his dream the sick man saw a plant with a peculiar flower, and he dreamed that that plant was put upon his wound, and that immediately it was cured. And Alexander, waking from his dream, told this to the physician, and the physician wandered out until he found just the kind of plant which the sick man had described, brought it to him, and the wound was healed.

Well, the human race had been hurt with the ghastliest of all wounds—that of sin. It was the business of Christ to bring a balm for that wound—the balm of divine restoration. In carrying this business to a successful issue the difficulties were stupendous.

In many of our plans we have our friends to help us; some to draw a sketch of the plan, others to help us in the execution. But Christ fought every inch of His way against bitter hostility, and amid circumstances all calculated to depress and defeat. In the first place, His worldly occupation was against Him. I find that He earned His livelihood by the carpenter's trade—an occupation always to be highly regarded and respected. But you know, as well as I do, that in order to succeed in any employment, one must give his entire time to it, and I have to declare that the fatigues of carpentry were unfavorable to the execution of a mission which required all mental and physical faculties. Through high, hard, dry, husky, insensate Judaism, to hew a way for a new and glorious dispensation was a stupendous undertaking that was enough to demand all the concentrated energies even of Christ. We have a great many romantic stories about what men with physical toil have accomplished in intellectual departments; but you know that after a man has been toiling all day with adze and saw and hammer, plane and ax, about all he can do is to rest. A weary body is an unfavorable adjunct to a toiling mind. You whose upbuilding of a kingdom, or the proclamation of a new code of morals, or the starting of a revolution which should upturn all nations, could get some idea of the incoherence of Christ's worldly occupation with His heavenly mission.

In his father's shop no more intercourse was necessary than is ordinarily necessary in bargaining with men that have work to do; yet Christ, with hands hard from touch of tools of trade, was called forth to become a public speaker, to preach in the face of mobs, while some wept, and some shook their fists, and some gnashed upon him with their teeth, and many wanted Him out of the way.

To address orderly and respectful assemblages is not so easy as it may seem, but it requires more energy, and more force, and more concentration to address an exasperated mob. The village of Nazareth heard the pounding of His hammer, but all the wide reaches of eternity were to hear the stroke of His spiritual upbuilding.

So, also, His habits of dress and of diet were against Him. The mighty men of Christ's time did not appear in apparel without trinkets and adornments. None of the Cæsars would have appeared in citizen's apparel. Yet here was a man, here was a pretended king, who always wore the same coat. Indeed it was far from shabby, for after he had worn it a long while the gamblers thought it worth raffling about; but still it was far from being an imperial robe. It was a coat that any ordinary man might have worn on any ordinary occasion.

Neither was there any pretention in His diet. No cup bearer with golden chalice brought Him wine to drink. On the seashore He ate fish, first having broiled it Himself. No one fetched Him water to drink, but bending over the well in Samaria He begged a drink. He sat at only one banquet, and that not at all sumptuous, for, to relieve the awkwardness of the host, one of the guests had to prepare wine for the company.

Other kings ride in a chariot; He walked. Other kings, as they advance, have heralds ahead, and applauding subjects behind; Christ's retinue was made up of sunburned fishermen. Other kings sleep under embroidered canopy; this one on a shelterless hill. Riding but once, as far as I now remember—on a colt, and that borrowed.

Again, His poverty was against Him. It requires money to build great enterprises. Men of means are afraid of a penniless projector, lest a loan be demanded. It requires money to print books, to build institutions, to pay instructors. No wonder the wise men of Christ's time laughed at this penniless Christ. "Why," they said, "who is to pay for this new religion? Who is to charter the ships to carry the missionaries? Who is to pay the salaries of the teachers? Shall wealthy Judaism be discomfited by a penniless Christ?"

The consequence was that most of the people that followed Christ had nothing to lose. Wealthy Joseph of Arimathea buried Christ, but he risked no social position in doing that. It is always safe to bury a dead man. Zaccheus risked no wealth or social position in following Christ, but took a position in a tree to look down as He passed. Nicodemus, wealthy Nicodemus, risked nothing of social position in following Christ, for he skulked by night to find Him.

All this was against Christ. So the fact that He was not regularly graduated was against him. If a man comes with the diplomas of colleges and schools and theological seminaries, and he has been through foreign travel, the world is disposed to listen. There was a man who had graduated at no college, had not in any academy by ordinary means learned the alphabet of the language he spoke, and yet he proposed to talk, to instruct in subjects which had confounded the mightiest intellects. John says: "The Jews marveled, saying, how hath this man letters, having never learned?"

We in our day have found out that a man without a diploma may know as much as a man with one, and that a college cannot transform a sluggard into a philosopher or a theological seminary teach a man to preach. An empty head after the laying on of hands of the presbytery is empty still. But it shocked all existing prejudices in those olden times for a man with no scholastic pretension and no graduation from a learned institution to set himself up for a teacher. It was all against him.

So also the brevity of his life was against Him. He had not come to what we call mid-life. But very few men do anything before 33 years of age, and yet that was the point at which Christ's life terminated. The first fifteen you take in nursery and school. Then it will take you at least six years to get into your occupation or profession. That will bring you to 21 years. Then it will take you ten years, at least, to get established in your life work, correcting the mistakes you have made. If any man, at 33 years of age gets fully established in his life work he is the exception. Yet that is the point at which Christ's life terminated.

Men in military life have done their most wonderful deeds before 33 years of age. There may be exceptions to it, but the most wonderful exploits in military prowess have occurred before 33 years of age. But as a legislator—no man becomes eminent as a legislator until he has had long years of experience. And yet the graybearded scribes were expected to bow down in silence before this young legislator, who arraigned sanhedrims and accused governments.

Aristotle was old; Lycurgus was old; Seneca was old. The great legislators of the world have been old. Christ was young. All this was against him. If a child, 12 years of age, should get up in your presence to discuss great questions of metaphysics, or ethics, or politics, or government you would not be more contemptuous than these graybearded scribes in the presence of this young Christ.

Popular opinion declared in those days, "Blessed is the merchant who has a castle down on the banks of Lake Tiberias." This young man said, "Blessed are the poor." Popular opinion said in those days, "Blessed are those who live amid statuary, and fountains, and gardens, and congratulations, and all kinds of festivity." This young man responded, "Blessed are they that mourn." Public opinion in those days said, "Blessed is the Roman eagle, the flap of whose wings startles nations, and the plunge of whose iron beak inflicts cruelty upon its enemies." This young man responded, "Blessed are the merciful." Popular opinion said, "An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth." In other words, if a man knocks your eye out, knock his out. If a man breaks your tooth, break his. Retort for retort; sarcasm for sarcasm; irony for irony; persecution for persecution; wound for wound. Christ said: "Pray for them that despitefully use you."

They looked at his eye, it was like any other man's eye, except perhaps more speaking. They felt his hand, made of bone and muscle and nerves and flesh, just like any other hand. Yet what bold treatment of subjects, what supernatural demands, what strange doctrine! They felt the solid earth under them, and yet Christ said: "I bear up the pillars of this world." They looked at the moon, he said: "I will turn it into blood." They looked at the sea, he said: "I will hush it." They looked at the stars, he said: "I will shake them down like untimely figs." Did ever one so young say things so bold? It was all against Him.

After the battle of Antietam, when a general rode along the lines, although the soldiers were lying down exhausted, they rose with great enthusiasm and huzzaed. As Napoleon returned from his captivity, his first step on the wharf shook all the kingdoms, and two hundred and fifty thousand men flocked to his standard. It took three thousand troops to watch him in his exile. So there have been men of wonderful magnetism of person. But hear me when I tell you of a poor young man who came up from Nazereth to produce a thrill which has never been excited by any other. Napoleon had around him the memories of Marengo, and Austerlitz, and Jena; but here was a man who had fought no battles, who wore no epaulettes, who brandished no sword. He had, probably, never seen a prince, or shaken hands with a nobleman.

I imagine Christ one day standing in the streets of Jerusalem. A man descended from high lineage is standing beside Him and says: "My father was a merchant prince, he had a castle on the beach in Galilee. Who was your father?" Christ answers: "Joseph, the carpenter." A man from Athens is standing there unrolling his parchment of graduation and says to Christ: "Where did you go to school?" Christ answers: "I never graduated." Aha! the idea of such an unheralded young man attempting to command the attention of the world! As well some little fishing village on Long Island shore attempt to arraign New York. Yet no sooner does He set His foot in the towns or cities of Judea than everything is in commotion. The people go out on a picnic, taking only food enough for a day, yet are so fascinated with Christ that, at the risk of starving, they follow Him out into the wilderness. A nobleman falls down flat before him and says: "My daughter is dead." A beggar tries to rub the dimness from his eyes, and says: "Lord, that my eyes may be opened." A poor, sick, panting woman presses through the crowd and says: "I must touch the hem of His garment." Children who love their mother better than any one else struggle to get into His arms, and to kiss His cheek, and to run their fingers through His hair, and for all time putting Jesus so in love with the little ones that there is hardly a nursery in Christendom from which He does not take one, saying: "I must have them. I will fill heaven with these; for every cedar that I plant in heaven I will have fifty white lilies. In the hour when I was a poor man in Judea they were not ashamed of me, and now that I have come to a throne I do not despise them. Hold it not back, O weeping mother! Lay it on my warm heart. Of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Again, I remark, there was no organization in His behalf, and that was against Him. When men propose any great work they band together, they write letters of agreement, they take oaths of fealty; and the more and complete the organization the more and complete the success. Here was one who went forth without any organization and alone. If men had a mind to join in His company all right; if they had a mind not to join in His company all well. If they came they were greeted with no loud salutation; if they went away they were sent with no bitter anathema. Peter departed, and Christ turned and looked at him. That was all!

All this was against Him. Did any one ever undertake such an enterprise amidst such infinite embarrassments and by such modes? And yet I am here to say it ended in a complete triumph. Notwithstanding His worldly occupation, His poverty, His plain face, his unpretending garb, the fact that He was schoolless, the fact that He had a brief life, the fact that He was not accompanied by any visible organization—notwithstanding all that, in an exhilaration which shall be prolonged in everlasting chorals: "I have finished the work Thou gavest me to do."

See Him victorious over the forces of nature. The sea is a crystal sepulchre. It swallowed the Central America, the President, the Spanish armada as easily as any fly that ever floated on it. The inland lakes are fully as terrible in their wrath. Recent travelers tell us that Galilee, when aroused in a storm, is overwhelming; and yet that sea crouched in His presence, and licked his feet. He knew all the waves and the wind. When he beckoned, they came. When he frowned, they fled. The heel of His foot made no indentation on the solidifical water. Medical science has wrought great changes in rheumatic limbs and diseased blood, but when the muscles are entirely withered, no human power can restore them, and when a limb is once dead it is dead. But here is a paralytic—his hand lifeless. Christ says to him: "Stretch forth thy hand," and he stretches it forth.

In the eye infirmary, how many diseases of that delicate organ have been cured? But Jesus says to one blind: "Be open," and the light of heaven rushes through gates that have never before been opened. The frost or an ax may kill a tree, but Jesus smites one dead with a word. Chemistry can do many wonderful things, but what chemist at a wedding, when the wine gave out, could change a pail of water into a cask of wine?

What human voice could command a school of fish? Yet here is a voice that marshals the scaly tribes, until, in a place where they had let down the net and pulled it up with no fish in it, they let it down again, and the disciples lay hold and begin to pull, when, by reason of the multitude of fish, the net broke.

Nature is His servant. The flowers—He twisted them into His sermons; the winds—they were His lullaby when He slept in the boat; the rain—it hung glitteringly on the thick foliage of the parables; the star of Bethlehem—it sang a Christmas carol over His birth; the rocks—they beat a dirge at His death.

Behold His victory over the gravel. The hinges of the family vault become very rusty, because they are never opened except to take another in. There is a knob on the outside of the door of the sepulchre, but none on the inside. Here comes the conqueror of death. He enters that realm and says: "Daughter of Jairus, sit up;" and she sits up. To Lazarus: "Come forth," and he came forth. To the widow's son He said: "Get up from that bier;" and he goes home with his mother. Then Jesus snatched up the keys of death and hung them to His girdle, and cried until all the graveyards of the earth heard him: "O death! I will be thy plague! O grave! I will be thy destruction!"

No man could go through all the obstacles I have described, you say, without having a nature adjoined that was supernatural. That arm—amid its muscles, and nerves, and bones were intertwisted the energies of omnipotence. In the syllables of that voice there was the emphasis of the eternal God. That foot that walked the deck of the ship in Gennesaret shall stamp kingdoms of darkness into demolition. This poverty-struck Christ owned Augustus, owned the Sanhedrim, owned Tiberias, owned all the castles on its beach and all the skies that looked down into its waters; owned all the earth and all the heavens. To Him of the plain coat belonged the robes of celestial royalty. He who walked the road to Emmaus—the lightnings were the fire-shod steeds to His chariot.

Yet there are those who look on and see Christ turn water into wine, and they say: Sleight of hand. And they see Christ raise the dead to life, and they say: Easily explained; not really dead; playing dead. And they see Christ giving sight to the blind man, and they say: Clairvoyant doctor. Oh! what shall they do on the day when Christ rises up in judgment, and the hills shall rock, and the trumpets shall call, peal on peal?

In the time of Theodosius the Great there was a great assault made upon the divinity of Jesus Christ, and during that time Theodosius the Great called his own son to sit on the throne with him, and be a copartner in the government of the empire; and one day the old bishop came and bowed down before Theodosius the emperor, and passed out of the room, and the emperor was offended, saying to the old bishop: "Why didn't you pay the same honor to my son, who shares with me in the government?" Then the old bishop turned to the young man and said: "The Lord bless thee, my young man," but still paid him no such honor as he had paid to the emperor. And the emperor was still offended and displeased, when the old bishop turned to Theodosius the Great and said to him: "You are offended with me because I don't pay the same honor to your son, whom you have made copartner in the government of this empire, the same honor I pay to you, and yet you encourage multitudes of people in your realm to deny the Son of God equal authority, equal power with God the Father."

My subject also reassures us of the fact that in all our struggles we have a sympathizer. You cannot tell Christ anything new about hardship. I do not think that wide ages of eternity will take the scars from his punctured side, and his lacerated temples, and his sore hands. You will never have a burden weighing so many pounds as that burden Christ carried up the bloody hill. You will never have any suffering worse than He endured when, with tongue hot, and cracked, and inflamed, and swollen, He moaned: "I thirst." You will never be surrounded by worse hostility than that which stood around Christ's feet, foaming, reviling, livid with rage, howling down His prayers and snuffing up the smell of blood. Oh! ye faint hearted, oh! ye troubled, oh! ye persecuted one, here is a heart than can sympathize with you!

Again, and lastly, I learn from all that has been said this morning, that Christ was awfully in earnest. If it had not been a momentous mission he would have turned back from it disgusted and discouraged. He saw you in a captivity from which he was resolved to extricate you, though it cost him all sweat, all tears, all blood. He came a great way to save you. He came from Bethlehem here, through the place of skulls, through the charnel house, through banishment. There was not among all the ranks of celestials one being who would do as much for you. I lay his crushed heart at your feet to-day.

Let it not be told in heaven that you deliberately put your foot on it. While it will take all the ages of eternity to celebrate Christ's triumph, I am here to make the startling announcement that because of the rejection of this mission on the part of some of you, all that magnificent work of garden, and cross, and grave is, so far as you are concerned, a failure. Helena, the empress, went to the Holy Land to find the cross of Christ. Getting to the Holy Land there were three crosses excavated, and the question was which of the three crosses was Christ's cross. They took a dead body, tradition says, and put it upon one of the crosses, and there was no life; and they took the dead body and put it upon another cross, and there was no life. But tradition says when the dead body was put up against the third cross it sprang into life. The dead man lived again. Oh, that the life giving power of the Son of God might start your dead soul into an eternal life, beginning this day! "Awake thou that sleepest, and rise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee life."

Will Be the Biggest.

John H. Hill, of Philadelphia, has returned from Europe, where he combined business with pleasure by examining all the big clocks in Europe, with a view to acquiring knowledge which might be useful in view of the fact that Philadelphia intends to have the largest clock in the world in the tower of her new city hall. The dial will be 36 feet in diameter.

BACKBONE OF THE CONTINENT.

The "Garden of the Gods"—The Valley of the Arkansas—Royal Gorge.

The pass through the "Garden of the Gods" is a particularly novel and interesting spot. The rocks here have been gradually worn away by the attrition of ages, and have assumed the most odd and grotesque figures. A little stretch of the imagination and one is immediately among the gods and heroes of Grecian and Scandinavian mythology.

We reached our destination a little past noon, and, after refreshing ourselves with a most abundant and inviting lunch by the side of a clear, rippling brook, we proceeded to take a view of the "Seven Falls." This is a magnificent cataract, with a perpendicular fall almost equal to that of Niagara. There are seven flights of steps by which you ascend the mountain, where you gain a better view of them than from below. Standing here we are impressed not only by the beauty and sublimity of the falls, but we feel the inspiration of the spot. Here we are poised upon the main axis of this continent, the great dividing range which separates the streams of the Pacific slope from those of the broad central plains.

Last week I took an excursion to the valley of the Arkansas and the Royal Gorge, one of the most wonderful sights in all this region of wonders. This day's experience in my life will ever form a page in my memory with the leaf turned down. Never shall I forget the awaking dawn of that glorious morning!—the sun kissing the mountain heights, and adown the hill sides, and deep into the dark valley, pouring a flood of radiance—the earth arousing from her night of sleep, and through all her arteries bounding the pulse of life. The low veiling mists reflecting rainbow hues. Diamonds flashing back the sunbeams from every leaf and spray and flower, sparkling emeralds carpeting the earth, and the whole universe clothed in its thousand varied hues, all combine to make a scene fitting a king, and that king—the king of Heaven.—Manitou Cor. New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Point of The Joke.

A stranger in Wheeling went into a saloon and found a lot of young fellows playing at a new game. A bit of paper was fastened to the wall, each player in turn was blindfolded and turned about three times, and then tried to walk up and touch the paper. The man who touched furthest from the paper was to pay for the drinks. The stranger joined the game, and, when he had jabbed at the paper and pulled off the bandage, found that the other players had fled. He couldn't see the joke until later, when he discovered that his pocket had been picked.—New York Sun.

A Dispatch to the Faster.

Succi, the Italian faster, receives letters daily from all parts, asking for his secret of living without food. The other day the chief telegrapher of the Mediterranean railway at Grassano-Scalo sent him the following dispatch: "Being suspended from my functions for a month I beg you to send me a little bottle of your elixir, so that I may not starve before resuming work." But Succi refuses to reveal the secret which would solve the social problem which has caused so many revolutions.—Foreign Letter.

The French President.

President Grevy, of France, contradicts the report recently circulated concerning his health. He says that the "fainting spells" attributed to him are pure inventions. He goes around his farm at Mont-sous-Vaudrey every day and talks with the laborers, while government messengers are obliged to wait for his convenience. When his day's work is over he sits by the fire with exasperating bonhomie while the crowd is waiting for him outside.—Paris Letter.

Veterinary Surgeons.

The fact that the son of a wealthy and well known citizen of Boston has decided to become a horse doctor, to the horror of some of his friends, reminds a writer in The Boston Post that one of the sons of that most fastidious gentleman, Edward Everett, became a veterinary surgeon with his father's approval, and had his sign on his father's house in Summer street, and that one of the oldest and best horse doctors in Boston to-day is an honored member of one of the best families of the Hub.—New York Sun.

The Emperor of Germany.

The emperor of Germany is subject to frequent attacks of somnolence, which his physicians say, if permitted to last longer than is absolutely necessary to allow him to rest, might result in death. Every two hours he is given soup or broth and waked up by his attendants during the day. He is troubled with a weakness of the heart and ossification of the veins. Still he continues to work and supervise all things relating to the army.—Berlin Letter.

A Colony in Cashmere.

It is reported that the government of India has a scheme in hand for colonizing a part of Cashmere by the aid of Europeans. The land, it is said, could produce, with care and attention, abundant crops, and the climate is excellent, though natives of this country could not at all times do manual labor. However, the government in the first instance aims at inducing retired officers to select Cashmere as a residence.—Chicago Times.

The Theosophical High Priestess.

Mme. Blavatsky, the theosophical high priestess and marvel-worker, eschews all wines and liquors as rigidly as the strictest Mohammedan. Her favorite diet is rusks dipped in very sweet coffee, Turkish fig paste and almonds. This food increases her natural tendency to corpulence, but she smokes Russian cigarettes of fine flavor as an offset.—Chicago Tribune.

Mrs. Custer's Colored Servant.

Mrs. Custer is at work on her book, taking notes from an old colored woman who lived with her in camp, on the plains and in Kansas, and who is blessed with an exceptionally fine memory. She remembers things her mistress had forgotten, but which her vivid description brings to mind again.—Detroit Free Press.

Not Dead Yet.

M. de Lesseps invited the man who started the canard on the Paris bourse the other day about his failing health to follow him around on his daily horseback rides. He says he would find it much more difficult for him to keep up with his pace than to pocket differences dishonestly obtained on the Bourse.—New York Graphic.

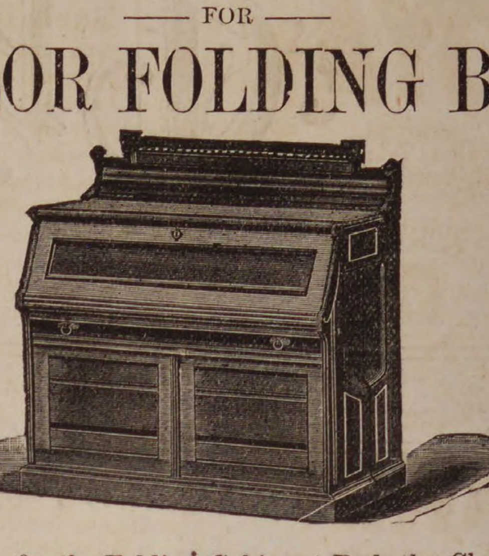
The Condemned Maxwell.

Maxwell, the condemned murderer, who is awaiting execution in St. Louis, is said to have become completely unnerved, and to show in every movement his distress. He rolls and tosses all night, talks and starts in his sleep, and is said to be haunted by a vision of the murdered Preller.

Reduction in Telegraph Charges.

Bonanza Mackay hopes to create out of the Postal Telegraph company a system as extensive as the Western Union, and predicts that in doing so he will reduce rates to such an extent as to do away with business letter writing inside of three years.

HEAD-QUARTERS
FOR
PARLOR FOLDING BEDS.



We are agents for the Folding Cabinent Bed, the Cheffonier Bed, the Mantle Bed, also Sofa and Lounge Beds in great variety.

CARPETS.

Our new Carpet Hall is stocked with a complete line of Brussels, Tapestries, Velvets and Ingrain, Oil Cloths, Rugs and Matting. Special low prices. All new, fresh stock.

STOVES AND RANGES.

We carry a full line of the New Gleenwood B. Range, the Magee Mystic, the New Elmwood, Pilgrim, and other first class Ranges. Also Parlor Stoves all styles and prices. A good Range with all the ware complete for only $16.00.

You will save money by purchasing your Stoves or Ranges directly of us. Any of the above goods will be sold for Cash, or if you have not the ready money on Weekly or Monthly Payments.

W. C. PACKARD FURNITURE AND CARPET CO.,

Largest House Fusnishers in Eastern Massachusetts,

281 Essex & 1, 3, 5, 7 Crombie Streets,

NEXT TO MECHANICS HALL.

☞ALL GOODS DELIVERED FREE.

ONCE MORE

TO SCHOOL!

See Reuben and Hal and little Jane
Merrily tripping down the lane;
They're bound for school, vacation is o'er;
They're ready for their books once more.
How pleased they look! and see how neat!
Yes! well they may, for on their feet
Are shoes from Osborne's, a guarantee
Of splendid fit and quality.

Shrewd folks who strive to make their dimes
Go farthest in these pinching times,
And yet not sacrifice a whit
Of style or wear, or perfect fit,
Flock to our stores in steady stream.
They seek to save; we give them cream;
They tell their friends and they believe,
And crowd our stores from morn till eve.

We Call the Attention of the People

To the GREATEST OPPORTUNITY to SHOE THEIR CHILDREN for School. We offer a stock of Boys' and Youths', Misses' and Children's Boots and Shoes, immense in quantity, superior in quality, and of great variety, and at PRICES that give our customers the Best End of the Bargain Every Time!

No such attractions in SCHOOL SHOES for Children of all ages have ever been offered, even by ourselves, and a visit to either our MUMROE ST. or WEST LYNN STORES will richly repay you.

Boys and Youths Bals and Button Shoes
Misses' and Children's Heeled
and Spring Heel Shoes!

DOWN! DOWN! DOWN!

To prices that give the poorest a chance to shoe their children in a satisfactory and becoming manner. REMEMBER! that every pair of Boots and Shoes in both stores, whose selling price has been 50 cents or upwards, has been MARKED DOWN. This is absolute and without any reserve whatever, and affects the LARGEST AND BEST STOCK OF BOOTS AND SHOES IN NEW ENGLAND!

Boys' Veal Calf, Tap Sole, Balmorals,		.65	.95	$1.10
Boys' Veal Calf, Nailed, Button Boots,				1.40
Youths' Veal Calf, Tap Sole, Balmorals,				.95
Youths' Veal Calf, Nailed,				1.20
Youths' Veal Calf, Nailed, Button Boots,				1.40
Misses' Grain Button Boots, Heeled—Sizes 11 to 2,			.69	1.05
Misses' Grain Button Boots, Spring Heeled—Sizes	11 to 2,			1.20
Misses' Kid Button Boots, " " "	11 to 2,		.85	1.80
Misses' Goat Button Boots, " " "	11 to 2,		.95	1.85
Misses' Kid Button Boots, Heeled, "	11 to 2,		1.33	1.85
Misses' Goat Button Boots, " "	11 to 2,		1.33	1.85
Child's Grain Button Boots, " "	9 to 10 1-2,		.90	1.15
Child's Grain Button Boots, " "	5 to 8,			.75
Child's Goat and Kid Button, Heeled, "	8 1-2 to 10 1-2,		1.05	1.45
Child's Goat and Kid Button, Spring Heeled, "	5 to 8,		.90	1.10
Child's Kid Button, " " "	5 to 8,			37

AND HUNDREDS OF OTHER BARGAINS.

38 MUNROE STREET. 23 MARKET SQUARE.

WELLMAN OSBORNE.

FULL WEIGHT ROYAL BAKING POWDER ABSOLUTELY PURE
ROYAL
BAKING POWDER

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., 106 Wall street, N. Y.
2aw

E. W. GOULD

BAY STATE

Steam Dyeing and Cleansing

WORKS.

9 1-2 FRONT STREET.

SALEM, MASS.

Promptness is our Motto.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Goods called for and Delivered.

AGENTS:

J. W. Pitcher, Atlantic block, Beverly; I. S. Day, Oak St., near the depot, Beverly Farms; Beals & Abbott, cor. Maple & Locust Sts., Danvers; B. F. Stevens, 16 Main St., Peabody; T. W. Slade, Manchester-by-the-sea; Wm. S. Stanley, 4 Grader's block, Marblehead; Benj. P. Edwards, Main St., Topsfield.

MISS BASSETT, formerly of the Essex Dye House, will be at our Office, No. 91-2 Front Street

Jas. Lafreniere,

HAIR DRESSER,

Has taken the shop under Baldwin's Hotel, where all who favor him with their patronage will receive

Courteous and Prompt Attention.

Diseases of the Head and Hair treated. A share of patronage solicited.

BALDWIN'S HOTEL, FOSTER ST.,
PEABODY.

may 26—4t

DESIRABLE REAL ESTATE

IN PEABODY,

FOR SALE.

The estate owned and occupied by C. C. Farwell and situated on the corner of Grove and Walnut streets, is offered for sale at a low price and on easy terms.

The estate consists of a two story frame dwelling house, containing 12 rooms, with water and gas, a barn 28x35, and about three quarters of an acre of land.

For a manufactory, with dwellings for the owner and tenants, there is no better situation in the county.

Address, or apply to

F. E. FARNHAM,
8 Allen's Block,
je 16 Peabody Square

NOTICE OUR

REMOVAL.

P. Hartigan & Son,

HORSE SHOERS,

Have removed from the rear of Kinsman's Block to

184 BRIDGE ST.,

Nearly opp. St. Peter street, Salem.

OLD ESTABLISHED CONCERN,

P. Hartigan, Senior, has had 30 years' experience.

N. B. Personal attention given to Horses that interfere or over-reach.

☞ Treatment of CORNS and QUARTER CRACKS a specialty.

LADIES & GENTLEMEN,

CALL AT

CYRUS C. TREVETT'S,

IF YOU WANT

The most durable and stylish boots at bottom prices, be sure and bring the children.

110 UNION STREET.

LYNN, MASS.

jy 7—1y

Book Notices.

The November number of the Young Ladies' Journal is an excellent one, and page after page is devoted to fashions and fancy work. All the fall styles in dress goods and outside garments will be found in this number. Every dressmaker will get more ideas out of this publication than any now before the public. The colored fashion plates and mammoth supplement alone are worth the price charged for the magazine. If your newsdealer does not have it send direct to the International News Company of New York, through whose agency it is published in this country.

A very timely article is that on Tha Great Fishing Ground, and its International Questions, in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for November. What all the perrennial quarrel with our neighbors is about will be clear to any one who reads it. A young lady tourist on A Visit to Fort Qu Appelle carries us to an inland fort and mission in the Northwest. An Ocean Swordsman, by Holder, is a stirring account of the swordfish and its capture. The stories and illustrations are all good, and the number one to find readers for every article.

BALLOU'S MAGAZINE FOR NOVEMBER:—No magazine which comes to this office has improved as this has within the present year. It is typographically one of the best printed monthlies of the day, and its contents are of a high grade of excellence. It is mostly a story magazine; but its fiction is cheerful and bright in tone. Its publisher evidently understands how to make a readable book for the people. Subscription price, $1.50 per year, post-paid. We see by its club terms that four subscriptions are sent for $5.00—$1.25 each. It is published by G. W. Studley, 23 Hawley St., Boston Mass.

The October Babyhood includes a small chart of standard shades of the six spectrum colors as an accompaniment to the first of a series of articles on kindergarten occupations in the home, in order that readers who wish to make the worsted balls and other articles described in the series may have a guide in the selections of their matertal. The colors thus shown are credited to the elaborate color-chart of Dr. Hugo Magnus, University of Breslau.

The place of honor in the November Atlantic is occupied by a clever story by Josiah P. Quincy, entitled The Peckster Professorship. Mr. Percival Lowell contributes A Korean Coup d'Etat, and Mr. John Fiske has a paper on the Germs of National Sovereignty in the United States. Mr. Henry Van Brunt's article on Richardson, the architect, will be read by his many friends. Miss Murfree and Mr. Bishop continue their serial stories. The number as a whole is one of unusual excellence, and sustains the high standard which the Atlantic always sets for itself. Houghton, Miffln & Co., Boston.

The pleasant question, Why Don't You Come Again? makes the title of a delightful waltz-song by Sapio, which is now being sung by Mlle. Lablache. Several other new vocal pieces are also issued this month, among which we notice that pleasing song of Santley's, Only to Love, arranged with guitar accompaniment; the Letter Song, by Morrill, a charming little song by Brackett called When I Please; and the following new piano pieces: Soldiers' Triumphal March, by Page,—composed for the Knights Templar bands; Birds are Singing, a sparkling gem by Lange; and the Springtide Revel, by Hooper. All the above-named new musical compositions are issued from the presses of Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, and will be mailed by them to any addres.

Rand Avery Company have issued a Manual which has long been needed by Political Managers and those interested in Caucus and Convention work. It has been most carefully compiled from official sources, and presents new and most valuable tables not to be found in any other publication. It contains, among other features, an alphabetical list of all the towns and cities of the Commonwealth, giving the date of incorporation, number of polls, number of voters, rate of taxation, total valuation, and what is the principal political feature of the book, locates each ward of every city and each town in its proper Congressional, Councillor, Senatorial, and Representative Districts. It also gives the number of delegates to which each is entitled for representation at the various conventions.

The November Century marks a new era in the history of that magazine, in beginning the publication of "The Life of Lincoln," by his private secretaries, John G. Nicolay and Colonel John Hay. Two prefaces, one editorial and the other by the writers, give ample account of the work. Its authors were, in a sense, the chosen biographers of Lincoln, by whose aid they were reenforced in the collection of material during the war. The first part is concerned with the Lincoln family as pioneers, including their relations with Boone in Kentucky, and their subsequent life in Indiana and Illinois down to the Black Hawk War, and a picture of the society and surroundings of young Lincoln, involving a concise history of the Western States of that day. On the pictorial side there is a frontispiece portrait of Lincoln in 1860, from a remarkably fine and unhackneyed photograph, a portrait of Boone from Sully's painting from life, and the traditions of the Lincoln homes and localities are carefully gathered up pictorially to supplement the text. A fac-simile of a passage of Mr. Lowell's "Commemoration Ode," referring to Lincoln, is printed at the beginning of the magazine, and certain other facsimiles throw new light upon the early history of the Lincolns.

The St. Nicholas is early on our table. It contains a charming story called the "Blind Lark," by Lousa M. Alcott. There is Juanita, a new serial which treats an unusual phase of boy and girl life in an attractive style. There are plenty of other sketches and stories for boys and girls—in fact it is an attractive number throughout. Buy it of your newsdealer.

Harper's Magazine for November comes promptly to hand via the News depot of A. F. Goldsmith. It is heavily weighted with good things. First comes the Literary Movement in New York, next a British paper on I formed my Salon. The serials are as attractive as ever and the whole number is rich in its variety of articles, stories, poems, etc., chiefly concerning live topics of the day. It is a valuable number, full of delightful entertainment and welcome instruction.

Babyland, a monthly delight to children and a blessing to mothers. The stories are amusing and the pictures are of the best. Each number contains a drawing lesson for the little folks. It is impossible to give to one who has not seen it any adequate idea of the good sense, rare fun and thorough healthiness of tone that abound in this magazine. Published by D. Lothrop & Co., Boston, 50 cts. a year, 5 cts. a copy.

The Interstate Readers. These are monthly publications designed for either school or home reading. They are especially good for the schoolroom, as the stories are entertaining and the illustrations exceptionally good, awakening in the pupils an interest without which no one can hope for success as a reader. They are issued in three grades. The grammar school grade at $1.00 a year or 75 cents, to clubs of ten, the intermediate and the primary, each 30 cents a year or 20 cents to clubs of ten.

The leading article in the interesting November Harper's is a strong treatment of The Literary Movement in New York, by George Parsons Lathrop who is a son-in-law of Nathaniel Hawthorne, and an example of the most fortunate of the literary brotherhood. He presents very forcibly the claims of the Empire Metropolis as a centre of literary energy. Beginning with the dawn of this century, when Irving, Cooper, Hawthorne, Halleck and Willis gave Manhattan Island an unrivalled eclat, he shows the eonstant growth of that influence. At the present day its galaxy of literary lights compares favorably even with the brainy city which likes to pose as the Athenian home of literature. There are no more lustrous names on the roll of living American authors than R. H. Stoddard, E. C. Stedman, Joachin Miller, Julian Hawthorne, George William Curtis, H. H. Boyesen, Edward Eggleston, John Burroughs, E. P. Roe, Edgar Fawcett, J. B. McMaster, and the host of others who are building enviable reputations for coming time. The development of literary growth here is traced with keen discernment. The characteristic diversity of New York productions is explained by Mr. Lathrop as due to the distractions of commercial activity, to the journalistic energies of the city, which direct a large proportion of literary force into the great magazines and dailies, and to the absence of international copyright, which renders it impossible for American authors to receive adequate compensation for their work in competition with the flood of cheap foreign books. Fifteen excellent portraits illustrate the article' and the frontispiece of the number pictures a group at the Authors' Club.

The American Agriculturalist was for years one of our most valued and most carefully read exchanges. Alas! it fails to reach us now.

At one of the schools in this city, yesterday, the master, in a general exercise, wrote the word "dozen" on the blackboard, and asked the pupils to each write a sentence containing the word. He was somewhat taken aback to find on one of the papers the following unique sentence: "I dozen know my lesson." If that boy lives to grow up he will be an editor, or funny man, on some of our contemporaries.—Newburyport Herald.

Culprit—Yes, sah, I tuck de chicken. I was gwineter make some chicken pie, and I tuck de cook book and read de direcshuns, and hit says: 'Take one chicken.' Hit don't say buy one chicken, or borry one chicken, but it says take one chicken. Hit don't say whose chicken ter take, so I jess tuck de fust one I could lay hans on. I followed de direcshuns, sah, in de book.

Those of our readers desiring a first class piano at a moderate price should examine into the merits of the Emerson Piano. They are first-class instruments in every respect.

The attention of our readers is directed to the announcement of J. C. Gerlach, agent for Bartholomay Brewing Co.'s Famous Rochester Lager. It is the best ever sold in New England.

"Upon the woods once more descends the autumn hush,
Upon the leaves again appears the autumn blush,
Upon the hills and vales again appears the autumn glory,
Upon the ladies' hatsis built another story.'

IN COLUMBIA'S VALLEY.

AN EASTERN EXPEDITION APPROACHING ALASKA.

The Trip Through Oregon from Wallula to Portland—Mount Hood and Its Changing Altitude.

Oregon, the most Northwestern State in the Union, is one of the best known though one of the smallest in population. The "Oregon Boundary," the "Oregon Trail," and many other titles could be given which would recall some of the oldest political questions in our country, as well as some of the most interesting and readable romances and histories ever thrown over a frontier land.

Leaving the Northern Pacific at Wallula Junction, Washington Territory, we change to the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company's Line to Portland—without changing our sleeping car, however, which goes through—and in a few minutes are on the soil of Oregon, coursing along the southern bank of the great Columbia River, which we now see for the first time, though having been in its basin during the last two days. The ride from Wallula to Portland is one of about 12 hours in length ordinarily, and, if the person is sightseeing at all, I would advise such a one to make it in daylight, if the weather be at all favorable. The first half, traveling westward, while being grand enough scenery for anywhere in the East, will not compare with the second half from about the Dalles nearly to Portland. For quite a distance on from Wallula the banks of the Columbia River are comparatively low and the immediate scenery not very interesting. Still, at a few points on the road, the chances are good for a quick passing view of Mount Hood and the Cascade range. As the Dalles of the Columbia are approached, the weather being fair, this beautiful peak bursts into sight around the bends of the road in the most astonishing and beautiful aspects, forming a grand series of pictures by itself. The first ascent of Mount Hood, as near as can be found out at this late day, was made in August, 1854, by Mr. Thomas J. Dryer, of Portland, Oregon, who was then editor of the Weekly Oregonian. He was accompanied by Mr. W. Lake, and an account of the ascent was published in the Oregonian shortly after. He (Mr. Dryer) had also ascended Mount St. Helens, of Washington Territory, four years before (1850), and thus gained the credit of having been the first white man in the United States to ascend a perpetually snowclad peak. Humboldt speaks of Mount Hood as being beyond all doubt an extinct volcano.

There are many witnesses, more or less credible, who claim to have seen this queen of the Pacific in various stages of activity, but many, if not all, must be received with considerable reservation. Mount Hood, I can remember, was originally 17,000 feet high "by rough estimate" of the old pioneers. Somebody then got "a close estimate" and made it 16,000 feet high. After that it was measured by the angle of its top above the horizon of a distant observer, the position of the two places being known, and it dropped to 14,500. Then a rough triangulation was made, and it withdrew to 13,000. Somebody went up with an aneroid barometer and it collapsed to 12,000 feet, and when finally the mercurial barometer was used they had to add in the length of the instrument to put it 11,225 feet, where it now stands till somebody shaves off another 1,000 feet. "Joe" Meek, the oldest of the pioneers in this region, said, as he watched the results, he hoped he would die before Mount Hood became a hole in the ground. Says Coleman, in the Alpine Journal of 1877: "Mount Hood, which is certainly not more than 11,225 feet above the sea (a very respectable height), has been variously estimated at 17,000 and 18,000 feet. A certain learned Professor who had made the ascent, writing to one of the Oregon papers a few years since, stated: "Mount Hood stands unrivaled among the mountains of North America. By an approved method, viz., the boiling of water and the thermometer, we ascertained its height to be 17,640 feet above the level of the sea (for the thermometer stood at 180° in a hollow 40 feet below the pinnicle). Our two barometers failed to indicate the enormous height, one for its short gradations, the other for its short spring. The former made an entire revolution upon the dial, and its indications,will be hereafter computed." Now, Prof. Whitney, at a meeting of the California Academy of Natural Sciences, made some remarks on the subject, and called attention to the fact that a correct calculation from Prof. ——'s reported observations would make Mount Hood not 17,000 but 34,000 feet high!" Mount Hood is about 60 miles from Portland, a good wagon road leading from that city to the base of the mountain, the country being settled to within about 15 miles of the base. It is said that it has often been ascended owing to the ease with which it can be done. The only obstacle—if it can be called such—is a sort of a canon-like valley at the foot of the peak, placed by different people at from 500 to 1,000 feet below the top. The United States Geological report, made by Arnold Hague to Prof. Clarence King, says of it: "The summit of Mount Hood exposes on the east, north,

(Continued on 6th Page.)

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming 'smaller by degrees, and beautifully less.' I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar.

SPURR'S DRIVE TOBACCO,

FOUR OUNCE PLUGS,

BLACK & RED FOR CHEWING; BRIGHT FOR SMOKING. HOWARD W. SPURR & CO. PROP'S BOSTON.

"CANDEE" RUBBER BOOTS GIVE DOUBLE WEAR ON THE BOTTOM.
GREATEST IMPROVEMENT EVER MADE IN RUBBER BOOTS.
TWO YEARS TEST.
A COMMON SENSE IDEA
DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Rubber BOOTS

—WITH—

DOUBLE THICK BALL.

Ordinary Rubber Boots always wear out first on the ball. The CANDEE Boots are double thick on the ball, and give

DOUBLE WEAR.

Most economical rubber Boot in the market. Lasts longer than any other boot, and the PRICE NO HIGHER.

Call and examine the goods.

FOR SALE BY

FOR SALE BY

NUGENT BROS.,

PEABODY, MASS.

EVERY YOUNG MAN

Should have such a knowledge of the requirements of business as may be obtained at the

BURDETT Business COLLEGE

Removed to

592 WASHINGTON STREET,

Cor. Hayward Place,

BOSTON.

Owing to the unprecedented increase of the College patronage, central, commodious, light and elegant apartments have been secured at FIVE NINE-TWO WASHINGTON ST., cor. Hayward Place, a few doors above R. H. White & Co.'s, on same side of street.

Students can commence on and after Monday, Sept. 6. Prospectus mailed free. Principals may be seen at the College daily, between 9 and 4. Unequalled facilities for procuring situations for Students.

C. A. & F. H. BURDETT, Principals.
aug 11—8t

BOSTON & LOWELL R. R.

OCT. 11, 1886.

PASSENGER SERVICE FROM SALEM:

Leave Salem for Lowell and Lawrence at 7 20 A. M., 1 45, 5 50 P. M.
Leave Lowell for Salem at 7.35, 11 A. M., 6 P. M.
Leave Lawrence for Salem at 7 35, 11 A. M. 6 P. M.
Leave Wilmington Junction for Salem at 8 04, 11 28 A. M., 6 28 P. M.
Leave North Reading for Salem at 8 18, 11 39 A. M., 6 38 P. M.
Leave West Peabody for Salem at 8 10, 11 51 A. M., 6 50 P. M.

All trains from Salem connect at Lowell for Nashua, Manchester and Concord, N. H.

The 7 20 A. M. train connects at Lowell for Peterboro, Keene and intermediate stations.

C. S. MELLEN, Gen'l Supt.
LUCIUS TUTTLE. Gen'l. Pass Agt.

FALL OF 1886.

BRIDAL SILVER.

Through the summer months we have been having made some new styles in

STERLING SILVER,

and have also ordered an immense stock of the best quality

SILVER PLATED WARE.

These goods will be ready early in September, and we are confident we can offer the largest and finest stock of new goods in Essex County. No House in Boston can show a better line of medium price goods than we shall.

DANIEL LOW,

SALEM.

Wedding and Anniversary Presents a Specialtv.

LADIES OF SALEM AND VICINITY,

It affords us pleasure to call your attention to our celebrated

HAND-SEWED SHOES

For Comfort, Beauty and Durability, they are not equalled. They are crumbs of comfort by the wayside.

Beware of Imitations! None genuine without the name Grover on the Sole.

Please Call and Examine them at the Store of

L. CUNNINGHAM,

147 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Agent for Salem and vicinity.

mch 31—1y

Missey

CRAYON ARTIST & PHOTOGRAPHER,

252 Essex Street, Salem.

Having refitted and refurnished our gallery with new Lenses, Cameras, Backgrounds, Accessories, etc., etc., and having one of the largest and finest operating rooms and skylights in the country, we now have facilities second to none for doing first class work in all branches of Photography.

We have just purchased the finest instruments obtainable for making pictures from 8x10 to 24x24 (full life size) direct from the sitter, and make them either bust, half or full length, or groups. To introduce them we shall make them very low for three months.

We have special facilities for copying old and faded Photographs, Daguerreotypes, Ambrotypes, Tintypes, etc. Before giving your pictures to agents, come to us, and see our samples and get our prices. You can save money and at the same time get better work and not risk the breaking or losing of your pictures in the mails.

We make a specialty of Life Size Free Hand Crayons, made from any kind of picture or from life. One of the advantages, not to speak of the superior artistic qualities, of free hand work over the mechanically finished solars, is that any changes from the original, no matter how great, can be easily made, whereas in the finished solar but very slight changes can be made. We can furnish duplictaes from any negative ever taken by N. C. Bosuley.

Call and see what we are doing, all will be treated courtesy whether anything is red or not.

STOVES AND RANGES.

We have a large stock of Parlor Stoves for the fall of 1886, among which are the HARVEST, PALLAS, SOMERSET, and WELCOME PARLOR STOVES, making our line of these goods equal to any shown in this city.

FOR RANGES

We offer the GOOD NEWS and NEW HUB RANGES, everywhere acknowledged to have no equal, with a full line of medium priced Ranges.

Also a good stock of

LIBRARY VASE and STAND LAMPS, CROCKERY and HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS.

LOWEST PRICES FOR CASH.

☞ Easy Terms on Instalments.

WADLEIGH & MORSE.

81 North St.,

SALEM

STRAWBERRIES,

POT GROWN.

Plants of Leading Varieties.

By setting in AUGUST will secure fruit the following season.

PLANTS ready now. Send for Circular, or call on

E. & C WOODMAN,

FLORIST AND GARDEN SUPPLIES,

DANVERS, MASS.

Greenhouses, Holten St., Tapleyville, on line of Horse R. R.

CHOICE VERMONT BUTTER.

We have just received a car load of VERMONT BUTTER which we shall offer by the tub at prices which

— WE WILL NAME WHEN YOU CALL. —

IT WILL PAY YOU TO SEE US

Meats and Vegetables of all kinds at the

LOWEST PRICES FOR SPOT CASH.

Ames & Edgerly's Cash Market

SAMUEL TRASK'S.

ANNUAL BARGAIN SALE
OF

BOOTS, SHOES and SLIPPERS.

LOT 1.

16 pairs of WOMEN'S SERGE BUSKINS, 75 cts. and $1.00 goods, 25 cents a pair. This lot of slippers is mostly composed of large sizes, 5, 6, 7, 8. Some of them are shop-worn and imperfect, but at the price named they will quickly sell, as the bows on them alone are worth the twenty-five cents.

LOT 2.

13 pairs MISSES' DRESS SCHOOL BOOT, regular $2.00 Boot, only $1.25. These are all B widths, very narrow. We have all sizes and one-half sizes, (11 to 2). They will make a Strong, Durable School Boot.

LOT 3.

Lot of CHILDREN'S GOAT BUTTON, sizes 5 to 8, only 50 cts. We have over 40 pairs of these boots. They are of Straight Goat, Solid Leather and Cap toe. You'll make a mistake if you do not examine and buy, as they are well worth 75 cts. a pair.

LOT 4.

19 pairs CHILDREN'S STRAIGHT GOAT SPRING HEEL, only 50 cents. This is a genuine bargain, all sizes 6 to 8.

LOT 5

33 Prs. Children's Glove Calf Button, 40 Cents.

These are hand sewed with genuine imported patent leather tips. To see, is in this case, to buy

REMEMBER That the above are only a few of the Bargains to be found this month at our Store.

We have the Largest Stock in town.

Our plan is to sell only the Best Goods at Lowest Prices possible, Strictly for Cash. No Deviation in Price. No Misrepresentations. No Inferior Goods sold.

Our guarantee is to refund full price for any article not proving satisfactory, if returned in good order.

NUGENT BROS.,
Foster St., Peabody, Mass.

The Peabody Press.

JOHN P. FERNALD ALBERT VITTUM,
Editors and Publishers.

WHEN IT was stated, during the presidential campaign, that the majority of the "independents," the bolters from the nomination of Blaine, were free traders, the idea was ridiculed by the mugwump papers. That the statement was, however, true is shown by the present attitude of these so-called independents. They have gone over, bag and baggage, to the democratic party. They say there will be no independent ticket at the polls; they will vote the democratic ticket entirely, headed by Andrew, the chief of the mugwumps.

Under the lead of these independents for the old democratic party are allowing them to lead, the tariff issue is being brought rapidly to the front. In the old sixth district, where the Congressional fight is between Lodge and Lovering—in our own Congressional District also, the point of the contest is being sharply defined on this issue. It was not so in the presidential. campaign. The democratic party would not state their position on this question, especially in New England, as plainly as the nominees in this state, prompted by mugwump support, are tempted to do. A "Tariff for revenue only," defeated Hancock and elected Garfield in 1880; the democrats are so chary of this doctrine that they disguised its meaning in a worded platform which could be construed both ways. Both mugwumps and democrats dodged the question when it was presented by the republicans, saying that it was "not an issue in the campaign."

Now, however, the democratic party, emboldened by a little power, comes out squarely on this question. And in its settlement and in the defence of the doctrine of protection to American industry, the Republican party has nothing to fear. It welcomes the issue. Its Congressional nominees could have no subject for discussion, no issue brought before them, on which they can more cheerfully go before the people. Who will say to-day that there is no issue between the two parties, with the republican party the avowed champion of protection, and the democratic party the apostle of free trade?

The free traders, in Massachusetts and New England, disguise themselves under the advocacy of a revision of the tariff. The disguise is thin, even if it is adopted by the Boston Herald. The Morrison tariff bill, presented to Congress by that party, must be taken as an earnest of what is meant by revision of the tariff. That bill contemplated putting on the free list a large per cent of the articles on which there is now a protective tariff—it was a wholesale scaling process, which had not the support of such democrats as Randall, but does have the support of President Cleveland and the nominees of the democratic party in the sixth and seventh Congressional districts of this state.

The labor men, the men, many of them, who are advocating Col. French's election, are being deceived by this talk about revision of the tariff. Did not Gen. Butler tell them plainly enough, in 1884, that the views of this party on the tariff were injurious to the interests of the workingman? The republican party, Henry Cabot Lodge and other leaders in Massachusetts, James G. Blaine, the great advocate of protection, is in favor of a reduction, a judicious reduction of the tariff. What then is the issue? It is simply this: the republican party will consent to no reduction that will not furnish a protection, some protection, to the industries which depend upon the labor of the workingman for their support. Some articles may be put on the free list, with wisdom, but none from which the removal of protection brings the markets of England, with its cheap labor, in free competition with the labor of this country. No laboring man needs to be reminded that labor, in this country, at the prices which it receives, cannot compete with the labor of the old world, if the products of the manufactures there are to come into competition with ours here. Either the wages of the laborer would have to be equalized with the old world, or our manufacturers close up. In either case, the burden would come directly on the workingman. This is the point, and the one which the tariff revisers do not care to discuss. The laboring man should not be deceived. There is nothing in the platform of the Knights of Labor that looks like free trade; yet many of its members will vote for free traders. Stop and think, gentlemen. A protective tariff, and not free trade under the disguise of a revision of the tariff, or the Morrison bill, has enabled the manufacturers to pay good wages for labor. It has made this country what it is to-day. You should ally yourselves with the defenders of such a policy. It is the direct and only issue in the campaign. A vote for Col. French is a vote to bring the price of your labor in direct competition with the labor of the old world. Do not be deceived.

Jas. G. Blaine in a speech in Pennsylvania the other day, stated the matter so plainly that it should be read by every workingman in the country. He said among other things: "Unless the tariff is so adjusted as to contain the doctrine of protection, you, gentlemen, will see hard times in this country, and that is what I came here to say. For advancing these same views since leaving home and in the city of Philadelphia, I have been complimented by the notice of the London Times, which tells me from across the water that the views which I hold have been negatived by the people of the United States, and that we are traveling toward free trade and away from protection, from the dark days of our own policy toward the enlightened policy of England. [Derisive merriment.] In the same paper in which I read the cablegram I have just quoted, in the same column and immediately following, among this morning's dispatches, comes another from London which says that the poor have risen in a riot against the Lord Mayor having a splendid dinner while the workmen of London are starving in their hovels. [Hear, hear, and approbation.] I gave you these two telegrams together, as forming a better argument than any I could make on the question, and I send back a greeting to the London Times that I stand this moment before countless thousands of free American workingmen, who have good wages and happy homes, with prosperity behind them and before them. [Tremendous cheering.]

The republican party has no fear, in this state and before the country, in the advocacy of protection to American industry. The laboring men of this state or of any state where there are large manufacturing interests, are not in sympathy with the Morrison tariff bill, or free trade, when they are not deceived by its presentation. The Irishman who left his own land because of the poverty in which he must live there, knows well enough what the "enlightened policy of England," as referred to by Mr. Blaine, means. If this issue is presented strongly enough, if the matter is brought out clearly enough in this state, it will elect a republican Congressman in every district. The democratic party, even, in Massachusetts, is not in sympathy with the Morrison tariff bill; but the quondam leaders of the party to-day are; the President of the democratic-mugwump alliance is; Lovering and French and Russell and others are; and a vote to support the administration in this way, a vote for the election of a democratic congressman in this district, means low tariff, and free trade. See to it, gentlemen of the labor party, that you make no mistake. Close up your ranks, remember the words of Gen. Butler and vote for the defenders of American industry. Vote for Ames and Cogswell. Do not vote to have the price of your labor put into competition with the old world.

The democrats held a caucus at town hall last evening. S. S. Littlefield was chairman, M. F. Collins secretary. Eugene T. McCarthy was nominated by acclamation. The candidate then addressed the meeting and was well received. They appointed a rallying committee of twenty-five.

The staging used by the faescoers at the Methodist church has been removed, and the painting of the pews and vestry is being done by Mr. W. H. Fellows.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The following is the vote on the basis of last year's vote, in the new fifth senatorial district. It will be seen that the republican majority was about 260 votes.

Republican,	2644
Democratic,	2384
Scattering,

J. W. Switzer of Lynn, rep.; A. B. Newhall of Lynn, dem.; W. P. Alcott of Boxford, pro.

The attempt to connect Henry Cabot Lodge with the responsibility of liquor selling at the Point of Pines is a straw which shows that they must be hard up for campaign material in that district. Manager Thayer is out with a card stating that Mr. Lodge only holds 25 shares in the company, and that the matter never came up for action on the part of the directors one way or the other. The hotels which took the lease are responsible and the directors were not consulted at all.

Some papers, who ought to know better, who do know better, but think a falsehood at any time is better than the truth, are circulating the rumor regarding the fisheries, and Gen. Cogswell, that he was removed from the office of inspector of fish by Gov. Robinson. They intimate, also, that he was removed for cause, and that therefore he is no fit man to represent the fishery interest at Washington. This is one of the falsehoods which are eagerly seized upon by papers who desire to make a plausible statement out of something which they know to be a lie. Gen. Cogswell was not removed. His term of office had expired. He did not wish the office again. He expected to go to Congress. And he will go there. This is the flimsiest falsehood we have heard. Next.

Mr. Moody, of Haverhill, undoubtedly stated the truth regarding the trial of liquor cases. They cannot be put on file, as of yore. But a district attorney can make a great difference in the presentation of evidence. District Attorney Stevens, of Boston, tried many cases that he was obliged by law to try. But he failed to convict. The district attorney can grant favors to the rumsellers even under the present law, if he be so disposed. We do not say that Mr. Moody would do this. We do not believe he would. But we know what Mr. Hurlburt will do, when he could get more support from the party which elected him by taking an opposite course. He has faithfully executed the laws which the democratic party desired to see nullified. For this he is deserving of re-election.

Let every republican voter be at the polls next Tuesday. See that your name is on the voting list, and then see to it that you are on hand to vote. Not only that, but see that your republican neighbor votes also. Let every man be a rallying committee. Let the young men be brought to the polls in full strength, and the last republican vote cast. The vote which Garfield received is the strength of the republican vote to-day in Peabody, if it can be brought out. Protect American industry! Protect the interests of the Gloucester fishermen! Protect our flag!

There is nothing of the free trader about Willard Spaulding. There is no free trade in the platform of the Knights of Labor. How they can, any of them, vote for French or any democrat, is something we can never understand. They cannot do so consistently. But they are not consistent.

A vote for Breen for sheriff is a vote to place our penal institutions in the hands of a man who is repudiated by the best democrats of his own city. Remember this and vote for Herrick. See that his name is on your ticket.

The third party prohibition nominations fall flat this year. The republican platform is good enough for most temperance voters. How can a vote to defeat that party aid their cause?

The Mr. Foster who wants to be Lieut. Governor of this state is a free trader, and in his speech makes the absurd statement that "the high wages received here were due to our greater natural wealth of broad prairies, our magnificent water courses, and above all, to our large area of unoccupied public land.' This is too funny even for the Boston Herald (free trade) which reminds Mr. Foster that "all these natural conditions existed at the time the territory now known as the United States was peopled by Indians." Mr. Foster must try to say something else.—Salem Observer.

That is just the size of it. Mr. Foster must either renounce free trade or have the platform of the Knights of Labor changed. We have read carefully the obligations and platform, so called, of the Knights, and everything bearing on the tariff is not in this direction. It is more in accord with the republican platform than the democratic.

How is this for a mixture? The Knights of Labor ticket in Essex County will carry Oliver Ames for Governor, Frank K. Foster for Lieut. Governor, Rev. Willard Spaulding for Congress, Robert Tarr for Sheriff, Henry F. Hurlburt for District Attorney, George J. L. Colby for County Commissioner.

A ship is said to have just left Boston for the Congo country with 100,000 gallons of rum and one missionary. If it is any comfort to him, he can rely with confidence on being thoroughly washed down.—Buffalo Courier.

We have heard this same story ever since were a small boy. That one poor missionary is worthy the honor of this world and the next, for the reason that in all these weary years of sea voyage, he has not reduced the quantity of that rum.—Milford Gazette.

The Danvers delegation at the Senatorial Convention were in great haste to desert their candidate and go over to Switzer of Lynn, when they held the balance of power and could have forced the others to have named a new candidate of their selecting. But their action was made clear after the convention, when it was learned that they were more anxious to put A. P. White, a young lawyer, on the state central committee than they were to secure the senatorship. They depended on Lynn to help them but the convention selected a better man. They sold their birthright for a mess of pottage.

The Peabody delegation to the Senatorial Convention voted solidly for Newton P. Frye.

The Knights of Labor political committee tried to drop Bob Tarr of Gloucester as sheriff and support John Breen of Lawrence. It is understood that the reason Tarr was to be dropped was for handling too much "boodle." But why they should wish to support a man like Breen is hard to tell. No man who has a spark of decency and knows anything of Breen's record will cast his vote for him.

Candidate Spaulding gave the labor committee some plain talk, letting them understand that he had not consented to become a congressional candidate as a mere puppet, to be pulled up or down at the instance of politicians.—Lawrence American.

Mr. John Hemenway of this town had nearly completed arrangements for the lease of a vacant currying shop in town, but was informed by the owner that he could not have the same unless he would post the obnoxious circular in the shop. As the proposed lessee would be unable to secure men if he did this the contract was not closed. As the owner of the shop is not a member of the manufacturers' association, nor a manufacturer, the proceeding savors somewhat strongly of boycotting so much denounced by the manufacturers.—Salem Observer.

The Boston Globe says somebody is going to be surprised at next Tuesday's election. We guess they will, and the Globe will have the greatest surprise of all.

So the labor district committee have decided to support Tarr for sheriff. That is the latest and unless they change their mind again his name will be on the ballots of the labor party.

The Boston Journal has an interview with Spaulding in yesterday morning's edition, in which Spaulding explains the offers of boodle which he has had, and whence they came. He said that a Peabody lawyer held out the bait of the Legislative nomination from the democrats of the district. Judging by the indignation we hear expressed by the democrat on learning of the affair for the first time through this interview, we should judge this "Peabody lawyer" had as about as much authority to pledge the support of the democrats for Spaulding as he had to pledge the support of the Knights of Labor for William H. Brown against Col. Batchelder last year.

Rev. Willard Spaulding said at Newburyport last Monday night: "If you go to Peabody there you will find men who will say they wished Spaulding was out of the town, but, gentlemen, I don't intend to leave it. There are in Peabody 1900 men who only pay a poll tax and don't own a dollar's worth of land. Why is it that three-fourths of the wage workers have not a dollar of taxable property? They have not enough ahead to keep them in food for a month should their small pittance be stopped. The settling of the future of the wage workers is in their own hands. Their redress is through the ballot box and the sooner they leave political parties and act for themselves, the sooner will their condition improve."

The nomination of Henry Cabot Lodge in the sixth district is a movement, on the part of the Republicans, which we trust will result in success. His speech, in acceptance of that nomination, should be read by every Republican. His remarks on the tariff are timely to this district, where a free trader and a supporter of the Morrison tariff bill is contesting the election with a Republican and a protectionist. We commend them to the voters of Essex County. They have the true ring:

But there is one issue that rises to the top and overtops all others. That is the Morrison tariff bill. I do not believe in putting fish upon the free list, thus to strike a blow at the nursery of the American seaman. Their so-called reform is a stupid assault which would break down any revision. I hope every Republican, every workingman, every man in the district who believes that American wages shall be protected, will go to the polls and say, not whether they prefer this or that man, but whether they believe in the Morrison bill or not. When the protective principle is to be voted upon, they know when to count on my vote. [Applause]. Look at the measure. Look at the papers which are in favor of it. The Boston Herald supports Mr. Lovering because he voted for it. They say it is not free trade which they advocate, but reform, revision of the tariff. I am as ready as any man to vote for an intelligent change in the tariff. I would vote to take the duties off of sugar, the product of Louisiana, that great Democratic State which Mr. Morrison so curiously overlooked. When you study the situation you see its true bearing. Why are David A. Wells, Professor Perry and such men called into this state to speak on the campaign? These men do not ask "tariff reform." They are known to be free traders. I will do Mr. Lovering the justice to say that he defended his principles in the convention. He backed up his vote on the Morrison Bill. Thus the issues are met. The party is thoroughly united. We are all together in this campaign. Now throw open the doors of your Town Committees. Get in the young men. Let every man become a committee. Work, work, give me the last Republican vote in this district, and I ask nothing more. I shall have no fear of the result.

Alarmed Democratic Leader to Committeeman—Do all the Democrats in your town speak French?

Committeeman—A number refused to conjugate the verb vote, and the rest pronounce French in a hesitating way.

Leader—What can we do about it?

Committeeman—We might drop French and try the Peabody English that Brother Spaulding speaks.

Leader (mournfully)—It's too late; we must go on with our French.—Boston Record.

The Republican Senatorial Convention of this district was held at town hall, Danvers, last Thursday. Edward L. Hill of Danvers was Chairman, and Fred G. Preston of Peabody Secretary. Geo. S. Osborne was elected on the committee on credentials; Frank E. Farnham on permanent organization; Amos Merrill was elected vice president, Albert H. Merrill was chairman of the committee to receive, sort and count votes. On the second formal ballot J. W. Switzer of Lynn was nominated and Newton P. Frye of North Andover was elected a member of the State Central Committee, Mr. Chas H. Goulding was elected a member of the district committee to represent Peabody.

The following resolution is now being circulated among some of the temperance societies in this vicinity for signatures: Resolved, That any person, professing friendship for the temperance cause, but refusing to share its responsibilities, its expense and its odium, if necessary, or in any way declining to identify himself with its interests, thus demonstrates his real enmity to it.

At the new Poor tannery in South Salem the shafting is being put up for the machinery which is soon to be put in. The process of swelling up and calking the vats is going on rapidly and most are now in readiness for the tan liquor. A large amount of bark has arrived and several thousand hides which will be wet as soon as the machinery is all in. One of the workmen was asked if the tannery would be run under the circular. He replied emphatically, "Yes, sir, just as many circulars as they can stick up."—Salem Observer.

Samuel Gourley, formerly employed by J. B. Thomas, purchased the wood and coal business of McLaughlin on Aborn street.

New Advertisements.

BARTHOLOMAY BREWING CO.

FAMOUS Rochester LAGER.

Pure, Delicate in Flavor, Sparkling and Wholesome. In half and quarter barrels. Also in patent and cork stopper bottles as desired.

J. C. GERLACH,
Sole Agent for the N. England States.
NO. 89 WATER ST., BOSTON.
oct 27—1 mo.

GREAT BARGAIN!
MILLER PARLOR GRAND,
$300.
E. V. EMILIO,
45 ESSEX SRTEET, SALEM.

MITCHELL'S BELLADONNA PLASTERS. For pains in the breast, side or back, and for weak lungs. Sure remedy for that cold spot between the shoulders. This is the oldest and most reliable Belladonna Plaster made, and contains an extra quantity of Belladonna. Sold by all Druggists. Oct 6—6 mos.

ARTICLE 47.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,

ESSEX & WASHINGTON STREETS.

Keeping pace with Dry Goods fluctuations requires not only boldness of operations but fine calculation. In a healthy business like ours large shipments are constantly arriving to be quickly disposed of. Fashions changing and prices depreciating has driven us to the expedient of Quick Sales and Small Margins for self production. Still, with proper management, even this system is profitable, which we delight in giving our patrons the benefit of it. It has now become with us an established fact, and we mean to stick to it. ARTICLE 47 means Forty-seven articles, each a distinct Bargain for this week, commencing to-day.

ARTICLE 1.

Commencing with

SILKS AND PLUSHES.

Article 1. A regular quality of Black Silk at 75 cents per yard.

ARTICLE 2.

A regular $1,25 Black Rhadame for $1.00 per yard.

ARTICLE 3.

The balance of a lot of Cheney's American Silks in good colors at 75 cents per yard.

ARTICLE 4.

A beautiful quality Faille Francais, the new materials for ladies black silk costumes, at $1.25 per yard.

ARTICLE 5.

A full line of colors, beautiful shades of Faille Erancais at $1.50 per yard, nothing that approaches them elsewhere in the city.

ARTICLE 6.

A beautiful quality 24-inch Black Satin Rhadame at $1.50 per yard.

ARTICLE 7.

Commences with BLACK GOODS.

We offer you makes that are fashionable and from the best houses in the world. Article 7 is a lot of Black Cashmeres, very fine 40 inches wide, at 50 cents per yard. We venture to say that you cannot match the quality to-day at the price in another store in New England — yet possibly you might.

ARTICLE 8.

10 pieces Black Sebastopool Cloths at 87 1-2 cents per yard, regular price everywhere $1.00.

ARTICLE 9.

A Heavy Camels Hair Diagonal, wide width, 75 cents, now 50 cents for this sale.

ARTICLE 10.

Black Cashmere (Cloth finish) 46 inches wide, 75 cents; should be $1.00. Our man in Black goods says he can get a dollar for it. We don't want him to; 75 cents is the price.

ARTICLE 11.

Black Tricot Clotes at 50 cents, 75 cents and $1.00. No one else gives such values for the prices.

ARTICLE 12.

A score of fancy weaves in Black Dress Goods, a direct importation, the very choicest in the market, 75 cents, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.

ARTICLE 13.

A lot of Black Flannels, 36 inches wide, fine quality, worth 50 cents, price 25 cents. A lot one year ago just like them lasted only two days.

ARTICLE 14.

Commences with

COLORED DRESS GOODS.

Article 14, 100 pieces Pin Check Tricotines at 50 cents per yard.

ARTICLE 15.

20 pieces Sebastopool Cloth, beautiful shades, late received, ordered last spring, 87 1-2 cents per yard.

ARTICLE 16.

20 pieces Homespun suitings, wide and heavy, at 37 1-2 conts per yard, better than the lot offered last week at this price.

ARTICLE 17.

Beautiful Combination Dresses for $10.00 and $12.50 a pattern.

ARTICLE 18.

FLANNELS FROM AUCTION.

Flannels from 6 1-4 cents to 50 cents per yard, bought at auction cheap, as the cheapest goods, as the best, come and see them.

ARTICLE 19.

BLANKETS.

Real California Blankets, $6.50 up to $14, and Blankets down as low as 95 cents a pair. We sell more comforters than all the rest of the stores in Salem combined, so the manufacturers say.

ARTICLE 20.

HANDKERCHIEFS.

If you have shopped in Salem the past year we know you have bought your Handkerchiefs of us.

See other papers for balance of enumeration. Each and every article of the 47 is meant to be sufficiently corroborative of our system, viz: QUICK SALES AND SMALL PROFITS.

WILLIAM G. WEBBER & CO.,
Essex and Washington Street,
SALEM. MASS.

FEATHER TRIMMINGS.

A good trimming at only 29 cts. per yard — all the best colors. As this is only about half the original price of these goods, customers will do well to come for them soon. 29 cts. per yard, in black, browns, drabs, lates, natural, &c.

SILK BRAID TRIMMINGS.

Fine Marabouts, Chenille and Jet trimmings — choice styles.

FUR TRIMMINGS.

The best line in the city. All the best styles and widths. Black, Silver, Coon, Lynx, &c.

FUR MUFFS.— A good one for 79 cts. and from that up,— all prices. The 79c. one is a bargain never before seen in this city. It is a perfect Muff in every respect — fine black and good long fur — 79c., 88c., $1.25 up to $10.00.

BALMORAL SKIRTS.

Nice goods, all colors, washable, very handsome styles in fancy colors, plain, quilted, fluted and ruffled — in flannel tricot and felting.

LADIES' VESTS AND PANTS.

Merino, Flannel facings, pearl buttons. Nice 50 cent vests for 38 cts. each. A decided bargain to start the season.

FOR 50 CTS.

We have a regular 75 cent Vest — a fine reliable wool Vest — worth 75 cts. anywhere. Our price 50 cts.

FOR 75 CTS. AND $1.00.

We can show Vests and Pants that cannot be purchased elsewhere for less than $1.00 and $1.25.

SCARLET UNDERWEAR.
MISSES' UNDERWEAR
CHILDREN'S UNDERWEAR.
BOYS' UNDERWEAR.

AT PEABODY'S.

REDUCED PRICES

On ARTISTS' MATERIALS. Send for our special catalogue before purchasing Art Materials of any description. Sent FREE if you mention this paper. Address

EDMANDS' ART SUPPLY STORE,
12 Bromfield Street, - Boston.
oct 27—15t

EMERSON FINEST TONE, BEST WORK AND MATERIALS GUARANTEED.
45,000 SOLD. EVERY PIANO WARRANTED. SEND FOR CATALOGUE.
BOSTON MASS.
PIANOS
WAREROOM, 146A TREMONT ST.

BEE-HIVE

BARGAINS.

One Case 11-4 white WOOL BLANKETS, $3.25 per pair, well worth $4 per pair.

One Case Ladies MERINO VESTS, 37 1-2 cents each; would sell for 50 cts.

One Case Ladies WOOL HOSE, 25 cts. per pair; as good as can be bought for 37 1-2 cents.

25 doz. CORSETS, 34 cts. per pair; regular 50 cent goods.

10 dozen QUILTED LASTING SKIRTS, $1.00 each; would be called cheap at $1.25.

25 doz. Ladies' SCARLET WOOL VESTS, $1.00 each; never sold before for less than $1.25.

25 doz. Ladies' and Misses' GLOVES 25 cts.; others ask 37 1-2 cts. for the same per pair.

The well informed always look in at the Bee-Hive before purchasing.

Frank Cousins'
BEE-HIVE,
SALEM, MASS.

BUY IT! BUY IT!

Boston Sunday Record.

THE REPUBLICAN SUNDAY PAPER.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening Oct. 27, 1886,

CRIMES AND MISHAPS.

Last Monday morning business at e police court was rushing and the uage was early on the ground, and the g pile of official papers before him ndicated several hours heavy work.

Daniel Seerey was willing to admit t he was drunk and the customary and costs were imposed.

Thomas Cuddy, a non-union man, charged with being drunk, but he n't as sure of it as the officers and ted to argue the point with them. was willing to admit having been king, but he could see his boarding-se in the distance and if the officers 't taken him, he thought he could reached it. $1 and costs satisfied ourt in settling his case.

mes Stevens, another youth from wilds of Maine and chum of Cuddy, he was drunk and the usual amount 1 and costs was added to his score.

William Lenihan stood up like a man d said he supposed he was drunk, turally had some doubts about it, and he had been in the same condition fore he was required to pay $5 and sts or spend two months in the house correction.

Doctors Pike and Atwood dropped in to examine the head of John McCarthy who has figured as the Central street insane man. He was given in charge of Officers Sweeney and Grady and removed to the Danvers asylum.

Daniel Cronin, one of the fault-finders and kickers at the almshouse, was arrested for assaulting Patrick Cunniff, an inoffensive old man, who appeared with his head plastered up with coat-plaster. Cunniff said the conversation began by Cronin asking him if he was suited with his dinner and ended by his striking him over the head with a whiffle-tree. After considerable cheap talk Cronin said, I was drunk and he was sober; I plead guilty. You can give me all you want to; I'd rather go to the county house than live any longer at the poor farm. His Honor thought three months in the county house would do him good, and gave him that sentence. Cronin asked that it be made longer so as to carry him through the winter. He is an ugly and disagreeable fellow to have about.

The police made a descent on a non-union boarding-house in the rear of Elm street about 3 o'clock last Sunday morning and found four men gambling at a table in the kitchen. Officer Geo. W. Torr kicked out a cellar window and landed head first amidst the gamblers. He was quickly followed by several other officers. The roughs drew their revolvers and showed fight, but the officers were too numerous for them. Two escaped and George Braggs and Martin Burst were taken to the police station. The charge against them was gambling on the Lord's day, and assault on an officer could also have been preferred. They escaped very easily, being only fined $5 and half the costs each. The men all carried revolvers and had the officers not been too numerous the result would have been different. About $8 in money was captured. No effort has been made to apture those who escaped, as it was eported that they left town, as have lso the two that were arrested.

One day last week Mr. Frank H. askin, formerly of this town, fell from house at Danvers, a distance of 26 eet with a "fire pot" in his hands. His hand was burned by coming in contact with the burning charcoal but fortunately was otherwise uninjured. It was a close call.

James Fitzpptrick complains that his wife has left him, and besides her own clothes took away a suit of his own. Perhaps she is determined to wear the —pants.

Last Thursday morning Theophilus Wall, charged with throwing a stone at the house of George Goldthwait, came up in the police court. The evidence went to prove that Wall was drunk when he committed the act. He was fined $1 and costs for being drunk and $50 and costs for throwing the stone.

About two weeks ago Capt. T. N. Barnaby of the police force injured his ankle by coming in contact with a stake driven in the ground. It has since caused him considerable trouble although he is on duty.

Patrick Callahan, or big Pat, was found at midnight on Wednesday near the Beach street crossing in Salem in a badly bruised and beaten condition. It appeared that he had been in a fight, but he would not tell who assaulted him. Dr. Gaffney dressed his wounds.

Last Wednesday at Lawrence John Welch, of Peabody, was arraigned on a charge of riot. This was one of the celebrated Peabody riot cases. Welch pleaded not guilty, and Col. Sweeney, who appeared as his counsel, moved to quash the indictment, in that it failed to set forth any unlawful purpose in the assembling together, or that any unlawful act was committed. District Attorney Hurlburt claimed that the indictment was good in all the essential points. Considerable discussion ensued, and the matter was finally taken under advisement by Judge Pitman to be called up some time this term.

In an argument in a liquor case, tried in the Superior Court, Assistant District Attorney DeCourcey, being pressed to tell when a man is drunk, brought down the house by saying: "When to a man the width of the street is of more importance than its length, when the corner lights multiply and their colors fluctuate, and when reason and memory is in exile, then the man is drunk."

A boy named Ahearn was knocked down by a team carelessly driven by a boy on Mason street last Saturday and the little fellow was considerably bruised about the legs.

A man on Tremont street was as full as a goose last Saturday night and flourished a revolver and threatened to exterminate that part of our town known as Dublin. He was taken to his boarding-house by his friends but wanted to wade through gore.

A Lynn team loaded with furniture broke down on Washington street yesterday.

Mr. James Smith, who lives on Sherman street, fell from a staging in Salem last Wednesday and fractured the bones of his ankle.

Charles H. Trask, a non-union man, was knocked down and assaulted on Lowell street as he was returning from work last Wednesday evening.

Last Wednesday James Barrett got one of his legs under the fence on Caller street by the caving in of the earth. He called assistance before he was extricated.

Mrs. Dennis Morgan is dangerously sick from being poisoned by ivy while gathering autumn leaves.

Mary Connors was taken to Lawrence to-day for an assault on Edward Sheehan.

Mr. Fred Clerk, a former resident, a brakeman on the New York and New Haven railroad, had his hand badly jammed while shackling cars recently.

The case of Eph. Provo is on trial at Lawrence to-day.

HOME HAPPENINGS.

"Vote not for pelf or simply for self,
But vote when you justly can,
That far and wide, on every side,
May prosper the rights of man."

Notwithstanding the inclement weather there was a large attendance of delegates to the Essex Conference of liberal churches, at the Unitarian church this morning. Hon. N. A. Horton of Salem, the president of the conference, presided. After a short season of conference at the opening, committees on credentials and nominations were appointed and Rev. J. K. Applebee of Marblehead, formerly preacher to Theodore Parker's congregation in Boston, gave an excellent sermon, followed by an address by Rev. C. F. Bradley of Sandwich on the Relation of the life that now is to the Spencerian law of the life eternal." At the recess at one o'clock the delegates were welcomed by Rev. Mr. Hudson of Peabody, in behalf of the ladies of the society, to a bountiful collation in the parlors of the church. This afternoon Rev. Mr. Butler of Beverly talked "Concerning Labor."

At a monthly meeting of the Mass. Women's Christian Prohibitory League (of which organization Mrs. M. O. Stevens is secretary) held in Boston last Thursday, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the noble stand of the general officers of the Knights of Labor in absolutely pledging themselves to total abstinence from the use of intoxicants as a prerequisite to official responsibility, is a duty which commends itself as a proper requirement of all civil officials and which challenges our admiration and approval, and causes us to believe that this organization of the labor forces of our country are finding the christian attitude commanded by Him who said: "Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you do ye even so unto them."

A small but cultured audience gathered at the Peabody Institute last evening to hear W. H. H. Murray read his story of "John Norton." Mr. Murray changed his subject by the approval of the audience, and held them spell bound to the close. If he had lectured in the free course there would have been a crowd large enough to have blocked the entrance for hours previous to the lecture.

Mr. J. B. Thomas is making extensive improvement at his farm on the Swampscott road. Several additions have been built to the barn and outbuildings. A grist-mill has been added, and a building for the dairy. A boiler has been put in and the corn will be ground on the premises. The work has been done by Benjamin Beckett, Jr.

Rev. Willard Spaulding will address the citizens of this town on the issues of the campaign, at town hall, next Friday evening. It is understood that Mr. Spaulding will reply to some of the stories circulated against him by members of the democratic party in this town. The meeting promises to be both lively and interesting.

Rev. Dr. Mansfield, presiding elder for this district, has arranged to meet with the Methodist society in this town, Sunday, Jan. 2, 1887.

OPEN !

A FINE STOCK OF
FALL AND WINTER
MILLINERY
NOW OPEN AT REITH'S,
204 Essex St,. Salem.

M. B. WILSON

announces to the Ladies of Salem and vicinity, that having returned from New York with a large stock of

NEW AND ELEGANT GOODS,
—FOR THE—
Fall and Winter of 1886,
She is prepared to show
TRIMMED
BONNETS AND ROUND HATS,
—IN THE—
VERY LATEST STYLES,
AND AT THE
LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES.
All are cordially invited to call and examine at
262 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

OPENING OF Trimmed Bonnets and Hats
—AT—
MRS. J. H. BROWNE'S,
153 & 155 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

On WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, Oct. 27 and 28.

This assortment will be found more varied both in style and material than in any former season. Prices ranging from $3.00 to $25.00. At this OPENING we will have a special show room devoted exclusively to the sale of our FIVE DOLLAR Trimmed Velvet, Jet and Felt Bonnets and Hats. A complete assortment in all the desirable shapes and shades to match any or every suit. These Bonnets are made from the BEST MATERIALS. We shall give our patrons the benefit, believing that such GENUINE BARGAINS on our OPENING DAYS will be appreciated by all who wish a stylish BONNET or HAT. This Bargain Sale in trimmed goods will be confined to these special days.

In Misses' and Children's Hats we have a fine assortment both trimmed and untrimmed

BROWNE'S
Next door to the Museum.
SALEM.

SALEM ORATORIO SOCIETY.
The first rehearsal will be held at
ACADEMY HALL,
(rear of East India Marine Museum,)
Wednesday Evening, Oct. 27, '86,

At 7.30 o'clock. Succeeding rehearsals held as usual on Thursday evenings.

GOUNOD'S REDEMPTION will be given for the first work and Handel's JUDAS MACCABÆUS the second work.

Books and Membership tickets can be obtained at E. V. Emilio's music store, 245 Essex street, excepting on rehearsal evenings when they will be found at the hall.

Applicants for membership can leave their names at E. V. Emilio's store or with any member of the Board of Directors.

GEO. A. SHEPARD, Sec'y.

Rose Buds
and Pinks.
WEDDING and FUNERAL
FLOWERS.
PEABODY GREENHOUSES
Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

MORTGAGES
Drawing 6 per cent Semi-Annual Interest. Unqualified Guarantee of Principal and Interest at Maturity, by
The Western Security Company.
Organized in 1874 CAPITAL paid in cash, 100,000. We offer for sale and recommend these securities to lenders of money.
The Eastern Banking Company.
43 Milk Street, Boston.
FRANCIS A. OSBORN, President.
EDWARD T. MERRIHEW. Treasurer.
oct 6—3 mos.

GUILD PIANO CO.
Offer Bargains in Square & Uprights,
Special style Upright, $205.
217 Tremont St., Boston.
oct 13—4t

BARGAINS.

Just received from Factory a fresh lot of those Wide awake Lamps, which for shop use are the best.

We also carry a full line of

CLOTHES WRINGERS and CLOTHES DRYERS

At prices that can't be beat.

Full stock of LAMP GOODS, LANTERNS and WINDOW GLASS, CARPENTERS and MASONS' TOOLS, 5, 10 and 25 cent Counters, where many household utensils may be found at prices that will surprise you.

MORRISON & TRASK'S,
Walnut Street.

IMMENSE BARGAINS
NOW IS YOUR TIME TO GET

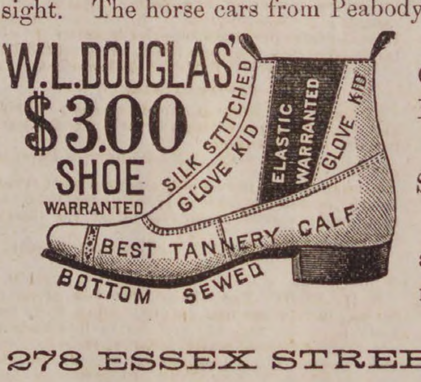
Men's Canvas Bals. only 65 cents.
Boys' Canvas Bals. only 75 cents.
Youths' Canvas Bals. only 65 cents.

REGULAR $1.00 GOODS.

Men's and Boys' Tennis, 75 cents.
Men's Tennis Bals., $1.00.
Smith Hand Sewed Goat Button, $2.75.
Women's Comfort Button, $2.00.
Women's Mikado Slipper, 35c.
Men's Silk Embroidered Slipper, 65c.
Women's Fine Kid Oxfords, $1.00.
Women's House Slipper, .52c
—AT—
Geo. E. Pearson's.
206 Essex Street.
SALEM.

BARGAINS FOR PEABODY PEOPLE.

The Salem Shoe Store, 278 Essex Street, Salem, are offering extra fine bargains to their customers, including a JOB LOT of genuine $3.00 shoes which we have marked at $2.50. A LARGE LOT OF OLD LADIES' FELT BOTTOM FLANNEL LINE GOODS which are bargains. Our MIKADO $2.00 shoe sells at sight. The horse cars from Peabody stop at our door.



We are Salem Agents for the CELEBRATED W. L. DOUGLAS $3.00 Shoe.

Our motto, to sell the BEST SHOES, at a small profit for cash.

Our Men's and Children's Goods are made on the premises. Remember the number.

278 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Opposite Packard's Furniture Store. T. A. CORSON, Agent.

HAVE YOU SEEN OUR
NEW NECKWEAR?
OUR STYLES ARE / OUR PRICES ARE {CORRECT.
LINEN COLLARS.

Over twenty different styles to select from. Finest grade 20 cts. each $2.00 a dozen. Also the best 4 Ply Linen Collar on the market.

W. S. NEAL & CO..
228 & 230 Essex St., Salem.

THE "OLD RELIABLE"
Family and Agricultural Newspaper, THE
New England Farmer
Under New Management, preserves all its Old and Well-known Excellencies, and introduces
Many new and valuable featues,
Including a Woman's Department.
All of its Editors are Practical Persons.
$2.00 per Year in Advance. Samples free.
Address
NEW ENGLAND FARMER,
34 Merchants Row, Boston, Mass.

OATMEAL FOR POULTRY.
WE have to offer a small lot of fine Oatmeal for poultry and calves. Is sweet but not fresh for grocers trade. Price very low.
CHAS. A. ROPES & SON,
41 to 47 Central st.
oct 6

HOWE & CO.
COMMISSION BROKERS,
13 Exchange Place, Boston.

New York and Boston Stocks bought and sold up cash or carried on a margin of 1 per cent, or forward.

Grain, provisions and oil also carried on small margin.

Correspondence solicited.
sept 29—3 mo

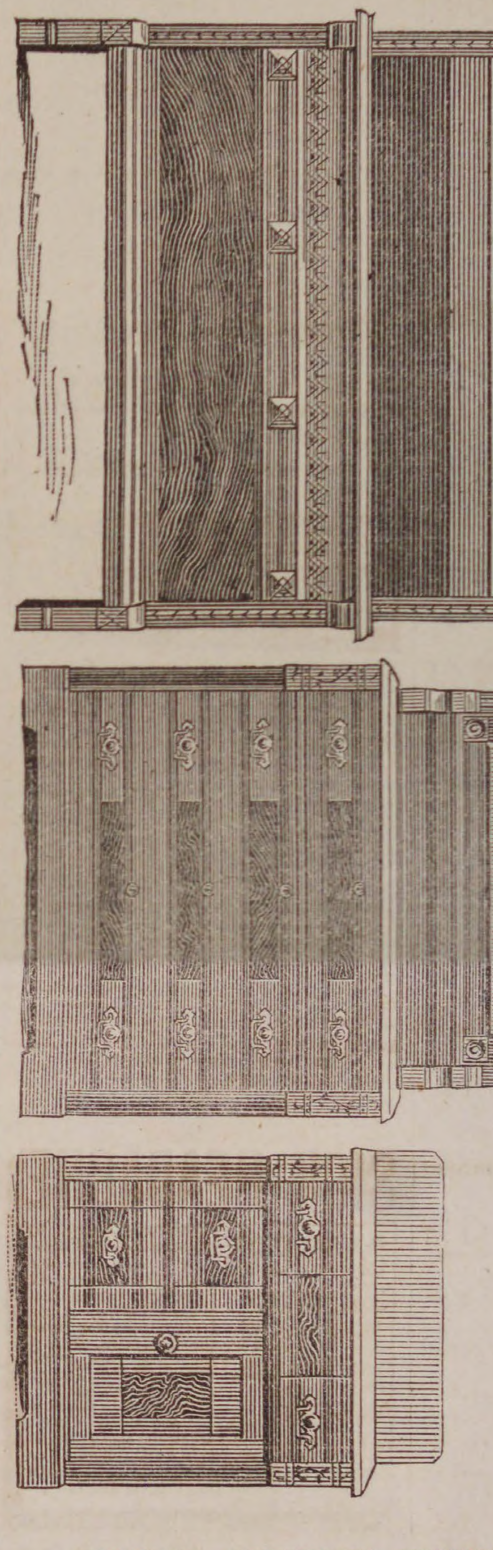
For full information about learning Shorthand, Typewriting and Business Correspondence, send stamp for large catalogue of the BOSTON SHORTHAND BUREAU, 180 and 186 Washington St., Boston, Mass., containing terms, samples of reporting, annual list of graduates, etc.

Publishers of STENOGRAPHY, the best shorthand magazine, and the standard series of shorthand text-books, dealers in typewriters, etc.
Sep 29—4t

1886.
FALL and WINTER GOODS.

1 Case each LADIES MERINO UNDERWEAR, 50, 75, $1.00.
LADIES' and MISSES' WOOLEN HOSE, 20, 25, 37, 50.
BLANKETS and COMFORTERS,
$1.00 to $6.00. 62 cents to $2.50.

F. D. TARLTON,
42 MAIN STREET.



ESSEX COUNTY HOUSE FURNISHERS.

Largest Stock, Lowest Prices for Cash, and easiest terms on instalments, $1.00 down and $1.00 a week. Nearly an acre of flour room all under one roof, OWNED and OCCUPIED by US alone, which is one of the reasons why we can and do sell cheaper than our competitors. We have the largest and best assortment of PARLOR STOVES and RANGES ever exhibited.

D. B. H. POWER & CO.,
123 & 125 PLEASANT & 24 SCHOOL ST., MARBLEHEAD.
293 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
All Horse and Steam Cars stop at our Doors.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List. Please bring the height of your chimney hole so that we may be enabled to make pipe and set up stove without delay.

Mrs. M. A. McNeil,
LADIES'
FANCY GOODS STORE
149 Essex St., Salem.

Special attention given to

Spinal Corsets, Shoulder Braces,
Abdominal Supporters, etc,

Also keep constantly on hand the largest variety of Corsets and Children's Waists in Essex County.

And have just received a large line of

INFANTS' & CHILDREN'S DRESSES,
Up to Ten years of age. Please call and examine.

REMEMBER THE NUMBER,
149 ESSEX STREET
A few doors below the Museum.
mch 31—6m

Fall Room Papers.

